Tracey Made In October, through years of training and determination, Tracey Flinn will compete in the VIII Paralympic Games in Seoul, Korea, as a left handed shooter. Flinn will compete as a member of the 1988 United States Disabled Sports Team in the areas of air pistol, air rifle and volleyball. He earned this spot by capturing several medals in various international events, including the United States Amputee National Championships in May where he won five golds, and the British Amputee Championships in March of this year where he won a gold medal in the air pistol event and a silver in air rifle. "The ultimate will be to compete in Seoul," said Ralph. "But to make both teams - for the able and disabled - in 1992 is my real goal."

After dealing with the initial shock of his loss, Ralph was able to return home. When he entered his house on Bridge Lane, the first thought that came to his mind was, "I have to finish off this kitchen."

A few days before the accident, Ralph had started renovating the kitchen. It was completely gutted, no sink, no stove, no refrigerator. Then he came home with only one arm. His wife, Susan, explained, "He had a choice - to either go on or die. I kicked him a lot after the accident and never gave up on him. I always told him, 'Kick a man when he's down, because a good man will get up.' Ralph got up."

He admits, though, that the hardest thing about approaching the kitchen work was watching someone else do it. So he and some friends completed the kitchen, with Ralph driving in the nails while his friends held up the sheet rock. "The only disabling part was getting tennis elbow while working on everything myself," he confessed. "But I did it."

Ralph proudly proclaims that he was never one to give up. "A lot of people give up, but I enjoy the sport too much to stop it. I had a dream of getting a gold medal in the Olympics, and I always wanted to shoot a perfect score."

By practicing a few days a week, Ralph was able to not only match his previous ability when shooting lefty, but he surpassed it. He now holds national records for amputees in the .22, airgun rifle and airgun pistol. Out of a possible 600 points, Ralph scored 573, compared to an able bodied person who holds the record near 581.

While the Paralympic Games and the Games for the Disabled may be unfamiliar to some, it is not to the Marchese family. "We're sorry it's not a more popular event," says Susan. Every member of the family has taken an active role in Ralph's involvement. His daughters, Liza, 15, and Joy, 13, have sponsored booths at local competitions, and his son Evan, 18, is an avid shooter himself. Susan has been the dominating force behind the family's giving all support and encouragement. "We really don't see Ralph's turnaround as so fantastic," she said. "It's nothing someone else couldn't do. But Ralph made the choice to do something with his disability. There are other worries in life, and his accident has just added a ton of dimension to ours. Everyone has a handicap, only Ralph's you can see."

This attitude has proven successful for the family. Now, none of the children fear handicapped people or people with disabilities. "It's proven to be a good experience for all of us," said Susan.

As a competitor in the Paralympics, Ralph must raise more than $3,500 for his expenses

Thomas Shaw, director of facilities and operations, said that all went smoothly the first day of school.

When asked what was their least favorite

Twelfth grader Esther Murphy said, "It's alright to be back at school. But it's better knowing that we will get out because this is our last year."

TWELFTH GRADER Diana Fuchsman (left) said, "I'm not too thrilled" to be back in school. "I definitely don't like getting up early but I like seeing all my friends and being with them." (Middle): Esther Murphy, a 12th grader said, "It's alright to be back at school, but it's better knowing that we will get out because this is our last year." (Right): "I don't like being here," said Karyn Tacconelli, a 12th grader. "I don't like getting up early—or gym—but I do like lunch."

DENNIS SULLIVAN, an 11th grader, said "It's not too great being back at school. I like sitting out here (by the flagpole in front of the high school) and having fun."

More than 50 firefighters and nine pieces of equipment from Hicksville battled a blaze last Monday at the Tropical Showcase Pet Store in the shopping center at Newbridge and Old Country Roads. The fire killed most of the livestock in the store before arriving firemen had the chance to do anything. There were other injuries at the scene.

According to Hicksville Fire Chief Jerry O'Brien, the alarm was turned in at 11 p.m. and was not declared under control for another 40 minutes. The fire apparently started in the basement and extended upwards to the first floor. "First arriving units were met with a large volume of smoke," said Chief O'Brien, "but no visible flames." The shop, which sells birds, fish and hamsters as well as pet supplies, was destroyed.

Chief O'Brien told the Hicksville Illustrated News that the fire marshal's office had been notified since the store was vacant at the time of the fire. At press time the cause of the fire had still not been determined. One of the owners of the store, Gene Sanchez, who was on the scene had little to say other than he and the rest of the members of his family would try to rebuild.

Stores adjoining the fire building to the left, Broadway Gallery and a Gym and Sporting Goods store as well as Brook's Stationery store, which is next to the pet stop, received minor smoke and water damage. Chief O'Brien said that "his men did an excellent job in knocking down the fire before it had the chance to spread" to adjoining stores in the shopping center.

Chief O'Brien also noted that the Jericho Fire Department was standing in quarters in Hicksville in case of another fire.

FIREFIGHTERS OVERHAUL the inside of the Tropical Showcase Pet Store after a late night fire destroyed the shop. No injuries were reported although damage to the store was heavy.

Hearing on Operation of Snack Shop at Mobil

A public hearing has been scheduled for Tuesday, October 4 by the Oyster Bay Town Board on a request for a modification of restrictive covenants and permission to operate a snack shop in Hicksville, according to Town Councilman Kenneth S. Diamond.

The applicant, Mobil Oil Corporation, is seeking a modification or restrictive covenants on a previously issued special use permit to utilize the premises for a public garage, gasoline filling station and to also permit a snack shop, Diamond said.

The property is located on the east side of Broadway, south of Bethpage Road in Hicksville.

The hearing has been scheduled for Tuesday, October 4, beginning at 10 a.m. in the Town Hall East hearing room, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay.

A 57-YEAR-OLD HICKSVILLE MAN was taken to Central General Hospital with head injuries after his 1983 Lincoln Continental struck a utility pole at Nelson Avenue and West Nicholas Street at 2:55 p.m. Sept. 5, according to Nassau police officer Jean McQuillan. Police and fire personnel responded to the scene. There were no other injuries in the one car accident and no summonses were issued.

Lights Out for Many In Parts of Hicksville

The electricity went out in parts of Hicksville last Sunday at about 2 p.m. because of an "equipment problem" in LILCO's New South Road substation, a spokesperson said.

