A Message Concerning Water Conservation In Hicksville

The Board of Commissioners, HICKSVILLE WATER DISTRICT, in an effort to advise our local residents of matters regarding the establishment of annual pumpage limitations for water as applicable to our community and Nassau County as well, will from time to time keep our people informed of developments concerning the recent imposition of "pumpage caps".

We are aware that there are many sources of information being made available to the public in any number of published articles and news programs. Much of this material is negative in nature because this is the type of news that attracts the most attention. For example, except for our own efforts to inform our public, plus the water works personnel that may have had similar problems, throughout the New York Section of the AWWA, there has been no motion made or any recognition given to the efforts of our community in establishing a totally successful plant for "stripping" of organics. We have reported in print and carried the verbal story of the success, it is gratifying to know that we have three wells on line at his plant which are now producing water entirely free of any organic compounds normally rested for in the public supply. The Board and its staff have diligently pursued quality and quantity, but now we must confine our greatest efforts towards maintenance of quality and ask all to help CONSERVE, for the continued supplies needed by the future generations.

It is an unpleasant experience to be a water official at a time when the most serious considerations must be given to future water supply availability, however, it is not our intent to create an environment of panic in the public place. However, we feel this is our responsibility and trust to have the cooperation of all as we seek to assure the continued availability of a safe and adequate water supply for future generations of Long Islanders. We would like to see demonstrated a spirit of cooperation to adequately serve our consumers while accelerating our efforts to protect our underground water supply. There are some things that we can do to redouble our efforts to CONSERVE this precious resource.

NYSDEC will require water conservation measures (water caps) as a condition of Long Island well permits and public water supply permits where needed to limit consumption in areas of existing or potential quantity stress on the aquifer system. Simply put, if we cannot of our own efforts induce conservation the NYSDEC may deny us the permit to use certain our wells. A single well may produce two million gallons per day; it wouldn't take long to have production reduced substantially, our twenty wells would be of little help then. There is a provision of the law that imposes fines/penalties directly upon the Water Commissioners as individuals for failure to enforce such directives; such penalties are substantial in nature and could cause them personal hardship. The program of capping has been adopted with no formal announcement, no official publication and no opportunity for input by local governments, water suppliers or the general public.

While we are in the process of conforming to the NYSDEC directives on capping, there will be other studies being conducted such as the one by the Nassau County Water Resources Board which was appointed some ten years ago by the County Executive to advise County Officials on matters relating to Nassau's Water Supply. Obviously, we have come to realize that there are many divergent views on how to evaluate and to estimate our supplies because of the complexity of our hydrogeologic system and seemingly it appears to change every-time someone studies the subject.

The Board of Commissioners does not intend to lose precious time that should be directed at CONSERVATION and we do encourage the cooperation of all in these efforts, but we will not block further study of other ground water management strategies that can be helpful in addition to conservation.

At The Board Of Education Meeting

Hicksville Board of Education members, staff, and community residents gathered for the November meeting against a backdrop of anti-drug posters created by the students of Laura Jacobs at the Junior High School. The project was part of the state-wide observance of Drug Awareness Day. Board President William F. Bennett complimented the students on their work, and he also expressed appreciation to the JHS students and staff members who created the literary magazine, "Sights and Sounds," cited again this year for excellence by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. The magazine earned a rating of "All Columbian-First Place," and special thanks go to literary advisor Katherine Lehman, art advisor Mary Sica, language arts chair Susan Wolf, and school secretary Gladys Kikta, who all contributed to the final product.

Mr. Bennett took a moment to comment on the fine production of "You Can't Take It With You," staged at the High School last weekend, and the "Battle of the Sexes" at the Junior High, won by the boys' team this year. Mrs. Wolf reported on leadership workshops sponsored by SCOPE (Suffolk County Organization for the Promotion of Education) which she attended, noting that she attended sessions on conflict management and personal liability and found them to be valuable and informative.

Conrad Steers was honored by the Board for the outstanding job he did in spearheading the campaign to raise funds and erect monuments to Korean and Viet Nam veterans which were unveiled during this year's Veterans Day ceremonies. The project came out of discussions by the Board's District Facilities/Community Affairs Committee, led by Daniel C. MacBride, and Mr. Steers was tireless in his efforts to bring the project to a successful conclusion this fall. After this presentation, the Board accepted a replica of an award presented to SHS senior Barbara Balistrieri, a Nassau Tech student who took national first place in the Community Safety program. Ms. Balistrieri has also been honored on several occasions for achievement in her field of large animal care.

The Board took action on policies dealing with real property tax exemptions, occupational education, and IEP (Individual Educational Plan) diploma requirements, and two textbooks were approved. A History of the World was adopted for use in tenth grade social studies, and the HJH Reading Program was approved for K-2 reading classes.

Turning to fiscal matters, the Board approved Norstar Bank as a depository for the district for the 1986-87 school year, and transfer, warrant, cash flow, and first quarter reports were accepted. Bids were awarded for audiovisual supplies ($6,472.12), audiovisual equipment ($16,445.19), custodial supplies ($10,628.08), lumber supplies ($7,578.50), and electrical supplies ($6,433.98), for a total award of $47,557.81.

Congratulations were offered to SHS science teacher Paul Schwyer, who was unanimously granted tenure upon Dr. Fenton's recommendation. Following other personnel items, the action section concluded with the acceptance of recommendations by the Committee on Special Education generated at the meetings of October 15, October 26, and November 12.

