

Neighbors Concerned About Zone Request

By Catherine Tokar

Owners who want to sell the house on the corner of Park Avenue and Heitz Place have requested that the town board modify the 1959 restrictive covenant that only a doctor's office be permitted there. Neighbors are worried that another business might move in, expand parking and ruin the natural look of the area.

Walter and Monique Stillger, owners of 150 Park Ave. where a doctor's office once was located, and James Martino, of James Thomas Martino and Associates, Architects, who rent the house and plan to buy it, asked the town to lift the restrictive covenant at the Dec. 6 hearing.

Although the property is zoned G, for general businesses, such as churches, parks, offices, banks and restaurants, it is located in a residential neighborhood. According to Town Councilman Tom Clark, the restriction was placed on the homes in the area in the late 1950s, before the railroad was elevated. At that time, the town anticipated that the railroad would buy the property, but it never did. This left the homeowners in the G zone with properties valued higher than homeowners with houses located in a strictly residential zoned area, said Mr. Clark.

Mr. Martino wants to continue his business as an architect in the house, which he has rented for one year while awaiting the town hearing.

Residents' Concerns

Neighbors of 150 Park Ave. are more concerned with the physical appearance of the property should the restrictive covenants be lifted, rather than who occupies the house, a doctor or architect. Several residents are especially interested in the fate of the undeveloped lot adjacent to the house.

Isabelle Davidson, a Hicksville resident for 39 years, said she does not oppose the change of occupants; however, she is greatly concerned about the possibilities of the parking lot expanding into the undeveloped lot and reaching her property line at 164 Park Ave. Currently, seven parking spaces occupy the property.

"They should leave the parking as it is; there's enough of it," said Mrs. Davidson. "But in the summer time, the empty lot is a disgrace - it's all grown up with trees and weeds."

Mrs. Davidson added that the "eerie-looking" lot should be cleaned, not cleared, and a fence should separate her property from the Stillger property. "I've been paying taxes here since 1949 and I don't deserve this monstrosity," she said. "They should clean it up."

At the Dec. 6 hearing, Dominick Minerva, attorney for Mr. Martino, said that if the restrictions are lifted, his client would not alter the property. "The back of the property is trees and wild looking, so Mr. Martino wants to leave it that way," he said.

In a telephone interview, Mr. Minerva said, "Mr. Martino wants to keep the property as it is because it is suitable for his operation."

Mr. Clark said that the architect does not plan to expand the parking lot from its current seven spaces, but "the next owner may need more," and the town will have to include in the new covenant and restrictions that if the operation changes, more parking can be added because the property is in a G zone.

Another resident, James Frankson of Heitz Place, told the town board that he would like to see fencing along the back perimeter of the property where the unlandscaped lot stands. Saying he is concerned with the maintenance of the property, Mr. Frankson asked, "What is the long-term projection? What will they build back there?"

Gail Davidson, Isabelle's daughter who also lives at 164 Park Ave., said she does not want to look out of her living room window and see a parking lot. Presently, the Davidson's see the undeveloped lot from the one side of their house. "I don't want a parking lot in my living room," she said.

West John Street Chosen for Group Home Due to Close Proximity to Public Facilities

By Rita Langdon

Hicksville's West John Street is a prime location for a group home because of its proximity to surrounding public facilities, the sponsoring agency said at the Northwest Civic Association meeting last week.

The residents who will live at the proposed home at 302B West John Street are no longer in need of hospitalization, said Kenneth Moskowitz, certified social worker and project director of the Community Residence Program at Central Nassau Guidance and Counseling Services, Inc., Hicksville. They are placed in homes like these to help make the adjustment or readjustment process back into the community easier.

Professionals work with patients at various levels of day-to-day activities such as cooking, cleaning and budgeting money. Residents are initially escorted and supervised in using local community resources such as the bank, post office, library and community recreational facilities.

The residents of this home are not violent or dangerous, said Roy Burnham Jr., president of the board of directors for Central Nassau. Each occupant is carefully screened and they are not chosen to be put into the home if the agency (Central Nassau) feels that they will pose a threat to the community. The residents also have to "want" to be at the home, said Mr. Moskowitz. "If the person doesn't want to be there, he or she is not accepted." He added that they will be supervised 24 hours a day.