According to Will Thoretz of the Long Island Lighting Company, one of the largest circuit breakers in the substation malfunctioned and affected an entire bank of circuit breakers.

Four of the circuits go out to the community, Thoretz said. One of the power lines goes to LILCO's Hicksville facility which also experienced a minor dimness of the lights, but they "kicked back in" quickly, he added.

In one area, 2,349 customers were without electricity for 49 minutes; in another area which serves 2,816 customers, power was out for 38 minutes; and in a third section, 49 customers in the industrial area along New South Road, were without electricity for 44 minutes.

The outages also affected customers in the Jericho, Plainview and Levittown areas.

Boy, Was Bob Surprised!

You should have seen the surprise on Bob Stengl's face when he walked into Barbara and Eamon Tuohy's backyard on Sunday. Bob's wife, Cathy, arranged for his "Over the Hill" 50th birthday party.

We hear he was "totally shocked" when he was greeted by his children Bobby and Janet, mother-in-law Nellie Cavanaugh and about a dozen friends and neighbors.

The Stengls of Nicholas Street are longtime residents, and we wish Bob much luck in the coming year.

MR. and MRS. PAUL BAUR

Susan Reddy Bride of Paul Baur

Susan Reddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reddy of Hicksville, was married to Paul Baur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Baur of Franklin Square on August 6 at Parkway Community Church in Hicksville.

Laura Reddy, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Linda Rae D'Eri, Susan's niece, was her flower girl.

She'll Never See 50 Again!

Last Saturday night, Sept. 10th, we attended a surprise 50th birthday dinner celebration for Gerry Valle at The Linden Tree in Bethpage. What a party! Given by her husband Tony, and attended by her family and friends—it turned out to be a really great fun night.

Dennis Messapezza, manager of the Linden Tree, did an excellent job making sure the party was just perfect. Held in an upstairs dining room, it was attended by her children, Tricia, Michael and Anthony, along with Tricia's fiancé, Bob Mele, and Michael's beautiful friend Vicki Higgins from Washington, D.C. and Lake Tahoe, Nevada.

Also attending were Lucy and Nino Valle, Gerry's sister Patty and Tom Campion and their son Timmy. Daughters Colleen and Kelly couldn't attend. Kelly is enjoying a European vacation.

Betty and Tom Zagajski and Linda and Paul Fuchs, were also there enjoying themselves. Betty and Linda are co-workers with Gerry at Fork Lane School.

Sue and Bob Losco rushed back from Providence, R.I. after bringing their son to college (Johnson and Wales) that morning—saying "We weren't going to miss this party for anything."

Old friend Mike DeStefano arrived with lovely Stevie on his arm. (And she really is a girl!)

Having more fun than anyone was the man who cracks everyone up—Joe Ferguson with his charming wife Anita (who is so excited about becoming a grandmother).

Other guests included a favorite aunt and uncle. Last, but not least, her two best friends—whom she went all through grade and high school with—Rosalee Starchic and Grace Scheno and their husbands, Gino and Sal, along with Rosalee's son John, and her mom (who always was a mom to all of them). A beautiful touch to the affair was Rosalee and Grace giving Gerry a "best friends" locket—they each bought one for themselves—so now the three of them have the same locket.

It was a blast! All I can say is "Tony Valle really knows how to throw a party. . . . and his friends all know how to enjoy them!" Happy Birthday Gerry—you look great!

Alan Baur, Paul's brother was best man. Susan is a 1980 graduate of Hicksville High School and is a mortgage officer at Guardian Bank. Paul is a service technician for ADT. A reception at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Bethpage followed the ceremony. After a lovely honeymoon in Hawaii the couple are now residing in Franklin Square.

What A Trip!

Jeanette and Joe Murphy and Rosemary Byrne of Hicksville have returned from an 18-day tour of England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales (1,681 miles).

Time spent in London included a moonlight dinner on the Thames, visits to Westminster Abbey, Town of London, Buckingham Palace, Harrods and the theatrical performances of Cats and Phantom of the Opera.

Ireland was highlighted by a trip to Blarney (to kiss the stone), Blarney Mills (to buy all their souvenirs), Dublin (where Jeanette and Rosemary purchased lovely lace curtains).

While in Dublin they also saw performances by Noel McGinnity and Hal Roach (Ireland's leading comedians).

Their stay in Edinburgh included a visit to Edinburgh Castle and a traditional Scottish night out with Highland Dancers, bagpipers and—of course—The Ceremony of the Haggis (received with mixed reactions). Joe and Rosemary didn't like it. Jeanette thought it was great until she found out what it consisted of.

They enjoyed the trip but it was the general consensus that they had seen enough castles, abbeys, palaces, sheep and cows to last them a lifetime.

Arthritis Treatment - A Comprehensive Approach Part II - Arthritis Medications

To understand the rationale behind the use on certain arthritis medications, it is necessary to understand some basic facts concerning arthritis. The term arthritis means joint inflammation and also includes disorders which result in inflammation of the muscles and tendons. There are many causes of joint, muscle and tendon inflammation. In fact, over 100 types of disorders come under the category of inflammatory joint and muscle disease.

Inflammation is the body's natural way to fight disease. When this inflammation gets out of control and affects the joints and surrounding tissues, arthritis occurs. When this inflammation continues for long periods of time, joint damage may occur. The main goal in therapy prescribed by rheumatologists (arthritis specialists) is to reduce the inflammatory response.

One form of therapy will usually make use of anti-inflammatory medications. These medications have been scientifically shown to reduce the inflammation of arthritis. When the inflammation is reduced, the pain and swelling so often associated with arthritis also improves. These medications can be powerful and often improve the symptoms of arthritis within a few weeks.

There are many effective medications available for the treatment of arthritis. Each medication is different, and the one that is used for you should be tailored to your type of arthritis. A correct diagnosis is necessary before any medication is prescribed.

Most arthritis medications are safe. However, some patients do experience side effects. Rheumatologists are aware of the side effects and problems encountered by most patients. Their training enables them to instruct their patients in a manner which is both safe and effective, allowing successful use of the medications.

Hicksville High Happenings...

