

District to Remove Asbestos by Deadline

Although the Hicksville School District has applied for an extension in submitting an asbestos management plan, the district will be able to complete asbestos removal by the New York State required date, the school board announced last week. Many schools throughout the state were granted extensions because the demand for asbestos removal contractors is so high.

At the August 31 meeting upon the recommendation of Dr. Catherine J. Fenton, superintendent, the school board voted to ask New York State to allow a deferred submission of Hicksville's Asbestos Management Plan which was to have been filed by October 12.

The district recently entered into an agreement with Environmental Compliance, Inc. (ECI) to serve as outside consultants to assist in the inspection and management planning program, required under EPA/AHERA regulations. Bruce D'Abramo, director of technical services for ECI, a Hauppauge engineering firm that deals with asbestos and hazardous materials, addressed the board. Although the October 12 filing date cannot be met, he explained that the state requirement that an asbestos management plan be implemented in all school districts, (including Hicksville, by the state's required date,) will be accomplished.

The management plan will be carried out over a three-year period. The first four months will be spent inspecting and assessing all district buildings. ECI will work with the district in determining costs related to removal and encapsulation of any asbestos. In response to a resident's question, Mr. D'Abramo indicated that the cost of encapsulation is fast approaching the cost of removal. Jo Ann Miltenberg, school board president, asked if Mr. D'Abramo felt the government might eventually require complete removal of any asbestos. Mr. D'Abramo answered that perhaps the only reason such removal has not been mandated is because monies would have to be provided.

A resident expressed his concern that the board and the community realize the serious nature and expense of such an asbestos abatement program. His comments regarding what could happen under the worst circumstances, including closing of school buildings for several months and busing students to other schools during that time, met with nods by Dr. Fenton and Mrs. Miltenberg.

The cost of ECI's services will be $63,200 for the assessment, analysis and management plan. They will be inspecting all indoor areas, as well as canopies and walkways. Roofs are not checked but the presence of asbestos should be assumed. In addition, it is also assumed that all vinyl asbestos floor tiles contain asbestos and should not be sanded. Additional costs would be incurred for training courses for district employees.

Dutch and Burns Temporaries

The temporary structures at Dutch Lane School and Burns Avenue School were to have been demolished over the summer. Dr. Fenton explained that the structures had to be first checked for asbestos and that approximately 200 linear feet of asbestos around piping in the crawlspaces of both buildings had been found. She explained that after this asbestos is removed, the buildings would be demolished, probably during the Thanksgiving holidays when children would not be in school.

Elementary Enrollments

During the Superintendent's Report, Dr. Fenton discussed the district's policy for splitting a class. Kindergartens will be split when enrollment reaches 28, grades 1-2-3 when enrollment reaches 29 and grades 4-5-6 at 31. In addition, the educational climate of an individual class will be considered. At Dutch Lane, the sixth grade class has been split at 29 because four special education students will be mainstreamed into the sixth grade for part of the school day. During the final public session, a Fork Lane parent asked that the second grade with 27 students be split. Dr. Fenton said the district would "use our best judgment" when reviewing this class during the first weeks of school.

Annual Labor Day Parade and Drill Is Highlight of Hicksville's Big Weekend

DESPITE SUNDAY'S RAIN, the Hicksville "Hicks" of the 9th Battalion did a superb job at the Cart and Ladder competition during Labor Day celebrations. The object of the contest is to get the ladder to the arch and for one fireman to reach the top in the least amount of time.

Regents Exams

Dr. G. Robert Couillard, assistant superintendent for educational services, presented the grade distribution for the senior high school, which indicated the percentage of students passing courses. In addition, Dr. Couillard reported on the results of the June Regents.

Dr. Couillard indicated that 64 percent of the students taking the Math Sequential I regents had passed, 70 percent of those taking the Math Sequential III Regents passed, 65 percent of those taking the Spanish III Regents passed and that almost 50 percent of those taking the Earth Science Regents failed.

Since one of the district's goals is to increase the number of students receiving Regents diplomas, the results of this June's Regents was "very disappointing." The results of Regents given in August to those students who had failed in June were equally disappointing, he said.

Resident Arlene Rudin questioned if figures were available with regard to other districts' Regents results. Although not currently obtainable, the District's Comprehensive Assessment Report, which will be ready in November, will address this.

Dr. Couillard stated "we have a problem" and proceeded to inform the board that the high school principal, Richard Hogan, will meet with department chairmen on September 1. The chairmen will then meet with their staff to find solutions which will be presented to Dr. Couillard by the middle of October, discussed at the board's Curriculum Committee and presented to the board.

Middle School

Dr. Fenton reported there will be a change in the team groupings at the middle school. Originally, it had been hoped that the middle school would have heterogeneous classes. However, parents of advanced students and teachers, wanted students grouped. Therefore, in 1987-88, students were grouped in Honors, Regents (formerly called Standard) and Basic. There were three teams on a grade level. Team A consisted of Honors and Regents, Team B was Regents and Team C was Regents and Basics.

For this school year, 1988-89, there will again be three teams on a grade level. However, in 7th grade, each team will have Honors and Basic Classes, as well as Regents classes. In the 8th grade, one of the three teams will not have an Honors group.

Superintendent's Report

The District's newsletter, Bulletin Board, was the subject of a resident's concern at the last board meeting. It had been reported that the Westbury area had not received their August issue regarding the budget re-vote. A telephone survey by the district of streets in that section of the Hicksville School District indicated residents had received their copies. However, one resident did indicate a continuing problem with the post office.

At the August 10 Board meeting, a resident had inquired as to why a fence had been moved on Newbridge Avenue adjacent to the senior high fields. Dr. Fenton announced that the area in question had been used in the evening for beer drinking and that the police could not control the loitering on school property. The fence has now been moved to the school's property line in order to do away with this "no man's land". In addition, the district will save up to 40 man-hours of time spent cleaning up this area.

Cleaning of Boilers

The board voted to accept a contract with Soot-Hunters to maintain the district's boilers at a cost of $18,300 annually. District employees formerly cleaned the boilers twice a year. Soot-Hunters will now clean them every 60 days, which should result in substantial fuel savings to the district. In addition, district employees have refused to continue cleaning boilers because of the threat of possible lung disease. Resident William Kelly questioned the district's recent purchase of three "HEPA" vacuums (High Efficiency Particulate Air) for the purpose of cleaning these boilers. While Soot-Hunters will provide its own equipment, the district will make use of the HEPA's for use in asbestos control and removal of soot caused by flashbacks, etc. According to Mr. Shaw, Director of facilities & operations, Hicksville was one of the first districts to have a HEPA available.

AIDS Curriculum

Resident Karel Rudis questioned if the district had an AIDS curriculum. The state has mandated that such a program be taught in grades K-12. Robert Durso, director of instruction, indicated that the board's Curriculum Committee has approved an instructional guide prepared by New York State with certain recommendations made by the district's Curriculum Council. Although the curriculum was not written over the summer because of the first defeat of the budget, Mr. Durso expects the curriculum to be written shortly. The curriculum will then be sent to the board for approval and workshops should be held in October to instruct teachers. Students should start receiving AIDS instruction shortly thereafter.

Board Committees

The following board committees and chairmen were established for the 1988-89 school year:

Facilities - Mark Cardella and Carole Wolf
Finance - Daniel Arena and Carole Wolf

Rosemary Farrington, School's Secretary, Dies

Hicksville Senior High School clerk-typist, Rosemary Farrington, died of a stroke on Wednesday, August 31. She was 66.

Mrs. Farrington would have been with the school district for 25 years next year, at which time she was already planning to retire. She joined the Hicksville School District in 1964 as a clerk-typist at Lee Avenue. She remained at the Lee Avenue school for only a brief period and moved on to the senior high as a clerk-typist in the Guidance Department. Born in Brooklyn on March 27, 1922 she most recently resided on Somerset Avenue in Hicksville.

Mrs. Farrington was popular and well-liked secretary by both the staff and students. A co-worker expressed her sadness and praised Mrs. Farrington for her 25 years of dedicated service. She said how much Mrs. Farrington "loved the children and how she personally took an interest in them." She also said that "the beginning of this school year will be very difficult without her."

Along with Mrs. Farrington's splendid secretarial abilities, she also devoted her time to organizing the alumni reunions.

A student, who graduated this June, and who worked with Mrs. Farrington in Guidance, remembered how "she always

In addition, William Bennett and Patricia Rooney volunteered to serve on the Ad Hoc Personnel Committee which meets when needed.

School Calendar

School calendars have not been mailed because of a printing problem. It is expected that calendars will be mailed in mid-September. Nora Richards, the district's community relations liaison, apologized for any inconvenience. School will be closed on September 12 and 13 for Rosh Hashanah and on September 21 for Yom Kippur.

