Here is my award to those who didn't get an award at Graduation this year. Some of us take a little longer to shine ... maybe our metal needs a little more polishing, maybe we need time to pick a direction. Maybe we are learning lessons that don't impress others, but that will enrich our lives and others in the future.

Some castles take longer to build. My love and encouragement to all of you who have yet to be presented with your awards. I know you'll earn them. Let us know when your award day arrives.

Marino-Yevoli Law Vague on Fire Fighters Dinners

Senator Ralph J. Marino (R, Oyster Bay) reports that the Governor has signed into law a bill permitting the City of Glen Cove to continue its support of an annual dinner for the installation of fire district officers.

As it pertains to Volunteer Fire Departments such as Hicksville in nonmunicipality districts the law is vague.

Hicksville Illustrated News has sought clarification from Senator Marino's Albany office. The intent is that all volunteer firemen should be so honored but the question remains if the enabling legislation is legal for Glen Cove only.

"Glen Cove has regularly honored volunteer firefighters and fire district officers through the appropriation of funds for an annual Fire Inspection Dinner and a Fire District Officers Installation Dinner," Marino explained. The Mayor and City Council of Glen Cove feel these annual functions are an appropriate form of recognition for the community's volunteer firefighters and wish to continue the practice.

"A recent state comptroller's report, however, noted that state law authorizes the funding of only the Fire Inspection Dinner and makes no mention of a similar funding authority for the Fire District Officers Installation Dinner.

'At the request of the Mayor and City Council, Assemblyman Lewis Yevoli and I sponsored a bill to permit Glen Cove to continue its regular practice of assisting both functions," Marino concluded, "and the Governor has now signed into law our bill which honors the city's request for the necessary legal authority to do so."

In actuality the Glen Cove Administrations have been operating illegally.

There has never been an attempt to prosecute. There is universal agreement that two dinners are the very least volunteer firemen should get for their services to communities.

There have been prosecutions and convictions emanating from entanglements with the financial aspects of shifting fire district funds for dinners,

On the basis of the recently past purification for Glen Cove officials, there is a move to have those convictions cleared from the record of Fire Department officials involved.

The basis would be that citizens with previous impeccable reputations, who experienced no personal gain, only gave firefighters recognition due as the Governor, Senator Marino, Assemblyman Yevoli and the New York State Legislators have agreed is correct.

The St. Ignatius CYO Hawks finished the '86 season undefeated. The team, under the direction of Coach John Flynn, with the assistance of Gene Cromwell and Larry Connally, had a productive season through a combination of good hitting and excellent fielding.

Each member of the Hawks contributed to the team's success. The top of the batting order, Sean Dorney, Chris Connally, and Steve Ponall usually provided the team with their needed base hits. Joey Basso, pitcher, Place Trophies.

ing is assessed at 5 percent more until the tenth year, when the property is assessed at full value.

Under Roslyn's plan, commercial property owners will receive a 10 percent reduction in the assessed value of their new buildings, rather than 50 percent. In the following nine years, the reduction would become less and less until the building is assessed at full value in the tenth year, according to village attorney Jim Moffatt.

"The state statute is necessary for communities who need business to stimulate their economy," Mr. Moffatt said. "It is not necessary for Roslyn."

Hicksville taxpayers who put up with the traffic and the soot, the additional taxes for services to new commercial concerns get little tax relief.

Higher commercial assessments reduce taxes for the homeowner. Hicksville school district taxpayers are severly taxed because so much land has been removed from the tax roles which makes the community one of the biggest parking lots in America.

This political pondering of residents who live outside Hicksville carries a burdensome price.

Hicksville has more than a thousand commercial businesses. Residents claim further abatements are not needed to stimulate the economy

For its part, the Hicksville School Board is willing to give up tax abatements but without local government control has to defer to the authority of Oyster Bay Township.

Nicksville Illustrated News - Nicksville, New Park - Thursday, July 10, 1986 Page-2 Letters From Our Readers

To the Editor:

Why all the costs and procedures the Town requires just to erect an extension 14'x24' approximate, of a 4-sided simple design?

I submitted my own plans, drawn to code and as good as one that might be submitted by an architect. My spouse and I, both senior citizens and residents of more than 30 years, applied for a permit to build such a structure on my daughter's home so she can look after us in the few remaining years since we both are in poor health.