Mr. Schwartz presented two policies to the Board for information and consideration dealing with the topic of safety. The first involves the development and implementation of a safety program in each school as a component of the instructional program, and the second concerns the creation of a districtwide safety committee under the leadership of the Assistant Superintendent for Business Services. The committee membership would also include the Director of Facilities and Operations, a principal, a teacher, a clerical employee, a custodian, and a school nurse, and this body would review health and safety issues in the district and make recommendations to the Superintendent.

A number of summer curriculum projects were presented for information and review on the recommendation of the Curriculum Committee. The projects included "Here Come the Bears" (Kindergarten), "Relationships" (grades 4-6), "The Skeletal System" (grades 5-6) "The Victorian Era"

Galileo Lodge News

By Joe Lorenzo

PRESIDENT JOE GIORDANO'S MESSAGE: "At least once a year everyone is a genius." Old saying

It doesn't matter whether or not we were terribly fond of the past year, we still like to usher in the new one in grand style. Its an American custom whereby we make so many resolutions which we hardly put into action. Yes, more verbally than actuality. Well, the Galileo Lodge has its own special way of celebrating the arrival of the new year as it annually announces that it will hold a New Years Dance and Party. So on Wednesday, the 31st of December it will hold its New Years celebration. Price of admission is an incredible $32.50 per person, and in the offering is an incomparable menu consisting of an incomparable cocktail hour featuring linguini with clam sauce, Swedish meatballs, baked manicotti, shrimp salad and a wine, cheese and pepperoni table. Then add a dinner consisting of steak with mushrooms, beer, soda, coffee and cake, set-ups, unlimited liquor and music for your dancing and listening pleasure. The dinner also is embellished with baked potatoe, tossed green salad and vegetables. Last but not least is a continental breakfast in the wee hours of the morning. The usual New Years paraphernalia will also be available. Pete Massiello will 'chair' this unbelievable dance. So why not come down to the Galileo Lodge and partake of our New Years offering, and consider that the price is right, the cuisine is right, the Galileo Lodge mood and atmosphere are right and maybe the new year might also be right for you.

note that a 'bring-your-own-liquor' policy will be in effect that night, and please note that Christmas grab bag will also be featured, with gifts not to exceed $3.00. Armand Del Cioppo will 'chair' this dance, aided and abetted by co-Chairman Joe Morace. Christmas is a special time of the year, and our Christmas affair is also very special, so how can you miss enjoying the holiday season in the manner in which the Galileo Lodge deems appropriate.

Then on Sunday, the 7th of December 7th, the Galileo Lodge will present its two Christmas parties, one for the handicapped children of Queens and Long Island in the morning and the other one for the children of its membership, male and female. There is a certain magic in these parties, the kind of magic that lifts little hearts to a degree unimaginable. These parties animate these little children to state where only ecstasy reigns supreme. President Joe Giordano and 1st Vice President Skip Monteforte will supervise these parties and the whole membership of the Lodge itself and the Ladies Auxiliary will act as co-Chair people.

Help is still needed for our Bingo sessions. The common denominator here is money. Bingo brings in money and money is needed to run the Galileo Lodge. Give some time and effort to help out at Bingo, after all, its your Lodge. You are the Galileo Lodge.

There is still some time if you plan to attend the Galileo Lodge's Christmas Dance this Saturday, the 6th of December, and some tickets are still available. Price of admission is $14.00 per person, a very nominal fee that also entitles you to a delicious hot dinner, beer, soda, coffee and cake, set-ups and music for your dancing pleasure. Please

At this same meeting, in the lower picture is Dr. McCann, Principal of Old Country Road School reporting to the general PTA membership on district and school goals for the academic year.

This general membership meeting and Open House was a success, as usual. The membership drive was rewarding and the proposed PTA budget was accepted.

At The Hicksville Library

Senior Connections

The Hicksville Public Library is providing a new service program addressing the needs and concerns of the elderly. The program is conducted by trained senior community volunteers and student interns from the professional schools of Social Work and Library Science and the Nassau Library System. Volunteers are trained to assist inquirers with questions that deal with Medicare, Medicaid, Housing, Social Security, and other personal matters, to provide reliable, updated information, and to refer people to existing resources. The Library hopes to make this an important addition to community services.

If you are a caring senior desiring to volunteer in this "Seniors Helping Seniors" program call the Reference Desk at WE 1-1417.

Ted Savalas In Concert

The Hicksville Public Library will present Ted Savalas in Concert on Sunday, December 14, at 3 PM. The first half of the program will feature Aglaia Savalas an accomplished concert pianist. Hicksville Board of Ed. Finance Committee To Meet, Dec. 17

Hicksville residents are reminded that the Board of Education Finance Committee Meeting on the 1987-88 school budget will be held on December 17 at 8:00 P.M. All other committee meetings have been cancelled for that evening so that Board members, staff, and community participants can devote the session to the important topic of the financial plan.

The meeting will be held in the conference room of the Administration Building on Division Avenue, and all interested members of the public are invited to attend.

At Burns Ave.

The delicious smell of scrambled eggs and sausages filled the hallways of Burns Avenue School as Mrs. Finck's First Graders prepared and then consumed a hearty breakfast.