By Jim McCrann

After 23 years working as a social studies teacher in the Hicksville school district, 22 of those years having been spent at the high school, Raymond J. McDonough has been named new administrative assistant at the high school. He will replace John Pitrelli who passed away over the summer. Mr. McDonough will take over what he calls, "A key job in this school." His main areas of concern include discipline as well as student attendance. As an assistant to the principal, he will stress the importance of student attendance; "Student attendance is the key to student success." According to Mr. McDonough, problems arise with students who are habitually late for school, who cut classes, or who rarely, if ever, show up for school at all. He hopes to work closely with both students and staff in order to remedy this situation.

Mr. McDonough, who has also spent five years as a teacher-dean, considers himself to be a strict disciplinarian; "I believe in rules and regulations and I believe they should be enforced fairly to everyone." But he also said that his job means much more than to punish students, because he said he believes that students get into trouble for a specific reason. His main concern is helping the individual. "Our job here is to get youngsters who are potential dropouts or trouble-makers and get them help through the school. What we try to do is pinpoint problems and then refer troubled youngsters to particular people who can help them." These people include social workers, psychologists and especially the classroom teachers.

Though Mr. McDonough says that he will miss teaching, he is also looking forward to the challenges that his new position will bring. Though he may be confident, he also said that he'll find it difficult replacing Mr. Pitrelli, "I'm not sure I could ever live up to the standards that he established in this job, but I'm going to try." Mr. McDonough said that being an Administrative Assistant will help him grow as an educator. He also said that he will be instrumental in assisting Mr. Hogan, (School principal) in maintaining discipline as well as working for high student attendance. He describes his new position as, "Giving me a very broad picture of the entire school and where it fits into the community."

Hicksville High School will be hosting a foreign student exchange program. Anyone willing to provide a home should contact Mrs. Carr in the main office at the high school.

Student elections at the high school will be held on Monday, September 19. Volunteers are needed to run for various positions.

The Hicksville High School Comets Marching Band will be in its first competition of the season on Sunday, September 18, in Huntington.

RAYMOND McDONOUGH, new administrative assistant at the high school.

Legionnaires' Log

By GREG BENNETT
Charles Wagner Post #421, Hicksville

Friday, September 16, is POW-MIA Recognition Day with a POW Vigil at Esienhower Park at 7:30 p.m. by the Veterans Memorial and the Avenue of the Flags. It's ever so important to keep the pressure on Hanoi and our own government to account for our POW's. There's too many cases where Americans were seen in captivity and never returned. We shouldn't forget our POW's not returned when the Soviets liberated German POW camps during World War II and POW's of the Korean War.

Junior PCC Dick Hochbruckner attended the 70th National Convention of the American Legion held in Louisville, Kentucky. The convention parade lasted four hours and featured many military units.

Cdr. Arlene Howard, VC George Blochl, Adj. Greg Bennett and Color Guard Sgt. John Rizo's marched in the Hicksville Labor Day Parade. A 3rd Division Meeting was held on Friday, September 9 at Bethpage Archie McChord Post. P.C. Harry Christo is the Sgt. at Arms for the 3rd Division and Greg Bennett is the 3rd Division Membership Officer. Cdr. Howard, Greg Bennett, George Blochl and PCC Dick Hochbruckner attend the 3rd

Division meeting.

Please support the following bills A-10801 and S-8087 as sponsored by Assemblyman Richard Connors and Senator Mike Tully. This would extend the life of the Temporary State Committee for readjustment problems of Vietnam vets. The Utility Bill met with opposition and a Compromise Bill has been presented.

PC Artie Rutz was the proud winner of the First Nassau County American Legion "Commander's Cup Classic" Golf Tournament held August 18 at Bethpage State Park and scored by the Calloway system.

Installation: our 1088-80 installation of post officers will be held at the September 10 meeting. The County Legislative Breakfast is Sunday, October 16 at Elmont Elementary School. With membership and legislation being key program, let's write our legislators about important issues and sign up a new member today.

Write your Congressmen to support House Bill (HR 4870) for the Vietnam Women's Memorial Project. And above all remember our POW's.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity.

We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only.

We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

To The Editor:

Has Hicksville gone bonkers? From what I've heard and read, our residents must be drinking tainted well water; neighbors anonymously reporting neighbors for accidental watering on incorrect days (one neighbor had a visit from the police — they watered wrong once and someone "told"); neighbors reporting neighbor's children for playing music on their own property; residents complaining about one soccer field for Hicksville kids, ages about 8 or 9. Give me a break! See the larger issues at stake in our town!

I wish the do-gooders could wake up to the real potential problems... especially those who fret over property values. In the heart of Hicksville, we have a soup kitchen feeding the needy. Now, we all realize hunger is an international problem, but, unfortunately, here, a handful of vagrants wander into local shopping centers, causing problems for merchants and patrons. Only a very short walk from that site is Hicksville's newest concern... a proposed group home for former mental patients being run by an agency on a first-time basis. Both of these attractions are but a small walk from at least four of our town's public schools! Have I caught your interest yet? What may affect only a small portion of Hicksville now ultimately will affect all of us later, community activists. One can only hope and pray that residents will redirect their collective energies and anger... but not toward their neighbor or their neighbor's kids. Until locals stop nitpicking and put their priorities in order, the larger, more crucial problems in our community will just keep snowballing.

To The Editor:

I wish to publicly thank the Nassau County Police Department and the Hicksville Auxiliary Police for their efforts this past weekend during the festival held at Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church.

Their assistance and enforcements of street closings helped a great deal to ease the snarling traffic situations confronted in the past.

Once again, thank you.

Rosella Maggio, president

To The Editor:

Recently Newsday published an article concerning the Interfaith Nutritional Network.

The article brought out the business communities' objections to the INN's-sponsored soup kitchen. The following poem, I hope, will make people think about the problem of the homeless.

The Homeless

I am young, I am old, I have children, I don't have children, I am black, I am white, I have a drug problem, I have an alcohol problem.

I am the nameless, faceless people you pass each day, I am the homeless.

I too had a dream of suburbia — of a house and a white picket fence, but somehow the dream has gotten lost.

It's hard for me to find a job, I may not have the skills, I know I have no permanent address.