The next regular meeting of the Hicksville Board of Education is scheduled for September 28 at 8:15 p.m. in the Conference Room of the Administration Building.

Another graduate told how Mrs. Farrington "was so careful to see that our college applications went out on time and in perfect condition." He even told how he brought her home baked cookies each Christmas to thank her for her special efforts.

Mrs. Farrington was widowed only a year ago, and she is survived by a son Robert, a daughter-in-law Valerie, and three grand children, Daniel, Michael and Kerri.

A funeral mass was offered for her at St Ignatius Church on Monday, September 5

Another Beautiful Daughter

Our congratulations to Rowena and Jimmy DiBenedetto who became the happy parents of a third beautiful daughter Alyssa Jean on September 5th. Alyssa came into this world weighing 7 lbs. 14 oz., and measuring 10" long. She was welcomed by her two sisters—Ariana and Ashley.

(Three sisters in a family are nice—they grow together... and always remain friends).

Welcome To Our World DDD

Dillon Douglas Dwyer, born March 2nd, was christened August 21st at St. Ignatius Loyola R.C. Church. Proud parents are Doug and Eileen (Rogers) Dwyer and proud grandparents are Marcella Dwyer and Ginny and Al Rogers.

The honor of godparents was given to Eileen's sister, Mary McDonald and Doug's brother Michael.

After the church ceremony they all celebrated at dinner at the Milleridge Inn.

DILLON DOUGLAS DWYER

William Is Christened

Patricia and Bill Dow have announced the birth of their son, William Arthur Dow, born June 3rd.

Bill is the son of Gerry and Tom of Hicksville and is a graduate of Hicksville High School. He and his family are now living in Lindenhurst. They also have a daughter Elizabeth Patrice who is now 2½ years old.

On July 24th baby William was christened at Our Lady of Perpetual Help R.C. Church in Lindenhurst. His godfather was his uncle Tom Dow, and his aunt, Cathy Dow. William's other happy grandparents are Rita and Mike Francesco also of Lindenhurst.

Celebrated 90th Birthday

Elvira Bertocchi celebrated her 90th birthday on August 28 at a surprise party at the home of her daughter Rose in Levittown.

"We had to prepare her a little bit for the party. You can't surprise them at 90," said her granddaughter Ann Marie Butt, "she received a card from President Reagan and she was absolutely ecstatic about that. She received many gifts and had a wonderful time. Everyone sat around singing Italian songs—she was just thrilled."

All of her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren attended this happy party. They are: daughter Angela Merrick, and husband Bill, son Emil Bertocchi, and his wife Maddy, and daughter, Rose Salamone.

The grandchildren who attended were Ann Marie and Charlie Butt, Diane Ardire, John and Laura Bertocchi, John and Terri Salamone, Vera and Paul Curcio, Angelo Salamone, Angela and Sandy Berger, and Mark Salamone.

Great-granchildren helping her celebrate were: John Butt, Jason Ardire, Dario Bertocchi, and Alena Bertocchi, also Angela Curcio and Nicholas Salamone. Another great-grandchild is on the way—Vera and Paul are expecting a baby in the middle of September.

What a lovely family. A very happy 90th birthday to you Mrs. Bertocchi—may you have many more.

What A Vacation!
 Norma and Herb Goerke of Plainview Road, took a Buck Tour to the Canyonlands. After landing in Phoenix they toured this beautiful city and continued to Scottsdale and Sedona (breath-taking) in Arizona. They saw the Montezuma Monument, cliff dwellings of one of our oldest civilizations, and took a plane ride into the magnificent Grand Canyon. The next stop was the watery canyonlands of Lake Powell where they took a boat ride. They took a flight into the Monument Valley Tribal Park where the Navajo Indians live. In the afternoon they took a raft down the Colorado River and continued on to Kanab, Utah. Many westerns were filmed there years ago. They also toured Bryce National Park and Zion National Park in Utah. Each of these parks have entirely different rock formations. The tour ended in Las Vegas. Western United States is indeed beautiful country—everyone should try to visit it.

This Is A FAMILY!

Longtime residents of Hicksville Ginny and Al Rogers celebrated their August 22nd, 40th Anniversary at a surprise party given August 19th by their 12 children at the Hicksville Knights of Columbus Hall.

Attending the party were all their children: Tim, Barbara, Patrice, Alicia, Richard, and Daniel, and Sheila, Kerry, Eileen, Mary, Kevin and John... along with their spouses. Ginny and Al were so happy to see all their children together—they all live locally except two daughters: Barbara Szabados who came in from Germantown, Maryland with her husband and two children; and Patrice Super, who came up from Louisville, Kentucky with her husband and two children.

All of the Rogers children married into local Hicksville families—which makes about 400 relatives—if you count all the in-laws... (now, that's what I call A FAMILY!)

Many local and out-of-town friends also attended this happy event. This is the first time in years that the whole family has been together. Al and Ginny also have 14 grandchildren and are expecting another one at the end of September.

Our best wishes to both of you.

Arthritis Treatment-A Comprehensive Approach Part 1-The Role Of The Rheumatologist

This article begins a four-part series on the comprehensive approach to the diagnosis and treatment of arthritis and disorders of the muscles and joints. This series will include an overview on the use of medications, the role of exercise, and finally the goals of nutrition. We will begin with the role of the rheumatologist in the diagnosis and management of rheumatic disorders.

Arthritis is a general term meaning joint inflammation. There are over 100 types of arthritis, each one requiring its own diagnosis and special treatment. Rheumatology is a branch of internal medicine dedicated to the scientific study and treatment of inflammatory disorders. An individual is recognized as a rheumatologist (arthritis expert) if the physician has completed several years of specialized training after medical school in the treatment of rheumatic disorders.

The most common reason for a patient to seek help from a rheumatologist is for evaluation of significant muscle or joint pain. Since most forms of arthritis result in pain, the first goal of the rheumatologist is to find out the cause of the pain.

The guidelines to proper diagnosis of rheumatic disorders include a complete medical history, comprehensive physical examination, specific blood tests, and diagnostic x-rays. Once this information has been evaluated, a specific diagnosis can be made, and an individualized program of treatment commenced. A program of treatment will include the use of anti-inflammatory medications to combat the arthritis, instruction to specific exercises to maintain joint mobility and finally, specific dietary manipulation to reduce joint stress. These treatment programs are the specialty of the rheumatologist.

Next Week: Part II-Arthritis medications.

Arthritis strikes one out of seven people. Learn the facts. Call for your complimentary copy of "The Joint Approach An Arthritis Overview".

In life it's not always where you go that's important but how you get there—And sometimes trying to get there can be calamitously funny.

This week we review two comedies about the trials and tribulations of getting there, or at least trying to.

In Planes, Trains and Automobiles the destination is Thanksgiving Dinner, in Clockwise the prestigious, Headmasters Conference. Both comedies are strongly recommended.

Planes, Trains and Automobiles (R)

Planes, Trains and Automobiles is a comedy about trying to get home in time for Thanksgiving Dinner. Successful advertising man (Steve Martin) finds himself the unwitting traveling companion of a boorish shower-curtain ring salesman (John Candy). Laughter is imminent as the two men are repeatedly thrown together in disaster after disaster.

Despite being a tad too long and having a slightly maudlin ending, thanks to the chemistry between Martin and Candy it delivers the laughter it promises. Writer-Director-Producer John Hughes (Sixteen Candles, The Breakfast Club) comedy is not subtle it is filled with sight gags but it will have you laughing, hysterically at many times.

Clockwise (R)

In Clockwise the punctual Headmaster (John Cleese) of an obscure Maintained Comprehensive School (public school) tries frantically to get to the Headmaster's Conference. Being the first public school headmaster ever elected chairman, he is frantic. On the way he is accused of kidnapping, romantically linked with a student, trapped in a monastery and reduced to Grand Theft.

John Cleese is wonderful in this subtle, typically British comedy. Clockwise, a Michael Codron, film was a smash in England but barely noticed in the U.S.A.

In one scene Cleese tries frantically to use a phone booth, only to find every one broken except for the one in use. British audiences found this hysterical because in England the phone booths NEVER work. American audiences just didn't get it. For this reason in Cleese's new movie, A Fish Called Wanda, American writers were called in to help make the film more accessible to the U.S. audience.

You may miss some of the humor in Clockwise but it is still worth watching, especially for fans of Brit humor.

Let's Face It... SAT Scores Do Not Reflect Ability.

Even the ETS Admits It

According to the Educational Testing Service (the creators of the SAT) only about a third of students who do well in school also do well on the SAT.

So what does the SAT measure? The SAT simply measures how well students take the SAT.