This was a culminating activity for a unit on good nutrition. The children planned a balanced menu from the four food groups. They enjoyed their breakfast as Little Indians and Pilgrims and thoroughly enjoyed their Thanksgiving Feast.

At the Hicksville Fire Prevention Poster contest are (l to r) Gerard O'Brien, Anthony Wigdzinski, Jackie Flynn, first place and Jimmy Flynn, second place. Congratulations to all who worked on this worthwhile project and to all who participated in it.

Dear Friends ...

"Each week we keep telling you that we will publish the final list of contributors to the Hicksville Veterans Monument Fund next week. However, each week we still receive one or two late contributions which are added to our "final list". We plan our last "List of contributors" to cover all who haven't already been published, so, hopefully, this will appear in our pages, next week. And we thank all of you for your participation in this very worthwhile project. Finally, when all bills are received, we plan to bring you all an accounting, but this, of course, will take the Committee longer. We will also have a picture for you of the monuments themselves, when this is completed. Thanks again, for all your help.

There is an election for Fire Commissioner in Hicksville, scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 9th. Voting is at Fire Headquarters on East Marie St., from 7 to 10 p.m. Don't forget.

There are so many local events planned each week, we'd suggest that, as well as reading items on these events in our pages, you check out our page one CALENDAR OF EVENTS, just as a reminder.

THAT'S ALL for this week. Stay well and remember, whenever possible it is advisable to deal with your local merchant when doing your holiday shopping. Not only does he serve you throughout the year, but, if exchanges are necessary, he is right in your own hometown.

Dear Editor:

Once again we are calling upon the residents of the Hicksville Fire District to re-elect the incumbent Michael K. Krummenacker to the position of Fire Commissioner for the five year term.

Mr. Krummenacker is a life long resident of Hicksville who has always been concerned with the requirements and needs of the people in the town. He has just successfully completed a five year term as Fire Commissioner where he has served as Chairman of the board and has been active on numerous committees both within the District and throughout the County. Some of his areas of concern include the Hazardous Materials problems being faced by all people today. He is taking an active part in coordinating the firematic, political, and civilian concerns in this area.

Mike Krummenacker is presently Treasurer of the L.I. Exempts and Benevolent Firefighter's Association.

Mike Krummenacker is an Ex-Captain of Protection Hook and Ladder Company #1, and he has been an active member of the Hicksville Fire Department for the past fifteen years.

Mike Krummenacker is employed in the electronic data processing field with a large Manhattan based savings bank which rounds out his background for both the business aspects and firematic requirements that are essential to this important and demanding position.

In order for this work to continue we are asking that you come down and cast your vote to return Michael K. Krummenacker for five more years on Tuesday, December 9th 1986 at 7-10 P.M. at Headquarters of the Hicksville Fire Department, 20 East Marie Street, Hicksville.

Yours truly,
The Committee to Re-Elect
Michael K. Krummenacker

To the Editor:

I feel it extremely disturbing to notice the dramatic increase of graffiti and general deterioration of the stores and local malls in the Hicksville area. Especially noted are the shops along Jerusalem Ave; south of Old Country Road.

As a resident for twelve years I remember when this community took pride in its appearance. Don't the proprietors have pride and a sense of responsibility for the community in which they serve -- and I might add -- earn a living?

I would like to make a request to the residents of this community to speak out, let the shop owners and local officials know how you feel, and if we have to, lets boycott those stores that don't respond. Lets bring back PRIDE in our community.

"This holiday season the Hicksville Post Office will be opening its windows at the main office on West John Street from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. the three Sundays before Christmas, December 7, 14 and 21," said Roger Niener, Hicksville Division General Manager/Postmaster.

"In addition, this season we will make a postal clerk available to community and civic groups to sell stamps during the holiday season. The clerk will be visiting groups, upon request, on Tuesdays through Fridays from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. throughout this holiday season," said Mr. Niener. To arrange to have stamps sold at your group contact Paul Baucio, Hicksville Station & Branch Manager at 933-2305 or Jane Healey, Hicksville Window Superintendent at 933-2474.

Customers visiting the post office can now take advantage of two additional windows which have been installed in the outer lobby. These windows will serve customers early in the morning who pick up their mail and will be open til 8:00 p.m. Monday - Friday for Express Mail Acceptance. During the day they will be used to alleviate lines at the main window.

When mailing holiday cards at the post office, postal customers are asked to separate their cards in the labelled trays placed in the lobby. "We appreciate our customers mailing early in the season and early in the day. Their cooperation helps us ensure a successful holiday mail season," said Mr. Niener.

Affordable Insurance For Lutherans.

If you're like many Lutherans, there are times when starting or adding to a life insurance program just isn't in the budget.

For those times, AAL has a solution called Yearly Renewable Term. It's insurance which is purchased on a year-to-year basis. It gives you a relatively large amount of protection at a relatively low premium.

