

Hicksville Memorial Parade & Ceremony Honors War Dead

By Richard Evers

Much of the Hicksville community began its celebration of the Memorial Day holiday with a tradition—a parade and a solemn ceremony to honor the memory of the village's nearly 40 war dead.

The Hicksville Memorial Day parade was a bit larger than usual, its ranks swelled by more young peoples' organizations than in the last few years. Hosted and chaired this year by the Henry Biel Post of the Masonic War Veterans, the parade and ceremonies at the War Memorials near the Middle School were sponsored by the Hicksville Combined Veterans Organizations, with past commander Frank Molinari of the American Legion serving as parade grand marshal.

A good part of the village viewed the parade over its half mile route, along Broadway, Old Country Road and near the reviewing stand on West Jerusalem Avenue. There was a lot of "flag waving" thanks to the VFW Post 3211's Americanism program of donating 2,000 flags along the parade route.

Hundreds gathered for the traditional services at the four-war memorial site beautifully landscaped by the Hicksville School District Buildings and Grounds Department workers under the director Thomas Shaw. An added attraction was two new flags flying on either side of the national colors, a New York State and Nassau County flag. All three flagpoles, with Old Glory supreme, are part of an ongoing effort by the Hicksville Veterans' Memorial Committee, under the direction of Conrad Steers, to create an inspirational memorial.

The "Poppy Queen" for VFW Post 3211 was Rachel Mercurio, granddaughter of Pat and Lillian Mercurio of Hicksville.

Master of ceremonies for the service was Frank Capelli, past commander of the Henry Biel Post, Masonic War Veterans. The National Anthem and other patriotic airs were played by the combined Hicksville High and Middle School bands under the direction of James McRoy and Hilary Sperber. Mrs. Marie Capelli of the Emma Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star was vocalist. Eight elementary school bands also took part in the ceremony.

The principal speaker was lieutenant commander Ann F. Kanuck, executive officer of the U.S. Navy recruiting district, New York. This year's student speakers from the Hicksville High School, who explained the significance of Memorial Day, were seniors Eric Nicolls and Dawn Trenka.

Pastor Douglas MacDonald of the Parkway Community Church gave the Invocation; Rabbi Joseph Grossman of the Hicksville Jewish Center gave the benediction, and Father Thomas Costa of St. Ignatius Loyola Catholic Church, a U.S. Air Force chaplain, offered the closing prayer.

Among the honored guests were parade honorary grand marshals Cynthia Hockbrueckner, 10th district chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary; Carmela Vitriello, president, Nassau County Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary; and Golda Lapiner, who placed a memorial wreath at the Vietnam Memorial. Mrs. Lapiner's son, Lt. Carl Kozma, U.S. Army, lost his life in the Vietnam War.

Political leaders present included State Assemblyman Daniel Frisa and Frederick Parola and Nassau County Executive Thomas Gulotta. Also present was William Bennett, current trustee and past president of the Hicksville Board of Education and a veteran of the Korean War.

Other organizations and groups at the parade were the Gair Levitt Post No. 665 Jewish War Veterans, the Disabled American Veterans Chapter Post No. 143, the Manetto Lodge 1025, the Meadowbrook Lodge 1005, the Hollis Lodge 922, the Emma Chapter 725, The Hollis Chapter 686 and the Joseph Barry Council 2520 Knights of Columbus. The Boy Scouts, troops #64-231-293-381 and 3211 were also at the parade. The Hicksville Fire Department and its auxiliary had a wonderful turnout. There were many other people and organizations too numerous to mention, but their presence was not overlooked.

Thanks to VFW Post 3211 for contributing to this story.

New Fire Station to Provide Quicker Response

By Catherine Tokar

Thirty to forty percent of all district fires and emergency calls occur in the area of Levittown Parkway, where Hicksville Fire Station Number 4 will be built, officials said.

Hicksville Fire District Commissioner Roy Schaff said, at last week's Hicksville Community Council meeting, that although the firehouse has been under consideration for nearly 30 years it has become increasingly important in the last two years because of the large percentage of emergency calls in that area.

Hicksville Fire Department Chief Gerard O'Brien quoted some emergency call statistics for the area of the proposed station. He said that in 1987, 280 of the 717 fire calls (40 percent) in the district happened in that area. Fifty of the 177 rescue calls (30 percent) last year were in the same area.

Mr. O'Brien also said that 67 volunteer firemen who live in the area can immediately respond to that station rather than go across town to fire headquarters on West Marie Street and back to the same area. "It is easier for these fire department members to respond half the distance, pick up a piece of equipment and respond to an emergency anywhere in the district," he said. "We need this station in this area very badly."

Mr. Schaff said that the land for the station was purchased two years ago from the town for $100,000. "We have all the money for this project already, from your tax dollars, so there will not be any increase in taxes," he said.

He added that the building's design will be visually appealing and will complement the architectural styles of the neighborhood. Three fire engines and one emergency vehicle will be housed in the station, he said.

Years ago, fire officials split Hicksville into three sections because of railroad traffic, said Mr. O'Brien. As a result, Stations 2 and 3 were built; one on Woodbury Road and the other near the Broadway Mall.

Garbage Expansion

In other meeting matters, Town Councilman Douglas Hynes described garbage expansion as the "number one problem facing all Long Islanders." He answered Duffy Park Civic Association president Kathy Del Basso's question about the cost of building the proposed mass-burn incinerator in Old Bethpage. He said that construction costs for the plant are estimated at $120 million. "Surprisingly, many people have supported mass-burn incineration as a partial solution to our problem because of the incredible tax burden that the entire town is sustaining right now to ship this garbage," he said.

Currently, the Town of Oyster Bay spends nearly $40 million a year to ship its garbage out of state.

One resident asked if there is an alternative site to building the incinerator. Mr. Hynes said that no alternative exists, and every proposal from outside contractors and bidders (such as American Re-Fuel and American Air Products) focuses on a mass-burn incinerator at the Old Bethpage site.

The town would still own the land, he said, and at the end of 20 years, would have the option to buy the facility, under the current proposal.

Resident Sheila Noeth said people should realize that recycling is not the "absolute solution" to the garbage problem; rather, it is only a partial solution.

Triangle Park

Resident Norma Goerke, who lives near Triangle Park (located between Old Country Road and Plainview Road), said that basketball courts and a running track should be added to the park.

The "kiddie" park does not cater to older children and adults, she said, and "there is still much property left there to develop into a park."

Mr. Hynes said that the problem is probably money, but he will be happy to take the suggestion to the board. Another resident said that the traffic problem is "very bad" on Old Country Road and people might not want to cross the road to get to the park. "Why want their children or what old people want to go across Old Country and Plainview Road to use that property to the extent that we put so much money into it?" the resident asked.

Tom McGovern, president of Giese Park Civic Association, said that it would be fortunate to expand Triangle Park because even people from his area (Giese Park) use that park. "We can't get the town to start construction on any kind of park in our own area," he said.

Robert Chevrolet

One resident asked why it has been so long since the town has decided on the zone change application for Robert Chevrolet if the hearing took place on February 9. Robert Chevrolet, on South Broadway, has requested to add 40 more parking spaces on a residential lot.

"Zoning decisions can take from two to three years in some cases," said Mr. Hynes. "So four months is not much of a delay."

He also said that compromises are continuing between the residents bordering Robert Chevrolet and the dealership itself on issues which would affect the residents.

While the resident maintained that cars are still parked illegally next to the building, another resident, who identified himself as the homeowner adjacent to the car dealer's property, said that he and his neighbors have written to various town officials and "there has been no compromising, and we haven't heard anything."

Mr. Hynes responded, "If you feel that anything new has come up that would affect the deliberation, you should write to the board and have it on the record."

Golf Course

Mr. Hynes told said that the Town of Oyster Bay Golf Course, located on South Woods Road and Jericho Turnpike, should be open for touring in the fall. The course, which will be "one of the top five municipal courses in the United States," should be ready for use by the spring of 1989, he said.

Mr. Hynes also said that most likely, the course will be open to Town of Oyster Bay (TOBAY) residents only; however, one guest would be admitted with each TOBAY resident.

Sidewalk Signs

Mr. McGovern readdressed the problem of the two merchants with illegal sidewalk signs in front of their businesses on Jerusalem Avenue between East Marie and Nicholas Streets. He presented Mr. Hynes with pictures of the area and said that as a result of the Hicksville Community Council's and Councilman Tom Clark's initial complaint in February, one of those merchants complied with the requests to remove the signs.

