Teacher Orientation Takes On A Scottish Hue

While the guests of honor, all attired in tartan scarfs in Hicksville school colors, marched to the podium, hundreds of teachers joined them for the annual Teacher Orientation Day ceremonies, or, for "this gathering of the Hicksville Clan", as Supt. of Schools Dr. Catherine Fenton explained.

As openers, the well-known and popular Nassau County Emerald Society Pipe Band entertained those present with many fine selections that had all feet tapping.

Principal speaker, Dr. Fenton, explained that it was easy to compare the Hicksville Educators to a Clan.

They are a band of people who have dedicated themselves to the betterment and the well-being of the Hicksville community. The bonding of such people into one force is the power of the clan," she continued.

"And, to overcome problems and go forward each day, to higher but realistic goals, is a continual challenge. If we meet it together, as one team...one clan...we can best serve the children and the entire community," she concluded.

After those on the podium were introduced Mr. Jay M. Schwartz, president of the Hicksville Board of Education welcomed all present to the new school year.

Following this, Assistant Superintendent Ronald Friedman introduced the following new staff members: Dr. G.

Robert Couillard, Assistant Superintendent for Educational Services; Mr. Gerard W. Dempsey, Jr., Director of Instruction; Mr. Michael Sinatra, Guidance Chair, SHS; Ms. Nancy DeSorbe, Principal of Dutch Lane School; Mr. Arnold Dudley, Marching Band Director-SHS/Elementary Music, Fork Lane School; and Ms. Helen Press, Special Education at Burns Avenue School.

Finally Mrs. Carol Marks, president of the Hicksville Council of PTAs welcomed those present, signifying how important it is for all to work together toward these stated goals.

Among the honored guests were: Mr. Jay M. Schwartz, president of the Hicksville Board of Education, Mrs. Honey Singer, member of the Hicksville Board of Education; Mr. Robert Zaleski, president of the Hicksville Congress of Teachers; Mr. William Granville, president of the Council of Administrators; Ms. Adrienne Mayer, president of the Hicksville Secretaries Association; Mr. Philip Schook, president of the Nat'l. Ed. Chap. CSEA/Buildings and Grounds; Mr. Cornelius McCormack, president of the Senior Citizens/Levittown Hall Joint District and a former Board of Education member; Mrs. Sheila Noth, president-elect of the Hicksville Community Council and Ms. Regina Ruf, president of the Hicksville High School Student Council.

School re-opens for the 1983-84 season on Monday, Sept. 12.

Galileo Lodge News

VENERABLE SKIP MONTEFORTE'S MESSAGE: "Our mistakes won't irreparably damage our lives unless we let them! Old Saying."

Since I feel that I finally stated the Galileo Lodge's Recreational Program correctly, may I take this additional time to remind our patrons, friends and members just how fantastically exciting this program is in terms of leisure, relaxation and enjoyment. In chronological order: on Saturday, the 17th of September, a trip is scheduled for Atlantic City, so please contact Mary Monteforte at 938-9536 for details. On the 24th of September, the Ladies Auxiliary, under the direction of Mary Monteforte, will present a Show-Buffer commencing at 7:00 P.M., with the show beginning at 8:30 P.M. The show is actually a play entitled, "Only Game in Town." Tickets sell at $12.50 per person. Contact Mary at 938-9536 for more details. Then on Friday, the 14th of October, the Ladies Auxiliary, under the direction of Sue Laurenti (931-0036) will present the 1983 version of the exceptionally humorous revue called the "Foolies Follies." Tickets were on sale starting August 30th, and selling them are Dolores Look (822-5520) and Terry Gatto (433-6708), the time being every Tuesday night from 8 to 10 P.M. and every Wednesday from 6 to 7:30 P.M. at the Galileo Lodge. These tickets, I believe, are $10 per person. Finally, on Sunday, the 27th of November, the Ladies Auxiliary will hold a Flea Market, with Mary Monteforte directing this activity.

Columbus Day has a deep and profound meaning for all people of Italian ancestry, and what better way do we have to show our emotions and feelings for this undaunted and fearless explorer known as Christopher Columbus than to attend the Columbus Day Parade en masse. On October 9th, starting at 2:30 P.M., the Galileo Lodge will be the host lodge for the 1983 Columbus Day Parade, which will be held in Huntington, near the Big H Shopping Center. A bus will leave the Galileo Lodge on Sunday, between 10 and 11 A.M. and it will take our marchers to that designated area. Collation for the marchers, and that includes those of other Lodges, will be available at the Galileo Lodge after the parade. Please note that this collation is for marchers only.

