Man Shot By Pellet Gun At Mall

A 24-year-old man was allegedly shot in the right leg by a pellet gun at Broadway Mali by youths, Nassau Police said.

youtns, Nassau Police said.
According to the Second Precinct report,
Thomas Melius, of Wantagh, was shot by a CO2 pellet gun in the parking lot at the mall, formerly Mid-Island Plaza, on December 1 sometime in the afternoon.

Police Officer Raymond Kurz, while off du-ty in Syosset, observed a blue Honda with three male white occupants. He noticed that one of the passengers was holding what ap-peared to be a gun out the window. When the car was stopped at Jackson Avenue and Ira Road in Syosset, Officer Kurz left his auto and arrested three teenagers at 3:35 p.m.

As a result of the arrest, a subsequent investigation revealed that more than 15 cars had their windows shot out in the Jericho, Hicksville and Plainview area between 2:45 and 3:35 p.m. that day. The three teenagers, Steven Levine, 17, of Woodbury; Peter Ogut, 17, of Syosset; and Robert Lehmann, 17, of or syosset; and sopert Lemmann, 17, or Jericho, were arrested in connection with the incidents. The trio was also charged with the injury to Melius, who was treated at Syosset Community Hospital with a contusion to his right leg and released.

Theteenagers were charged with second-degree assault, second-degree criminal mischief and fourth-degree criminal posses-sion of a weapon. The trio was arraigned before Judge James Griffin in Nassau's First District County, Mineola the following day and were released in their parents' custody. They are scheduled to return to court January

The locations of the vandalized cars, according to police sources, included the Ground Round in Hicksville, Syosset Long Island Railroad Station, Flower Lane in Jericho, Birchwood Park Drive in Jericho and Bethpage Road. All of the vehicles involved were reportedly parked at the time of the shooting and unoccupied.

Fire Safety Open House Draws Large Crowd

The annual Hicksville Fire Department holiday open house featuring Santa, fire safe-ty displays and lectures was held recently.

This year children in grades K-7 were urg-ed to answer a fire safety quiz. Four hundred and thirty-eight tests were given out; 316 were completed and turned in. Grand prize win-ners (two from each grade level) have been notified. Five hundred Smokey Bear toys ere given to participants.

Every child got to visit Santa. The Fire Service Academy's Public Education Unit displayed the new fire safety house that will tour county schools and shopping malls to promote the importance of home escape plans and how to behave if a fire strikes. The open house program was organized by assistant chief Scanlon and captain Karl chweitzer.

Hicksville Museum Welcomes Founders With A Reception

The trustees of the Hicksville Gregory Museum hosted a reception recently for the museum's founders and long-time leaders, Dr. Gardiner and Mrs. Ann Gregory. In a real sense, the affair was a "family reunion," the Gregorys being welcomed warmly by long-time museum collaborators and enjoying introduction to current workers in the service of the museum they created and led from

On hand to greet the Gregory's with refreshment, reminiscence and introductions to newer staff members were museum trustees, members of the board of advisors, new museum director, Joseph Vajdag, curator and Mrs, Donald Curran, museum historian Richard and Mrs. Anne Evers, and some museum volunteers. The Gregorys enjoyed the party and the opportunity to see new exhibits, and to inspect the 1986-87 completed renovation of the museum building, the historic Old Hicksville Courthouse Jail. The courthouse was the object of extensive strengthening and refurbishing during a Town of Oyster Bay Community Develop-ment Project funded by federal monies made available for historical site preservation.

This was the first visit of Dr. and Mrs. Gregory in two years, living as they do in Castine, Maine, where the well-known educators retired, so years ago. Since returning to his boyhood region, Gregory has led in the rejuvenation of the Castine Historical Society, has been active in sailboat regattas in Penobscot waters, cultivated a large regetable garden each year, done the hor-ticulture for which Mrs. Gregory and he were long known. They raise the occropia, polyphemus and luna silk worms whose cocoons, forwarded to the Gregory Museum, provide Hicksville and Nassau classrooms with beautiful, non-injurious moths for delighted teachers and children, after final metamorphosis.

RADIANT ANN GREGORY obliges the cameraman Edward Bady with her well-known charm as partying Museum Trustee and Attorney Ken Henrie and Historian Dick Evers share the joy of reunion.

After receiving the alarm at 4:44 a.m. firefighters found a heavy smoke and fire condition throughout the second floor and above the celling. Lt. Magee said. Firemen were ordered out of the structure after the walls began to crack from the intense heat and began to break away," he added. "Efforts to contain and extinguish the flames were done from outside and above via tower ladders."

The fire origin, he said, at the present time is suspicious. "There was no apparent reason why a fire should have started," Lt. Magee said. He also noted that the front door was open upon the fire department's arrival.

The building, which is owned by BLJ Associates of Huntington, has a parking garage on the first floor. Eight tenants occupy the other two floors. There was no one in the building at the time of the fire. Lt. Magee said. Chief William Schuckmann was in charge at the scene. Ten units and 75 firefighters from Plainview, jericho and East Meadow were also at the fire.

Merchant of the Week Hicksville Travel Planners Ltd.

By CATHERINE J. TOKAR

What happens when a trio of travel agents come together to form their own travel service? Success, and that's just what fate has ordered for the three local women who own and operate Hicksville Travel Planners Ltd. on Broadway, Hicksville. Two years ago, the trio—Barbara Tuohy, Cathy Pizzo and Dorothy Ferrentino-decided to stop working as outside agents. They invested their 10 years experience in forming their own company. "We built our company on good rapport with our clients," explained Mrs. Tuohy, president and Hicksville resident, so we depend on referrals by word-of-mouth as well as maintaining our previous

The key to their success is their willingness to give time to each client to ensure satisfaction, said Mrs. Pizzo, owner/manager and Hicksylle resident. "Our main objective is to have the client come back happy." Hicksylle Travel Planners customize every package to each client's needs, whether it be a group tour or a short excursion to Atlantic City. "We will work closely with the customer to ensure his satisfaction," said Mrs. Tuohy. Special times outside of business hours can easily be arranged."

The agency's special services cater to everyone's needs. They offer free delivery of tickets within the area. The entire office is computerized so that price quotes can be given immediately (with no obligation). The agency also issues boarding passes in order for the clients to save time at the airport. Corporate accounts are welcome as well as small trips by bus or train. "We know what each client needs, be it a large corporate account or a honeymoon," said Mrs. Ferrentino. Currently, the agency is working on special ski packages now that the ski season is here. Knowledgeable agents are important in the travel service business, and the level of expertise at Hicksville Travel Planners is quite impressive. They have all spanned the globe, and each partner specializes in a different area. Mrs. Tuohy specializes in travel packages to Ireland. Having been there at least 35 times and lived there for two years, Mrs. Tuohy has first-hand knowledge of Ireland's cities, hotels, restaurants and sites. "We are the only agency who advertises that we specialize in Ireland," she explained.

Mrs. Ferrentino, on the other hand, is the cruise expert, having been on dozens of cruises. "I've been almost everywhere by boat," she explained. Mrs. Pizzo is the Caribbean and Bahamas master of the group. She has traveled to all the islands in those areas. "Between the three of us, I think we've been everywhere—except Afghanistan," she said. Mrs. Tuohy added, "We can recommend hotels, car rentals and restaurants because we've been there to test them. And because we are the owners, we see to the quality of our service." The agency also employs 15 outside agents who earn 50 percent commission and have their own clients.

The owners attend trade shows all over the United States to keep up with new tours, prices and ideas. "We work to obtain the cheapest prices and packages," said Mrs. Pizzo, "as if we were paying out of our own pocket."

A unique service of the agency allows clients to pay for tickets here and have them picked up in another city.

"If someone in Texas needs to get home and has no money, a family member can pay for the ticket here so that the person in Texas can have his ticket waiting at the airport," Mrs. Tuohy said. This is a great idea for college students stuck at school during the holidays.

The die-hard experience of the personable agents make Hicksville Travel Planners a unique travel agency. No one is just a number because each owner is willing to devote the necessary time each client requires. These local ladies have what it takes to stay on top.

The agency is located at 66 N. Broadway, above Levitt's and adjacent to Central Federal Savings and Loan. Hours may be arranged by special appointment, or call 433:6644 during office hours (Monday through Friday 9:30 to 5:30, Saturday 2 to 4).

DOTTIE and JOHN McMAHON

Happy Anniversary

Former Hicksville residents Dottle and John McMahon recently celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary at a party in their new home in Holiday, Florida. More than 80 friends and relatives from Florida and New York came to help them celebrate. Their daughters, Loretta McLaughlin and Patricia Palmer came from Hicksville with their children Jamie, Laura, Brian and Katie. Son John Jr. came with his wife Patrice and daughters Shannon and Caltilin from Fort Myers, Florida. Also attending were Judy and Artie Unfrecht from Freeport: Robert and Doris Mass from Franklin Square, Bob and Anita McMahon from Sound Beach, Fredand Flo Ruff from Hicksville and Ida Maas, Dottle's mom from Largo, Florida.

John is a former fire commis Hicksville Fire Department and an honorary life member of the Department. Dottie is an Honorary member of the Ladies Auxiliary of the H.F.D.

INN Honored At Party

The volunteers of the Interfaith Nutrition Network of Nassau-Hicksville Branch—were invited to a Christmas Party held on December 11 in the church hall of the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church. A delicious luncheon was served and each volunteer received a poinsetta plant as a 'thank you' for their very wonderful volunteer services rendered by each one during the past year. We also thank them for giving of their time so unselfishly.

-Forever 55-

The Forever 55 Club of Trinity Lutheran Church in Hicksville held their annual Christmas Party at the Swan Club on Tuesday, Dec. 15th.

Special Treat

The Fork Lane Kindergartners in Joyce Cannini's classes got a special treat recently as they took a field trip to the Nassau Coliseum to see Disney On Ice. Thirty three children and 14 volunteer moms made the trip to see Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and Snow White. It was truly "fun for all ages." Everyone enjoyed the show!

Happy Birthday Mother

A very special happy birthday is being sent to my mom. Rose Caruso on her 84th birthday December 22nd. She has been the most wonderful mother any person could have. Love ya' Mother....

New Arrival

Debble and John Wanna of Hicksville are the proud parents of a daughter, Kelly Ann, born November 18th at the Community Hospital in Glen Cove. Kelly is their first child.

Happy grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wisniewski of Port Washington and Mr. and Mrs. John Wanna of Mineola. Congratulations

Celebrate In Jamaica

Irene and Ted Sokolauf of Hicksville just returned from a trip to Jamaica, West Indies-to celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary which was November 16th.

While they were at the Miami Airport
walting for their connecting flight to Jamaica, Irene's sister, Rose Cataliaki of Hollywood, Florida, came to the airport and they had a pleasant visit for an hour or so.

Best of luck to both of you and may you have many more

A Very Special Thank You... . from Bill Roach

"On Sunday, Dec. 6th, there was a benefit held in my honor at Chaplin's of Hicksville. The show of support from my friends and neighbors in Hicksville was unbelievable.

"As many of you know, I have been unable to work since August of this year, due to a heart ailment. My doctors say I will have to remain out of work for an undetermined period of time as my heart regains its strength to function normally. Working two jobs most of my life, I have been financially independent for quite some time. But things change drastically when you are told you can't continue to work. Not working has turned out to be one of the toughest parts of my illness, mainly because of financial worries. But thanks to a group of Hicksville's finest people, I've been relieved of these financial burdens for the time being

At this time I would like to especially thank the organizers of the benefit. They are: Bill Haverkamp of Scruples; Paul one of Chaplin's; Mike Gallant of Wickers and Gerry Gale of the Corrigan

"I would also like to show my appreciation to many other Hicksville businessmen who helped with their support. They are:

Billy and Marty Reinhardt and the staff at Reinharts of Hicksville; Tom Flanagan and the staff at T.J. Courtney's; John Cucci and the staff at Wicker's Restaurant and the Tower Delicatessen for donating the food; Doug Dwyer and the Ebbets Field Cafe staff. My friends at the Curiosity Shop in Hicksville, and George, Billy, Bobby and the staff of Summer times in Bethpage....not forgetting, of course, the staffs of Scruples and Chaplin's.

"Along with all these people a special thank you should go out to all those who volunteered to work the day of the party, giving up their time and tips for my benefit. A fine group of guest bartenders were put together from neighborhood taverns. They were: Scott Reinhardt - Reinhardt's: Louise Hupfer - Scruples; Bobby Clark -Chaplin's; Mike Gallant - Wickers; Ernie Hupfer-Ebbets Field; Tom Fischetti (Fish) · T.J. Courtneys.... not to forget Joe 'Miles' Longo; Billy 'The Kid' Corrigan, president of Corrigan C.F. Inc. and Jim my 'Bobby' Decker, for tending to the thirsty needs of all my well wishers.

"And last, but not least, a gigantic thanks to all of you who bought and sold raffle tickets and attended this benefit on my behalf.

