The Paper With Roots
100 Years Deep In Hicksville

HICKSVILLE News

illustrated

Volume 1 Number 10 · Thursday, August 7, 1986 · 50¢ per copy

Robert Kenny, Hicksville High Director of Physical Education and Interscholastic Athletics, is currently in Buffalo serving as an administrator of the Empire Games. He has been associated with the games in that capacity for many years. Mr. Kenny has a distinguished record in physical education conducting, originating and supervising all aspects including praised programs for the handicapped, and equal balance and emphasis for both boys and girls.

Upon the elevation, three years back of Mr. Richard Hogan to principal he was recommended after a concerted review of qualified candidates, by Superintendent Dr. Catherine Fenton for the position. The Board of Education approved.

The announcement of his appointment and subsequent administration has elevated the stature of the Hicksville School District in Nassau County and New York State.

Roslyn Goldmacher Serves

Hicksville resident Roslyn Goldmacher has been selected as a member of the Steering Committee of the Nassau County Council of Boy Scouts' first annual Salute to the Long Island Woman Luncheon on Tuesday, September 23 at the Garden City Hotel.

The event, honoring Munei Siebert of Munei Siebert and Co., Inc., and Maureen Clancy, principal of Clancy and Clancy Inc., a Garden City insurance firm, brings attention to the fact that the Boy Scouts' Explorer program has a fifty percent female membership. More than 6,000 young Nassau women between 14 and 21 are given in-depth exposure to a variety of careers in the program.

TOB Hearings On Special Use Permit

The Oyster Bay Town Board has rescheduled a public hearing for August 26, 10 a.m., on application for a special use permit in Hicksville.

McDonald's Corporation and Paumanock Development Corporation, are requesting a special use permit to erect a restaurant with a drive-thru window in an 'H' industrial district.

The property is located on the east side of Broadway (Route 107), south of Louis (First Street) in Hicksville.

Prior to the original July 8th hearing date, Town Councilman Venditto explained, "the attorney for the applicant requested an adjournment. The Town Board was able to add the hearing to the calendar of August 26, 1986."

Town Board Sets Date to Amend Definition of 'Family'

The Oyster Bay Town Board has set an August 26 hearing date to amend the Code of Ordinances as it relates to the definition of 'Family.'

In 1985, after several years of litigation, the Court of Appeals of the State of New York found that the Town's existing definition of family was unconstitutional since it discriminated on the basis of the traditional family definition and further on the allowance for elderly persons to share their home with an unrelated senior adult. The court decision left the method by which a Town could limit the number of unrelated persons residing together to the local municipalities.

"The Town, following a review of the various definitions used by other Towns, has patterned the new definition in conformance with the New York Court of Appeals recent decision and the leading United States Supreme Court decision," said Hogan. The new definition states that a "Family" is: any number of persons, not exceeding two (2), not related by blood, marriage or adoption, and any ward of either unrelated person living and cooking together as a single house-keeping unit."

The hearings have been scheduled for Tuesday, August 26, beginning at 10 a.m. in the hearing room of Town Hall East, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay.

Colby Tabs Son-In-Law for $60,000 Oyster Bay Post; Workers Aggrieved

Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Joseph Colby went beyond the borders of the township to appoint his son-in-law, A. Peter Guardino of North Merrick to the position of Deputy Commissioner of Department of Human Resources.

The salary of $60,000 will be on an annual basis. The Commissioner of the newly established department will get a salary of $65,000, with a total administrative cost to the taxpayers of $125,000 a year. The department head is yet to be named.

Cost and appointment was unanimously agreed to by all Oyster Bay councilmen present.

The selection of his son-in-law precluded advertising for the position and there were no other interviews for the job.

Twenty-two employees will be supervised for the total $125,000 and will handle insurance and personnel matters, labor relations and labor negotiations.

Kick in the Teeth

The bluntness of the appointment has been regarded as another kick in the teeth by Republican workers who have labored long in the "vineyards" of the Oyster Bay segment of the party.

To placate that a search was not made within Oyster Bay Township, Colby quickly announced that Guardino will move from his South Shore North Merrick home to Farmingdale.

Colby trumpeted Guardino on the basis of his tenure of two years as Nassau County labor relations director at a salary of $39,000. Based on that, Colby concluded he was the only person considered qualified for the job.

