Other swimmers from Hicksville scored at the meet which boasts top swimmers from the entire metropolitan area. Lorna Mund won the 100 and 200 backstroke and the 100 freestyle. She was second in the 200 free and third in the 400 free. Scott Epstein, in his first Senior Mets, placed fourth in the 100 breast and fifth in the 200 breast. Jeannine Sirey scored in the 200 and 400 IM, the 100 free and the 200 free.

Letters From Our Readers

To The Editor:

Having lived in Hicksville for thirty five years, I would like say we had delicious tasting water, until it was poisoned with fluoride.

Since the environmental experts are so concerned with what is going on underground to poison our water, they should do something about what they insisted on injecting directly into our water supply.

When turning on the water first thing in the morning, it is like sniffing an open bottle of bleach.

One cannot drink water from the bathroom tap at all. Aside from the odor, the taste is nauseating.

There is no way to install a filter in the bathroom as we have in the kitchen.

The fluoride treatment is also forcing cancer down our throats, into our bodies.

We fought against it at the time, but it was forced on us anyway.

If people wanted their children under twelve to have fluoride treatments they should have, then and now, had their dentists do it for them.

(Mrs.) Lee Beaulieu

To The Editor:

On my recent trip to Lake Worth, Fla. to visit my daughter and son-in-law, Rose and George Kaleita, I spoke about the new paper which I enjoyed reading, since I have lived in Hicksville since 1928.

She asked me to have you send it to her and bill her for it.

Remembering Our M.I.A.-P.O.W.s

On Friday, September 19, 1986, the Nassau County Chapter of the Vietnam Veterans of America will hold a candlelight vigil to remember our men who are still missing in action or are prisoners of war.

It will take place at Townsend Park across from Town Hall on Audrey Ave. in Oyster Bay. The ceremonies will start at 8:00 p.m.

Let us remember always our M.I.A.'s and P.O.W.'s. For further information you can call the Nassau Chapters address at (516) 483-3213.

Catherine Heberer Gina Aiello John Hawkins Chosen For Chorus

William L. Gagnon, Supervisor of Fine Arts for the Hicksville Public Schools, announced that three Hicksville High School music students have been named to the 1986 New York All-State Chorus. The students are Gina Aiello, John Hawkins and Catherine Heberer.

To be selected, the students were required to prepare a piece of vocal music and perform that selection for a panel of adjudicators. Obviously this was also done by thousands of high school students throughout New York. The competition is enormous and the chances for success small.

To have three students named to this group is a credit to their teacher, Mr. Charles Arnold, who was responsible for preparing them.

Two of the three students, Gina and John, have qualified for membership in the All-East chorus. Only the top percentage of students who were selected to All-State groups in each of the eastern states are eligible for this honor. As I told the students, regardless of the outcome, simply qualifying for the All-East is an honor.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity.

We receive many very fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only.

We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

National Scholarship Semis

Michael G. Doherty and Scott J. O'Callaghan of Hicksville were among the names of some 15,000 young men and women across the country who are being honored as Semifinalists in the current National Merit Scholarship Program. Academically talented high school seniors in all of the 50 states have qualified as Semifinalists and will have an opportunity to advance in the 1987 competition for about 6,000 Merit Scholarships worth over $21 million.

In the fall of 1985, more than one million juniors in some 19,000 U.S. secondary schools entered this competition by taking the PSAT/NMSQT, the qualifying test for the Merit Program. The top scorers in every state, representing about half of one percent of the state's high school graduating class, are included in the nationwide Semifinalist pool.

Michael Dunn, Principal Willet Avenue School

Mr. Michael Dunn has been appointed this year as the new Principal of Willet Avenue School. Mr. Dunn comes to Willet Avenue after having served as Assistant Principal of Lee Avenue School.

Prior to his joining the Hicksville School District, Mr. Dunn had been a classroom teacher in Wantagh. There he had instructed the Third and Fourth Grades. He also wrote curriculum pieces in Social Studies and Science. With a background in Psychology and Reading, Mr. Dunn also became involved in a writing project initiated by Wantagh and also was active in incorporating computer software in his school.

Married with one child, Mr. Dunn is looking forward to his new assignment and hopes to continue and expand upon the excellent educational programs currently in effect at Willet Avenue.

Social Notes and Personalities

Welcome Home

The neighbors of Lillian and Robert Phelan welcomed them home after they spent the week enjoying themselves in Fort Meyers, Florida. Their daughter, Joanne went along with them and also had a lovely vacation.

A Daughter for the Waldecks

Lynn (Fordham) and Eddie Waldeck, both formerly of Hicksville and now Levittown, became the parents of a 6 lb. 5 oz. baby girl Nicole Elizabeth, on May 5th.

Both parents are graduates of Hicksville High School. The maternal grandparents are Florence and Leonard Fordham and paternal grandparent is Mildred Waldeck, all of Hicksville.

Lil Anderson Celebrates 75th

Lil Anderson thinks it great to become 75 years old. She was wined and dined for a full week. Her birthday was Sept. 10 but she started celebrating it ahead of time. She and her husband Francis (retired Nassau County Clerk) went to Vienna, Va., to visit their son, Navy Captain John Anderson, his wife Marti, their grandchildren John (17) and Justin (14). After they returned their other son Bill, his wife Fran and the Anderson's daughter Joyce and her husband Rick Merzbacher had a lovely dinner arranged for them at LaMarmite in Williston Park.

On Wednesday, Bill Nelson her brother-in-law, treated the immediate family to a luncheon at the Lamplight Restaurant in Huntington. Besides Lil and Francis the guests included Bill's wife, Ellen, and Ellen's sister, Marge Sutter; Helen Kunz, and Val Carmody. Besides treating Lil to a birthday luncheon Bill wanted to thank all of them for being so caring while he was in the Hospital for 18 days.

The last treat for Lil was when two of Lil's friends took them to dinner at Michael's Pier 3 in Amityville Harbor.

Lil's been wondering what her 100th will be like.

The Kellners Enjoy Their Trip

Joan and George Kellner have recently returned from a lovely vacation. They first visited their youngest son Jimmy, his wife, Francine, their children, Timmy, (3½) and Rachel, 1½. They recently moved to Coral Springs, Florida.

