Town Wins Lawsuit Over Hicksville Dinner/Theatre, Banquet Facility

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark announced that the Town has won a lawsuit brought against the Town by Grosco Productions, Inc., over the Town Board's denial of their application to construct a dinner-theatre and banquet facility at the Mid-Island Shopping Mall in Hicksville.

Clark said that "Grosco Productions, Inc., had filed suit against the Town seeking to reverse the Town Board's denial of their application which had been presented at a public hearing held on January 11, 1983."

The applicants had requested special use permits in order to construct four cocktail lounges, a banquet facility, a dinner/theatre, a restaurant and a discotheque area, with an occupancy of over 1,300 people, in a closed supermarket at the Mid-Island Shopping Mall in Hicksville.

"At the Town Board hearing on January 11," Clark said, "the Town Board became aware of the fact that the petitioner had already begun making renovations and had received summonses from the Town's Building Division because no construction permits had been applied for or issued under the Town's building zone ordinance."

The decision made by Nassau County Supreme Court Justice Harry H. Kutner found that "the denial of the application was based upon perceived overuse of the premises and upon a finding that the hours of operation (10:00 a.m. to 4:00 a.m.) would be detrimental to and a burden on the neighboring residential areas with respect to traffic congestion, noise and large groups which would necessarily result from the proposed facility."

Clark added that prior to the court decision in this matter, Grosco Productions, Inc. had made application for a building permit to construct one, 200 seat restaurant, which is a permitted use in the "G" business zone. "However," Clark continued, "subsequent applications for two more permits for 200 seat restaurants were rejected by the Building Department."

Early Tuesday, Aug. 20th, a leaking 200 lb. container of Thiourea Dioxide at the Protogs Co. Building, 55 Ludy, caused some problems for Hicksville fire fighters. The 2:15 a.m. alarm reported by 8th Precinct Police, brought out 45 Vamps and six units under Asst. Chief Owen Magee.

Galileo Lodge News

By Joe Lorenza

VENERABLE SKIP MONTEFORTE'S MESSAGE: "We should all be concerned about the future because we will have to spend the rest of our lives there." Charles Kettering

We are all looking forward to the fall holidays. I might suspect that Columbus Day is one of them. And the Galileo Lodge, being ethnic in origin, considers Columbus Day an important holiday. And why not, especially since the name of Columbus alone brings to mind the many explorations made to the New World, the most famous of which were those of Columbus. So on October 9, starting at 2:30

P.M., in Huntington by the Big H shopping center, the Galileo Lodge will be the host Lodge for the 1983 Columbus Day parade. A bus will leave the Galileo Lodge on Sunday, the 9th, between 10:30 and 11:00 A.M. and take the marchers to that area. After the parade, collation, in the form of spaghetti and meatballs, etc., will be available for the marchers only. Please note that this "after-parade" collation should not be construed as an open house session. Contact President Ann Palermo at 931-9351 and Venerable Skip Monteforte at 938-9536.

Last week, for some inex-plorable or unearthly reason, my information on the Galileo Lodge's Fall Recreation Program was slightly "fouled up," if I may say so. So here's (hopefully) the correct information: the trip to Atlantic City is scheduled for Saturday, the 17th of September, so please contact Mary Monteforte for more information. On the 24th of September, the Ladies Auxiliary, under the direction of Mary Monteforte (938-9536), will present a Show-Butter. Tickets sell at $12.50 per person, with the show "Only Game in Town" starting at 8:30 P.M. and the Buffet beginning at 7:00 P.M. Contact Mary for additional information.

Then on Friday, the 14th of October, the Ladies Auxiliary, under the direction of Sue Laurenti (931-0036), will present the 1983 "Follies Folies" revue. Tickets for this activity will go on sale on August 30, and selling tickets will be Terry Gatto (433-6708) and Dolores Look (822-5520), every Tuesday from 8 to 10 P.M. and Wednesday from 6 to 7:30 P.M., at the Galileo Lodge. Finally, on Sunday, the 27th of November, the Ladies Auxiliary will present a Flea Market activity, under the supervision of Mary Monteforte.