Call Ann Palermo, President of the Ladies Auxiliary (931-9351) and Venerable Skip Monteforte for more details. A large audience can only mean a sense of pride and unity for our race and for the man who has given the name America a very distinguishing quality.

Member Of The Month

AL MONTELLO

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Cosimo and Giovanni Montello, who were born in Benevento, Italy and who migrated to America in their teen years, lived in Connecticut where they met and married. Al was born in Woodhaven, Queens, one of five children...attended the Flushing High School, graduating, and attending another school where he learned lithography...was employed by the Standard Fruit Steamship Company for four years, then joined the Post Office in 1939, delivering mail at the N.Y. World's Fair...retired after 43 years of service...married 46 years to his attractive wife, Marge, and both are the proud parents of three daughters, Alberta, Margaret and Jeanne...also blessed with three beautiful granddaughters and a grandson...played basketball for the Flushing Athletic Club, enjoys fishing, gardening, plus an avid affection for a few rounds of golf...has an unimaginable and fantastic devotion and loyalty to the Galileo Lodge, and this fact is evidenced by the time and effort he has given to the Galileo Lodge's Basement Recreational Area Development. Such ceaseless and untiring efforts were responsible for the transformation of a damp basement into a first-class recreational set-up...On March 14th, the Oakland Gardens threw a Happy Retirement Party for Al at Antun's and where it was established that Al is still No. 1 in everybody's heart and mind.

Ability Is Ageless Fair

An Ability Is Ageless Opportunity Fair will be held on Wed., Sept. 14, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Polo Field at Bethpage State Park.

The major purpose of this event is to focus the attention of government, industry and the general public on the needs of the senior Long Island population. This fair, being co-sponsored by LILCO and WNBC-TV, is designed to help Long Islanders 55 years of age and older in their search for part or full time employment to supplement retirement income. In addition, medical, legal, educational, social security assistance and financial planning will be available.

It is anticipated that representatives of more than seventy Long Island companies will participate.

LIRR Car Delivery Delay Causes 14,000 Standees Continued Inconvenience

Expressing his dissatisfaction and concern that manufacturer delays in delivering 174 new electric cars to the Long Island Rail Road (LIRR) will force nearly 14,000 commuters to stand each weekday for at least another sixteen months, the Chairman of the Senate Transportation Committee, Senator Norman J. Levy (R, C-Merrick) has launched a Senate investigation into the matter and will monitor the progress of the deliveries until they are completed.

Levy explained that the purchase of the new electric cars - 174 for the LIRR and 142 for Metro-North - are a major element in the Metropolitan Transportation Authority's (MTA's) Five Year Capital Program. The cars, manufactured by the Budd Company, were expected to have begun arriving in the Fall, 1982, with acceptance completed by March, 1984.

At a Senate Transportation Committee hearing in Mineola last week, chaired by Senator Levy, Budd Company officials said that instead of all the cars being delivered by March, 1984, they would be delivered by December 31, 1984. Budd has said the delays were caused by "problems in our own production management" and partly by problems with vendors supplying Budd with windows and seats.

Levy called the delivery delays "unacceptable" and told Budd Company officials that the matter is of great concern to the Senate Transportation Committee and ordered Budd Company officials to report back to the Senate Transportation Committee on December 5, 1983.

Levy stated, "The time has come for the Budd Company to be held accountable for these significant delays. New cars are a crucial element to the commuter railroads' capital plans and any delay in the delivery of these cars is ultimately a major set-back to the commuters of both railroads. The Five Year Capital Plan aims to provide more efficient service and this goal cannot be achieved without new cars for the system."

At the hearing, LIRR President Robin Wilson estimated that there will be no standees east of Jamaica on a normal weekday after the cars are in service. Wilson also said that the line has reduced the number of standing passengers by about 2,000 through improved maintenance of the existing fleet, and that another 500 to 1,000 standees should have seats by October. But, he said, no further reductions can be without the new cars.

Parents And Teachers Can Make A Great Team

By Francis T. Purcell
Nassau County Executive

It is back to school time, ready or not, for the barefoot boys and sun-tanned girls of Summer. Twelve or so weeks of vacation for our school kids slipped by quickly for most and now it is time to get back into the routine of learning. For some it is a first experience, whether it be at the grade school, high school or college levels. So many stand at the thresholds of new experience - some in awe, some in eagerness and some with eyes looking back to less restrictive days.