After returning from Florida they took their two daughters, Thea, MaryAnn and friend, Dennis Normile to Las Vegas for a week. While there their friends, Tom and Mary O'Hara of Hicksville met them and spent time with them.

Joan and George then went on to Dallas, Texas to visit their son George who is a vice-president of the M. Preston Bank in Dallas. George is a graduate of Molloy High School in Queens, and a '76 graduate of St. Louis University in Missouri. They had a grand time!

Happy Birthday Ellie

Ellie Kubernach had another birthday Sept. 11. She not only celebrated it that day but all her friends helped her to celebrate it Friday night at Jabby's. Happy Birthday Ellie — we're all waiting for next year!

Toured New England

Touring the New England States at this time of the year has to be one of the most beautiful sight-seeing vacations. Adele and Tony Weinar of Hicksville have just returned and have nothing but praise for the magnificent scenery and foliage in that area during the fall season. They suggest everyone take a trip up there — even if it's only for a day.

Returned From Italy

Fran Conigliaro and daughters, Michele and Jennifer, have just returned from a beautiful five week vacation touring Italy.

While there they also visited relatives in Palermo, Sicily. They all had a fantastic time.

Husband Pat and son, Anthony missed their family very much and were delighted to welcome them home.

Celebrates 1st Birthday

Kevin Kyle Wallace celebrated his 1st birthday September 7th. Kevin is the son of Tina and William Wallace of Seaford.

Kevin's mom was a 1979 graduate of Hicksville High School. In attendance at the celebration were his great grandmother, grandparents, friends and relatives. A great time was had by all.

The Roberts Celebrate 29th

Hicksville Veterans' Fund Continues

The time is drawing near when we honor our Korean and Vietnam veterans with monuments at the Hicksville Jr. High School. We need you to make this fund an overwhelming success.

Remember these men and women who served our country by fighting Communist aggression. The world was made a little safer with their dedication to protecting our great country. Many were killed and wounded trying to protect the United States of America and it is about time this was recognized.

Any donation can be made to the Hicksville Veterans' Monument Fund, P.O. Box 412, Hicksville, N.Y. 11802, or call chairman Conrad Steers at 822-5938.

WHAT DO BUYERS WANT?

New-home buyers are a traditional lot. They feel more comfortable in homes that look familiar. One realty source estimated that 75 percent of the new houses for sale are now two-story Colonials. Far fewer are the contemporary homes, those with vaulted ceilings, lots of glass, and the "great rooms" that combine living, dining and cooking in one space. Cost has almost done away with the ranch house (it costs more to build out than to build up), and the split level has simply gone out of style.

Whether you are remodeling or just making cosmetic improvements to make a house more salable, it's wise to remember what buyers like. Splashy modern silver-and-black wallpaper may turn off a prospect; a "sensible" floral print sells. Walls and carpet in a deep eggplant color are dramatic, but buyers feel safer in go-with-anything beige. We'll help you make your property more salable. List with the know-how people at:

Letters From Our Readers

Dear Hicksville Illustrated.

I am writing in regard to an article in your paper dated Thursday, August 14. The article was called Hicksville-Jericho Reflections, and I would like to point out a major discrepancy which I have found. The "Maine Maid" did indeed move out of Mille Ridge into its present location, but it hardly moved across Jericho Turnpike! It moved to the southwest corner of Cedar Swamp Rd. (now Old Cedar Swamp Rd.) and Jericho Tpke. (now Old Jericho Tpke.), with its front door on the south side of what is now Old Jericho Tpke. It wasn't until later that "progress" brought Jericho Turnpike past the "Maine Maid's" back door and Rt. 106-107 past the Millendges' back door.

It might be a good idea to let your readers know that the "Maine Maid" did not, in fact, move across Jericho Turnpike, but merely a few hundred feet to it!

By the way, I am a lifelong resident of Hicksville. To me, that means all the way back to '64, but I am now, more than ever, interested in my town's history. I don't know a better way to learn it than by driving a taxi based at the Hicksville railroad and that's what I do.

Steve Miller, Arrow Lane

P.S.—In all the weeks that I've been a faithful reader of the Hicksville Illustrated News, I have yet to see any mention of me or my family mentioned and I know former residents. Billy Joel!!! How 'bout it!

EDITOR'S NOTE: You missed the story on

Mr. Joel's election to Hicksville High School Hall of Fame!

Editor's Note:

The pleasure the Hicksville Illustrated News derives from publishing our historical maps and essays comes from the demonstrated interest of our readers. In the case of our "Mille Ridge" article we indicated the "Maine Maid" moved across the present Jericho Turnpike to establish the territory for both old and new readers.

Our 1914 archives map clearly indicates that "Maine Maid" was and is now on the H.S. Phipps property at the southeast junction of the old Jericho Turnpike and Hicksville Oyster Bay Road. The old Cedar Swamp Road is to the north and west about one half mile. On that road is the 1900 circa clapboard Jericho Grade School.

We always welcome and appreciate salient facts to improve our local history. We do not claim infallibility in these matters. On this one however, our memory goes back to more than a 100 Wednesday and Sunday dinners over a period of years at the "Maine Maid."

We still savor these wonderful meals of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts on many a Thanksgiving and Christmas Day.

Councilman-At-Large System Challenge Challenged

By DAGMAR FORS KARPPI

The concept of electing Councilman-at-large in Nassau County is being challenged by the Democratic party. Judy Jacobs, an activist in the Woodbury area, and the 13th Assembly District Democratic Leader present filled a petition with the Town Clerk office on Thursday, Sept. 4.

Ms. Jacobs requested a receipt from Town Attorney Robert Schmidt. He did not give her one.

According to Town spokesperson Marlene Kastleman, "it was unnecessary. Ms. Jacobs called her attorney and he said she didn't need a receipt."

Ed Grause, Town of Hempstead Democratic Chairman said Steven Benson, Chairman of the Nassau County Young Democrats went of the Town Clerks Office on Friday, September 5, and requested to see the petition. In a telephone interview Mr. Grause said that they wanted to check to see if something was on the petition.

Mr. Grause said the Mr. Benson was told he had to fill out a form, and that then, he would have to wait five days to see the petition.

Marlene Kastleman, Town of Oyster Bay Spokesperson explained that the form was a Freedom Of Information request, that is typically needed to see documents that belong to the Town. She said that the law allows five days for a check to be made to see where the forms are, and if they are available, and when.

