Community/Arts Exhibit At the Middle School

The Hicksville Public Schools has announced that the third annual Community/Arts Exhibition will be held from May 31 through June 2. A major event of the Spring Festival, the exhibition has been critically acclaimed for the past two years and has attracted a large viewing public.

The exhibition will be held in the Middle School's old gymnasium with the entrance on Jerusalem Avenue. The viewing hours will be on Tuesday, May 31, from 7 to 9 p.m.; Wednesday, June 1, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and Thursday, June 2, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. There will be no admission charge and the exhibition is open to the public.

William Gagnon, supervisor of Fine Arts for the Hicksville Public Schools, said that local artists are encouraged to exhibit their works. The 1987 exhibition featured the works of 63 local artists and the goal of the organizing committee is to double that number for the 1988 exhibition. A brochure is available to all interested artists by telephoning the school district's office of community relations at 933-6589. The brochure gives all the necessary information for exhibitors. Artists with specific questions to be answered may also telephone that number for further information.

Mr. Gagnon has also announced that a reception will be held on the opening night of the exhibition for all exhibiting artists.

Hicksville School Board Approves Budget

The Hicksville School Board unanimously approved the proposed 1988-89 school budget last week at the annual budget hearing.

The budget totals $44,000,000; an increase of $1,740,670 over the present year and an estimated $1.43 increase in the tax rate. The budget amount was lowered $186,222 and was considered "educationally sound" by the school board. Taxpayers will be voting on the school budget on May 25. If passed by voters, the tax rate will increase from the current $25.86 per $100 of assessed valuation to $27.29.

School board president Thomas Nagle opened the meeting at 9 p.m. and apologized for the 45-minute delay caused by a personnel interview with Nora Richards who, it was later announced, was appointed as the District's Staff/Community Relations liaison. Mr. Nagle complimented the guidance department for its Career Night presentation and mentioned a letter the board received from the Fine Arts Department regarding a proposed trip by the high school band to Disney World; the expenses to be met by fundraisers.

Burns Avenue School

A letter to the school board regarding an offer for Burns Avenue School property from Delco Development Corporation dated April 14 was received and Mr. Nagle indicated that a letter would be sent back stating that the board had no interest in their offer at this time. During the general public session, Mr. Allen Yudell of Delco asked to speak to the board. Although the public session is usually only open to Hicksville residents, Mr. Nagle allowed Mr. Yudell to speak in order to clarify recent events.

Mr. Yudell said that his original offer for Burns Avenue was occasioned by an independent broker informing Delco that Burns Avenue School might be available for sale.

After correspondence and discussion with the school board, Delco was told that Burns Avenue was not available. However, the same broker told Delco that approximately three acres of the Burns Avenue School property might be available. Mr. Yudell said he now knows this is not the case since the board has voted 7-0 to rezone the acreage involved. Mr. Yudell described his appearance at the board meeting as an effort to show the community that the Broadway Mall will be a "nice addition" to the area and that, in fact, Delco has already closed a shop in the Mall that dealt with drugs. A resident, Donna Martillo, asked Mr. Yudell what he would have done with the three acres had they been available. Mr. Yudell replied that they would be a good investment and could be used for additional parking if needed. The Broadway Mall is currently under reconstruction and is 40% vacant.

Shirley Johnson, Burns Avenue PTA president, asked the board when replying to inquiries for the purchase of school real estate, not to add the phrase "at this time" so that "they won't keep coming back." School board secretary Carole Wolf indicated that the last letter in this regard did not contain that phrase.

During the action section of the meeting, the board authorized its attorney to file with the Town of Oyster Bay for the rezoning of the Burns Avenue School property that is not zoned residential. Legal expenses of $3,000 were approved and the process is expected to take at least four months.

Personnel Positions

The positions of Assistant Director, Special Education/Pupil Personnel Services and the Supervisor of Enrichment had been recommended by Dr. Fenton for elimination due to declining enrollment at the March 23 board of education meeting. Community support for the Assistant Director, Sp. Ed./PPS was evidenced by letters and appearances during the first general public session of the April meeting. Although both positions were first abolished by the board during the Personnel section of the meeting, the position of Assistant Director, Sp. Ed./PPS was eventually reinstated by a vote of 4 to 2. School board trustee Daniel Arena, in voting against the reinstatement, asked "who do we listen to when determining positions to be abolished—the people we hire or the com-

Pledging to Live a Drug-Free Life

By Catherine Tokar

"By taking this pledge I am promising to lead a drug-free life. I am also promising to prevent my friends from falling into the drug trap and helping those who already have." You would be surprised by what kids know.

Kids from kindergarten to grade 12 showed Broadway Mall shoppers just what they do know - about drugs and alcohol, that is - in a district-wide celebration called "Kids Know," an informational program aimed at teaching kids the dangers of drug abuse.

A balloon launch kicked off the three-day marathon on Friday as anti-drug messages, drawn by Fork Lane and Woodland Avenue students, accompanied each balloon. All elementary schools in Hicksville contributed to the Kids Know program, sponsored by the International Council of Shopping Centers, by participating in a poster contest. The theme was: "I'd rather _____ than do drugs." Students filled in the blank with activities ranging from "play sports" or "draw to "be teased" or "do homework." One winning entry even read "I'd rather be dead than do drugs."

Steve Turk, co-chairman of the event and member of Hicksville High's Teens Against Drug Abuse (TADA), said the poster contest taught elementary students that there is another way out. "They don't have to give in to drugs because they can focus their energies on other activities," he said. "This is probably the most important message we are trying to get across this weekend."

Additional weekend activities featured clowns, mimes, the Kids Know Game Show and a pledge booth, where kids signed a contract in which they promised to lead drug-free lives as well as help friends who have fallen into the "drug trap." After signing the pledge, kids signed the pledge board, which was presented to Councilman Tom Clark on Sunday with several hundred signatures.

DANNY AND SEAN, of Hicksville, are learning at an early age the dangers of drugs at the Kids Know balloon launch last Friday. The program featured students pledging a drug-free life.

The Message is Clear

"No matter how you look at it, everyone knows about drugs," said Mary Lou Bertone, president of TADA. "So we're letting kids know as young as possible that drugs are bad."

The Kids Know message is direct and understandable by even kindergartners. "We don't think kindergarten is too young to learn about drugs," said Karyn Karmann, student advisor to TADA. "We have to reach these kids before they start. Parents should talk to their kids when they ask about drugs and not 'fudge' through an answer or ignore it. The best thing a parent can do is educate themselves and then their kids."

Karen also said that the program has a significant impact on the younger students because "most kids look up to the high school students and it's the high schoolers who are saying no to drugs."

A Major Obstacle

Mary Lou explained that a major obstacle in educating people in the hazards of drug and alcohol abuse is their reluctance to admit a problem exists. "People either ignore it or don't want to admit there is a problem, but there is," she said. "Just because you tell kids at a young age about drugs isn't encouraging them to do them, just turning them off before they start."

Steve added that another important message they hope to convey is: "Be yourself; don't be afraid to be different because your real friends will stick by you when you decide to avoid drugs." He also believes that Kids Know and TADA have solid futures in the Hicksville area. TADA will now travel to the local elementary schools to address fifth and sixth graders on the dangers of drug use. The presentation may feature a video tape, discussion and role playing, he said. "We won't give up once we graduate, either. We'd like to make this an annual event, but, of course, it's up to the Mall."

Teens Against Drug Abuse

Mary Lou explained that she and a group of friends started Teens Against Drug Abuse because of a friend with a drug problem. "He did everything - drugs and alcohol," she said. "Because we care about him, we started this club."

A huge smile lit up Mary Lou's face as she proudly continued, "And he just signed the pledge drug-free since November and he's going to stay that way."

After giving Karyn a high-five, Mary Lou, exhausted by the weekend's activities, ended with, "It was definitely worth staying here all weekend."

community?" Mr. Nagle indicated that, even though he had voted no, he would support the decision of the board. School board trustee Daniel MacBride was absent due to illness, but trustee Mark Cardella read a statement from Mr. MacBride urging the reinstatement of the Special Education position.

School Superintendent Catherine Fenton expressed disappointment in the community for not showing support for the Supervisor of Enrichment to the same extent shown for Special Education. During the final public session, several residents did speak favorably of the Enrichment Program and expressed their concern with Dr. Fenton's statement. Questions were asked regarding the continuance of the program. Currently two teachers are instructing the enrichment classes and they will continue to do so next year.