The Town of Oyster Bay mailed several forms to be filled and notorized, informing me that I must engage an architect or engineer to have and submit plans for this simple a-sided structure which could cost upwards to $1,000 in fees in addition to a cost of $1,500 to $10,000 to engage a lawyer to obtain permits, variances and approval of surrounding neighbors

All we're asking for is permission to build this simple structure so we can be with our daughter (there's no intention to build a Mother/Daughter unit) since she drives me to the doctor once a week and who must administer daily medication prescribed by a physician and to take me to the hospital, (which has happened several times in recent months, and as recent as last week.) Procedures are understandable e.g. appearing before a board for approval, etc.,

hur what if just one neighbor, with whom one doesn't get along, objects? The Town would then deny one a permit. Many additional extentions are being built with, or without, a permit to accommodate the vastly increasing population. Many are illegal in the eyes of the Town because of laws, permits, costs, whims of a neighbor, etc.

The Town loses nothing by issuing permits which could cost considerably less for as sure as there's a sky, they're right there ready to re-assess your home and increase your taxes.

As an added note, it is appalling to be confronted by some county employees who are paid comfortably and who are ignorant of their job responsibilities. I was confronted by one who didn't know the true definition of "Mobile Home" Another must have been related to a barracuda displaying her nasty attitude and ignorance (name withheld) claiming Syosset was not part of Oyster Bay Town.

My sympathies reach out to Gary Musiello who is trying to do a job and service to residents with such incompetent subordinates. My apologies to Musiello and most of his subordinates. It is not my intention to categorize them with the ignoramuses and barracudas.

Thank you Ralph A. Cerbone, Jr. Hicksville

'Happy Birthday, Dear Lady' She said nothing.

By JAN MARINO

I had another one of my dreams last night. I dreamed I was sailing into New York Harbor in search of The Lady. I had a lot of trouble because my sail kept falling on my head and my boat kept going in circles. I was just about to give up when I felt a tremendous force pulling me to the west. I held on to the sides of my boat and when the sea stopped churning around me and all was calm, I stood up and looked around. And there, in the stillness of the night, The Lady stood waiting for me; her crown, its huge spikes looking like the rays of the sun, was silhouetted in the moonlight Without speaking, she called to me.

I gathered up the envelope which I had received in the mail that morning and made my way up the narrow, dusty staircase and when I reached the top. I settled myself in her crown.

I'm upset." I said. "I'm really so upset." And then I opened the envelope and took out the letter that the Liberty Weekend Con test promoters had sent me. The one congratulating me on being a winner; the one telling me to enjoy the prizes enclosed; the one telling me to call 212-972-3434 if I wanted my tickets to participate in the Liberty weekend, the one telling all those lies, because when I called, a salesman was selling tickets At Iso a ticket.

"I was supposed to get two free tickets," I said, "and all I got were these disgusting prizes. How can people do this?"

She remained silent.

And look what they've done to you," I said, holding up the beverage-can holde guaranteed to keep my hand warm and the drink cold - and the cheap polyester scarf with her picture stamped all over them.

"Well, I don't know about you," I said. "but it's enough to make me lose faith in people.

Still she said nothing. Just then the moon shifted, its light falling on the deck of a ship coming into the harbor. People were hanging over the sides, waving to us, but when I called out to them, my voice echoed back as if in an empty valley

On the far side of the ship, a child sat waiting. I knew it was my husband's father before I read the ticket hanging from his jacket. He had traveled alone, his father having gone before him, his mother to follow. Then I turned and saw a young couple. Her head rested on his shoulder; her eyes were gentie, her face serene. My grandmother. My grandfather. They would travel to Boston and there they would raise seven children.

And then, standing apart from the rest, stood a dark-haired girl of about sixteen, a look of fierce determination in her brown eyes. She would make her way to Vermont, meet my grandfather and bear him three children. She would be widowed before she had turned twenty and my father, three.

I watched the four leaving the ship; the child running towards his father and the home he had prepared for him; the couple walking towards a new life, together; and the girl, the dark-haired girl, journeying alone to a place she had never been.