Steven Benson appeared with Steven Lebowitz, Chairman of the Town of Oyster Bay Young Democrats on August 26 in front of the Town Board. They requested the members of the board sign their petition to change the Ward system of government.

Mr. Benson in his argument said that the population of Nassau County is larger than the population of Nevada in 1960. "In 1776 New York fought for representative government for its citizens. With 300,000 residents in Nassau County" he said they deserve a government comparable to Nevada's."

Supervisor Joseph Colby smiled and said to Mr. Benson & Mr. Lebowitz, "if I were a young democrat I would say the same thing. Nice presentation."

Since the petition of Judy Jacobs has been received by the Town, there have been three individual challenges to the document.

A Letter from Lulabelle...

...We were talking the other night to a young engaged couple and they were complaining about the high cost of furnishing their first home and how it was going to be quite empty for some time—and one of the men said, "Well, we furnished our first home with orange crates..." Now you all remember orange crates—although the young people did not... Orange crates were the boxes that oranges did come in to the stores. They were made of a kind of splintery wood slats with solid ends and a solid divider in the middle... They were about thirty inches long and maybe fourteen by fourteen... Because of the middle divider, they had many uses... You could stack them up and you had many cubby holes rather like some of those plastic stackables you buy today... and then you could put them on the side and have two places to put magazines or whatever... and then—you could take out one end leaving the other end and the middle divider in place and you had an instant chair—really quite sturdy unless you were too chubby to fit in... The ends of these orange crates were always decorated with very fancy full-color labels from the various orchards and these labels are today a sought-after collectors' item... If you were a kid, the uses of the orange crate were unending—you could put the wheels from some old pair of skates on the bottom and make a wagon... you could use two together for a four-room doll house—oh, the list goes on... They were always available from the fruit store... the fruit man was happy to be rid of them... and they had the best attribute of all—they were free!!

Yours, Lulabelle

Grumman Dedicates New Building to Clint Towl

The Grumman Corporation has strong ties with Oyster Bay. They are the company supplying the USS THEODORE ROOSEVELT with the planes that will fly off the aircraft carrier. Their aerospace unit is involved with producing them.

One of the fine people who helped pave the way for our flights into space is Clinton Towl.

Grumman Corporation has dedicated its recently completed headquarters building on Stewart Avenue, Bethpage, to E. Clinton Towl, a founder of the company in 1929 and a former long time resident of Split Rock Road, Syosset.

Towl, known as Clint throughout Grumman, began his career with the company as one of six founders. At that time, Towl and two contractors went to Baldwin, Long Island, to ready Grumman's first plant—a former garage that was in shambles. Two weeks later, he was joined there by Roy Grumman and the other founders.

Once Grumman's initial business ventures got underway—building floats for U.S. Navy aircraft and repairing amphibian airplanes—Towl assisted the treasurer, the late Edmund Foot, on financial matters. He was also Grumman's first paymaster.

Towl eventually became the company's chief businessman, overseeing all areas except engineering and manufacturing. He was elected president in 1960 and chairman in 1966.

In the early 1960s, Towl took part in a gamble. Grumman sought to build the Lunar

E.C. (CLINT) TOWL (L.), former Grumman chairman and a founder of the company, approaches mike after being introduced by John C. Bierwirth, present Grumman chairman. Scene was ceremony at which new Grumman headquarters building was dedicated to Towl. Commemorative plaque is in background.

Module (LM), that landed men on the moon in NASA's Apollo program.

One of NASA's contract requirements was a building devoted exclusively to LM engineering.

Towl gambled that the cost of such a facility—now Grumman's Building 25 at Bethpage—would be money well spent. Building the LM would build Grumman's reputation in the space business.

Towl retired in early 1976 after nine years as chairman of the board. He impressed his co-workers as a gentlemanly manager who demanded a high performance level.

"Of all the people I worked with at Grumman, I have a great deal of admiration for Clint," said Wally Spielman, who retired as chairman of Grumman Allied Industries, a subsidiary, in 1975. "He had great business sense. He was very much concerned about the bottom line—which was necessary to ensure that Grumman could continue to make excellent products."

"He was very much at home in the office," noted George Titterton of Farmingdale, who retired as a senior vice president of Grumman. "To me, it was quite startling when, in the mid-50s, he became a private pilot and bought an airplane. He flew it from Farmingdale to Sea Island, Georgia, where he had a vacation house."

"Clint wasn't the fly-boy, if you will," Titterton continued. "I said to him, 'That's a long way. What do you know about navigation?' He told me, 'Going south, I kept the ocean on my left. Coming back, I kept it on my right.'"

When dedicating the headquarters to Towl, Grumman Board Chairman John Bierwirth also told an anecdote.

"When Grumman was founded, it moved into an old garage," said Bierwirth. "The front of the garage had a large glass window. Founders Roy Grumman, Bill Schwendler and Jake Swirbul sat in the so-called office, right in front of the window. Kids in the neighborhood would come by and they would enjoy making faces through the window at these strange characters on the other side of the glass fooling around with drawings."

"Clint Towl was asked what the heck to

Rapid Weight Reduction

THE GASTRIC BUBBLE

A Device That Makes Dieters Feel Full

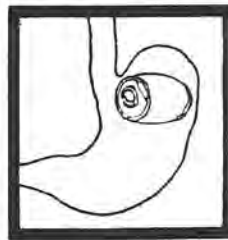

WHILE IT IS UNCLEAR EXACTLY HOW THE BUBBLE REDUCES HUNGER in its recipients, some researchers think the polyurethane sac—which inflates to the size of a small juice can—stimulates receptors that line the stomach, thereby causing a sensation of satiety.

1. Deflated Bubble is inserted into the stomach via a plastic tube.

2. The Bubble is inflated and the tube is removed.

3. The now free-floating Bubble helps to satisfy the feeling of hunger.

4. After four months, the Bubble is deflated and removed, using a tube with a viewing scope.

BY PROMOTING A SENSE OF fullness and by limiting food intake, the gastric bubble can help improve eating habits. It allows the adoption of an effective dietary program that provides appropriate caloric restriction and adequate nutritional intake.

A proper weight reduction program with the Garren-Edwards Gastric Bubble requires nutritional counseling and psychological support to deal with the issues that promote overeating and obesity.

It is recommended that the gastric bubble be placed in individuals whose problems with obesity pose a potential medical threat.