Responding to a Need

Mr. Burnham said that Central Nassau is responding to a need for more group homes on Long Island and is not just targeting Hicksville.

"It's really a housing problem because there's no place for them to live," said Neal Millman, ACSW, executive director of Central Nassau. He added that the community residence program is an alternative to forcing people to stay in the hospital who really don't need to be there.

Karen Mankin, a New York State Office of Mental Health program specialist, said that there are about 70 group homes in Nassau County. The Office of Mental Health controls about nine and the Office of Mental Retardation has about 60. "They're all over the county," she said. "There are many communities that have two or three homes."

Some towns which have group homes or are in the process of getting them are Plainville, Hewlett, Woodmere, Westbury, Massapequa, Bellmore, Wantagh, Glen Cove, Glen Head and Syosset. Hicksville has one group home on Violet Avenue and another at 499 Jerusalem Avenue which is in the process of being opened. That home will be operated by Central Nassau.

Residents' Reactions

Some residents said they were in favor of the group home and others were opposed.

"The people really have no place to go," said one resident. "We don't know that 'Joe Jones' next door is not going to crack. There's no guarantee in this life. Under supervision it might work. I think they should be given a chance."

Another resident said that she was opposed to the home because it is located around the corner from an elementary school. She also said that drugs are readily available near the Wantagh Parkway.

Others said that they were concerned about the vehicles parked on the property, noting that drivers can't park on West John Street. Mrs. Mankin said that most of the residents will not have access to a vehicle. She added that the maximum number of vehicles on the property would be two or three.

One resident said that the traffic on West

John Street is dangerous and that she does not let her children walk on that street. In response, Mr. Burnham said, "I don't think there's any place you can deem perfectly safe."

Residents were also concerned as to whether preference would be given to Hicksville residents to live in the home. Mr. Millman said that although the state can recommend patients, Central Nassau has the final decision as to who will live in the home. Mr. Millman added that the residents will probably come from Hicksville or the surrounding areas.

House Renovations

After the house is renovated, there will be six bedrooms, two resident staff bedrooms, an office for the staff and a recreation room. No exterior renovations will be done except for regular maintenance of the grounds. All construction of the home is approved by the state and is in conformance with codes, said Mr. Burnham.

The cost of the home is $290,000, Mr. Burnham said. He noted that the agency paid less than what the builder asked.

Dieters Experience Successful Weight Loss

Every year millions of Americans strive to slim down through an overwhelming number of weight loss methods, from diet pills to aluminum wraps, spending close to a total of $2 billion dollars in the process. Unfortunately, of those who lose any weight at all, most regain all of it within one year.

However, more than 350,000 Americans, most recently noted talk show host Oprah Winfrey, are experiencing successful weight loss through the medically supervised, supplemented fasting: The OPTIFAST Program.

The OPTIFAST Program, which is available at more than 450 hospitals and medical centers nationwide, including Central General Hospital in Plainville, is designed for people who need to lose at least 50 pounds or 30 percent of their body weight. It combines a supplemented fast with behavior modification, nutritional education and increased lifestyle activity.

of Oyster Bay has 40 days since the time they were notified of the center's plan, to determine if the area is already saturated. (Saturation, in this sense, is an overabundance of these types of facilities).

If the town says nothing within the 40 days, the center can establish the home, or the town can suggest an alternate Hicksville site within the 40 days. This does not mean that the state's office of Mental Health will accept the suggested site, said Mrs. Mankin. The town was notified of the center's plan Nov. 3.

Central Nassau, a non-profit organization, has been located in Hicksville, for 17 years. According to the Central Nassau, it is preferable for a voluntary, non-profit agency to sponsor a community residence because it is easily available to community members who might have problems with the residence. "In effect it's local concerns being addressed by local organizations. If there's a problem you have recourse to a local agency. You don't have to call Albany," said Mr. Burnham.

He added, "The state will continue to deinstitutionalize people. These people who are discharged will have to have somewhere to go. They have to have an alternative other than living on the streets which I think denigrates the community."

In addition to supplemented fasting, patients participate in group sessions to learn new behaviors and ways of coping with the stresses of weight loss. The seminars are conducted by a behaviorist trained in obesity treatment. Patients also attend education sessions to learn the value of food and how to shop and prepare food.