I climbed back down the narrow, dusty staircase and got back into my little boat and set sail, looking back only once. And when I did, she was bathed in the light of the millions she had guided into the harbor. I slipped the beverage-can holder on my wrist, tied the scarf around my head and waved to her. And The Lady smiled.

Police Report

The Second Precinct has reported the following

. June 27- A ai-year-old Bethpage woman was involved in a con game that caused her to lose cash and jewelry. The victim was approached by two women in their 40's, at the Mid-Island Shopping Plaza at 12:15 p.m. Upon introducing themselves to her, they claimed that they found 430,000 in cash, which they partially showed to the woman and offered to split the money with her if she would put up $10,000 as good faith.

The woman went to her bank in Hicksville and while the subjects waited outside, she went in and withdrew $700. She met the women outside the bank and gave them the 1700, a 13,000 diamond ring, a $1,500 engagement ring and an 1800 bracelet. The jewelry and money were put in a paper bag with the alleged $30,000 and the woman was told to wait there as the subjects were going to see their reverand to determine the split. They never returned and the victim called the police. The Second Squad is investigating.

· A service station on Old Country Rd. was burglarized. The loss included cash.

. June 28- Two women had their pocketbooks taken from them at two different locations in the Hicksville-Jericho area within ten minutes apart

At 4:20 p.m. a 49-year-old woman from Hicksville was in a supermarket shopping center on N. Broadway in Jericho when a man in a passing auto reached and grabbed her pocketbook and fled the scene. A short time later at 4:30 p.m., a 76 year-old Queens woman was in the parking lot of a major department store on N. Broadway in Hicksville when a man grabbed her pocketbook from a passing auto. The same auto was used in both crimes. The vehicle, a 1070 Buick station wagon, was reported stolen from Hicksville on June 23. The pocketbooks contained a total of 4310. No injuries were reported. The Second Squad is investigating,

Your Homeowners Insurance: How Much Do You Know?

If you have purchased homeowners insurance, you've obviously thought about how much your home and possessions mean to you, and you've thought about the value in protecting them.

Everyone who buys insurance gets a copy of their policy, but often homeowners don't take the time that they should to read them carefully. How much do you know about your homeowners insurance? Test your knowledge by taking the short true/false quiz below.

1. You are covered under your homeowners policy for any damage to personal belongings caused by your pets.

2. You are not covered for any injury sustained by a visitor on your property.

3. Damage caused by windstorm to your trees and shrubs is covered under your homeowners policy.

The answer to all of the above questions is "false" in most situations, but a complete understanding of your homeowners policy requires more than just true or false answers. That's why Liberty Mutual Insurance Company has taken the questions most commonly asked and answered them in clear and simple terms in a brochure entitled "30 Questions You May Have About Your Homeowners insurance". For a free copy, write to "30 Questions - Home" c/o Liberty Mutual, 1983 Marcus Avenue, Lake Success, NY 11042.

A New Visitors' Aid At Old Westbury Gardens This year, Old Westbury Gardens has made a very useful addition to its fleet of vehicles - a service cart. The suggestion came from Eleanor Simpson, President of Long Island Tourism, to acquire some sort of transportation for guests who are slightly immobile, but have the spirit to tour the spacious surroundings of Old Westbury Gardens. Her appeal resulted in the very generous donation of a battery operated golf cart by The Glen Oaks Golf Club. Robert Turner, Chairman of the Golf Cart Committee, presented it to this well-known historic site. Milton Levitt, who owns an upholstery shop in Hicksville, donated new seat covers in honor of George Wittlinger, Sr., who was superintendent of Old Westbury Gardens when it was still a private estate occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John S. Phipps and their children. Mr.Levitts' father, Ben, opened his renowned saddlery and upholstery enterprise in the early 1920's. In those days the bulk of the work was saddle and leatherwork for the horse stables on the Gold Coast of the North Shore.

The former golf cart has now been reconfigured to carry four passengers, including the operator, Joyce Gorman, who meets the buses and greets the tour leaders as they arrive. George Wittlinger, Jr., Coordinator of Visitor Services, makes sure the cart is regularly washed, charged and available to guests who need a small assist. Old Westbury Gardens is very grateful for this wonderful addition - it has already made many visits more pleasurable.