This is where The Princeton Review can help. Last fall we helped more than 10,000 students across the country raise their SAT scores an average of 150 points (combined). This is the highest average score improvement of any SAT course in Long Island and nationwide. And we are not just boasting—our score improvement has been documented by outside studies.

Attend a free seminar and find out for yourself why, when it comes to preparing for the SAT, The Princeton Review really has no competition.

Residents Have Little Say In Establishment of Home For Mentally Disabled

By Rita Langdon

Hicksville residents have almost no say in a counseling center's plan to establish a community residence for 30 mentally disabled adults, according to a New York State law. Although residents can suggest an alternate site for the proposed residence at 499 Jerusalem Avenue, at a community meeting last week, neighbors were hesitant about offering an alternate location because they are afraid that the New York State Office of Mental Health will seize that location too. New York State Assemblyman Frederick Parola, from the 14th Assembly District, said, "An alternate site is a very difficult thing to do because if you hope to place it on someone else's doorstep, it will have the same results you have here."

The residents are up against the New York State Community Residence State Site Selection Law, otherwise known as the Padavan Law, named after N.Y. State Senator Frank Padavan. This law, which was enacted sometime in 1977-78, allowed for the community to be notified that a group home or community residence was being planned. Ed DeCosmo, spokesperson for Senator Padavan, said,

"Prior to the law, there was no community notification at all," Mr. DeCosmo added. Under the law, the sponsoring agency, (in this case, Central Nassau Guidance and Counseling Services, Inc. in Hicksville), informs the chief executive office of a municipality (Town of Oyster Bay) that it has a specific address for a proposed group home site.

The municipality then has 40 days to make a decision as to what action, if any, it plans to take. Public hearings may be held, but the community loses its say if no action is taken by the deadline, (which in this case is September 12.) There are three options (1) approve the site (2) suggest alternate sites or (3) object to the site on the grounds that the neighborhood is already saturated with such sites—it is up to the community to prove that a group home should not be built because there is already such a concentration of sites that a new one would alter the character and nature of the community.

The Town of Oyster Bay is not objecting to the site based on option no. 3, because the area is not saturated, according to town spokesperson Phyllis Souther. "There is no saturation in that area," she said, "Town of Oyster Bay has no grounds to object." However, the town is willing to accept any suggestions for alternate sites.

Under the Padavan Law, if the town does suggest alternate sites, and Central Nassau finds the location unacceptable, the municipality then has 15 added days to propose alternatives.

Central Nassau would not be able to set up a group home unless every necessary step is followed. If a community's objection is upheld by a commissioner's ruling or through judicial review, the site may be rejected.

Type of Home Proposed

The proposed community residence will house ten former psychiatric patients between the ages of 18 and 45, according to Kenneth Moscovitz, project director of the residence program at Central Nassau. "This is a facility for people who are discharged, who are allowed to return to their homes and to their communities," said Roy Burnham, Jr., president of the board of directors at Central Nassau. He also said that these patients are no longer in need of hospitalization. They have been discharged to their homes, however, their families may not want them or cannot take care of them.

Mr. Burnham said that the reason the discharged patients are put into a residential area is because "it will help make the adjustment process easier by putting them in natural surroundings."

The residents will be supervised 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Central Nassau is a non-profit state agency which receives its funding from New York State, Nassau County and contributions. Mr. Burnham said. The center, which is located at 246 Old Country Road, has been in Hicksville for 17 years. The group home will be licensed, inspected and meeting regulations that are set by the New York State Office of Mental Health, according to Karen Mankin, a New York State Office of Mental Health program specialist.

Residents' Concerns

At a community meeting August 31, residents expressed their disapproval with the community residence. Some said they are afraid their property values will go down.

A next door neighbor of the proposed home said, "I won't be able to sell [my house]. I'll have to beg [someone to buy it]."

However, Mr. Burnham said at a community meeting August 16, that "once the home is established the residents will see there is no threat and their property values [will] not go down."

A spokesperson for J.E. Horan Real Estate in Syosset, said that "although there is some impact initially, market values then get back to normal within a year."

Many residents described instances when they came in contact with a mentally ill person and how they were harassed by these people. One woman said that a mentally disabled man in her area has been harassing her and her neighbors for the past five years. "He goes through the neighborhood at 2, 3 o'clock in the morning, goes through people's garbage, harasses people. This is one person. Now we'll have ten of these people in the area!"

Residents also expressed concern for their children's safety because schools are located near this group home. The residents said they are afraid that the group home's occupants may harm their children and there is no guarantee that these occupants may not get out of hand.

A Walnut Street resident said that these people will not be contained to one area (The home's residents can do regular every day activities such as shopping and using public facilities). "There are going to be a lot of problems up at Allied Shopping Center [which is located across the street from the home]. I hope it's not my kid or anybody else's," the resident added.

At the August 16 meeting, Central Nassau's executive director, Neal A. Millman, ACSW, said that he currently does not know who the occupants will be or what type of illnesses they have, but he assured the community that the residents will be carefully screened. "A screening committee will determine that these residents are ready for life in this particular setting and if they are not, they are not placed there," he said.

Residents also said that it was not fair that the community residence will be a one-family dwelling and that the state does not have to adhere to town zoning laws.

"How come local merchants and residents have a hard time putting an extension on their house and the state can do anything they want?" one resident asked.

Town councilman Thomas Clark said, "In this case, the state says your rules don't apply. The state supersedes all our town zoning laws."

The Winthrop Experience

Making the birth of your child a time to remember.

Last year over 3,000 mothers-to-be chose Winthrop-University Hospital for the birth of their babies. That's an average of over eight births every single day.

It's also a ringing endorsement of the special kind of maternity care we represent to the community.

For no decision this important is ever made lightly. What's behind this strong preference of women for Winthrop?

Perhaps it stems in part from the fact that Winthrop (then known as Nassau Hospital) was the very first institution on Long Island to establish a maternity wing. We long ago recognized that pregnant women had special needs deserving special attention.

That tradition took root, growing and expanding through the years, and culminating in today's Maternal Child Care Center, a superbly equipped facility with the most complete, up-to-date, family-oriented maternity care available anywhere.

Know Your Options

The needs of prospective parents are always put first. All the options are outlined. Today, most women choose to be awake and aware during delivery which encourages the husband's participation under an obstetrician's supervision. Many women opt for prepared childbirth, directed by a physician or nurse-midwife, in a home-like setting at the hospital.

In this regard, it should also be noted that Winthrop is a leader in encouraging vaginal delivery for women who may have had Cesarean sections in the past. The guiding principle: What's best for the mother, a decision based on the special circumstances surrounding each case.

Peace of Mind

And when special care is needed, rest assured it's there. This includes genetic counseling, prenatal care for high-risk pregnancies and a neonatal intensive care unit. At every step, the most modern techniques are applied, including amniocentesis, fetal heart monitoring, sonograms and Doppler blood flow studies.

But it is not this state-of-the-art technology so much as a state of mind about the birth process, physical and psychological, that sets Winthrop apart.

Our nursing and medical staff are totally committed to the special needs of mothers. To encourage relaxation, the delivery environment is as natural and personal as possible. For parent-child bonding during the crucial first hours after birth, post-partum suites with private baths and showers are available.

For Your Family

The hospital also provides rooming-in and special visiting hours for fathers and siblings. Plus a special program to help these siblings prepare for the arrival home of the newest member of the family.

Before leaving the hospital, parents will learn the essentials of infant care so that they know what to expect and how to cope when they're on their own. "The Winthrop Experience," you see, is not something we want to end when you walk out the door.

If you are pregnant or plan to be, your first big decision is choosing the place of birth. We hope we've convinced you to consider Winthrop-University Hospital.

Because everything we do is directed toward making the birth of your child a time to remember.

If you have yet to choose your obstetrician or if you'd like to know more about our program let us know. We'll send you our pamphlet, "Childbirth—The Winthrop Way" that includes the names of physicians on our obstetrics/gynecology staff. Please write to Dept. A908 Office of Community Affairs.

Legionnaires' Log

By GREG BENNETT

Charles Wagner Post #421, Hicksville

Greg Bennett, Law and Order Chairman of American Legion Post 421, recently attended an award ceremony at Bronx Veterans Administration Medical Center during which VA Deputy Administrator Thomas E. Harvey presented the Award for Valor to the family of deceased VA police officer Ronald Hearn. On July 25, 1988 Officer Hearn was shot and killed in the line of duty at Bronx VA as he pursued two black youths who refused to submit to a package inspection.

Bronx VA Director James S. Dooley unveiled a commemorative plaque honoring Officer Hearn, which will be on permanent display in the medical center lobby. The ceremony was held in the newly renovated medical center chapel.

Officer Hearn was the third VA police officer killed in the line of duty since 1985. The American Legion expresses deep concern for the protection of veterans and the public on VA property. Hearn was a veteran of the U.S. Air Force and was formerly employed at the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy.