"You have all helped to make some rough times in my life a little smoother and have certainly helped to make my holidays happier ones

"Wishing you all a Happy and Healthy holi-day season and a great '88, I thank you again.... Bill Roach.

"P.S. I am happy to report that my mom Joan, who has been hospitalized since Oct. 12th, with a stroke, is doing much better now. Her doctors tell us she will be released on Dec. 22nd from Brunswick Rehabilitation Hospital. She will then continue therapy at home for an undetermined period of time

"All your support and prayers for Mom's recovery are surely being answered as she will be home for the holidays. Thanks

A Note From the Social Editor

After reading Bill's thank you note I realize this is one of the reasons why many of us think Hicksville is such a nice place to live in. All of the people that came to Bill's aid-to help make his life a little easier in his time of need—is just wonderful. You wouldn't find that in many towns. We can all take a lesson from these generous and kind friends of Bill's. If all of us would look around—see if there is anyone we can give a helping hand towhether it be a phone call. a visit. donation a few hours of baby sitting service to a young mother who can't afford a baby sitter . . . or to a parent of a handicapped child....a gift to someone who has no one....just anything nice—imagine how happy your holiday will be. Look around— and give of yourself—you'll be happy you did! Former Hicksvillites Married 50 Years

Lucy and Charles Sticco of Elmont were honored at a 50th wedding anniversary party on Saturday, Dec. 5th at the Pompano Restaurant in West Hempstead given by children Janette, Phyllis, Lucille, and Charles Jr. and their spouses. All the grand-children attended along with nieces. nephews, cousins and friends.

Charles owned a farm on Jerusalem Avenue many years ago and was well known by many Hicksvillites. He is the uncle of Frank Stieco Jr., of Hicksville.

A wonderful time was had by all that attended. Among those from Hicksville attending were Marie and Nancy DeMonaco along with Fred, John, Dominic onaco, and their wives; and Charlie and Bim DeRiso.

Hi Friends!

A note came from our old friends, Gloria (Gabarino) and Dick Rennie. They write: We enjoyed seeing our grandson's picture in the November 5th issue (Nicholas Morando and his friends, the Moor children). We enjoy the paper very much and like to read about the many events and friends' activities going on.

Lovely Lady Celebrates 65th

Mrs. Virginia Byrnes of Montana Street celebrated her 65th birthday December 11th. Ginny has been working at the West John Street Deli for at least 20 years, and everyone in the neighborhood knows her friendly face. She is a member of the VFW Auxiliary in Hicksville, and is still active in their affairs.

Ginny is a widow, but her days are full with the activity of her family. Her daughter Ginny and her husband Drew and little Kristan live with her. She also dotes over her two grandchildren in Suffolk County-Coleen and Michael-her son Johnny and his wife Dolores' children.

Her friend, Eileen Jones would like to publicly wish her the happiest of birthday ...and we also want to add our congratulations to Ginny and hope we continue to see her down at Richie's West John Street Deli

Allison's Giving A Benefit Show

Allison (Spettmann) Stumphf operates Allison's School of Dance in Levittown. She gives many benefit shows throughout the year-and she just presented two holiday shows at local nursing homes. Imagine the delighted faces on those seniors who watched these beautiful little people perform! Among the stars were Allison, her 8 year old daughter Erica; (and for the first time). Gail (Spettmann) Castoro's 3 year old daughter Kate. She performed in a number called 'Santa Has His Eye On You.'

Proud members in the audience were Gail; Erica and Kate's daddys, their grandparents Gloria and Bill Spettmann and their greatgrandma, Carmela Giannone.

The Reilly home on Arcadia Lane was the site of a birthday party for Jack Murray of New Hampshire as he celebrated his 44th birthday on Dec. 14th. Among the honored guests were son Jim and daughter Jennifer, and Cathy Quinn. Everyone had a great time.

All those birthday songs that were heard from the home of Bub and Sylvia Chernow were not recordings. On Dec. 13th the Chernow's celebrated one massive birthday party for many of the members who celebrated their birthday this month: Aunt Terry (Dec. 7): Donna Russo who celebrated her very special 21st on Dec. 9th. Steve Chernow's birthday was on the 12th, Leo Russo's was the 16th, and last, but not least, was Stephanie Ferraro who will celebrate hers on the 24th.

Everyone had a wonderful time. I heard that there were so many candles on the delicious cake that was served that the guests had to wear sun glasses.

Galileo Lodge News

President Joe Giordano's Message: "It is difficult to live in the pre to live in the future, and impossible to live in the past." Jim Bishop

Many organizations have their finest hours at one time or another, or perhaps on some special occasion or event. The Galileo Lodge is no exception. Its finest hours arrive usually during the time of its presentations of its two Christmas parties—one for the handicapped children of Long Island and the other one for the children of its membership

Yes, there is so much beauty at this time. So much love, affection and love displayed for these children. It is really heart-rending to watch these highly-animated children enjoying tinese critiquen. It is really heart-rending to watch these highly-animated children enjoying food, ice cream, cookles, soda, cakes of all varieties. And to watch them as they eagerly await the arrival of Santa Claus and his bag of toys, to watch their eyes light up like beacons, to watch their little bodies dancing to the music of Richie Lagnese and his combo—oh, yes, this gives to all those who are working steadily to cater to their needs and wants a feeling of satisfaction and gratification. Yes, there is love and affection here, which materialize into wayes of human emotions and which remain with your for a long time. These water like into waves of human emotions and which remain with you for a long time, There was singing, there was dancing and there was Santa Claus. This is Christmas at the Galileo Lodge, this is Christmas for these children, full of good cheer and expressions. And what a terrific im-pact these have as one witnesses all the members of the Galileo Lodge hurrying to and fro pact these have as one witnesses as the members of the Gaineo Lodge harrying to another to make sure that these children do not miss out on anything. Is there any feeling at Christmas time that is better than the feeling of giving and asking very little in return?

The Chairman of the Christmas parties was Skip Monteforte, and his able assistants were Pete Massiello, Rocco Lombardo and Armand Del Cioppo. The organizations present were he A.H.R.C. of woodmere, the St. Bernard's and St. Plous groups, supervised by Jim Posillico performed in an excellent fashion also. The entertainment provided by the Peggy O'Connor school of Dancing was excellent as usual, and for its participation in our Christmas par-ties for many years, the O'Conners received a tribute of appreciation from the Galileo Lodge. It must be noted that everyone who participated in these two wonderful Christmas par-ties are listed in an article to be written by a writer from this publication, the Hicksville Il-Iustrated News.

The Galileo Lodge expressed its feeling about Christmas, and all these children saw and felt what Christmas is all about, and all the members of the Galileo Lodge and the Ladies Auxiliary, from Presidents Joe Giordano and Marion Danseglio, down to the officers and members, helped to convey these beautiful feelings.

Please don't forget the Galileo Lodge's Gala New Year's Eve Celebration scheduled for Thursday Decembers. In the offering will be a complete prime with dispars with all the reference.

Thursday, December 31. In the offering will be a complete prime rib dinner with all the trimmings, unlimited liquor, all the New Years Eve paraphenalia, a Continental Breakfast about 2a.m. and music for your dancing pleasure. Tickets sell at $37 per person. The party starts at 9 p.m. and the dancing starts at 10 p.m. Reservations for outsiders must be made by the 21st. The distribution of tickets will be made on a first-come -first-served basis. Members will be given special consideration. Pete Massiello will 'chair' this event, ably assisted by Rocco Lombardo and Armand Del Cioppo. So hurry up and make your reservations as no tickets will be purchased at the door. If you want to usher in the new year in fine style, coming to the Galileo Lodge on the date mentioned here is the in-thing to do.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Communit lowever, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they shou possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed (a typed name the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity.

We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only. We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

This letter is being published upon request. The day after holiday decorations were installed in the Hicksville business district, a telephone call was received at the office of the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce. The caller (name withheld) charged the Chamber with being comprised primarily of Christians, and complained that the decorations were primarily red, with some green, which was symbolic of Christmas. The complainant stated that there should have been some emphasis on decorating the community with blue and white or blue and silver, symbolic of the Hannukah

The secretary referred the matter to the President of the Hicksville Chamber, Marc Ramirez, and the following letter was sent directly to the complainant:

Your conversation with the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce has be brought to my attention with specific regard to your observations and comments about the holiday decorations in Hicksville.

The Chamber of Commerce is comprised of business people, (although not limited to such), those members being of diverse race, religion, and national background. Under the cloak of such an organization, it is possible to be an effective force for the general betterment of the local community, which indirectly affects all members of that community, even those who are not actively involved in it.

"A committee was appointed two years ago to handle the logistics of decorating

Hicksville for the holiday season. It is the Chamber's hope to annually improve on this project. The committee made a special effort to avoid any emphasis toward any specific religion. The question of color usage which you raise, was never raised by any members of the Chamber, including many who are non-Christian. You point out, I believe, that the colors blue and white or silver were not used. It so happens that you are quite right in your observation—(my observation is that this is also the case in holiday decorations in many other communities and shopping s). This situation, however, is not intended as a slight or neglect of any religion—it is a happenstance and nothing more or less. During the 1986 holiday season, the color used was gold. This was changed this year because gold did not show well in the present lighting system.

The points you raised will be referred to the proper committee and I thank you for calling this to our attention. The membership-of all religions-will deal with this matter in making plans for next year's decorations as they see fit. As for this year, please accept the Chamber's good wishes for a happy holiday season, along with an expression of thanks that we live in a country where we are free to discuss such matters intelligently and without

Our Lady of Mercy -School of Excellence

In June, Hicksville's Our Lady of Mercy was recognized by New York State Education Department's School Recognition Program as one of the finest elementary schools.

The input by administrators, faculty, school board, students, parents and community members help the committee make their decision. The school prides itself on quality education, a strong sense of family and a tradi-tion of service to the church and community. Monsignor James E. Boesel, pastor of Our Lady of Mercy, is responsible for the reputation of the quality of education and its sur-vival as a parish school. He purchases any materials or equipment that he feels will help make "his school" "Number-One", a phrase that indicates school pride he has built. Monsignor is an educator who encourages not only his students, but all his parishioners to continue their education.

Congratulations Our Lady of Mercy.

Memories...

... of Lydia Sarli Duffy

The other day I was wrapping some Christmas gifts and as I was deciding on what paper, ribbon and tags to use, I thought back to the days during the holiday season when I went to Nicholai School. What fun it was and how exciting to be caught up in the activities of making gifts for our parents which were begun in November. I remember some things I made through the grades but one that stands out from the rest was done when I was in the fifth grade.

First of all, the teacher had us bring from home, a 5x7 piece of glass. We were all walkers and now I wonder how we carried that glass to school without a mishap.

It certainly had its dangers.

The next step was to obtain a fair amount of aluminum foil. Today, we can have rolls of foil but in those days it was hard to come by. Searching for the inner foil wrappings of discarded cigarette and gum packages was like finding a needle in a hay-tack. I spent many days with my head down looking for those elusive packages and begging my uncles for theirs.

I don't know if the teacher thought we all had artistic talent (that, I doubt, although I did) or whether she wanted us to achieve more than we expected of ourselves but then we had to paint a scene in black (a silhouette, if you please) on our piece of glass. When that was accomplished, the aluminum foil was pressed against the back of the glass and held in place with cardboard and tape. The tape gave the look of a frame. Then we wrapped the picture in tissue paper and secured it with red/gold or green/gold string.

I remember how proud I was of mine and how pleased my parents were when gave it to them.

I can still see that picture in my mind and think of how difficult the task was but how satisfying were the results.

Editor's Note: Anyone with memories of life in Hicksville may write to us at 132 East Second St., Mineola, New York 11501.

Grumman Employees Donate 11,000 Pints Of Blood in 1987

Employees of Grumman Corporation and its divisions have donated some 11,000 pints of blood in 1987, according to Mary Lou Caminiti of South Huntington, director of Business Operations in Grumman Services Division and director of the company's blood donating program this year.

Donors don't take the risk some people AIDS by giving blood. An individual, sterile needle and harness are used when you give, then discarded.

It takes some effort to donate, says John E. Jabour of Hicksville, a group leader in the Systems Division, who gives blood four times a year. "But if my wife or kids ever needed blood, I'd want it to be there for them," he Donating doesn't take long and discomfort is minimal. If you weigh over 110 pounds and are between the ages of 17 and 76, you're eligible to donate. (Note: the age limit has been raised from 66 to 76.)

Our Lady Of Mercy Seniors' Christmas Party Is A Success

Director Myra Giansante and her officers: Betty Anton, president, Lenore Minietta, vice president, Emma Torzilli, secretary, and Anna D'Andrea, treasurer, gave their Our Lady of Mercy Senior Citizen Club a delightful Christmas party at the Villa Victor Restaurant in Syoset recently. Music by John Ollie was enjoyed and a huge cake added a grand finale to a perfect day.