Old Westbury Gardens is open to the public from late April through early November. Wednesdays through Sundays and holidays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Regular contributions are $3.00 adults and $1.00 children (6-12) to tour the gardens and $2.00 adults and $1.00 children to view the mansion. Seniors donate $2.50 for both. Elderly or physically disadvantaged visitors may request a tour of the gardens by prior arrangement. Westbury House, itself, is fully accessible to the handicapped. Special rates apply for groups of 20 or more. Please call for details, Membership information or a Calendar of Events -(516) 333-0048 or write to P.O. Box 430, Old Westbury, NY 11508.

Old Westbury Gardens is listed on the National Register of Historic Places and is located on Old Westbury Road between Jericho Turnpike and the L.I. Expressway.

with them — a kind of love-hate situation . . . If we go to the same beauty salon (do they still use that word?) and have a "standing" appointment (which means where I live that you go at the same hour each week) then you probably have the same operator every time. . . and somehow or other, before you know it, you "belong" to him or her. . . If you happen to notice that the hair style on a neighboring customer looks interesting and you would like to try that other operator, "your" operator will be furious and will probably make your life miserable...Now if you speak to the owner of the shop and explain that you would like to try a different operator next time, you will be assured that there is no problem and all work together and are very willing for you to switch around ... but don't believe that for a minute! ... Next time you arrive for your appointment, you will be met by a pall of gloom; your usual operator will not so much as glance at you, much less speak - the operator who is working on you will look very embarrassed and work very rapidly to try to be rid of you as soon as possible... It is impossible to change operators without some such happenings...about the only thing that you can do is change shops...And as for changing the way you want your hair done — your usual operator will say. "Oh, yes, of course I can do it the new way you're describing," but have you noticed that when you get home and look in the mirror, you look strangely just the same as always??? We love our hairdressers; we couldn't live without them; and they drive us wild!!!

Yours; Lulubelle

John L. Caesar To Attend School of Dental Medicine

John L. Caesar will attend the School of Dental Medicine at the State University of New York at Stony Brook. John, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Caesar of Boxwood Lane, Hicksville, was one of only twenty-seven students accepted into this rigorous four year program from over hundreds of highly qualified applicants. John chose Stony Brook over many other offers from dental schools including Columbia, NYU, and Georgetown.

John performed his undergraduate work at Hofstra University, where he spent five semesters on the Dean's List, and graduated May 18 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Biochemistry.

John is spending his summer working as a real estate appraiser for Kunzmann-Caesar Associates located in Massapequa. He plays keyboards for the band "The Rave" which can be seen weekly at various Long Island clubs. John is a 1982 graduate of Hicksville High School.

I received a reader inquiry concerning whether to obtain a mortgage if one can afford to pay cash for the property. It raises an interesting question on the desirability of incurring debt.

The letter says in part "I am buying a costly cooperative apartment and I have sufficient cash and income to have no mortgage. My friends tell me to take the maximumm mortgage to get the tax deduction, thus, saving money. I say that I save 50% via the tax deduction but I lose 50% to the bank as interest. Therefore, the mortgage is not an economy. I believe to live debt-free is the greatest economy - who is correct?"

The correct answer for each of us lies in our psychological makeup. What degree of risk are we able to tolerate? The writer of this letter is by his nature a very conservative investor. He probably does not see his home as an investment that is a nice place to live; rather, he sees the cooperative apartment as a nice place to live which may also be a very good investment. There is a vast different in points of view.

For our writer, the answer is pay cash, live debt-free.

A mortgage, borrowed investment money, enables us to use leverage to maximize the return on our investment. Rule No. 6 of my book, "How to get rich and keep it, too" says the most powerful weapon is other people's money. This increases your investment return. It also presupposes that you have other investment alternatives for the cash.

Our letter writer is most fortunate that he has accumulated the cash for the coop purchase. If I assume that he is in his late thirties, then I suggest that if he had accumulated a down payment ten years ago and purchased a home with a mortgage, wealth-

Heimlich Maneuver Can Aid Drowning Victims

The Heimlich Maneuver is now regarded as standard operating procedure for choking victims. It involves an upward thrust with clenched fists to the abdominal area of the victim Usually, it is performed from behind, reaching around the victim with both arms. The maneuver is designed to expel the object that is blocking the windpipe.