"However, the other proprietor saw fit to rebut this request, and since that time, the sign can no longer fit on the sidewalk because of the other garbage, refuse and newspaper stand in front of the place," said Mr. McGovern. "Who do we appeal to now to get the situation remedied?"

Mr. Hynes said that this is an "obvious violation" of the safety code as well as the zoning code. "It's like everything else, though. We'll get rid of it today and it will be back tomorrow... But we'll get to it as best we can," he said.

Elections

The following people are the new officers of the Hicksville Community Council for the next three years: Joe DePalma, president; Ed Draycott, first vice-president; Dick Evers, second vice-president; Ellie Draycott, treasurer; Kathy DelRosso, secretary; Gertrude Paul, Bill McDonald and Norma Goerke, trustees.

The next meeting of the Council will take place at Antun's on October 6.

Hearing Set on Request For Change of Zone

The Oyster Bay Town Board has scheduled a hearing date of Tuesday, July 12, on a request for a change of zone from "D" residence to "F" business in Hicksville, according to Town Councilwoman Ann R. Ocker.

The applicant, Jerry Spiegel, is seeking a change of zone from "D" residence of "F" business to permit the demolition of three existing residential structures and the construction of a two-story office building. Ocker said. The property is located at the northwest corner of West John and Strong Streets, also known as 92, 102 and 106 West John Street.

Ocker noted that a hearing on the application was originally scheduled for Tuesday, April 19, but was postponed to be sure there was adequate notification of area residents by the applicant.

The meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. in the hearing room of Town Hall East, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay.

"Bearded Bandit" Reported Caught

By A. Anthony Miller

The "bearded bandit" is behind bars. Thomas Odierna was arrested June 3 by police officers on stakeout. The 33-year-old mechanic has been charged in six robberies in which he is said to have made off with $3,400.

Odierna, who lives in Syosset, was arrested at 8:20 p.m. at the Pequa Plaza, a shopping area at Jerusalem Avenue and Hicksville Road in Massapequa. Police declined to speculate whether Odierna was about to commit another robbery, but said they recovered a Crossman pellet gun which they believe he used in the robberies.

The "bearded bandit," so named because he wore a beard and mustache, reportedly hit between 6 p.m. and 1 a.m. at small stores, such as clothing shops and delicatessens. He would look for stores with one or two employees, walk in, open his coat to show a gun in a holster, and demand money.

Officers Anthony Bonkowski and Derrick Parlee were on stake-out Friday night when they said they spotted a car used in some of the robberies. The driver's description matched that of the "bearded bandit." Calling for assistance, the officers moved in and effected an arrest without incident. They said they also recovered clothing worn by the "bearded bandit."

Odierna was initially accused of a March 31 holdup at the Pants Plus at Broadway Mall.

Police Report

The Second Precinct has reported the following:

• May 24: A house on California Street was burglarized. The loss included a "VCR," a "Bulova" watch and a bracelet.

The Eighth Precinct has reported the following:

• May 25: A business was burglarized on Bloomingdale Avenue. Entry was made through a broken window. Cash was included in the loss.

Another business was broken into on Bloomingdale Road. Entry was gained by prying open a window. There was no apparent loss.

Hicksville, where $1,300 was taken; the 1982 robbery of Clotheretia, Hempstead Turnpike, Levittown, which netted 1980 and Cornell Kids, Wantagh Avenue, Wantagh, which 1988 was taken; the May 10 1100 robbery of Secret Self store in Wantagh; and a 1142 robbery at Shoeflow, Old Country Road, Carle Place, on May 23. No one was reported injured in any of the bearded bandit robberies.

Police are continuing their investigation into Odierna's activities. He is a suspect in a total of 33 robberies committed in Nassau County since the beginning of the year. A source who asked that his name not be used, said the Suffolk police intend to question Odierna about crimes in that county.

Odierna was held in $50,000 bail at his arraignment June 5 in First District Court.

Hearing Set For Special Use Permit

A request for a special use permit in Hicksville will be the subject of a public hearing by the Oyster Bay Town Board on Tuesday, June 21, according to Town Councilman Kenneth S. Diamond.

The applicants, Brooklyn Avenue Associates and Slomin's, Inc., are seeking a special use permit to allow the use and maintenance of a public garage to house, store and repair trucks, trailers and automobiles, and also to use and maintain office space in premises located at 125 Lauman Lane in Hicksville, said Diamond.

The meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. in the hearing room of Town Hall East, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay.

TO YOUR HEALTH

By RICHARD H. BLAU, M.D.

Advanced Treatment For Rheumatoid Arthritis

A recent article discussed the diagnosis and initial treatment for rheumatoid arthritis. Drugs used in this treatment are those which control joint inflammation. Often, these initial medications are either aspirin or strong aspirin-like preparations. If the arthritis is progressive and not controlled by these medications, other therapies such as gold injections may be recommended.

No one is certain how gold works. However, scientific studies have shown that 70% of patients with rheumatoid arthritis will experience a good to an excellent response to gold therapy. This medication is given either orally or by injection. Gold is one of several medications called a disease modifying agent because it is believed to slow the process of rheumatoid arthritis. Other medications in this category are Plaquenil and D-Penicillamine.

Recently, another category of medication has been developed and used in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis. These medications are called immunosuppressive agents and include Imuran, Methotrexate, and Cytovan. These drugs are very powerful and are usually reserved for patients with rheumatoid arthritis which has not responded to other forms of treatment. Both gold therapy and the immunosuppressive therapy is usually administered under the supervision of a rheumatologist (arthritis specialist).

Great advances have been made over recent years in the diagnosis and treatment of rheumatoid arthritis. The days when a patient was in constant pain and confined to a wheelchair with arthritis have passed. Powerful new medications, combined with physical therapy and joint surgery, have revolutionized the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis.

Arthritis strikes one out of seven people. Learn the facts. Call for your complimentary copy of "The Joint Approach: An Arthritis Overview."

Make waves. $217 mo.

An automobile doesn't afford you the freedom it once did. Otherwise, there'd be no such thing as helicopter traffic reports.

A boat is a different story. There's still a lot of empty space to explore. Almost an endless supply, depending on just how seaworthy that boat really is.

the boat you want affordable at 10.9%

Suppose the boat you have your eye on costs $10,000. With our current variable rate of 10.9%, your monthly payments would only be $216.92 for 60 months. Whether you're a regular customer or not.

What's more, these monthly payments will never go up. If interest rates rise or fall during the term of the loan, we'll simply make adjustments at the end.

So why not visit one of the 190 convenient branches of The Bank of New York. Our branch personnel specialize in finding ways to keep your fixed monthly payments in amounts you can live with.

For an even faster response, call Action Phone at 1-800-942-1784 (out-of-state, call 914-684-5514 collect). If you call by 2:30 P.M. weekdays, in most cases we can have an answer for you by 5:00 P.M.

So the next time you're stalled on the FDR or the LIE, console yourself with this little fact of life.

Clinton Brought Home the Gold

The N.Y. State Games for the Physically Challenged were held for 3 days this past weekend. Clinton Brown entered four of the events and came home with a gold medal—for running in the 40-Meter Race. (And they say... would never walk...)

Happiness abounded at the Games. Children who had never before entered a sporting event came home tired and exhausted—but exhilarated. If you missed attending these events this year—be sure to attend next year. You will never be the same. To see children putting forth such effort and succeeding gives you the biggest 'high' you will ever have. Congratulations Clint—we're proud of you.

About the Maniushkos

Keith (14) and Tracy (10) Maniushko of Mead Avenue participated in the Spring Concert (Celebrate Music!) of the Our Lady of Mercy Band and Glee Club on Tuesday night, May 24th. Tracy is an eighth grade student at OLM and plays the trombone. Tracy, a fifth grader, does "double duty" by playing the flute for the advanced band and singing alto for the glee club. Maybe you recognize both Keith and Tracy! They are the same children who come knocking at your doors fundraising for their school by selling that delicious candy in September, those library raffles in May and the jog-a-thon sponsor contributions in May and June. They thank you all for your support!