And what employer will hire me? Once he discovers the mailman doesn't make deliveries to where I live.

Now you wish to do away with the only place that I can say I get food and company.

You say it is because of crime. I know — I see it all the time and I have been a victim too. Buy you'll never see it in the news.

So as you go to bed tonight, remember those who sleep under lamplight, then thank God it isn't you, and tomorrow see what you can do.

Lynette S. Perez

To The Editor:

As we have learned from the State representatives to a local meeting at the Hicksville Library, the housing of mentally or physically handicapped was created by a law. A law that was passed almost unanimously by our State Legislators. This was caused by the public outcry for action when the deplorable conditions of the institutions that took care of these people were revealed to the people about 10 years ago.

As we also know, these institutions replaced the families that could not or would not take care of these people. Unfortunately, instead of improving the conditions by better housing, supervision, use of better trained people, etc., the State decided to change the procedure.

It was felt then, to give these people help and then release them into society or places that are now being established in our communities. The concept seems very practical and humanizing. But from what we have heard from neighbors, who have these people, the idea does not always work. The worst fears and misunderstandings have caused disruption in our localities.

Are we now telling people who have saved and sacrificed to move into peaceful communities, who their neighbors are going to be — and we must accept it? This is the crux of it. We are not insensitive but do feel that the State is unfair and unjust. They take taxpayers' money and pay high prices for these houses, violate local resident ordinances, take the property of the tax rolls (for at least 20 years), and place a new situation in a community. A community of taxpayers who are already burdened enough with taxes, solving local problems, making a living and raising a family.

As we can see there is little recourse when the State says, DO IT! We can only continue to pressure our legislators to change the law and come up with something humanizing for the unfortunates — but reasonable and fair to the average hard working, sacrificing home owner.

Charles Cunningham

To The Editor:

Although I misplaced my last copy of The Hicksville Illustrated News, I want to commend you for the article about the late Marc Carranza, in the September 1 issue.

In life, I never knew Marc, I just heard the tragic aftermath when his life ended on my corner.

My gift in life was writing, but my late brother was talented in art, as Marc was, but in a different way. My brother died young, two months before his 24th birthday, and two days before heart surgery.

Although it was a sad story about Marc, it was very beautiful. So often we hear about people his age being wild and causing trouble. But Marc was a shining example of good in the world. He reached out with his talent, his love and himself to make it a better world. For those who knew him, he succeeded.

I don't have great leadership qualities, and I can't afford to do much, but I sometimes come up with good ideas.

It is a beautiful idea the mural on Calda Piz-za, "In Memory of Marc Carranza," but there is another way to remember Marc: "What about a Marc Carranza Memorial Education Award? There is probably someone out there with talent for art, whether Marc's style or not, but they can't afford education. This would make Marc's memory more lasting."

What Happens to An Abandoned Car Here

By A. Anthony Miller

An ever increasing and annoying problem in the Hicksville area, as well as in other parts of the Town of Oyster Bay and Nassau County, is the abandoned car. This happens when a car suddenly breaks down and the cost of repairs exceeds the value of the car, and the owner doesn't have the money available, takes the plates off, and — instant abandoned car.

Sometimes an owner may find it hard to sell a used car, and finally, to get it off his driveway, just gives it away to someone who wants parts from it. After everything useful has been removed, the new owner — who has never registered or insured the vehicle — pushes it on to a street, usually late at night, and leaves it: a useless hulk.

As if guided by radar, the abandoned car rapidly becomes a target for car strippers, vandals, or both.

Many abandoned cars in this area, police say, were made in the early or mid 1970's, and have now lost all their value. Getting them off the road does represent a problem, and takes time — quite a bit of it, because to the police, it's not as high priority an item as catching crooks or the myriad other tasks they must perform. Still, to the department's credit, this job does get done as fast as possible.

The procedure for removal of abandoned cars is covered by the state's vehicle and traffic law (VTL), which defines an abandoned car as one left without license plates "for more than six hours on any highway or other public place." A car with plates left more than 24 hours on a road on which parking is not permitted is also considered abandoned. So is a car left for more than 96 hours on private property, without the owner's permission.

Usually, a resident will call police to report an abandoned car, or an officer on patrol will come across such a vehicle. Once a determination has been made that the car has in fact been abandoned — and not simply stolen — a complex procedure is initiated.

The officer affixes a yellow sticker to the car and turns in a report to the second precinct in Woodbury. The sticker alerts the owner that unless he or she removes the car within 24 hours, it will be taken away. A precinct clerk traces the last registered owner, usually from the car's serial number, and writes him or her, asking that the car be removed. One of the factors that slows things down is that the last registered owner may not be the last actual owner.

If you sell your car, for instance, to someone who buys it only for parts, he won't register the car. Legally, then, you remain the last registered owner. It's important, therefore, when you sell a car that you remove the registration sticker — but not the smaller inspection sticker — from the windshield.

Through September 5, some 340 cars have been reported as abandoned to the second precinct. No breakdown is available as to how many of these were in Hicksville. This is a significant jump from 1987, when under 300 cars were reported for the entire year.

If the vehicle owner makes no response and the car remains on the street, the precinct notifies headquarters in Mineola, which in turn contacts the Town of Oyster Bay. The VTL specifies that if the car is worth less than $750, title to the auto shall immediately vest in the Town. The Town contracts with a scrap dealer, whose responsibility it is to haul away the car. The auto is then wrecked.

At least four weeks have elapsed.

If the car is of greater value and is still useable, the VTL requires a public auction to dispose of the auto.

A further provision in the VTL makes the owner liable to the Town of Oyster Bay "for the costs of removal and storage" of an abandoned car. A town spokesperson said that the town attorney began enforcing this provision late last year when it was determined that it was costing about $50 to remove each abandoned car. The town does contract with a wrecker, who now removes about 90% of the abandoned cars, and pays the town 15 per car. The town does not get involved with cars abandoned on expressways or parkways.

The town attorney has written letters to some 50 persons asking for payment for removal of abandoned cars, and while it has received some responses, no money has been collected. The town's spokesman said that the town attorney would be issuing summonses returnable in the district court to attempt collection.

In some cases, however, the town has had difficulty in either determining ownership or locating the owner, who may have moved. Many junks are stripped of identifying markers.