Colby sits as a member of the Nassau County Board of Supervisors, which controls county job appointments. Guardino married his daughter April, three years ago.

Dismissed Political Fallout

Observers relate that Colby has tired of the Supervisor's job and would like a judgeship appointment. It is claimed that he realizes the formidable Thomas Gullotta of Merrick blocks any Nassau Supervisor aspirations.

State office seems currently beyond reach. The calculation attached is that Colby considers he is out of reach of political fallout over the appointment.

Break the Yoke Rumbings

Some repercussions are reported possible. The Break-the-Massa-pequa-Yoke Cry originating in the north section of Glen Head has been fueled. In Hicksville, independent civic associations are forming. This is breaking the suffocating blanket control the Oyster Bay Township interests had for two possessive decades over community civic and organization involvement.

Fanning the smoldering resentment over the town and county attitude towards Hicksville, was the recent blocking of a leading local Republican for a high Nassau County position by Republican Chairman Joseph Mondello.

It was reported that he overruled the Hicksville selection made by County Executive Frances Purcell. It too, went to the South Shore.

Hasty Retreat by Hicksville Cheerleaders¹

Fourteen Hicksville High School girls, chosen to be 1986-87 cheerleaders when school opens this fall, abruptly returned from a cheerleader summer camp last week.

Attendance at the camp was an independent action and was not conducted, authorized or sanctioned by Hicksville Union Free School District #17.

Participation was organized and paid for by the cheerleaders themselves in an attempt to train and perfect their skills.

Such self generated arrangements are much the same as that involving attendance at lacrosse, football, swimming or baseball camps.

On arriving at the camp the girls expressed dissatisfaction with accommodations and conditions at the camp.

Rapid-fire calls to Hicksville alarmed parents led to inquiries to Hicksville administrative authorities.

Although explanations that the school was not involved were explained, concern developed for the welfare of the girls. Private citizens and parents were contacted for volunteer drivers to go and get the girls.

However, by a 12-2 vote, the girls, who had return bus tickets via Greyhound, demanded to go home.

Transportation to the bus depot was provided by the camp and a return was effected after one short day stay.

Negotiations are underway by parents to obtain refunds for the girls. The amount is reported to be $175 each.

Letters From Our Readers

Dear Mr. Finnegan:

With reference to the article on page two, July 31st issue of Hicksville Illustrated News—"Let's keep these brain cells active," I felt I would like to add my comments to your discussion about senior citizens.

Of course, there are retirees and retirees. Some happy to just relax and enjoy, others bored stiff remaining at home, some ill or incapacitated and others who would be happy to work part time to keep themselves active.

I think the problem with the last group mentioned (especially females) is they feel they would not be hired—1. because of age and 2. because of their lack of transportation. Many do not drive or have cars. The cost of transportation would greatly affect the minimum wage they would no doubt be offered.

So... I feel it is on an individual basis and only as such can they be happy after years of working.

A resident of Hicksville for eighty years.
Gertrude Soper

Dear Mr. Finnegan:

I should like to commend you for the absolutely terrific job you and your staff are doing on the Hicksville Illustrated News.

This is truly a creative and charming paper with something for everyone. The old-time pictures of historical Hicksville and last week's Hicksville Press from 1896 are creating a pride in our town that is both welcome and needed.

Please continue your fine work. I look forward to my copy each week in my mailbox.

Laura Higgins, Hicksville

Dear Howard:

You were correct in the issue of July 31 regarding the letter of Lorraine DeGaidano. Lorraine didn't go back far enough regarding Dr. Curtis's office above Huettner's. The original Huettner store was in the building now occupied by a drug store at the n/e/c of Broadway and East Marie Street. Dr. Curtis was upstairs. The Huettner's built their new department store building on the opposite corner at the s/w/c of Broadway and West Marie Street. I was born in Hicksville in 1917 and I'm enjoying all your oldies because I walked, roller-skated and bicycled all over Hicksville as a kid and I remember most of the buildings in your pictures.

Incidentally I'm enclosing a booklet of Hicksville and Jencho pictures that go back to about 1915. You may want to print them.

Regards and keep up the good work. The newspaper is great!

Charles I. Montana Sr. Hicksville

Editor's Note: Response to letter from Miss Lisa Grillo:

We are in receipt of your letter (unprinted in interest to all) concerning your expressed disappointment over our report on the Junior High Norbet Nagler Scholarship Award.