When dieters are asked why they want to lose weight, most cite thinner bodies as the reason. For Winfrey, who recently lost 60+ pounds on The OPTIFAST Program at Lutheran General Hospital at Lincoln Park in Chicago, her dream was to fit into her size 10 Calvin Kleins. But, more importantly, results of recent scientific investigations show that weight loss has important health implications.

of Harrison Avenue, also wants the property to stay as it is, with no future development. "Black-topping the lot would ruin the natural look of the area," he told the town board. "It is fine as it is, just clean it up and put up a fence."

Since Mr. Martino has rented the house for the past year while awaiting a hearing date, he will not be penalized for violating the current restrictive covenant, said Mr. Clark.

The town board will review the hearing transcript and residents' correspondence and will then vote on the request to lift the restrictive covenant. "It will be a while, though, before the board reaches a decision," said Ms. Kastleman. Residents have until Dec. 20 to comment on the zone change request.

Town Board Places 21 Restrictions on Garage

The Oyster Bay Town Board imposed 21 restrictive covenants on a special use permit in Hicksville, according to Town Councilwoman Ann R. Ocker.

The applicants, Brooklyn Avenue Associates and Slomin's Inc., were seeking a special use permit to allow for the use and maintenance of a public garage to house, store and repair trucks, trailers and automobiles, and to use and maintain office space at the premises, located at 125 Lauman Lane in Hicksville, Ocker said. Pursuant to a public hearing held on June 21, the Board has approved the special use permit, subject to 21 restrictive covenants.

The Board covenanted that the interior of office space be limited to 22,500 square feet with the remaining space to be utilized as warehouse and garage space and that no changes can be made to the exterior dimensions of the building. At no time can the garage portion of the building be sublet by the applicants.

Food & Clothing Collection

Contributions are accepted at any time during the week between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. If you care to donate and the hours of collection conflict with your schedule, call 681-2221 and ask for Ted Swedalla or Bob Casale so alternate arrangements may be made. Contributions will be accepted until Dec. 19. This program is made possible through the efforts of Sister Kathleen Murphy who is head of St. Ignatius Human Services. Liberty Plumbing is located at 3 Burns Ave.

The board required that the servicing of trucks and other motor vehicles and equipment be limited to those owned or operated by the occupant and that all repair work is to be conducted indoors. Parking will only be permitted in designated areas and driveway areas will remain open at all times. Noise alteration panels are to be installed on the interior of the south wall of the garage and garage doors are to remain closed during working hours except to allow vehicles and equipment in or out of the building.

Ocker noted that no building permit or certificate of occupancy will be issued until a site plan has been submitted to, and approved by, the Town Board. The plan must be to scale and show the location of all buildings on the property, all access and egress, layout and striping of all parking areas, location and type of lighting, landscaping, location, size and type of signs, and any other information requested by the Department of Planning and Development.

The Colors of Christmas

There are many colors of Christmas, and it can be because of seasonal or weather conditions there. It is also the result of mood and relationship changes.

Clear is the color of rain; or the clear night we really like to see.

Some of us live in a state or region, and on Christmas Eve, we see a beautiful blanket of white, known as snow. It is cold and our faces and hands turn red.

Red is also present, when we see poinsettias, they are also white. We see Santas in stores or streets, and they wear red suits. Red is for Holly, bows on wreaths, tree decorations and gift wrap.

Green is ever present in Christmas trees and wreaths, and along with red makes the season bright.

We can't forget blue, although in some ways, we don't want to see it at Christmas. It represents our feeling of loss of loved ones by death or separation. Or a terribly lonely feeling, becoming sick and being all alone.

All of these colors and others make Christmas... the cards sent and received... the people we wrote to... phoned, or visited.

A Story...

In the early '70s Rosemary Byrne was working as a Supervisor of Nurses at Cabrini Medical Center in New York. She had a young girl Jimmy Jub from Taiwan put under her care. Jimmy could only speak a few words of English. Rosemary said that she applied herself so well that not only did she learn English but she went on to get her BS in Nursing and became a night supervisor at Cabrini Medical Center. In the meantime she decided to become a Catholic and she asked Rosemary and her late husband John to be her godparents.