Now the Heimlich Maneuver has been endorsed as the first resuscitative measure to be performed on a drowning victim. Prior, mouth to-mouth breathing was begun immediately.

At a recent meeting, the National Conference on Standards and Guidelines for Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation and Emergency Cardiac Care called for the Heimlich Maneuver to be the first procedure used on drowning victims. The reasoning is that a drowning person's lungs are filled with water, and you have to get the water out before you can get the air in.

On an unconscious victim, it might not be possible to reach around from behind. Instead, the maneuver may have to be applied with the victim lying on his back. In such a case, the rescuer kneels beside or straddles the victim, and administers a sharp upward thrust against the abdomen, just below the sternum. The victim's head should be turned to the side so that water can escape the breathing passages.

Removing the water not only facilitates the exchange of air in the lungs, it also reduces the possibility of complications that may develop after the victim has been revived, such as a swelling of lung tissues due to the absorption of water, the transfer of that water to the bloodstream, and possible swelling of the brain and resultant brain damage due to excess water in the blood.

At the Library

Summer Foreign Film Festival

On Friday, July 11, at 8:00 p.m., the Hicksville Public Library will show the Italian film "Big Deal On Madonna Street" in the Community Room.

The film has English sub-titles and is a spoof of "the Perfect Crime." Marcello Mastrojanni, Vittorio Gassman, and Renato Sal vatori try to pull off a heist with split-second timing but somehow their watches and their plans don't synchronize. A zany, hilarious tale. (1960)

On Friday, July 25, at 8:00 p.m., the Library will show the French film "Bizarre Bizarre" n the Community Room. The film has English sub-titles and is a classic farce directed by Marcel Carne. Hilarious performances. These films are free and all are welcome.

Art Exhibit

"The Treasures of Technology," an exhibition featuring artist Warren Barlowe's colorful, framed 3.D art works that dramatize enlarged electronic hardware and hitech circuitry, has been assembled for a brief one-month showing at the Hicksville Public Library's Community Room Gallery July 1-31. The public is invited to the Opening Reception on Saturday, July 12, at 12:00 noon to 3:00 p.m.

Don't miss "The Treasures of Technology while it is here at the Hicksville Public Library, 169 Jerusalem Ave., Hicksville, July 1-31. Ex hibition hours: 10:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. Mondays and Tuesdays (please call ahead to confirm evening hours: (516) 931-1417. (516) 681-7861); 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday.

Hicksville 1914 Map (Pages 10 & 11)

Largest single parcel was owned by Caroline Puvogel on Manetto Hill Road (later Old Country Road, present location Long Island Lighting Company). On north side there were eleven parcels set up for homesteads of Puvogel heirs (Raymond, Charles, Kromer, Park and Henry Streets). On Raymond Street, three houses, existing today, were cut from the huge Puvogel barn. One became the home of Lillian Schluter. One house indicated as 1.J. Fitting was on the land of Caroline Puvogel.

John Puvogel, husband of Caroline, was the first president of the Hicksville School District and original member of the Board of Fire Commissioners.

Most land in separate parcels was owned by Mrs. Louise Augustine. Homestead land and magnificent house was on Broadway, (now occupied by King Kullen Supermarket). Back in the '40s the land was offered free to the Public Library. Then Library Board rejected it because donors wanted it named in honor of Mr. Augustine.

 Despite denials still from Pittsburgh, the three buildings of the Heinz Pickle Works are clearly indicated on Bethpage Road.

· Hicksville Courthouse, Jail and Town Hall is on Heitz Place. It was always HICKSVILLE COURTHOUSE. Present day Town of Oyster Bay historians notwithstanding to obliviate the Hicksville name.

• D & F Sutton Monument Works is really D & F Sutter Works. Many names were spelled differently in later years. Mary Street is now Marie Street.

· Staechle's Brewery is on Carl Street.

· Broadway and Old Country Road to Carl Street (where new bank is being built) was Gellwerler, Muhlenbruck and Minch properties. Soon after Stoffles Garage, Lindenmann's Confectionery and Mrs. Brown's Photography Shop were located from 1920-1958. In the ate 1930's a lighted miniature golf course was on the Carl-Broadway corner.

. The Long Island Railroad Triangle was the site of the giant turntable for the trains n the 1800's before construction of tracks beyond Hicksville.