The National Institutes of Health have determined that obesity in excess of 20% of an individual's ideal body weight increases the risk of high blood pressure, heart disease, diabetes and stroke.

Substantial medical data indicates that weight loss can reduce the risk of these conditions.

do about this. His solution was to mix up a heavy paste of Bon Ami and paint it on the window so the kids couldn't see through. It was a great relief for Roy, Jake and Bill."

Bierwirth introduced Towl's family to the attendees and unveiled the plaque at the entrance to headquarters. It reads in part: "As chairman and chief executive officer from 1966 to 1976, he guided the company through a crucial period of transition that required a leader with intellectual strength and courage. He earned the admiration and respect of people throughout the aerospace community and the gratitude of all Grumman people."

Towl said he was pleased at being honored in this fashion. He cautioned Grummanites to pay close attention to maintaining the company's sterling reputation.

"The phrase 'Grumman Ironworks' was not concocted by some P.R. guy. It was said by a pilot," he said, in advertising to the U.S. Navy's affectionate nickname for the company—a nickname referring to the durability of Grumman aircraft.

"All I'm asking you to do is keep that reputation. Do the job just a little bit better than it has to be."

Brotherhood Dinner

At a recent executive meeting of the Long Island Chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Robert R. McMillan, partner of Rivkin, Radler, Dunne & Bayh, and chairman of the NCCJ Brotherhood Awards Dinner announced that the Long Island Chapter's Brotherhood Award will be presented to Mr. George Gimpel, Jamaica, N.Y., Vice President of Dairytest Farms, Inc.; Joseph and Tita Monti of Sands Point, of the Don Monti

Memorial research foundation, and Mr. James L. Larocca, of Huntington, President and CEO of the Long Island Association, Inc. The presentation of these awards will be made on Thursday, Sept. 25 at the Crest Hollow Country Club in Woodbury, at the Long Island Chapter's Dinner/Dance.

The NCCJ presents its Brotherhood Award to outstanding citizens who, without compromise of conscience, serve to promote inter-faith understanding and cooperation.

Purcell Urges Residents To Donate Blood

Nassau County Executive Francis T. Purcell, in response to the current blood shortage, today urged all residents to give a gift of life and donate blood.

"The recovery of a sick child, an accident victim or surgery patient many times depends on blood availability," Purcell said. "By donating blood, you can be assured that when you or someone you love needs a transfusion, there will be a sufficient supply on hand."

According to the Long Island Blood Services, the sole collector, processor and distributor of blood on Long Island, all blood types are needed, but blood types O-, O+, B- and B+ are in urgent demand.

Purcell noted that more than 600 pints of blood are needed each day by Long Island hospitals. A continuous and steady supply is essential because this life-giving product is penishable. Each year, as advances in its use are developed, more blood is needed.

"Donating blood is easy, safe, and takes only about seven minutes," Purcell said. "Anyone between the ages of 17 and 66, who is in good health and weighs at least 110 pounds, can give blood."

According to the Long Island Blood Services, a mistaken fear of AIDS is keeping 50 percent of the eligible donor population from donating. The Long Island Blood Services assures residents that they cannot contract AIDS or any other disease by giving blood. All materials used are sterile, disposable and used only once.

For information on the blood donor site nearest your home or office, please call the Long Island Blood Services in Melville at (516) 752-9320.

"The Last Of The Firsts"
By JAN MARINO

After years and years and years of first-day-of-school days, today, I unregretfully say, I have but one child to give to the nation's school system, and so, unless another child decides to go back to school for another degree (the gods could not be that cruel), this truly is my last first-day-of-school day.

I thought I'd be happy about it, but I didn't think I'd be THIS happy—and being THIS happy has caused tiny little pang of guilt to creep into my being. "You ought to feel a little sad," one pang said. "Don't you remember how wonderful those first-day-of-school days were?" asked another. "What kind of mommy is she anyhow?" one little pang asked another little pang.

All of this has caused me to put a sad expression on my countenance. All of this has forced me to recall other times—like my oldest child's first day of school. He flew down the street and onto the bus, never looking back, never waving to those of us he left behind—all twenty-two of us. Parents. Grandparents. Godparents. Siblings. Friends. The photographers. When he returned home, he said to those of us still assembled at the bus stop, "It was great, I think I'll try it again some time."

Then there was my second child's first day of school. Oh, how he loved his kindergarten teacher.

"I love her so much," he whispered in my ear, as we picked wild flowers for him to bring to his beloved on the second day of school.

"That's so nice," I said.
"How come you said she looked like Olive Oyl?" he said.

"You didn't tell her I said that, did you, dear?"—knowing the answer before I got the answer.

And then came my third child's first day. I combed her hair into two lovely braids and tied the ends with pink ribbons to match her pink dress. "She looks like a doof," my oldest child said. "The kids wear jeans."

"What's a doof?" she asked.
"It's a little girl who looks adorable," I said, stepping on my oldest child's toes.

"It is not," I called my second child from the breakfast table. "It's a kindergarten baby, stick your head in gravy, serve it to the navy. . . and I'm not gonna sit next to her on the bus because her hair looks so stupid all the kids will."

Oh, my yes, those were wonderful days, those first day of school days. They were great. Really great. But I don't think I'll try them again some time.

Guernsey's Sale of Gold Coast Antiques

On September 27, 1986, at 10:00 a.m., Guernsey's will conduct an on-site sale of the contents of the Renaissance Country Club, formerly a Ryan residence, and one of Long Island's Gold Coast estates. This spectacular sale will take place in Roslyn and will consist of fine furniture and furnishings, rare automobiles, architectural artifacts, guns and much more.

"Perhaps the most lavish parties ever held in the pages of American literature were the gajas Jay Gatsby threw at his estate on Long Island's North Shore. It was the 'Gold Coast' when it glittered, a time of elegance and splendor, gilded ceilings, private yachts, castles surrounded by polo fields, marble pavilions, and formal gardens."

In keeping with the elegance of this bygone era, this auction will feature two signed Tiffany lamps, one a favrille glass and bronze table lamp in the labernum design, and the other in a dogwood pattern.