Our Lady of Mercy Seniors invites new members to join their ranks as they meet every other Monday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. As they make plans to move to larger quarters in the Our Lady of Mercy school cafeteria, they look back on a year filled with lots of activities including their recent trip to Amish Country, Bethlehem and Reading, Pennsylvania. Their outing to the city to see Me and My Girl plus five days at the Villa Roma Hotel last October will long be remembered. Trips to Nassau Beach (with dancing and entertainment) along with monthly jaunts to Atlantic City are always special days, too. They'll tie up 1987 with a "home" party at Our Lady of Mercy on Dec. 21 with lots of food, dancing, singing, and good fun. The New Year promises to be another good one as they start off Jan. 12 with a day at Hunterdon Hills Playhouse in New Jersey, then to the Paramount Hotel—January 14 to Jan. 18—and, among many other plans, a trip to the Nevele Hotel in May.

tor Fireworks by Grucci, inc." showed a firework display on film at the Hicksville Kiwanis Club meeting.

The brilliant, spectacular fireworks show was seen via a video tape of some of the outstanding performances put together by the "First Family of Fireworks," the Gruccis, Mr. Butler showed the film after he talked about the history of how the Grucci Family came into prominence in the pyrotechnic field. It was a fascinating story which began in the southern Italian seaport of Bari in 1850. Twenty years later, the founder and great great-grandfather left Italy and came to Elmont, Long Island as an emigrant through Ellis Island, and brought with him, in a shoe box, the formulas for the fireworks colors.

SPICY SESAME BEEF

SESAME CHICKEN ..

By GREG BENNETT Charles Wagner Post #421, Hicksville

This column is dedicated to our fighting forces who responded to the call of "Air Raid-Pearl Harbor" at 7:55 a.m. on December 7, 1941 when Japanese air and naval forces attacked the U.S. Pacific Fleet without a formal declaration of war.

Within the time you can read this article over 1,000 American servicemen were killed. Eight U.S. battleships, three cruisers, three destroyers and eight other craft were sunk or badly damaged.

That fateful day very ordinary Americans did extraordinary brave deeds. They lifted objects thought impossible to lift, moved with broken backs, walked with feet shot off and serviced guns with fractured arms. Some fought on at battle stations knowing they would drown. Others swam to rescue comrades in flaming oil. Messmen manned guns, musicians steered boats, machinists tied tourniquets and nurses hauled lines.

With Pearl Harbor, Wheeler Field, Ford Island and Hickam Field ablaze, Americans united with resolve and the fury necessary to overcome the evils of Imperial Japan and Nazi Germany. It is always a great honor to see members of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association at Veterans functions.

On Saturday, December 6, County Cdr. Hochbrueckner, Cdr. Christo, and VC Greg Bennett attended the 21st Annual Nurses Training Ball of Voiture 803 of the Nassau County Forty and Eight. Our compliments to Cdr. Christo, who as a Forty and Eighter worked on the nurses' scholarship project. It was great to see County Cdr. Hochbrueckner feeling better

Our next post meeting is Monday, December 21 at 8:00 p.m. Remember our POW-MIA during the holiday season.

ST. IGNATIUS DAISY TROOP 3338

ON NOVEMBER 17, 14St. Ignatius kindergarten girls were invested as Daisy Girl Scouts. During the ceremony, they were presented with a Daisy Pin and Beginning Certificate by leaders Dorothy Hyde and Rosemarie Smith. They recited the Girl Scout Promise and Laws and sang three songs. At the conclusion of the Investiture Ceremony, the new Days were joined by their families and friends for a luncheon party. Congratulations to all the new Daisys.

CYO News St. Ignatius By BARBARA LEWIS

This week's call in scores are from: Mr. Joe Basso, coach of the Lions. His team-played on Saturday December 12.

The Lions had a fantastic day, Jason Basso was the main scorer for his team scoring the 26 points, with full support from Thomas Myron and Jody Durkin. All of us from CYO scorers should be called in to the commissioners each week and any coach that would like to see his team mentioned in the paper to please call me at 681-6947. Scores can be called in up to Monday night so that they can get into the paper.

Our December CYO open meeting is cancelled this month. We will hold our next meeting in January on the 3rd Thursday of Gary and I would like to take this time to wish all our friends in CYO a very happy holiday and a healthy new year.

Officers Elected To Hicksville Soccer Club

During the Election Meeting of the Hicksville Americans Soccer Club held recently, new officers were approved effective January 1, 1988. They are as follows: Phil Caputo—President

Pat McHugh-Vice President/Travel Team

Jay Schwartz—Treasurer Al Blicker—Secretary

Gary Fisch-Director

Congratulations to the new officers.

High School Athlete Finishes Top-Rate Season

Hicksville High School junior, Jennifer Liv-ingston, has already made her mark on the Nassau County track and field scene. Jennifer has just culminated a busy fall season by be-ing elected All-County in cross country for ne second consecutive year.

Her impressive list of achievements this year include: an undefeated league meet schedule, 1st place in the Nassau County Coaches Invitational, 1st place in the Conference Championships, Nassau County Class A (teams representing the largest schools in the county) champion, 14th place in the New York State Public School Championship and 7th place in the New York State Federation Championship held recently in Syracuse.

Quite a list for such a young athlete. In Syracuse, Jennifer not only defeated the best runners in the state from public, private and Catholic schools, but also Mother Nature, as this 3.1 mile race was run on a hilly course in six inches of snow at 15 degrees below.

In addition to her athletics, Jennifer maintaines an academic schedule which includes honors classes. She is also a member of the high school music program as an oboist.

Hicksville PAL Basketball News

By CHARLETTE ANSTEY

The boys and girls in our basketball programs are excited over having their first game this week. All of our participants have been busy having practices these past weeks get-ting ready for that big first game. New uniforms have been issued to all participants with the understanding they will be able to keep the shirt for their own use after basketball season has finished.

If you have a child or teenager participating in our basketball programs and would like to volunteer to report on your son or daughter's games, please let your coach know. Very little time will be required if you do volunteer and your son or daughter's team will be thrilled to be in the newspaper. The Hicksville PAL only utilizes the Hicksville Ilustrated News; therefore, if you wish to read about your son or daughter, please send a subscription in to

We are always on the lookout for new referees (male and female) for our basketball programs. We have two separate basketball programs: one is for the boys and one is for girls. If you are interested in being a referee, please contact Mrs. Bentrewicz at 822-1124.

Mr. Bill Toelstedt, Nassau County Police Officer in charge of the Hicksville PAL, and all the volunteers who work so hard to make all the various programs work deserve a sincere "Thank You." Not only are they assisting your sons and daughters, but they are benefitting the Hicksville community. Every child or teenager we can assist in one of our programs is a person that is not on the streets or "hang-ing out," or drinking beer or doing drugs or maybe destroying or putting graffition public and school property. If we can keep one child or teenager from doing any of these things, we have accomplished a lot.

Hicksville Minutemen Are Trophy Winners

The Hicksville Minutemen 1077 "B" traveling soccer team, captured 4th place in the Plainview-Old Bethpage Indoor Soccer Tour-nament on Sunday, December 13, bringing home impressive trophies.

The first game was a 1-1 tie against Com-mack. The Minutemen came from behind on a goal by right wing Greg Walunas. The second game was a 1-0 victory over Sachem, on a goal by right wing Jason Brown. The Sean Flanagan with 30 seconds to go. The fourth game was a 2-0 loss to North Babylon.

The Minutemen then went into the Semi Finals again playing North Babylon. Both teams played brilliantly, the Minutemen being led by the outstanding goaltending of Walter Hoffman. Regulation time ended with the teams tied o-o. They then played a five minute sudden death, at o-o until there were two minutes left, when North Babylon put in the winner. The balance of the Minutemen players, all of whom played exciting, aggressive and suc-cessful soccer, were Anthony Noya, Timothy Dalton, Robin Blicker, Michael Coen and Bobby Wagner. The Minutemen, as well as Coach Bill Dalton and Assistant Coach Al Blicker are to be congratulated for a day of great soccer.

What The Politicians Are Saying...

Since the holiday season is upon us, ASSEMBLYMAN TOM DINAPOLI (D-Great Neck) has reminded parents to be cautious when selecting toys for their children. It is estimated that some 15,000 children will suffer injuries as a result of toy related accidents. Follow the age recommendations found on toy packages, read labels carefully to look for important words as "non-toxic," and "flame retardent," Watch out for toys with long strings that could cause strangulation and discard all plastic wrappings which could cause strangulation.

SENATOR DANIEL P. MOYNIHAN (D-NY) has introduced legislation to create a high speed transportation system that would revolutionize travel in the United States. Known as the FAST (Federal Advance Superconduction the Transportation) ACT, the proposed system would be an entirely new form of ground transportation. The FAST ACT system would be able to move large numbers of people at speeds in excess of 300 miles per hour. Ground travel time between New York and Washington, D.C. or New York and Boston would be reduced to one hour.

The recent death of a six-year-old girl named Lisa placed the tragedy of child abuse on the front page of newspapers everywhere. Every week children die as a result of abuse or neglect. The New York State Central Register for Child Abuse and Maltreatment, operated by our State Department of Social Services was established in 1973 in recognition of this problem. GOVERNOR MARIO M. CUOMO would like to stress that fact that the hotline must be reserved for emergency cases. Information, however, is available from the Social Service Department in your community.

In order to provide greater public employment opportunities to the handicapped, a new law sponsored by state ASSEMBLYMAN DAN FRISA (R-Westbury) will give full high school equivalency status on state and local civil service exams to disabled people who have received individualized education plan (IEP) diplomas.

ASSEMBLYMAN FRED PAROLA has annouced several steps that may be taken to help improve home energy efficiency and save money on monthly LILCO bills. Free home energy audits are available through the New York State Public Service Commission (PSC) and LILCO. After making an appointment, a LILCO auditor will come to your home and examine it from the atticto the basement, recommending ways you can save money. The auditor also can tell you the approximate installation costs and explain how to obtain a low-interest loan to buy and install suggested energy. saving measures. To make an appointment call the Energy Audit toll-free number at 1-800-852-3733 or LILCO at 933-4590.

Consumers Warned About Holiday Ads

With the barrage of sales and discounts in the retail stores this year, "Comparison shop-ping is more important than ever for people who want the most for their money," Con-sumer Affairs Commissioner James E. Picken warned consumers.

'Ads that say 25 percent or 50 percent off are frequently not clear on what price is being discounted," he said. "Is it half off last week's price or the original selling price? It may be a discount from the suggested list price, which they never sold it for anyway."

He advised shoppers to decide what items they want and check out prices at several "Then read the sale ads carefully to be sure those items are included, so you don't go on a wild goose chase."

go on a wind goose chase."
"Watch both the hours and the dates of the sales," he said. "What could be more frustrating than to be told, it's 440 today but it was 150 yesterday!" he asked.

Mr. Picken said changing the prices is not illegal as long as the ads state the conditions of the sale clearly and adhere to those conditions. "We are monitoring the ads, taking consumer complaints and warning the stores to change the ads when they are incomplete or misleading. But consumers have to be on their toes, too.

Other money-saving shopping tips he of fered include:

Bring the ad along with you to make sure you are being charged the advertised sale

 Check the store's refund policy before you buy. It should be posted near the door or the cash register, or sometimes on the item itself. If no refund policy is posted, by law you must be given a refund within 20 days if the merchandise is unused and undamaged.

 Think twice before you buy service contracts for appliances or electronics. They may duplicate the free warranty period that comes with the product.

Be wary of vendors who open only for the holidays and then leave. It's better to deal with reliable, established retailers.

oIf the advertised merchandise is unavailable when you go to buy, inform the Office of Consumer Affairs at 535-2600. They will try to help you get it. Stores that adver-tise items not backed up by sufficient quantitles of merchandise could be in violation of Nassau County's Unfair Trade Practices Law.

A Letter from Lulubelle...