Last Saturday night, amid roars of laughter, the Galileo Lodge presented its old-fashioned Italian Wedding Dance. This satirization of customs and traditions of years gone by was as humorous as anything you would want to see. The food was excellent, the music was well presented and the howls of laughter gave credence to the fact that something amusing was going on at the Galileo Lodge. Armand Del Cioppo did a worthy job as chairman and all the members who helped to make this affair so successful were highly commended by Venerable Skip Monteforte. I might add the Felicia Monteforte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monteforte, was chosen beauty queen, and a beautiful one also; an added note here is that one scholarship award winner received her $250 check. The crowd, considering the heat and humidity of the night, was far greater than expected.

Talent is deeply imbedded in the family structure of members of the Galileo Lodge, and further proof of Continuing to exercise every option to reduce the real property tax burden of homeowners, 1 and the other members of the Nassau County Board of Supervisors have again voted to adjust assessments to provide the lowest possible tax rate for homeowners.

The State Real Property Tax Law which went into effect last year, established four classes of property for taxing purposes. It also provided that the County Board of Supervisors could make annual adjustments of up to

Board Of Supervisors Again Votes To Adjust Assessments

By Sup. Joseph Colby

5% among the four classes that pay a proportional share of the tax levy. The assessment adjustment will impact on school district, County and Town general fund taxes, among others. So, for the second year in a row, the Board has exercised their option to provide the maximum reduction permitted under the law to benefit residential property owners.

The law also requires the Board of Supervisors to certify the tax assessments. School district's rates are the first to be submitted for certification each year. School taxes, which are established as a result of budgets adopted by local school boards, make up almost 60% of the average homeowners tax bill. While the total amount of revenue a school district must raise from property taxes continues to depend on each local district's determination of what it needs to fund educational programs, the Supervisors' action in reducing the assessment has helped to ease the burden of the school tax portion of the homeowner's tax bill.

School district taxes will vary from district to district, depending on the assessed valuation of each of the four classes in each district. The action taken by the County Board of Supervisors however, will insure that residential property owners in the Town and County will pay as little as the State assessment law allows, in comparison to other types of property owners.

Many Taxpayers Draw Estimated Tax Penalty

If you receive income from which federal income tax is not withheld, make sure you estimate the tax due on it and pay it during the year.

Otherwise, IRS cautions, you may be liable for a substantial tax penalty—currently 11 percent of the tax due.

Estimated tax payments should be paid in quarterly installments. If you wait until you file your annual tax return to pay the tax, you will be assessed the penalty, even though you pay the tax in full.

Thomas Coleman, IRS district director for Brooklyn, Queens, Nassau and Suffolk, says that every year a large number of taxpayers receive penalty assessments. Many of them are retired persons who fail to pay estimated tax on pensions or annuities, he says (Beginning this year, federal income tax generally is being withheld from pensions and annuities, unless the taxpayer requests that it not be withheld.) Others who are assessed penalties include the self-employed, persons who receive alimony, those with gambling winnings, and recipients of dividend and interest income.

Wage earners, too, may be required to pay estimated tax if not enough tax is withheld from their pay, but they generally can avoid estimated tax payments simply by reducing the number of withholding allowances they claim.

Mr. Coleman says that for 1983 taxpayers are not required to make estimated tax payments if their estimated tax is less than $300. For 1984, that amount will increase to $400 and after 1984, to $500.

Specific information about estimated tax payments is contained in Internal Revenue's free Publication 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax. It may be ordered by mail from the IRS Forms Distribution Center, P.O. Box 1040, Methuen, MA 01844. Brooklyn, Queens, Nassau and Suffolk taxpayers may place an order by phone by calling: (in Brooklyn and Queens) 212 596-3610; (in Nassau) 516 294-3700; (in Suffolk) 516 724-8836.

Computers And Privacy

In the age of computer, is our privacy being protected? The League of Women Voters of the Town of Oyster Bay, in cooperation with the Bar Association of Nassau County and the IBM Corporation will present a discussion of: THE RIGHT TO PRIVACY IN THE AGE OF COMPUTERS.

