Temporary Classrooms Demolished at Junior High

By RITA LANGDON

The Hicksville Junior High School temporary classrooms were demolished a few weeks ago after the board of education decided that the 24 portable classrooms, which had been in existence for 26 years, were no longer needed.

The classrooms, which were in a 'Y' shape, with a connecting hall, were torn down because of declining enrollment and economic efficiency. According to William Becker, director of facilities for the school district, "When the junior high was converted into the Middle School (the ninth grade will be attending high school in the fall) the population dropped." Becker explained that the temporaries were built for 10 years of use. He said that the classrooms "served well" for the 20 years they have been in use, but they were falling apart and no longer suited the school's purpose. The last students to be taught in the temporaries were the seventh graders.

Becker said that 20,000 square feet of the area where the classrooms were located will be used for faculty parking and the land left over after that will be used for a soccer field.

The rubbish remaining from the demolished rooms is currently in the process of being cleaned up. "It will take two to three weeks to finish the walls and make adjustments," Becker said.

The portable classrooms were originally attached to permanent Hicksville elementary schools, but in 1961 were transported on trailers and assembled at the junior high because the junior high's enrollment grew.

The reason the portables came into existence at the grade schools was that enrollment during the 1950's grew astronomically. After some time, the board of education decided that they should close the classrooms down because the fire insurance rates were too high. Even though round-the-clock guards were posted at the classrooms, the insurance was still costly.

"Reopen Temps, PTA Urges"

... was the headline for the May 23, 1987 issue of the Mid-Island Herald. The Old Country Road School PTA and the Hicksville Citizens for Better Government in Student Affairs, as separate organizations, urged the board of education to rescind its order on April 29 to close the temporaries.

The board of education believed that the classrooms were a fire hazard. By a vote of four to two, the board decided to permit the use of 12 temporary classrooms—four at Lee Avenue and eight at Old Country Road—for it was proven by the Hicksville Fire Department chief, B. Medard Offenloch and two deputy county fire inspectors that the classrooms were "safe for student occupancy." It was discovered that the rooms could be emptied of students in 20 to 40 seconds due to the fact that each classroom had an individual exit to the outdoors.

A BULLDOZER DEMOLISHES one of the 24 portable classrooms at the Hicksville Junior High School after the Hicksville Board of Education decided that the classrooms were no longer economical. Declining enrollment was also a factor in the decision.

OOPS... THEY GOOFED! Construction workers repair a wall that was accidentally knocked down by a bulldozer in the process of destroying the temporary classrooms at the junior high school.

THE CLEANING-UP PROCESS has begun for the debris leftover from the demolishing of the portable classrooms at the junior high school. The job should take two to three weeks to complete.

$40,000 Worth Of Fireworks Recovered In Hicksville

Over $40,000 worth of fireworks have been recovered in Hicksville, after an Eighth Precinct police officer observed a sale of fireworks in North Massapequa at 1:15 p.m. on July 4.

According to the Eighth Precinct report, Police Officer Rich Buga observed Michael Kraemer, 19, of 107 Britte Lane, Hicksville, allegedly sell fireworks to Robert Richiuti, 27, of 99 Roundtree Drive, Plainview, on Hicksville Road on North Massapequa. Officer Buga followed Richiuti, placed him under arrest and transported him to the Eighth Precinct for questioning. Det. Neil Varicchio, of the Eighth Squad, received a call from Kraemer who consented to a search of Rent-A-John at 389 New South Road, Hicksville. Police at the scene recovered in excess of 250 cartons of fireworks. The Bomb Squad responded to the scene to supervise the removal and proper disposal of the fireworks.

Both subjects were charged with Unlawful Dealing With Fireworks and were released on appearance tickets, to return to court on August 11, 1987.

Two Hicksvillites Chosen

Two young performers that are to be watched are Jennifer Kropac and Christina Dunalewicz, both of Hicksville. They were chosen to be among the 500 out of 8,000 students that were reviewed to participate in the New York State Summer School of the Arts during July and August. Created by the N.Y. the program was the first of its kind in the nation and today is a model for developing programs throughout the country. Jennifer was chosen as one of the 65 of the State's most gifted young dancers for the School of Dance which brings together an internationally acclaimed artistic staff in cooperation with the N.Y. City Ballet and the Saratoga Performing Arts Center.

The School of Media Arts is held in cooperation with SUNY Buffalo and Christina will be provided with instruction along with 54 other students in the areas of film, photography, video, creative sound, computer graphics and holography.

TO YOUR HEALTH

By RICHARD H. BLAU, M.D.

Lyme Arthritis - The Arthritis of the Northeast

Lyme arthritis was named after Lyme, Connecticut, where it was originally discovered in 1975. This disorder usually occurs in the summer or early fall, and can affect people of all ages and either sex. Although found in other areas, many cases are concentrated in the northeastern United States.

For many years the cause of this arthritis was not known. Recently an organism, called a spirochete, has been isolated and is believed to produce the disease. This spirochete is carried by a tick, and transmitted to people after a tick bite.

The arthritis is often manifested by joint swelling, pain, redness, and tenderness. This arthritis may travel from one joint to another. The larger joints of the body, such as the knees, are often involved.

This disease affects not only the joints, but also the skin. An enlarging rash typically occurs, often at the site of the tick bite. This rash can be associated with chills, fever, weakness, headache, and a stiff neck. In the more severe forms of the disease, both the heart and the brain can be affected. Left untreated, recurrent attacks lasting for several years may occur.