Several fine automobiles will be included in the sale: notably a 1936 Cord Phaeton Grand Classic, winner of numerous first prizes, including 1984 National Senior Award, Hershey and 1985 Grand Classic, Newport; a 1937 Cord Sports Roadster, a 1972 Rolls Royce Silver Shadow, a 1970 Dino Ferrari 308 2+2, a 1955 T-Bird Convertible and a 1960 Chevy Corvette.

Art work in the sale will include English and American seascapes as well as landscapes and equestrian paintings, a fine selection of posters and some magnificent bronzes, from I. Bonheur to Erté.

The auction will consist of a diversified range of other magnificent objects—over 20 superbly crafted guns, superior quality oriental rugs, fine Chiense export porcelain, beautiful silver and superb estate jewelry. A truly exceptional collection of porcelain and glass from the Country Club will be offered.

Walter Murch Exhibited

Thirty paintings and drawings by Walter Murch done during the '40s, '50s, and '60s, along with some of the original objects he used as subjects will be exhibited at the Hillwood Art Gallery at the C.W. Post Campus of Long Island University Dec. 12 through Jan. 30, 1987.

Complementing Murch's idiosyncratic selections and combinations of disparate subjects/objects was his propensity toward suspending objects in mid-air. In one painting a metronome hovers slightly above a shelf; in another instance a pyramid-shaped block is cantilevered out of a corner. These mildly surrealistic overtones in Murch's work indicate an interest in artists associated with surrealism such as Pierre Roy.

Other influences on Murch were the works of certain Old Masters, particularly Chardin. Not only did Murch paint still-life, but he portrayed objects close up along a frontal plane. In this position a clock mechanism or a melon takes on a kind of iconic quality. Murch, like Chardin, elevated mundane items to a level of extraordinary beauty and importance.

Murch pursued the solitary course of an individualist, following the dictates of his own inner impulses. His work is distinguished by elements the artist adapted from historical and modern art in his own quiet, humble manner. As surrealist dealer Julien Levy put it, Murch "was exceptionally shy and modest. As an artist those qualities are part of his greatness."

The Murch exhibition is funded in part by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts, the Institute of Museum Services, the New York State Council on the Arts, and Tambrands, Inc.

The Hillwood Art Gallery is open free to the public weekdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m. (The gallery is closed holidays.) A reception to mark the opening of the exhibition is scheduled for Friday, Dec. 12 from 5 to 8 p.m.

For more information contact Dr. Judy Collichan Van Wagner, director, Hillwood Art Gallery, C.W. Post, Brookville, N.Y. 11548; (516) 209-2788.

Post Campus of Long Island University.

Tickets for this exclusive area appearance of Festival of India are priced at $14 and $12, and for senior citizens, $10.50 and $9. They may be obtained in advance at the Tilles Center box office, (516) 626-3100 or by calling Chargin (212) or (516) 944-9300. For information on group sales call (516) 735-4200.

"Cinderella" debuts for five performances at the Concert Theater at Half Hollow Hills High School East in Dix Hills on September 25. Ticket prices range from $10 to $17.

Brian Bloom

Brian Bloom, who has played Dustin Donovan on CBS-TV's long-running serial "As the World Turns" since April 1983, may finally be remembered in the industry for something other than his huge, jewel-like, crystal-blue orbs: at 15, he is the youngest winner of a Daytime Emmy Award (for 1984-85's Outstanding Juvenile/Young Man). In 1984, he was nominated for Best Young Actor in a Daytime or Nighttime Series by the Sixth Annual Youth In Films Awards.

The strikingly handsome, chestnut-brown-haired actor, born June 30, 1970, in Manhasset, is an honor student at high school on Long Island.

His first professional acting job was as Young Patsy in Sergio Leone's "Once Upon a Time In America," starring Robert DeNiro and James Woods. Brian spent several months working on the film in Canada (Montreal), New York (Williamsburg), and Italy (Venice and Rome). Needless to say, the youngster remembers it as a tremendous experience for him, in every sense of the word.

In the spring of 1984, Brian starred with Allison Smith (of nighttime TV's "Kate & Allie") in an ABC Weekend Special entitled "A Different Twist," and has also been featured in several TV commercials, including Hi-C, Jello Pudding Pops, and Quaker Oats.

Brian hopes to stay on the soap as long as possible and at the same time continue pursuing outside acting projects. He will soon be seen playing a part in the motion picture "Flanagan" (starring Geraldine Page and Philip Bosco) and will also appear in the sci-fi movie "The Stuff," which features his brother Scott in the lead role.

At home with his parents Linda and Richard and two younger brothers (Scott and Mikey), Brian enjoys horseback riding, playing the guitar, swimming (he swam competitively for 4 years), skateboarding, riding his bicycle, and playing basketball and tennis with his family and friends.

A college education is a priority for the rising star, and he looks forward to studying architectural engineering at Yale. Brian would one day like to have his own sound studio, too.

An All Out Jazz Festival

The town of Roslyn will be jumping to the music of the great jazz musicians of the past and present. On Sunday, September 21, 7:30 p.m., you will be able to attend this jazz night for a suggested $10.00 donation, at the Roslyn Presbyterian Church where "Johnny Blowers and the Giants of Jazz" and "Mark Morganelli and the Jazz Forum Allstars" will be appearing.

Johnny goes back to the '30s when he was drumming with Bobby Hackett, Eddie Condon and Bunny Berrigan. Then he moved on to appear with Frank Sinatra, Eddie Fisher, the Tonight Show with Steve Allen and the Paul Whiteman Show. More recently Johnny and his Giants of Jazz toured Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Finland and England where they received rave reviews and performed to standing room only.

Currently playing in and around Manhattan is the popular Mark Morganelli, who graduated from North Shore High School, Glen Head in 1973. He led the Jazz and Rock Ensemble at Bucknell University, founded the Jazz Forum Club and the Riverside Park Summer Series, and has appeared with his Allstars in major cities throughout the country.

Those who attend this great evening of jazz will come away clapping their hands to, "When The Saints Go Marchin' In," as well as "Caravan" and "Tin Roof Blues." For reservations, send suggested donation of $10.00 to Roslyn Presbyterian Church, E. Broadway, Roslyn N.Y. 11576. Further information call 516-MA-7-5139, Tues.-Fri., 10:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m.