I know most will get into the routine rapidly and settle down for a school year filled with work, fun and a chance for real growth. Some take longer than others to hear the drummer and march along. I'll bet, though, a lot of youngsters are really glad to be returning to renew old friendships and make new acquaintances.

I guess mothers and fathers, after getting over the initial shock of readying the kids for school, are kind of glad to see the learning process begin again. It is an integral part of the growing-up process and one where the patterns for life are based.

My words today are aimed more at parents - taxpayers - than at youngsters. The students have to shift mental gears and get down to back-in-school attitudes, and I believe parents must do the same. The child's education is a partnership between the school and the home. Teachers are given a mighty responsibility with our children and should be given, in turn, support and attention. The teacher's job is to impart knowledge and make sure the message is getting across. The parents' job is to see the youngsters get to school, on time, prepared, well-rested and ready to absorb that knowledge.

I have heard parents indicate that the school has the child for five or so hours a day and it is, therefore, someone else's job to take care of "Johnny." I can only remind those parents that the school staff can only mold the clay sent them.

I know educators welcome parental interest and at times fail to get it. While this modern world may require both parents work, there is still time in the day to check on school work progress and determine if the resident student has any difficulties. Waiting until a learning-related problem is beyond rectification helps no one, least of all the student. Parents and teachers are on the same team. Hopefully they work together.

Parent-taxpayers have another responsibility, too. That is being aware of the cost of education and how effective it is. The largest share of any property owner's annual tax bill is the cost of education - 60 or more percent of the total in nearly every case. It is more than county, town or village and special district taxes combined.

That kind of investment is worth your attention. If you had one thousand or more dollars invested in a stock, you'd check market reports daily. Homeowners have at least that invested in their school district each year, yet some remain totally aloof from school events. Each year, only a fraction of the voters turn out to elect officials and act on multimillion dollar budgets. That doesn't make sense.

Yes, it is back to school for the kids, and, hopefully, for parent awareness, too.

College Fair At The Nassau Colliseum

The Tenth National College Fair will include representatives from more than 400 four year private and public colleges, junior colleges, community colleges, military colleges, trade, technical, and vocational schools, ROTC, and military service branches. Sponsored by the National Association of College Admission Counselors, a non-profit organization of 1,900 high schools, colleges and universities, the fair is open, free of charge, to anyone seeking information concerning post-secondary education. The Fair functions as a full-service information center designed to help students choose from among the many post-secondary institutions in the United States.

The Fair offers general college information, one-to-one counseling, financial aid information, veterans assistance, and admissions testing information. The free National College Fair Directory lists the institutions represented at the Fair and gives basic information such as enrollment figures, required tests, application deadlines, college costs, and principal undergraduate majors. Admissions representatives from participating colleges will be on hand to provide first hand information and answer specific questions concerning program and facilities.

A special feature of the Fair is the Individual Counseling and Career Information Center where visitors can sit down and talk with a counselor or admissions or financial aid officer on a one-to-one basis. These professionals from local schools and colleges will provide information about college planning, entrance procedures, costs, programs, testing, financial aid and scholarships. Information for veterans and adults wishing to continue their education will also be available.

The Fair will be open to the public on Sunday, September 25, 1983 from 11:00 A.M. until 6:00 P.M. and on Monday, September 26, 1983 from 9:00 A.M. until 1:00 P.M. School buses from area high schools may enter the parking area without charge while private automobiles will be charged the regular Nassau County Colliseum parking fee.

This event, which drew over 35,000 persons to the Nassau Colliseum last year, is one of 17 such Fairs held in large metropolitan areas of the United States each year.

The End Of An Era And A Hopeful New Beginning: St. Ignatius Girls Compete Final Time On Aug. 28

By Donald M. Graziose, Corps Director

As we pull into the parking lot of the Willingboro, N.J. High School (across the river from Philadelphia, PA) I am filled with mixed emotion. "This is it," I am thinking, "the final drum corps competition for the girls." Now, the full weight of the decision I had to make last December - the decision to end the St. Ignatius Girls tradition, open enrollment to boys as well as girls, and create the New Image Drum & Bugle Corps - comes heavily down to bear on my heart. For nine months, I have anticipated this moment, and now it is here.