Because of the strong association with arthritis, the disease is often diagnosed and treated by rheumatologists (arthritis specialists). The diagnosis is made on the basis of a careful medical history and physical examination. Recently a blood test has been developed which has been very helpful in confirming the diagnosis.

Although the joint symptoms can initially be treated with anti-inflammatory medication, the spirochete appears to be very sensitive to antibiotics. In fact, tetracycline or penicillin have been known to eliminate the symptoms of Lyme disease.

Arthritis strikes one out of seven people. Learn the facts. Call for your complimentary copy of "The Joint Approach - An Arthritis Overview."

Dr. Richard H. Blau is a board-certified Rheumatologist practicing in Manhasset, 516-482-6822 and Westbury, 516-997-6823.

Legionnaires' Log

By GREG BENNETT
Charles Wagner Post #421, Hicksville

Our thanks to our members who have paid their yearly dues. Remember to mark down what war you served in on the dues return card. By reading return forms, I see we have members who served in World War II and Korea. We salute you.

MEMBERSHIP: On the back of the dues form is a space to write down the name and address of a veteran you recommend for Legion membership. Our organization is only as dynamic as its' members are active. We need new members and new ideas from old members. Take a few hours and come to your meetings. They are a source of information about veteran news and legislation. Remember we serve our comrades and community.

PROJECT LIBERTY SHIP: An effort is underway to preserve the Liberty Ship "John W. Brown" as a Merchant Marine Memorial Museum in the New York harbor area. Of the 2,700 plus Liberty Ships built during World War II only the "Jeremiah O'Brien" on the West Coast and the "Brown" on the East Coast remain unchanged. The rest are scrapped or converted into barges, reefs or fish processing plants. For information write: Project Liberty Ship, P.O. Box 3356, Rockefeller Center Station, New York, N.Y. 10185.

This column honors vice president George Bush, who logged 1,228 flying hours, flew 58 combat missions and made 126 carrier landings as a Navy aviator during World War II. Bush, the youngest commissioned Navy pilot at age 18, earned the Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal with 3 stars.

NEXT WEEK: we'll have Department of N.Y. Convention News and more about our Bicentennial Constitution Essay Contest Winners.

MEETING: Our next meeting will be Tuesday, July 28. Please attend to support your comrades.

Successful selling is a piece of cake!

True
False

Of course the answer is FALSE! Successful selling in the highly competitive business world today is a tough, demanding profession that requires hard work, dedication and skill.

That's why so many men and women in selling take the Dale Carnegie Sales Course. It gives them a better understanding of the psychology of modern, motivational selling. It brings them up-to-date with the newest and most effective methods and techniques of their profession.

It is a highly organized sales training process from beginning to end, from prospecting to getting the order. It shows salespeople how to get the information they need before making the first call. They learn how to better organize their time so they can come face-to-face with more qualified prospects during a selling day. They develop more information, more convincing sales presentations based on the true wants and needs of the prospect.

The Dale Carnegie Sales Course doesn't change anyone's basic personality. It is designed to help salespeople maintain their own personality and approach. It expands and develops, it reinforces and refines those existing qualities to a higher, more effective degree by incorporating the proven ideas and techniques of the course.

Most of the graduates of this sales training program report that tangible results come quickly in the form of measurable increases in sales, even before the course is finished.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed, (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity. We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only. We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

Memories...

...Visits to Grandma's House

By LYDIA SARLI DUFFY

It was one of those lovely days in June, pleasantly warm with a gentle, soft breeze blowing. That day I had a visit from my granddaughter, Lauren (just turned two). I love her company and forget my age when she's around. She loves watering the flowers which means the watering can must be filled many, many times. Her fascination with all of the outdoor equipment in the garden house is a delight to me. While she was looking at everything, I remembered my visits to Grandma's when I was a child.

Grandma and Grandpa moved to Hicksville in the early 1920's. It wasn't long before their small plot of land was turned into a "little farm." My brother Vin and I had such fun checking out the goats and imitating the sounds they made. We would watch the ducks waddling in the mud, quacking noisily as they waddled. I had a special liking for the chickens as they scratched in the dirt for seed while the roosters strutted about. There were times when Grandma had baby chicks and we looked forward to holding those little balls of fluff. We were warned not to squeeze them and we held them ever so gently. In the early years, Grandma even had a cow!

Grandma raised all kinds of vegetables (corn, tomatoes, beets, squash, herbs, etc.) and lots of flowers.

One of the best things at Grandma's house was the outside pump with the long handle. On a hot, summer's day, it was a treat to drink that clean, clear, ice-cold water. How times have changed!

Over the years, the "little farm" disappeared but it was always fun to visit Grandma's.

I am certain Lauren will have as many happy memories of her visits to Grandma's as I have of mine.

Editor's Note: If anyone has recollections or memories of life in Hicksville, please send stories to Hicksville Illustrated News, 132 East Second St., Mineola, N.Y. 11501.

Abandoned House and Car Considered a Disgrace

Hicksville News Community Service

Depicted in this photo essay is an abandoned house on Jerusalem Avenue, south of Alexander Avenue, just before the border of the Town of Hempstead.