The Hicksville High School HIGHLIGHTS

By Scott J. O'Callaghan

By its general nature, Art itself is difficult to define clearly. Yet, it is not difficult to see what Artesia, the Art Club of Hicksville High School, is trying to do. Advisor Cynthia Appold describes this purpose as "making the students more aware of Art in its many forms." The officers she works with are: Donna Grecco, President; Robin Price, Vice-President; and Krista Lindell, Treasurer. As a group, Artesia works on projects that cannot ordinarily be completed in school, involving too much time or sophistication for a normal class length. Some of these activities include making their own paper and silk screening. They also may work on projects in smaller groups, that cannot normally meet during the school day. As such, this time provides them with the opportunity to get together and work uninterrupted for extended lengths of time. To study Art in the area, Artesia plans several trips to local galleries to present students with ideas of style and form that area artists have used. In order to make the school see Art, the members of Artesia painted people's faces at Homecoming with Hicksville designs. In the future, they hope to sell food at home basketball games to raise money.

Next week, the Highlight shifts to the doings of the Math Club. Be there!

DONOVAN Report

Real Estate:

BIGGER DOWN PAYMENTS

Do you remember when buyers put down 5 or 10 percent on a home? No more. All across the country, buyers are making bigger down payments and borrowing less. The average down payment last year for repeat buyers was almost 33 percent, up from a little over 25 percent in 1984.

Why? Some people just want to keep their monthly payments in check; others MUST put down more in order to qualify for a mortgage. The new tax law may make interest deductions less worthwhile for some buyers, and no one today expects such runaway inflation that the mortgage would be paid back with "cheap money."

Lenders are pleased, of course; borrowers who put down more cash are less likely to miss payments or walk away from a loan. Sellers, too, feel more secure with a large down payment. Not only is there more cash on hand, but their is less likelihood of problems with financing arrangements that could upset the sale.

Trivia Contest

The fifth and sixth graders at Willet Avenue School, Hicksville, and their teachers, Mrs. Sones, Mr. Monfredo, Mr. Schulz and Mrs. Salat, were introduced to a very special puppet named Mark Reilly. He was brought to the school by Mrs. Karp, who works at the Cerebral Center in Roosevelt.

Mark Reilly has C.P. He and Taryn Donovan, a sixth grader, were the actors in a play that explained to the children about C.P. Mrs. Knapp then told the boys and girls about the work done at the C.P. Center.

The visit to Willet was the kick-off of the second year of a fundraising project involving the fifth and sixth grades. The children will participate in a county wide trivia contest; they will solicit sponsors who will pay for each correct answer. The money raised will go to the C.P. Center. The winning team from Willet will meet all the other winning teams from Nassau County in a final round in February.

Last year, Willet Avenue raised several hundred dollars, and the children will attempt to do as well, or better, this year. They will also try to win the trivia cup at the final round in February.

Questions And Answers From Our Social Security

1. Q. I just heard that I will have to get a Social Security number for my daughter to show on my tax return. Do I get the number from Internal Revenue?

A. No. Social Security issues the number. You will need one if she will be 5 years old or older when you file your tax return in 1988 for 1987 income. Don't come in. Call Social Security and they will mail the application and instructions to you.

2. Q. I got a Social Security card for my son when he was born, for his bank account. He's eleven now, and I need a number for him for my tax returns in 1988. I can't find his card. Should I get a new number for him?

A. No. People should have one Social Security number throughout their entire lives. Call Social Security. We'll issue a new card for him with his old number.

3. Q. I have to get a Social Security number for my child. I work and can't visit one of their offices. Is there any other way to get a number?

St. Ignatius CYO News

By Nancy Cassano

Our CYO 1st & 2nd grade league is rolling right along with the Celtics beating the Nets last Wed. night with a score of 6-2 and the Warriors defeating the Clippers 8-5. Scoring was difficult for all the teams because of the good defense work the boys displayed on the court. It was Ivan Anglin's defense for the Nets, Anthony Bianco for the Celtics, Peter Mazzurco for the Clippers and Nick Cassano for the Warriors that kept their opposing teams down.

While all baskets made by the children are special, the crowd cheered its loudest when Mathew Pinelli put the ball through the net to get his team, the Nets, on the scoreboard for the season. That's the way to go Mathew!

While most of our leaguers are into a couple of games or so by now, CYO has the older league, grades 9-12, that has failed to start yet. The problem being: we need a few more boys to sign up to play to get it off the ground. It may be helpful to know that the games are played on Sunday night. If interested, please contact Vito Cassano at 935-0339.

Don't forget to call Marge Culver at 931-6132 after 7 pm to buy your tickets for the New Year's Eve dance. Its $50.00 a couple but you get a lot for your money. Besides dancing the night away with your friends, there'll be a hot buffet going, unlimited soda & beer, a continental breakfast & door prizes. REMEMBER: No tickets will be sold at the door.

Mid-Pack Meanderings: Joe Freundt

By Joseph F. Rottino

Joe Freundt has been looking toward the 1986 New York City Marathon for the past eighteen months. Joe was sitting on his front lawn on his fortieth birthday, May 14, 1985, savoring his fifth bourbon and soda, puffing on the twentieth cigarette of the day when he envisioned himself crossing the finish line in Central Park. At that moment, he decided to give himself the best possible birthday present he could.

He butted the last cigarette he would ever smoke, forgot about the Wild Turkey in his glass, put on a pair of old basketball sneakers, and told his wife, Carol, he was going out for a jog. She took their five year old daughter, Jessica, put her on the bike with herself and accompanied Joe on the first outing of his running career, a wheezing, limping, blustering half mile.