There was no intention on the part of anyone to cause you such distress.

It was, however, an exact report as received from the Junior High Program.

Submitted here is a photostat reproduction as the article was presented to us.

Life is replete with frailties and we are not adverse to admitting ours. However we cannot share your opinion of our proofreaders.

Credo for Hicksville Education

Speaking out on a proposed reduction in state aid to schools in 1940, Dr. Curtis told a public meeting: "None of us like taxes. If there is any way to reduce them by all means let's do it, but not at the expense of our Public Schools. The future of Nassau County does not lie in its parks or parkways, its wealthy estates, the fertility of its soil or its proximity to New York City, but it does rest in its boys and girls; in their brains, their character, their health and their ability to live together in our democratic society. If they are well educated today fewer of them will be a charge on the community tomorrow. More of them will be able to live full, well-rounded lives. More of them will become good citizens."

—Dr. Elwood Arnold Curtiss

THE FRENCH AWARD IS PRESENTED TO LISA GRILLO.

THE NORBERT NAGLER SCHOLARSHIP AWARD IS PRESENTED IN MEMORY OF A FORMER JUNIOR HIGH FOREIGN LANGUAGE TEACHER. THIS YEAR THERE ARE TWO WINNERS. ONE WINNER IS LISA GRILLO. THE OTHER RECIPIENT IS STEPHEN MC NICHOLAS.

Your worst enemies are not those who disagree with you — they're the ones who pretend to agree with you.

—Frank Clark

Let Us Honor Those Who Fought For Our Country

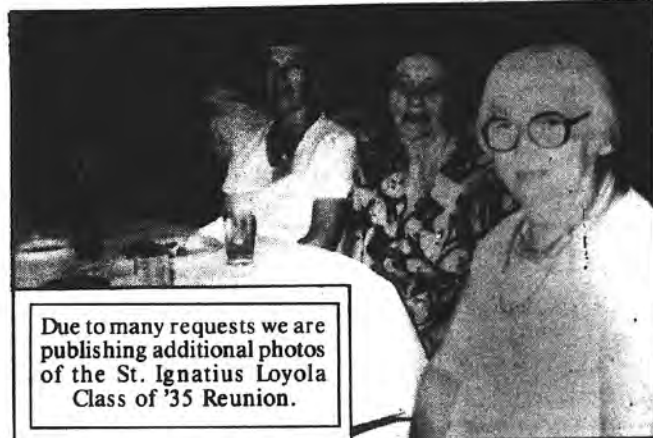

Over thirty years ago our servicemen were involved in a so-called police action named Korea, and as the years went by, the Korean Veterans were forgotten. We want to remedy that by placing a monument at the Hicksville Junior High School.

Along with the Korean monument, a Vietnam Veteran monument will be erected. I, as chairman, would like the monuments ready by Veterans Day 1986. I am a Vietnam veteran and I am proud of the Korean veteran. Let us all be proud and show that we care.

We are asking for help from the Hicksville community. If you wish to make a donation, you may do so by mailing a check (or money order) to the Hicksville Veterans Monument Fund, P.O. Box 412, Hicksville, N.Y. 11802.

Suffolk's Risky Scheme to Scuttle Shoreham

* The Following appeared in Newsday, July 30, 1986, and is printed in its entirety.

Three factors stand out among all that's wrong with Suffolk County's public power bill:

- The county legislature's mindless determination to plunge into an enormous and highly questionable fiscal adventure for the sole purpose of preventing the Long Island Lighting Co.'s Shoreham nuclear power plant from opening.

- The legislature's secrecy, which made it evident that those engineering this dubious scheme wanted the people to know as little about it as possible.

- The haste with which Long Island was launched on a course of action that could not only prove terribly costly but also jeopardize the region's future supply of electricity.

The county justified the haste by citing the alleged need to sell $7.3 billion in bonds within the next few weeks because changes in federal tax law might make the interest on the bonds taxable after Sept. 1. It's not much of a justification. The Treasury Department has cast serious doubt on the exempt status of the bonds no matter when they are sold. As for the secrecy, there can be no justification. Virtually all of the legislature's discussions took place in executive session, and the plan is plainly designed to evade the state requirement for a public referendum on the specific issue of a LILCO takeover.