Appalling conditions have been in existence for almost a decade to the frustration of a large number of Hicksville taxpayers and homeowners in the area. Residents are astounded that almost 10 years of appeals to all levels of government officials have not resulted in a clean-up. A few years back, there were a number of abandoned cars. Those were removed after a torrent of complaints, but the desertion practice has started again.

In an incorporated village, this condition would not be tolerated. Garden City, Glen Cove, Mineola and Westbury have in place laws, wherein the town fathers order the removal of hazardous autos, houses or buildings, and place a lien on the tax rolls for the cost of the clean-out. If the registered land owner-individual or corporation does not pay for the taxes, including the removal expenses, the property goes up on a tax sale.

Elected officials have the correct preception that the "Hamlet" of Hicksville is so big and disjoined that one section of the area is not concerned with the problems of the others. There is a growing feeling, which some are trying to galvanize into total civic action, that concern and involvement are needed to maintain the property values and environmental life-style for the good of all.

The excuse that certain conditions are the state's responsibility, or the county's, or the township's, must no longer stand in the way of the safety, health and pride of Hicksville. The governmental body, with the greatest authority, should act and the other agencies should bring pressure and influence to see that it does so.

With a Little Help

Communicating When You Can't Talk

By SUZANNE LUNT

Never, never again should there be any such thing as a person not being able to communicate because of not being able to speak. There are too many fascinating devices around to help anybody who's had a stroke, laryngectomy, etc. Devices like the following: The Typewriter That Talks For You: This tiny computer both displays your message and says it out loud as you type it! Called Lifestyle Personal Communicator, it's 8 1/2" x 3 1/2", 8 oz., has a typewriter keyboard, costs $1,795 from Garid, 10180 Viking Dr., Eden Prairie, MN 55344, (800) 328-4827 and can even be programmed to make phone calls and register "yes" and "no" replies!

The Portable Printer: Another tiny typewriter the size of a pocket calculator, this prints your message on tape rather than speaking it. It rivets people's attention wherever it goes, weighs 8 oz., and is known at The Canon Communicator. $400 includes it, its leather case, neck-strap and 20 rolls of tape from One Canon Plaza, Lake Success, NY 11042, (516) 488-6700.

The Artificial Larynx: This device, if held against your throat as you try to speak, will produce understandable speech over the phone or face-to-face via electronic vibrations. Contact

AT&T Special Needs Ctr., 20001 Rts. 46, Parsippany, NJ 07054, (800) 233-1222 or (800) 833-3232 for TDD.

Communication Boards or Stickers: These are 1 1/2" colored squares depicting family, friends, emotions, food, clothing, daily situations, emergencies, etc. The stickers come in sets of 60 to 600 ($7-140) to use on communication boards ($13-116), notebooks or a clear acrylic Eye-Gazing Board (see below). The Eye-Gazer: Prop this 15" x 19" transparent board between you and another person. Space stickers wide apart all around the board. By watching eye movements, it's easy to tell what message the other person is gazing at.

Computer Adapters: 660 small (5/8") stickers are designed to fit most computer keyboards. You hit one or two keys to call up preprogrammed words or phrases rather than having to type the whole message. Perfect if you can't talk but can hit the food key for the screen to display, "Hey, I'm hungry."

Boards, stickers, Eye-Gazer (with stand) and computer symbols are all available from Imaginat, P.O. Box 1868, 25680 Oakwood St., Idyllwild, CA 92349, (714) 659-5905. Ask for their brochure.

Even when it's tough to talk, it still can be easy—and fun—to communicate.

A Letter from Lulabelle...

...I have just purchased a set of glasses—three sizes—one dozen each...That's thirty-six glasses...and, would you believe?!...each glass has three labels—one for the size, one for the brand, and one for the price—and that's one hundred and eight labels!!...Now, no one would mind labels if this were the old days when you put all the glasses in a big pan of warm water and all the labels soon floated to the top—but, is that the case today—oh, no, far from it...all these labels are fastened with a glue impervious to almost all of the possible ways of removing—scratch them off?...all that does is fill your fingernails with a rubber-cement-like material which still leaves bits of label firmly affixed and floating in a circle of grayish blur...soaking is the worst thing to do...and then there's nail polish remover—it never works for me but it does ruin my manicure...someone said Lestoil was good but I think it glued the labels tighter than ever...It is so maddening, especially when there exists in the world this wonderful fixative that comes off cleanly and is able to refasten again—the way we do with these handy new note pads that can stick on walls or whatever...and, then, speaking of fasteners—let's discuss those plastic "wires" which link the price tag and manufacturer's label to our garments nowadays...it's easy to cut the plastic and remove the labels—but here we go finding the little pointed end which is fastened deep within the overcast seam...there is no way to find it short of ripping the seam open—so you decide to leave it—it doesn't seem to be doing any harm...Ah, ha, that's what you think!!...just you wait until you are in a place where it will be embarrassing to try to find what is scratching so badly in some hard-to-reach area—then you'll find that pesky little sharp end scratching and itching and driving you wild...As I've said before, I'm not sure I can stand progress!!

Yours, Lulabelle

What the Politicians are Saying...

JOHN W. MATTHEWS, CHAIRMAN OF THE NASSAU DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE, has pointed out that Upstate New York ratepayers (of the Telephone Company) have for years been able to call at local rates for much greater distances, while Long Island ratepayers have to pay additional costs for calls placed only a few miles from their home. Under the new plan proposed by New York Telephone Company, callers within the City of New York will be able to place "local calls" anywhere within the five boroughs including such distances as from Queens to Staten Island. But if Nassau phone users call into neighboring Suffolk County, there would be an additional cost. "This is totally unacceptable," said Mr. Matthews.