When she decided to get married she asked Rosemary to act as her American mother—to sign papers, etc. Rosemary was delighted to be given such an honor. In 1976 Jimmy married Raymond Kwa, M.D. a cardiologist. They now have two children—both named after her American mother: Rosemary and Mary Ann.

Last Sunday, Rosemary was honored at dinner at the Milleridge Inn by Jimmy, Raymond, Rosemary and Mary Ann Kwa—her Taiwan family.

Rosemary said, "I am so very proud of Jimmy!"

Art Society's Show Is a Huge Success

The Independent Art Society's 13th annual art show was a huge success and a great credit to the Society's show staff under the able guidance of member Harry Martin and President, Anne Zief. Each entry held its own elegance and the quality of craftsmanship was indeed impeccable.

A reception was held on Nov. 6 at the Hicksville Public Library, replete with pianist and some rather tasty hors'oeuvres, which held their own renown. At this time numerous awards were given to proud artists. The winners were: IAS Awards of Excellence - William Graf, Selma Kriss, Gordon Inyard, Bill Fitzpatrick, Arleen Ruetz Urban, Sandy Frank; Friends of the Library Award - Kathleen Cheslock; Pearl Paint Award - Elaine Vosburg; Dick Blick Award - Shain Bard; Jerry's Artarama - Richard F. Goldhaber; Crumbacher gold Plaque - Albert Young; Honorable Mention - Michele D. Barnes, Mario Castro, Carolyn L. Clarke, Audrey M. Ribarich, Ilse Poike, Sally Cohen, Anne Zief, Gregory Fleck, Myron Hirsch, M.C. Wenk, Nancy Wernersbach; Town of Oyster Bay Awards - Albert Young, Caroline Goldsmith, L. Chaplin, Denisse Altavilla, Richard F. Goldhaber. To all a hearty congratulations.

Hicksville Kiwanis Continues Membership Drive

Hicksville Kiwanis Club President Tony Citrola plans to continue building up the membership of the club during his term in office. As a means of accomplishing this goal, he began with the appointment of several sub-committee assignments in the general membership category. Barbara Dale accepted the responsibility for "membership retention". Beth Dalton agreed to zero in on "new membership".

The general membership of the Hicksville Kiwanis Club was advised some time ago that November 30 was the date to invite possible prospective new members to a "Membership Roundup" luncheon to learn about Kiwanis, meet some of the members, and consider becoming a Kiwanis. Eleven prospects were introduced at this informative good-humored meeting by their hosts.

Beth Dalton, as membership roundup chairman, welcomed the guests, thanked them for coming, and introduced the scheduled speakers. The first speaker John Gridley, past lieutenant governor of the Kiwanis Long Island North Division, and currently serving as New York District Chairman for the Kiwanis International Foundation, explained the organizational structure of Kiwanis, and the relationship of the local club to the division, to the district, and to Kiwanis International. He emphasized the fact that Kiwanis clubs exist primarily to serve their community and be of help to others, and at the same time can enjoy fun-filled meetings and related social experiences. Speaking as the past lieutenant governor John complimented the Hicksville club for their many diversified accomplishments, and said that he was especially impressed with the dedication of the lady Kiwanians in the Hicksville Club.

President Tony Citrola spoke on the subject of "What the Hicksville Kiwanis Club has been doing". Immediate Past President Charles Montana, Jr., reviewed "What the Hicksville Kiwanis Club accomplished over the years". Membership Retention Chairman Barbara Dale discussed the need to keep in touch with all members, to encourage active participation in club sponsored activities and to influence more members to attain perfect attendance. Barbara volunteered the information that she had found her past year of perfect attendance at meetings, as well as her involvement in Kiwanis activities extremely rewarding.

Busy Month at Lee

November was quite a busy month for Lee Avenue students. On Nov. 1 Sarah Wilson and her dog, Kessel, visited the school as part of the Humane Education Program given by P.A.W.S.

On Nov. 9, Clifford The Dog helped distribute books at the RIF (Reading is Fundamental) program.

The winners of the Candy Corn Contest received prizes on Nov. 23. One winner from each grade received a $10 Toys-R-Us gift certificate. Also on the 23rd, kindergarten students dressed up in costumes and enjoyed a turkey dinner.