Veterans Administration police are among the only federal police not to be issued firearms. The Metropolitan Field Office of the FBI is currently seeking the killers of Officer Hearn.

Gilbert Cusick Elected Water Commissioner

One hundred and seven votes were cast August 30 for the reelection of Gilbert E. Cusick to serve a three-year term as water commissioner of the Hicksville Water District; opposed none.

Commissioner Cusick expresses his thanks to those who came out to vote. The water district's other commissioners are Richard Humann and Nick Brigandi.

THE HICKSVILLE JERICHO Rotary Club recently had as its guest speaker Joseph Jablonsky, Nassau County Sheriff. Joe, a Hicksville resident and former member of the club, is shown here accepting a certificate of appreciation from club vice-president Augie Cassella.

Galileo Lodge News

By Joe Lorenzo

As it has been done in the past, the Galileo Lodge is now engaged in formulating its 1988 social and recreational program, which also covers Fall and Christmas and New Year seasons. This is a pleasant chore that the Galileo Lodge relishes; in fact, it's almost a labor of love as it leaves an aura of pleasure and enjoyment, even satisfaction.

This 1988 program will be unveiled in a short time, and for all those who wait in anticipation, they surely have something to look forward to. I must not fail to mention here that the 'Foolies Follies,' that show of shows that is supervised by the Ladies Auxiliary, is also a part of this program, appearing in November. Since we all know the receptiveness of the 'Follies,' we also know that Sue Laurenti and Claire Fuoco will just about outdo themselves as far as the supervision of this activity is concerned.

Just recently, the Galileo Lodge held a terrific boat ride to Fire Island, including dinner at Flynn's on Fire Island. Supervised by Al Surdo, this activity just about rang the bell when it came to having a good time. And then there was the Galileo Lodge holding its picnic in August, which was another activity that far surpassed what was expected. And with George Eminian and his committee performing superbly.

The Galileo Lodge has a perennial membership drive on, so all those people who seek an ethnic organization tailor-made to suit their needs, dreams and ambitions (even philosophical concepts) are asked to contact the Galileo Lodge by phone (931-5321) or visit 200 Levittown Parkway, Hicksville. Hear and see for yourself what our organization can offer you, and as they say, this may be one of the most important decisions you can make.

Lodge Tidbits:

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Governale of our organization recently celebrated 48 years of marriage. A hearty congratulations to this nice couple of our Lodge.

Any organization that has acquired a good reputation must work very hard to maintain that reputation. It has to be preserved at all costs. Naturally there are way to bring this about, whether or not that organization does via the community or through its membership. Considerable time must be spent to keep a community-conscious attitude and a membership well-being policy. Provide enjoyment, relaxation and leisure for its membership by making their dollars go a long way too. It's called planning, vision or long-range forecasting. If an organization helps the community, it also helps our fellow man. We like to feel that the Galileo Lodge epitomizes everything that is written here.

President Skip Monteforte announces that help is still needed for the Galileo Lodge's Bingo sessions. A little of your time and efforts will go a long way. Its your Lodge and everything you do for it will help it grow and prosper.

Moms & Dads...

Would your child know what to do if a fire started in the kitchen and you weren't home?

Does your child know how to call the police or paramedics in an emergency?

What if an adult were acting a bit "too friendly" to your child? Would your son or daughter know how to react?

Kid Safe Can Help.

We think Kid Safe is the best safety education program to come to town. But don't tell your kids that.

Just tell them it's fun. They're going to be talking to fire fighters, doctors, nurses and emergency personnel. They'll get to dirty up their hands with fingerprint ink and get their picture taken for their very own Trail Guide to Safety. They'll do mouth-to-mouth on Rescusi-annie in CPR, play on the phone in a class about dialing 911, see great movies and bandage up their best friend.

Kid Safe is designed for children ages 4-14. The classes are held on the hour and half-hour, so you can visit as many as you like—according to your own schedule. Do come with your children. You'll be surprised at how much you learn about safety...and your kids.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity. We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only. We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

To The Editor:

Last week, an article appeared in the Hicksville Illustrated News announcing the construction of a soccer field at the Triangle Park on Old Country Road in Hicksville. Surprise, Surprise.

I wonder where the ultimate responsibility rested in deciding this matter. To my knowledge, the residents of the area were opposed to any development of the park in this manner, as well as town officials, according to Councilman Thomas Clark. I say this because two years ago, I was present at a meeting of the Hicksville Garden Civic Association, which presented the results of a community survey to Councilman Clark regarding the development of this parcel of land. The survey detailed the needs and wants of the local community and expressed that organized sports were not desired for the area. At a subsequent meeting, Councilman Clark returned with ideas for the development of a passive park and stated that the area would not be used for organized sports because of the danger of a ball going into the streets. He also expressed dissatisfaction with high fencing that would be needed with sports fields in that it would "look like the city." On a number of occasions, he proclaimed this fact to the public at various meetings and to the undersigned in conversation regarding the development of the Giese Park property. Now comes the rub. After years of proclaiming the Triangle Park to be unsafe for organized sports, suddenly a soccer field begins to be developed. Where is the concern for safety now? Where is the concern for the local community residents? What is the regard for local civic associations?

Approximately two years ago, Councilman Clark forwarded plans by the town to develop the Giese Park property on Lee Avenue at Farm Lane. These plans included two soccer fields, a children's play area, an off-street parking lot and the construction of a bathroom facility. Local community residents were against these plans, but not in its entirety. They expressed deep dissatisfaction over the construction of a bathroom facility, citing as their main objections, the vandalism and graffiti that usually accompanies such structures, as well as the "hanging out" by some groups, which fosters drug and alcohol usage. Also, it was felt that the construction of two soccer fields was an overdevelopment for the residential area. As an alternative at the time, plans were developed by local community members, which included one soccer field, a children's play area, a senior citizens area and an off-street parking lot. These plans were favored by the vast majority of local residents and, such a park could possibly have been in existence today, had it not been for the non-acceptance by Councilman Clark. In September 1987, I received enthusiastic response for such a park from an official of the Long Island Soccer Association, who stated he would support such plans. Also, on August 17, 1988, I spoke with a spokesperson of Hicksville American Soccer League, who liked the ideas, but stated that to her knowledge, "soccer fields for the Giese Park Property were out and that the Triangle Park was in."

Now then, what are the plans for the Giese Park property? A good question that is answered by Councilman Clark in many different ways, depending on what area of the town he is in and to what person or group of persons he is speaking to. Previous discussions with him by the undersigned resulted in his suggesting that the Giese Park Civic Association survey its area similar to that of the Hicksville Garden Civic survey in order that the wants and needs of the community be represented fairly. An extensive survey was developed and the results were that the majority of the community favored a passive park with no organized sports and no bathroom facilities. A copy of the survey was forwarded to town officials and a response by Councilman Clark on July 1, 1987 stated that the results of the survey were in line with most of the town's intentions to develop the property for park purposes. However, on February 4, 1988, at a Hicksville Community Council meeting, Councilman Clark, in discussing the issue, stated that "his kids are older now and he would like to see housing for the property." Then, on August 5, 1988, at an outdoor concert held at the Hicksville High School, he addressed the audience and stated that he had hoped people could enjoy future concerts at the Giese Park property. It is evident that in following Councilman Clark, he presents issues differently at different functions. Hicksville residents BEWARE! Such actions on his part can only divide the community and make some factions of people believe others are against them.

Now the big question. Now that the town has started development of a soccer field at the Triangle Park in apparent disregard for child and vehicular safety and against the local community desires, what is in store for the Giese Park property?

Thomas J. McGovern, Jr., President
 Giese Park Civic Association

Residents Asked to Cooperate with Street Closings

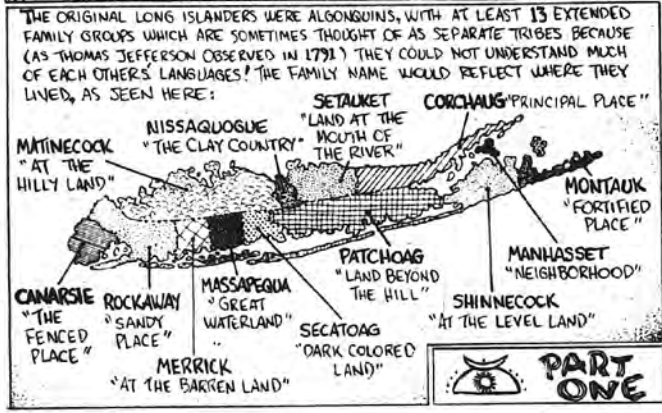

A message from The Hicksville Garden Civic Association.