Legislation that would encourage municipalities to fly the POW/MIA flag outside municipal buildings was supported by ASSEMBLYMAN CHARLES J. O'SHEA. This measure would provide flags to interested counties, cities, and villages.

The New York Yankees will make a minimum of 1,000 box seats available in an alcohol-free section of Yankee Stadium beginning after the July All Star Break, according to an announcement by DEPUTY SENATE MAJORITY LEADER JOHN R. DUNNE and Yankee officials. The family section seating will be located on the second deck loge level beyond the first base line and will be available for each of the 33 Yankee home games. Seats will be priced at $10.00 and will be available by mail or on the day of game sale basis at specially marked ticket booth at Gate 6.

NASSAU COUNTY EXECUTIVE THOMAS S. GULOTTA has announced that unemployment in the county reached a record low of 2.9% in May.

For the next six years, New York State-chartered banks and retail stores that issue credit cards must offer a card that includes a "grace period" during which consumers may pay an outstanding balance without an interest charge under legislation sponsored by SENATOR RALPH J. MARINO and approved by the state senate.

REPRESENTATIVE NORMAN F. LENT AND U.S. SENATOR ALFONSE D'AMATO have announced that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) has awarded the Grumman Corporation an $84 million contract for engineering of the manned space station program. The space station would orbit 200 miles above earth and hold a crew of six to eight people. NASA selected Grumman's design for a structure resembling a radio tower with solar panels. The design was chosen because it can be easily expanded.

GOVERNOR MARIO M. CUOMO has welcomed the Martin Luther King, Jr. Time Capsule at the Empire State Plaza in Albany. The capsule, which is touring the nation, is a seven foot long, 500-pound aluminum tube containing artifacts and memorabilia pertaining to the life of Dr. King. It will be buried in Washington, D.C. for 100 years. Governor Cuomo said, "When this time capsule is opened 100 years from now, the people will look back at our time and wonder how we could have been so narrow-minded and foolish as to judge people by the color of their skin or their national or ethnic origin."

Galileo Lodge News

By Joe Lorenzo

PRESIDENT JOE GIORDANO'S MESSAGE:

'It is more important to thank God for blessings received than to pray for them beforehand.' Old Saying

As soon as the shadows of late summer fade into the distance, we notice that the Galileo Lodge's Anniversary-Scholarship Dance looming large on the entertainment horizon. The date is Saturday, September 19, at the Galileo Lodge. Naturally we hope that you put this date on your 'must attend' list, and the 'whys' are plentiful. For the price of $35 per person, you will be offered a delicious cocktail hour, a sumptuous dinner with all the trimmings, beer, soda, coffee and cake, set-ups, unlimited liquor and music for your dancing and listening pleasure. I might add here that the musical aggregation of Richard Lagnese plays the most delightful music this side of town. There are some special aspects of this dance worth mentioning, and they are that the birth of the Galileo Lodge will be honored, the Louise E. Massiello Memorial Scholarship Awards will be distributed and ex-president of the Galileo Lodge, Pete Massiello, will be honored. So as you can see, this dance is as special to the Galileo Lodge as it is important. Skip Monteforte will 'chair' this dance, ably assisted by co-chairmen Rocco Lombardo and Armand Del Cioppo. Because of these aspects connected with this dance, all members of the Galileo Lodge and Ladies Auxiliary are asked to attend in strength. An Ad Journal will also be featured.

The Galileo Lodge picnic is scheduled for Sunday, August 9, at Eisenhower Park, starting about 8 a.m. and ending around late evening. Needless to mention that this picnic is an outdoors activity, and if the weather permits, it should be an extremely pleasant one. There will be plenty of food and refreshments—the kind usually found at picnics and which aids immeasurably to the proceedings. There will also be plenty of leisure and relaxation for those who just enjoy a little peace and solitude, but for the physical types, there will be enough outdoor activity to keep them busy. If you are looking forward to a pleasant day with the Galileo Lodge and its members, then here is another activity which should be on your 'must attend' list. Oh, and I forgot to mention the amiable environment brought on by the Galileo Lodge organization.

Since I was unable to attend Italian Night last Monday at Eisenhower Park, I feel a little better as I report that on Friday, October 9, the Galileo Lodge will hold a very special Italian Night of its own. So all those who missed this past Italian Night should not despair the one held in October will give everyone a chance to participate. Italian Night is ethnic in composition, so it stands to reason that everything that is associated with it will be Italian. As I have previously stated, yes, we are Americans, but we can't deny the composition of our blood which cries out for the perpetuation and preservation of its ideals, traditions, experiences and way of life. As I have often stated, it appears that ethnicity is a strong part of our lives these days. All nationalities want recognition and it stands to reason that so do Italians. So keep attuned with this column and receive more details as the time draws near for this very special night.

BUSINESS AND FINANCE

The Investor's Corner

By JOSEPH P. FREY, Ph.D.

Capital Gains Is Not Dead

I keep hearing about the death of capital gains. Not true, not true at all. And for you to believe that it is dead can cost you dearly in the kind of stock market that we have now.

I tell nothing out of school when I say that the market has risen and risen to new heights. Almost everyone who breathes knows that.