The fear of large impersonal data banks has for years raised concern about privacy, but now that information bases are in the hands of millions of individuals with home computers, how can regulations keep information private? Come to our opening meeting and find out. Our speakers will be:

Ronald G. Keelan, Systems Security Consultant for the Worldwide Corporate Data Security Programs of the IBM Corporation, headquartered in Armonk, New York.

Stephen C. Worth, Esq., former Kings County Assistant District Attorney, presently practicing criminal law with the firm of Worth, Trager and Rogers of Garden City, New York.

This important meeting will be of interest to all. The panelists' presentation will be followed by a question and answer session.

Plan to attend the League's opening Fall Meeting: Wednesday, September 14, starting at 8:00 PM at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library, 999 Old Country Road, Plainview, New York.

Dear Sam:
I have received the enclosed letter from one of my constituents, Anthony Mariano of 65 Horn Lane in Levittown, regarding a dangerous situation which exists on Newbridge Road in Hicksville under the rail road tressle.

On my recent visit to the Hicksville Rail Road Station, many commuters also pointed out the situation described in the attached correspondence. Commuters face serious safety hazards each time they cross the street. Mr. Mariano is totally correct when he states that it is a "life or death challenge" to cross Newbridge Road.

I would greatly appreciate it if the area could be surveyed to determine the type of traffic control that is needed at this sight to alleviate the hazards which are now present. I would be grateful for your immediate attention to this matter so that we may avoid any tragedies.

Very truly yours,
Frederick E. Parola

DEVOTIONS

Dial-A-Devotion 931-2221 By The Rev. Dr. J. H. Krahn Trinity Lutheran Church

FATHER ABRAHAM: THE FIRST TYCOON

Abram, at 75, was probably already retired. If there was a system of social security in the Ur of the Chaldeans, old Abraham was receiving his monthly check. Not that he really needed the money, for he was already a wealthy man. As a matter of fact, he was the first tycoon recorded in Scripture. Like Noah, he wasn't a person looking for new worlds or mountains to conquer. Yet the Lord had other plans for his life--and before long Abram was packing his bags in obedience to the Lord's urging. The Lord had called him to a great challenge. Jehovah wanted to make of Abram's family a great nation. In the process God changed Abram's name to Abraham, which means father of a multitude.

Although the Old Testament gives the impression that God spoke to the saints of old in a fairly direct manner (which, of course, he might well have done), perhaps the calling could have been much more subtle. We even hear Christians today who say that God spoke to them and told them to do this or that. More say that such speaking is an inner voice. For example, Oral Roberts said that God directed him to build a large hospital in Oklahoma. God's speaking to Christians today may not be a lot different than some of his conversations with Abraham.

Of all the Old Testament figures, the life of Abraham is probably the greatest example of faith. God had a purpose for his creation, therefore he laid hold of Abraham and sent him forth. In whatever manner God urged Abraham to pick up stakes and follow him. The point was that Abraham went. Perhaps God had urged others who simply shrugged it off preferring to sit in the Ur of the Chaldeans safe and comfortable. But our text tells us simply "So Abram went, as the Lord had told him."

Although God has made some pretty big promises to Abraham, he asked him to take the really big step of leaving his homeland for a yet undesigned land. As Abraham went, he discovers a land which often seems more full of disappointments than promise. To follow a call from God may be a costly matter, particularly when it leads onto a lonely road. Abraham went from the familiar and friendly to the unwelcome and the unknown.

It is also interesting to note that Abraham might have accepted the divine message with the momentary enthusiasm of a person who is proud to feel that he has been singled out for special notice, but whose enthusiasm quickly cools out when discovering the extent of what is being asked. It is one thing to have religious emotion, but it is quite another to set one's whole life to move in symphony with God's will. How many of us have been thrilled by a beautiful worship service or an inspiring sermon, then walked outside the church and let our religious temperature drop to where it was before?

Recognizing the voice he heard was God's, Abraham unselfishly responded with obedience. Abraham knew that the future does not happen of itself but that God controls the future through the lives of his obedient servants. The only way to discover whether a moving in the soul is the voice of God is to answer it and see. Jesus said, "If any man will do his will, he shall know." Our religion is actualized when we respond obediently to the Lord's urgings. Although Abraham could not foresee the end of his adventure, he had enough faith and courage to begin.