Annual Budget Hearing

The annual budget hearing began at 10:15 p.m. A recommendation by Mr. Cardella to eliminate $10,000 from the budget for the Middle School outdoor cafeteria area was defeated, 5-1. Mr. Nagle informed the public that an additional $450,000 in state aid would be forthcoming to the District. Since the State legislature has approved a plan to allow the increase in the Empire insurance premium to be paid over four years, Mr. Nagle said it was possible to reduce the proposed budget by $700,000 in this area. Additionally, Mr. Nagle stated that the BOCES budget could be decreased by $100,000 and he felt confident that Mr. Hall, the Assistant Superintendent/Business Services, could find an additional $56,222 to be eliminated from the budget. The budget was then established at $44,000,000 and approved by the board.

Afterschool Day Program

Resident Pat Rooney questioned a recent "unsigned" letter that had been sent home with students regarding a possible afterschool day care program. Mrs. Rooney asked when the board had approved such a program, who decided the YMCA would conduct the program, where would the program operate and how would the cost of transportation be addressed, among other questions. Mr. Nagle replied that the subject had been discussed at a Board Committee meeting. The letter sent home was a survey attempting to ascertain the need for such a day care program. There was the possibility of a state grant but in order to qualify a non-profit group had to run the program. The YMCA had indicated their willingness to do so. However, Mr. Nagle said that nothing has been "cast in concrete". In fact, Mr. Nagle indicated that the Hicksville Congress of Teachers had informed him that they will file a grievance in this matter. The site to be used would be determined by the number of students and where the majority resided. Mr. Nagle said that before this program goes into effect, it will be placed on the board's agenda and will be voted upon. In addition, such a program would be open to all public and private school students in Hicksville. Mr. Cardella announced the board's Facilities Committee would be discussing this issue at their next meeting on May 18.

Asbestos Regulations

With regard to asbestos abatement regulations, the board designated Thomas A. Shaw and Alan Schaub, both Hicksville School District employees, as the Local Education Designees as required by the EPA/AHERA. Additionally, the board authorized Knappe & Johnson, the district's architectural firm, to serve as the district's Accredited Abatement Designer, at a cost estimated at $12,000.

Board Committee Reports

Board Committee reports included the recommendation of the Curriculum Committee to adopt the State's Instructional Guide on AIDS, grades K-12 and that it be infiltrated into Hicksville's existing health program. The Finance Committee's recommendation that the board appoint a new CPA for the district was acted upon and A. W. Oldehooff & Co. was appointed as Independent Auditors for the 1987-88 school year at a cost of $12,300.

Annual Budget Vote

The next meeting of the Hicksville School Board will be on May 25, where the results of the District's Annual Budget Vote will be received and two seats on the School Board will be voted for.

Engaged

On Valentine's Day, Patricia Gilbride, daughter of Thomas and Alice Gilbride, became engaged to Rocco Lofaro of Greenlawn. Mr. Lofaro presented Patricia with a beautiful diamond ring while waiting the start of a performance at Carnegie Hall. The other attendees around their box all had an added attraction of watching one 'surprised' girl receive her ring. Wedding plans are for March of 1989.

Two months later, Linda Host, daughter of Martin and Gloria Host, opened her Easter basket from her boyfriend, Chris Gelling of Brooklyn and found, in a special porcelain egg, a beautiful diamond ring. The remainder of Easter Sunday was spent sharing her 'Easter Joy' with both families. Wedding plans are for September of 1989.

For all mothers still around today Show her your love in every way From child to adulthood she always cared Standing by you, even when in despair. Some of us forget as we grow old Her love for us never grew cold Through our heartaches and often tears She stood by over all the years. So whether she's here or far away Contact her on this Mother's Day To hear your voice or see your smile Will make her day truly worthwhile. Then at night whatever else you do Thank God for His love. Arthritis and Intestinal Disorders

A link to intestinal disorders and arthritis has been recognized by doctors for many years. Types of intestinal problems associated with arthritis include: ulcerative colitis, Crohn's disease and Reiter's syndrome.

The first two illnesses are known as inflammatory bowel diseases in these disorders, inflammation occurs within the small and large bowel. The associated arthritis affects the lower back, hips, knees, and ankles. The arthritis of Reiter's syndrome often occurs after an episode of diarrhea. The back is most often involved, but joints of the lower extremities can also be affected.

Arthritis symptoms include morning stiffness, lower back pain, and painful, red, warm or swollen joints. Should you have either symptoms of arthritis or abdominal pain, you should visit your physician promptly.

Rheumatologists are aware of the relationship between intestinal ailments and arthritis. There are over 100 types of arthritis, and each one requires its own treatment. An exact diagnosis of the type of arthritis you have is very important.

If intestinal abnormalities are detected, the rheumatologist will work closely with the internist or a gastroenterologist. The arthritis is usually treated with medication, rest and physical therapy.

Arthritis strikes one out of seven people. Learn the facts. Call for your complimentary copy of "The Joint Approach - An Arthritis Overview."

Park Ave. Group Begins Spring Cleaning

Members of the Park Avenue Neighborhood Crime Watch decided to "clean up their act" recently by cleaning the areas outside the fence of the Long Island Rail Road.

On a bright Saturday afternoon last month, several members, armed with rakes, shovels, brooms and garbage bags, attacked the years of dirt that had accumulated on the sidewalks near the overpasses on East Nicholas Street

Two Hicksville Men Stabbed in Social Club

By A. Anthony Miller

Two Hicksville men were stabbed at a Westbury social club at 6:45 a.m. May 1. Several hours later, a Westbury man was taken into custody and charged with assault in the incident. Police said that another man is being sought in the incident, which they said stems from a fight over a woman's affections.

Scene of the altercation was the S.S. Social Club, 620 Union Avenue, with which officers say they have had "occasional problems over the years."

Arriving officers found two men with stab wounds to the stomach, and took Fredis Lopez, 23, and Felix Alvaranga, 25, to Nassau County Medical Center for treatment. Mr. Lopez also had a head injury.

At noon May 1, officers arrested Efrain Garcia, 21, of Westbury and charged him with assault. Another man is being sought in the case and police said the second man allegedly stabbed Mr. Lopez. Police asked anyone with knowledge of the incident to call detectives at 535-6300. All calls will be kept confidential.

Jump Athon at Fork Lane Elementary School

On April 22, the gym at Fork Lane Elementary School was bustling with noise. The boys and girls were jumping rope to benefit the American Heart Association. The children jumped for three hours, with breaks needed, while teammates took their places. Sponsors backed these children with contributions; music was set up by Dr. Dave Ferrin; and refreshments were given out by Fork Lane PTA.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity.

We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only.

We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

Running for School Board

To The Editor:

I'm writing this letter to you so you can pass on to your readers my intentions of running for a seat on the Board of Education of Hicksville. I am running against Bill Bennett and William Collins.

My reasoning for this decision is very simple. I have three children who are being educated by the Hicksville School District and am also a homeowner and taxpayer. So it is my civic and moral responsibility to this community that I do the best possible job in guiding the taxpayer's money toward the education of our children.

For over 50 years, my family has had roots in Hicksville. My grandfather, Bill Ciesler, was a volunteer fireman in Hicksville and was water commissioner here for a number of years. Also, my mother attended the Hicksville schools. With this background, it is no wonder that I am interested in helping this community guide the taxpayer's money toward the education of their children. I have lived in Hicksville eight years and enjoy the area very much.

The qualifications that I am submitting are as follows: I received a degree in applied science, majoring in criminal justice at SUNY Farmingdale College and I am experienced in business management. My strongest qualifications that I possess are fairness, honesty and a great amount of common sense.

We all have to work toward the education of the children, while maintaining a reasonable budget that we all can live with.

Arlene Rudin: "Vote for Pat Rooney"

To The Editor:

As a former school board member and long time board watcher, I hope to convince you that this year, voting for my friend, Patricia Rooney, should be as high a priority on your mind when you go to the polls May 25, as your vote concerning the school budget. Pat and I have worked our way through the educational system together. When I was elected to the school board, she took a slightly different path in continuing her child advocacy role as a PTA Council Officer and School Board Committees Person.

Pat Rooney's thinking and opinions have been sought after by our superintendent, board members and other community leaders because she is never afraid to hear all sides of an issue and to make an informed decision.

As elected officials, school board trustees are responsible for all that goes into the formulation of a budget and for seeing to it that these dollars are put to good use in educating our children. They are also empowered to hire the superintendent, negotiate salaries with our employees and determine the educational programs we will offer our children.

In a lifetime, there are very few Patricia Rooneys who come along. We have an opportunity to vote for someone who represents the best we can afford to offer our children as our legacy.