Almost everyone knows that we have a new tax game in town. One of the provisions of that is that capital gains is gone. That part is true...next year.

If you have a gain on a stock or any security, when you sell can effect your tax rate. Deciding when to sell can change your rate: 28, 33, 35, 38.5 or you pick one. It is a combination of your tax bracket, and how long you held the stock.

As most of you know, I am in favor of the 1986 tax law because eventually the whole process will be more simple. However, between now and 1990, you could go crazy with the complexities. The capital gains rules are no different.

All long term capital gains this year-things held longer than 6 months and 1 day-will be taxed at no more than 28%. This is next year's top tax rate. (I know that there is a 5% surcharge but the top tax rate is still 28%)

The problem comes in when you want to sell before the six month period. Sell too early and you get clobbered this year. How much of a clobbering?

Assume that you have a nice gain in the JPF Corporation these last 3 months. You are nervous, you have heard rumors that things are not so cozy at JPF. You want out. Your gain is $5,000. This is a lot of money to you. You want to cash in. If you are in the top tax bracket, the cost is $1925 (38.5%) to Uncle Sam. Do not forget cousins Mario and Eddie if you are in New York. They are a lovely extra.

Hold the stock, somehow, for 3 more months and the federal tax bill is $1400, $525 less. At this point, you have several options.

1) Run for luck and hope the price does not drop enough to wipe out the tax difference.

2) You can sell and pay at your full 1987 tax rate.

3) You can use a golden oldy, quite legal strategy, and "sell against the box." Sounds ominous, doesn't it? It isn't, it is really quite simple.

To sell against the box all you have to do is to place your stock with a broker, borrow someone else's stock. Then you sell the borrowed stock, keeping your own. After you have held the stock long enough to qualify for capital gains, you use your own stock to pay back the person from whom you borrowed the stock.

In effect you have down what Wall Street calls a hedge. It is quite safe because any gains or losses in either of the short, (borrowed) stock or the long (your) stock will exactly offset each other. The is the long and the short to it. Sorry for the pun, but I could not resist.

You must borrow different stock. Otherwise it is a sale of your own stock.

You cannot use this strategy to delay a gain from one year to the next year. That is an IRS no-no.

All of this might seem like a lot of hokus-pokus, but that's Wall Street.

As a parting thought, this is quite a nice strategy for a business executive to use if they believe that the market price of the company stock is going to fall. The president will not find out that you did it because you will never sell the stock you got from your stock options. You will go into the market and buy the stock to replace the borrowed stock. You will still maintain your position, your stock, and your wealth.

Isn't that what we all want to do?

He and his wife, an assistant instructor in the Communications Department, HKNC, who is also deaf-blind, live in their own home in Port Washington.

Home Repair Grants and Subsidized Loans

Most homeowners are unaware that regardless of their income there are federal, state and local programs that will help them repair and remodel their homes.

Government at all levels recognizes that neighborhoods are the basis of life in our country. When a neighborhood deteriorates, many things happen both physically and socially. When the homes look shabby, a neighborhood seems more attractive to crime and criminals. An area in decline is like a spreading cancer. As homes become shabby looking and in need of maintenance, the residents lose their desire to keep up the neighborhood. Streets become receptacles for trash, schools lower their standards and very quickly the selling price of the homes in the area drops sharply. This accelerates the cycle of degeneration.

In order to keep and maintain the nation's housing and neighborhoods, government at all levels have programs to give homeowners money (that does not have to be repaid) for repairs or to lend them money at below market levels or at no interest. In many areas utility companies will either do energy conservation work free or at low cost and in other places will lend homeowners money at no interest to pay the contractor of their choice for the necessary work. In addition there are tax incentives to promote efficient energy use.

These programs are not restricted to low-income people, slum areas or urban neighborhoods. Owners of single or multi-family dwellings are eligible for some programs regardless of income. Most of the loans offer long terms and low payments.

Some of the other home improvements covered under these programs are: attic and wall insulation, new windows, outerwall siding, security doors and locks, window guards, sidewalks and masonry work, bathrooms and kitchens, electrical and plumbing work, new roofs, gutters or downspouts.

Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer group, has compiled an 184-page book which lists over 4,000 sources of loan and grant programs offered by all levels of government in addition to utility companies and others, typical programs offered and eligibility requirements. Form letters for inquiries to these loan and grant sources are included as well as detailed instructions on determining your debt-to-income ratio for eligibility. The book Consumers Guide To Home Repair Grants and Loans is available for $9 from CERC Groups, 134 Evergreen Pl., East Orange, N.J. 07018 or by calling 1-800-USA-0121 for credit card order.

Robert L. Berko of CERC, said "Some of these programs have no income ceiling and others allow income of as much as $50,000 per year. There are even programs for which tenants are eligible and many allow loans or give grants to poor credit risks. In many areas, people with disabilities can receive grants to pay for needed repairs such as access ramps and widening of doorways."

Since it is important that the work be done properly, the book includes a section showing how to pick a reputable contractor, negotiate a contract and insure that the work is done properly and for a fair price. And to help you communicate with your contractor, lender and lawyer, the book contains a dictionary of terms used by these professionals.

Finast - Now 9 Strong On Long Island

First National Supermarkets, Inc., owners and operators of Finast on Long Island, have announced the addition of four high-volume stores to operate under the Finast banner beginning May 3.