Residents of Walter Avenue, Field Court, Field Avenue and Meadow Lane are asked to cooperate with the street closings during the Holy Trinity Greek Festival on Field Avenue, September 9-11.

Entry and exit for all of these streets will be only from New South Road. Hopefully, this plan will alleviate the traffic problems we've experienced in the past during the festival. Please cooperate.

EDITORIAL AND OPINION

A Letter from Lulubelle...

...I've been looking at old snapshots and thinking how photography has changed...There they are—all those old-time snaps—black and white, of course—and really rather gray—faded by time...We never had any indoor snaps—flash shots hadn't been invented for home photography...and many of the snaps were printed on paper with a deckle edge—I suppose that was considered very fancy!...And there we are—the little Lulubelle and her brother, both sporting Buster Brown haircuts, straight and short and with bangs straight across the brow—His was a little shorter, it's true, and mine is topped with a hair bow...And here's a picture of little brother wearing his fire hat sitting in his toy fire engine with his beloved Ginger, the most mixed breed mutt ever seen...And there we are at the beach—I wonder what beach?—probably Long Beach because Jones Beach wasn't opened in those days—and we are wearing those old woolen bathing suits that always seemed to droop down to our knees...and in the really old snaps, there's my Mother and Father looking very dashing—he in his derby hat and she in a wide-brimmed straw with flowers and ribbons and she is wearing what she called a "shirtwaist"—a high-necked-tucked-front-with-long-sleeves kind of blouse over a floor length skirt, from which peeked high button shoes...and there's my Grandmother dressed in black from head to toe, in lifelong mourning for her eldest son who died so early...and the other Grandmother sitting in a wicker rocker (I wish I had) looking very serene with her smooth pompadour in the front and all the rest of her long hair in a twist in the back...All of these old snapshots, faded and maybe crumpled, are so important and just looking at them is a wonderful trip through my past...Have you looked through your old snaps lately?

Yours, Lulubelle

What the Politicians are Saying...

From ASSEMBLYMAN JOHN C. COCHRANE: The N.Y. State Legislature has approved $12 million in Exxon Petroleum Overcharge Restitution funds for no-interest energy-saving home improvement loans. Applicants, to be eligible, must meet certain income requirements. For those who apply, LILCO will conduct a free survey of the home to determine what improvements will be most cost effective. After these recommendations, LILCO will make a no-interest loan available through a participating bank. If solar improvements are selected, the maximum loan amounts are higher. Additional information from LILCO at 304-7322.

The Social Security Administration is now providing a statement of benefits to any worker who requests it. This implements part of SENATOR DANIEL PATRICK MOYNIHAN'S Social Security benefits statement bill. The average American never hears from the Social Security Administration—each month, money for Social Security is removed from paychecks, but no one ever receives even the most basic statement of the status of his benefits. Senator Moynihan's bill will provide automatic periodic statements of earnings and benefits. In the meantime, anyone wishing to receive a statement of earnings and benefits may call 1-800-937-2000 and a request form will be mailed.

Nearly two-thirds of Empire State business owners surveyed believe that members of Congress should be required to operate under the same stringent labor laws required of private businesses. Many employees of Congress work in support positions and, therefore, are treated as second-class citizens because they are not afforded the same protections as private workers. Congress is quick to pass laws in the name of protecting the workers, but yet, there are some 38,000 Congressional workers without these same protections, said the director of governmental relations for the National Federation of Independent Businesses in Washington. Legislation has been introduced in the House of Representatives to provide Congressional workers with protections.

Legislation proposed by NASSAU COUNTY DISTRICT ATTORNEY DENIS DILLON, aimed at protecting consumers, has been signed into law by GOVERNOR MARIO CUOMO. The district drafted the bill after the rash of theatre closings in New York that resulted in substantial monetary losses to the public, who had purchased tickets in advance. The bill requires that the money from advance sales be held in trust or that an adequate security in the form of a bond be provided.

From CONGRESSMAN NORMAN LENT: Many fraudulent mail solicitations, especially at the elderly, have led to the House of Representatives passing a bill to protect consumers against deceptive mail solicitations, especially those that falsely imply connections with the U.S. government by requiring disclaimers on the following: mailings carrying an illustration of the Great Seal, implying a connection with the federal government, mailings presented as gifts or donations, but which are, in fact, solicitations for funds, mailings offering federal or state government services that are provided by the federal government, etc. Free or at a lower rate. U.S. Postal Service solicitation regulations apply. 1-800-937-2000.

ROBERT R. McMILLAN'S

Direct Line

All of us should have our eyes on what is happening in Yonkers. The efforts by a Federal District Court Judge to force the Yonkers City Council to vote in a particular way serves as a warning to communities across New York.

Robert R. McMillan

Yonkers, a Northern suburb of New York City has, over the years, subsidized almost twenty-five percent of its housing. That housing has been concentrated in one part of the City. Claiming discrimination, the NAACP brought suit against Yonkers to have the City spread new public housing throughout Yonkers — rather than continuing the concentration in one section. Had Yonkers done nothing with regard to low and middle income housing, they might have been better off in the current lawsuit. But, because the City did try to provide housing for lower income people, it finds itself in the position of being ordered to build the new housing in portions of the City where lower income housing had previously not been constructed.

There are several issues at stake. First, does a Federal Judge have the right to order a City Council member how to cast a vote? I submit he does not. If the order to vote had been filed against the Congress of the United States, do you think for one minute that the members of the House and Senate would follow such an order. Of course, they would not! There would be a rebellion in the Congress. In the case of Yonkers, the judge has the same option previously used in the "one man-one vote" cases of the sixties. He could always appoint a commission to carry out his orders. That is a clear option and would prevent the bankruptcy of Yonkers. That power is in the judge's hands.

That leads to the next issue. Should hard working middle income people who have worked all their lives have their property values put into jeopardy by the edict of a judge who lives in a sheltered community on an estate? There has to be a better way to address the inequities at the heart of this lawsuit. The disruption to the total community is not worth the alleged social value espoused. There are always two sides of an argument. And, in this case, the judge has over reacted in a fit of "limousine liberal" philosophy. He has failed to take into account the rights of hard working middle income people — not only in Yonkers — but throughout the State of New York.

So long as every person has the right to purchase the same piece of property, and that right is based only on the ability to purchase, I do not want a Federal Judge interfering with local laws. The New York Secretary of State's office is supposed to police the rights of all New Yorkers to purchase a home without discrimination and that should be the test — assuming the Secretary of State is doing her job.

The decision in the Yonkers case could very well be applied in communities throughout the State. The logical extension of this litigation could well be the disruption and dislocation of communities in every section of New York. If that pattern does develop, there will be an unprecedented back lash which will reverberate through the legislative halls of Albany and Washington, D.C. Stay tuned. This issue will be with us for some time.

Questions and opinions may be addressed to Mr. McMillan, Anton Community Newspapers, 132 East Second Street, Mineola, NY 11501.

Our Man IN Washington

The Media and the Quayle Controversy

During the last few days, there have been questions raised in some quarters about the way the media examined Senator Dan Quayle's military record and his relationship or lack thereof with a lobbyist turned centerfold model. Vice President Bush has said that Quayle was the victim of a "feeding flurry" which took place in New Orleans. Bush is right on this point, anytime you gather a huge number of reporters in a city with one story to pursue you are bound to get a flurry of activity.

Was the attention and questioning of Quayle by the media a unique phenomenon? Based on the evidence, I really do not think so. Last year, the media aggressively pursued allegations of plagiarism against Senator Joseph Biden. These investigations caused Biden to abandon his Presidential campaign. Perhaps, the greatest media circus of recent times was the attention the press focused on Senator Gary Hart's relationship with Donna Rice.

Some have suggested that the media has predisposed bias towards political figures. While some reporters and newscasters may have their own axes to grind, for the most part the press is not interested in an individual's political philosophy. The attention which Ferraro received in 1984 is probably no different from what Quayle is receiving today.

We must ask ourselves what is the role of a free press in a democracy? Is it to make politicians look good and laud their every self-proclaimed achievement or is it to pursue the truth with all the vigor and determination they can muster? The answer is obvious. The press plays a vital role in a democracy by keeping our politicians honest and by keeping the public informed. The information the press provides us with allows us to ask better questions.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity.

We receive many line letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only.