Holiday Carnival

Woodland Avenue School in Hicksville held its annual holiday carnival recently. The event, sponsored by the Woodland Avenue P.T.A. was a tremendous success. Games booths were set up in the school's gym for the children's entertainment. Games such as ring-toss, Woody's Wheel (Woodland's version of Wheel of Fortune), bean bag toss, the Black Hole, and many more games kept the children busy and happy for hours. Game booth chairperson Lorraine Agosto did a great job.

This year's raffle prizes were terrific. Profits from the raffle and crafts table were donated to the school's sixth grade toward their annual camping trip. Woodland alumni worked hard at face and nail painting which entertained the young children.

There was also a white elephant table, organized by Mrs. Sue Murphy (funds were donated to SEPTA), bakers Cheri Mulholland and Marianne Zeller prepared a table full of home-baked goods and sixth grade moms and dads worked hard in the

Holiday Tasting

On the day before Thanksgiving, the Burns Avenue children in Mrs. Grumo's A.M. and P.M. kindergarten classes and Mrs. Oliveri's and Mrs. Blauboer's second grade classes feasted on nutritious and delicious snack foods. This "tasting party" was held in conjunction with the children's study of "The First Thanksgiving" and the "Growing Healthy" units which focus on good health habits, nutrition and anti-smoking and drug awareness. Each kindergartener came dressed in an Indian vest, beaded necklace and headband. These costumes were made in class under the direction of Mrs. Grumo. The second graders came dressed as pilgrims. Each child also designed a personalized placemat which was taken home as a memento of the day. The children enjoyed sampling applesauce, natural peanut butter, popcorn, Thanksgiving stew, peanut butter pudding and peanut butter honey puffs, all of which were prepared and cooked by the kindergarteners and second graders together in class.

In addition, the class mothers and parent helpers prepared and serve fresh fruit slices, fresh vegetables and dip, jello and apple sauce. The children entertained their teachers, parents and invited guests, Dr. F.E. Burke, principal and Dr. Catherine Fenton, superintendent of schools, with songs, dances and a rousing rendition of the song "Peanut Butter."

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity.

We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only.

We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

The Holiday Season

To The Editor:

With the holiday season now upon us, we approach this special time of year, where all people should come together to form a common bond, to wish good health and holiday cheer to our friends and neighbors.

During this time of celebration, the greatest gift is to give of ourselves by making the holidays a little brighter for those less fortunate.

Do keep in mind when you are out celebrating, that drinking and driving do not mix. I urge you to please not turn this enjoyable time with your family and friends, into a potential tragedy for yourself and others.

This being my first holiday season as your Town Clerk, it is my honor and privilege to send you my warmest wishes for a Happy Chanukah, Merry Christmas and a Happy and Healthy New Year.

"Scouting for Food"

To The Editor:

The Cub Scouts and leaders of Cub Pack 382, of Lee Avenue School in Hicksville, wish to extend their thanks to all the members of the community who supported the "Scouting for Food" program of the Boy Scouts of America on November 19. The Lee Avenue Cub Scouts, parents and leaders collected from the families in this area more than 4,000 generously donated food items. The support from these giving families was deeply appreciated by all the Pack members participating in the food drive and our thanks cannot be expressed strongly enough.

It has been reported that all the scouts in Nassau County collected from giving community members more than 120,000 food items totalling over 60 tons in weight. This food was distributed to 37 different agencies that operate within our county. All who participated in the food drive have been touched by the caring support of the community.

Again, Cub Pack 382 thanks its Lee Avenue area families for their support.

A Tribute to Reuben

By Rev. Dr. Theodore S. Grant

Today a man was buried. It was a beautiful service. Three clergymen conducted the service with reverence and dignity. A TV camera crew photographed the event. The church was filled with an array of people from all walks of life, rich, poor, young and old. Children from the parochial school filled the choir stalls. At yesterday's viewing people filed by the casket in a continual procession. There was standing room only at the prayer service held at the funeral home. The only empty chairs were in the front row reserved for the family. They were empty because he had no family.

The newspaper printed a large picture of this man on the obituary page and devoted a half a page of print to tell his story.