I hope you will join in recognizing her memorable efforts on behalf of our children and elect her on May 25. Our schools are only as good as our caretakers. Our town will only be as well thought of as the generation we leave to take care of it.

Arlene Rudin

Stay Active in Hicksville

To The Editor:

This letter is being published upon request.

The time has come again to renew or become a new member of the Northwest Civic Association, Inc. for the year 1988.

I cannot stress upon you the need to stay active in community affairs and to have our voices heard. The only opportunity we will have as citizens, who take pride in our neighborhood and who wish to have our viewpoint given serious consideration, is to unite into a single unit for the future of our community.

As you are well aware, we are, as a civic, involved in trying to have the inactive waste sites in our community cleaned up.

In a similar vein, the civic organization is still actively involved in examining the possibility of air pollution that may be caused by a local plant.

Another area of considerable concern to our community are the deliberations of the Hicksville School Board in regards to declining attendance and the possibility of school closings and rezoning of our school.

The Northwest Civic Association feels that the problems of our neighborhood are real and significant and only by staying involved can we reach our goals as a healthy and proud community.

Applications for membership may be obtained by writing to: Northwest Civic Association, P.O. Box 378, Hicksville, N.Y. 11801 or by contacting any board member.

EDITORIAL AND OPINION

A Letter from Lulubelle...

...I have become very critical about the way many young people talk today—and I sometimes wonder if they could talk at all if they didn't say "like" and "ya know" after and before every word...but then I began to think about some of the speaking idiosyncracies of my youth—and, oh, my, did I have to reconsider and decide that each generation has its own peculiarities...do you remember "golly" or maybe even "golly gee", said with many shades of intonation to express many reactions?...and then there was "boy" or "oh, boy"—maybe with a question mark or exclamation point...I still say "hey, kids" or "you guys" even when the "guys" and "kids" are of very mature age....And we all said "damn" and that's because our mothers would have washed our mouths out with soap if we had said that stronger word...Then there was "yipe" for surprise or consternation...and somewhere or other I picked up "perish forbid"...But the one that I have never been able to lose—and I really don't think it's very elegant—is "yeah"...Now to my generation, this word has so many meanings and so many uses that it's almost impossible to give up...from "oh, yeah?" denoting skepticism, to "yeeaaaah"—complete agreement—and so many other meanings....Think back—what words or expressions can you remember?...From the "Music Man" we hear of words from an even earlier day, such as "twenty-three skidoo" and "so's your old man", but that was waaaaay before my time...and one day, our kids will laugh about the strange way they talked in the late 1980's.

Yours, Lulubelle

"More Short Thoughts"

THE GLASS-STEAGELL ACT. A man for whom I have great admiration, Senator Proxmire, is going to give us a repeal of this act. It will increase bank and security competition. That is something that I feel neither system needs now. He assures us that there will be all sorts of insulation built in to the system, etc, etc. I will believe it when I see it. I believe that the operators will find a way around any "safeguards" because all of the ramifications could not be anticipated. Too bad.

Dr. Joseph P. Frey

THE KENNEDY-WAXMAN BILL.—This bill in congress is the proposed health bill to cover anyone who works 17.5 hours per week. It is proposed that employers pay 80 percent for hospital and doctor bills, prenatal and baby care, diagnostic testing and many many more things. While the objective is extremely laudable, the costs would be tremendous.

THE TRADE BILL.—As this is written it seems that congress will pass the trade bill. Will they never learn? This kind of legislation contributed to the great depression. This will be another step toward increasing the similarity between the 1920s and the 1980s. Too bad for the world.

A LETTER TO THE EDITOR.—Last week these newspapers printed a letter to the editor by Mr. Thomas N. Fazio taking me to task for equating the Atlantic City casinos with the stock market. (4/1 article). He contends that the odds are better in the casinos and that they do not have a "loaded deck" just to set the record straight, in the long run at the casinos you will lose because the odds are with the house. In the short run you may win if "lady luck" is with you. True.

I thank him for his letter. I do not disagree. There is more of a potential for the loaded deck to be against the players on Wall Street. And the public knows it. Look at the earnings coming out for the Wall Street firms that deal with retail customers, the small investor. They are awful as the public has run to cash.

In this market that is not a bad place to be as I said before, unless you are a long term investor of quality stocks.

"Ask Your Ombudsman"

*By Gail S. Shaffer
Secretary of State*

It was a rapidly growing New York State government that Mario Cuomo faced when he became secretary of state in 1975. He was afraid there was a widening chasm between the people and their government.

So, he cited a popular citizen service method initiated and institutionalized in Sweden called an ombudsman program and convinced the governor to designate him as an ombudsman for the people of New York State. As ombudsman, Cuomo would help citizens with any problems, complaints or inquiries they had with state agencies, help them cut through bureaucratic red tape and be available as a general source of information.

In 1979, seven regional offices were opened and staffed by senior citizens, students and other volunteers, providing a more comprehensive statewide network for citizens to utilize.

Then, in 1983, as the new governor, Cuomo solidified his long-standing commitment to the ombudsman program. He returned it to its original home at the Department of State and designated me as the State ombudsman. The order also called for establishment of a statewide network of 17 regional representatives who served as local ombudsmen in every part of the state.

"We've made great strides since 1983. Constituent cases have increased a phenomenal 852 percent! In 1983, there were 1,705 cases; in 1986, 16,248. This increase was a result of the program's constant citizen outreach efforts, including TV and radio public service announcements, brochures, newspaper articles and community assistance efforts by individual ombudsmen. Cases such as helping a small community in Western New York cope with major fire damage, helping solve beach erosion problems in Suffolk County and helping establish an environmental council in the Capital District to meet widespread concerns were among some of the highlights.

Other major innovations instrumental in the program's growth were the introduction of a toll free statewide hotline, appointment of an additional representative to serve the Hispanic community, submission to the governor of numerous legislative proposals, adoption and expansion of a collegiate intern program and computerization of the regional offices. Clearly, the regional ombudsmen have played an important role in serving the needs of the people of New York.

To The Editor:
While the various Presidential candidates have discussed foreign policy questions ranging from U.S.-Soviet relations to Central America and the Mideast, none of the candidates to my knowledge, Democrat or Republican, has spoken out on the issue of British troops in Ireland. It's certainly disappointing to those of us who feel strongly that the only politician to speak out is the Comptroller of Nassau County, Peter King, who has called for British withdrawal. What is it? Are all the Presidential candidates apologists for the limest? Please let us in the Irish Community know who our friends are!

By the way, is Burns Scottish, Irish, Orange or Green?

ROBERT R. McMILLAN'S

Direct Line

This column will be about Jesse Jackson. Before Republicans and supporters of Dukakis turn the page, please read on. I first met Jesse Jackson in 1972 when, as the leader of Operation PUSH, he met with me and other officials of Avon Products to work out an affirmative action plan. That meeting went smoothly, and I did not see Jesse Jackson in person until a few weeks ago when I heard him speak at a breakfast meeting of the Association for a Better New York.

Robert R. McMillan

Jesse Jackson's political and economic views are quite far apart from my own. He has made many public mistakes. He embraced Arafat. Some of his comments have estranged his candidacy from the Jewish community. He has been allied with black extremists and has not rejected them. He probably has not been challenged on his views and past as much as he would have been if he were a white candidate. But, when the history of the 1988 election is read years from now, the run of Jesse Jackson will stand as a milestone in American politics.

The first serious black candidate for President was Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm. She made a sincere effort spanning the country with speeches, but did very poorly in actual delegate count. In 1984, Jesse Jackson's campaign was poorly financed, executed and radical. Since then, he has moved towards the center — all be it still far to the left of center. He is better financed and has developed greater professionalism in his staffing.

But, these are just a few of the obvious aspects of election 1988.

Vice President Nunn?

Now that Massachusetts Governor Michael Dukakis seems to have the Democratic Presidential nomination all sewed up, the speculation turns to the question of who will get the second place on the ticket. The name that is on the lips of many Washington insiders is Georgia's senior senator, Sam Nunn.

Nunn is the chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and is generally regarded as one of the country's foremost defense experts. In 1987, Nunn led the efforts to block the Reagan administration's efforts to reinterpret the 1972 Antiballistic Missile Treaty. Nunn has also been involved in President Reagan's strategic defense initiative (SDI) or "star wars." It is interesting to note that Nunn's stand on the SDI has pleased neither President Reagan or the liberal opponents of SDI.