...I know that the real name is carousel—and my British friend calls it a roundabout —but to me, it'll always be the merry-go-round!... How I loved it—and still do—with the beautiful carved horses and, maybe, lions or giraffes... I remember when I was very little sitting on one of the stationary horses, firmly held to my seat by the encircle. leather strap...and then, sometimes, I would ride on the up and down horses tightly held in my Father's arms . . . what joy and bliss!! . . I never could stand any of those rides that go around very fast, or those that swoop up and down in sickening hilly thrills . . . but the merry-go-round with its blaring carousel organ music was such a joy ... and do you remember, when you grew old enough, you would ride on the outside row of up and down horses and reach for the outstretched rings as you swooped by?...and what a great moment when you found you had the brass ring and that entitled you to a free ride... Today, there aren't so many merry-go-rounds but the horses from the old ones have become a very expensive collectible... and the carousel horse is a feature of so many items—mugs and plates and figurines and candle holders and on the front of T-shirts and Christmas ornaments—and there's even a full-size hand carved copy of one of the famous old carousel horses all decorated with lovely carved roses and complete with brass pole—and it's mounted on rockers and has become a feature of many homes...so the next time you get near a merry-go-round, no matter what age you are, buy a ticket, climb aboard, go up and down, reach for the brass ring-and have a wonderful time. Yours, Lulubelle

The Friends Of THIRTEEN Now Incorporated

The Friends of THIRTEEN, a support group of citizens from Long Island as well as the rest of the tri-state area, which has performed volunteer work for public television stations WNET/THIRTEEN for more than 20 years, has expanded from a volunteer adjunct to an incorporated organization, it was announced recently by William F. Baker, president of the

Under the agreement signed by the Friends and THIRTEEN recently, the new organization will function as a separate volunteer entity, the purpose of which, ac-cording to Friends' board secretary Beverly W. Lundquist is "to serve THIRTEEN as a com munications link between the station and the station's constituencies." The Friends help THIRTEEN in a number of capacities, rang ing from holding fund-raising events to foster-ing community involvement in the station. The 600-plus-member Friends group is comprised of 15 separate regional councils located in five regions of THIRTEEN's view-ing area—Long Island has three regional councils; Manhasset Bay (Port Washington, Manhasset, Roslyn), North Shore and South Shore, Manhattan, Westchester, Connecticut and New Jersey and the other areas. Under its new charter, the Friends will be govern-ed by a Board of Directors. Each of the five regions will be represented on the Board and the separate councils within each region will be supervised by a regional vice chairman.

Dr. Baker noted "It will enable the Friends—who have already given so much to the station and are an intrinsic valuable part of it-to do more of their good work under the leadership of a centralized organization. Weare very fortunate to have such dedicated supporters as Harriet Flynn Beverly Lundquist and the Friends of THIR-TEEN," he added.

In our midst, there are many who serve without fan fare and notoriety. They never hold a press conference or issue a press release. But, their statement for humanity leaves a daily indelible impression on many lives. One of these people is Michael Moran. Michael is the Executive Director of the Interfaith Nutrition Network (INN). He coordinates eleven "soup kitchens" and four shelters ordinates eleven "soup kitchens" and four shelters for the homeless on Long Island—from Hempstead to Patchogue.

Robert R. McMillan in need. Guests at the INN range from abused wives and children to the "throw aways" of our society—the teenagers and senior citizens whose relatives no longer wish to deal with them. Not only does the INN provide shelter for its guests, but it also provides counseling and seeks to find meaningful employment for the people it serves. Shattered lives are helped by the dedication and love of the staff and volunteers who volunteer their services to the INN.

A few weeks ago I had the opportunity to visit one of the INN's kitchens in Hempstead. I also spent some time with Michael Moran. When I asked Michael about the criteria for deciding who could be served at the soup kitchen, he smiled and said, "Whoever comes is served. God has provided, and we ask no questions." What a beautiful way to deal with those in need. In small towns across America, neighbors provide for those in need without yards of bureaucratic red tape and paperwork. The same principles apply at the INN.

The INN has a one million dollar a year budget with just about sixty four percent of the funds coming from churches, corporations and individuals. The balance comes from government. Many restaurants donate excess fresh food to the INN. All of the staff at each soup kitchen is made up of volunteers. Volunteers also help immeasurably at each of the INN's shelters. For example, each shelter has resident live in volunteers who provide stability, warmth and a family—like atmosphere for guests.

Needs persist for the INN. Volunteers are needed to interface with guests at the four shelters. More help is always in demand at the eleven soup kitchens. Food must be picked up at local restaurants, and guests require assistance in visiting various social agencies. Michael Moran "...enjoys doing things for other people." If you do, too, the Interfaith Nutrition Network would welcome your personal and financial support. For additional information, give Michael a call

NRC Releases Shoreham Report Card

An evaluation of the Shoreham Nuclear Power Station by the federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission showed that plant staff carned top grades in six of ten categories rated by the NRC, while scoring satisfactory grades in the four remaining areas. In its annual report card, known as a

In its annual report card, known as a Systematic Assessment of Licensee Performance (SALP), the NRC said that, overall, Shoreham's "staff and management has maintained the high performance levels for areas previously assessed asstrengths and effected improvements in other areas."

Shoreham's grades on the SALP evaluation, which covered the period from March 1, 1986 to July 31, 1987, place the 800-mega-watt plant near the top of its class. According to the NRC, only two of the 27 operating nuclear power plants regulated by its Region 1 Office received better grades than Shoreham.

LILCO earned an excellent rating for its performance in the areas of Plant Operations and Start-up Testing, Radiological Controls. Emergency Preparedness, Security and Safeguards, Licensing Activities, and Quality Assurance. Found satisfactory were the areas of Maintenance, Surveillance, Training and Qualification Effectiveness, and, a new category. Engineering and Corporate Technical Support. In two of the satisfactory areas, the company's performance was said to be "improving."

"We're very pleased and proud that the NRC has recognized the hard work of the Shoreham staff in improving the safety and efficiency of plant operations since our last evaluation." said John Leonard, LILCO's vice president of nuclear operations.

The NRC evaluation showed that LILCO's performance improved or remained the same in all areas since the last rating period, covering March, 1985 through February, 1986. LILCO showed 'considerable improvement' in Radiological Controls and Licensing Activities, going from a grade 3 (needs attention) to a grade 1 (excellent). None of the areas studied was found to need "increased management attention and improvement."

The only shortcomings noted by the SALP report concerned housekeeping practices following maintenance work, and the need for modifications to two plant systems that would allow for easier maintenance and testing.

The NRC said that deficiencies in the Shoreham radiochemistry department noted in the previous SALP report have been addressed by plant management, improving the assessment of the Radiological Controls area from a grade 3 to a grade 1. However, the agency noted that past deficiencies still "warrant continued management attention to ensure long-term effective performance."

L.I. Emergency Food and Shelter Problems Continue

More than 1,200 Long Island people would go hungry today if they could not get to a food pantry or soup kitchen. The number of bicounty residents faced with hunger who turn to relatives or friends may make the true food mergency picture somewhat higher.

emergency picture somewhat higher.
But, the documented amount of hunger is shown by statistics in the recent report of the Long Island Emergency Food and Shelter Board. From November 1986 through September 1987, the Board distributed more than 1415,000 of federal funds to provide emergency food throughout Nassau and Suffolk Counties. These funds amounted to over 408,000 emergency meals — an average of 1,218 emergency meals a day during this 335 day period. The daily average for Nassau was 750 emergency meals. In Suffolk, the average emergency meals was 450 a day.

This Edge of Security

At the same time, Long Islanders received better than 100,000 nights of emergency shelter from the federal funds. These people who own or rent their own homes, for the most part, reflect the thin edge of security facing elderly people, the rising number of Long Island people known as the "working poor" and people who have medical or other restrictions. Federal guidelines allow only one grant to stave off foreclosure, eviction or loss of heat and light.

Persisting Emergency

Because the funds dispersed by the Lord Island board are limited to critical food and shelter emergencies, this aid program lilustrates the extent to which Long Island is meeting these basic living requirement. Since its founding in 1984 the Board has received three federal grants that total more than to million (12,000,128). The most recent grant for an eleven-month period that ended last September was almost one-half of the total

Although these food and shelter funds boost the Long Island economy since they are spent by recipients immediately, the persisting need for emergency aid indicated that inadequate affordable housing on Long Island creates severe strains on lower income people. In order to have a roof over their heads they use much of their income — including food money — to meet the area's high residential costs.

The Long Island Emergency Food and Shelter Board serves as a local channel for rapid distribution of funds received directly from the federal government. This community board was organized by and receives administrative support at no cost from United Way of Long Island.

L.I Housing Partnership Formed

Recognizing the overwhelming need for affordable housing on Long Island, more than two dozen of the area's businesses, banks, educational institutions, professional and labor organizations, trade associations and a major religious group have come together to form the Long Island Housing Partnership, Inc. This not-for-profit corporation will primarily facilitate the development of housing for Long Island's first-time home buyers and senior citizens. The announcement was made recently by Robert McMillan, chairman of the Long Island Association Housing Committee, and partner in the Long Island law firm of Rivkin, Radler, Dunne & Bayh.

"The Partnership was formed to help Long Island businesses continue to grow here?" McMillan said. "The housing created as a result of our efforts would be designed for ownership by people who live and work in Nassau or Suffolk County and who earn between 125,000 and 150,000 annually." McMillan said. "Therefore, in order to be affordable to these individuals, the purchase price of each home should be between 170,000 and 1100,000. Purchase covenants would be established to prevent a home buyer from realizing a windfall profit on resale."

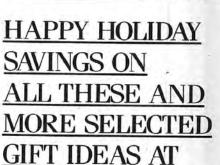

The Long Island Housing Partnership is an outgrowth of more than a year of meetings and consultants between members of the Long Island Association Housing Committee and government and business leaders. The Partnership will solicit land and financing to stimulate the creation of affordable housing.

Charter contributors to the Partnership include:

Long Island Association, Long Island Board of Realtors, Long Island Home Builders, Newsday, Bank of New York, Chemical Bark, Citibank, Norstar Bank, Chase Manhattin Bank, National Westminster Bank, USA, Manufacturers Hanover Trust, Roosevelt Savings Bank, Bank of Long Island, Association for a Better Long Island, Ernst & Whinnes, Deloitte, Haskins & Sells, Slacke Test Boring, SUNY Stony Brook, Hofstra University, Parkridge Organization, Nassau-Suffolk Lumber & Supply Corp., Diocese of Rockwife Centre, Rivkin, Radler, Dunne & Bayh, Klein & Eversoll, Margolin, Winer & Evens, Gross & Christensen, Lumex, Inc., KMG Peat Marwick

For more information about the partnership, or to get involved, contact Robert McMillan at 357-3450.,

New Oil Heat Rebate Program

New Yorkers can now save 1180 on the pur chase of a selected high-efficiency, oil-fired heating system under a new program announced by State Energy Commissioner William D. Cotter.

Commissioner Cotter said the Oil Heat Rebate Program, funded with $1.5 million in recovered petroleum overcharges, offers rebates of 1180 to homeowners and tenants in one- to four-family buildings who buy new oil-fired furnaces or boilers with Annual Fuel Use Efficiency ratings of 86 percent or bet-ter. Rebates are available on a first-come, first eryed basis until funding is exhausted.

"This new program will test the effectiveness of rebates in encouraging people to buy the most efficient oil-fired heating systems available, "Commissioner Cotter said." "Consumers who replace their old, inefficient heating systems with qualifying high-efficiency models not only will save money through the rebate but through reduced heating bills as well.

For example, if your present heating system is 60 percent efficient and you used 800 gallons of oil to heat your home last winter, a new 88 percent-efficient system could save you more than $200 in heating costs in the first year," the commissioner and

He said the State Energy Office has supplied all oil heating equipment dealer in the State with lists of furnaces and boilers which qualify for the rebate. Consumers can self-copy of the list by calling the toll-free beau York State Energy Hotline (1-800-342 the Energy Office's Bureau of Residential Conservation (518-473-1745).

The Oil Heat Rebate Program is open to all State homeowners and residents of one and four-family buildings who never land received a grant from any other Federal state or local government program to cover the cost of a new heating system.

Rebates are not available for new constant tion, mobile homes or for heating equipment fired by kerosene, natural gas or propane Only correctly completed applications of purchases will be accepted. Applicant should receive their rebates in eight to ten weeks.

"The Oil Heat Rebate Program is part of New York's plan for returning more than $2.10 million in recovered oil overcharges to con sumers through programs and services that will save them energy and money for years to come," Commissioner Cotter said.

Long Island BBB Challenges ICC

A recent investigation by the Better Business Bureau of Long Island (LIBBB) revealed that Annual Performance Reports, which are required to be distributed to potential customers by interstate movers, have never been audited by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Noting that the report states "approved by OMB," and the heading begins "Interstate Commerce Commission, Office of Compliance and Consumer Assistance," the Bureau is concerned that consumers may be misled into believing the information has been verified. The LIBBB recommended to the ICC that unless reports are audited on a regular basis, they should be modified to state clearly that the information is provided by interstate movers and is not confirmed.

Since 1082, interstate movers have been required to distribute these reports, which include, among other information, statistics on how well the company meets its delivery schedule, how often final charges exceed estimates, and how quickly the company settles claims. Commented Janice Grassi, Ex-ecutive Director of the LIBBB, "While the Annual Performance Report contains important data, it is of questionable value if it remains unsubstantiated."

In response to the LIBBB's investigation. the Director of the ICC Office of Compliance and Consumer Assistance stated: "...the household goods regulations which require the filing of annual performance reports by household goods carriers are currently under review. I can assure you that this office ... will include your concerns in any recommendation that is made to the Commission.

Inasmuch as the regulations have been under review for several years, the LIBBB is disappointed with the ICC's response and maintains that reports should be audited on a regular basis.