RODNEY DANGERFIELD BACK TO SCHOOL

It helps if you belong to the Rodney Dangerfield Fan Club to appreciate this silly outing tailor-made for the bug-eyed comic's familiar routine. Rodney plays a self-made millionaire who joins his son at college where predictable calamities abound. While the comedy is strictly sophomoric, Rodney bats out the one-liners with zeal. Give that guy some respect. Sally Kellerman, Burt Young and Kerth Gordon also are in the cast. (PG-13)

MONA LISA

Stinging, hard-bitten, film noir set among London's sordid world of mobsters, hookers and drug addicts. Although this romantic gangster story is not always clearly defined, the melodrama bristles with savory atmosphere and spell-binding performances. Bob Hoskins unleashes a dynamic, riveting, portrayal of a gruff, but sentimental, small-time hood who ultimately falls in love with a young prostitute (Cathy Tyson) he chauffeurs to assignments. (R)

Q: A few months ago, I started getting SSI payments. A lady at the Social Security office told me my claims would be reviewed from time to time. Does that mean I'm supposed to go back to the Social Security office every so often?

The local Social Security office will notify you when it is time for your case to be reviewed. This is simply a review of your case to make sure you are still eligible for SSI and that your payment amount is correct. You may have to visit the office for an interview, but in some instances, the review can be conducted by phone or mail. It's a good idea to keep checking or saving account statements you get from your bank because you may need them for a review.

Q: My 14-year old son is severely handicapped. He has no income of his own, but my husband works full time, of course, to support us. Does my husband's salary make our son ineligible for SSI payments?

A: Not necessarily. Some of the parent's work income is considered to be the child's. Allowances are made for the parents' work and living expenses and for other children living at home. After these allowances are deducted from the parents' income, the remaining amount is used to decide if the child meets the income requirements. Some of the parents' resources — things they own — also are considered to be the child's. For more information, contact any Social Security office.

The bidding

West Pass North Pass East 1NT South 4♥

Opening lead — queen of spades

The thought processes of most reputable card players are remarkably similar in most situations that occur. It doesn't much matter whether one is playing the role of declarer or defender; the thinking generally always follows the same original lines.

Consider the present case where South was declarer on four hearts and West led the spade queen. Three cards of spades forced declarer to South and all he had with the problem of how to lead twice from dummy toward his diamond and club strength when there was only one club and one diamond.

But the solution to the difficulty was not really all that hard to find. The opening lead and continuation had marked West with the Q-J of spades, and East's opening notrump bid had therefore marked him with every one of the remaining 16 high-card points that were missing. (East-West were playing 16-to-18 point opening notrump bids).

And so, taking full advantage of these valuable clues, South next cashed the A-K of trumps and then led the jack of clubs!

This sequence of plays rendered East helpless. He could now do no better than win the club with the king and return a trump to dummy's jack. Declarer thereupon led the ten of clubs, presenting East with a Hobson's choice.

If he followed low, the lead would remain in dummy and declarer would then take the winning diamond finesse to bring the contract home.

And if East instead elected to cover the ten of clubs with the queen, South would win with the ace and immediately return to dummy by leading the club three to the nine. He would thus once again be able to take the crucial diamond finesse.

All of which goes to show that if you make it a regular practice to keep your eye on the ball and your mind on the task at hand, wondrous things sometimes happen! All you have to do is stop, look and listen!

The Long Island Early Fliers Club

September 23 marks the 75th anniversary of the first official airmail flight in the United States. Earle Ovington, who had been commissioned by the then Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock, was the pilot. The plane was Ovington's own Bleriot-Queen monoplane and the flight covered a distance of approximately seven miles from the Nassau Boulevard Aerodrome in Garden City, to the Mineola Flying Field next to the Mineola Post Office. Mr. Ovington carried the pouch containing 640 letters and 1,280 post cards on his lap and dropped it to the waiting Postmaster. This significant event in the history of aviation having taken place only eight years after the invention of the airplane by the Wright brothers, will be commemorated on Saturday, September 20 with a huge celebration. A beautiful replica of the Bleriot XI monoplane has been built by members of the Long Island Early Fliers Club. These gentlemen spent six years constructing this plane and it will be dedicated at the Village Green in Garden City (corner of Stewart and Hilton Avenue) between the hours of 11:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. on the 20th. The objective of the Early Fliers Club is to record and preserve Long Island's Aviation history. The Cradle of Aviation Museum in Mitchel Field contains many exhibits owned by the Early Fliers. The Bleriot replica will be on display there following the dedication. The Garden City Historical Society, in its continuing effort to preserve the history of the Village of Garden City, is supporting this event. The day will be marked not only by a display of the Bleriot Monoplane but also by a fly-over of antique planes. At the Village Green there will be artifacts, antique cars, entertainment and guest speakers. The President of the Garden City Historical Society, Jeanmarie DiNoto, has written a letter to Congressman Raymond McGrath regarding the issuance of a commemorative stamp marking the 75th anniversary of the first airmail flight. He, in turn, has contacted the Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee asking them to consider the request. The Long Island Early Fliers Club has printed First Day Covers to celebrate this event. Joss Stoff, curator of the Cradle of Aviation Museum did the artwork for these covers which will be available at the celebration. Serving on the Committee for the September 20 celebration are: Lawrence Miccalizzi, President of the Early Fliers Club; John Gilson, Vice-President; Franklin Joseph, Raymond O'Donnell, George Dade, Club members; William Kaiser, former Curator of the Aviation Museum; Mildred Smith, Historian of the Village of Garden City; Robert Schoelle, Garden City Village Administration; Jeanmarie DiNoto, President of the Garden City Historical Society, responsible for publicity for the event; Denise Dunne, Board member of the Garden City Historical Society; Althea Robinson, Executive Director of the Garden City Chamber of Commerce; and Laura Christ, representing the Town of Hempstead.