From all appearances one would think that the deceased was a dignitary, a political figure, clergyman or someone of high position and status. However, the man who was buried today was a man without a home. A man without any worldly possessions. The man who was buried today was Reuben Rodriguez. He was the man who walked the streets of Hicksville collecting discarded cans and bottles. From early morning until dusk, Reuben pushed his shopping cart laden with what the world discarded. Like the items in his shopping cart, Reuben was a discarded individual.

But why the response of all these people? What was there about this man that brought teenagers and the elderly and parents with their children to pay their respect? Reuben had become a friend.

I cannot remember when our community was moved to such a degree. Instead of a pauper's funeral, he was buried like a man of renown. What was it about this man that touched us so deeply? It wasn't pity, for Reuben was a proud man, a gentle man. Was it fear that but for the grace of God that could be me? Was it envy? Did Reuben find a way to beat the system? No more commuting, fighting the traffic, worrying about bills and taxes and the high cost of health care. I believe it was something deeper and more basic that

Reuben brought to us in his years of wandering our streets before his sudden death.

Reuben was a man with a mission. He did not leisurely wander about without direction or purpose. He pushed his cart with a determination as a man with an important goal. His smile and hearty wave to those who passed him did not slow him down. He walked the streets as if he had appointed rounds to complete. Perhaps this man's mission was to bring our community to a new insight and understanding of life and faith.

Reuben removed the fear of the homeless from our hearts. His smile and melancholy eyes disarmed us so we could know a human being, not a derelict. He was a familiar friend, who brought a sense of security when we waved back. He brought a deeper meaning to giving. If you gave him a few empty soda cans he would give you words of appreciation and leave you with a feeling of goodness and joy in your heart.

Reuben brought hope, this hard working man wasn't complaining that the price of the deposit on the cans was too low. He never complained that the world was unfair. There was no anger and blame for his predicament. He made peace with himself and was in harmony with the world.

Perhaps the mission of this homeless, penniless man was to remind us that man does not live by bread alone. The value of a human being is not to be measured by the extent of his worldly possessions, or their outward appearance. There was a mystery about Reuben wandering our streets and touching the hearts of our community. He awakened in us the sense that there are other dimensions to the events of life.

I have known Reuben and he touched my life and I have grown. There are many Reubens in our community waiting to touch our hearts. Reuben said to us, "Do not be afraid of me. I am poor, I am homeless, I have bad teeth and I collect garbage. But, I too am God's child, I too am your brother. I too can give and love and care."

Reuben's Gift

By Effic C. Krogmann

Strange gift...a funeral. Why do people go to funerals, anyway? Think about that. Do we go because we're expected to? Do we go to be seen by others? Do we go to support and comfort the bereaved? Did the deceased belong to some group to which we belonged? Did he live in our neighborhood, go to our church, work in our office?

And while we're there, do we grieve - genuinely?—or just put on a sad face. Do we renew acquaintances with old friend & distant relatives? Do we, yes, socialize - even laugh, and make plans for the future that (thank God) we think we still have!

I went to a funeral (also referred to as a "wake") last weekend. It was a strange experience for me, and one that evoked deep spiritual feelings in those who attended. It was unlike any funeral I had ever attended before.

The deceased was known to many as "Reuben" some knew him as "Chico". The newspaper obituary was large enough to have been written for a great dignitary. Yet, Reuben was only a strange sort of happy-go-lucky little man with a free spirit. I walked to the casket and gazed at the man lying there in a very good quality donated casket—in bi and new clothes, in which he had never been before. Placed there with him were the pieces of his simple life—an empty soda can with a few plastic flowers poked through the hole, a baseball-type hat similar to the one which was usually his trademark, a change apron (this one brand new), like the one he wore when he helped the newspaper man at the Long Island Railroad Station, an advertising sign from a local tire company. So strange. And, oh yes, a heart-shaped pillow adorned with a few rosebuds, like the sort that is usually given by a small child to a loved one in such circumstances.

All day long a strange solemn procession of people had filed into the funeral home. Two hundred cards had disappeared from the lecturn where over two hundred had already signed the guest book. As the service at the funeral home was about to begin, the funeral director closed the door, and people took their seats. The front row with those two "special chairs" was empty. Family usually sits there. There was no family. As the Lutheran pastor read the comforting words of scripture, the door kept opening and more and more people came in. For Reuben it was "standing room only".