AHA'S AND HMM'S.... Dealing Creatively with the Holidays

The sled is squeaking on the new fallen snow in my spa today. I'm gliding past the skaters, through a town that looks alot like Lake Placid in the movie White Christmas, I can hear the bells ringing and I expect to see old Bing just around the bendf A pre-holiday trip to the AHA SPA is just the thing to keep all the hustle and bustle in perspective. All of us carry lots of baggage around that surfaces during pre-holiday preparations and post-holiday clean-up and maybe even during the holidays themselves! A little creative thinking can turn that baggage into Santa's bag! I like to challenge those attending my Spa sessions to prepare for the holidays with an IWWMI, In What Ways Might I... exercise. Recently, a group of creative thinkers asked themselves "In what Ways Might We be creative with our Thanksgiving celebration?" challenged the men and women to each think of something they might do, that they had never done before. I here-by challenge you to try the same exercise. And this "new thing" does not have to be monumental, like catching your own turkey in the wild and plucking every feather yourself. It can be as simple as finally trying turnips (which you have avoided carefully for 25 years!) One woman decided to have a glass of champagne and a bubble bath the night before ... to put her in a relaxed mood to stuff the turkey. Another decided to call a relative he had not spoken to in a long time. A third decided to cook a chicken, a first for him!

The group then decided to gain a new perspective on the holiday by applying an exercise called Managers and Manipulators. Each letter in the word Manager stands for an action verb with which you can "manipulate" the object of the exercise, in this case, Thanksgiving. M stands for minify, (dinner could be reduced to one course), magnify, (dinner could be held in Grand Central Station), or modify, (feasters could become fasters for the day). A stands for adapt, (meat could be eliminated for the vegetarians in the family). N stands for notice, (one could "notice" the lonely and hungry and invite them for dinner). A stands for arrange, (dinner could be arranged by color or texture). G stands for group, (feasters could be grouped according to age, or color of eyes, or height). E stands for elaborate, (careful attention could be paid to presentation of the meal, each display being made more elaborate). R stands for reverse, (dessert could be eaten first!) Sstands for simplify, (paper plates and plastic forks could be used!)

So here is the challenge for you on this holi day visit to the AHA SPA. First of all, think of at least 20 things you might do this holi-day that you have never done before. Seriously consider doing one or two. Now create a ist of ten action verbs (you may wish to use those mentioned above...or to create your own list at random.) Apply each verb to the coming holidays. Be playful. Let the child inside you have fun. See how many create ways you can list to chase away the holiday blues

And after all the feasting, we really should meet in the sauna.

Giving Children Unstructured Time

A few weeks ago on Sunday attempoon, I was durfolly watching my eight year old daughter playing in a soccer game as part of the town league. Having played and coach de soccer for twenty five years, I have a great love for and a solid knowledge of the game. So. it is quite enjoyable to be able to see my children learning and enioving a sport which has played an important part in my bite.

As I watched the group of voungsters pursue the ball about the field with various degrees of enthusant. I rouced that my daughter, amidst the fury of competition, was looking up in the sky at a flock of geese flying overhead. Since my daughter is my third child, I am no longer embarrass ed by such actions and simply called her attention to where the hall was as she was facing the opposite direction. Meanwhile another parent whose son was obviously more involved in the action of the game than my daughter, was frantically unging his son to kick the ball at the goal. I simply smiled.

Highby Ballidous

Often as parents we tend to be vicanously through our children or, in an attempt to bestow upon them as much in the way of enrichment and opportunities, we may lose sight of the fact that we are dealing with young children whose limits, interests and abilities are not the same as ours. While it is important to expose our children to a vanety of opportunities athletically, muscally, aristically, or otherwise, it is incumbent upon us to insure that we do not over-extend our children. They kee us and want to please us so they will not necessarily voice objections to day after day of planned activities. Also, I firmly believe children of all ages need some unstructured time for themselves, uncluttered by social, physical or emotional demands. Enjoy you' children and expose them to the many opportunities available in today's communities, but don't forget to give them time to simply enjoy the geese llying overhead.

Happy Holidays to you and your families.

This time it isn't the British who are coming, but once more a legion of valiant voluners and officials, ready at this season of icy blasts and internal warmth to enlist now for those balmy days next June 2-5, and to dis cover pure joy. That will be the fun of participation in the fourth annual New York State Games for the Physically Challenged to be held on those dates at Mitchell Athletic Complex in Uniondale and at nearby Nassau Community College. Susan Gordon Ryan, Executive Director of the Games, noted that the opening ceremonies will be at night on Thursday, June 2.

"Maybe we can give everyone a little warmth in this cold and wintery time of the year, just remembering that we had real steam heat each year in the past for our games which by coincidence seemed to arrive on the hottest days of the year," she said.

The four day program which last year at-tracted more than 980 participants, involves a complete cross section of athletic events for physically challenged young people in the 5-11

TO YOUR HEALTH

By RICHARD H. BLAU, M.D.

Gout is a Type of Arthritis

My patients are always surprised to learn that gout is a form of arthritis. Arthritis means joint inflammation, and one cause of inflammation is gout. This type of arthritis results from a build-up of body substances called uric acid. High blood levels of uric acid may not only affect the joints, but other organs in the body, including the kidneys. When uric acid levels become very high, they become deposited in the joints as crystals. These crystals produce the pain of a gouty attack.

Gout, commonly thought of as an aristocrat's disease, can affect anyone. Although men are affected more than women, an estimated one million Americans suffer from this disorder.

Attacks often begin at night, and may only affect one joint, such as the big toe. The involved joint usually turns red.

becomes hot, swollen, and very painful. A common error is to take aspririn for the pain. Aspirin in small doses may actually make a gout attack worse

Since there are over 100 forms of ar-thritis, a correct diagnosis is very important. Rheumatologists, arthritis experts. will usually remove fluid from the joint and examine it for gout crystals. Once the diagnosis has been confirmed, treatment can be started. Treatment for gout is very simple and effective. Unfortunately, many people with gout suffer unnecessary and painful attacks. Medica tions can often stop an attack within an hour, and will often prevent future attacks.

Arthritis strikes one out of seven people. Learn the facts. Call for your complimentary copy of "The Joint Approach An Arthritis Overview.

The Investor's Corner

By JOSEPH P. FREY, Ph.D.

Options? Options? Options?

When markets have the volatility that has been experienced in the last two months the professionals turn to and use options to play the market. So do those people who use insider information to make a killing in the market. Incidentally, be careful using these if you ever get insider information. One of the first places they look is to how the options markets reacted when there is unusual activity. This is a way of saying, "do not be a pig."

There are two general classes of options that can be used; puts and calls, and future contracts. I will do a periodic series of articles on these fascinating instruments.

Since I do not believe that the average investor should be anywhere near future contracts, this article will discuss puts and calls. They are hard enough to understand. Yet they can be quite profitable if you have guessed the movement of a stock. So, on to a little background.

Let's start with a few definitions because to understand you need to know what the names mean. A CALL gives the owner of the contract the right to BUY 100 shares of a stock at a predetermined price (called the strike price). The hope is that if the stock rises in value, the call owner will "call" out the stock from the writer (seller) of the option, pay for it at the lower strike price, and then sell the stock for a profit, It is as simple as that.

If you are a little confused, maybe this illustration will help: You go to your regualr broker, discount or full service, and say "buy me a call on X stock." The process will

You will pay a price to the writer (the one who agrees to sell you the stock) for a price (called the premium). Let's say it cost $300. Let's suppose the strike price is 150 per share. This is where you are: You have an agreement to buy, if you want (you do not have to) 100 shares of JPF Ltd.. @ $50/share. If you decide to buy the stock your cost will be $5000. Since you have already paid $300 in premium, you have a total cost of $5300.

Each CALL has a date at which it will expire. Anytime before that expiration date you can call the stock out from the writer. You would only do so if the price rises because this is what gives you a profit. The stock price should be above the strike price. You make money if the stock goes above 153 (strike price of 50 and the 3 premium).

If you sold the stock at $58 your profit from the transaction would be $5 per share ($58 minus $50 stock cost minus $3 for the option). A profit of $4 for each share or $400.

This does not sound like much. But, if you remember that your initial investment was only $300 to control 100 shares of stock, your profit is 33 percent for a short time.

Look at it another way. You could have purchased the stock outright for $47/share, a little below the strike price. Your outlay would be $4700. When you sold the stock for $58/share you would be ahead by $1100. That is a percentage gain of 23 percent. You had at risk $4700. With the option, your total risk was the $300 premium. 33 per cent versus 23 percent makes the call option make sense.

We do not have enough space to discuss puts. Please save this article for the discussion of puts. We will be doing a series of articles on all options. Our objective will be to help us understand the volatility of this market. So you may want to save them all. Doctor Frey is a professor of investments and finance at LIU/C.W. New Look for Telephone Bills

New York Telephone customers in Nassau-Suffolk will see a new look to their phone bills starting this month.

The company announed Dec. 10 that a new plain language, redesigned phone bill is being phased in over the next three months in the New York metropolitan area, starting this

The company said the new bill is easier for customers to understand. The new design and language, developed in cooperation with the Public Service Commission, should reduce the size of the average bill to four pages from seven. Work on simplifying and reformatting the bill began three years ago. New York Telephone used a market research firm and a plain language consultant in the project. Hundreds of customers across the state were interviewed to test reactions to various graphic and word change proposals.

"We listened carefully to what customers had to say and incorporated their comments and concerns in a clearer, more informative bill," said Dwight A. Kellogg, vice president finance and comptroller.

Features of the new bill include an easier to read type style, varied type sizes and ink colors, and a simpler layout.

A regional calling area map also appears on the back of the bill and, starting this month, each new bill will contain an explanation of terms and services covered in the bill

SERVICEWEEK AT Old Westbury School of the Holy Child was a fitting climax to the first quarter study of Social Justice. The students spent the week in surrounding communities working at Deepdale General Hospital, Little Neck; Human Resources School, Alberton: United Cerebal Palsy Center, Roosevelt; Little Village School, Garden City; Association for Children with Downs Syndrom, Bellmore; Echo Nursing Home, Laurel Hollow; and Children's Greenhouse, Garden City. They also participated in a program for eldow; shut-ins in Westbury where they did chores such as cleaning windows and garages, raking leaves, and food shopping. In addition to this activity, Holy Child's Middle School students hosted a party for the Westbury Head Start youngsters and helped serve refreshments at the annual luncheon for senior citizens at the Senior Citizens Center of Westbury, Inc.

Army Offers Financial Aid For College

As college tuition continues to rise, the Army continues to be a source of financial aid to young adults. High school graduates can to young adults. High school graduates can receive more than $25,000 for college under The GI Bill Plus The Army College Fund.

This financial aid package has proven popular with new soldiers, and is available for enlistments of two, three or four years. Soldiers can receive $17,000 for two years of service, $22,800 for three years, and $25,200 for four years.

The funds become available after an enlistment is completed, with checks arriving on a monthly basis during the school year. The amount varies, depending on length of ser-vice and number of courses carried. A fulltime student who served four years would receive $700 monthly in New Army College

Fund benefits. The Army offers more than money for college. Through the Army Continuing Educa-tion System, enlistees can attended ac-credited college courses on or off post with the Army paying 75 percent of their tuition for approved courses

While fulfilling their enlistment, soldiers can get a head start on college by attending courses at Army education centers, which are located at Army posts worldwide, or at near by colleges. Courses offered at these centers are taught by civilian college instructors, and are affiliated with many quality colleges.

"The Army offers more than educational benefits," said Capt. Autry, Company Commander for Nassau Recruiting Company. Soldiers can select training in one of more than 250 skills, many of which relate to civilian employment in fields such as nursing, electronics, communications and public affairs.

The Army also offers various other educa tional programs for young adults with dif-ferent needs. For those who've already completed two years of college, there is the 2 + 2 + 2 option, under which participants serve a two-year tour of duty and receive $21,000 to finish college. Money for college is also available for part-time service close to home in one of the Army's reserve components.

Friends Academy Appoints New Headmaster

The Board of Trustees of Friends Academy, Locust Valley, has announced the appoint-ment of David Drinkwater as Headmaster effective July 1, 1988. Dr. Drinkwater succeeds Headmaster Ted Withington who will be retiring from Friends after leading the school for 22 years.

Born in Harrow, England and now a United States citizen, Dr. Drinkwater was educated at Oxford University where he earned a B.A. degree and subsequently a doctorate (Ph.D) in Modern History. He was captain of University College crew and rugby football while at Oxford. Since the completion of his studies there, Dr. Drinkwater has been engaged in the academic field, primarily in the United States, as both educator and administrator.