Located in Oyster Bay, Glen Cove, Northport and Deer Park, these stores expand First National's operation to four stores in Nassau County and five stores in Suffolk County. This expansion recognizes First National's commitment to the Long Island marketplace, as does their newly developed Long Island Division headquarters in Oyster Bay.

Irwin Tantleff, President of that Division, and a Long Island resident and previous owner of the former IJT Foodtowns noted, "First National's commitment to Long Island will be to support the communities we serve." Finast store managers are local people in touch with the needs of their community, as are other management associates like Long Island Division Vice President, Paul Puika, who grew up in New Hyde Park. The Company's commitment to community is evidenced by their newly introduced program for non-profit groups - the Community Group 1% Cash Refund Program. Each group participates by saving cash register receipts and registration is easy.

White House Honors NatWest USA

National Westminster Bank USA will receive a Presidential Citation for its "Arts in the Community" program, which supports many performing arts events throughout the New York area. It was announced in Washington recently. The Presidential Citation will be presented to the Bank at a White House ceremony July 22. The President's Citation Program For Private Sector Initiatives, developed in 1984, annually recognizes organizations making extraordinary contributions to the community. This year, more than 1,000 programs from throughout the country were reviewed by the judging committee.

NatWest USA's "Arts in the Community"

program is being recognized for bringing quality performing arts events to large audiences as well as new audiences in the Greater New York area. Including telecasts on PBS, many millions of people have enjoyed Bank-sponsored performances, which have been held in concert halls, as well as in schools, parks, sports arena, libraries, and other non-traditional locations.

Upcoming Arts in the Community events on Long Island include "Ain't Misbehavin'" with the Huntington Arts Council on August 2, and a series of International Nights concerts co-sponsored with the Town of Oyster Bay's Department of Community Services.

News Notes From:

Hicksville-Jericho Rotary Club

The meeting was opened by vice-president Fred Meyer. Our surprise sargeant at arms was Jim Grossman's son, Danny. Guests and visiting rotarians:

Ellen Bruwer	guest of	Peter Rocco
Jan Manaskie	guest of	Ron Platt
Dan Grossman	guest of	Jim Grossman
Marc Becker	guest of	Jim Grossman
Gail Bernstein	guest of	Elie Zambaka
John Anderson	guest of	Elie Zambaka

There were many, many happy dollars given for the good health of Al Levine, the marriage of Sam Carr, Bill Haydays trip, the good health of Danny Blaizverri and Ed Terriacca's new store.

Birthday celebrations for Joe DePaola with our usual high-styled singing. Many, many happy returns JOE.

Thanks to Squat Madden for the great day at the golf outing and installation night. Harry Smith spoke of the golf outing slated for October 8, 1987 - at the Bethpage Red Course.

Two rotary scholarship winners will join us July 23. Please attend the program - let's have a nice rotary turnout.

Our surprise speaker was the sun-baked Bill Hayday. Bill was in a sailing race from Massachusetts down to Bermuda. They finished a respectable 28 out of 350 boats that entered the race. Bill's role was navigator. The trip, as Bill described it, was quite exciting and we are all proud of his fine finishing mark and we are glad to see him back healthy and safe. Sam Carr won the raffle.

"His Wife Thanked Me. But She Should Have Thanked Him."

After her husband's funeral service had ended, she gently took my arm and told me how much the service had meant to her. Everything was just as he would have wanted it.

I didn't need to remind her that her husband appreciated the importance of planning for the future and had come to our funeral home awhile ago to arrange his funeral in advance.

I accepted her thanks. It made us both feel better. Still, she knew all along who was responsible for planning this funeral. And she couldn't thank him enough.

Opening lead — jack of spades.

Once upon a time, many moons ago, there lived a man by the name of Samson Gezundheit. He was generally regarded (mostly by himself) as the greatest bridge player who ever lived.

His exploits were almost incredible. Smother plays, double squeezes, even triple grand coups were as child's play to him. No contract that could be made ever escaped him as declarer; no contract that could be defeated by him as a defender was ever made.

The only trouble was that all this occurred only while he was fast asleep, blissfully dreaming. In real life, he could barely count to 13; he revoked nearly as often as he followed suit; and on one occasion he went down 4,600 in three notrump redoubled when he could have made the contract with three overtricks!

But no sooner did he fall asleep than there was an enormous change of personality. The sluggish mind vanished completely, and his thinking was now remarkably precise.

Here is a typical example of one of Samson's accomplishments. He was East and his partner led a spade against four hearts. Declarer won with the king, drew trumps, then led the diamond queen and finessed.

Samson took his king and, quick as a flash, returned the only card that could best the contract. He led the jack of clubs!

South then immediately became a deceased duck. If he covered with the queen, West would win with the king and return the nine through dummy's ten. If declarer instead ducked the jack, East-West would likewise take three club tricks to put South down one.

But if Samson had made the more normal return of the three instead of the jack, as he might have had he been awake, South would have played low and lost only two club tricks. Or if Samson had first led his ace, declarer would also have made the contract.

Samson had triumphed again!

When spring opens the gentle petals of the flowering pear, apple and cherry, and the breeze carries their perfume to awaken our senses to the coming of summer, you can be sure that vacation thoughts are not far behind.

Each year, on the shores of Europe, where our ancestors wave us on, there are car manufacturers thinking up reasons as to why we can't afford to stay at home.