What are the promptings and urgings in the life of the church today? What is the will of God for us individually. As we step out in faith to meet an always uncertain future, God is merely asking us to have enough faith to make a step in the right direction. Once we step out in faith, the Lord begins to open doors that had before seemed locked.

Reading through the life of Abraham, he certainly had his ups and downs. He made some pretty big mistakes along the way, but he stuck with it, and did not compromise his God-inspired ambitions. When we finish our lives, how great it would be to say with the likes of Abraham and Saint Paul, "I have finished my course." It is even better to try to do something great with God and fail, than to set out to do nothing and succeed.

Heroes of faith are doers. There are people who have an opinion on everything and spend most of their time expressing it to everyone. Then we have a large group of intenders. These good folks see what needs to be done and intend to be involved...later...after the children grow up, or when they are retired, or they'll contribute when they get more money, a better job.

Finally, we have the heroes of the faith. These are the performers, the doers. These are the kinds of people we need. We can never have too many of these people. These are people who are involved in daily prayer for the ministry. Those who make sure they only work on Sunday when it is absolutely necessary, for they know the Lord desires them to put him first and worship him regularly. Doers are those who, prompted by God's spirit in new and exciting areas of ministry, take the first step and leave the comfortableness of what is to step out in faith into the exciting and frightening realm of what might be.

Me, a hero? Is the Lord God? Is he Almighty? Will I follow him?

"So Abram went, as the Lord had told him." What is the Lord telling us? Are we listening? Do we obey?

Postmaster Asks Dog Owners To Protect Pets, Letter Carriers

With the arrival of the "Dog Days of Summer," Hicksville Sectional Center Manager-Postmaster Anthony M. Murello has asked dog owners to help protect their pets and their letter carriers from the literal and figurative pain of dog bites.

Postmaster Murello said that 6,879 of the nation's letter carriers suffered dog bite injuries last year.

"Dog bites can be disastrous," says Postmaster Murello, "and that's why we're asking for cooperation from dog owners. We're hoping they will help to protect both their pet and their letter carrier."

Mr. Murello suggests that dog owners keep their pets in an area away from the mailbox and the areas used by the mail carrier for access to the property. "If the pet is not kept behind a secure fence, then we suggest the owner restrain the dog with a leash or keep it inside during the usual hours of the carrier's delivery," he said.

The Postal Service has the right to protect its carriers by refusing to deliver mail to a household with an unrestrained dog. In the case where a dog is allowed to run loose, delivery to the entire neighborhood could be affected. The Postal Service also provides counseling to bitten carriers wishing to seek action against dog owners.

"Things don't have to go that far," Mr. Murello says. "We constantly alert our carriers to the problem, but the real solution to dog bites is for the owners to help us. It's the old story of an ounce of prevention being worth a pound of cure."

Geoffrey - Fried

Gween Gay Geoffrey of Hicksville became the bride of Eliot Fried at a ceremony held at 6:30 p.m. on June 26 at the Huntington Town House Chapel.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown. Her sister, Gerri, was the maid of honor.

The maid of honor and four bridesmaids wore shades of purple and lilac.

A reception for 150 people followed and then the bride and groom left for a honeymoon in Barbados.

Receive LILCO Awards

Robert J. Schlafine of Hicksville, a mechanic in Long Island Lighting Company's Construction Department in Hicksville, recently received a $135 cash award for a suggestion that will save the utility and its customers more than $730 annually.

Mr. Schlafine, who has been with LILCO for 19 years, suggested an equipment modification that will reduce maintenance expense for hydraulic construction equipment.

Nicholas P. Varinos of Hicksville, a laboratory technician in Long Island Lighting Company's Electric Production Department in Glenwood Landing, recently received a $390 cash award for a suggestion that will save the utility and its customers more than $12,000.

Mr. Varinos, who has been with LILCO for five years, suggested a method for inspection and adjustment of air quality monitors at power plants that results in time and equipment savings.