Following a five year period as Dean of Students at Amherst College during which time he developed the plans to implement that college's decision to become a coeducational institution, Dr. Drinkwater studied for two years at the Harvard Univer-sity Graduate School of Education. Since 1980 he has also been Adjunct Professor at the Department of Education of Cornell. Dr. Drinkwater's administrative responsibilities at Cornell have included revitalizing and restructuring the Dean's office, supervisory responsibility for more than 12,000 students, initiation and development of extracumicular learning programs, development of University-wide counselling and student sup-port services, and consultation on development of academic programs and faculty development. In addition to these respon-sibilities, Dr. Drinkwater participated in the Executive Development Program at Cornell's Graduate School of Management in 1984 and in 1986 headed the county-wide United Fund campaign. Auto Club Offers Recipe For Holiday Safety

Party givers who want to quench the thirst of their guests who must drive—without making them tipsy—might consider serving zesty holiday "cocktails" that are 100 percent alcohol-free alcohol-free.

That's this season's suggestion from the Automobile Club of New York, whose annual traffic safety campaign, "First a Friend...Then a Host," reminds New Yorkers who plan to entertain that true hospitality includes caring about the post-party safety of friends and relations.

Developed for the AAA Traffic Safety Foundation by Teachers College of Columbia University, the "First a Friend" program stresses social controls to make parties both merry and safe. Hosts who offer guests the option of non-alcoholic thirst-quenchers like the following will find it an inventive way of accomplishing both acale: accomplishing both goals:

Hot Buttered Rumless

1 lb. brown sugar 3/8 lb. unsalted butter 1 tsp. ground cloves 1 tsp. cinnamon 1/4 tsp. nutmeg 1/4 tsp. of mace

1/4 tsp. ginger hot water whole cloves or cinnamon stick

Mix first seven ingredients. For each serving, add one heaping tablespoon of mixture to very hot water in a 12-oz mug or brandy snifter. Stir briskly. Garnish with whole cloves or cinnamon stick.

Caring hosts can also sharply curb alcohol consumption at the party by emphasizing food rather than drink. The local AAA affiliate suggests that you:

Serve plenty of food right from the very beginning. Don't put out drinks first and food

Set up your buffet in a location that is convenient for all and make it temptingly at-

 After serving the first drink, let the guests determine when they want to refill. Don't force additional drinks, nor spend the evening freshening up the drinks in guests' hands. Never offer "one for the road."

 Bring on the coffee, and plenty of it, at least an hour or more before your guests will be leaving. Coffee is not a cure for overindulgence—but when drinking coffee, guests are not taking on more alcohol.

And, if somehow one of the guests does get under the weather, see that he is driven home by a non-imbiber; it's good planning to make arrangements for such a car pool in advance. Or there's always the local taxi com-pany and the cost is modest compared with even a dented fender, to say nothing of a more serious accident.

When the party's over and eveyone's home safely snug in bed, sit down, kick off your shoes and toast yourself for being first a friend...and then a host.

The 83rd Annual Fall Flower Show At Planting Fields Arboretum

The Fall Flower and Landscape Show, "Gateway to the Orient", was held recently at the Planting Fields Arboretum in Oyster Bay. The show was dedicated to Gordon E. Jones, the director of the Planting Fields for over 30 years. Mr. Jones became the director of the Arboretum in 1955. Planting Fields owes much to Gordon Jones, for without his knowledge, skill and determination, it would not be the outstanding showplace that it is today.

Located on the former estate of William Roberson Coe, Planting Fields Arboretum is listed in the National Register of Historic Districts. Administered by the Long Island State Park and Recreation Commission, the arboretum encompasses 400 acres; 160 acres of gardens and plant collections, 40 acres of lawns and over 200 acres of woodlands and fields. There are two greenhouse complexes totalling over one and a half acres, where native, tropical and sub-tropical plants are cultivated under controlled temperatures and atmospheric conditions.

Planting Fields is open 7 days a week throughout the year (closed on Christmas Day only) and admission is $1.50 per person. For further information, call $22.9200.

Used Hearing Aids Needed by Elderly

Hearing problems are common in later life and yet many older persons deny they have a hearing loss. In an effort to overcome the resistance of patients at the Jewish Institute for Geriatric Care in New Hyde Park, audiologists distribute used hearing aids to convince patients that they can improve their hearing capability.

In order to meet current need, the Institute is asking for donations of used hearing aids.

David Glaser, Executive Vice-President of the riatric/rehabilitation facility, explained that the devices will be lent to patients on a trial

"The loss of hearing is an additional burden for elderly men and women already coping with severe physical problems." Mr. Glaser said. "It solates them from family and friends. With the help of an ald they become engaged in the world around them and we see a notificable improvement in their temperature.

noticeable improvement in their emotional well-being.

"Our experience shows that once patients agree to use an aid they quickly become aware of the improvement in amplification and then readily agree to be fitted with their own instruments," he added.

Barbara Levy, JIGC's audiologist, pointed out that used aids are also needed for patients who suffer from memory loss or have a history of being destructive. "These patients can lose or destroy two or three devices a year. We rely on our donated aids to keep them sup-plied." All such aids she added, are tested and must be fully functional before being placed on loan.

Donations can be sent to Mrs. Levy at JIGC, 271-1176 Avenue, New Hyde Park, N.Y. 11042. Further information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Levy at 718-343-2100 or 516-437-0090, extension 324. A letter confirming the contribution will be sent to all donors.

Bereavement Center Assists With 'Grief Work'

The crisis of death is one that touches all of us. Frequently, it means the predictable leath of a parent or a spouse, but all too often t also means that we are left to survive the death of a child, either through illness, acci-dent, or more and more frequently, suicide. Whatever the circumstances, how we cope with that crisis and come through it can alter the quality of life after the bereavement

Increasingly, human service professionals are recognizing that mourning is a process with predictable and identifiable stages. There is a growing recognition that the bereaved can be helped through the process and emerge from it prepared to face living in a world without the deceased.

Family Service Association of Nassau County was the first agency in Nassau County to offer a Bereavement Center. Since its begin tooticr a Bereavement Center, since its beginning in 1979, the Center has helped thousands of Nassau County residents cope successfully with what has been described as "the transitional crisis of death."

"We're not there to make people feel better. They'll have to feel worse before they can feel better. 'Grief Work' is hard work, and we're there to get the group to move for-ward," said Gwen Schwartz-Borden, founder of the Bereavement Center. "The degree to which the bereaved does his/her grief work and accepts the pain of bereavement has a lot to do with how well they survive the death of a significant person."

The Center offers several professionally led groups, each designed to meet the needs of various individuals, i.e. widows, widowers, under 40, families of suicides or parents who have had a child die from AIDS or Sudden Infant Death Syndrome.

Michael Miller, current Director of the Center, points out. "Groups seem to be the most helpful way of coping with death. But, we also offer individual or family counseling. if it's necessary, either before, during or after the group experience."

The death of a family member requires the reorganization of life and the re-evaluation of roles. A wife may no longer be a wife, a parent no longer a parent. The Bereavement Center helps the entire family to deal with the crisis by giving them the strength to help themselves in what may be a totally redesign-

Bereavement Center groups work to pre-ent additional losses which can frequently follow the death of a family member. Suicide, family discord and martial break-ups are not uncommon side-effects. These stern from the anger, isolation, guilt or despondency of the survivors. For example, when a child in the family dies, it is estimated that upwards of 70 percent of the surviving couples separate or divorce within 1 to 5 years, but in seven years of operation, the Bereavement Center has not seen the dissolution of one single marriage.

For information on the Bereavement Center, call Family Service Association at

Helping Kids Cope With Their Fears

The first day of school, nightmares and the thought of losing a parent are three common childhood fears. While everyone encounters a variety of frightening experiences throughout life, children are more vulnerable to being afraid because they don't know what to expect, according to an article in the December/January issue of PTA Today.

"The most enduring and common fear of children at any age is the loss of a parent." says Mary Renck Jalongo, professor of education at Indiana University of Pennsylvania in Indiana, Pa., writing in the National Parent-Teacher Association's magazine. Infants and toddlers often express this fear through tears and loud protests during even a brief separa-tion, she says. However, older children most often fear loss of a parent through death or

 Avoid the sudden and unexpected. When possible, children should be prepared to face unavoidably frightening experiences.

• Allow children to proceed at their own pace in facing fears. Fears are best conquered in a gradual way that allows children to gain confidence.

· Listen to children and discuss fears Sometimes what appears to be one type of fear is actually another.

Police Take AIDS Precaution

As a precatulonary measure for officers, all Nassau County Police patrol vehicles will shortly be equipped with communicable disease protection packs, according to an announcment by Police Commissioner Samuel

A first order of some 350 of the packets at 123 each has been placed and delivery is expected shortly.

The kits include gloves, goggles, a face mask, a cap, a scrub brush, towels, a polybacked sheet and a plastic jump suit.

These protective articles were included in this kit at the recommendation of the Department's Chief Surgeon, Dr. Joseph Schepis," Commissioner Rozzi said. "The packages will be available to patrol officers to use at their own discretion."

When involved with an aided case or transporation of a prisoner, the officer may choose to employ some part or all of the sit items," Dr. Schepis said. "If there is bleeding or other contact with body fluidi, the officer may decide to take precautions.

"We are aware that there is no likelihood of someone contracting AIDS from casual contact. We don't feel there is a major threat of AIDS, even where there is bleeding or discharge of body fluids. These measures are being taken to reassure the police officer.

Long Island Firm Celebrates Silver Anniversary

Getting To Know You is introducing a new look for its newcomer welcoming program in conjunction with the start of its Silver Anniversary celebration on December 18. The company is the nation's fastest growing newcomer welcoming service and has head quarters in Westbury.

Getting To Know You produces a program for new homeowners which is sponsored by local merchants and professionals. The vehi cle for this program, which serves the New York metropolitan area, as well as communities in 28 other states, is UPS-delivered personal phone/address directory. In honor of the Silver Anniversary of the company, the directories delivered starting the celebration year will sport silver covers, the first cover color change in 25 years.

"The cover change not only signifies our 25th year in business," explained Irving Siegel, President and founder of Getting To Know You, "it also demonstrates our determination to keep our program as up to date as possi ble. The silver directory covers were tested as being more attractive to the new homeowners in the late 1980's than our current brown covers. When you consider that the majority of homeowners who receive our directory display them right by their telephones, we want to be certain our media is not only useful, but attractive as well."

The directories are accompanied by gift certificates from the sponsoring merchants and professionals. Information about each advertiser is pre-printed in the directory, giving the sponsor a continuous piece of exposure in the family's new home. The program helps new homeowners get to know the community, exposing them to the Getting To Know You sponsors' services and

It is expected that more than 400,000 direc tories will be delivered nationwide by the end of 1087, Getting To Know You was founded in Great Neck 25 years ago and now serves 2,400 communities throughout the country.

Here's Space You'll Need for Eating in the Kitchen

Brought to you by Don Boico, CKD, CR

There are three ways you have to figure space needs if you want to brunch or dine in your kit-chen. You have to allow for elbow room so people will be comfortable; for counter space in front them, for place settings and food; and for the seats as well as space for getting in and out of them.

These space needs are not critical if the room is large. But most kitchens are small enough to most kitchens are small enough to make it important that you calculate space needs accurately. First, assuming we are talking about a mack bar, you will need at least 45 inches from the back wall to the front of the seating space. This allows 30 inches for the seating space. This allows 30 inches for the seating space. This allows 30 inches for the seating area and for snackers to "squeeze" past.

For average elbow room, allow 24 inches per person, if your people are larger than average, sit them down and measure the space they need. But if they are thin, don't cut down on the 24 inches. After all you may have guests in the future.

Solving these kinds of problems is what we're here for, 50 you are always welcome in our snowroom. With no obligation.

Rotarian Brings 'The Gift of Life' To Africa

By ANDREA MARTONE

The newspapers and airwaves have been filled with stories on diplomacy and state din-ners in the wake of the Reagan-Gorbachev summit last week in Washington, D.C. Unlike most people, Manhasset's Anthony Zino could relate to meeting with heads of state and appearing on television overseas. He has done it.

Mr. Zino, a former Rotary District Governor and one of the founders of the Gift of Life program, has just returned from a month long, four-nation tour of Africa on a diplomatic mission of his own.

The Gift of Life, which began 13 years ago when the Manhasset Rotary Club flew a Ugandan girl to Saint Francis Hospital in Roslyn for corrective heart surgery that was not available elsewhere, is now a world-wide. non-profit organization that has helped more than 600 children in 20 nations.

Accepting an invitation offered earlier in the year from Rotary chapters in Africa, Mr. Zino left on his 'special mission' to Uganda, Zimbabwe, Kenya and Nigeria on Nov. 5. He landed at Entebbe Airport in Uganda and was greeted by a contingent of Rotarians.

The welcoming ceremony was an emo-tional one because it was also attended by two children who might not be alive today had it not been for the corrective heart had it not been for the corrective heart surgery they received through the program. Mr. Zino was chauffered to Kampala, which is a omiles from the airport, in a United Nations vehicle. He did not come empty handed upon arriving at a hospital there. Mr. Zino brought with him a defribillator that was donated by Booth Memorial Hospital for Uganda's new heart-screening clinic. In a ceremony that was televised and highlighted in Uganda's newspapers, Mr. Zino presented the piece of medical equipment to the country's prime minister and the Executive Director at Mulago Hospital, where it will be used.