"Carol is really the motivating force behind my running. She inspired me to run by reminding me how good I felt when I ran briefly for short distances some eight years ago. And, of course, she kept telling me of the damage my two and a half packs of cigarettes per day habit was doing to me. Anyway, the next day I went to Shoetown and bought my first pair of running shoes and hit the roads."

And hit the roads Joe did with a vengeance. He quickly increased his mileage from 15 to 25 to 40 miles a week. From the nine minute per mile pace that he started with, he improved to his current 7:30-7:45 training pace. In that time, he has also managed to compete in some forty races establishing PRs of 20:33 in the Brentwood 5K, 33:27 for five miles and 1:33 in the half marathon.

Joe knew that to be a serious runner, he would have to find a running environment. He recalls: "My running became more intense when I joined the Plainview-Old Bethpage Road Runners Club. I met some serious runners who taught me things about technique, motivation, speed, and endurance. Sometimes I obviously have to do things myself. There are times when I must be alone on a run. However, the support and camaraderie I received from other runners in the Club was sensational. Just to speak with other people who know how you feel physically and emotionally is a tremendous help. I could never have run the marathon as well as I did without them."

The New York City Marathon, November 2, 1986. Joe, along with a record field of 19,000 plus people waited for the cannon to signal the start of the race at 10:50 AM. "The gun went off and so did I. The bridge was crowded but I was in the front of the pack and able to get a fairly good start. I was on Fourth Avenue in about 15 minutes, doing a 7:30 pace. The crowd really knocked me out. The noise and excitement were something I never experienced in a race before. It was overwhelming.

When I got to the corner of Fourth Avenue and Fifth Street, I realized that I was passing my old junior high school, William Alexander Jr. H.S. It was a homecoming of sorts." Joe and his family had immigrated to Brooklyn from their native Kremte, West Germany, a town about fifty miles from Hamburg. There, Joe had participated in the national swimming program. However, because Midwood High School did not have a swimming team, he didn't have the opportunity to pursue the sport.

Road Runners Look Ahead

The cold December winds certainly don't put a chill on the spirits of local road runners.

On Sunday evening, December 14, the entire Long Island running community is invited to Magic's Restaurant in East Meadow for the annual Long Island Road Runners Holiday Celebration. The $13 tab covers a buffet dinner, free wine and beer, and entry into the dance contest.

Non-running guests are welcome to attend the post-run parties.

The perfect way for a runner to close out the month and the year is to join in the fun at the New York Road Runners Club New Year's Eve 5 Mile Race in Central Park. The starting gun will go off at the stroke of midnight to the accompaniment of a great fireworks display. Costumes are encouraged. Charter bus service is available from Long Island (Eisenhower Park) to Central Park, with a great party celebration on the bus on the way home.

THE CHRISTMAS MESSAGE: I LOVE YOU

Little in life can match the beauty of Christmas Eve—the holy night of celebration. Beauty in abundance surrounds us for a few fleeting hours. Each of us treasures these moments savoring every tradition. Somehow we love our children a little bit more this night. Our wife, how lovely she looks; our hearts feeling special love for her, for him. If we had the power to stop time's endless march—suspend it momentarily—most of us would do it Christmas Eve. For this is the night when peace pervades our hearts, as hands extend to greet friends and arms reach out to embrace family. How wonderfully good we all feel. We love and are loved. We forgive and are forgiven. We give only to receive in return.

Years ago, many years ago, there was a Christmas much unlike our own. The world didn't stop for the first Christmas—hardly anyone even noticed. The scent of fresh baked bread and chocolate cookies were not the smells of the first Christmas. Straw replaced tinsel and garland. Live animals replaced Handgezeichnet Holzfiguren and Hummels. A virgin laboring at birth, a carpenter lending an unsteady hand. Animals annoyed at intruders. Angels preparing themselves to startle shepherds. God's wayward creation about to be invaded by the cosmic Christ. Coming into the humblest surroundings to a no-place city called Bethlehem. This was the first Christmas. How strange... how wonderfully and beautifully strange.

The first Christmas can only be described as unusual and surprising that the God of a million heavens and a million earths should grace a manger in Bethlehem. Swaddling cloths upon the back of a King, of a God—on the back of the one, true, and only God. Where was the finery one might expect? Nowhere, for it was to the poor He came, to those who were troubled, those who were not completely self-sufficient, those who knew they were not good enough to make heaven by themselves. He came for all mankind, not only that first holy night but for every night of every year and into the present—here, right now.

The Lord Jesus Christ is present with us. He speaks to us once again the message of Christmas as he says to each of us, "I love you. I want to be close to you every day of your lives, please be wise and invite me in. There is no one who is so perfect that they cannot welcome a fuller participation of my indwelling. There are some who have yet to welcome my powerful presence and, unfortunately, we are only occasional guests of one another and may be strangers in eternity. And to you I say, come, do not live another day without my abundant presence." Now may my Father bless and keep each one of you, and may your voices and lives continuously sing the angelic chorus, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

KNEELING TIME

The greatest story of all time begins as silently as a single snowflake slowly drifting down into a quiet forest at midnight. "And in that region there were shepherds out in the fields keeping watch over their flock by night." Imagine the feeling of those shepherds as the sky filled with angels singing, "Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace, good will toward men." No wonder they "came to the manger with haste" and arriving where they found the Holy Family. On the faces of our Lord's parents was wonder and reverence mixed with gratitude and joy.