Many Nunn boosters point out that the senator's experience in the area of defense and foreign policy, along with his Southern roots, could be a great asset to the ticket. The Bush campaign in the fall will attack Dukakis as being weak and inexperienced in defense and foreign policy. Lee Atwater, the Bush campaign manager, has already referred to Dukakis as a "northern fried Jimmy Carter." Presumably, Nunn's presence on the ticket could help to deflect those charges. There are

The results of his efforts run deeper. Jesse Jackson has attracted white support based on his positions — obviously not based on color. As a result of his support for labor causes across the country, many labor leaders feel indebted to work for Jackson. Proving that a black candidate can capture white voters is not new. Congressman Ed Towns of Brooklyn and black wins in a district with a very large white population. Former United States Senator Ed Brooke of Massachusetts was elected in a state with a very small black population. There has, however, never been a major black Presidential Candidate until Jesse Jackson.

Now, there are some who argue that an Andy Young, mayor of Atlanta, or a Charlie Rangel, Congressman from Manhattan, would have made a better black candidate for President. Both have had strong domestic and international experience. Both have measured records and are part of the "establishment." But, Jesse Jackson had the heart and drive to carry it off.

Putting all of this aside, there is another reason why Jackson's candidacy has been good for America. Twenty-five million Americans have seen that they too, with hard work, can participate in all aspects of America. Young people in the ghetto have seen and heard his strong appeals to work hard, be something, and stay out of drugs. His candidacy has been a reinforcement of the social and economic fabric that is America. His achievements this year have been good for the future of America.

The Democrats and Jesse Jackson now have a significant challenge on how to handle the Jackson odyssey in this summer's national convention. Any sign of rejection for Jackson and his supporters could well disillusion millions of Americans. On the other hand, appearing to yield or be patronizing to Jesse Jackson could cost the Democrats support from other groups this November. Whatever the outcome, we have witnessed a piece of history this year — history which will, if handled properly, benefit the nation.

Questions and opinions may be addressed to Mr. McMillan, Antioch Community Newspapers, 132 East Second Street, Mineola, NY 11501.

those who feel that with Nunn's expertise in defense policy, he becomes a joint vice president/secretary of defense.

As we have seen, there are several reasons why Nunn might make a good choice for the second spot. However, there are just as many reasons against it. First of all, it is doubtful that Nunn would give up his place as chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee for the vice presidency. Although the vice presidency does offer the promise of future power, it is basically a boring job.

Whoever is the Democratic Party's vice presidential nominee will have to have a voting record that is acceptable to Jesse Jackson and the liberal wing of the party. Nunn's record would pose some real problems for these people. His civil rights record has some substantial holes in it. He has voted to overturn the Supreme Court's decision to legalize abortion, for school prayer, for aid to the Contras. Perhaps most important, he was an opponent of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Many Jackson supporters would be offended by offering Nunn a place on the ticket. In all probability, they would put up a strident floor fight against his nomination. Not wishing to alienate Jackson's supporters, Dukakis may very well turn to another Southern senator: Al Gore.

With A Little Help

By Suzanne Lunt
Robin Hoods They're Not

On a soft and sunny May morning in 1981, a tall and charming man materialized on the doorstep of a lady living alone. This handsome fellow was armed with a mouthful of compliments and a special offer.

Twenty minutes later and $1,200 richer, he and his partner were back in their truck on their way to their next victim, leaving the lady's roof drip, drip, dripping used-crankcase-oil.

Well-dressed and soft-spoken, as con-artists invariably are, these two had told the lady of the house that, on their way back from a "job", they had noticed her deteriorating roof and wanted to offer her a "today only" bargain price of $1,200 to spray it.

The two were part of "the Williamson gang", as they are known to the police—a gang that preys on people, particularly elderly people, living alone. Going by a hundred different names, the Williamsons pop up all over the place every spring like poisonous toadstools and proceed to spray roofs right and left with gunky dark muck.

Switching names, "company" names and license plates as smoothly as their stories, they'll tell you that your roof is "too dry—a first hazard" or that your shingles/tiles are loose or your chimney is falling down, etc., etc.

What made their visit in 1981 so interesting to me—and to the district attorney—was not that the lady was my aunt, but that on the previous afternoon, I had deposited $1,200 for her, a larger sum than her account had held in 40 years—and precisely the sum the men demanded!

Nor was this the end of the story. I, as her trustee, then re-deposited $1,300 in her account that Friday and the following Monday morning, the conmen phoned, offering to "do" her chimney for $1,800! (This time, my aunt refused and they then asked, "Have you had a visit from the police?")

Although it was never proven in my aunt's case, in some towns the Williamsons do work with local bank employees, who not only tip them off about amounts of deposits, but quickly cash the checks the Williamsons get from their victims before stop-payments can be put on them.

So, never open your door anytime to anyone unknown to you and if you spot anything suspicious in your area, call out immediately. The district attorney's commercial fraud division is very anxious to remove these reverse Robin Hoods from circulation.

Capitol Hill Journal

By Martin Burns

Although there are many subjects to day which are passionately debated on Capitol Hill, they still do not arouse the emotions that the issue of slavery did over 130 years ago.

One of slavery's most ardent opponents was the Republican Senator from Massachusetts, Charles Sumner. In May of 1850, Sumner bitterly attacked slavery and two fellow senators who he felt were helping to extend slavery into the western territories, Senator Stephen Douglas of Illinois and Senator Andrew Butler of South Carolina.

Congressman Preston Brooks of South Carolina was so enraged by Sumner's remarks that he was determined to wreak his vengeance on him. Brooks caught Sumner working at his desk alone and with his fellow congressmen, Keitt of Virginia and Edmunson of South Carolina he confronted Sumner. "I have read your speech over twice. It is a libel on South Carolina and on Mr. Butler who is a relative of mine." Without further words, Brooks pulled out a large wooden cane and commenced to beat Sumner with all his might.

Brooks' first blow broke the cane over Sumner's head. Several senators attempted to assist Sumner. Congressman Keitt waved them aside brandishing a pistol. Other senators stood by shouting, "Hit him Brooks! He deserves it!" Senator Toombs watched Sumner fall under Brooks' blows and applauded.

Sumner's friends finally broke through past Keitts and carried him bleeding from the floor of the Senate.

Sumner's wounds became infected and refused to heal and he became afflicted with a high fever. Although Sumner was to carry his wounds with him for the rest of his life, he did become one of the principle architects of Southern reconstruction after the Civil War.

The House of Representatives failed to vote the necessary two-thirds for Brooks' expulsion. He was however convicted of assault and fined the sum of $100. After his conviction, Brooks resigned from the House. The people of South Carolina soon sent Brooks back to Washington with an overwhelming margin — only six people voted against him.

Several months after his return to the House, Brooks died of what was termed "acute inflammation of the larynx." Other observers in the abolitionist movement said that Brooks died from "the fingers of God about his throat."

New Pamphlet Available To Help Parents of Teens

Has your sweet, loving child turned into a turbulent teenager? It is usual for parents of teenagers to feel despair and frustration over their seeming inability to communicate with their children. Teens need independence, yet they also need parental guidance and supervision as they struggle with the emotional and physical changes that adolescence brings. Balancing a teen's needs for freedom with parents' expectations of appropriate behavior is tricky business, and it can be a real challenge to keep the lines of communication open. Nancy Olsen-Harbrich, Human Development Specialist with Cornell Cooperative Extension, suggests that parents and teens need to learn listening and decision-making skills in order to maintain loving relationships through the adolescent years.

To help parents of teenagers, Cornell Cooperative Extension has designed an educational pamphlet on "Teen/Parent Communication". To receive this pamphlet, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Living With Teenagers, Cornell Cooperative Extension, 240 Griffing Avenue, Riverhead, New York 11901.

"A Marriage Proposal" At Hicksville High

Hicksville High School will present a collection of one act plays to be performed in the round as its final production of the year. The plays have been directed by Judith Pasettiner with technical direction by James Quinlan.

The evening will open with the Chekhov comedy, A Marriage Proposal, which deals with the woes of a misunderstood suitor. In it David Danowski attempts to court Jessica Garnets, as her father, played by Tony Walker, helps to confuse the situation. Offering a different view of marriage is Robert Andersen's hilarious comedy, I'm Herbert, which features Alisa Bayer and Greg Jacobi as an old couple remembering and misremembering events in their lives.

Trifles, a drama by Susan Glaspell, opens the second part of the evening. It features Jennifer Tower and Heather Tower as two farm women who solve a bizarre murder by observing the small details of daily life, while the men, played by Jimmy Dyckman, Tony Walker, and David Danowski, conduct an unsuccessful official investigation. Closing the evening will be the gripping drama, Sorry, Wrong Number, which was originally performed as a radio play. It deals with a bedridden woman, played by Jennifer Jackson, who overhears a murder plot on the telephone.