A lively time was had by members and friends of the Hicksville V.F.W. recently at the V.F.W. Hall. The occasion was the annual installation dance. The membership of the post presented Commander Vincent Ferrara with a Past Commander's lapel pin with a diamond. The decoration was pinned on him by his brother Tony Ferrara who is St. Vice

Hicksville Chamber Announces Raffle Winners

For the past several months, members of the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce have been selling chances for a mammoth raffle, the drawing for which was held at Anton's May 17. This project was the idea of chamber president Marcos Ramirez, for the purpose of raising funds for a continuing scholarship for students who are Hicksville residents. The proceeds of the event, according to Mr. Ramirez, will ensure that a sizeable scholarship will be awarded each year for the next five years to a graduating student, based on his or her activity in community service. It is the chamber's attitude that this incentive might encourage good citizenship amongst the student body, and give recognition to some student who might not necessarily excel as a scholarly student.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cain won a brand new automobile. Mr. Cain is a local electrical contractor.

Second prize was awarded to a group of employees from Anton's. That prize was a trip to Florida which was donated by Magical Travel Agency, Hicksville.

The third prize was a VCR, donated by the Holiday Inn of Plainview. Peppercom's chef, Joseph Lester won that prize.

We don't mean to put ourselves up on a pedestal, but when you have a product as healthy and natural as ours, you want to stand up and be recognized. Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity.

We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only.

We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

To The Editor:

I would like to thank all of you who voted to return me to the board of education for the next three years. I want to especially thank all my friends that put their time and money to make it all possible.

I have only two regrets, one is the loss of Tom Nagle to the board, after 18 years of dedicated service. The second one is the misconception that some of you had in reading "Pat Rooney's" letter (flyer) that was mailed to the community at large. Many of my friends and volunteers, and especially Tom Nagle, were confused.

The letter (flyer) had given the impression that I had "endorsed" Pat, since my comments, that were made in tribute to her back in February 1987, were taken as a recent statement of support and tribute.

The comments that were quoted in the "Rooney" letter (flyer), were authored by me in the District's BULLETIN BOARD of February 1987, when I was president of the board of education. My tribute was not only for Mrs. Pat Rooney, but also to the other honored guests, at the PTA Founders Day Banquet, held at the Woodbury Country Club.

Again, many thanks to all my friends, and supporters, and also to all of you that participated in the budget vote and school board elections of 1988.

Students Raise Funds For Honduras Boy

The Verisage Chapter members of the National Junior Honor Society raised funds, by holding a school dance, to support a youngster through the Foster Parents Plan. They have received information about their foster child, Ivan Fernando Valle Torres, who lives in Trinidad de Quebradas, Honduras, with his parents and seven other family members. It is a rural community, where his father and older brother farm 4,000 square meters of land to provide the family's income. Ten-year-old Ivan attends third grade. Suzanne Peters, vice president of the NJHS and co-chairperson of this year's service project will begin corresponding with Ivan on behalf of the Verisage Chapter.

Memories.

. by Lydia Sarli Duffy

Recently, I was passing slowly through Hicksville and found myself taking note of the old houses that are still as they were when I was young. Sadly, some of the more prominent ones have long since gone—replaced by office buildings, shopping centers and parking lots.

I worked in Hicksville for about 8 years, walking to and from work and had plenty of time to observe the houses, plantings and trees.

I can recall the Huettnier residence on the corner of Jerusalem Avenue and Marie Street which was surrounded by a picket fence. There was a beautiful cherry tree that adorned the front lawn and it was a pleasure to see when it bloomed in the spring.

Across the road, on the north side of Marie Street, was the Talferro house hidden by huge trees and masses of shrubbery. It had the aura of a "mystery" house which made it more fascinating than it actually was, having seen it just before it was demolished.

Dr. Smith's former home on the corner of Cherry Street and Division Avenue still looks the same as it did many years ago. Then, it had beautiful dogwood trees which were not as common as they are now.

Nicholai Street was lined with big maple trees and of course, the grammar school was located there. When I was five years old, my sister insisted I have a picture taken seated on a pony. In those days, a man with a pony and camera would come by the schools and take pictures of the children—his way of earning a living. The next day, he expected to be paid. I wonder how many pictures he took and never was compensated for. This took place in front of Pastor Ruch's (Lutheran Church) dwelling with its picket fence in front and adjoining the McCaffrey home on the corner of Nicholai Street and Jerusalem Avenue, which also had a picket fence. Both houses are no longer there.

Dr. Curtis' (dentist) residence, (now the Jolly Swagman Restaurant), on West Nicholai Street was very impressive. At Christmas, there was always a Santa in a sleigh with reindeer placed on the unusual ledge bordered by a railing on the roof.

From what I understand, never having seen it, Miss Augustine's home on Broadway was beautiful—it was very private, protected by trees and shrubs and not visible from the road. That, too, is gone.

My Grandma Adesso's house on Bay Avenue has been replaced by an office building and parking lot. Now I have to rely on my memory and snapshots to recall the times I spent there as a child.

Newbridge Road has changed so much, I can hardly visualize it as it once was. It is amazing that Koutensky's house on Division Avenue near the high school is still there. The farm, where, once upon a time, we played hide-and-seek in the cornfield or picked potatoes in the dry, dusty soil (we could have "seconds"—potatoes that were left after the harvest—only the biggest and best went to the market), is an established housing development.

The house I formerly lived in on Division Avenue, is still standing. It has undergone changes but basically it's the same. Mom always had a lovely flower garden. She received many a compliment from passers-by who were overwhelmed by its beauty.

Despite all the changes, there are still many reminders of Hicksville when it was a bustling, thriving town. I am exceedingly happy that I was a part of it.

ALWAYS A FAVORITE meeting place place at the Hicksville High School is the "flagpole." Sherri Howell, Donna Debach and Shari Canoves relax during a free period off.

The Investor's Corner By Dr. Joseph P. Frey

What is Good is Bad and What is Bad is Bad

We are in the twilight of an economy that has been very steady for about six years. We have had a stock market that has matched the economy for those six years. The exception occurred last Oct. 19. Right now the economy seems flat, the markets are in what is known as a trading range (2000 top-about 1850 bottom). The dollar has stopped its plunge to the floor and has stabilized into a rather narrow trading range with our other major trading partners. Inflation seems to be under control. It all seems so boring. In fact, it is.

Dr. Joseph P. Frey

The Federal Reserve has been doing a good job of keeping everything under control. For those of you who save these articles, check 4/30/87 for an explanation of the juggling act that was started by Volcker and Baker and is now being continued by Greenspan/Baker. So far, it has been masterful. You can also check the article of 11/19/87 where we showed how the emphasis at the Fed has shifted from fighting inflation to fighting recession. In the intervening time, the Fed has made slight shifts back and forth as they continue their juggling act with the economy. They have done quite well keeping an even keel.

This is the historical role of the Fed. It acts in general ways. Usually it accommodates the party in power as an election nears. Then after the election, it takes actions that start to correct all of the actions that were taken by the executive branch of government to get reelected. (This is not a partisan statement. It applies to both political parties.)

The investors and Wall Street traders know this. It is one of the big reasons that the market is so skittish about everything. What used to be good, no longer is; what used to be bad, still is. As an example, more people are working than ever before, employment is up, unemployment is down. Great for the economy. The trade deficit has fallen dramatically because of the weak dollar. A bad number (too high) helped trigger Oct. 19, so a lessening is good. It is perceived as bad now. All of the economic signs are good. Profits are up, but people don't feel they can be maintained, that is bad. And so it goes. The better the news, the more sluggish the stock markets get. The why, is quite simple to explain.

The better the news, the more sure the market is that the Fed will raise interest rates to slow the growth and curtail inflation. Interest rate rises are seen as negatives by both the stock and bond markets. The potential is there for inflation to rise. When that happens, the Fed raises rates to slow.

VOILA! What is good is bad, and what is bad is bad. That is the way this market acts. As I have said many, many times interest rates will rise. Right now cash is king. Be short term oriented for the next two or so years. Next week I will go into more of the reasons for this based on history of markets around presidential elections.

A Letter from Lulubelle...