The likeliest beneficiaries are speculators in LILCO stock and the underwriting firm of Smith Barney, Harris Upham & Co., which stands to make millions even if the deal is never consummated. There's no assurance that electricity rates would actually be lower after a LILCO takeover.

If Suffolk doesn't succeed in its end run around state laws that govern the takeover of utility companies, the whole scheme could unravel. The counsel retained by Smith Barney to attest to the safety of the bonds is one Cyril V. Smith Jr. of the Washington law firm of Wood, Dawson, Smith & Hellman. That firm is best known for giving a favorable evaluation of the Washington Public Power Supply System's financing before its bond fiasco a few years ago.

Nor is the Treasury Department the only one objecting. State Comptroller Edward Regan urged Gov. Mario Cuomo to intervene in order to prevent an increase in the state's borrowing costs resulting from the Suffolk bond issue. Cuomo declined. His leadership in this whole sorry affair has been grossly deficient — and Regan's subsequent request to Cohalan fell on equally deaf ears.

You don't have to be a supporter of Shoreham or LILCO to object to this scheme. Peter Quinn, director of the Long Island Public Power Project, has been advocating a takeover of LILCO for years, but he labeled this plan "monstrous, manipulative and machiavellian."

It's an unconscionable act of political expediency that deserves to fail on its own lack of merit. LILCO's customers — especially those in Nassau and Queens, who have had absolutely no say in the whole matter — can only hope the courts will relegate this cynical flimflam to oblivion.

A Letter from Lulubelle...

...I want you to think about the house you lived in when you were little...do you have the rooms pictured in your mind?...and do you see how the dresser is placed in the bedroom?...It's "catty-cornered": isn't it?... In those days, dressers always had the mirrors attached and our Mothers always placed them across the corner — catty-corner...each piece, the dresser, the chest, even the dressing table if we were fortunate enough to have a room large enough for all these pieces, and, often, even the bed — all catty-corner...And in the living room, the same practice — especially the sofa — catty-corner...As the years went by, everyone began to put the furniture flat against the wall, and I even remember hearing myself say once, most disparagingly I must admit, "She's one of those people who put their furniture catty-corner"...Well, time has served me right...Have you looked at some of the latest model rooms or house magazines or designer showcases?...Catty-corner is the latest hot interior design idea...Beds are not only catty-cornered, but not even up against the corner — they are often catty-cornered right in the middle of the floor...and couches, catty-cornered, divide large areas into interesting conversation groupings...I must confess, I even do it myself, and I think it looks just great...So much for the way I looked down on my Mother's decorating...how she would tease me if she could see that what she liked all along is now "in" in the late 80's...The wheels seem to come around and ideas return even in decorating as in so many other things...

Yours, Lulubelle

DONOVAN REPORT

REAL ESTATE

KAREN DONOVAN

THE ASKING PRICE

What's your house worth? The price you ask for your property can help sell it quickly — or it may be a stumbling block to a sale. Pricing is too important a decision to leave to chance.

If your house is underpriced, it will probably sell quickly — but you'll lose out on potential profit. (Conversely, an underpriced house may put buyers on their guard: what's wrong with it, they'll wonder.) And inflated price may lessen interest in the property and draw only low offers.

Setting a price for a house calls for a sales appraisal of the property in question and a knowledge of what comparable properties have brought in recent sales, placed in balance with current mortgage rates and a feel for the market RIGHT NOW. Even a real estate professional must put time and careful consideration into pricing. For an amateur, it can be no more than by-guess-and-by-golly.

Set the right price on your house — and get it.

The Investor's Corner

By JOSEPH P. FREY, Ph.D.

We now consider the wisdom of a total refinance with a new first mortgage or taking a second mortgage. Below is a simple method of figuring which is better.

I use some dummy figures to show you how. Substitute your own.

A. Total Refinance:

Mortgage	Rate	Points
$200,000	10 1/2%	3

B. A Second Mortgage In Addition To Your Present Mortgage:

Dollars	% of total	Rate	2 x 3 ²	Points
Present mortgage:
$50,000	.25	7%	1.75%	0
Second mortgage:
$150,000	.75	13%	0.75%	3
$200,000	100%		11.50% average

Note 1—the percent of total is obtained by dividing the total into the mortgage amount, that is, $50,000 divided by $200,000 and $150,000 divided by $200,000.