· Grand Central Hotel held mammoth Saturday night dances. Young men came acourting valking from as far away as Roslyn, Glen Cove and Oyster Bay. They were put up over hight in friendly stacks of hay in Hicksville barns.

Guarino-Reagan Meet in D.C.

Town Councilman Joseph Guanno. Republican candidate for the Third District congressional seat, attended a White House briefing during his recent trip to the nation's capital.

The briefing included meetings with President Reagan, Vice President Bush, and members of the Cabinet. During the briefing, Guarino had the opportunity to discuss issues concerning Long Island. "I felt it was important that President Reagan. Vice President Bush, and our officials knew how Long Island feli about Shoreham and the challenges of transportation and the environment," said Guarino.

Guarino, along with Republican congressional candidates from across the nation, was in Washington, D.C. attending a conference sponsored by the National Republican Congressional Committee.

Hall of Fame Criteria, Mechanics, Raise Questions

A lack of information on the criteria and selection on mechanics for the Hicksville High School Hall of Fame has caused consternation in many community quarters.

What originated as a well intentioned program has come under criticism for straying from its basic concept.

It is cited that service to the school and community has been apparently lightly regarded.

As intended candidates are not restricted to graduates of Hicksville High School, the opening for anybody and everybody was a concession to the glitz pitch.

Reflected glory to snare a top name was the motivator despite any regard for broken school rules or affronts to teachers or principals.

Individual selections chosen for honors already are not challenged but questions arise to the limited breadth which excludes the achievements and contributions of persons from a school covering a 67-year history.

The nomination process has been clearly explained but the steps to being named for the honor is clouded.

The final selection committee has never been named — nor its duties defined. People often ask if there is a longterm base in Hicksville community history involved in the final judgment. Concern is expressed that achievement, above mere graduation from an academy in the armed forces, is not sufficiently recognized.

Success in the athletic-teaching administration, as well as financial fields, by Hicksville native sons and daughters is not deemed sufficient for naming.

Achievement in the medical profession with community practices and civic and charitable contributions by such Hicksville graduate doctors as William Sausmer, Charles Masek, Walter Stillger, James LaFlare and Howard Hoffman merit consideration it is stated.

Regarding the naming of nongraduates, the absence of Mabel R. Farley, principal and teacher for fifty years, is regarded as completely distressing.

The guiding architect of the Hicksville School System, the distinguished Dr. Elwood E. Curtiss, is absent from the list.

The tendency to misread the historical background of Hicksville, which is rooted in almost seven decades of educational interest, is unfailing.

There are many descendants living here who are proud of their grandparents, parents and relatives role in Hicksville History — which includes all of the last thirty years.

It is known that some nominees have declined to have their names placed on the roll.

The Hicksville H.S. Alumni Association has taken the position that as a body it disavows any official endorsement.

Reports are that this stems from the bitter after-taste of 1985 in which the organization was not asked to have one member serve on the inaugural determining committee.

Most express that the Hall of Fame is a fine, well-intended idea, howwever, the thought is that the history of the community and school has too long a history for elections to be decided by so heavy a group comprising people of the present moment.

Clarification — and perhaps reorganization — are suggested as ways to prevent an escalating clevage in the community.

New Law Reclassifies Condominiums

State Senator Michael J. Tully, Jr., (R-Roslyn Heights) today announced that legislation, which he introduced, that requires tax assessors to irreat condominiums under four stories in height as single family houses for taxing purposes, has been signed into law.

Previously, condominiums of three stories or less, located in New York City and Nassau County, were assessed differently than one, two and three family residential dwellings because they fall within the classification of commercial properties in these areas.

Bad luck is often a factor in the outcome of a hand, but there are cases where bad luck can be overcome by good management.

Here is a typical case. Let's say you're in six spades and West leads a diamond. At first sight the only loser appears to be a heart, but when you win the diamond with the king and play the acc of trumps, East shows out and your stock plummets sharply.

Seemingly, the slam must go down

But if you have the proper attitude, you start to think in terms of how the hand can be made despite the foul trump break. And if you think about the matter hard enough, you come up with the right answer. The hand is not as hopeless as it looks, because there is a possibility of making the slam if the rest of the cards are well placed. There is no way of escaping the trump loser, so you set your sights on trump loser, so you set your signs our avoiding the heart loser. It may require some luck to meet this goal, but if you don't buy a ticket you can't expect to win the raffle. What you do is pray that West was dealt the king of hearts and that you can eventually force him to lead from it.