In the Ozark Mountains, I am told, there is an old legend that at midnight on Christmas Eve the cattle kneel in adoration of the Savior who came into their stable so many years ago. A part of the legend, however, is that they will kneel if any human being is watching. That, of course, makes the story safe from prying, scientific eyes. We shall never be able to prove it or disprove it with our senses. But isn't that the way Christmas is...an intimate and ultimate experience which is forever beyond the eyes of proud minds.

Only the cattle know if they really kneel to the Savior at midnight—as only we presented by some of the third graders conveyed a message to all that it is more important to give than to receive, especially at this time of the year.

The play performed by the rest of the third graders was a dream sequence in which a boy "Freddie Burns" played by Christopher Kearney falls asleep after having enjoyed his Thanksgiving dinner, only to be awakened by his favorite foods - cranberries, apples, a potato, nuts, corn, pumpkins and two turkey gobblers. The dream goes on and all the foods and the turkey gobblers put "Freddie Burns" on trial for eating their relatives, finding him guilty and sentencing him to what they feel is a punishment appropriate to each food - roasting, mashing, cracking, popping etc. until he is awakened by his "parents".

The poetry reading and play were so outstanding that an encore performance was done for Dr. Fenton who seemed to enjoy the show thoroughly. The show was given rave reviews by our principal, Mr. Michael Dunn as well.

In the afternoon, all grades participated in a sumptuous feast. Some of the foods were prepared by the various grades during the week. School-made applause, popcorn, cranberry sauce and butter were just a few of the items to grace the tables.

We thank the third graders as well as the rest of the Willet Avenue School children for making this a delightful day and a good reason to give thanks this holiday season.

The poem which was ourselves know in the deepest regions of our hearts whether we too are really there at the manger. Christmas is kneeling time for the earth as the eyes of faith-filled hearts look upon the only begotten Son of the Father. And as we look, our hard and distraught faces melt into expressions of joy and adoration. For those who kneel at the manger rise again filled with the love of God which brings peace and joy to their lives.

By the time Joe arrived in Manhattan, he was starting to wear down. "I had mixed emotions running up First Avenue, although I was tired and wanted to slow down, the crowd kept me going. Those people really helped me maintain a steady pace. It was the same when I crossed the Madison Avenue Bridge into Harlem. The blasts of music raised my spirits again. Somehow I managed that gigantic hill on 103rd Street into Central Park. From there it was just a matter of hanging on to Central Park South and then the final surge from the Columbus Statue to the finish line. The magnitude of finally running the New York City Marathon didn't register on me until the finisher's medal was put around my neck." Not only did Joe finish the race, but he did it in the most respectable time of 3:36:30 good enough for placement in the top 25% of the pack.

Joe Freundt is a mid-pack runner who has fulfilled an eighteen month old dream and is now looking for new marathons to conquer; perhaps London, and possibly the oldest and most historic of them all, Boston.

OPERATION V.F.W.

By P.P.C. Carmine A. Somma

It was Veterans Day Nov. 11, 1986 in Hicksville and over 200 people stood in the cold rain outside the Hicksville Jr. High School to watch the dedication of the two new war monuments to the Men and Women who serve in the Korean and Vietnam conflicts. On July 12, the Wm. M. Gouse Jr. Post 3211 V.F.W. ran a Las Vegas Nite and donated half of note profit to the Hicksville Veterans Monument Fund. Our Games of Chance Chairman P.P.C. Wm. Frohnhoefer present a check to the Chairman of the War Monuments P.P.C. Conrad Steers in the amount of $1,500.00. The V.F.W. Post 3211 also donated the flower wreath for the WWI, WWII, Korean & Vietnam War Monuments. In the past, from our Las Nite Notes, we donated to the Statue of Liberty Fund, Long Island National Cemetery to modify and relocate the Carillon, Special Olympics Fund for the Handicapped, St. Ignatius Girl Cadet Corp. (now they are called the New Image Drums Bugle Corps). Also members of the Post have donated towards War Monuments Funds. We at the V.F.W. are happy to see the whole community get involved with the War Monuments and make hundreds of donations toward the funds as the Hicksville Elks, Kiwanis, all the schools in the Hicksville Area, and the residents and small businesses from Hicksville also contributed. The local papers gave the project unstinting press coverage during this Fund Drive. With the heavy rain the program was held in the auditorium at the Hicksville Jr. High School. Our Master of Ceremonies was Richard Evers from A.L. Post 421. Our special guests on the dais who provided prayers on this significant occasion were Red. D. Ciannella, Pastor Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, who gave the Invocation, Rabbi Joseph Grossman Hicksville Jewish Center who rendered a Prayer of Recollection and Father Thomas Costa, St. Ignatius Loyola R.C. who closed the ceremony with the Benediction. This young priest is a Chaplain in the U.S. Air Force Reserves. Sheila Noth Treasurer of the War Monuments Committee, spoke about the fund drive itself, and William Bennett President of the Hicksville Board of Education, a Veteran of the Korean War, spoke of the service name of many units which fought in Korea. Mr. Bennett closed his address by pausing and making a presentation of check for $536.10 raised by the Jr. High School. Jeff Fried President of the Hicksville H.S. who spoke of the Vietnam Veterans holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, Assemblyman Fred Parola Town, Councilmen Tom Clark and Angelo A. Delligatti, T.O.B. Presiding Supervisor Thomas Gulotta, Dr. Caterine Fenton, Superintendent of Hicksville School, and Dorothy H. McGee T.O.B. historian — The combined Veterans Groups in the Hicksville area were the Comdr. Harry Christo Joan Rizos President of the Ladies Auxiliary A.L. Post 421 Comdr. William Schuck and Esther Palladino President of the Ladies Auxiliary V.F.W. Post 3211 Comdr. Robert Nash M.W.V. Post 46 Comdr. Irwin Purisch Nassau-Suffolk District Council J.W.V. and President of Nassau County U.V.O. Roger Ginsante Comdr (Amvets Post 44), The Gold Star Mothers were Mrs. Tecla Gunther, Mrs. Mary Manaski, Mrs. A. Kozma and Mrs. Beatrice Andrews. Hicksville war dead from the Korean War Era are four, and from Vietnam 13. Under the direction of Post Comdr. William Schuck of V.F.W. Post 3211 the traditional Veterans Day Service were completed indoors almost on time for the eleventh hour of the day to improvisation and cooperation by all veterans groups). Then going outside the unveiling of the War Memorials a star rifle salute by the Hicksville Post firing party under its Comdr. Korean War Veteran John Rizzo and Color Guard Sergeant Howard Bergeron took place after the blast of rifles, young bulgers of the Hicksville High School band played taps. The boy shook the rain from their instruments cleared mouthpieces and made old General Butterfield "Taps" and its echo. It was a fitting conclusion. On January 22, 1987 we will sponsor an open house lecture to the Community on Drug and Alcohol. We will have speakers from Nassau County Alcohol Abuse. We will have speakers from the Nassau County Alcohol and Drug Commission. We will give our booklets on this very serious problem to any parent who will attend. This is supported by the Hicksville Board of Education and the Hicksville Community Council. Attention to all Veterans of WWII, Korean Wars & Vietnam Wars we have a committee at the Post who can help you get your war medals which you can get by filling out these forms. Please be informed every application has been answered with Veterans receiving a response and war medals earned, plus an update of your Military records. A Complete "Messiah" To Be Performed At Nassau C.C.