Note 2—you multiply the rate, .07, by the percentage, that is, .25 x .07 = 1.75%; .75 x .13 = 0.75%. The average is obtained by adding the two rates.

Now you can compare the two interest rates. In our illustration, it would be better to refinance totally. I left out of consideration the points, because they have to be pro-rated annually over the entire life of the loan.

The points should be pro-rated and not taken into immediate consideration because in May, 1986, the IRS re-interpreted a ruling on the immediate deductibility of the points as interest. In the past, if you paid the points in a separate check (rather than reducing the cash received at the closing) you could deduct the points.

The new rule states that the points must be spread out annually over the life of the mortgage. This significantly changes the tax value of the mortgage points. This applies to refinance only, not new mortgages on a newly purchased home.

To make matters worse, this ruling was made retroactive to January 1, 1985. Many people will have to redo their 1985 tax returns and pay more taxes as a result.

You should now have enough information from this and my first article on refinancing to make an intelligent decision about your own mortgage refinancing plans.

If there are unanswered questions, send them to me in care of this newspaper. I will use them as the basis for another article, or I will answer individually, depending on the volume of requests.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1♠	1♣
Pass	4♠	4NT	Pass
5♣

Opening lead — king of spades.

Here is a fine hand from a team-of-four match. At the first table, the bidding went as shown and West led the king of spades. Declarer ruffed in dummy with the jack and played the king of trumps. East took the ace and returned a trump.

Declarer won with the nine and ruffed his last spade with dummy's last trump. Then, the contract assured if he could draw East's remaining trump, he played the A-K of clubs, planning to ruff the third round of clubs.

Unfortunately, East ruffed the second club and South later went down one when he attempted a heart finesse.

The play started identically at the second table, where the contract was also five diamonds. Declarer ruffed the spade high and led the king of diamonds, East taking the ace and returning a trump.

Here, also, South ruffed a spade in dummy and cashed the ace of clubs — but then came a parting of the ways.

Declarer realized he would be running an unnecessary risk by continuing with the king of clubs, since it was conceivable that East might ruff it. Accordingly, he led a low club from dummy at this point, being perfectly willing to lose a club trick without a struggle in order to insure the contract.

West won the club with the six and led back the queen, but South was now home free. He ruffed the club return, drew East's last trump, and was then able to discard his heart loser on the king of clubs to produce eleven solid tricks.

The exceptionally sound safety play paid exceptionally good dividends.

Garage Sale Pollution

It is not that we don't like garage sales...
...got a Czarist Imperial Russian pitcher just last weekend...
...for three bucks.

That and others just a great deal of fun to search for...
...but

The unremoved rag-tag homemade signs announcing garage sales are a community polluting eyesore when left up for months—and sometimes years.

Could not get over the ragged look on Westbury Avenue when the proud Carle Place Fire Department stepped out in its anniversary parade last year. And by all means, it is not restricted to Carle Place only.

There were, by actual count, 63 attachments to trees and poles that marred the attractiveness of that lovely little "Williamsburg" community on that day. It is inconceivable that people who put them up with their own addresses do not have the self respect and regard for their hometowns to remove them.

In the first place, it's illegal to post them on utility or municipal poles.

They also cause dangerous traffic slowdowns and stops as drivers try to figure out which is a current date.

Some communities and townships require a $25.00 or $50.00 license permit for such sales.

And in some cases the permit fee escalates if more than one a year is held. We would like a solution.

The best would be for the removal immediately after the sale date by those who put them up.

A Chamber of Commerce or service club program, to contribute a minimal cash prize to a high school scholarship fund for students in a community service program to remove them periodically, would be constructive.

Less desirable would be a compliance enactment by a town, village or county government body.

With penalties.

One very angry person we know is considering writing the addresses (photos too) down and sending them to federal and state tax agencies with questions as to sales tax payments.

Responsible action would negate any drastic action and allow continuance of a delightful cottage industry.

Still want to add to our collection of rare bone china Shelly cups and saucers — inexpensively.

The garage sale industry in Nassau County on a weekend is estimated to reach $25,000 in sales a weekend.

ing program at the Nassau Police Academy. This course accents traffic direction and control, first aid, and the Department's rules and regulations.