Everyone in the corps entourage - the kids, the instructors, the chaperones, the equipment handlers and the numerous parents and former members who fill the cars which lined up behind the buses to form a spontaneous ritual procession for the 200 mile trip from Hicksville - are acutely aware of the gravity and momentousness of the occasion. Already, there are silent exchanges of facial expressions which share what no one dares yet say. People are nervously looking at their watches, subconsciously calculating the number of hours and minutes left before the historical final performance. The clock is running, and no one can stop it, although many of us wish we could freeze these last moments in history. This, we realize, is not only impossible, but is not at all in keeping with the corps philosophy of pushing on at all costs in the face of all adversity. It's just a natural, human response in light of all the love, work, and struggle that it took on the part of thousands of people over 25 years to bring the corps to this moment.

As the girls don the famous red, white and blue uniforms which they realize will be seen on the field of competition for the last time this evening, it becomes almost ceremonial in atmosphere. Their pride in their tradition gives the sixty young girls from Long Island the courage of David to go out and confront the Goliath of the four larger, mixed corps with older and more experienced members, against which they will hurl the last ounce of their collective strength - the strength which has come from countless hours of relentless training and discipline. The older, more experienced veterans feel the pressure most.

They grow silent, intense, contemplative. They put on their small uniform vests like armor. They pick up their instruments - polished and gleaming - as if they were prepared to hold on to them forever. They try, unsuccessfully, to hide the tears which well up in their eyes. After all - they're Iggy Girls...they're tough...Right?

The time approaches. The other corps compete in their turn and leave the field. Ten minutes left. "OK, let's go...pick 'em up!" I shout. The girls let out a shrill cry - a war whoop - which says "we're ready" and which, like all such exclamations, also says "I pray for strength and accuracy." Drum majors Diane Guadagno and Justine Wiemann get the corps set in the proper array to take the field, and they step out, proud and brave, toward the lights in the arena across the parking field from our buses. They march silently and resolutely into the stadium, their full concentration and military bearing giving them the appearance of automatons. But automatons they are not. They are kids from Hicksville, and Farmingdale, and Levittown, and other Long Island communities whom fate has brought together to execute this moment, the culmination of a quarter century of pride, poise, striving and the pursuit of excellence. The crowd catches first glimpse of them as they come into the "ready" area. There is a rush of expectation and solemnity through the crowd. The girls stop. They are motionless. Still. They look like a photograph. For a hushed, breathless moment, it seems as though we really did succeed in stopping time. The scenario is now indelibly burned into our memories forever. Then, suddenly, the mystery of the moment is shattered by the contest coordinator's voice saying with unusual reservation:

"OK, Don, bring the girls on the field." I raise my eyes up. They meet those of Diane Guadagno. For one second, she looks as if she is going to cry. Then, the next second, she takes full command of her office, and with the no-nonsense authority of a St. Ignatius Drum Major, she splits the silence with the command: "Corps...Attention!" The sixty girls snap to as one person. "Mark time...Ho!" They burst into motion, white boots pumping like synchronized pistons. "Forward...Ho!" Their elbows snap out and their heels hit the ground in one definitive, simultaneous action of defiance as they step forward onto the field for the last time.

As the girls position themselves in their opening set, the announcer reads our fact sheet and repertoire to the crowd. But then, his voice loses that mechanical, detached quality as he informs us officially that this is, indeed, the final contest appearance of our tradition-filled St. Ignatius Girls Drum & Bugle Corps. He asks if the corps is ready. A crisp salute from Diane & Justine signals that they are. Diane climbs the three steps to the podium, turns to the corps, gestures for them to do the performance of their young lives, and in an instant, the program is underway.

They do surprisingly well in their last show. They defeat all but one corps, which has twice their number and an average age of maybe three or four years higher. An admirable accomplishment for sixty gutsy girls with an average age of 12½ years, especially in light of the fact that the behemoth first place corps only outscored them by three points out of 100 (a logical spread between the

Proposed Roadway Improvements In Hicksville To Be Explained

Regional Director Sam Ippolito announced that the New York State Department of Transportation will conduct a Public Information Center to discuss the proposed

These proposed improvements, which will be made to various intersections between Old Country Road and Jericho Turnpike (NY 25), include traffic signal improvements, lengthening of left turn lanes, corner radii improvements, construction of median islands to channelize traffic, striping, enactment of parking restrictions, construction of overhead guide signs and other related incidental work.