Performances will be in the high school on May 6 and 7 at 8 p.m. A free senior citizen performance will be held May 6 at 6:30 p.m. Admission is $3. For information call 933-6621.

OYSTER BAY TOWN TOPICS

FROM THE DESK OF: SUPERVISOR DELLIGATTI

Several times each week, I have the opportunity to meet and speak with Town Residents representing the many organizations whose collective community concern and spirit help to maintain the very special quality of life that we enjoy in Oyster Bay.

While the primary interests or motivations of these groups may differ—education, civic vigilance, sports, scouting, the arts and countless other worthy advocacies—they all share a singularly sincere belief in their cause and a willingness to translate that belief into positive action.

Another common thread that I've noticed running through these groups is the prominent role that Senior Citizens have assumed in many of them. This is not surprising, since who better than our senior residents can offer a perspective and wisdom that is rooted in a lifetime of involvement in our community.

The debt of gratitude that we owe to our senior citizens, as the planners, builders and nurturers of our communities, is impossible to measure—or repay. Recognizing this, the Oyster Bay Town Board, nonetheless, attempts to convey our Town's gratitude to this admirable segment of our population by joining the annual nationwide designation of the month of May as "Senior Citizen Month".

A highlight of our month long tribute each year is the selection of several seniors to receive special honor by the town board. Considering the outstanding contributions made by so many of our seniors, this is never an easy task. I'm pleased to announce, however, that this year, three individuals, whose activities were judged to be exceptionally noteworthy, have been chosen as "Senior Citizen's of the Year".

Bert Searing, a member of the North Massapequa Seniors and a musician, has been providing entertainment to seniors in nursing homes, hospitals, senior residences and clubs since 1974. Last year, Bert volunteered his services to help establish the new Old Bethpage Seniors Club. With Bert serving as interim president until a membership roll was established, this new club today boasts over 200 members.

Mary and Paul Bianco, a talented senior couple, are members of the Syosset-Woodbury Seniors Club. Together, Mary and Paul have sung in the choir at St. Paul the Apostle Church in Brookville and have performed at community events and numerous nursing homes in Nassau County. Both Mary and Paul volunteer their services yearly for the Country Fair at St. Paul the Apostle Church.

Paul has been president and vice president of the Syosset-Woodbury Seniors and has organized numerous member workshops. Mary is well-known for the delicious cakes she baked for cake sales and fund raisers.

To say thank you to all of our seniors, the town has scheduled free performances of the musical, Annie Get Your Gun. Co-sponsored by the Town of Oyster Bay Arts Council, the performances will be held at 1 p.m. on Saturday, May 14, at Massapequa High School and 1 p.m. on Saturday, May 21, at Syosset High School.

On behalf of my fellow Town Board members, I invite all of our seniors to attend this lively and enjoyable presentation.

Town Awards Garbage Transfer Contract

The Oyster Bay Town Board awarded an 18 month contract for the transfer and hauling of garbage to Waste Transfer Systems of New York, Inc.

It gave the lowest of three bids received. Browning-Ferris of whom American Re-Fuel is a subsidiary, and is the preferred bidder in the TOB Resource Recovery plant, bid $61,699.50. The Willets Point Co., who are the present hauler of the garbage, bid $54,754,000. The accepted bid was for $51,650,000.

Town spokesperson Marlene Kasteleman said it will be a savings to residents. The Town was paying about $125 a ton and now they will pay about $102 a ton to haul away the garbage. There will be a $23 a ton saving.

She said "Willets Point was good. We were satisfied, but the bottom line is if it costs less, you are saving the residents money."

The Willets Point Co. tried to stop the award with a temporary restraining order, but it was denied by the judge.

According to contract specifications, the bid also provides for three one-year options.

A subsidiary of Waste Management Inc., one of the largest firms in the industry, the company will begin operations 90 days after they receive a formal notice to proceed.

Homecoming Ceremony for Mason's District Deputy

When a District Deputy of the Masons completes his year in office, he is welcomed back to his own lodge with a homecoming ceremony. The position keeps the office holder traveling to all the local groups, hence he is absent from his own.

Richard Kaiser, Commissioner of the Department of Human Resources for the Town of Oyster Bay recently received his "homecoming" reception by members of the Matinecock Lodge Masons of Oyster Bay. Robert C. Singer, Grand Master of Free and Accepted Masons of the State of New York, for whom Mr. Kaiser served as his representative for the 10 lodges in the 2nd Nassau District attended the event.

While the ceremony was going on upstairs in the two story high lodge room, the fan lights hummed as they cooled off the reception room. The black leather briefcases of the masons strewn the tables and rested by the walls. Each bears the initials of the owner.

Famous masons, George Washington and Theodore Roosevelt are remembered with portraits that keep watch over the symbols of the age old group.

Outside the lodge, the Don't Tread On Me Colonial flag and the stars and stripes reflected the movement of the evening's breezes.

Upstairs, the room was filled to overflowing. Several members had to sit in the hallway. Mr. Kaiser said "It is a very active lodge."

It was a closed ceremony. No women were allowed. Some groups, over the last 10 to 12 years have opened the festivities to women and families, according to Mr. Kaiser.

In his office, Mr. Kaiser represented Robert C. Singer, in the 10 Nassau Lodges, which include: the Floral Park Lodge in Bethpage; the Nassau Lodge in Floral Park; the Manetto Lodge in Bethpage; the Stepping Stone Lodge in Great Neck; the Meadowbrook Lodge in Hicksville; the Mineola Lodge in Mineola; the Bethpage Lodge in Farmingdale; the Robert C. Singer, Grand Master of Free and Accepted Masons of the State of New York wearing the emblems of his office, with his District Deputy of the 2nd Nassau District, Richard Kaiser. Mr. Singer was a past owner of the Floral Park Dispatch.

Paumonok-Port Washington Lodge in Port Washington the Glen Cove Lodge in Glen Cove and the Stewart Manor-St. Albans Lodge in Floral Park as well as the Matinecock Lodge in Oyster Bay.

There are 4,000 masons in the district. There are 22 districts in downstate New York.

At the end of May a new District Deputy will be named. He will not be from the Matinecock Lodge this time.

TOB Time to Clean the Attic

Residents in the Town of Oyster Bay's Sanitation Disposal District will be able to simplify their spring cleaning by bringing all their accumulated rubbish to the Old Bethpage Solid Waste Disposal Complex during two weekends in May, according to Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark.

The following is the schedule of dates for this year's Spring Homeowner's Clean-Up Program:

- Saturday, May 14
- Sunday, May 15
- Saturday, May 21
- Sunday, May 22

The entrance to the Solid Waste Disposal Complex is located on Bethpage-Sweet Hollow Road, east of Round Swamp Road in Old Bethpage. Clark noted that only private cars will be permitted to enter the complex and proof of residency must be presented. For safety reasons, children must remain in vehicles.

The program is open only to residents of the Town's Solid Waste Disposal District. If you are not sure whether or not you reside within the district, call the Environmental Control Division at 921-7347, extension 5520.

Free Show for Seniors

May is Senior Citizen Month nationwide. As a way of saying 'thank you' to its senior citizens, the Town of Oyster Bay will present two free showings of the musical Annie Get Your Gun.

For the convenience of seniors, the play will be shown at both a south shore and north shore location. The first showing will be held at Massapequa High School, Merrick Road, on Saturday, May 14. The second will be at Syosset High School, Southwoods Road, on Saturday, May 21. Starting time for both performances will be 1 p.m.

For performance times and reservations, call the Senior Citizen Division at 795-5943, ext. 773.

School in Syosset, grand prize winner; and Matthew Delfino, 4th grade at Theodore Roosevelt Elementary School in Oyster Bay, 1st prize in the elementary school division. Also on hand for the presentations were representatives of the sponsoring banks Kevin O'Neill (left), assistant vice president and Oyster Bay branch manager for National Westminster Bank; Dorothy Doyle (second from right back), Oyster Bay branch manager for Marine Midland Bank; and Claire Vollbracht, marketing assistant for Roosevelt Savings Bank.

Kiwanis Dinner

Local residents recently participated in a spaghetti-social-fund raiser sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Hicksville. By offering tasty food in a sociable atmosphere, the Kiwanians were able to raise money towards their charitable and benevolent activities.

When the facilities of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church were available, the Kiwanians began setting up tables and chairs, bringing in food, and decorating the hall

Name Contest

A contest to name the Children's Newsletter was recently held at Woodland Avenue School in Hicksville.