We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

To The Editor:

The laws of America permit free speech, even the communistic condemnation of having the words; "In God We Trust", on American currency, and government-sponsored invocations to God, before government functions. We sensible, law-abiding Americans respect their rights—but pity them for their promotion of the "O'Hare Doctrine". It looks like the nation's most active atheist is at work again. Madeline Murray O'Hare, whose efforts successfully eliminated the use of Bible reading and prayer from all public schools, now wants to eliminate all Sunday worship services currently being broadcast either by radio or television. A great many of the elderly people and shut-ins, as well as those recuperating from illnesses, depend on radio and television to fulfill their worship needs each week. What is so wrong in asking God to help us pave the way on earth, with His Divine Wisdom? Some of the world's finest literature is in the form of prayer. Not only in biblical literature, where we find inspiration in the Old Testament psalms as well as the much repeated Lord's Prayer, but many great poems and essays are written as prayers. Reinhold Niebuhr's insightful: "O God, give us serenity to accept what cannot be changed, courage to change what should be changed, and wisdom to distinguish the one from the other". Helen Hayes says it's unfortunate that so many men and women who believe in God, never feel the need to speak to Him. If this writer were to nominate the greatest prayer of all, it would be a prayer not published in any book, but the honest, open expression of joy or sorrow, uttered by some nameless individual, in some unknown situation. A prayer of intense gratitude or regret, profound for its very simplicity. A prayer known only to the person saying it, and to God.

Dean P. Blum

To The Editor:

In senate candidate Robert McMillan's 8/12/88 "Direct Line" piece concerning Soviet infringement on Jews' human rights, he reminds us that, "The idea that someone could be held against his or her will is repugnant to American values. Whether [sic] that bondage is in South Africa, Russia or in a POW camp, Americans should not rest until all of the chains are broken." What should trouble Americans of conscience is McMillan's too convenient political omission of Israel in the list of states recognized as a U.S. taxpayer-funded violator of human rights. Palestinians in Gaza and the West Bank and Jewish and Arab dissidents within Israel continue to suffer denial of due process, illegal deportation and restrictions on their freedom. One might properly ask whether Mr. McMillan's emphasis on the problems of Jews and his consequent blindness to the chains by which the Israelis oppress the Palestinians is not simply a reflection of his desire to win the decisive votes of New York's pro-Israel Jewish community. He needn't fret about angering New York's far fewer South African or Soviet voters, need he? Indeed, Mr. McMillan, Americans including you should not rest until "...ALL of the chains are broken."

To The Editor:

There has been confusion about the recently enacted Medicare Catastrophic Act of 1988, a new law that significantly expands Medicare benefits. Many of our elderly are under the impression that this new law will cover all their medical needs and that supplemental health insurance is no longer necessary. Unfortunately, that just isn't true.

The new law will do much to help seniors pay for hospital stays and medical services. But it will not cover everything. For example, Medicare beneficiaries will still have to pay as much as $2,000 out of their own pockets before receiving full coverage for Medicare-allowed charges. Even then, Medicare pays for only "reasonable" charges, and its definition of reasonable is less than what most doctors actually charge. The difference, which patients must pay themselves, can quickly add up. A $43,000 coronary bypass operation, for instance, could cost a Medicare patient over $6,000!

And long-term custodial care, which typically costs $22,000 a year, has never been covered by Medicare. It will not be covered under the new law either.

An estimated 70 percent of Medicare beneficiaries have some type of supplemental insurance coverage. It would be premature and unwise for these consumers to drop their policies now or in the near future without knowing the facts and without considering the risks. Many of the new Medicare benefits don't even go into effect until 1990, for example.

Consumers should get in touch with their insurance agent to see how the changes in Medicare will affect their policy. Most will find they still need some form of Medicare supplement insurance.

Nassau First-Graders Learn Reasons for Message: "School's Open-Drive Carefully"

THEIR ELECTRIC CARS stopped at an intersection, first-graders Melinda Pucci (center), of Hicksville, and Nicole Randazzo, of North Bellmore, get some good advice about traffic safety from the "cop on the corner", Nassau County Police Officer Paul Imbornone. The locale is Children's Safety Town at Eisenhower Park, where youngsters learn how to be safe pedestrians by facing some of the same situations, in miniature, as adult drivers. The bumper strips on Melinda and Nicole's vehicles—100,000 of which have been distributed throughout the metropolitan area as part of AAA's annual "School's Open-Drive Carefully" safety campaign—remind motorists to do their part by being especially cautious. The Automobile Club of New York, local sponsor of the program, also gives out some 12,000 "School's Open" posters.

William M. Gouse, Jr. Post No. 3211 News

By P.P.C. Carmine A. Somma

The William M. Gouse Jr. Post members have started the preparations for the "Voice of Democracy Essay Contest" which is open to all students in the Hicksville School District. For more information about the contest call the VFW Hall at 931-7843.

On September 5, our Ritual Team Capt. Howie Bergeron and his boys marched in the Fire Department Labor Day Parade. On September 5, Labor Day, members of the Post put out the flags along Broadway and the side streets.

Our Service Medals Chairman, Ed Kleniewski, did a fine job. If you are a veteran of WWII, Korea, or Vietnam, and wish to obtain war medals, come down to the VFW Hall on the second and fourth Monday of the month. This is a good way to check on your DD-214.

September 16 is our next Social Night Dance. Donation is $5 per person which includes dancing to the music by D.J. and coffee and cake will be available.

Our chaplain, Connie Steers, reports a speedy recovery to our comrades and sisters and their families who have been hospitalized during the month—Andy Chiappone and Auxiliary President Anita Stallone. Our sincerest condolences go to families of PFC Frank Lotti, Life Member Arthur Mayer, and Rose Caruso, who was Joe Adesso's sister.

On October 22, our Ladies Auxiliary will hold a Halloween Dance at the Post Hall. The dance will be from 8 p.m. to 12 a.m.—donation $20 per person. A three-piece band, and a full course sit-down dinner with open bar will be featured. For tickets, please contact Esther Palladino by calling 798-3827. All reservations must be made by October 15.

NEW HOMEOWNERS ARE NEW PATIENTS.

The bidding:

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

There are not many declarers who get excited by scoring one or two overtricks as a result of good play. To make five spades when the contract is four, or three clubs when the contract is two, is not generally regarded as an earth-shaking event.

Only the inveterate duplicate player, to whom an extra trick is both a shibboleth and a godsend, strives for it with undiminished zeal.

And yet, although overtricks lack the fire and dramatic impact of games and slams bid and made, they amount to a tidy sum over the years and should not be totally ignored.

This deal occurred in a Life Masters pair event a few years ago. It contains a striking example of how a declarer can try for extra tricks without placing the contract in jeopardy.

Although it arose in a duplicate game, where extra tricks are of paramount importance, the hand carries a lesson of equal interest to both the rabid rubber bridge player and the duplicate fanatic.

At most tables, South got to three notrump and the heart queen was led. South won with the king and then cashed five diamond tricks, hoping the defense would foolishly discard their clubs and enable him to make two club tricks instead of one. However, this didn't occur and these declarers all finished with ripe tricks.

But some of the more astute declarers did not immediately cash their best suit first. Instead, they led the ace of spades at trick two, hoping they'd see the king or queen drop. (Actually, there was an 18 percent chance that this would occur.) When the king fell, they continued with a spade and eventually made either five or six notrump.

A gain of 60 or 90 points on one deal is not to be sneezed at, especially where no risk whatever is taken in an effort to bring home extra tricks. If an honor does not fall on the ace, declarer abandons the spades and sooner or later leads a club to make sure he acquires a ninth trick.

A Lesson in Spanish by El Zorro and Don Juan

Bienvenido Amigos... Get a little taste of Mexico right here on Long Island at El Zorro, where you'll find good service and fine food at reasonable prices.

The Melendez family, owners of Hicksville's Don Juan Mexican Restaurant, are announcing another opportunity for Long Islanders to sample some authentic Mexican food in authentic Mexican surroundings. El Zorro is located at 4899 Merrick Road in Massapequa and it has been completely renovated, inside and out, with decorations from south of the border.

The colorful serapes in the windows, the cranberry and white decor, brass fixtures and healthy green plants set the stage for a delicious Mexican comida (meal).

Do not miss the Taco and Burrito at $3.95, and the Fajitas which are the best in town. All luncheon entrees are served with arroz y frijoles (rice and beans,) and the Salsa and chips are magnifico.

An extensive dinner menu with everything from aperitivos like Guacamole (mashed avocado, onion, tomato and fresh coriander) for $4.25, Nachos Deluxe melted cheese on tortilla chips with jalapeno pepper slices and Spanish sausage) for $5.50 and sopas (soup, such as black bean) for $2.35.

Especialidades such as Carne Encuilado (marinated beef with garlic, red peppers, vinegar and spices) for $11.95 can really make your dia (day) as will the Arroz con Camarones (rice and shrimp) for $12.95 and Arroz con Pollo for $8.95. (That is, the ever popular rice and chicken dish).

There is plenty of sangria, pina colodas and margaritas by the glass or the pitcher, as well as tequila, Kalhua and Dos Equis Beer. Top off the meal with fried ice cream, flan or sopapillas, a puffy deep-fried pastry with honey and whipped cream.