The family around the dinner table—now that's a picture that we all agree is family life at its best...and after reading a family life specialist's article on the importance of the family joining together for the evening meal, I thought back to the dinner table at our house when I was little...My Mother thought that "only peasants" ever ate at a table not covered with a white tablecloth and it was an even worse sin to put the milk bottle—yes, bottle, containers hadn't come into use—on the table...However, remember that this was deep depression days and my carpenter Father was often out of work (that's funny, I said "out of work" and not unemployed—we never used that word) and so many things in our house were very run down—in fact, that white tablecloth, clean and starched and ironed, often had holes as well...and my Mother was a terrible seamstress, so she never even tried to "dam" the holes...and that milk pitcher was often chipped and never seemed to match any of the ill-assorted dishes on the table...But, it was not what was on the table, but what went on at the table...Each one told about his day and, since my Father had a delicious sense of humor, we laughed a lot...we teased each other and we commiserated about things that had gone wrong—and we did eat together every night—and it was very special...Dinner at our house was at five o'clock because carpenters started work early and quit early and were very hungry when they arrived home...of course, Sunday dinner was in the middle of the day and that was always the most delicious meal of the week because we often had roast chicken, which was a great delicacy when chicken was 35¢ a pound and beef was only 10¢...and after dinner, I always had to do the dishes, which I detested and do to this day and I often thank those engineers who invented the automatic dishwasher...my little brother never helped...but, then, I never cut the grass.

Yours, Lulubelle

I Love New York Summer Vacation

By Governor Mario M. Cuomo

New York State provides the ideal setting for traditional summer vacations and a variety of weekend get-aways. During the past ten years, the I Love New York campaign has been bringing to our attention the scenic brilliance of our State's natural resources and the value of our cultural centers. New Yorkers should use the summer months to explore the endless recreational and educational possibilities our State offers.

A week of relaxation, for example, could be spent in the Catskills, the Finger Lakes, or enjoying the splendor of Niagara Falls. Residents who wish to get away for a weekend can take advantage of the outdoors in any of New York's 200 State parks, 500 campgrounds, 1,000 miles of hiking trails and 70,000 miles of waterways. The Department of Parks and Recreation, which works hard to keep these areas beautiful, encourages New Yorkers to go hiking, fishing, rafting, canoeing, kayaking or camping.

Vacation time could also be wisely used learning about New York's rich cultural heritage. New York is the home of world-renowned museums, galleries and historically significant landmarks including: the Federal Hall National Memorial, where George Washington was inaugurated as the first President of the United States; Ellis Island, which welcomed thousands of immigrants to America; and Albany, the nation's oldest chartered city and the Capitol of our State.

In addition, New York is a leading location for special events such as U.S. Open Tennis, major and minor league baseball, theater and a variety of summer festivals. Beginning with the Belmont Stakes in June and ending with the I Love New York Fall Festival in September, there are almost 50 major events scheduled throughout the State during the summer months.

A toll-free number — 1-800-CALL-NYS — has been set up to help New Yorkers learn more about these events and our State's numerous vacation opportunities. Callers can also ask for a free copy of the I Love New York Passport to Adventure, which contains valuable coupons for admission to several attractions as well as discounted accommodations. I invite all New York residents to take advantage of these services and our State's vast resources throughout the summer.

ASK OUR MAN IN WASHINGTON

Dear Mr. Burns:

Question: I don't know whether this is true or not but a friend of mine was watching the Phil Donahue Show the other day and according to her, when a congressman retires he can keep all of the money that's in his campaign treasury. This does not seem right to me. Is my friend right or wrong?

Answer: Your friend is both right and wrong. In the aftermath of Watergate, the Congress amended the Federal Election Campaign Act so that congressmen and senators could not use their campaign funds for personal use. There was, however, one catch; there was a "grandfather clause." This means that congressmen and senators who were in office when the legislation was enacted are exempt from its provisions. A congressman or senator elected after the law was enacted would not be able to use his campaign funds after his retirement for personal purposes.

Often times when a "grandfathered" congressman or senator retires, he or she has given his excessive funds to a Republican or Democratic political committee or to charity.

According to Common Cause, the public interest lobbying group, some congressmen are not so generous.

Zero Tolerance

By Martin Burns

In recent weeks, the U.S. Coast Guard and the Customs Service has made headlines by seizing and impounding yachts when they discover the slightest trace of an illegal drug or controlled substance. This policy has become known to both the press and to the general public as "zero tolerance."

Mr. William von Rabb, the Commissioner of the Customs Service recently defined zero tolerance as not "accepting illicit drugs in any measurable amount, at any time or at any place on the border! Previously, small amounts of drugs, when discovered by our law enforcement officers, were either overlooked or violators were permitted to pay a small fine. . . . I believe that if we are going to get serious about our anti-drug effort, we must deal with all violators."

Last week, the House Subcommittee on Coast Guard and Navigation met to review the policy of zero tolerance. At the hearing, it was reported that since the imposition of the zero tolerance policy on the Customs Service and the Coast Guard had seized the 133 foot, 42.5 million yacht, Ark Royal, the 180 million research vessel Atlantis, and many other fishing and pleasure vessels.

At the hearing, the officials from the Coast Guard and Customs Service soon faced hostile questioning from two very different sources, Rep. Gerry Studds (D-Massachusetts) and Don Young (R-Ala.). Although both men do have some substantial fishing interests in their districts, they differ on almost every other conceivable issue known to man. They are perhaps the ultimate political "odd couple."

What disturbed both Studds and Young the most was that the owner of a fishing vessel could have his boat confiscated because of a small amount of drugs found in a crew member's personal effects or in the garbage, and have no way of proving his innocence. Both men wondered where the presumption of innocence had gone.

To most of us, a boat is a possession to be enjoyed. However, to a commercial fisherman it is a way of providing for his family. Most fishermen operate for very limited seasons, as the proverb says, they must make hay while the sun shines. If a fisherman loses the use of his boat for any part of his season, it can be a financial disaster to him and his family.

In an attempt to explain the plight of the fisherman in his district, Studds asked if a

ROBERT R. McMILLAN'S Direct Line

Almost 10,000 cases of child abuse are reported every year in Nassau and Suffolk Counties. And, that is probably a substantially understated actual number of children abused each year. In fact, the number of cases reported, since Lisa Steinberg's tragic death last Fall, has jumped dramatically. Reported cases on Long Island show a twenty percent increase. As shocking as it may seem, it is estimated that there are over one million child abuse cases each year in the United States.

Robert R. McMILLAN

Child abuse can be physical or sexual. In some cases there is maltreatment — emotional, or verbal abuse. It knows no economic class nor is it limited to any race or neighborhood. The reasons for child abuse are legion; but, there are several situations which seem to repeat themselves over and over again.

The lack of stability in today's family is one major contributing factor. As we do "our thing" often times little lives are the largest victims. Another key factor is the repetitive cycle. Abused children often become abusers. They have not learned the right way to nourish and raise children.

Today's stressful society prevents many parents from coping with their own problems. They, in turn, take out frustrations on their children. That frustration often brings on alcoholism or drug abuse. Addiction to alcohol or drugs is directly connected to over forty percent of child abuse cases.

Finally, many parents just do not have parenting skills. There are no courses in most high schools or colleges. Many of our schools teach young people more about golf than the development of living skills.

In talking to professionals in this field, they say that about one out of every four people reading this column know of a situation involving a case of child abuse. If that is so, then the next obvious question is what should be done when you have knowledge of a child being abused. First, if you are a physician, dentist, nurse, teacher or other professional, you are required by law to report child abuse. Others, while not obligated by law to report it, certainly have a moral responsibility. With the death of Lisa Steinberg, you would have to wonder how courageous her teachers were. The reporting has been made relatively easy through the installation of a statewide toll free number. By dialing (800) 342-1720, you can reach the State Central Registry in Albany. They, in turn, will refer any complaint to a local office for investigation.

If you are unsure about a case of child abuse or want further information, let me suggest two organizations for you to call. In Nassau call the Nassau Coalition of Child Abuse and Neglect at (516) 481-7784. The Western Suffolk Coalition on Child Abuse and Neglect may be reached at (516) 300-0800. Both organizations will be delighted to speak to you in confidence about any concern. They will also provide speakers for your organization, church or synagogue.

The little ones in our communities deserve our interest and support. If you know of any child abuse, be responsible and act. Do not let a Lisa Steinberg happen on Long Island.

Questions and opinions may be addressed to Mr. McMILLAN, Attn: Community Newspapers, 112 East Second Street, Mineola, NY 11501.

The Social Security Notch — How Did It Happen?