This year it is les amis du Peugeot. Peugeot Motors of America Inc. is offering Americans travelling to France this year a money-saving alternative to traditional car rental: The Peugeot Purchase/Re-Purchase Plan.

According to Pascal Henaute, Peugeot's U.S. president, drivers purchase a brand-new car, use it for 22 to 175 days and sell it back to Peugeot at a guaranteed price.

Said Mr. Henaute: "The savings are phenomenal compared to other forms of car rental. Our purchase price includes unlimited mileage, the factory warranty, full, non-deductible insurance with passenger coverage throughout most of Europe and 24-hour towing and roadside assistance. On top of that, it's all tax-free."

Thirteen Peugeot models manufactured and sold in France are available under this plan. The purchase price varies according to the model and the duration the contract.

The cost of the minimum 22-day contract ranges from $610 to $1735. Under the purchase agreement, the remaining value of the car is covered by a signed Promissory Note which is cancelled once the customer returns the car.

New Hoop Structure: Big Guys Are Spread Out

Matchups And Divisions Help Lesser Teams, Says Coordinator

By D.F. MOCK
Sports Editor

The experimental realignment of the Nassau County boys' basketball structure late last month, a system based on win-loss records, was invoked partially because of the desire by the school district superintendents to prevent larger, minority-based schools from dominating league play, the Nassau County boys' basketball coordinator said last week.

The new plan, as this section reported exclusively last week, spreads the top basketball powerhouses in the county—including Hempstead, Freeport, South Side and Roosevelt, all largely black schools—among three of the four divisions in the American League, according to coordinator Robert Kenney. The fourth division in both divisions is allocated to the lower seeded schools, that is those with less successful basketball programs. The seedings are determined from the win-loss records of each team during the past three years of play. The plan stays in effect for the 1987-88 season.

Kenney said late last week that a proposal from the coaches for realignment—vetoed by the schools chiefs late last June—would not fit in with the structure of the basketball leagues. "The power rating [the high-school football seeding method coaches suggested for adoption by Section VIII basketball] was an ability-type rating," Kenney said in an interview with Community Newspapers last Thursday. "We found in American League Division I that due to placing teams by their ability, we were placing six teams that were predominantly black teams right in a row because of their win-loss record and power rating. The superintendents took one look at that and said we don't want to do that...they said, come up with something else, which meant that that process for basketball was out."

Repeated attempts to contact several superintendents as well as Dr. Isaac Singer, superintendent of the Board of Cooperative Educational Services (where Section VIII is based), proved unsuccessful.

Kenney, who is also the athletics director at Hicksville High School, said that the 15-team structure used in the football seeding system would not be adaptable for the basketball structure. "The 15-team grid format would not work for basketball," said Kenney, who has been basketball coordinator for the last decade. "No way you could have everybody

WESTBURY COACH MARTIN REID with his 1985 Nassau and New York State Class B public-school championship team: New realignment "doesn't bother me one way or the other." The original realignment, vetoed by school superintendents and modeled after football's power-point rating system, placed six large, pre-dominantly-black schools in a row, according to Section Eight basketball coordinator Robert Kenney.

using that format, because it doesn't fit. you would have to have at 16-team grid."

The result, Kenney said, was the adoption of the superintendent's realignment structure, which was published by Community Newspapers last week, based on win-loss records during the last three seasons. The plan, Kenney said, retains the use of team records but spreads out the strongest teams—specifically, the minority-based powerhouses—into the first three divisions, with the fourth division containing the less successful teams. "The teams less fortunate play each other," Kenney continued, "and occasionally play one of the power teams, so that they are playing at their ability level. It was just fortunate that it would work out that way."

Special concern was placed on the smaller teams. "The team felt that they couldn't compete [with larger schools]," Kenney continued. "Based on the last three years' records, history has been a team like Valley Stream Central saying that they can't play a team like Hempstead, that they'll knock their socks off. We were looking into the concept of the power rating, but it didn't work in a certain area."

Both Westbury coach Martin Reid and Manhasset coach Arnie Sims (whose teams are ranked number two and one in the National League, respectively) said that they favored the reorganization. "The system doesn't bother me one way or the other," Reid said. "Tough competition does help you in the end, but sometimes that could be self-serving; in the end result [under the previous reorganization proposal] we'd end up knocking each other out. I'm not in favor of that, although I love playing those teams."

Sims, who was on the committee of coaches, agreed. "This is probably for right now," he said, "might be the closest thing to making things equitable. Two or three strong teams in each particular league probably will equalize competition. The only way we'll know whether it will be successful is time." Sims said that the intimidation of some teams by others was a major concern of the coaches.

One drawback has been the alteration of schedules, Sims said. "I had to cancel a game with Joe Lettera at Roslyn because we're (now) in the same league together," the coach complained. "I would assume that a lot of schools will be in the same situation." Lettera, who stated his inclination to wait and see the results of the realignment, said that another challenge to the coaches would be seeing teams with whom they're not familiar. "Many of us are meeting people for the first time," said Lettera, the school's athletics director; "that causes a problem. Administratively, it's a little more difficult creating contacts for people that you have never played."

According to Ed Krinsky, the Westbury district's guidance chairman who coached the boys' basketball team from 1958 to 1979, one casualty of the realignment is the end of the Westbury-Roslyn rivalry that dates back to the days of the North Shore Athletic Association, which was disbanded when the county went to an enrollment-based structure in 1977. "I'm going to miss the rivalries that existed for many years," said Krinsky, who added that the new conference structure—with Oyster Bay, Wheatley and Locust Valley in and Glen Cove, Roslyn, Mineola and Clarke gone—might not be as competitive, thus putting more emphasis on the school's non-league schedule.