Both the town and police said that under the existing state laws, they could not remove abandoned cars any faster than at present. Residents are urged to notify police as soon as possible about an abandoned car, so that the process can begin, and hopefully end, before the abandoned car becomes an eyesore or an "attractive nuisance" which may cause injury to some child.

Editor's Note

Now that the school year is underway, the Hicksville Illustrated News urges all drivers to proceed with caution.

Drivers should never pass a stopped school bus with flashing red lights as children are getting on or off the bus. Obey all school signs and crossing guards and be on the look out for small children. Parents should advise children who are riding their bikes to school not to wear earphones plugged into a radio or tape deck while traveling as well as to obey all traffic signs and signals. It is important that bicyclists ride as close to the right hand edge or curb of the road and drive with the flow of traffic.

The Illustrated wishes the teachers and students a happy and rewarding school year.

Hicksville High Football Briefs

By Jim McCrann

To many young men there are more than just the four seasons that come and go every year; there is one more season that they consider to be more important than all of the others combined. That fifth season is football season. Since their football camp in the late summer, the Hicksville High School football team has been working in earnest in order to prepare themselves for the upcoming season. Everything from conditioning to drills has been covered during these all-important practices. Ron Quattrini, who is once again at the helm, will try to improve upon last year's record. The new season is less than two weeks away. By that time the team hopes to have starting quarterback Joe Passo back from his injury and a full team geared for a successful season.

Hicksville West is Among the Best

Hicksville West, one of the top local men's softball teams, recently concluded its 1988 season by placing third overall in the 50-team Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks Weekend League.

In early August, the team wrapped up its second straight division title and third in four years by finishing the regular season with an impressive 16-4 record. Hicksville West then won five of seven playoff games before being eliminated in the league semi-finals.

Over the last four years, Hicksville West had compiled a 58-22 won-lost record — a winning percentage of .725 — playing on Sunday mornings at Cantiague and Eisenhower Parks and Mitchell Field.

The team is comprised exclusively of Hicksville High School graduates from the classes 1975 through 1980. This year's active roster featured: Billy Castellano, OF; Kenny Hymes, 2B; Kevin (K-Man) Korcz, P; John Leo, C; Lee McGinnigle, 3B; Dennis Mezzapesa, everywhere; Ken Romeo, 1B; Bobby Smith, (Mgr.), OF; Joe Smith, OF; Anthony Valle, OF; Mike Valle, OF; Chris (Banger) Walsh, SS; Greg Walsh, 1B.

The players wish to thank their fans and families for their love and support.

Hicksville Duo to Captain Soccer Team

Amy Flannery and Debbie Kenefick, both from Hicksville, have been named captains for the University of Scranton women's soccer team.

Flannery, a 1985 graduate of Hicksville High School, has been a four-year starter on defense for the Lady Royals, earning All-Conference honors during her sophomore season.

Kenefick is a 1985 graduate of Holy Trinity High School and has been a four-year starter for Scranton at midfield.

Both face a difficult challenge this season in trying to reshape a team that went to the NCAA National Quarterfinals last season but will boast just six seniors on a 30 player roster.

Both women are standout students as well as athletes. Flannery is a nursing major at Scranton while Kenefick studies Biology.

Hicksville also has Amy's younger sister, Lynn, to root for this year. Lynn, a freshman, is likely to be the heir apparent to her sister on defense.

Police Report

Pssst . . . Say you saw it in the Hicksville Illustrated News.

A Letter from Lulabelle...

...Can you remember learning to read?...To most of us, it seems that we have always known, but there had to be a beginning...And I can remember so well my teacher in kindergarten starting us with phonetics...I wonder why it is still so clear to me—I can see her and the cards she held up...The cards were large, about 8 1/2 by 11, and she had divided them into four sections...We started with the letter M, which was written in two spaces in capital and small letters...In another space was the picture of a cow and in the fourth space was the word "moo"...and she recited and we repeated, "The cow says 'moo' and M is the first sound of 'moo' "...and so it was with many letters—apple for A—nest for N—snake for S...For me, it was a wonderful learning device, since I still remember so well...And she would always say, "Sound it out"—and isn't that how we all approach a word which is new to us?...Even though English is certainly not a phonetic language—enough, though, through, slough and so many others, it's still the best way to approach an unknown word...And, of course, you remember reading aloud in class...one student after another would read a sentence or paragraph and we would all follow along—not with our fingers, that was not allowed!...and no moving your lips when you read silently!...When we read about all the illiteracy today, it is heartbreaking and we are so sorry for those who slipped through without learning right from the start about "the cow says moo"...and we applaud the Literacy Volunteers who are doing so much, without embarrassing those who hate to admit they can't read, to learn to be able to read and to enjoy all the wonders of the printed word.

Yours, Lulabelle

K. of C. Holds Annual Family Picnic

The Knights of Columbus, Joseph Barry Council, held their annual family picnic at Cantiague Park on August 7th.

To start the day Mass was celebrated by Father Liu of St. Ignatius Parish. This mass was the kick-off of a campaign the Knights of Columbus are having to "Keep Christ in Christmas." They have sent many of the merchants in Hicksville a letter asking their participation. They are trying to make this a unified community affair by getting everyone involved with their basic Christmas spirit. They are asking anyone who would like to participate to call John Hartly at 935-3291.

Following the Mass, attended by more than 400, everyone joined in the fun and games—food and drinks—to make this one of the best family picnics ever.

Conservation and Restoration of Fine Furniture

by PETER TRIESTMAN

"Fine wooden furniture and antiques must be maintained regularly to preserve their beauty and integrity," according to experts in the field of restoration. Olek Lejbzon & Co., with nearly 40 years in the industry, is definitely expert in the arts of wood refinishing, conservation and restoration. Care of furniture, like any other object of worth is ongoing, and far more costly and time consuming if the piece has been neglected.

Oil and wax finishes must be dusted frequently and waxed carefully. If too much wax builds up, it leaves the wood surface unevenly dark, requiring careful cleaning to remove the excess wax and accumulated grime. The removal process is precise, requiring the appropriate solvents to prevent discoloration of the wood.