The story of the Social Security Notch begins in 1973. At that time, the Congress formalized the system of adjusting Social Security benefits that had been in use since the program's inception. The automatic cost of living adjustments (COLAs) that the Congress adopted that year became part of the new benefit formula which took effect in 1975.

With the rapid inflation rate of the late 1970's, it soon became apparent that the new benefit formula was over-indexed. In other words, as it was designed to account for both inflation in wages and prices, Social Security benefits were being increased more than they should have been. If this flaw in the Social Security system was not corrected, the entire system would be in jeopardy.

In 1977, the Congress went to work on a new benefit formula. The changes the Congress made that year made substantial changes in the Social Security benefit formula for individuals who reached 62 after 1978. To minimize any negative impact of the new benefit formula on individuals who retired in January of 1979 people born between the years 1917-1921 (the Notch years), were allowed to use a special transitional formula or the new formula, whichever is higher.

The changes that the Congress made in the Social Security benefits formula meant that it is possible to have two individuals who have very little difference in their work history and yet because of a very small difference in their ages receive substantially different Social Security benefits.

At a recent hearing of the Senate Select Committee on Aging on the notch issue, two sisters, Edith Dettweiler and Audrey Webb testified. Audrey was born in March of 1916, while Edith was born in 1917. For 25 years, both Edith and Audrey worked for the Pacific Press Company in southern California. When both Edith and Audrey retired in 1982, they were both surprised and shocked at the differences in their monthly Social Security checks. As they had almost identical work histories they had assumed that their Social Security checks would also be very similar. Because Edith was born 15 months after her sister, she receives 155 less in Social Security benefits than her sister. It is interesting to note that if Edith was Audrey's twin she would receive 126 more than Audrey.

There are legislative proposals pending in the Congress which address the notch issues. Here are the proposals of two of our local congressmen.

What Your Congressmen are Saying about the Notch

Congressman Norman F. Lent (R-East Rockaway)

Mr. Speaker, we have all heard the horror stories — two workers born only days apart, one in December 1916 and the other in January of 1917, who both retire in 1982 and receive monthly Social Security checks that differ as much as $100 — even though their earnings have been the same every year.

I've co-sponsored two bills which would resolve the notch benefit disparity and restore basic fairness to the Social Security System. The first, House Concurrent Resolution 15, calls for a study of the notch problem and asks the Commissioner of Social Security to recommend ways to rectify this inequity. The second measure, H.R. 1917, protects beneficiaries affected by the notch by replacing the failed 5 year transition period with a new formula which stretches out the transition period over to 25 to 30 years.

Congressman Robert J. Mrazek (D-Centerport)

Madam Speaker, few matters have generated so much controversy over such a long period of time as the Social Security notch. Since Social Security retirees first became aware of the notch inequity in 1983, it has consistently remained at the top of the list of issues about which residents of New York's Third Congressional District express their views.

Madam Speaker, I rise this morning to once again express my full support for a legislative to the unfairness of the Social Security notch. More than one third of the House has co-sponsored legislation to remedy the notch. A number of field hearings have been held on the notch, including one in my own district at which several hundred citizens vented their frustration over the lack of progress in resolving this injustice.

Now is the time to act on this most important issue. I am convinced that the notch will not go away until justice is served and I urge my colleagues who have not already done so to endorse one of the notch bills now pending.

'But' Journalism

"But" journalism is the order of the day, and frankly, we think it's editorializing in the headlines in the worst way.

For example, in this recently completed summit, have you noticed that there is seldom a headline which says something of a positive nature such as "Nancy and Raisa Walk Hand in Hand" that doesn't have to add "But" and continue in some fashion such as "But the two don't really like each other."

Now, we can all do it...using words that have a built-in bias...for example, "Mrs. Reagan asked the guide to tell her more about the icons" versus "Mrs. Reagan interrupted the guide to ask about the icons"....One suggests a further interest in icons, while the other suggests a certain rudeness—yet both of these sentences would be defended by the person who wrote them as being factually correct.

Now, be fair...would you like to read the news and the headlines written in a factual manner without "shaded" words or do you enjoy having your mind made up for you by writers — and newscasters, too — who lead you to agree with their way of interpreting the news by choosing words which convey their personal reactions??? Think about that!

Guide For The Bride

Here Comes The...Groom!

What happens to that "knight in shining armor" on the Wedding Day? Somehow that handsome prince seems to stifle his white charger and shadow himself in the aura of his bride's glow. He and his stalwart honor guard, though very much a presence in the proceedings are dimmed by the colorful living bouquet of maids who seem to dramatize the shimmering vision of white (or pastel) magic created by her loveliness.

Let's take a few minutes to salute the Groom. His modern day "armor" is still shining. He no longer sports the gleam of polished steel, but his outfit has been chosen with as much care, and each part of his attire reflects the importance of the occasion. His groomsmen...ushers and best man...hover attentively, dressed in 1980's finery. His "back seat" is momentary, his handsome masculinity and the cool sophistication of his watchful attendants complete the picture.

Designers like Raffinati, Oleg Cassini, Pierre Cardin, Christian Dior have created the perfect masculine backdrop for this most important occasion. From Raffinati's silver-lustre Teteron/rayon blend formal Silver Shadow full length Tailcoat (pictured), to Pierre Cardin's elegantly updated Elite White tuxedo, or the up-to-the-minute flair of the After Six "Miami Vice" collection, the men's fashion world has created a special place for the men of the wedding.

Tails (above left) by Pierre Cardin, in soft spring grey, accented with a pastel cummerbund, wing-tip collar with matching bow tie. The Christian Dior tux, right, has a long jacket and satin notched lapels. The cummerbund is replaced by a two button vest, and the pleated, wing-tip shirt is highlighted by a satin bow-tie.

Tradition vs. Reality Who Pays for What

In years past, the financial aspects of the wedding plans were clear cut and traditionally followed. Most of the expense was borne by the bride's family (the groom would bear full financial responsibility once the vows were exchanged...forever).

Traditions hold sway, even in 1988. But the final rule nowadays is "the one(s) who are most willing and able to pay, usually take on most of the costs." Today, the bride and groom—both older, both working—often share the expense, alleviating the burden from either family.

If the groom's parents wish to share (or take on) the expense, that, too, is acceptable. In any case, it is wise for both families to discuss expenses at the outset, making their limits absolutely clear and avoiding misunderstandings and friction later on.

Legionnaires' Log

By GREG BENNETT
Charles Wagner Post #421, Hicksville

Hicksville Legionnaires were on the move Memorial Day weekend. Commander Harry Christo attended our Auxiliary Unit Installation on Friday night. County Commander Dick Hochbrueckner presided over a county meeting at Williston Post on Friday which was attended by Arlene Howard, Greg Bennett, and Ray Gamble, who is the County Sons' of the American Legion chairman.

Saturday started with the flagging of graves at Hicksville Plainlawn Cemetery by the Veterans Organizations of Hicksville. Cdr. Dave Henderson, of the Masonic War Veterans, led Frank Molinari, Arlene Howard, Greg Bennett, and others to make sure flags were placed on the graves of Hicksville's veterans. Later Saturday morning, County Cdr. Hochbrueckner and Greg Bennett, along with 3rd Division VC Herb Granberg, flagged section 2V at Long Island National Cemetery. The most touching site of the day was a young girl, the picture of youthful innocence, flagging a section alone with the dignity only a youngster can provide. We also sharpened our recon skills, as we learned how hard it is to find a small section of graves in a large National Cemetery. Cdr. Hochbrueckner also attended a Korea and Vietnam Monument dedication in Bayville sponsored by Bayville American Legion.

On Sunday morning, the Veterans Organizations of Hicksville conducted a memorial service at Plainlawn Cemetery in Hicksville to remember the sacrifices of the veterans buried there. Charles Wagner Legionnaires Cdr. Harry Christo, PC Artie Rutz, PC Ray Gamble, PC Frank Molinari, Adj. Arlene Howard, VC Greg Bennett, VC Al Cinotti, Chaplain Al Egan, Madame President Joan Rizzo and Auxiliary members conducted a memorial service at the grave of Charles A. Wagner at Holy Rood Cemetery in Westbury. We honored Wagner, who fought and died for his country in France during World War I.

As a member of the 32nd Division, 1st Army Corps, Company E, 107th Ammunition Train, Wagner saw duty in the Verdun sector and was severely wounded by enemy action, losing both legs above the knee on September 30, 1918. He succumbed in Base Hospital #31, Contrexeville, France on October 2, 1918. Hicksville Legionnaires forever honor his memory.