Children received entry sheets and a winner was selected from all entries received by the deadline date. There were so many original titles that it was a difficult decision for Dr. Manus Clancy, Principal, to make. Finally, Gina Castrogiovanni's title, "Woody's Kid's Eye View", was selected from the many terrific titles.

Gina received an I.D. bracelet, donated by the Woodland Avenue PTA, and several other students were awarded honorable mention prizes, also donated by the PTA.

The students are now looking forward to the first issue of "Woody's Kid's Eye View", which is now in the works. Each class at Woodland will be represented with an article about an enjoyable classroom activity, project or trip so that students, teachers and parents can read about what other classes have done. Sharing ideas and learning about what they can look forward to at different grade levels are some of the goals of this project. Students will also have experience with the five "W's" of newspaper reporting.

An Historic Trip Around Hicksville

Among the Gregory Museum's many services to Hicksville's public and parochial schools is its frequent bus sight-seeing tours of the village. Richard Evers, museum historian, conducts these tours, which are most popular learning experiences for second and fourth graders and their teachers.

A typical tour includes stops and actual visits into the historic, cultural and economic features of Hicksville. Some of the interesting sights include: the Hicksville Fire House, Gregory Museum, Elks Club, Knights of Columbus Hall, Kennedy War Memorial, Memorial Fountain, U.S. Post Office, the rail road station and Roman eagle, Cantiague Park, the asphalt recycling plant off West John Street, Cantiague Rock (the site of the Robert William Indian Land Purchase), the Stoiz Farm and horse paddock, Plainlawn Cemetery, all churches and temples passed enroute are identified, Hicksville's three funeral homes, the N.Y. Telephone Exchange building, Public Library, Middle School and its four war memorials, the High School, banks and prominent businesses are pointed out, gold beating shops still standing, and the Hicksville Opera House, built in 1914 and now occupied by the Wee Care Day Nursery, located on Nicholai Street. Also located on Nicholai Street are the Masonic temple and the playground of Trinity Lutheran School, where the old Nicholai Street School stood for seven decades.

The high point of the tour is the passing of the 'Golden Doors,' the replica of Florence's 'Gates of Paradise' Renaissance masterwork by Lorenzo Ghiberti. Located at Trinity Lutheran Church, this incredible cultural treasure is matched in the U.S. by only one other copy located in San Francisco.

Galileo Lodge News

By Joe Lorenzo

President Skip Monteforte's message: 'Knowledge advances by steps and not by leaps.' Thomas McCauley.

What determines the success of an event or function held by an organization? What conditions must actually prevail before success can be reached? What conditions affect the outcome of an event or activity? Well, for one thing, I would say that the number of people who are in attendance is one good indicator. And, of course, then comes good food and pleasant atmosphere. So with all this in mind, I must say that the 'Fifties-Sixties Dance' held by the Galileo Lodge April 23, had all these ingredients and much more. Over 250 people jam-packed the environs of the Galileo Lodge as they enjoyed a terrific show consisting of the ever-popular music group known as 'The Exceptions, Buddy Ho, the great Elvis Presley impersonator, and disc jockey Bill Trotter from radio station WJKY. These talented performers highlighted, of course, the enjoyable music from these two periods. And let's not forget the committee people who worked so hard to ensure this kind of success, Chairman John Cannizzara, co-Chairman Tony Sica and Vito Grippi. And this prompted President Skip Monteforte to extend his thanks to these industrious committee people. And a special thanks to the Kitchen Force.

In the Galileo Lodge's organizational structure, a group of nice ladies known as the Ladies Auxiliary are always there to share the spotlight. That they loom large on the entertainment horizon is evidenced by the announcement that the Ladies Auxiliary will present once again the 'Foolies Follies' of 1988. The 'Follies' is a delightfully funny, entertaining and pleasure-packed series of the skits and sketches featuring many aspects of music comedy such as singing, dancing and some pantomime. The cast for this show consists of male and female members of our Lodge who have inclinations along these lines. Sue Laurenti (WE 1-0036) will once again supervise this show, ably assisted by Claire Fuoco (334-5329). And please do not forget to attend the special meeting they are holding on Monday the 2nd of May at the Galileo Lodge.

The Ladies Auxiliary announce also that it will hold a Military Bridge Party on Friday, May 20, at the Galileo Lodge. The tickets are 15 per person and Mildred Morace (433-1510) will supervise this activity. Or you can call President Mary Sarrera (433-6289) for more details also.

Besides the two activities just mentioned, please note that a golf tournament is being planned, a fishing trip is in the works and an August picnic will be also announced shortly. Then add a few Membership Appreciation Nights for your pleasure and comfort, and you all know that these nights are gratuitously offered by the Galileo Lodge for its members, families and friends.

Thinking About Retirement?

Are you thinking about retiring? If so, I'm sure you have many questions such as: When should I retire? How much money can I expect from Social Security and other sources? Can I work and still get some benefits? And What about Medicare?

Good planning pays off. Start early to gather facts so you will know what to expect. When you should retire will depend on your financial situation, health, interests, and other factors. Social Security recognizes a need for flexibility and offers you several options.

- Age 65—This is the age when you can receive your full rate benefit. The maximum monthly benefit for someone who retires at 65 this year is $822 and the average check is $523.
- Early retirement—You can start getting Social Security payments as early as 62, but the amount is permanently reduced to take account of the longer period you will receive them. The reduction is 20 percent at 62, 13 1/4 percent at 63 and 6 1/2 percent at 64. There is an individual rate for each month, so you don't have to retire on your birthday.
- Delayed retirement—If you work past 65 your monthly benefit will increase by three percent for each year (one quarter of one percent for each month) before 70 that you don't get a payment.

No matter which option you choose, you often can work and still get some or all of your Social Security. If you are 65 to 70 this year you receive all benefits if your annual earnings don't exceed $8,400; the exempt amount is $6,120 if you are under 65, and there is no limit if you are 70 or older. With earnings over the exempt amount, $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings over the limit.

Once benefits start, the amount generally increases each January if living costs have risen at least three percent.

You generally do not have to pay Federal income tax on your Social Security benefits unless you are among the one in 10 people who have high outside income in addition to benefits. In no case, however, will more than one-half of your benefits be subject to tax.

Medicare health insurance protection starts at 65. If you don't plan to retire by then, you should contact Social Security two or three months before 65 to arrange for Medicare.

When you retire, contact Social Security two or three months before you actually stop work. Most claims can be handled over the telephone. If you wish to make a personal visit you may phone for an appointment. Be sure to have on hand your birth certificate, social security number, and W-2 forms for the last two years. Call 576-9162 for more information.

Some Disabled People Can Work And Get Social Security Benefits

Do you receive Social Security or supplemental security income (SSI) checks? If so and you have been thinking of trying to work even though still disabled, you should know about special rules in the Social Security law that may help you:

- Trial work period - Most of you can continue receiving full benefits for up to nine months while testing your ability to work while still disabled. After the nine-month trial period, a decision is made as to whether you are performing "substantial gainful activity." If you can, benefits end after a three-month adjustment period. If you can't, payments continue.
- Extended period of eligibility - You have additional protection for 36 months after the trial work period. During this period benefits can be reinstated if you remain disabled and discontinue substantial gainful activity without having to make a new disability application.
- Continuation of Medicare - If monthly Social Security payments end because of work activity and you are still disabled, Medicare entitlement can continue for up to 24 to 36 months.
- Deductible work expenses - Most impairment-related work expenses you pay for can be deducted from earnings in deciding whether you can perform substantial gainful activity, as well as in counting your income if you get SSI. It does not matter if you also need an item or service for daily living (such as a wheelchair).

- SSI special payments - You may continue getting SSI checks even though performing substantial gainful activity after a trial work period if you remain disabled. You are eligible as long as you are still disabled and would otherwise be eligible under the SSI rules.

Under certain conditions, you may be eligible for Medicaid coverage even though your earnings from working and other countable income are too high for you to receive monthly SSI checks. You must continue to be disabled, or blind, unable to afford similar medical care, and be unable to work without Medicaid assistance.

If you are a blind person who works, the rules in the Social Security law are similar to those for disabled people. However, there are some important differences you should be aware of. For example, average monthly earnings of $1,000 or less in 1987 are never considered substantial gainful activity if you get Social Security checks. And you have some additional deductible work expenses that other disabled beneficiaries do not have.

For more information about the special rules that help disabled and blind beneficiaries who want to work, contact any Social Security office. Call your local Social Security office and ask for a free copy of the leaflet, "Disability Benefits and Work."

Benefits: Just A Call Away

People who wish to apply for Social Security retirement benefits but who find it difficult to visit a Social Security office can make initial application by telephone. Social Security employees will obtain the necessary information and then arrange to complete the application process by mail.