Busch-Spalding United States Stickball League

There is plenty of excitement around the U.S. Stickball League Headquarters these days because their summer playoffs are winding down this weekend at the Nassau Coliseum. It's the big time for this 139 team league that grew out of East Rockaway on the South Shore. To recap this week's action, three local Long Island Teams were still left in the quarter-finals. The 1985 summer champions, the Woodbury Snowhunters met the 1984 USSBL champions, the Long Beach Rebels and lost 1-0 in ten innings. The lone run scored on an error by Mike Boghosian after a lead-off triple by Dereck Tinsley in the 10th. The run represented the first run let up by the Woodbury team in 49 innings! Long Beach advances to the semis this weekend against Exterior Designs, a team from Commack. They knocked off the Huntington Mustangs 5-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Bill Roundsman. The other local Nassau team was from Plainedge, the Red Devils. Plainedge met the Bayside Bombers at the Bleeker Jr. High in Whitestone, and lost 1-0 in eight innings. Gene Sidor doubled in the lone run in the game following a single and walk. The last quarter-final game of the weekend was between the Seaford Vikings and Throgs Neck Ramblers. The final score was Seaford 1, Throgs Neck 0. This weekend the matchups are Seaford Vikings versus the Bayside Bombers. The other semi-final game is between the Long Beach Rebels and Exterior Designs. Both games start at 3 p.m. Saturday at the Nassau Coliseum. The Championship game is Sunday also at 3 p.m. right after the consolation game at 1 p.m. Early Saturday morning games are All-Star games between the ten summer divisions. Sunday morning festivities include old fashion type stickball between the major New York newspapers. Teams competing for the USSBL Championship will receive trophies, Busch Beer jackets, and $500. from Spalding. Players wishing to join the 1987 stickball season should call Ron Babineau, Commissioner, at 516-764-6307.

BIG DRIVE. Mary Ann Hoyt of Hauggpauge, N.Y., accepts grand prize from Anheuser-Busch vice president of sales Joseph Martino for winning the long drive category at the Michelob Long Island Classic. The two-day golf outing at Bethpage Park featured more than 1,200 players. Joining in the ceremony is Stephen Spry, of Anheuser-Busch wholesaler Harbor Distributing.

Bodybuilding Nationals

The American Natural Bodybuilding Conference, Inc. announces that it will be presenting the 3rd annual Long Island Natural Bodybuilding Championship on Saturday, September 27, 1986 in the auditorium of Huntington (L.I.) High School. The A.N.B.C. is a non-profit organization created in 1984 to encourage and promote the growth of drug-free bodybuilding. With A.N.B.S. headquarters in Long Island, drug-free and tested bodybuilding competitions take place throughout the American Northeast under its supervision. The Long Island contest is being produced to determine which natural bodybuilding men and women of the metropolitan area will qualify for the national contest; the latter (called the United States Naturals) will be presented at the Adams Playhouse of Hofstra University on November 8, 1986.

The Long Island contest will be presented in two parts. Prejudging will begin at 12:00 noon; doors open at 11:00 a.m. The admission is $5.00. The evening performance, which consists of posing routines, will begin at 7:30 p.m.; doors open at 6:00 p.m. The admission is $10.00.

Tickets can be purchased at showtime in the lobby of the Huntington High School auditorium or by contacting the A.N.B.C. at 516-261-3281. Huntington High School is located on the corner of Oakwood & McKay Rds., just south of Huntington village.

The contest will be held for teenagers, women, men and masters (over 35).

DON MATTINGLY, who again is making a strong bid for Most Valuable Player in the American League, gave Anton Papers' photographer a courtesy pause. The photo was taken outside the batting cage during Florida spring practice.

Sports Talk

By DICK GORDON

A little less than a year ago the sports writers of Nassau County got together for their annual effort at selecting an all-scholastic eleven that would be truly representative of the county's best in the schoolboy gridiron realm. The meeting was a hot one, with 90 percent of the discussion centering about the boy most fit for the quarterback position.

There were those who argued for Morris Tafuro, Westbury's fine little signal-caller. Other men were of the opinion that Baldwin's Gerald McHugh was the man for the spot, while still others thought that no better field general than Gerald Keahon, Malverne, had shown throughout the season. The writer, along with Joe Heim, Bob Stirrat and Jack Schultz, had had a glimpse of still another quarterback in action, and even though he had played with the losing team in the game we witnessed, his play was outstanding.

His name was Martin Rennie, field general for Hicksville's Orange and Black clad forces who punted well, passed like an expert, ran better than the average player and did some creditable blocking, and, in addition to all this, he was calling the signals. We had seen him play against Lawrence in a game won by the Buff and Blue, 13 to 0, but in our humble opinion he was the outstanding player on the field.

Arguments raged fast and furious. Friendships of long standing were in danger of being smashed to bits as the scribes discussed the matter of the quarterback position. Finally the entire group was convinced that Rennie was the man for the spot although some agreed reluctantly.

At the outset of this season Rennie appeared in the uniform of the Hicksville A. A.—as a quarterback. He saw action in the first four games played by the defending champions and performed in great style, but Sunday against Westbury he really went to town and at the conclusion of the contest it was the unanimous opinion of the writers present that Rennie was indeed the man for that all-scholastic quarterback post in 1936.

No quarterback in semi-professional football ever worked a better game than Rennie did on Sunday. His selections of plays was uncanny. He knew his fellow backs, Pete Darmohray, Ed Carthy and the speedy Harold Mayer, and he knew his own ability. He always called on the many ready to do a job and nine out of every ten plays called worked to advantage. When the going got tough on the ground, Rennie never hesitated to call a pass play, confident in his ability to "hang the leather on a nail." And did those passes click?

The piece de resistance, however, came after Hicksville had scored its third touchdown to come within one-point of knotting the count. Here was the clutch play for the extra point. Two previous attempts had failed. As the teams lined up for the all-important point, the crowd watched with bated breath what play would Rennie call. Hicksville came out of the huddle and Rennie went back to a deep tail-back position. "He's going to try a dropkick" was the word passing through the stands. And what a dropkick, not quite through the middle, but high and end over end, the ball crossed between the uprights.

Yes, Martin Rennie covered himself with glory Sunday, and the sports writers, who were subjected to quite a bit of criticism because they named him to the all-scholastic quarterback position, should indeed be thankful for his fine performance, for it made us look pretty good.

Accounts of the game on this page are presented as they were written 49 years ago.

In the days when only the eleven best eleven were chosen, All-Scholastic Dick Rennie won the quarterback selection for guiding Hicksville High to the North Shore Championship.

Hicksville — the smallest school in the county — carried a 6-0-1 record into the final game of the season. It was the first night game under lights for the Orange and Black. It was played in hostile Lawrence's Horn Memorial Stadium.

The home team was known as the Golden Tornado. Tricky was the hallmark since Lawrence used an all yellow ball which blended deceptively into the background of the golden uniform.