Crossing guards work during the school year and are assigned posts as close to home as possible. They receive nine paid holidays; vacation, sick leave and supplemental time; maternity leave; free uniforms and equipment; membership in the Civil Service Employees Association; membership in the Department's Credit Union; health and dental insurance coverage; Worker's compensation coverage and State retirement benefits.

"A Nassau County Police School Crossing Guard does not have to choose between family and home or having a job," said Police Commissioner Samuel J. Rozzi.

The Second Precinct has reported the following:

• July 24 - A computer printer was stolen during a burglary which occurred at a corporation on North Broadway. Entry was made through the front door.

• A house on Gardner Ave. was burglarized. Entry was gained by cutting the screen of a rear window. The loss included a VCR, a TV, silverware, a shotgun and a ring.

• July 28 - An aircraft service corporation on Duffy Ave. was burglarized. Entry was gained by prying open a side door. The loss included cash.

The Eighth Precinct has reported the following:

• July 27 - A house on Cottage Blvd. was burglarized. Entry was made through a second floor window. The loss included a computer keyboard, which was recovered outside the house.

Board Approved Master Plan for Construction at Woodbury

A master site plan prepared by the Long Range Planning Committee, the administration and Croxton Collaborative Architects, for construction on the 33 acres in Woodbury, was approved by the Board of Directors at its June meeting. As embodied in a four phase/five year capital improvement program, the construction will include townhouse clusters, independent living East and West, multi-faceted health care and arrival building, comprehensive outpatient rehabilitation facility, pediatric and geriatric day care, hospice, respite program, and a new wing for skilled nursing.

Although no definite date for groundbreaking has been established nor a list as to the succession of building, it is believed that the townhouse cluster of 102 (one hundred and two) units for the well-elderly will have priority, breaking ground in early 1987.

The townhouse units will be the highest quality housing of the three new housing components on the site and because of their strong residential image, 86 of the townhouses will be located in a cluster on the front of the 33 acre property. Special consideration has been given to the needs of the elderly who will live at Woodbury. Eighty two (82) of the townhouse units will be entered on grade level and will be easily handicapped accessible.

Administration will shortly announce the program designed to promote the townhouses and the schedule for construction of the other important service buildings on the campus.

Stephen King On Directing Stephen King By EDWARD GROSS

For the first time in his incredible twelve year career, Stephen King's level of success will not be determined by the best seller's list, but rather by the box office. The author makes his directorial debut on Dino De Laurentiis' "Maximum Overdrive."

"You've got to remember," King laughs, "that they didn't hire me because I did a wonderful job on 'The Magnificent Seven.' Dino is not a stupid man. I think he felt if I directed this picture, that in itself would mean a big first weekend. I think it's like what Samuel Johnson said about women preachers and dancing dogs. You don't expect to see it done well, you pay to see it done at all!"

Based on his short story "Trucks," "Maximum Overdrive" is the latest in a long line of cinematic adaptations of King's work, of which only a few have been either creatively or commercially successful.

"A lot of people," he says, "may come to this picture to see if I'm any better at it than other people. This picture does have something that no other adaptation of my work has, and that's that it's mine. They're going to have an experience analogous to the experience they have after reading the books. It's my picture for better or worse."

"Maximum Overdrive" details what happens when earth passes through the tail of a comet and all machinery—from truck to soda machines—comes to mechanical life and begins to rebel against mankind. It all seems like a rather complicated and overwhelming situation for a first time director.

"The mechanics of the situation were a problem and that's what really surprised me," King admits. "What I found out is that all the human elements could always give me about four times what I expected going in. It was the machinery that almost always screwed up. There was, in fact, one truck that I grew to hate to much that we brought it back to blow it up a second time."

"Maximum Overdrive" is currently playing locally at the United Artists Meadowbrook Quad.

G. Gregory Wood 1st Runner Up In Golf

G. Gregory Wood of Hicksville, after a valiant effort, was edged out of a 1st place victory by Dick Smith, a gifted amateur, after a tension-filled final round of the Nassau-Suffolk Invitational Golf Tournament at the beautiful Dix Hills Golf Course. This marks four consecutive victories for Mr. Smith whose reputation is growing among amateur golfers all over the metropolitan area. Of the thirty participants in this little-known classic the leading six scorers were: Dick Smith-6, G. Gregory Wood-4, Harold Holden -2, Robert Wolberg-1, Bobby 'The Put' Lisnoff even, and R. Anthony Nash even.