Met Doctors In Zimbabwe
The Gift of Life received tremendous recognition one week later in the city of Harare in Zimbabwe which Mr. Zino visited on Nov. 12. Dr. Stuart Bartle, an American cardiologist, met him at the airport with the President of the Rotary Club in Harare. Dr. Bar-tle is afiliated with the University of Zimbabwe medical center and was anxious to have Mr. Zino tour the facility. It was there Mr. Zino met three more children who had been succesfully operated on at Mt. Sinal hopital in August and were in excellent health. He also made an inspection of hospitals in the Bush 145 miles north of Harare. Between Nov. 16-22, he was in Nairobi. Mr. Zino's mission was to work as liaison between the Medical College in Toledo, Ohio and hospitals in Kenyatta and Kijabbi. He made arrangements for a special visitation by the Medical team to perform surgery at their hospitals next summer with the cooperation of Rotatary clubs in Kenya.

Finally, in Lagos, Nigeria, Mr. Zino made his last stop as the Gift of Life Emissary where he was honored with dinners and gifts. There he visited Rotary Clubs and hospitals, including Cheshire House and the Compassion House, both institutions for children seriously affected by Polio and sponsored by Rotary. Rotary International has pledged to allocate $37 million dollars for POLIOPLUS programs they initiated, to immunize 249 million children in 42 countries in the hopes of virtual climination of polio worldwide. Mr. Zino was particularly filled with emotion in talk-ing about the children he visited there.

"They were so appreciative and grateful for all the help we had given them," he said. They presented me with skits they had rehearsed and sang songs, and it was impossi-ble for anyone to have a dry eye."

A Perfect Ambassador While it is apparent that Mr. Zino had an affect of his African hosts, it appears as though part of their culture may have rubbed off on

During a recent interview, only days after returning to the United States on Dec. 4, he greeted a reporter while dressed in traditional African tunic and hat. The clothing was given to him at civic gathering in Nigeria that was held in his honor. It is worn, he said, by all members of Rotary Clubs in African nations. Retired since 1979 from a successful marketing consultant firm he owned in Manhasset, and a widower for four years, Mr. Zino resides in Manhasset and continues to

Tickets for the reception are $15 and may be ordered at the same time as show reservations

St. John's Chorale And Orchestra To Present Messiah

Probably the most widely known and best loved choral work in Western Music, Handel's Messiah is not often performed in its entire-ty. Even less frequently is it performed with 18th century phrasing, ornamentation and dramatic word painting, or accompanied by authentic 18th century instruments. At 3:00 on Sunday, Dec. 20 at Trinity Church in Roslyn, Director Eric Milnes and the St. John's Chorale and Chamber Orchestra will present the com-plete Messiah, as Handel himself would have Music lovers familiar only with the first ("Christmas") section of the Messiah will have a chance to hear Handel's entire dramatic structure—continuing from the birth of Christ through the crucifixion, the resurrection, and the spreading of the Gospel, as brought vividly to life by Charles Jennens' arrangement of the Biblical text.

The impact of the words was of crucial importance to Handel, Director Eric Milnes has carefully coached the St. John's Chorale and soloists to ensure that the vocal lines are shaped to reveal Handel's dramatic musical

The members of the St. John's Chamber Or chestra, nationally known baroque specialists brought together by concertmaster Evan Johnson, perform on instruments made in the 18th century or copied from 18th century models. Those who have not heard the "oldfashioned" sounds of baroque instruments will notice the way in which they support the vocal lines and imitate vocal phrasings. A highlight of this performance, as it probably was in Handel's day, will be the aria The ming Arts, Long Island's summer arts school for students ages 8 to 19, has announced for mation of a major new program in ballet for the serious high school age dancer, The Usdan Ballet Theater. To be offered in July and August at the Center's 250-acre campus in South Huntington, the Usdan Ballet Theater will offer a more intense dance experience than has previously been available at the Center. For four one-hour periods each day, the serious dancer will be able to have classes in barre and floor technique in the morning; a choreographic session with one of the Ballet Division's Master Teachers just after; a rotating series of classes in pointe, variations and character dancing in the afternoon followed by an hour of modern dance or jazz. The Ballet Theater students will be chosen by audition and the program will be coor-dinated by Francis Patrelle, Chairman of the

Each summer approximately 1,700 students study art, music, dance, theater, filmmaking and creative writing at Usda. Instruc-tion is accomplished through groups of pupils working under a Master Teacher for the entire season. Enrollment is made on the basis of interest, and students are placed in groups of comparable age or achievement. Certain specialized classes require auditions for admission. In addition to the study programs, there are three outdoor swimming pools as well as basketball, archery, volleyball, ping pong and horseshoes to augment an already active day.

And if he's into Basics, you can skip the manicure and facials, lunch and skin consult.

He'll love it so much he'll beg you for more—easy; gift him with a five facial certificate, or—delicious!—five massages!

Guess what—that teeny gold box at the edge of your bed. He loved feeling good so much—he said 'encore'—for you:—now you can stop in to meet Henri for your own massage and steam, your European facial, perm, haircut and finish, your manicure-pedicure-skin analysis make-up and lunch—Wow! You're Beautiful! It's the ultimate aift: The Ultimate Treatment for Today's Woman.

There are smaller packages for milady, too: the Rejuvenation Experience, The Basics of Beauty, or, for your favorite teen, a mini facial, shampoo, style & finish, skin analysis and make up session.

You'll feel pampered from head to toe in the Massage Sanctuary, the Hair Design Pavilion, The Waxing Den... need we say more? Yes!

Henri Peters is an Esthetic Studio where pampering is an art—where the mediums are: cosmetics by Dior, Payot, Borghese, fragrances, specialty products.

The artists are trained specialists, trendsetters in their fields, who take time for consultation before preparing your pallete, whether your look is conservative or avant garde.

The Henri Peters design team has appeared at the Jacob Javitz Center where they've performed their personal magic for the trade, they've styled the N.Y. Islanders and styled the fashion models.

This holiday, it's your turn. Pamper each other with a gift certificate from Henri Peters Ltd. (8243 Jericho Turnpike, Woodbury—367-8000)—you'll feel so good you'll find special days all year long.

L'Impressions

The cloud-soft luxury of cashmere, in sweaters, scarves, leggings, blazers, skirts, stacks and dresses, makes the ultimate present for the special people on your list this holiday season.

At L'Impressions, 282 Main St., Port Washington, 883-0090, the look and feel of luxury is captured by eight top designers: Pringle, Lyle & Scott, Shi Designs, Edward Carracci, William Kasper, Pierre Ancel, Iris von Armin and Bruno Cuccinelli.

Using the softness and fine texture of this luxury yarn, these European and American designers have created collections of extraordinary clothing for sport, casual, dressy, and formal occasions.

This winter's fun look ... sweatshirts and leggings, is given added dimension, richness and warmth utilizing the subtle softness of cashmere ... if a ski vacation is in the offing, one of these stylish warmers would make a perfect gift.

For that gala holiday ball, tor New Year's Eve elegance, or for any event where dressing up is a must. L'Impressions has selected a magnificent collection of beaded cashmere evening tops to create a stunning outfit. Your favorite lady will feel like a queen in these uniquely crafted tops.

L'Impressions carries a range of styles, from the nigh fashion fun of Shi, to the classic look of Pringle, and the elegance and uniquely exciting flair of leading European designers such as Carracci and Ancel. No matter what your fashion taste or holiday budget, you'll find the perfect cashmere gift, in clothing and accessories, at L'Impressions, where free alterations are part of the present, and personal attention is as important as high quality merchandise.

Toy Safety Tips For The Holidays

Every year, hundreds of youngsters spend part of the noliday season in hospital emergency rooms being treated for injuries from a wide variety of toys.

That cuddly teddy bear may not be as harmless as t looks. Small, loosely attached buttons may cause chokng if some child swallows them. Spikey pins holding the eyes in place may have sharp edges and cause cuts and acerations.

While most toy manufacturers comply with safety regulations, providing children with hours of fun and enjoyment, safety experts from the Zurich-American Insurance Group's Loss Control Department recommend making a thorough check before purchase. Parents and friends should look for and read the age classifications and safety labels on toys before they buy.

Sharp Edges and Points Safety regulations now prohibit sharp points and hazardous sharp glass or metal edges in new toys intended for use by children under eight years of age. Older toys should be checked for sharp cutting edges and points, and stuffed toys may have wires inside the toy which could cut or stab it exposed.

Infant Toys and Small Parts The law bans small parts | accompanied by proper warnings and instructions. in toys intended for children under three years of age. Infant toys like rattles should be large enough to prevent choking type accidents. Watch out for removeable or breakable parts like eyes and noses on toys and dolls, and squeakers on squeeze toys.

Cords and Strings Hanging toys with long strings or cords could present a very serious strangulation hazard for children, particularly infants.

Propelled Objects This group of toys can be turned into weapons which can injure the eyes in particular. Always check projectiles such as arrows and darts for well secured, soft protected tips or rubber suction cups

Toxicity The Federal Hazardous Substances Act prohibits the use of poisonous and otherwise harmful chemicals in toys and other articles intended for use by children. The law has placed severe limitations on the amount of lead in paints and inks used on toys and children's articles. Chemistry sets and other products designed for older children should be purchased only if Electric Toys Electric toys with heating elements are not recommended for young children. They must meet the mandatory requirements for electrical constructions. maximum surface temperatures and bear prominent war ning labels. Musical greeting cards and books use button type mini-electrical batteries, which could be swallowed. Adult supervision has no substitute when It comes to some of the electric toys.

Keep Toys Designed For Older Children out of reach of younger brothers and sisters. Avoid hand-me-down toys without proper safety review. Follow labels for specific age recommendations and other precautions

Each year many toys are recalled for serious safety hazards. If you purchased or own one of the recalled toys, stop using it and promptly return it to the manufacturer according to the recall instructions.

Observance of these recommendations and wise adult supervision will mean your children will enjoy many hours of pleasure with their holiday gifts.

Blue eyes, With DuraSoft Colors contact lenses you can change the brown eyes your parents gave you to blue, green, hazel, aqua or even new sapphire. This year DuraSoft Colors gift certificates, for vision correction or just for fun.

North Shore Animal League

imagine a warm, cuddly, purring kitten curled up on your lap fast asleep ... or a fat, happy puppy, all tongue and tail, a bundle of energy and bright eyed love

When "All you want for Christmas " (or Chanukah), is a loving friend, the place to find the companionship you're yearning for is the North Shore Animal League (18 South St., Port Washington, 883-7575). This well known adoption agency for dogs and cats places some 40,000 animals in warm loving homes each year.

Adopting a pet at North Shore Animal League is similar to applying for a child at a licensed adoption agency. Once you've chosen your new pet, you are carefully screened to assure that kitty or pooch will have a permanent, loving home.

Do all members of your family want this animal? Are there other pets in the home? Space to play? Why the

"We want to make sure that our animals are really vanted and that they'll be cared for, not abandoned or returned," says Betty Rosenzweig, Director of Adoptions at the league

Picking out your new pet can be almost as difficult there can be nearly 400 cats and dogs at any given time. ... all with eyes and tails that plead "take me

You'll find purebreds and mixes, adults and very young, males and females (red collars and blue), animals of all sizes, colors, breeds and dispositions, and a loving staff to help with your decision.

A pet is a wonderful addition to your family. It's a learnng experience for children, a lifetime of love, warmth and companionship for everyone.

This is the perfect time to think about giving a warrn, oving gift to someone you love and North Shore has the perfect pet for giving.

North Shore Animal League is open 7 days a week

Health Touch, Inc.

Gift certificates are great! And when you really care your gift means health and pleasure for your loved one At Health Touch, (241 East Shore Road, Great Neck 466-6642), massage is the medium and Nancy Rabetz and Stephanie Ashby are the interpreters, their trained hands expert in reducing tension, toning the skin, improving circulation and providing the ultimate in mental and physical relaxation.

A gift of massage at Health Touch is one of the most axing and pleasurable treats you can give yourself or special friend.

These two trained practitioners of this healing art will relax you with Swedish massage, relaxing muscles, ten dons and ligaments, creating a state of deep relaxation

For sports enthusiasts, there is a sports massage which prevents injury by increasing circulation and war ming muscles. Sports massage helps in healing by relax ing muscles and restoring mobility.

For the ultimate gift, tuck your certificate into a swee bouquet and get ready for aroma therapy...a deep massage incorporating the oils of plants and flowers lavender for the skin, rosemary for the circulation, san wood for relaxation...fragrance and massage..mm! Gift your love, with a gift of love.

Gold Coast Hobby

Cars, boats and planes, robots and ships...models all, nd great for the hobbyists in your life, big and small. Gold Coast Hobby (15 Glen Head Rd., Glen Head, 759-4094), is one of the best stocked shops of its kind on the North Shore. Here you'll find radio controlled vehicles for land, sea and air, models in wood or plastic and all the supplies needed to build them, decorate them, operate or display them.