In line with this, you cash the A-K of clubs and ruff a club. Next you cash the A-Q of diamonds and ruff a diamond. Finally you cash the K-Q of trumps and exit from dummy with a trump.

West is compelled to win the trump and, with only two cards left the K-9 of hearts — he must lead one. It does not matter whether he plays the nine or the king — in either case you lose no heart tricks and make the slam.

Inside Old Country Road Elementary School

Darlene Carney School News Coordinator

All work has been presented by the students in grades kindergarten through 6th at The Old Country Road Elementary School located on Roads Lane in Hicksville. All work has been done under the direction of Dr. McCann, principal Misa. Williama, music teacher and Mrs. Kent, music teacher.

Miss Williams conducting the school's recorer group during the concert.

In June Old Country Road School held it's Spring Concert. The audience was treated to an evening of fine entertainment by the school's Orchestra, Band, Recorder group, the 4th grade chorus and the combined 5th and 6th grade chorus.

Orda

By Pat Rielly Grandparent's Day has always been a delight for all the students, parents, teachers and all the special visitors at Old Country Road School.

The children entertained their special guests the first grade children in Miss Karrigan and Mrs. Mones classes sang a song "We are the World" under the direction of Miss Williams. The orchestra and band played several numbers under the direction of Mrs. Kent.

Many awards were given out for oldest grandparent, most grandchildren, youngest grandparent, most grandchildren, grandparent that traveled the furthest, grandparents most years married, what grandparent with most grandchildren in the school.

The grandparents were also entertained in the grandchild's classroom.

A grand time was held by all!

Dr. McCann giving out a special award to one of the grandparents.

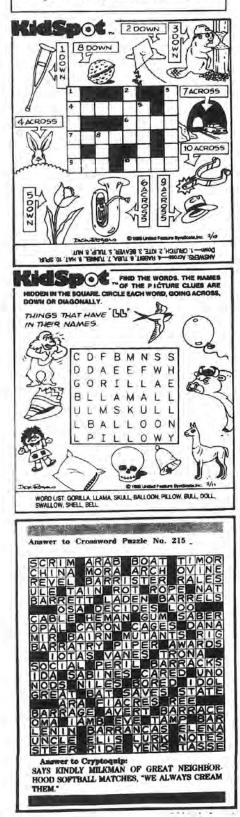

Bailoon Day at Old Country Road Elementary School was a big success as usual. On Balloon Day all the teachers, students and visitors recieve a balloon with a message tag on it. The tag asked the finder to return it at Old Country Road School and state where the balloon landed. There is a map shown in the hall where the balloons have landed. This is an extremely interesting way of learning geography and weather.

House Calls

Mortgage After Bankruptcy Dear Edith: My wife and I were forced to declare bankruptcy due to extended unemployment after a contract dispute with my employer. Before that I was earning $90,000 and we had excellent credit.

I have now secured another senior management position and we are relocating. What is the possibility of obtaining a mortgage on a house in our new location? — Mr. S. A.

Depending on the type of mortgage and the specific lending institution, you may qualify for a new loan between one and two years after your discharge of banknuptcy

The good news is that lenders will take into account your former good record and the specific cause for your trouble. The bad news is the they will look unfavorably on any history involving a previous house that went through the bankruptcy.

Deed is in Arizona

Dear Edith: We retired and moved to Arizona, and sold our house up north to a young couple on a contract for deed (land contract). They will have to refinance the house in a couple of years when the balloon payment comes due, and we will give them a deed to the property then.

I have our deed in my possession in Arizona. Can I have a lawyer here draw up the necessary papers, or must we go back? Would the realty company that sold our house have any obligation to assist in the transfer? – Mr. T. A.

Your old deed has nothing to do with the next transfer of the property. A law yer up north will draw up a need, and can arrange for you to sign and acknowledge (notarize) the document long-distance, without coming back.

Paying Off VA

Dear Edith: My mortgage is a VA, 30 years. My balance is now $15,000. If this is paid off now, would I pay less than that? Also, is VA and FHA the same kind of loan? - R.T.