Application for retirement benefits should be made at least two or three months in advance. This will help assure that benefits will start for the month of retirement. The first check should be received early in the month following the first full month of retirement.

Certain documents are essential for establishing eligibility for retirement benefits. They include a Social Security card or a record of the number and proof of date of birth, such as a birth certificate or a religious record of birth or baptism that was recorded before the person was 5 years old. These documents must be original records or copies certified by the agency that issued them.

Applicants for retirement benefits should also submit their Wage and Tax Statement forms (W-2) for the preceding two years, and self-employed individuals should submit copies of their tax returns plus proof of filing, such as a cancelled check. The reason is that most recent reports of earnings may not yet have been credited on the applicant's Social Security record.

A spouse who applies for benefits will have to provide similar documentation. In addition, a marriage certificate may be required. The birth certificates and Social Security numbers of eligible unmarried children should also be submitted.

Free Dental Hotline Available For Seniors

DIAL-A-SMILE, a free dental health hotline service staffed by dentists, will be available to answer questions from senior citizens on Wednesday, May 18, between 5:00 and 8:30 p.m.

Seniors can contact the DIAL-A-SMILE hotline by placing a collect call to (312) 986-3937 from anywhere within the State. The hotline is sponsored by The Dental Society of the State of New York during National Senior Smile Week, which is observed May 15-21.

The purpose of the National Senior Smile Week is to heighten the general public's awareness of the importance of dental care and the availability of dental services for the older adult. DIAL-A-SMILE will be held to address the special dental concerns of seniors such as periodontal disease, "dry mouth" and the care of dentures.

"Since Americans are living longer and the trend is predicted to continue, DIAL-A-SMILE is intended to encourage good dental hygiene in this growing segment of the population and to help older adults keep their teeth healthy for a lifetime," explained Dr. Thomas Sweet, president of the Dental Society of the State of New York. "Practicing proper daily oral hygiene combined with regular professional care are important throughout life, whatever your age. We expect many people to take advantage of this free service on May 18, and our team of dentists is ready to answer each of the calls," he said.

According to the Dental Society of the State of New York, the number of older adults in the United States has increased 20 percent during the 1980's, and it is projected that there will be 30 million by 1980. By the year 2000, it is estimated that 14 percent of the population will be older than 65 and that this figure will also continue to rise.

Teeth are meant to last a lifetime but periodontal, or gum disease, is the primary reason for tooth loss in adults. Typical sympoms include bleeding gums, constant bad breath, loose teeth and receding gums. Although gum disease is caused by plaque, other factors—such as smoking, ill-fitting bridges or dentures, or poor diet—can increase the risk or severity of the condition. Periodontal disease can be prevented by brushing daily with fluoride products, flossing, eating a balanced diet and scheduling regular visits to the dentist.

Other problems which tend to plague older adults are root surface decay and "dry mouth." The causes of decay are the same, regardless of age. Decay results when the bacteria in plaque produce acids that can destroy the teeth. With proper care, decay and periodontal disease tend to develop.

Certain medications or medical conditions may cause "dry mouth" and possibly promote tooth decay. This condition exists when the supply of saliva is greatly reduced. After examining a patient, dentists may recommend a fluoride mouthrinse to alleviate the problem.

For more information about dental care for older adults or to obtain a free booklet, A Healthy Smile Can Last A Lifetime, write to The Dental Society of the State of New York, 30 East 42 Street, Suite 1606, New York, NY 10017.

Dental Care And The Older Adult

The fastest growing segment of the American population is the older adult—people over the age of 65. At the turn of the century, just four percent of the population held "senior citizen" status. By 1980, about 10 percent of the population was in this age group. It is predicted that by the year 2050, 22 percent—55 million Americans—will be senior citizens.

This sizable, rapidly growing segment of society has special dental health care problems and needs, many of them the result of common misconceptions. According to the Nassau County Dental Society, many elderly Americans neglect their dental health because they assume that dental problems are an inevitable part of the aging process. This is not the case. Preventive dental care, focusing on daily brushing and flossing, regular professional care and a well-balanced diet, can maintain dental health well into the later years.

One of the most disturbing statistics of all with regard to the older adult is this—only about 35 percent of people over the age of 65 see a dentist in any given year.

Many people believe, for example, that tooth loss is a normal part of getting older. While it is true that tooth loss does occur among the elderly, much of it can be prevented. Most tooth loss in adults is due to gum disease, which is caused by plaque, a bacterial film constantly forming in the mouth.

Careful attention to plaque removal through daily brushing and flossing and regular dental checkups and cleanings can help older adults ward off this major dental health problem.

Fortunately, the percentage of older Americans who have lost their natural teeth is decreasing, thanks to today's emphasis on preventive dentistry. A 1985-86 study by the National Institute of Dental Research found that 62.5 percent of persons aged 65 to 74 had kept some or most of their natural teeth. This contrasts with a similar 1960-62 study in which only 50.6 percent of this group kept some teeth.

Dental health is a lifelong process and teeth are meant to last a lifetime. With consistent dental care, Americans can keep their smiles glowing for years to come.

Nursing Home Week

Governor Mario Cuomo has Proclaimed May 8 (Mother's Day) to May 14 as Nursing Home Week in New York.

The theme for the week is "Respect: The Heart of Caring." This phrase states the simple fact that older Americans, especially the infirm and ill-aged, should be recognized for their contributions that have helped make our communities strong.

"We urge people to participate with their local nursing homes to honor our elderly citizens," said Clifford R. Osinoff, President of NYSHEA's local chapter in Nassau County and Administration at Sunharbor Manor, Roslyn Heights. "Persons should contact the nursing home they would like to visit and ask about when special events will be held."

Most members of the New York State Health Facilities Association, a membership organization of over 235 licensed residential health care facilities, will be sponsoring special, family-oriented events during the week.

involved and vital lifestyles of Nassau County's 261,000 seniors" said Adelaide Attan, Commissioner of the Department of Senior Citizen Affairs.

County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta will present the Senior Citizen of the Year Award to 74 year old Samuel Perner of Valley Stream. Perner's selection qualifies him to be nominated for the state's Senior Citizen of the Year Award.

More than 600 seniors and professionals in the Nassau County Aging network and government officials are expected to attend the luncheon/conference. Tickets are $17. Tables of ten may be reserved for $170. Tickets are available by contacting the Nassau County Department of Senior Citizen Affairs, 250 Fulton Avenue, Hempstead, NY 11550. Lindenhurst Is Site For New Recreation Center For Seniors

Serves People Who Are Visually Impaired and Blind

A new recreation center for people, 55 and older, who are visually impaired, blind and deaf-blind, will open in Lindenhurst on Thursday, May 5. It is sponsored by Helen Keller Services for the Blind, and will meet every Thursday from 10:00 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. at the Grace Methodist Church, 515 South Wellwood Avenue, Lindenhurst. This is the fourth program site in the South Suffolk area served by HKSBS.

"Our Senior Centers provide an environment for information sharing, making friends, and pursuing old and new interests," said Kris Nielsen, supervisor. "We are planning a variety of trips and special events, as well as weekly recreational activities—crafts, games, exercise and more!"

Volunteers are an essential part of HKSBS's programs for seniors. In Lindenhurst, they are needed to drive members to and from the center and to assist in program activities.

The community is invited to visit the new Center and view this exciting new program first-hand. For more information, contact Kris Nielsen at 367-4000.

HKSBS is a multi-service rehabilitation agency serving persons of all ages who are visually impaired, blind and deaf-blind living throughout the Suffolk, Nassau, Queens and Kings Counties. It is a United Way of Long Island supported agency.

Synthetic Bone Material Helps Denture Wearers

A synthetic bone substitute can remedy denture slippage and problems with changing denture fit by building up the part of the jaw bone—the alveolar ridge—that holds dentures in position, according to the Nassau County Dental Society.

The bone-like substance called hydroxyapatite, is used to replace dental bone lost as a result of aging or gum disease. When surgically inserted under the gums, hydroxyapatite firmly bonds to natural bone tissue, to preserve the alveolar ridge and alleviate some common problems of denture fit and retention.

Researchers estimate approximately 2.5 to 3 million denture wearers experience denture retention problems because of bone deterioration. Hydroxyapatite has been used on several hundred patients with excellent results and no complications. Oral tissues readily accept the new material because it is chemically identical to natural substances found in bone and tooth enamel.

Artificial tooth roots made of the same bone-like synthetic material can mean good news for denture wearers, too. Surgically implanted individual tooth root replacements made of hydroxyapatite can prevent much of the bone loss that typically accompanies tooth loss.