Hicksville Legionnaires Cdr. Harry Christo, PC Artie Rutz and VC Greg Bennett carried our Post Colors in the United Veterans Organization of Nassau County Memorial Service at the Veterans Memorial in Eisenhower Park on May 29. Our own County Commander Hochbrueckner sat amongst the honored guests which included County Executive Thomas Gulotta and Assemblyman Fred Parola. We were honored to see distinguished Hicksville veteran Conrad Steers chair the ceremony as vice president of the UVO of Nassau County. The day was not over as Harry Christo and Greg Bennett carried our Post Colors at the 52nd Annual Memorial Service at Pinelawn National Cemetery, conducted near the Distinguished Service Section where 13 Medal of Honor winners are buried. County Cdr. Hochbrueckner attended as a distinguished guest and once again we saw Connie Steers, who is an officer of the Long Island National Cemetery Memorial Organization, provided a magnificent Firing Squad and American Celtic Pipe Band for the service.

On Memorial Day, PC Frank Molinari led the Memorial Day Parade as the Grand Marshal as once again the residents of Hicksville lined Broadway, Old Country Road and Jerusalem Avenue to pay tribute at the Hicksville War Monuments to honor those residents who have given their lives in defense of our beloved nation. The Charles Wagner Color Guard for the Hicksville Memorial Day Parade was composed of PC Artie Rutz, PC Lou Braun, VC Greg Bennett and George Blochl. PC Ray Gamble and VC Greg Bennett were part of the firing squad for the memorial service. County Executive, Thomas Gulotta attended the memorial service also.

After the service, members of Hicksville veteran and fraternal groups gathered at the Hicksville Masonic Temple for refreshments. Our compliments to Cdr. David Henderson of the Masonic War Veterans and the Memorial Day Committee for providing a solemn tribute on Memorial Day.

Our community also owes thanks to the Girl and Boy Scouts who assisted veterans with flagging of graves at our local and national cemetery.

This column honors the men and women of the Allied Expeditionary Force, led by Supreme Commander General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who supported and participated in Operation Overload, the D-Day assault of Nazi Europe on June 6, 1944.

Hicksville Elks' Youth Night is a Success

The first week of May every year is designated National Youth week by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. One of the ways the Hicksville Elks honor the youth of the community during this week is by having a Youth night at the lodge. This event is attended by youth groups sponsored by the lodge and young family members and friends of the members. During the evening the youngsters are treated to soda, ice cream, various other goodies and a no-cost prize giveaway, where every child who attended won something. These prizes ranged from Yankee baseball tickets to a wide variety of toys and gifts. As a special treat this year those in attendance saw a martial arts exhibition provided by Yanagi School of Martial Arts located in Farmingdale. This is just one of the programs the Elks run throughout the year in support of the youth of our community. Some of the other programs are: Teenager of the Month, Junior Olympics, Eagle and Gold Award presentations, Drug Awareness, Hoop Shoot Contest, Sports teams sponsorship, Boy Scout troop co-sponsorship.

ATTENDING THE ELKS' "youth night" were Ralph Dorby, Artie Senior (district youth chairman), Gene Cromwell (CYO coach at Holy Family), Keith Cromwell (Hoop Shoot Champ from Hicksville Elks Lodge) and Tom Preston.

1 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♥	Pass (1)
3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥	5 ♣
5 ♥	Pass	Pass	6 ♣
Pass	Pass	Double

Opening lead — jack of spades

This deal occurred some years ago in the Masters Pair championship in England. The bidding shown took place when Nico Gardener and Albert Rose, well-known international stars, were North-South.

East opened one spade on a hand with which most players, using standard methods of bidding, would pass as dealer. However, East-West were playing Acol, which emphasizes good distribution, and East therefore felt obliged to open the bidding.

Rose made a normal overcall of two diamonds and West entered the fray with two hearts. North's correct action at this point is debatable — there are possibly half a dozen different bids he could reasonably make.

But Gardener felt that he was not yet in good position to judge how high to go in diamonds, so he elected to pass! This unusual maneuver worked out very well when Gardener eventually inched his way into six diamonds, which West doubled and which Rose made with an overtrick.

West might possibly have gone to six hearts (down two) instead of doubling, even though it was hard for him to tell that his partner would not take a trick after having opened the bidding.

In general, in the situation West was confronted with, it pays to go on bidding even though you're sure to go down and the opponents may have already overextended themselves. You do so because you're willing to accept a relatively small loss in order to avoid a large one. In doubtful situations, you bid one more for luck.

None of these comments are meant to take anything at all away from Gardener, who started out with an imaginative first-round pass and was ultimately rewarded for it with 1,190 points.

Briarcliffe The College For Business

300 Frosh Slated To Enter Fall Classes At Briarcliffe's 3 L.I. Campus Centers

Some 300 men and women are slated to enter the freshman class this September at the three Long Island-based campus centers of Briarcliffe—The College for Business.

According to William B. Galloway, vice-president of Briarcliffe, the greater majority of entering students will pursue course studies leading to associate degrees in office technology, business administration or administrative secretarial science.

Other students will be enrolled in one-year diploma programs in addition to those studying parttime or in evening sessions, Galloway said.

Galloway said more students than ever are enrolling in the two-year degree programs, contrasting with the sizeable enrollments in one-year diploma programs in former years.

According to Galloway, most of the entering students will be drawn from some 80 high schools throughout Nassau and Suffolk Counties, with smaller numbers coming from neighboring Queens.

"Like other colleges on Long Island," he explained, "Briarcliffe has a certain geographic radius from which it attracts its student constituency. Our three campus centers in Hicksville, Lynbrook, and Patchogue provide virtually all of our students with an easy, highly accessible commute."

Briarcliffe Aids H.S. Achievers: Awards $225,000 In Scholarships

Demonstrating that it seeks to reward deserving high school students, Briarcliffe—the College for Business—awarded a record of approximately $225,000 in scholarships during the 1986-1987 academic year, a report by the Office of Student Financial Aid revealed.

The three types of scholarships sponsored by Briarcliffe (Presidential, Alumni and Merit Scholarships) are fully funded by metropolitan area employers and the college itself. A host of community and corporate scholarship programs are also available to Briarcliffe students and are frequently publicized through organizational newsletters and high school guidance offices.

Under Presidential Scholarship guidelines, high school students who graduate in the top third of their class are eligible for awards up to $3,000.

Applicants who have distinguished themselves by their scores on the college's Alumni Scholarship Examination may vie for awards ranging from $500 to $4,500. A minimum total of $20,000 is awarded annually.

Eligibility for a Merit Scholarship is predicated on achievement of a 3.5 cumulative average at the end of two semesters of fulltime study. College officials said the exact amount of each scholarship is established annually and is applied to the fulltime day tuition of the recipient.

According to Gail Drapala, Briarcliffe's financial aid administrator, the Office of Student Financial Aid administers a comprehensive program of financial assistance in the form of grants, loans and student employment as well as scholarships.

It also provides counseling and information services to students and parents. "A student's financial need," Drapala explained, "is defined as the difference between the cost of attending Briarcliffe and the student's ability to meet the cost."

Once a student's financial needs have been determined, she said, a variety of sources are explored and an estimated financial aid "package" is developed.

College officials pointed out, however, that all students who receive financial aid are required to make satisfactory progress towards the completion of a diploma or degree.

Big Biz Firms Seek To Tap Briarcliffe Students Long Before Graduation

Major corporations are so keen on hiring graduates of Briarcliffe-The College for Business—that they actively recruit its students long before they receive their degrees and even provide scholarship funds for them, college officials disclosed.

"Wall Street brokerage firms, communications conglomerates, publishing houses and many of the world's biggest banks as well as many of the smaller but vibrant business concerns on Long Island, are delighted to employ our graduates," Richard Turan, Briarcliffe President, declared.

"They dispatch their recruiters to our campuses at about the time our students reach the mid-point of their Associate degree programs," Turan said. "What's more, they continually invite our students on tours of their corporate offices and facilities and arrange information meetings with top executives and personnel administrators to explore employment opportunities."

"Naturally," Turan went on, "we at Briarcliffe are tremendously pleased at this outpouring of interest and concern, and we're happy to know these field trips and conferences add measurably in helping our students to bring their career plans into sharper focus."