"There wasn't anything much more exciting than a Roslyn-Westbury match," Krinsky said. "No matter what the strengths over the years, they were always competitive games."

Carle Place athletics director and basketball coach Jim Colligan called the new alignment "discriminatory," saying that schools such as his, Jericho and Wheatley (all Class C schools) would be affected adversely. "As for the schools that have not done well in basketball over the course of a long period of time," Colligan said last week, "if they take a more honest, real look at why they haven't, they would have made necessary changes to improve their program." Colligan, whose team was defeated by Cold Spring Harbor in the Class C county final last March after beating East Rockaway in five overtimes, said that the toll the realignment would take on junior-varsity teams was not taken into consideration ("It's going to have a very detrimental effect on us," he said about that issue) and that the Christmastime tournament in which Carle Place participates is now in jeopardy because the other squads now share National League Division I with the Frogs.

Even before the basketball season starts, Section VIII will be faced with trying to create a new playoff structure that will fit in with the new league alignment. Because of the structure laid out in the new alignment, a Division 4 team with a perfect record might be mismatched against a higher-division team whose competition might not have been as strong.

Another problem arising from the new conference structure, according to Kenney, is that it has thrown off the alignment of the girls basketball program. "We tried to keep boys and girls alignment reasonably the same," Kenney said, "with one home and the other away [facing the same teams.] That went out the window this year, because the girls structure is not the same when you come into which teams are predominantly winners and which are having difficulty with the program." As a result, Kenney said, the girls will be forced to come up with their own program.

Corrections

In a statistics box accompanying last week's Sports on Long Island story about the realignment of the Nassau high-school basketball structure, two teams in American League Division 3 and 4 were inadvertently transposed and one of them was left out. Hicksville should be listed under Uniondale in Division 3 as number 15. Calhoun should be listed as number 26 under Division 4.

Also, because of an error in the statistics on the alignment roster given to us, Westbury's won-lost record for the last three years was incorrect. The Green Dragons are 35-3 since January 1985 league play.

We regret the errors.

Hicksville Swimmers To Compete at Empires

Three Hicksville swimmers will be representing the Long Island team at the annual Empire State Games, which will be held in Syracuse during the last week of July. All three athletes are members of the Adelphi Swim team and have represented Hicksville High School during the high school season.

Lorna Mund won both the 100 and 200 backstroke at the trials last week and placed third in the 200 free. She will swim both backstroke events in Syracuse. This will be Lorna's third appearance at the games. In 1983, she won a silver and bronze medal and in 1984, she won both backstroke events with record breaking times.

This will be Kristin Mund's second Empire States. Two years ago, as a 12-year-old, she won the 200 meter butterfly and won the bronze medal in the 100 fly. This year, she'll be competing in the 200 fly, the 100 fly and the 400 meter free. She also won the 200 free in the trials.

Scott Epstein, who is entering his senior year, will be making his debut at this year's Empires. He won the 100 breaststroke and was second in the 200 breast. He will be competing in both events at Syracuse.

This year, the Empire State Games will be celebrating their 10th anniversary. The success of the games has inspired a number of other states to pattern statewide competitions. And, this year, Long Island hopes to dominate the swimming competition.

Dan Middleman, who just graduated from W.T. Clarke High School in Westbury, came within 4/10ths of a second of winning a national track championship for the 3,000 meter distance at the Golden West Invitational in Sacramento last month. His time of 8:15.2, a personal, school and Long Island record, was surpassed by Eric Henry of Woodlands, Texas, by that small a margin. But if it hadn't been for the generosity of local businessmen, such as Joe Jannace, Jannace Realty, Hicksville, community organizations, such as the East Meadow Chamber of Commerce and the enthusiastic efforts of Dan's coach and teammates, he wouldn't have been able to go to the Golden West at all.

Being asked to run in the Golden West Invitational, one of the most prestigious track meets on the calendar, capped a year filled with successes that most athletes only dream about: one team and four individual Nassau County championships, eighth place in the Kinney National Cross Country Championship, first place at the Penn Relays (3,000 meters) and recently being named Nassau County's Outstanding Runner for performance, leadership and sportsmanship by the Nassau Track & Field Association.

His coach, Fred DeRuvo, found out that the East Meadow School Board voted not to authorize the funds that they would need to get to Sacramento, they began a fund-raising drive which involved the entire track team, other Clarke students and teachers, and ultimately, the entire community. "I think it's very gratifying to see the community pull together to support an athlete from Clarke," DeRuvo commented.

With the departure date approaching, DeRuvo and Middleman were still short of their goal, until Joe Jannace stepped in to help them across the finish line. "I used to be a runner at Holy Trinity and I think it would be a shame if a runner of Dan's calibre couldn't get to a race like this," explained Jannace.

Dan's fine performance in Sacramento, representing not only Clarke High School, but all of Central Nassau, is truly a display of community spirit of which everyone can be proud. "It's great to know that the community I live in is supporting me," said Middleman, who will be a member of the U.S. Maccabi Team at the Pan American Maccabi Games in Caracas this summer. He will be continuing his track career while attending the University of Florida in the Fall.