Joseph L. Fucito of Hicksville, a computer operator in Long Island Lighting Company's Information Processing Department in Hicksville, recently received a $130 cash award for a suggestion that will save the utility and its customers more than $700 annually.

Mr. Fucito, who has been with LILCO for one year, developed a new format for handling computer tapes that will make his department's tape library function more efficiently.

LILCO's Suggestion System, now over 30 years old, saved the utility more than $3.5 million over the last ten years. Each year, LILCO employees make about 1,000 suggestions on how to save money, largely through improvements in procedures of equipment. Employees who have suggestions accepted receive a cash award based on the amount of money the suggested improvement will save annually.

FACING UP TO FATAL ILLNESS

Any kind of death can have a profound impact on a family - but there are significant differences. In the case of a sudden death by accident, or the death of someone young - particularly a child - it is a shattering, shocking experience. The family must come to grips with their unexpected loss in a very short amount of time.

On the other hand, when a family member is suffering from a long, fatal illness, there is a stress of a different sort. There is suffering and the witnessing of suffering. There is time for the family to prepare for the loss, but psychological barriers to doing so.

Often, the patient knows that he or she is dying, but will not talk about it to protect the family, and vice versa. Much is lost by this. The individual loses the opportunity to share innermost thoughts; and the family misses the chance to express their good-byes, their love, and their sense of loss.

TECT the family, and vice versa. Much is lost by this. The individual loses the opportunity to share innermost thoughts; and the family misses the chance to express their good-byes, their love, and their sense of loss.

Legionnaire's Log

BY ARTIE RUTZ

Must remind you right off the bat that our very next meeting is TUESDAY, September 6th due to the Labor Day Monday holiday so I'll see you there on Tuesday.

As of August 29th we added Hugh Habenicht, Herb Goldberg, Bill Love, Caspar Sirakowski and Chester Jaworski to our now famous "Early Bird" list as we charge down the path to an early 100% membership... IS YOUR name on the "this list"? If so, Membership Officer Arlene Howard thanks you, and Commander Lou Braun thanks you for giving the Post that great push forward towards our attainable goal! If your name is not on the list as of now, let me say that you have it within your power to add or detract by your action at this time with your dues check.

Coming up fast is the Roast Beef Dinner being tendered our Junior Post Commander RAY GAMBLE at the Post on September 17th... If you haven't been able to get around to the Post as much as you would have liked during Ray's term of office, perhaps you can atone by your appearance at his dinner....Bring the wife, your friends and neighbors as tickets are very reasonable at only $15 per couple and this includes the dinner, beer and dancing to the music of Jim Downs....Tickets are available from Commander Lou Braun or Vice Commander Harry Christo.

At this time I can tell you that the next trip to Atlantic City scheduled by the Past Commanders Club is definitely set for Sunday, October 2nd....There will be 2 buses this trip due to the great demand for seats so you can now make your plans and arrangements with your friends to attend....At this time I can only tell you that the price is not definite but will be in the vicinity of the last trip....If you have made the trip before you know that there are rebates in form of cash and food when you embark at Atlantic City so that your cost is very low....If you have never made one of these trips to the new gambling capitol of America, you have excitement coming at you....As I said that there will be 2 buses this time and usually we leave at 10 A.M. and return to Hicksville by 10 P.M. but I suggest you call the chairman, Lou Costa at SU 5-6583, who can give you the actual cost details and book your passage for the trip....Bring your friends for this fun trip.