The Information Center will be held at the Burns Avenue Elementary School on Thursday, September 15, from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Engineers from DOT will be available to explain the project objectives and answer questions.

POBRRC Runners Score In Long Beach Grand Prix

Plainview-Old Bethpage Road Runners Club superstars Julie Shapiro, Nancy Grever, and Bert Jablon were among the twenty trophy winners in this summer's Suburbia Federal Grand Prix Challenge on the Long Beach Boardwalk. Julie tied for fourth place and Nancy was sixth among the women, and Bert was sixth overall among the men.

Most local races award trophies on the basis of a single race, but the Long Beach Grand Prix also rewards the top finishers in a summer-long series of six 5 kilometer runs over a period from early July through the end of August. Grand Prix awards go to the top ten male and top ten female runners over the six race series, based on a formula that takes into consideration performance within each runner's age group as well as overall finish in a race.

The three POBRRC Long Beach champions clinched their trophies with superb performances in the August 26 series finale. Nancy ran the final 5K in 19:58, good for 4th place overall in the women's division. Julie finished in 22:31, placing her first in the women's 40-49 age group, and Bert's season best of 18:58 took first place honors in the men's 50-59 age group.

The Long Beach Grand Prix series has been one of the highlights of Long Island's summer road racing series. Expertly administered by David Katz of Finish Line Promotions, each of the six races in the series attracted over two hundred runners. Each 5K race was preceded by a one mile "fun run." Soda and watermelon greeted the runners at the finish line. About 30 members of POBRRC participated in one or more of the Long Beach races this year, and the Long Beach Series proved to be an excellent opportunity both for veterans seeking to improve and test their racing skills and for novices just getting started in racing.

Congrats once again to Julie, Nancy and Bert — and to all the other competitors in the Long Beach summer series.

Grand Prix trophy winner Julie Shapiro heads down the Long Beach Boardwalk.

Legionnaire's Log

BY ARTIE RUTZ

Thanks to G.T. Morris, Bernie Palka, John
Meagher, Freddie Bean, Don Snyder and Larry McCafferty for their checks which made our Early Bird List grow a bit longer and put us that much closer to a 100% early membership which must be met by November 11th...Come on, send your dues check in and lighten the load on Arlene Howard, our Vice Commander in charge of membership this year as she fights to achieve that early 100% membership...We need the cooperation of all members if we are to exist as an effective arm of The American Legion and the first thing every member can do for the Post each year is to mail in the dues check...So help the Post help the American Legion by executing Step #1 now if you haven't done so already

...Sorry to report the Commander John Mensching is in Central General Hospital being felled by a heart attack...This year our annual visitation to the veterans at the Kings Park State Hospital is set for November 6th and if you have never made this trip then its about time to go and find out how fortunate you are...We are cancelling out the appeal for clothing made several weeks ago for Kings Park due to the fact that Kings Park no longer permits clothing to be given to its patients... We could still outfit the veterans of Kings Park if we brought them and outfitted them at our Post but we are not a clothing store and have no facilities for storage of clothes... We are honoring our Junior Past Commander, RAY GAMBLE, with a roast beef dinner on SEPTEMBER 17th and the cost is only $15 per couple for the dinner, beer and dance music...
We want your 'up front money' NOW so please contact Commander LOU BRAUN at 681-8750 and give him the word on how many in your party...

..This affair is just about a week away so we need some quick answers from our membership as to how much support they will render this affair...

The annual Legislative Breakfast that is staged by the Nassau County American Legion will again be held at the Massapequa Post on Sunday, October 16th at 9 A.M...The Post will probably purchase tickets to this affair as has been the practice these many years that this event has been in existence...Interested Legionnaires should make their desires known to the Commander who usually dispense tickets of this type...We are again requesting that used postage stamps of all types be brought to the meetings or on Friday nights...We now have a carton available for the deposit of these stamps which are used in a rehabilitation effort by veterans...