The chef of El Zorro, Alfonso Perez, has worked with the Melendez family for nine years, and he is the one who trains all the chefs in all their restaurants. "Alfonso will travel to each restaurant just to cook the special of the day," said Mr. Melendez. "He is a wonderful chef."

In addition to all this, the management ends each meal with a rose for the ladies.

The Don Juan Restaurants are located on Old Country Road in Westbury (333-1020) and on Broadway in Hicksville (932-5230). For more informacione about the Massapequa El Zorro, call 798-9690.

September 9 Declared Voter Registration Day

Of the 26 major industrial democracies in the world, the United States ranks dead last in terms of voter participation. The U.S. League of Women Voters is determined to change these shocking statistics and has declared September 9 as National Voter Registration Day. On the local scene, County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta has issued a Proclamation supporting the Sept. 9th drive and League's efforts. The Nassau County LWV in conjunction with the NYS Board of Elections will register voters that day at the Community Booth at Roosevelt Field and at participating A&P, Finast, Grand Union, King Kullen and Pathmark supermarkets throughout the county. For location, call the county League office at 681-1044. In addition, the League of Women Voters will hold Voter Registration from noon to 3 p.m. at the Manhasset Lord & Taylor, Monday - Wednesday, Sept. 26, 27 & 28th, and at the Garden City store Thursday - Saturday, Sept. 29 & 30th and Oct. 1st.

The League of Women Voters will also be conducting Voter Registration at the Motor Vehicle Bureau in Westbury on October 3, 4, and 5 from noon to 4 p.m.

For more information, call County Board of Elections at 535-2411 or 1-800-FOR-VOTE.

Jokes of the 1890's

The following is a reprint of jokes that were published by The Hicksville Press in February 1896. The Press was published every Saturday in Hicksville and cost 3¢ an issue; 4¢ a year.

HUMOROUS
Why didn't the person who suffered untold agony tell somebody?
Miss Elderly—She said she heard I was engaged. Lena—How nice of her.

He—Do you think my picture looks like me? She (sympathetically)—Yes, I am sorry to say, it does.

The good housewife will form no opinion of her new neighbor until after they have their washing out.

"Dignity, my son, is a very proper sort of thing, but don't put on too much of it or you may be taken for a footman."

Mistress—You have a soldier in the kitchen. What is he doing there?
Housemaid—"Learning cooking, please mum."

Interested Stranger—What is the trouble with the baby sir?
Papa—Blest if I know, except that it doesn't seem to be his lungs.

"Help! help!" yelled the man. "As there is no doctor within hailing distance," said the highwayman, "I think I can relieve you."

Fater—This is an awful big bill for Turkish baths. Why do you go there so often?
Daughter—Where else can a girl go who has nothing to wear.

Equal to Emergencies—Country Editor—What's the matter now? Press man—We're out of ink. Editor—Well, rub the rollers with the office towel!

News at Trinity

Weldon Endorf, principal of Trinity Lutheran School, recently attended a Financial/Education Seminar at Lutheran Brotherhood in Minneapolis, Minn.

Held July 24-26, the seminar, "Foundations for the Future" taught planned giving for Lutheran high schools and introduced innovative ways a school can strengthen its financial future. Welcome home again.

Young Judaea News

Young Judaea will be starting their new year the week of September 5, with clubs in all areas for children grades 3-6, 7-8 and 9-12.

Young Judaea is a national cultural, educational and social Zionist youth movement sponsored by Hadassah. The core of Young Judaea is its clubs which meet weekly in temples, Y's and homes on Long Island. They are comprised of children in grades 3-6 (ofarim), 7-8 (tsolim) and 9-12 (bogram). Weekly meetings contain a planned program consisting of some of the following: educational theme, Israeli song and dance, arts and crafts, Hebrew language and games. The main objective is to provide a solid Jewish education, informing the members about Israel, Zionism, history and current issues, as well as create a social environment among peers and create a fun time.

Along with club meetings there are regional activities throughout the year for all age levels, i.e., day trips, overnights and weekend conventions.

Anyone who grew up in a youth movement knows the importance of returning to younger members what they have learned, observed and participated in. In this way, the American Jewish community is strengthened.

Requirements for Young Judaea leaders include a background in Jewish education and experience working with children. A youth movement background, while not necessary, is helpful. This position is compatible with Hebrew or Judaic studies, or social work students or anyone interested in working within the Jewish community.

For more information, call the region office at 433-4960.

Jail & Bail Sept. 26-27

The Ground Round restaurants on Route 106 in Hicksville and Route 10 in Farmingdale will host the March of Dimes Jail and Bail for healthy babies on Monday and Tuesday, September 26 and 27, from noon to 11 p.m.

Anthony DeGregorio, of Seaford, President of Custom Line Promotions LTD., is the chairman of the event, assisted by Ground Round manager Larry Hudd of Hicksville, and Ian Peppard, of Farmingdale.

Roberto Tirado, meteorologist at News 12/Long Island, is the Celebrity Chairman. Radio station K-Joy, 98.3-FM, is co-sponsoring the event.

In Jail and Bail, local residents, business executives, celebrities and others are "arrested" for mock crimes. Pledged donations to the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation pay their "bail".

"Have your boss arrested, or maybe you have a friend or relative you would like to see 'do time' for the March of Dimes. It's all in good fun, and the proceeds will help give tomorrow's children a better chance for a healthy start in life," Mr. DeGregorio said.

To schedule an "arrest," or for more information, call Carolyn Pizzuto at the Long Island March of Dimes, (516) 496-2100.

Operation Outreach at The Hicksville Library

New York State Department of Motor Vehicles, Operation Outreach will be at the Hicksville Public Library on Friday, Sept. 9, from 10 a.m. to noon. Residents can renew non-driver ID cards and driver's license, and be issued non-driver's ID's. Bring a blank check with you.

You must pre-register at the circulation desk of the library.

Keep on top of the news. Read the Hicksville Illustrated.

Hicksville Republican Club

JOSEPH JABLONSKY Executive Leader ROBERT KLUCK President

By Marc Herbst Parola to Speak at Friday's Meeting

New York State Assemblyman Frederick E. Parola will kick off the Hicksville Republican's 1988 campaign Friday evening at the Hicksville V.F.W. Hall, 320 South Broadway, Hicksville.

The General Membership Meeting will begin at 8:30 p.m. Assemblyman Parola will speak of the importance of electing our Republican candidates. He will also address issues of concern to Hicksville V.F.W. Hall, 320 South Broadway, Hicksville.

Assemblyman Dan Frisa, Town Councilman Ken Diamond, candidate for District Court Judge, and Joe Covello, candidate for the 13th Assembly District have also been invited to attend the meeting. Refreshments will be served following the meeting. All community members are invited to attend.

The Ernest F. Franke Republican Clubs Officers and Board of Directors will meet prior to the General Membership Meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Annual Fall Cocktail Party The Hicksville Republican Committeeen's Council's Fall Cocktail Party with International Cafe Cuisine will be held at Antun's on Sunday, October 16 from 4 to 7 p.m. Tickets will be $40 per person and there will be a drawing for Gigantic Baskets of Cheer. The donation for raffles is $1 per ticket.

The Cocktail Party Committee and Antun's have come up with a slight departure from our usual culinary fare. In light of the international flavor of this Presidential Election Year, Antun's will prepare "a la carte" dishes in a cafe setting, where you can step up to any one of the seven or eight international chefs and have them whip up the speciality "du jour" of their country. Mark your calendar and don't miss this new experience in dining.

For tickets, raffles and further information please contact Joe Jablonsky (433-1908), Annette Ferrara (935-8205) or your committeeman.

Voter Registration and Absentee Ballots

In order to vote in this year's election you must file a voter registration application with the Nassau County Board of Elections thirty day prior to Election Day. If you will be away on Election Day and wish to vote, you may submit an absentee ballot. The Hicksville Republican Club has voter registration applications and absentee ballots available. Simply complete the below coupon and the club will be more than happy to supply the requested information.

House Calls
By Edith Lank

How the IRS will Know
Dear Edith: We hope to sell our vacation cottage and will just about break even. Of course, we will report any profit on our income tax return, but just as a matter of curiosity, do you know how the Internal Revenue Service would find out about the sale if we ignored it?—Mr. P.I.

Most real estate sales are now reported to the IRS on 1099 forms, similar to those you may have received reporting interest and dividend payments. This procedure, which has been in place since the start of 1987, covers the sale of all residential real estate up to four-family buildings. It will apply to any single house, townhouse, condominium or cooperative apartment, double, three-family or four-family.

Responsibility for submitting the report lies with the person in charge of the closing: title or escrow company, mortgage lender, seller's or buyer's attorney, real estate broker or even if no one else makes the report, with the buyer. Your Social Security number must be included on the report, so you will probably be asked to furnish it at closing, along with your new address, so you can be sent a copy of the 1099.