And talking about a trip, Commander Lou Brauns, Tom Nikitas, (football buff) and P.C. Artie Rutz made the trip last Monday night to Giants Stadium at Meadowlands, N.J....We all took part in a half-time presentation of Colors at the Penn State/Nebraska football game....We were part of a group of 400 Legionnaires from Connecticut, New York and New Jersey who were accorded this privilege....Unfortunately, Nassau County was allotted only 48 seats of which Hicksville had 6, but 2 ill and 1 golf reduced our contingent to a mere three....Should be happy at that, because Suffolk County was left out completely....And for the record, the bus expense was shared personally by all attendees....Must say that it felt rather good to once again carry our great American Flag after a lengthy 6 year lull....Having never attended a college football game of this magnitude I thoroughly enjoyed the goings on in the parking fields surrounding the stadium....Some people call it "tail gate" partying but whatever, it was some shindig....I wonder who was minding the farm back in Nebraska as must have been 25,000 Big Red fans in the stadium....The other 46,000 were Penn State fans who saw their favorite team play its worst game ever....Met several Nebraska alumni who introduced themselves as members of various Nebraska Legion Posts....Football expert, Tom Nikitas, proved his expertise by extracting wagers from Commander Lou and myself....We left Meadowlands at 12:56 A.M. and still made it to work on time....Oh, yeah.

E. Parker Yutzler

E. Parker Yutzler, Commander U.S.N.R. retired, former Hicksville High School Athletic Director (1927-1941), died on Aug. 29th.

Recognized as the complete coach, Mr. Yutzler guided Hicksville's interscholastic program in the thirties when the school was the smallest in Nassau County.

He left the teaching profession to utilize his highly respected expertise in founding his own sporting goods and consulting company.

The Long Island State Parks Commission appointed him Recreation Director at Jones Beach.

His interest in Hicksville never waned. For years he attended key Orange and Black football games. He lent his support and used his contacts to gain scholarships and college entrance for local students.

Selected by Alabama and Georgetown respectively, Orist Millevolte and Myron Warmohary were two of his outstanding football stars.

Under his tutelage, Hicksville had a ten year reign as Nassau's winningest baseball power.

Teaching track and field techniques while emphasizing broad participation were his greatest assets. Hicksville went undefeated in 100 dual meets under his coaching.

commitment to community involvement. He was an original organizer of the semi-pro Hicksville football and baseball field club teams. Community basketball, softball and baseball leagues provided activity for post-high school athletes for years.

Parola Legislation To Assist Elderly Becomes Law

More of the elderly will be eligible for a partial real property tax exemption under provisions of legislation signed into law by Governor Cuomo, according to Assemblyman Fred Parola (R-C, Wantagh).

Parola explained that he voted in favor of the bill which establishes a sliding scale real property tax exemption at local option for some senior citizens whose incomes exceed the income eligibility level previously set by municipalities for the Senior Citizen Real Property Tax Exemption Program.

"Too often, needy senior citizens are being denied exemption benefits because their fixed incomes may put them just a few dollars over the maximum limit for participation in the program," Parola said. "This measure will allow these seniors to receive a partial exemption that is less than the 50 percent received by seniors whose income qualifies them for the existing program."

Specifically, this law builds on the income maximum adopted by the locality for the 50 percent exemption. On a graduated scale, it authorizes exemption from taxation of 45 to 20 percent of the assessed value of property of elderly households with incomes up to $3,000 above the locally-adopted maximum.

The maximum income exemption level set by municipalities (X) is increased according to the following schedule:

ANNUAL INCOME	EXEMPTION PERCENTAGE
More than X but less than X + 500	45
X + 500 or more but less than X + 1,500	40
X + 1,000 or more but less than X + 1,500	35
X + 1,500 or more but less than X + 2,000	30
X + 2,000 or more but less than X + 2,500	25
X + 2,500 or more but less than X + 3,000	20

Parola noted that if the senior's yearly income exceeded the local ceiling by more than $3,000, no exemption would be granted. He explained further that the limit set by a municipality could range anywhere from $3,000 to $10,500 per year.

Parola pointed out that the escalating cost of living has made it increasingly difficult for many older persons to retire comfortably on a fixed income.

"In some cases inflation and dramatic increases in property taxes are causing fixed-income elderly to give up their homes," Parola added. "New York State has an outstanding history of helping these senior citizens by providing badly-needed property tax relief. The signing of this measure into law continues that tradition," he concluded.