"The companies realize, of course," Turan added, "that they might avail themselves of excellent opportunities to tap the source of future employees possessing a broad range of business knowledge and proven capabilities."

The ripple effect translates into something of a bonus both for Briarcliffe and its students, Turan observed.

"On one hand," he explained, "it's a testimonial to our educational methodology and philosophy and, on the other, the achievements chalked up by the thousands of our alumni helps smooth the path for each succeeding graduating class."

Four 'A' Students At Briarcliffe Speak At Commencement

Four graduating students who achieved the highest grade point average possible in their two-year degree programs served as co-valetudinarians during the annual commencement of Briarcliffe-the College for Business—on Sunday, June 5, in Syosset.

According to Dr. Sandra Susman, Academic vice-president of Briarcliffe, the four students—Deena Boyle of Hicksville; Victoria Vierling of Oceanside; Sherry Spielholz of Medford and Linda Temme of Levittown—registered top grades of "A" in all of their course studies over a period of four semesters for a cumulative grade average of 4.0, the highest possible.

Boyle and Temme attended Briarcliffe's Hicksville campus. Vierling studied at the Lynbrook campus and Spielholz at the Patchogue center.

Scott DeGarmo, Editor-In-Chief, of Success Magazine, a management-oriented monthly, delivered the commencement address before an audience of nearly 1,000 persons.

Associated degrees were conferred upon 200 graduates and one-year diplomas upon 30 others, Susman said.

Office Technology Study At Briarcliffe Keeps Pace With Industry Developments

While education tends to lag behind industry development a few years, students of Briarcliffe-the College for Business—are poised and ready on the cutting edge of the latest advances in office technology, according to Richard Turan, President of the two-year business college.

"Our students are right up there with the latest developments as they occur using the new equipment at the same time industry receives it," Turan said.

That Briarcliffe can respond so quickly, directly and comprehensively to these ongoing developments, Turan emphasized, is due largely to its new curriculum in office technology, an intensive study and hands-on program that embraces up-to-the-minute applications in computer sciences, word-processing, and information systems management.

"The office technology program, taken in conjunction with traditional business management courses, is designed to make the office worker more efficient than ever," Turan said.

Briarcliffe students gain a working knowledge of microcomputers and are afforded hands-on use of word processing, database and electronic spreadsheet programs.

Use of database and spreadsheet programs are taught in the companion study on information systems.

Turan said the office technology program more than underscores Briarcliffe's educational philosophy in offering comprehensive instruction that reflects current trends in business.

"It also places Briarcliffe in the vanguard of select business colleges that can promptly satisfy industry's needs for skilled administrative support personnel," he said.

Frank Molinari: Hicksville's Grand Marshal

The Veterans' Organization of Hicksville Memorial Day Committee once again selected a Memorial Day Parade Grand Marshal, chosen for service to nation and community, the 1988 Grand Marshal was long time Hicksville resident and veteran Frank Molinari.

Mr. Molinari grew up in Brooklyn, and at an early age, enlisted in the Army National Guard, 27th Division. During World War II, he served in the U.S. Army 1st Division, 26th Regiment under General Hodges and fought throughout Europe, most notably, in the Battle of the Bulge. He also served in the occupation force which provided security for the Nuremberg War Crimes Trial. Mr. Molinari still has a mess hall card from the trials.

Mr. Molinari has lived in Hicksville since 1951 and has been married to his wife, Lillian, for 49 years. They have two sons, John, of Florida, and Frank Jr., of Huntington Bay. Frank Jr., is the brother-in-law of noted Hicksville born singer Billy Joel.

Mr. Molinari is a man of many hats. He is past commander of Charles Wagner American Legion Post 421, the former adjutant, vice commander (for 16 years) and color guard sergeant. He is a life member of William M. Gouse Jr. Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3211, serving as color guard sergeant. In addition he is a member of the Knights of Columbus Joseph Barry Council 2520 and an associate member of Vietnam Veterans of America Nassau Chapter 82. Mr. Molinari has served on the Hicksville Memorial Day Committee for 20 years.

Lillian joins her husband in his concern for the veterans and community. Lillian has been recognized for 15 years' service to the Charles Wagner Auxiliary Unit. As vice commander, Mr. Molinari served as Child Welfare Chairman and Veterans Rehabilitation Chairman.

Memorial Day Grand Marshals are selected for community service. The 1987 Grand Marshal, Conrad Steers, was a "committee of one," bringing Korean and Vietnam War Monuments to Hicksville. Mr. Steers, a Vietnam Veteran, is a founding member and past president of Vietnam Veterans of America Chapter 82 and past commander of William M. Gouse Jr. VFW 3211. Mr. Steers is also a member of The Military Order of the Purple Heart and Big Brothers, Big Sisters of Nassau County. He is supported by his wife, Cherie, who is an associate member of Vietnam Veterans of America #82 and active in the VFW.

The Hicksville community can be proud of Frank and Lillian Molinari as well as Connie and Cherie Steers.

FROM THE DESK OF: SUPERVISOR DELLIGATTI

"Resolved, that the flag of the United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white, that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field representing a new constellation."

On June 14, 1777 the Continental Congress, meeting in Philadelphia, adopted this resolution and gave birth to the national emblem that symbolizes the liberty and justice that is our collective heritage as Americans.

During its 211 year existence, our flag, like our nation, has undergone changes. For a short time the number of stripes as well as stars was increased as new states were admitted into the union. This practice was abandoned in 1818, however, when it became apparent that, with the admission of so many states, the flag would soon grow to unwieldy proportions. Since then the thirteen original stripes have remained constant, while the galaxy of stars representing our United States has expanded to 50 and rearranged its initial circular shape to the nine staggered rows we know today.

Although its surface has changed somewhat, our flag affirms as strongly today as it did in 1777 our belief, as a nation, in the principles set forth by our Founding Fathers.

Its colors themselves reflect these principles: red for loyalty, courage and the sacrifices of our military ranks; blue for truth and unity; and white for the purity of our nation's cause.

Most of us are genuinely stirred by the sight of our waving ensign leading a parade or the sounds of the Star Spangled Banner proclaiming our pride in the flag. Unfortunately, too many of us allow the annual June 14th observance of Flag Day to go unnoticed.

This year in the Town of Oyster Bay, thanks to Memorial Post #8033, Veterans of Foreign Wars, a special and fitting event will mark Flag Day. On June 14th, V.F.W. Post representatives will present a M.I.A./POW. Flag to the Town as a reminder to all of the supreme and ongoing valor of the countless American service personnel who are imprisoned or unaccounted for on foreign soil.

It will be an honor for me to accept this flag on behalf of our Town. Its display in our community should rekindle an allegiance and appreciation for the rights and freedoms that are woven throughout our American Flag—the flag that our M.I.A.s and POW.s so willingly and courageously carried into battle for us all.

OYSTER BAY TOWN COUNCILMAN Kenneth S. Diamond (second from right) was on hand as the Town presented a special performance of the musical Annie Get Your Gun as part of its salute to senior citizens during senior citizen month. Here, he presents a citation to Anthony Esposito, vice president of the Town of Oyster Bay Arts Council, Inc., which co-sponsored the production, as (left to right) Mary McKean of Hicksville, Reba Swernofsky of Syosset, and Mary LaBella of Locust Valley look on.

1988 Jump-A-Thon at Fork Lane School

By Carolyn Weber

The place was jumpin' to Dr. Ferrin's upbeat music.

Children, teachers and parents alike were "in the mood" for some fancy footwork. Jumping alone (plain and fancy), jumping in pairs and double dutch—and when they weren't jumping, they danced. Everyone had the beat and kept it going with smiles and laughter.

Jumping for the heart is what was done at Fork Lane—and a great deal of heart was put into a wonderful event!

Galileo Lodge News

By Joe Lorenzo

Skip Monteforte's Message: That error is most dangerous which has a great deal of truth mixed with it. Old Saying.

Taking the refrains and sentiments of an old song which speaks of "summer time and the living is easy," and applying this to what the Galileo Lodge has to offer in the way of social recreation, and you'll find that relaxation and leisure are always present...especially in the good old summer time. Summer sunshine, summer scenes, summer flowers and summer skies are really the by-products of the time of the sun.