As astute Manager Carmen Millevolt glamorized semi-pro when he discarded the old dark, dreary canvas uniforms and outfitted the team in white silk uniforms. In 1930 it was revolutionary.

New York papers reported on the Field Club extensively. The story of a Hicksville victory ran in the "New York Times" next (and in equally prominent type) to Princeton's refusal to meet Stanford in the Rose Bowl.—HJF

Conference Leaders Battle to 19 - All Deadlock

Watched by a partisan crowd of about 6,000 rabid football enthusiasts, the Hicksville A. A. and Westbury Fire Department elevens battled to a 19-all deadlock, Sunday, in their important North Shore Football Conference encounter. The game was played on the Westbury High School gridiron.

Although the outcome of the game might have been unsatisfactory, to those who wished to see the team standings affected materially, the contest itself was one replete with thrills. It contained good football and bad football and above all proved that a game is neither won nor lost until the final whistle is blown.

Few indeed were the fans who would have given even a plugged nickel for Hicksville's chances following the first 16 minutes of play. At the conclusion of this time, or after the first play of the second quarter, to be exact, the score favored Westbury, 19 to 0, and there was apparently no stopping the charges of the wily Tom Fitzgerald. Those present, however, reckoned without the resourcefulness of Martin Rennie and the rest of Hicksville's pony backfield, for this quartet did a job of offensive play the likes of which have not been seen around these parts in many years.

Pasquarelli Scores

The first quarter was hardly started when Westbury had a touchdown. It was made by Jim Pasquarelli on a two-yard plunge and followed a brief drive that started when Westbury took a Hicksville punt that failed to get out of the visitor's half of the field. A pass, Kilbride to Red Galvin, went to the Hicksville 17-yard stripe and then Pasquarelli went off-tackle to the two. Midway through the quarter the home team scored again. This time Kilbride passed to Gordon Hawthorne, who caught the ball in the end zone. Johnny Coll added the extra point.

Just before the period ended, Kilbride passed to Galvin, who went to Hicksville's three-yard marker before being brought down. A plunge netted a yard as the quarter ended. At this point of the game Hicksville inserted its pony backfield. On the first play of the second period Pasquarelli crashed off left guard for another touchdown.

Mayer Runs 55 Yards

Westbury kicked off, the ball going out of bounds and into Hicksville's possession on its own 35-yard line. Two running plays failed to make any appreciable yardage and then Rennie passed down the alley to Harold Mayer, who took the ball on his own 45-yard marker, outsmarted two potential tacklers and romped 55 yards for a touchdown. There were no further scoring threats in this half.

Shortly after the third quarter started Hicksville again got down into Westbury territory after a short drive. This time Rennie, who was the outstanding player on the field, delved into his bag of tricks and pulled out the antiquated, but highly effective, "Statue of Liberty" play. The play took place on about the Westbury 35-yard line on fourth down. Mayer took the ball out of Rennie's hand and circled left end for a 32-yard gallop that put the ball on Westbury's three-yard stripe. Rennie, back in kick formation on this play, faked the kick beautifully. Mayer carried over from the three for the second Black and White touchdown. On the last play of the fourth quarter Rennie passed to Frank Pubins, who reversed his field and scampered 40 yards for the touchdown that made the score 19 to 18. Rennie dropkicked the tying point.

Hicksville had another opportunity to score midway through the fourth quarter, when it got possession of the ball on Westbury's 25-yard stripe. The veteran Black and White backfield, in the game at this point, could not get going and the threat ended.

Hicksville Beats Lake Grove In 4-2 Soccer Win

By A. BLICKER
The Hicksville Shamrocks, 1974 boys travelling soccer team, fielding five new members, opened their fall season with a bang this past Sunday at Cantiague Park, soundly defeating Lake Grove 4-2. The Shamrocks completely controlled the contest, with the first half ending 1-1. The second half saw Hicksville come on like gangbusters, scoring three unanswered goals before Lake Grove put in a second goal.

The front line of Eric Blicher, Chris Doyle, Ed Jacobson and Junior Tomlinson featured crisp passing and numerous on-goal shots. They were ably assisted by center half Matthew Pordum and halfbacks David Lovato and Domenick Perillo, who made their presence felt in both offensive and defensive zones. Brian Harkins had a strong game at stopper and Jason Kingsley was equally brilliant at sweeper. Chuck Oliver, Carl Rice, Christian Friedrich and Greg Sczumawski were in control at full back. Chris Koetter put in strong time at halfback, fullback and sweeper. Brian Pine had his usual exceptional game as goalkeeper, including some beautiful challenges away from the goal. Gregg Gruosso, recovering from a broken leg, sustained in the spring season, lent moral support from the sidelines.

The first goal was set up by an impressive digout and pass from David Lovatto to Chris Doyle, who fed striker Eric Blicher, right in the middle, for him to put the shot past Lake Grove's goalie. The second goal came from a Blicher cross to Chris Doyle. Junior Tomlinson, one of the Shamrocks new five, fed a brilliant lead to Ed Jacobson, who took it in on a breakaway. David Lovatto then continued his fantastic score.

Congratulations to the Shamrocks, especially the five new players, who all contributed to the outstanding team effort. Congrats as well to Coach Herb Prodom and Assistant Glen Kingsley for the impressive beginning to the new season.

Hicksville's young and inexperienced soccer team cast its imprint, Monday, on the 1986 soccer campaign with a Mike Brigandi goal, late in the second overtime period to tie bitter rival, Oceanside, 1-1.

Coach Ed Moeller's club bounced back from an opening conference loss to powerful South Side, 2-0.

The Rockville Center school nailed heralded Garden City 6-0 in its second outing.

Oceanside sank the hopes of Hicksville home fans with a goal 16 seconds from the end of the second five minute overtime.

Only four seconds remained when Brigandi headed in the dramatic goal to create the stalemate.

It was a bruising physical contest in which Oceanside clearly had the power edge. Hicksville played without four starters involving various reasons.

Goalie Glenn Kingsley turned back 13 shots on the net. Mario Girigliano had a splended game as defensive sweeper.

Hicksville plays two away games Thursday (18th) at Syosset and Berner (Saturday 9/20) 10:00 a.m. at Massapequa.

Tuesday (9/23) Massapequa at home 4:00 p.m. Thursday Garden City (9/25) 4:00 p.m.

Oceanside defeated South Side, 1-0, in its opening league game.