Wood made a brilliant attempt in this carefully weighted contest to rally in the last round to come within one stroke of the lead but Dick Smith's magnificent birdie on the second hole gave him the two stroke advantage he so ably defended to the end of the round. Greg Wood's last push in the last round was a futile attack as Dick Smith's superb strategy, so masterfully executed, left Greg Wood no opportunity to advance to first place on the leader board. Mr. Wood should be congratulated on his courageous effort, he well deserves his award as first runner-up.

Other notable amateurs participating and helping to make the tournament successful were H. Holden and R. Wolberg who ended their rounds four and five strokes off the lead respectively and were involved in a tight competition for third place; Mr. Holden held his lead throughout the match relegating Mr. Wolberg to fourth place. Bobby 'The Put' Lisnoff played his usual consistent game and was tied for fifth place by R. Anthony Nash on the last hole. One of the highlights of the day was the finesse shown by R. Anthony Nash who in this, his first year, displayed a potential genius on the last hole snatching Mr. Lisnoff's sole occupation of fifth place at the eleventh hour. Mr. Nash executed a near-perfect drive with his brassie followed by a smashing stroke at the green with his spoon. He then used his spade mashie to place his ball a foot behind the green, chipped up and was down in one for his par. This man is a man to be carefully watched.

Chum Pot

From Jones Beach Inlet, Fire Island to Moriches Inlet, Fluking has been superior. Looks like a good August for Fluking, so try and get out. Flounders are still around in the deep holes. Snappers are getting a little bigger just on time for the kids to have some fun. Crabbing is getting better with quantity and quality improving. Blues are just as good in shore as off shore, in fact, many big blues are in shore.

The Killie situation seems to be a little better as the water seems to be getting cleaner. Fluking is o.k. at Jones Beach Piers and Captree Piers on incoming tides. Small snappers at both piers. Captree open boats are doing excellent on Fluke with flood tides still best, using large opening and Fluke belly stripes. Some 4, 5, 6 lb. Fluke taken last week, as size improves. Below is illustration on how to tie 2 hooks to creat 2 hook Flounder rig.

Gries Corvair Best In Show

Members of the Long Island Corvair Club brought top honors home to Long Island in both events that took place at the Northeast Corsa Council's annual meet in Lime Rock, Connecticut.

Held July 19 and 20, members from seven clubs took part in the weekend competition.

Hicksville resident Joe Gries was awarded "Best of Show" in the Concours d'Elegance for his early model convertible; he also was first in his division. George Molloy of Levittown was awarded first place in the late model division.

During the time trials held at Lime Rock Race Track, Huntington resident Terry Stafford was first in his class (early model), while George Knakal of East Northport and Michael Daly of Huntington Station took second and third respectively in the late model division. Seaford's John Heckl also won a first place in a factory equipped model.

"Fast Time of Day" honors went to Sam Porteus of East Northport in his "competition class" race car. Naturally, Sam also was first in his division with a time of 1 min., 9 sec., on the 1 1/2 mile track.

Now that the Long Island club has distinguished itself in Connecticut, members are looking forward to the next club event, the Northport-Centerport Lions Club Antique Car Show on Sept. 14, at Heckscher Park.

The Ebbets Field Cafe Lacrosse Team "The New Wave" increased its record to 3-0 with victories over Valley Auto and Cold Spring Harbor.

In their 12-10 victory over Valley Auto, The New Wave was paced by Mike Magee and Chuck Arnone with 4 goals each. Arnone and Bill Bjorness had 3 assists. Other goals were scored by Bill Losco, 2 goals; Art Whitmarsh and Bill Bjorness 1 apiece. The New Wave Goalies Greg Jordan and Jim Braun were outstanding as was the tuff-enuff defense led by Charlie Chatterton, John Ednie and Bill Dunn.

The Ebbets Field gathering place for lunch, dinner, after-game, theatre, meetings, etc. is located on the corner of Charlotte Avenue and Duffy Avenue.

The recently renovated restaurant has an outdoor eating area and a clever theme of pictures and memorabilia of Brooklyn's Dodgers once ancient and beloved park.