In one study, hydroxyapatite root implants preserved about twice as much alveolar bone as "control" sites where the bone replacement was not used.

The root implants may produce yet another benefit. Patients and dentists said the hydroxyapatite roots, if implanted shortly following tooth extractions, seemed to reduce the oral discomfort normally associated with tooth extractions. Further studies of this subjective observation are planned.

Research is also underway on the use of hydroxyapatite in facial reconstructive surgery, where it could eliminate the need for bone grafts in some cases.

Public Water Taste Test

As part of this year's State celebration of National Water Week, the State Departments of Health and Environmental Conservation will expand the popular "public water taste test" to include additional public water supplies.

In 1987, the Department of Health conducted a taste test of a limited number of water supplies in the State with the finals being held at the State Fair in Syracuse. The purpose of the taste test was to focus public attention on water quality. This year, the Department's Bureau of Public Water Supply has obtained cooperation from County governments that will oversee taste tests in their areas during the week of May 1-7, which Governor Cuomo has declared Water Week. The winners of the various county taste tests will then compete in the finals to be held at the State Fair during the week of August 26 through September 5.

Last year's competition, which involved more than 40 supplies, was won by the Village of Hoosick Falls.

Community and drinking water suppliers who wish to enter this year's competition should contact their county administrator or executive as soon as possible. Further information can also be obtained by contacting Manoj Ajmera, Public Water Supply Protection, at (518) 458-6743.

Senior Smile Day On May 25

The Nassau County Dental Society has declared May 25 Senior Smile Day. The day is in recognition of participating local dentists who are opening their private offices for a day of Free Dental Screening for all senior citizens in Nassau County who do not have Dental Insurance, Medicaid or the means to pay for it.

At these offices, educational material targeted for seniors will be available.

Questions And Answers About Social Security

Q. I plan to retire from my full time job but I also plan to take a part-time job. Will this affect my Social Security benefits? If so, how?

A. It all depends on the amount of your earnings. Under the Social Security law you are allowed to earn a certain amount of earnings, which is called an exempt amount. This year it's $6,220 for people under 65 and $8,400 for people 65 through 69. Your benefits will not be affected until your earnings reach the exempt amount. Your benefits will be reduced $1 for each $2 of earnings above this limit. By the way, the exempt amount is adjusted every year to keep pace with average wage levels.

Q. Although I've had Medicare since the middle of last year, I just used it for the first time. My doctor said I have to file the claim for payment because he doesn't accept assignment. How do I do this?

A. You need to fill out a Form 1490-S Patient's Request for Medicare Payment. You can get the form at any Social Security office or from your Medicare carrier, which is listed in the back of Your Medicare Handbook. You must attach itemized bills to the form. Each bill must include a description of the service or supply you received; the date, place, and charge for each service or supply; the doctor's or supplier's name; and your name and health insurance number. For more information, call any Social Security Office.

Q. I am scheduled to go into the hospital next month, and I don't understand how the prospective payment system under Medicare works. Does this mean I will have to pay more for my care? Does it have anything to do with how long I stay in the hospital?

A. The prospective payment system does not affect the amounts you pay under Medicare, the length of your stay in the hospital, or the extent of care you receive. Under prospective payment, hospitals are paid fixed amounts based on the principal diagnosis for each Medicare hospital stay. In some cases, the Medicare payment will be more than the hospital's costs; in other cases, it will be less. The law requires hospitals to accept Medicare payments as payment in full and prohibits them from billing you for anything other than the deductible, co-insurance amounts and any charge for noncovered items such as a TV.

Q. I recently was married and I just got a letter from a firm that will arrange to have my name changed in Social Security records if I pay $10. Does Social Security make this charge?

A. No. This service is available without any charge at any Social Security office. The only thing you will need is evidence showing both your old and new names, your marriage certificate or license, for example. Just call any Social Security office to start the process.

You should be aware that there are private firms which charge fees for other services available for free by Social Security. These include requesting statements of earnings and benefit estimates. If you want this information, call Social Security.

Q. I have been collecting a disability benefit for the last 6 years. I'll turn 65 later this year. Should I file for retirement benefits before then?

A. No. If you are receiving checks as a disabled worker, your disability benefits will be converted automatically to retirement benefits when you reach 65. In addition, you will receive instructions and information explaining your rights and responsibilities as a retirement beneficiary.

Q. I plan to move later this year. My Social Security check is deposited directly in my bank account. Will I need to let Social Security know?

A. Yes. You must notify Social Security of any change of address, whether or not you have direct deposit. To report a change of address, write any Social Security office.

Letter from the Director:

I would sincerely like to extend my heartfelt thanks and appreciation to everyone involved in helping me make the 1987-88 Basketball season a success. The list of volunteers is quite numerous, so I had asked our publicist to spread it over two weeks, at this time I would like to thank her, Barbara Lewis for her fantastic coverage. I hope everyone had a good time playing and/or coaching. The organization is here to serve you and I hope I have done my job. Also I would like to thank all the mothers, for the delicious cupcakes at trophy night. Basketball registration will be in September and I hope to see or hear from you then.

Sincerely
Vito Cassano

Shamrocks Soccer Team Beats East Meadow 2-1

The Hicksville Shamrocks 1974 travelling soccer team beat the East Meadow Running Rebels at Tudor Field on April 23 by a 2-1 margin.

The game was notable due to rain, hail, and generally muddy playing conditions, as the Shamrocks coasted to a 2-0 lead despite the very physical presence of East Meadow. Running Rebels lone goal was scored on a penalty shot which was nearly deflected off the goal but then bounced off the post and into the net. Hicksville goals were scored by Dom Perillo off a Jason Kingsley corner kick. The other shot was put in by Jason Kingsley on a feed from Chris Koetter.

Outstanding goalkeeper, Ed Jacobsen, had yet another spectacular game, repelling Rebel charges continually. The defense was seldom better as fullbacks Chuck Oliver, Kris Friedrich, Greg Szumowski and sweeper Eric Blicher joined forces to keep East Meadow at bay. Brian Harkins was a dynamo at stopper, covering the middle with his hustling, gritty style. Center half Matt Pordum, flanked by left halves Dom Perillo, Dave Lovato, and Cory Kessler and right halves Kareem Holman and Chris Koetter, had a very productive afternoon, despite slippery playing conditions. Left wing Karl Rice, center forward Jason Kingsley and right wings Junior Tomlinson and the aforementioned Koetter combined to continually challenge East Meadow's goalkeeper.

Congratulations to the boys for the win and their sportsmanlike conduct, and to Coach Herb Pordum for his time and efforts in molding this team.

Hicksville Minutemen Lose 5-4 In Soccer Game

The Hicksville Minutemen, 1977 "B" travelling soccer team, lost a heartbreaker to the Oyster Bay Bayrunners, in a game that started during a rain and hail storm which, thankfully, abated as the game progressed at Cantiague Park, on April 24.

After the Bayrunners jumped off to a 1-0 lead, the Minutemen came right back to tie it 1-1. That goal was scored on a line driver corner kick by sweeper Sean Flanagan glanced off one of the Bayrunners' heads into the goal. The Bayrunners then took a 2-1 lead, but the Minutemen bounced back to tie it 2-2 on a line drive goal by striker, Anthony Noya, from 20 yards out. Oyster Bay then took a 3-2 lead with Hicksville rebounding again on a line drive header by left halfback Brian Rigert off a Sean Flanagan corner kick. The Minutemen then took a 4-3 lead, with about seven minutes to go, on a charge up right wing by Jorge deSilva, whose shot went into the goal mouth, where left wing Daniel dePino completed the play for a goal. The Bayrunners then put on a show of unrelenting offensive pressure, tying the game with three minutes to go and putting in the winner with barely a minute left in the game. Hicksville tried valiantly for a tie, but Oyster Bay held on.

Walter Hoffman, in goal, had no chance on the Bayrunner tallies and turned away numerous shots that were within his reach. Sean Flanagan had a fine game as sweeper; also taking all goal kicks, a majority of the throw ins, and all corner kicks. Mike Whitman and Greg Walunas had fine games from right and left fullback, respectively. Robin Blicher was a dynamo at stopper, with some exceptional tackling and sure and accurate clearing kicks. Brian Rigert, Tim Dalton and Jason Brown, with assistance from Brian Zelders, had productive and successful action at halfback. Anthony Noya had the benefit of working with two excellent wings, allowing him to show what he really could do from striker. Jorge deSilva and Daniel dePino, playing right and left wing respectively, in their first games as Minutemen, gave Hicksville the best offensive they have had yet.