Lacquered furniture may be touched up, the finish "burned in" with stains and colored lacquer sticks to fill dents or scratches. Lacquer should last for many years with minimal care. It should be waxed or French polished every few years to extend the life of the finish. French polishing cleans the surface, adding body and improving the lustre.

If you notice "checking" a hair-like texture on the surface of your lacquered furniture, refinishing should be done to prevent further damage...this involves several steps: washing, bleaching, staining, lacquering and rubbing. The original finish is removed, exposing the raw wood. The wood is then bleached or stained to ensure uniform color. The lacquering process involves one or two coats of sealant and eight to ten coats of lacquer (not the two or three spray coats applied by most manufacturers). Between each coat, the surface must be wet-sanded and fine polished with pumice on the early coats, rottenstone on the final coats. Relacquering is a labor-intensive process that produces a deep, glowing stain or glossy finish. A stitch in time saves nine.

Structural maintenance prevents more than damage to furniture loosened joints can cause a chair to collapse, and incur injury to an occupant. Chair legs and rails are subjected to extremely high stress and loose joints can cause fractures. Don't ignore these "early warning signs": creaking, flexing or wobbling, loose backs or rungs, it's only a matter of time before real damage occurs.

A qualified furniture repairer or restorer will utilize the same techniques that were used in the original manufacturing process, to avoid detracting from the looks or value of the piece.

The customer should check the restorer's credentials and workmanship to ensure the quality of the finished job. Olek Lejbzon & Co. is located at 600 W. 57th St., New York City (212/240-5688).

Home Improvement Protections Strengthened

A new state law increasing consumer protection from unscrupulous contractors went into effect on March 1, 1988. The legislation: Chapter 421, Home Improvement Laws of 1987, affects most home improvement contracts valued at more than $500. The 1988 law states that contracts must be in writing, and subjects the contractor's handling of the consumer's funds to tighter controls.

Contracts must contain the contractor's name, address, telephone number and license number, if applicable.

It must bear notice that the homeowner has the right to cancel the contract within three (3) days and that the contract be written in "plain" English, describing clearly any other document that might be incorporated into the home improvement contract: i.e.: specifications, plans, other descriptive elements.

The homeowner must be given a copy of the contract, signed by the contractor, prior to start of the work. The contract may contain that any contractor or subcontractor not paid in accordance to the contract may enforce a claim against the homeowner through applicable lien laws.

There must be a clear description of payment schedule stating the state of completion required before any payment is due.

The definition of "home improvement contractor" is: "one who undertakes home improvements for a fee, whose prior 12-month total for such contracts exceeds $1500. No owner, landlord, co-tenant, condo board of managers or co-op corporation is a home improvement contractor."

"Owner" is defined as any homeowner, cooperative shareholder owner or residential tenant.

"Home improvement" is defined as: repairing, remodeling, altering, converting, modernizing or adding to residential property. It includes construction, erection, replacement or improvement of driveways, swimming pools, siding, insulation, roofing, win-

"There must be a clear description of payment schedule stating the state of completion required before payment..."

as must any contingencies that might materially affect the completion date. It must also state whether the parties have agreed (or not) that a completion date is "of the essence."

The contract must contain a description of work to be performed, materials to be provided to the homeowner (including make, model number or other identifying data, etc.), and the agreed price for work and materials.

Unless a bond is posted, a notice must be given to the homeowner that the contractor is, by law, required to deposit all advances received prior to substantial completion.

Notice must be given to the homeowner that other matters agreed to by both parties.

Approximate or estimated commencement and completion dates must be stated, dows, terraces, patios, fences, porches, garages, solar energy systems, flooring, basements and landscaping, as well as the goods and services which "are affixed to real property by the contractor so as to become part of that real property, whether or not severable therefrom," i.e. burglar alarms, texture coating, fencing, heating systems and air conditioning systems.

Specifically excluded are new home constructions, sale of materials without installation, sale of major freestanding appliances, and sale or installation of decorative goods or services such as draperies or carpets.

Homeowners are advised to consult an attorney for clarification of terms or contents before signing a home improvement contract or any other document.

Contract Bridge By Steve Becker

Some Players Talk Too Much

South dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH		EAST
▲ K 8 5		♥ 9
♥ K 7		♥ 10 8 3 2
♦ A K Q J		♦ 10 7 5 2
♣ K Q 6 4		♣ 9 5 3 2
WEST		SOUTH
♥ Q J 10 6		▲ A 7 4 3 2
♥ J 5 4		♥ A Q 9 6
♦ 8 6 4		♦ 9 3
♣ J 10 7		♣ A 8

The bidding:		North	East
South	West	3 ♦	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
3 ♥	Pass
6 ♠	Dble

Opening lead — jack of clubs.

Silence is frequently golden. There is no area of bridge where this maxim is more pertinent than in the doubling of a slam contract. There's so little to be gained by a double — usually 50 or 100 points — that it should be reserved only for hands where defeat is either close to 100 percent, or in special cases where the doubler is requesting a particular opening lead from partner.

West's one-word speech in this deal permitted declarer to score a slam that surely would have failed had West quietly passed throughout.

South took the club lead with the ace and realized that West's double had to be based entirely on his trump holding. He therefore led a low trump at trick two, and West played the ten to protect his two trump tricks. When East's nine appeared, South naturally felt confident that West had started with exactly four trumps.

Since the slam could now be salvaged only by a trump endplay, declarer temporarily abandoned further trump leads. Instead, he cashed the K-A of hearts and then ruffed the nine in dummy.

Next came the A-K-Q of diamonds, South ruffing dummy's queen to reduce his trump length. He now cashed the K-Q of clubs, discarding the queen of hearts to produce this position:

West		North	East
♠ Q J 6		♠ 8
		♦ J
		♣ 6
South		East
♠ A 7 4		Immateral

Dummy's eight of trumps was next led and ducked. West took his jack but was forced to return a spade from the Q-6 to South's A-7. So the slam was made. West didn't get the extra 100 points, and declarer scored 1,860 points.

That West could have defeated the contract by a low trump play at trick two is somewhat irrelevant. He just should have kept his big fat mouth tightly shut.

You Auto Know

By Dagmar Fors Karppl

My cousin Harold bought himself a bright green Pacer a while ago. He drove it to his apartment and parked it across the street under a street lamp. From his kitchen window, he could see it.