The social and recreational program that the Galileo Lodge has just promulgated for this summer staggers the mind. Golf outings, fishing trips, a summer bowling night, a picnic in August, a possible boat ride, Membership Appreciation Nights (that's when the Galileo Lodge gratuitously offers its membership—male and female—food and refreshments, an Italian Wedding Dance and an Annual Scholarship Anniversary Dance. All this for the edification and benefit of its membership. Lethargy is the curse of an organization, at our Lodge, there is nothing but activity, one event after another.

The Ladies Auxiliary, as you may have noticed, is not an inactive group; and coming from a recent successful activity called a Military Bridge Party, they now announce that they will hold a Twilight Fun Bowling night at Woodbury Lanes on South Oyster Bay Road. The time is Saturday, July 9 at 9 p.m. price of admission is $13 per person, with a hot buffet and coffee in the offering; and add rental shoes as well. There will be prizes and music to embellish the evening's fare. Rose Riccardi (681-0966) will supervise this activity, ably assisted by Millie Del Cioppo (938-5052). Another interesting note here is that men are cordially invited to attend. So, for a summer night's fun with the spirit of friendship from the Ladies Auxiliary, get involved with this nice and relaxing activity.

And, of course, let's not forget the show of shows that the Ladies Auxiliary is also proud of and known for. I am referring to the "Foolies Follies." As I have said, attend this activity and you'll find that your cup will run over with laughter and fun. Naturally, the Ladies Auxiliary has started rehearsals for this mirthful venture, and for all those who are interested in becoming a participant, onstage or offstage, please contact Sue Laurenti at 931-0036 or Claire Fuoco (334-5329).

Lodge Tidbits: Very sorry to report that Sue Laurenti's mother recently passed away, and we all here at the Lodge extend to Sue and her family our deepest condolences. Sue is a very active member of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Galileo Lodge.

Part-Timer Trouble

Dear Edith: I am qualified for a salesperson's license but find it extremely difficult to enter the field on a part-time basis. Why is this the case? — T.T.

As you know, licensed salespersons are not allowed to practice real estate on their own. You must find a sponsoring broker.

Many firms feel that training part-timers isn't worth their investment of time and effort. And because the broker is legally responsible for a salesperson's actions, brokers worry about taking on someone whom they cannot supervise daily.

Nevertheless, if you look promising, it should be possible to locate a broker who will take you on.

NEW LANDLORD AND LEASES

Dear Edith: I have just purchased a duplex house and will be living in one half. Could you please advise me as to developing a lease for tenants? I know pre-made forms are available, but I would like to know what common clauses can be deleted or should be added to protect my investment. Yes, I know I'm new to this, but I hope to avoid common mistakes. — Mr. C.C.

Careful tenant selection is at least as important as what's in a lease. After you've been at it a while you learn that what you're legally entitled to and what you can get as a practical matter are two different things. What use is it if tenants owe you such-and-such funds when they don't have the money to pay?

Learn to judge potential tenants by whether they:

- Pay their bills on time (ask for a credit report)
- Have stable employment (again, ask)
- Will spend no more than a quarter of their income on your rent (otherwise, they will be overextended)
- Keep their car neat and their kids under control
- Have enough cash on hand to pay your security deposit and first month's rent in advance.

As for the lease: the new investor's most common mistake is trying to do without an accountant and a lawyer. The attorney is the person to help with your lease. Remember, though, that a lease is only a piece of paper. What's more important is the intention of the two parties to treat each other fairly.

SELLING IN FLORIDA

Dear Edith: We own four lots in Port Charlotte, Fla., that we would like to sell. If these lots were yours, how would you go about selling them? — Mr. P.K.

I'd send for a few copies of the local newspaper, and note which brokers are advertising such lots for sale. Then I'd write, or even better, phone a few of them, and list the property with the one who inspires most confidence.

LOWER IN OFF-MONTHS

Dear Edith: My husband is self-employed in seasonal service work, and the business is growing nicely, though, as I say, it's only seasonal. Can mortgage payments be adjusted so as to be higher during the busy months of April through October when money is more available and lower payments during the off-months? — Mrs. E.K.

Not possible. Make your own adjustments by setting aside extra funds in the good months, to be used over the winter.

(Your first income property — how do you know if it's a good buy? Edith Lank advises beginners in her new leaflet, Analyzing Your First Real Estate Investment. For a copy, send $1 and a stamped return envelope to Investment, 240 Hemingway Drive, Rochester, NY 14620. Edith will also answer any letter with a return envelope.)

The Peugeot Motor company has decided to move its import destination closer to its major market in New England. The French-made car was being shipped to the Port of Newark. Its new destination is Davisville, R.I.

According to Peugeot national transportation manager Kenneth R. Swain, the first Peugeot consignment will be offloaded at the Port of Davisville in June. The inaugural vessel will carry the new Peugeot 405, which goes on sale in the U.S. August 1.

Mr. Swain said that Peugeot chose Davisville as a port of entry because of its un-congested, well-equipped facilities, expedient U.S. Customs operation, clean air, and tight security. He also cited the fast and easy access from Davisville to South and Central New England, one of Peugeot's most important markets.

At the Port of Davisville, all new Peugeots will be processed by North Atlantic Distribution, Inc., a Rhode Island-based company which invested more than $5 million in the facility.

Once the cars are offloaded and inspected, they will pass through a 35,000-square-foot processing building where they will be accessorized and pre-detailed for dealer showrooms before being trucked to Peugeot dealerships in nine northeastern states.

Said Mr. Swain, "Thanks to Davisville's prime location and the high level of professional service we anticipate, our cars will reach Peugeot dealers not only quickly, but in the best possible condition."

The Port of Davisville, which is managed by the Rhode Island Port Authority and marketed by Narragansett Bay Ports, is located four miles from U.S. Interstate 95. The on-site auto processing and storage facilities cover 100 acres.

Peugeot cars destined for the United States are produced in Sochaux, France, and shipped via Antwerp, Belgium, by Wallenius Lines. Peugeot's other ports of importation are Brunswick, Ga.; Houston, Texas; Long Beach, Calif.; Norfolk, Va.; and Portland, Ore.

Peugeot Motors of America, headquartered in Lyndhurst, N.J., is the U.S. marketing arm of Peugeot S.A.

HHS Girls' Softball Team Wins Division 'A' Title Finishes Second in County

H.H.S. GIRLS' VARSITY SOFTBALL TEAM — 1988

The Hicksville High School Girls' Varsity Softball Team finished this season with a 13-2 league record and a 19-5 record overall taking first place in the Division 'A' Conference.

When the playoff rounds began the Comets were matched against a tough Sewanhaka team but beat them 2-0 to advance to the semi-finals. The Comets then played the #2 seeded team Mepham and beat them 9-7 to advance to the county finals against the #1 seed, MacArthur High School. The series was the best two out of three.

The girls lost the first game 2-0 despite a one-hitter thrown by pitcher Maria Moone. The following day the girls lost a close one, 1-0 despite another one-hitter by Maria. Coach Tom Manaskie said, "I just can't give enough praise to Maria. She constantly stayed competitive day after day having to pitch many games back-to-back with no rest. In league play she had 101 strikeouts in 97 innings pitched. She was my leader on and off the field." Maria was selected to the All-County Softball Team.

The teams batting arsenal was led by junior Maureen Herman batting a .462 and playing error-free ball at first base. Maureen was selected as an All League Player. Sue Cucci, Patti Grady, Linda Green and Debbie Jonason all batted over .300.

Superb catching by Shannon Mullin gave the team the needed defense on the running paths. "Shannon got stronger each game," said coach Manaskie, "and her throws were right on target." The outfield was handled by Debbie Jonason, Lisa Pacifico, Andrea Zuzzolo, Kelly Lobeier and Stephanie Gaylor. Stephanie made a game-saving catch in centerfield against Mepham to win the games and get the team into the final round.

"An excellent job by Dina Bacchi at 3rd base helped us stay strong during the latter part of the season," said Coach Manaskie. Shannon Mullin, Debbie Jonason, Sue Cucci and Dina Bacchi were selected as All Division Players.

Coach Manaskie stated that "this team was very close. We all worked together to overcome any problems. Encouragement, desire and respect for each other and just having a good time, helped us overcome our loss in the playoffs. The only thing we really lost was the County title. We didn't lose any respect and my girls can hold their heads up high and be proud of themselves. We came a long way this season."