Swim Team and "Learn To Swim" Tryouts

THE LONG ISLAND TERRAPINS will hold tryouts for their Competitive Swim Team, and consider other youngsters for their Learn To Swim Program. The Long Island Terrapins, formally called the Merroque Swim Association and Plainview Swim Club, is a nonprofit, volunteer administered program, providing aquatic activities to the youngsters of Nassau County. The Swim Team, a member of the Nassau County Swim Conference winter league, has won the county championships six times and remains undefeated in dual swim meets since 1976. Members of this team have won top honors at the Metropolitan New York Junior Olympic Swim Championships, participated and placed at the N.Y. Empire State Games, and have been selected to represent Metro New York on the Agegroup All-Star Team. Training is held at Plainview H.S., Central Skindivers in Bellmore, and at the State University of NY at Old Westbury.

SWIM TEAM TRYOUTS are being held to select 5 to 19 year old Girls and Boys on the team. The Terrapins are looking for both experienced, and new potential youngsters. Selected swimmers have practices made available to them 3 to 6 days a week; groups train after school in the afternoon and evenings, and weekends. Youngsters are assigned to one of seven different practice groups based on age and ability. Training includes "quality yardage," group and individual stroke instruction, dryland conditioning, classroom instruction, and in the water practices with fewer swimmers per pool-lane than any other team in the County. Coaching is under the direction of Mr. Charles Schlegel, 1979 National Coach of the Year and Coach of the long time champion Plainview Swim Club; and by Managing Coach Brian Bram, who has coached this team for ten years, and successfully brought home first place Championship Trophies for the last six years of participation. Youngsters compete in local United States Swimming Meets (Amateur Athletic Union), some travel meets, and dual meets of the County league. Much of the competition is at both age group (8 and younger, 9 & 10 year olds, 11 & 12, 13 & 14, 15 & 16, and 17 & 18 year olds), and individual ability levels thereby providing substantial motivation for new swimmers. A special program is included under the immediate direction of Mr. Schlegel for those swimmers gearing for Junior and Senior Nationals swim meets ultimately.

The LEARN TO SWIM PROGRAM is available exclusively for 5 to 11 year olds who at the very least can dog paddle or float in deep water unassisted, place face in the water, and not yet ready for the swim team. Youngsters train in groups of ten or less to each instructor. Interested youngsters MUST attend a TRYOUT!

There is a fee to help pay for poor rental, staffing, and other program related expenses. Individuals are permitted to fund raise instead; and both discounted family plans and some financial aid are available.

TRYOUTS ARE BEING HELD at the following pools at the time indicated. At each Tryout Session on ORIENTATION & QUESTION PERIOD is held in order to explain all the programs thoroughly and answer any important questions. Youngsters should bring an adult guardian, pen, swim suit, and swim cap if their hair is very long. Individuals selected for the team are notified by mail.

this is the fact that Louis Laurenti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe and Sue Laurenti, has shedded his amateur, theatrical standing and is now performing professionally with the Arena Players Company. Louis is currently appearing on a professional level in a play called 'Black Coffee.' He has performed in thirteen plays for charity and has appeared at least thirty times in various playhouses. Now all his professional performances and appearances will be viewed and reviewed by various critics and writers, and I would imagine that this couldn't make Louis happier.

Stop - DWI Program Approved Says Parola

Assemblyman Fred E. Parola (R-C, Wantagh) announced today that Nassau County has gained approval from the State Department of Motor Vehicles for its STOP-DWI Plan.

Explaining the program, Parola said, "The STOP-DWI program is the result of a package of new and tougher anti-Driving-While-Intoxicated and Driving-While-Ability is Impaired laws, enacted by the state legislature. The laws not only establish stiffer penalties for convicted drinking drivers, they also permit counties to undertake 'special traffic options programs' - known as STOP-DWI."

The Nassau County Plan calls for administration of the program by John F. Blenn, appointed by the county as STOP-DWI Coordinator.

"The initial goals of the county's plan is to maximize the enforcement effort to rid highways of drunk drivers. Other goals include speeding up the processing and disposing of drunk driver cases in courts, and a stepped-up public education effort which will stress the seriousness of the DWI problem," the assemblyman stated.

"The approval of this program, to be financed through fines collected from convicted drinking drivers, is a major step forward in getting the drunk operator of a vehicle off our highways."