The next morning as he went in for breakfast, he looked out at his shiny new car, and all he saw was broken glass on the empty macadam. His car had been broken into and stolen.

Harold was covered by his insurance but the car had depreciated during the few miles from the dealer to his home. Not to be robbed of his pleasure, Harold went out and bought a Datsun Z! He was ripped off but not beaten.

Sometimes, there is nothing you can do but get over the loss, but...Geico has some advice.

More than 1 million auto thefts occur each year, according to James Holleran, vice president of claims for the Government Employees Insurance Companies (GEICO).

In 1987 auto thefts increased approximately 5 percent over the preceding year, with sports and luxury models topping the list. That translates into some $5 billion in losses to American consumers. One of every 40 registered cars is stolen or has some of its accessories or contents stolen.

"Whether you drive a flashy sports car, a luxury import or more basic model, you can take many steps to keep from becoming an auto theft victim," Holleran said. He suggests the following:

- Roll up your windows, lock your car and take your keys with you.
 - Park in well-lighted areas.
 - Take the time to lock all packages and valuable items in the trunk.
 - If you must park on a commercial lot, leave only your ignition key with the attendant. Don't leave any key unless it's absolutely required.
 - If you have a remote trunk lock in your glove compartment, be certain your glove compartment is locked.
 - Always carry your driver's license and registration in your wallet, not in the glove compartment or under a floor mat.
 - Consider installing an anti-theft device in your car. Many insurance companies offer a discount to car owners with such devices.
- "Thieves look for ease and opportunity when stealing a car," Holleran said. "By not taking a few simple precautions, you help provide them a quick, easy getaway. Believe it or not, every fifth car stolen in the United States has the keys in the ignition.
- "Of course, even a sophisticated alarm system may not protect your car from a professional thief," Holleran said. "But a little extra effort on your part could mean the difference between deterring a less-skilled thief and suffering the headaches that come with a stolen car."

If you do not have enough time to read this article, then just take note that rear seat belts should be snug and low on the bones of the pelvis, not across the soft organs of the abdomen.

This advice comes from Diane K. Steed, administrator of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, in her article which follows, entitled "Rear Seat Belts: Should You Wear Them?"

For the most part, Americans are a practical people, disinclined to take things at face value, and suspicious of inflated claims. Long ago, one group of citizens earned Missouri the nickname of the "Show Me" state through their notorious refusal to accept anything on faith.

Many Americans have another tendency, too. Whenever a person or idea attracts more than a certain amount of popular support, suddenly there appears a swarm of critics anxious to present a negative opposing view. But criticism is healthy and the truth will always prevail, we say.

Well, in that spirit, let me give you a few practical truths about a very good idea that should have much greater support, but which is beginning to attract some corrosive, ill-founded criticism. And that idea is safety belt use in automobiles.

For decades, there was no such thing as a safety belt in an automobile. It took a long period of education, legislation and regulation to bring us to where we are today—a national consensus that safety belts save lives, that children should be buckled up (laws in every state say so), and that adult safety belt use is a very good idea (32 states and the District of Columbia have safety belt use laws).

Today, 42 percent of Americans are buckling up, the highest belt usage ever. But we are already beginning to hear critics and naysayers. Lately, some television and newspaper reports have especially taken aim at rear seat lap belts, the ones that don't have a second part coming down over the shoulder. They are even calling them "killer belts." What are the facts? If you are in the back seat of a car, should you buckle the lap belt?

The answer is yes, absolutely. Safety belts aren't magic, but they will help you survive a crash. Basing criticism on the relatively few times when they don't help is like condemning antibiotics for an entire population because a few people have an adverse reaction to them. Here are the facts, which, as practical Americans, you can evaluate for yourselves:

—Last year, more than 2,100 persons were killed because they were not wearing belts in the rear seat of an automobile.

—The overall fatality risk of back seat passengers is reduced by 17 to 26 percent through lap belt use.

—The back seat is generally a much safer place to be than the front seat. That's especially true in a frontal crash. And in a non-frontal crash, such as a rollover, you are 34 to 43 percent safer in the rear seat with a buckled belt than with the belt unbuckled.

—Lap belts in the rear seat could have saved an estimated 660 lives and prevented 10,200 serious injuries in 1987, if usage were 100 percent.

It's important to wear the belt properly. Place the belt snug and low on the bones of the pelvis, not across the soft organs of the abdomen.

Would it be better to have three point lap and shoulder belts in the rear seats? Yes. By 1990, virtually every passenger car sold in the U.S. will have lap and shoulder belt combinations in the rear seats. Manufacturers are already installing them voluntarily because safety has become an important marketing consideration in America. The critics will counter that the government has been "too slow" in advocating rear lap-shoulder belts. But keep in mind that it has only been recently that Americans began using safety belts at all! In 1982, only 11 percent of Americans buckled up, and even fewer did so in the rear seats. Safety belts had not come of age. Now that close to half of all Americans are belted routinely, rear lap-shoulder belts are beginning to enter the marketplace.

Those are the facts. Life has no guarantees and there will be crashes which no lap belt, shoulder belt, or airbag can protect against. There may even be a situation in which a lap belt causes an injury. But the evidence is clear: front seat or rear seat, you are better off with a properly adjusted safety belt than without one. Buckle up!

Hicksville Kids-For-Kids Charity Tournament News

By Charlotte Anstey

The second annual Hicksville Kids-For-Kids Charity Tournament was held August 27. This year we collected $1,700 for the A.H.R.C. (Association for the Help of Retarded Children). Not only did individuals contribute, but the H.B.A. (Hicksville Baseball Association) donated $200 and they contributed all the profits from their snack stand. Thank you Hicksville.

This year HBA, Hicksville PAL and St. Ignatius CYO sent two teams each to compete. The camaraderie exhibited by all these teams was exemplary. Kerri McCarthy, one of the children from the A.H.R.C., threw out the first ball to start our games. Al Ciccio, who organizes this event each year, deserves a special thanks from all of us.

The results of the games are as follows: In the 12-years old girls' first game between HBA and St. Ignatius CYO, HBA won. In the second game between Hicksville PAL and HBA, Hicksville PAL won. The Hicksville PAL named Gina Abarno and Dawn Connors as MVP's.