There are planes-ready to fly, or waiting for nimble fingers to construct them. Kits and ready-to-moves by Tamiya, Associated, Kyosho, Robbie, Airtronics, MRC and get to co-pilot. Bon voyage.

Tools and supplies? Of course. Power tools by Dremel X-acto precision tools; enamels by Testors...everything your hobbyist could use to make his model realtistic and unique

Gold Coast also offers model lovers installation, repair service for radio control vehicles, and will do custom work to the owner's specifications.

If you've got an earth-bound aspiring pilot, yachtsman, race car driver in your heart-gift wrap a model and give him (her) wings-or sails, or wheels...maybe you'll even East Pass Opening lead - king of spades.

In the ordinary course of events, declarer will meet a certain number of deals where his contract is sure to make regardless of how the opponents' cards are divided.

Some of these hands make by sheer force, no matter how declarer chooses to play them. Such hands are sometimes called pianolas.

In other hands that are equally sure to be made, a moderate amount of skill may be required to protect against the possibility of defeat. These are the hands to which a real student of the game should address

Today's deal is from that class. South is sure to make three notrump against any distribution of the oppoagainst any distribution of the oppo-nents' cards, provided he takes certain necessary precautions. Dummy's long heart suit is good for six tricks except if one defender has four or five hearts to the jack. Declarer's first concern, therefore, is lor six tricks except if one occurrent or five hearts to the jack. Declarer's first concern, therefore, is to guard against the possibility of an unfavorable heart break.

The first protective step is taken when the king of spades is permitted to win. Refusal of the trick acts as a barrier to continuation of that suit and, at the same time, prevents the spade suit from being subsequently rin against declarer. This could happen if the ace were taken and fast later obtained the lead to come through the J-8.

Let's assume West shifts to a diamond. South wins with the king, cashes the ace of hearts and leads the queen of hearts. After West follows, declarer overtakes the queen with the king to guard against the chance West may have been dealt J-x-x-of hearts.

This protective step may 1995.

This protective step may ost declarer a trick (where the hearts are divided 3-2), but is taken to insure the capture of at least five heart irics and thus guarantee the contract. The ten of hearts is next led and at lenst nine tricks become a certainty.

Overtaking the heart queen may seem to be wasteful, but since it provides against any possibility of defeat, it is clearly the right play

House Calls

By EDITH LANK

Can't Sell in Four Years

Dear Edith: I am a widow 69 years old. I had to move near my daughter, bought a house here. The problem is I am getting low on money, keeping up my old house in my home town. It takes all my Social Security for taxes and insurance, and leaving the utilities on is draining

How can I make money off this house or sell it? I've had it in a real estate agent's hands for four years. Is there any bank or real estate person that would give me a fair price for it?

-Mrs. T.W.

The definition of a fair price is what the buying public will come forward to offer, after a place has been exposed on the market for a reasonable length of time. Four months never mind four years - is usually long enough for a thorough test of the market. Either you have a remarkably enept agent, or, more likely, you are holding out for more than the place is worth.

Son Built on His Land

Dear Edith: My son just built a home on a lot I own. He paid for it. My question is: can I have the local tax collector submit the tax bill for that lot in two parts, the bill for the land to me and a separate bill to my son for the house? Since my son owns the house, I would like him to get the income tax deduction for his share of the property taxes. I'm afraid when the next tax bill comes to me it will include both land and building

Of course it will, because you own both. The one who owns the land (you) also owns anything permanently attached to it (the house your son built).

The tax bill is only one complication; in-surance is another. Your son will probably want to safeguard the investment he's made in someone else's property. The two of you need a lawyer, for help in straightening things

Nassau Sports Review

As predicted here two weeks ago, the proposed entry of Nassau private schools into the public school organization (Section Eight) has stalled and now appears unlikely.

The Superintendents Committee voted against the proposal and both the American and National League representatives opposed it as well. The Executive Committee decided to submit the issue to each of the Section Eight member schools for a formal ballot. One member of the Executive Committee, frankly declared the issue dead.

Ron Alfieri, the young St. John the Baptist baskerball coach, said the Nassau-Suffolk Catholic League has decided to stay in operation next year and that his school and several others have dropped their applications for admission. According to Alfieri, only Chaminade and Bishop Kellenberg (former-ly St. Agnes) among the large schools are continging the battle

What had once seemed a sure thing began to unravel several weeks ago when Nichols School of Buffalo (Section VI) lost a court decision and was denied admission to the public school league. That decision brought out the opposition here which had been silent cause it was believed that courts would mandate a merger if it came to litigation.

Whether Chaminade and other private schools would seek legal recourse if dehied admission was not revealed. At this time, however, it seems very unlikely that Section Eight will include any private schools next fall.

A local fire chief put the heat on state cross country officials recently-and apparently just in time. On that extremely cold Satur-day several weeks ago, the State Federation Cross Country Meet was scheduled to be run at Favetteville-Manlius High School in Syracuse. Despite a blinding snow storm and a wind chill factor of minus nine degrees, meet officials decided that the four scheduled 5-kilometer races would go on.

36 boys and girls had to be treated for frostbite. hypothermia and other cold-related injuries.

x were transported to local hospitals. At 10:30 a.m. Manlius Fire Chief Paul Whorral was called to the school by Emergency Medical Technicians, According to the chief, he had to argue with meet officials to get them to call off the fourth race. "They were going to run the rest," Whorral said. "I told them there's not going to be a fourth race

Ellie White of Chittenango, chairwoman of the state girls division, said Chief Whorral of the state gins division, said this workers were dealer to injuries among a handful of the 800 competitors. "I think they (rescue workers) were overwhelmed with things that would have taken care of themselves." White "If the medical people weren't so adamant, I wouldn't have canceled it."

When the fire chief arrived, students were lying on stretchers on the gym floor. Many were shivering under blankets while receiv ing oxygen. "They said the pain was so bad they could hardly walk," declared Whorral.
"Some were in such hypothermia it looked like they were having seizures because they shook so violently.

That meet officials started the races is difficult to comprehend. That they battled a fire chief who exercised common and professional sense is indefensible. An investigation of their conduct is clearly in order. Athletics should be competitive and they should be fun. But athletes need to be protected from unsafe conditions by responsible adults. On the same day, state soccer finals were played in similar conditions (minus the snow) on Long Island. Football Chairman Bill Piner wisely called off two playoff games. Perhaps the answer lies in written guidelines concerning competition in cold weather just as guidelines have been written for protecting athletes in hot weather. For now, however, a strong dose of common sense might help.

Improving Your Jump: Pre-Season And In-Season Conditioning Programs

Last month, we discussed basketball conditioning exercise programs to improve jumjung abilities. We interviewed Mr. Doug emenick, who was recently named the United States strength coach of the year and has gained notoriety for his work with the University of Louisville basketball team. Now that the basketball season is upon us, I asked Mr Semenick to emphasize a quick preseason and in-season exercise program to maximize the athlete's jumping ability througout the season.

The pre-season training is performed three to four days per week for approximately thirty to forty-five minutes per workout. The inseason conditioning program involves the same exercises as the pre-season, but differs by recommending one to two workouts each eek for approximately twenty to thirty minutes per workout. Each exercise session is preceded by a lifteen minute warm-up jog, tollowed by a good stretching program. This is then followed by the conditioning exercise program.

The pre-season program involves squats (three sets of forty repetitions), leg presses (three sets of eight repetitions), leg extension or straight-leg raising exercises (two sets of ten repetitions) and calf or toe raising (two sets of twenty repetitions). These exercises for the lower extremities are also done in combination with bent-knee sit-ups, hip and how-back extension exercises and an upper extremity weight program. Exercises done with weights should be done with free weights when possible. This provides a more constant resistence and promotes better

Once the season has started, the athletes should begin an in-season program, which consists of the previously described exercises, but involves only one set of each. Other college programs have similar conditioning programs, all of which combine jumping skill exercises with conditioning exercises. Such programs include jumping rope with weight jackets, lateral jumping over obstacles and depth jumping.

It is important to remember that jumping is a full-body motion which requires the upper and lower extremity muscles and the abdominal and/or back muscles. When condi-tioning for basketball, do not fully concentrate on exercises for the lower legs, but include a thorough exercise plan for the entire

At Hofstra: Sports Notes Hofstra University's field hockey team. finished its 1987 season with a 15-4-1 record and a 17th place national ranking, the best finish in the University's history. Along the way, numerous Dutchwomen players were selected for post-season honors.

Earning a berth on the Field Hockey Coaches Association/Penn Monto 1087 All-Mideast Region Team was senior back Dee Ann McGill, a resident of King of Prussia, PA, and the first Hofstra field hockey player to be so honored. Senior forward Michelle Ramirez, a Greene, NY resident, was an Honorable Mention, All-Mideast Region selection.

Four of coach Beth Bozman's players

ere named to the East Coast Conference All-Star team. McGill was selected for the second consecutive year and is considered the top defensive player in the Con-ference. Ramirez was also named to the All-Star team after netting eight goals and five assists.

Joining McGill and Ramirez on the ECC All-Star team are Edith Gallagher, a sophomore from Brookfield, CT.who led the Dutchwomen in scoring with 12 goals and three assists, and sophomore goalkeeper Christine Cunneen, a Holtsville resident who finished as the second ranked goalkeeper in the Con-

Also, two members of Hofstra's football team have been named to the 1987 ECAC Metro New York/New Jersey All Star Team. John McDaid and Vin Molinari were named to the team after leading Hofstra to a 9-1 regular season record and berth in the NCAA Playoffs for the second consecutive year.

McDaid is a senior linebacker from Copiague, New York who led the Dutchmen in total tackles for the second consecutive year. He recorded 73 tackles, 64 assists and 21/2 quarterback sacks.

A mainstay on Hofstra's offensive line for the past three years, Molinari, a senior from Howard Beach, was named to the All-Star team for the first time. Molinari helped lead the Dutch offense to ass yards a game in total offense and a school record 2820 yards rushing.

st year women's basketball coach Lorraine Hoffmann will have a lot to look forward to this season with five starters and ten returning players from last year's

'I'm excited about the upcoming season," said Hoffmann, "and I'm look ing to give the team a new direction. With virtually the entire team returning, including all five starters, we should have a lot to look forward to this year."

Hofstra's front court looks particularly strong with the return of a trio of seniors, Hilarie Cranmer, Sharon Solowitz and Colleen Flynn, along with Susan Jewell and Pam Bankey, both sophomores. A6-1 center, Cranmer has been an East Coast Conference second team All-Star for the past two years, while also earning GTE Academic All-American status. She led Hofstra in scoring (13.8 ppg.) and re-bounding (7.0 rpg.), while shooting 82% from the free throw line. The 5-10 Solowitz from the free throw line. The year after scoring was injured most of last year after scoring 16.6 points per game as a sophomore an being named an East Coast Conference second team All-Star as a sophomore. Flynn, a 5-11 forward, has been a steady performer for the Dutchwomen, shooting 88% from the free thow line last season while averaging 8.4 points per game.

She will be pushed by senior Lori McGarrigle (2.5 points per game), sophomore Jen-nifer Life (5.5 points per game), Marguerite Moran, a junior transfer from Manhattan, and Stephanie Washington, a freshman

At the two guard, senior Christine Hertling will compete with junior Colleen Conroy for the starting job. Hettling is a strong defensive player who scored 6.7 points and grabbed 4.8 rebounds per game. Conroy can play either guard or small forward and averaged 5.1 points per game after missing nine games with a broken finger.

Local Race Walker Looks To The 1988 Olympics

Curtis Fisher, of Huntington and a membe of the U.S. Race Walking Team, dreams of winning a medal in the 1988 Summer Olympics in Seoul, Korea. A specialist in the 20K (12.3 miles), Fisher is training hard to qualify for this event at the 1988 Olympic Trials to be held in Indianapolis next July.

While race walking has been on Olympic sport since 1908," says Fisher, "the general public is just becoming aware of the sport as an international track and field event. I hope to have an opportunity to bring greater awareness to the sport by qualifying for the 1988 Olympic Team.

The U.S. Race Walking Team is comprised of 20 men and 10 women. But, only a total of six men will be chosen to participate in the Olympics-three on the 20K team and three on the 50K team (31.1 miles). While women typically race a 10K (6.2 miles), race walking is not, as yet, an Olympic event for women. The International Olympic Committee is currently reviewing the possibility of including race walking as an event for women in the 1002 Games

While the dream of the 1988 Summer Olympics Games is a beacon in the future of many athletes, top walkers on the U.S. team have many months of training and competition ahead before they can focus on the Olympic Games.

I'm concentrating on my distance work while preparing for such major races as the TAC National Championship in June, said Fisher. "I'll begin to work on my speed as the trials for the Olympic 20K event come up in