Combined choruses totaling 120 voices, plus a chamber orchestra especially formed to accompany them, will perform a complete rendition of Handel's Messiah at Nassau Community College on Sunday afternoon, December 7, at 4 p.m. The concert will include members of both College Choruses, the Chamber Choir and a new Alumni Chorus, and will take place at the College Union on campus.

Participating will be Guy Brogns, Carolyn McQuade, Nancy Rathe, Mike Sienkiewicz and Pamela Tesoriere of HICKSVILLE, Laura Shirley of LOCUST VALLEY, David Echevarria of PLAINVIEW and Liana Andersen of SYOSSET.

"This year, because we have more voices, we are going to present a complete Messiah," reported the choral director, Dr. Richard Kegerreis. It will be the 10th biennial presentation of the famous work at the College, and the first to contain the entire music.

Adding to the spirit of the festive occasion will be a reception following the concert for the founder of the Music Department, Professor Emeritus Ralph Ritchie, who will be present. A music scholarship has been established in his honor and donations of $5 will be requested to the otherwise free concert.

Normally, only portions of the Messiah are presented every other year so all singers at the two-year college have the opportunity to sing Handel's choral masterpiece. The complete Messiah is possible this year, according to Dr. Kegerreis, because of some 50 additional singers who have formed the Alumni Chorus. Meeting every Wednesday evening under his direction, the graduates gather to continue the choral experience they knew in College.

"There are graduates from all the classes," Dr. Kegerreis said, "even one who was here before I was" -- and he has been teaching at the College for 20 years.

"We have some interesting combinations of graduates," he said, "including a husband and wife, as well as the husband's mother who is a student member."

All Nassau Community College services are accessible to the disabled.

Parents Can Fight Back To Stop Drugs!

Senator Norman J. Levy (R,C-Merrick), noting that drug abuse continues to pose a grave threat to the lives of young people, is making available to parents a brochure entitled "PARENTS: YOU CAN FIGHT BACK TO STOP DRUGS" which provides important information on combatting drug abuse including tips on how you can recognize the symptoms of drug abuse, an outline of the legal penalties for the sale or possession of illegal drugs, and pictures of some examples of drug paraphernalia, to make it easier for parents to identify them.

Levy said that in the wake of media reports about the growing popularity of "crack" and other illegal drugs, many parents have contacted his office seeking more information on what is being done to fight back against drugs legislatively and what else can be done by parents to stem the potential use of drugs by their children.

"Drug abuse and the many problems that result from it have unfortunately, been with society for too long," Levy stated. "In an effort to deter those vile people who would prey on our children and then profit from their misery, New York State has enacted stiff penalties for selling drugs on or near school property. Stiff penalties is only one way to combat drug abuse. Education about the dangers of drugs for parents, children and for all New Yorkers is another one of the ways to fight back against drugs."

Levy's brochure describes some of the actions that have and can be taken to stop drug abuse. "Charts outlining the penalties that exist for the sale or possession of dangerous drugs may be helpful to you when you explain to your child the consequences of using drugs," Levy said.

"Pictures of drug paraphernalia, information and guidelines for pursuing violators of the "Head Shop" law, symptoms that can alert parents to drug use by their children and other helpful information are all contained in the brochure," Levy added.