This carton will be found at the bar in the lower hall so just collect from envelopes and packages and drop them off at the Post any Friday night or meeting night...The Past Commanders Club is running another of those fun trips to Atlantic City and has scheduled two busses this time to accommodate the expected demand for seats as evidenced by the 2 previous trips so get your party together or come alone, but in any event please call Lou Cesta, who is again chairman, at SU-5-6583 and make your arrangements with him as soon as possible...The price again is $18 of which $13 is returned in food & cash at the casino...The date for this is October 2...We had short notice but there will be an area conference for our officers this Sunday (September 11) at a place to still be announced so a call to the Commander should give you this information...There is an Executive Committee meeting on September 15th at 8 P.M. so all members of this committee are advised to please be on time so we can all go home early...Also, there was a change of riders at the meeting when Jack

Ehmann corralled the Dark Horse...Don't forget we have social nites every Friday nite so why not drop in for a drink or a bit of pool???

THE CASKET

A casket is rectangular, unlike a coffin which is usually tapered at the head and again toward the feet. It is used principally as the receptacle for the body during the period of the funeral and for transportation to the place of final disposition. Most times, it is also the receptacle which encases the body in or above the ground.

typically involve material, design, construction, and color. Another consideration being whether the casket is protective or non-protective.
In other words, capable of maintaining its integrity while in the ground or returning to the surface as time passes.

It is important to remember that the casket is the last matterial gift the survivors can give the body which once was a beloved person. It can add greatly to the esthetics of the funeral setting and to the repose of the body.

We're off and running—at least our candidates for election in this November's election race are. And we're here to help our Republican candidates win their races.

One of those who is running for election to the post of Receiver of Taxes, Town of Oyster Bay, is Gary Musciello. Gary has been working for the Town of Oyster Bay since 1978...first as Assistant Town Attorney and now as Director of Legislative Affairs. Gary is a staunch proponent of the Republican philosophy and a hard-working and dedicated work servant.

He lives in Syosset with his wife and two sons. Give him your support when you vote for Town of Oyster Bay Receiver of Taxes—he'll do the job you want done.

Our next meeting of the Club will be held Friday, September 9, at the VFW Hall 320 South Broadway, Hicksville at 8:30 p.m. After reading the above, we're sure you won't be surprised to learn that our guest speaker for this evening will be Gary Musciello. Come on down and meet him and your friends and neighbors. It will be an interesting and informative session.

The recent horrific news of the downed Korean Air Lines planes with a loss of 269 innocent lives has impacted on people all around the world. This was a cold-blooded and callous act of wantonness. The Russian government has shown, once again, that they have two corps would be twelve to eighteen points).

After the contest, the crowd gives the girls a sound farewell ovation, and they Marched out of the stadium proud and erect, even if they were physically and emotionally exhausted. Back at the buses, the full emotion content of the occasion is released. The girls and the staff embrace each other in tearful sincerity. The scene is punctuated by spontaneous testimony by everyone from long-ago ex members to brand new fans who express their feelings of love for the Corps and hope for the future of New Image.

"The book isn't closing," said Chief Instructor Carman Cluna, on the scene with instructors Hy Dreiter, Jim Drost, Mark Holub, Gail DeAngelis and Jeanne Schlosser. "we're just turning a significant page."

Oyster Bay Town Clerk Ann R. Ocker was the guest speaker at the August 31 meeting of the Hicksville Kiwanis Club. She kept her audience interested with a review of the extent of the responsibilities of the office of the Town Clerk. In the photo, Kiwanis President Elect William Heberer is shown presenting Mrs. Ocker with a certificate of appreciation for her program.

A Message From The Hicksville Chamber Of Commerce

YOUNG AMERICA GOES BACK.

It's back to school again. For some young people it's the time to greet old friends and compare notes on the Summer.

Some students will be going to new schools . . . meeting new teachers . . . new friends. Some little ones will be going to school for the very first time.

The health and safety of our young people is important to all of us. With countless school children on the streets, drivers must be extremely careful. Children do not think and act as adults.

Motorists approaching school buses must exercise caution whether they see children or not. Section 1174 of the Vehicle and Traffic Law of our State requires motorists whose vehicles meet or overtake a school bus which is stopped to receive or discharge students, to stop their vehicles while the bus's flashing red signals are in operation. This same section of law mandates th school bus drivers instruct their passengers who cross the street to do so in front of the bus. The driver, meantime, is required to keep the bus stopped and the red lights flashing until all children have reached the other side of the street.

The law now requires that motorists must observe the lower school area speed limits during the entire school day, not just at the beginning and end of each school session.

Finally, watch out for bicyclists - not all of them seem to know the "rules of the road", which they are supposed to observe. Parents, these are important rules for you to teach those of your children who use bicycles.

Yes, young America is going back to school . . . so

PLEASE DRIVE CAREFULLY