In the 13-years old boys' first game between St. Ignatius and HBA, St. Ignatius CYO won. St. Ignatius CYO named Adam Greco as the MVP in this game. In the second game between St. Ignatius CYO and Hicksville PAL, St. Ignatius CYO won again. St. Ignatius CYO named Joe Rizzo as MVP in the second game. Gerry Cooney (Heavyweight Boxer) and Gary Howitt, Bobby Nystrom and Pat Flatley of the Islanders (past and present) made this day especially special for everyone. These gentlemen deserve a special thank you, not only from the ball players and participants, but also from the entire Hicksville community for coming to this event. They signed autographs, had pictures taken and were just all around good guys to the kids (parents too!).

We would like to put some pictures in the paper. We are especially looking for the winning teams. Anyone who took pictures and would like to donate them to the cause, please put them in an envelope and leave them in the mailbox at 43 Wishing Lane, Hicksville. We would appreciate all pictures and articles for publication being channeled through this address. Please keep in mind that not all photos can be used due to space limitations.

We were very fortunate to have the following dignitaries at this game: Father Harrah (St. Ignatius R.C. Church), Greg Simonelli (HBA President), Buz Doyle (HBA Vice-President), Joe Bentrewicz (Hicksville PAL President), Police Officer in Charge Bill Toelstade (Hicksville PAL), Gary Lewis (St. Ignatius CYO President), Joan Famiglietti (St. Ignatius Team Coordinator), Quintin Hanner (St. Ignatius CYO Treasurer), Fran Quinn (St. Ignatius CYO Director Girls Softball), Charlotte Anstey (Hicksville PAL Recording Secretary), Pat Rooney (Hicksville School Board Trustee) and the Nassau County Police Mounted Unit.

After the dignitaries had been announced, Hicksville's own marching band, The Sound of Long Island, led by Directors Mat Veldran and Nick Yaworski, gave a tremendous performance. They could not do all their routines since this was a stop-over on their way to a competition in Connecticut.

Half-time entertainment was provided by Our Lady of Mercy Lucky Stars and the Hicksville PAL Sparklers twirling organizations. The girls ages on these teams ranged from 10 years old to 15 years old and they gave some exhibition of twirling. Hicksville Our Lady of Mercy Lucky Stars twirlers were represented by: Eileen Hegmann, Maria Sacardi, Melissa Young and Mary Decker. The Hicksville PAL Sparklers twirlers were: Shabana Master (Middle School), Melinda Foresta (Lee Avenue School), Kristen Anstey (Lee Avenue School) and Diana West (Middle School). Soloists from the Hicksville PAL were: Kristen Anstey with a modeling routine, Shabana Master with a dance-twirl routine and Melinda Foresta with a fire routine. Soloists from Our Lady of Mercy were: Theresa Cicardi with a modeling routine.

A big thank you to the Color Guard members: Daniel Ciccio, Ian Rasmussen, Chester Zebrowski, Jim Walker, Michael DelBagno and Jason West. You did a terrific job guys.

Note: Because of the Hicksville Kids-For-Kids Charity Games, our articles have been put on hold. Please look in up-coming issues of the paper for up-dates on your children. Thanks for your patience.

Ebbets Field Captures Cantiague Title

The Ebbets Field Cafe Softball Team won the American League Play-off Championship recently, bringing home the trophy from the Cantiague Park League.

In August, the team swept through the double elimination Roosevelt Beach play-offs without a loss, and won the championship. The team took that unbeaten streak and continued sweeping through the 16 team double elimination play-off tournament at Cantiague Park.

The Ebbets squad, in the last four games, scored 89 runs, including a 7 run second inning against Sports Shack in Babylon. Per game average is 22.2.

Ebbets Field victories included Hampton Salvage 17-4, Sports Shack Babylon 31-0, Call

Box Pub Seaford 29-4, and Legenz Pub 12-5.

The team played excellent defense along with an awesome display of offense. Mike Donahue had four home runs and 14 RBIs, Ebbets Field Cafe's Craig Riley was picked as the play-off MVP.

Craig has had a sensational season, hitting 37 home runs, 123 runs batted in and an unbelievable .706 batting average. He played minor league baseball for the New York Mets at Tide-water, as a catcher, until 1985. This shows why he hit eight home runs in his last four play-off games (fence shots) and drove in 24 runs. Watch out Gary Carter.

The Ebbets team is now off and hoping to bring back a championship in the Brattleboro Vermont Tournament. Good luck, guys.

CYO News St. Ignatius Loyola

By Barbara Lewis

Looking Back Over Baseball And Softball Season

St. Ignatius had a very successful baseball and softball season. Our registration went up from last year by more than 100 children. In softball, we were able to have three divisions. This year we sent letters to organizations and businesses in our area, to become sponsors. We are delighted for the great response.

We had a great showing of our youths in the Memorial Day Parade. And we also introduced a new program "Cheerleading" for all girls. They really added a sparkle to CYO. Another first for CYO, we conducted a Banner Contest during the parade, with one winning team in each division. The winning teams were treated to free Carvel.

In June, we held our Annual Coaches Picnic/Softball Game, for all coaches and their families. Just a little "Thank You" to all our devoted parents who take time to coach throughout the year.

Our Travel Teams made us really proud this year. All our teams are very dedicated young men, and receive a lot of support from their families. The 5th grade Travel Team was entered in the HBA Tournament this summer. This same team won the "Diocese Championship 1988". The 7th grade Travel Team won "Sectional Championship". CYO defeated HBA All-Star Team 10-4 and PAL All-Star Team 16-6 in the Kids for Kids Charity Tournament to benefit the Association for the Help of Retarded Children.

Events Coming Up

Sept. 15, CYO will be holding their monthly meeting in the Old School basement at 8 p.m. All are welcome to attend. Sept. 18 and 25, We will be holding registration for basketball, cheerleading and volleyball, between the hours 10 a.m.-1 p.m. in the Old School basement.

Trophy Night will be held on October 22, at 7 p.m. in the auditorium.

Mark all those calendars for our New Year's Eve Dance. We will be selling raffles for a 10" Color TV and Basket of Cheer to be raffled off that night, so check out those basketball courts to get your raffles.