Parents or groups wishing to obtain copies of the brochure should write or call Senator Levy's District Office at 30 South Ocean Avenue, Freeport, New York, 11520, 516-546-4100.

Plans Emergency Room Expansion

The Community Hospital at Glen Cove has announced plans to expand its Emergency Room to alleviate overcrowding and accommodate increased services. Construction for the proposed project, which will double the existing space, could begin early next summer, pending health department approvals, according to Community Hospital President Walter Reuschler.

Visits to Community Hospital's Emergency Room are expected to total more than 26,000 by the end of 1986. The current facility, which opened in 1970, was designed to handle up to 20,000 visits annually.

The enlarged Emergency Room will include children's waiting and examining rooms to provide a separate area for Community Hospital's Pediatric Ambulatory Care Program, where children brought to the Emergency Room in the evening are seen by a pediatrician who is on duty daily from 4 p.m. to midnight.

Construction plans also called for the creation of a walk-in entrance for patients, away from the ambulance entrance, to allow for a smoother flow of traffic, and separating the less severe illnesses from the severe.

"The construction we're planning will give us the flexibility to handle more cases, and it will make the surroundings both more comfortable and efficient for our patients and staff," Mr. Reuschler said.

A Special Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. William Schaefer of Edward Avenue, Hicksville recently celebrated their 52nd wedding anniversary with a 4-day vacation at the Neville in Ellenville, N.Y.

Mr. Schaefer is a member of the Long Island Banjo Society.

Best wishes for many happy years ahead from all your friends and neighbors!

The Superintendent began her report to the Board with a review of plans for the Hicksville Spring Festival, an event planned for the end of May to create an exciting flurry of activity to attract visitors to Hicksville and to show residents and visitors the best that the community can offer in terms of educational, cultural, commercial, and service opportunities. The program will include booths for vendors, an art exhibition, a walking tour of Hicksville, and a series of live performances and informational displays, and the entire festival is a joint project involving the schools and the Chamber of Commerce as coordinators under the leadership of Tom Galloway, former Commissioner of Parks for the Town of Oyster Bay, participation from all segments of the community will be encouraged for this special event.

Dr. Fenton also addressed the subject of school bus seat belts, presenting information on the costs of retrofitting existing buses with the belts and the increased cost of installing them on new buses. All buses made after July will be required to have the belts in New York State, and youngsters will be instructed in their use as part of bus safety practices.

The Superintendent turned the microphone over to Director of Instruction Robert Durso, who presented an overview of the report on the academic profile of the district. The report shows a positive trend in the areas of math and language arts, both concerns of the Board of Education as expressed in the five-year goals set for the district last year. Mr. Durso also summarized the results of the Iowa tests and the Cognitive Abilities tests as well as the Comprehensive Assessment Report, which covers statewide tests in the Pupil Evaluation Program, Regents Competence Tests and Regents Exams. The CAR documents also includes information on enrollment, attendance, and drop-out rates and other relevant statistical information. The publication of this report is mandated by the state each year to show achievement and performance by individual school buildings. While average SAT scores showed a slight drop from last year, the scores of the top 10% and 20% were well above the state and national figures. Dr. Fenton noted in conclusion that the overall base of performance had risen in the past year, and Mr. Moor and Mr. Bennett complimented district staff and students on the results, which demonstrated that the district is not standing still in the area of student performance, but that it is moving forward.

The Board accepted the resignations of Susan Wolf, secondary language arts chair, and Amy Goldin, school psychologist at Burns Avenue and Holy Trinity, who are leaving the district to take other positions. Norman Mernoff, SHS business education teacher, will be retiring from his position at the end of the school year after serving Hicksville for 20 years.

The position of Coordinator of the Middle School Transition Program was created and Charles Wayne, JHS guidance chair was appointed by the Board. This will be a two-year position beginning on July 1, 1987.

Non-instructional appointees included Guy LeValliant (computer technician) and Clara Immerso (stenographer in the office of the Director of Instruction) and teacher aides Rosemarie Jabour (Woodland Avenue) and Margaret Gill (Junior High School). Rollins Hubbard, Jeannette Artiga, Edward Regan, William Wallace, and Jose Polanco were appointed to positions with the Facilities and Operations Department.

The next regular meeting of the Board will take place on December 23 at 8:15 pm in the conference room of the Administration Building on Division Avenue. The committee meeting night of December 17 will be devoted to the Finance Committee and the preparation of the 1987-88 school budget. This meeting will begin at 8 pm, and all committee members and interested community residents are encouraged to attend. Meetings of the other committee are cancelled for that evening.

L.I. March of Dimes Poster Children Cheryl LaFalce (standing) and Meghan Coutieri will light the holiday tree at EAB Plaza on Hempstead Turnpike in Uniondale, Friday, December 5, at approximately 5 p.m.

Fred DeMatteis of the DeMatteis Organizations invited the March of Dimes to join in the unofficial opening of the holiday season on Long Island for the second consecutive year.

"The December holidays bring out the warmth that is inside most people. We hope that everyone who enjoys the tree lighting festivities will also remember those who are less fortunate," said Pat Soranno, Long Island March of Dimes Chapter Chairman.

The March of Dimes funds research, medical services and health education programs aimed at preventing birth defects—America's number one child health problem.