If you pay off your VA loan today, you won't be entitled to any discount on the remaining principal owed.

VA loans are for veterans, FHA for the rest of us. There are a few other differences, but the mortgages are similar in being backed by the government, requiring little or no down payment, and being freely assumable by the next owner of the property.

Only One is 55

Dear Edith: My husband is 56, but 1 am only 52. Should we wait four years to sell our home, so that we can take our profit tax-free? — Mrs. R. Q.

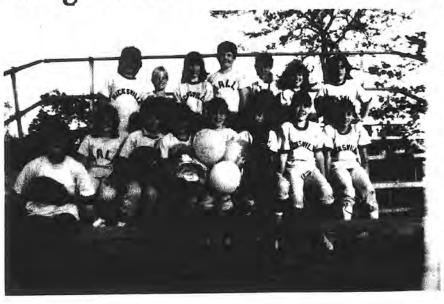

If you meet the other requirements, only one of you need be 55 or older at the time of the sale. Dear Edith: I have a variable interest rate mortgage. It is based on the "index". What is the "index" and where can I get information on the change of the "index"? I would like to stay on top of it. - C. R.

The index is a guide to current interest rates. Your mortgage papers (or your lender) can tell you which specific index is used for your loan. The most common one is a recent rate on auctions of treasurery bills. Those figures are published in newspaper business sections.

Your interest will be adjusted not directly to the index, but rather a few percentage points (the "margin") above it. Two or twoand-a-half points above the index would be a typical margin.

When you sell your home, special tax breaks are available for homeowners of any age, and for those over 55. For a copy of House Call's leaflet on the subject, send 12 and a stamped return envelope to TAX TIPS, 240 Hemingway Drive, Rochester NY 14020. Edith will also answer any letter with a return envelope.

Booming Lacrosse Night League In Hicksville

A broad breadth Long Island Summer Lacrosse League has attracted over 600 top caliber college and high school players for its weeknight competition at Cantiague Park, Hicksville.

Starting at 6:00 p.m., three games are carded Monday through Friday in the well organized league. Hicksville has a team entry coached by Charles Arnone.

Commissioner of the league is John Pappas of Bethpage. He has a long record in promoting the growth of the sport in this area.

Very best accommodations are made for the attending fans. Modern stands are provided by the Nassau County Park Commission.

Lighting is outstanding and brings up the refreshing lush green carpet of grass that is maintained. The fields are located on what used to be the grounds of the St. John's Protectory. A long history as a cool refuge on summer nights is associated with the grounds.

Professional aspect of the league is that only the best college and top high school officials are in charge of the games.

Teams represent Long Island communities from Great Neck to Islip on both the north and south shores.

Court Skills Are Honed In Hicksville Summer League

1987 Hopefuls Compete with North Shore School in Nestor Palahnuk League

The roots of County and State Basketball Championships have been embedded in the playing experience gained in winning the Nestor Palahnuk Hicksville Summer Basketball League.

Once again hopefuls for the 1986 title are engaged in spirited action on the same Hicksville Junior High court with five other sister league school potentials.

North Shore, Clark, Carle Place, Jericho, Syosset and Wheatley have floored teams.

Farmingdale, Island Trees and Hicksville are represented in the highly organized league.

Games are Monday through Friday starting at 6:00 p.m. There are three contests each night.

Games are officiated by top names from Nassau County Basketball Officials Association. All players must pay for their own insurance in order to participate.

There is a waiting list for entry into the league which is well supervised and run without friction. It has been in operation ten years. Attendance at games is not large but interested and orderly.

Last years most valuable player, Kevin Tyan of Jericho was an outstanding player. He was a member of the 1985 Empire State Games team.

Mike Masters of Wheatly drew on his 1984 involvement to carry the Frogs to the Nassau County "Class B" Crown in 1985.

In 1984 host Hicksville rocketed to the finals of the Nassau Class "A" Championship. A stirring second half rally eliminated Hempstead in the semis.

Hicksville Ponders Super Status

New pressure for a fast lane basketball league, which was rejected two years ago by a 21-12 vote, has been referred to the individual league schools by the Nassau Coaches Association.

A power point basis for games won and lost over a period of the past three seasons would constitute the framework of the new concept. Target date is 1987.