Even if no taxes were due on your profit and even if you had suffered a non-deductible loss, you should report the sale on your income tax return. If you simply ignored the matter, your return would not match up with the 1099 the IRS received. Eventually, the matter would come back to haunt you with irritating paperwork and correspondence, at the least.

Finding Credit Bureaus
Dear Edith: I am the owner of a three-flat rental unit. I am having problems finding a credit bureau to join, in order to run credit checks on potential tenants. Would you recommend any bureaus?—Mr. E.T.

Just look in the yellow pages under "Credit Reporting Agencies". But, there's no need to buy a membership just for the rental of three units. Ask prospective tenants to go down an pull credit reports on themselves; it's an inexpensive procedure.

Stuck with a Timeshare
Dear Edith: Two years ago, my daughter and her husband were vacationing and got suckered into buying a timeshare in a condo. The weeks they can use it are Thanksgiving week, Christmas week or the week after Christmas. Their payments are 880 a month and they have used it once.

This summer, they bought a house and are really strapped for money. There doesn't seem to be any way out of that timeshare. The management isn't able to sell the remaining one, so they certainly aren't receptive to selling my daughter's.

My husband has told our daughter to just no make the payments, that she can prove their credit conscientiousness by making the house payments and other bills promptly. The kids are afraid of a judgment or suit and are working nights to keep current. Do you have any suggestions?—Mrs. D.E.

The one bright spot here is that your kids' own choice weeks, are probably more desirable than the ones the management can't sell. If the developer is holding the mortgage, they could ask whether they could give back the condo with no money changing hands.

Your daughter and son-in-law can also talk with a real estate office near the condos to see if their timeshare might be marketable. Selling, even at a loss, may be the best way out of the mess.

Until they are officially released from their promise to repay the debt, they must not stop making payments. That would severely damage their credit standing and pointing to other debts paid on time won't help.

Just as a used car receives a "dollar-up," so should your house be polished for the market. Ways to enhance its appeal without spending money are detailed in a House Calls leaflet. For a copy, send $1 and a stamped, return envelope to Show 'N Sell, 240 Hemmingway Drive, Rochester, N.Y. 14620.

Nassau Sports Review

By Jack White

Beginning September 1, New York State's public school athletes are free to compete in as many non-school athletic programs as they wish. After numerous court battles and rule revisions, the outside competition rule has been removed from the New York State Public High School Handbook as a result of a NYSPSHAA meeting held last spring.

The outside competition rule defines when school athletes can participate and under what circumstances. At one time an athlete was prohibited from playing in any outside activity in his sport once the first game was played. Later it was amended to allow outside groups to petition for permission for school athletes to play on a compromise basis which usually set up a schedule for the athletes. For instance, an athlete might play school soccer from Monday to Friday with Saturday a compromise day and Sunday reserved for the club team.

Now there are no such restrictions. This is the second time the rule has been totally vacated. The first action was a result of a New York State Supreme Court decision in early 1984, but that was eventually overturned on an appeal by the NYSPSHAA and the compromise instituted.

With the elimination of the rule, the onus is now on parents. Can a student-athlete handle the pressure of seven day a week competition? Will grades suffer? Is the athlete at greater risk of injury?

Of course each athlete is different and parents must make their best judgements. From this vantage point, however, I believe that some youth leagues are unreasonable in the amount of time they ask from athletes who are after all, students first.

There are community soccer programs which run virtually all year. A great deal of pressure is often put on players to participate only in soccer. Ten year olds are told to "concentrate" on one sport. Such advice is as far off the mark as it can get. It robs the player of the exposure and fun of other sports while perhaps keeping the athlete out of what may become his/her best sport. And, of course, it overemphasizes the importance of one activity.

Soccer is not the only offender. Youth hockey programs run from fall into spring, competing with all three school sports seasons. A boy playing club hockey often practices and plays games at very late hours on school nights because of the difficulty in obtaining ice time. Swimmers and gymnasts must make tremendous time commitments. Should they participate in both school and club competition in the same season?

When a young athlete plays on a school team the coach is a certified professional who is responsible to an athletic director and a school district. While some wonderful, dedicated people work in the youth leagues, the parents and athletes clearly don't have the same protections.

The various youth leagues are fine in the summer and they are fine during the school year for those students not playing on school teams. Legal and political pressure has led the state to drop its outside participation restrictions, but that doesn't mean they were a bad idea. It is hoped that parents and athletes will make their participation decisions wisely.

Nassau lost one of its most dedicated officials last week when John Goldsmith of Hicksville succumbed to cancer at age 61. The former elementary school teacher was a past president of officials associations in football, lacrosse and soccer. He was a college football rules interpreter who worked bowl games and many other major contests in both football and lacrosse.

For years John Goldsmith was a fixture in Section Eight athletics. If he wasn't officiating championship games, he was on hand to watch. John was both respected and well-liked by coaches and athletes and he was a role model for many officials.

About fifteen years ago while officiating a football game at West Point, John suffered cardiac arrest when his heart stopped. A doctor on hand for the game revived him and he was soon back officiating a full schedule. He always carried the newspaper clipping of his "death" on the field with him in wallet.

John Goldsmith, a gentleman, a fine official, and a terrific guy, will be missed.

Can You Stomach Your Exercise

Hundreds of letters to our office inquire, "What are the keys to fitness?" Many correct answers can be given, but perhaps the least known and discussed is proper abdominal muscular conditioning. Good abdominal muscle tone has been reported to increase the athlete's vertical jump, agility and coordination.

Older athletes report better exercise tolerance after undergoing abdominal exercise programs. In addition to "coordinating" the top and bottom halves of the body, the abdominal muscles help to alleviate and avoid low back injuries in sports. Once the injury has occurred, an abdominal muscular strengthening program helps to supplement the low back muscles (erector spinal muscles) in holding the upper body upright.

In the instance the abdominal muscles are weak, the stronger muscles in the low back cause the pelvis to tilt forward, resulting in mild low back pain for athletes.

In a recent article by Professor Dennis Humphrey in the February issue of The Physician and Sportsmedicine, he recommends the trunk curl exercise to increase the strength and stamina of the abdominal muscles.

First, lie down on your back with your hips and knees bent and your feet on the floor. Next, raise your arms toward your knees as you raise your head and chest towards the thighs. This is very similar to a sit-up; however, the upper body should not come completely upright to a sitting position. Professor Humphrey reports that, initially, some athletes may be unable to curl without placing the hands behind the thighs and pulling the chest, shoulders and head upwards. He recommends three sets of 10-15 repetitions, with the arms at the side, then three sets of 10-15 repetitions, with each hand on the opposite shoulder. Increased difficulty can be added by placing a weight on the upper chest or by working on a tilt board with the feet and legs elevated. Most agree that straight leg raises and straight leg curls (sit-ups) can increase the risk of further back injury. Early attention to abdominal muscular strengthening may be of primary importance to the athlete's fitness and further avoidance of injuries.

Nassau County Touch Football League Celebrates 25th Anniversary

The Nassau County Touch Football League, Long Island's oldest touch football league, will kickoff its Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Season with a commemorative game on Saturday, September 10, at 12 noon at Eisenhower Park in East Meadow. The game will be broadcast on Cablevision's Long Island Sports Network. It's the first time a league game will be carried on television.

Nassau County Executive Thomas Golotta and his predecessor, Francis T. Purcell, will be on hand to participate in the pre-game ceremonies.

The league will open this Silver Anniversary season with a contest between the two oldest teams, the Malverne Bills and Floral Park Clippers.

Malverne is the league's only regional franchise, dating back to 1964, when league founders Tom Feliny and Steve Siegel formed the Bills. Since then, they have compiled an unmatched 167-30-7 lifetime regular season record, along with five championships and 17 championship game appearances.

The Clippers, who joined the league in 1969, have compiled an impressive 82-60-4 regular season mark in 19 years and won their only championship in 1975, a 12-8 win against Malverne.

Woven throughout the history of these two clubs is an intense arch-rivalry that has produced some unforgettable football contests. The teams meet annually in the last week of October, in a game that has come to be known as the Halloween Bowl and their record stands at eight wins apiece after 16 regular season contests (the Bills hold a 4-3 edge in playoff games). So, this game will be the tie-breaker and also the second time these two clubs have opened a season, the last time being 1983, when they celebrated the NCTFL's Twentieth Anniversary with a commemorative game.

Both teams feature former star quarterbacks (Malverne's Tom Feliny and Floral Park's John Bakke), who now serve as head coaches and when pressed to recall the most memorable games in their respective club's history, inevitably they will harken back to a classic Bills-Clippers contest.