Reuben was a so-called "street person". He lived by his wits, earned what he needed to live in whatever way he could. He didn't drink or "do dope", and although he wasn't very pretty, he seemed to be everybody's friend. His vehicle was one of four shopping carts...each one emblazoned with the tire store's sign. He paid his own way, and didn't "take" from life, but rather "gave", whatever he could. He gave of himself. Most importantly, he made his way to mass every morning to worship his God.

He didn't belong in Potter's field, nor would his remains go there. In life, he had lived in a self-made packing-case shack in the trees. In death, he would be in a plot donated by a member of the community—snug in his most respectable donated casket and clothes. Oh yes, there were loads and loads of flowers—and many, many mass cards...

And at the funeral mass in the Catholic church, the donated hearse waited outside, while Reuben was carried in by very special pallbearers, men well-known in the community. This man had somehow touched so many people. The church was very crowded with people who genuinely felt a kinship with him, and perhaps with each other. They all wanted to be there. Even the television news people were there.

Haven't we all heard before about a man who had no occupation, no money, no house, who gave and didn't take, who was a friend to children, at one with the father, and who had also touched so many people? Strange timing...this being the season of Advent. He, too, was interred in a borrowed grave.

The gift? Reuben's gift was one of the spirit—so especially right in this yuletide season. A spirit which drew people to him and to each other. A spirit that perhaps will pervade this community and others like it. Scripture says: "Feed the hungry, clothe the naked, house the homeless, love my children"...Merry Christmas, Reuben.

The Night Before Christmas

Holiday Memories

The first time I remember seeing the book by Clement Moore entitled The Night Before Christmas, was when I was a child. My mother gave us children the book at Christmastime many years ago and we all shared it. There was much sharing between us.

The book was a tall book with illustrations on every page—some in color and some in black and white. When we read the book our imaginations would soar and we were filled with happiness. Sometimes we would enact every verse while one of us would read it aloud.

To this day I still look for copies of The Night Before Christmas to share with other children and to remember the joy in our time.

EDITORIAL AND OPINION

A Letter from Lulabelle...

...Are you frantic—sure that you'll never be done and Christmas will find us presents and no wrappings and no decorations and no dinner?...Well, cheer up and know that you are in a group of so many who feel just the same at this time every year...But, miracle of miracles, isn't it wonderful how it does all get done...In our family, we are completely convinced that gifts must be surprises—not for us any of this "I bought him a sweater and had him try it on and then I took it back and put it under the tree so he'd have something to open on Christmas"...We think that's terrible...It must be a surprise...and if it doesn't fit, think about that later...This year, I have become infatuated with these Santa-St. Nicholas figures from many eras and many countries...The ones I'm collecting are ten inches tall and made of a papier-mache-like material...Each is different—so far, I have one red, one green and one white robed Santa—and each has a different pack on his back and a toy dangling from his hand...There are many other kinds, some with real red or green robes of fabric and porcelain faces...They are new to me and make a great addition to all of the decorations I have been collecting for over forty years...It takes quite a few boxes to store them and I have a very difficult time throwing any of my precious things away, even when they are very decrepit...There's that funny little Santa, whose straw is sticking out and two angels, one red-headed and one blonde, whose wispy hair has to be reglued every Christmas, but who still must be used somewhere!...And I would like a real tree, but I have given in to a husband who is so afraid of fire that he always placed a fire extinguisher next to the tree when we had a real one...and I know that I could never stand to hear "I told you so" if I insisted on real and the house burned down—and the fakes are beautiful!

Yours, Lulabelle

What the Politicians are Saying...

From ASSEMBLYMAN Gregory R. Becker (R-C, Lynbrook): Free copies of the "I Love New York Winter Events" and "Skiing and Winter Events" guides are now available. The winter events guide outlines winter tours and holiday events scheduled through March, 1989. The Skiing and Winter Adventures booklet includes information on ski regions, adventure packages, winter sports other than skiing, and skier responsibilities in New York State. These guides list a toll free number for up-to-date ski conditions. Call 593-3980 for information about the guides.

A voluntary one semester intern program for New York's college and graduate students in the Department of State's 13 regional ombudsman offices has been announced for the upcoming semester by SECRETARY OF STATE GAIL S. SHAFFER. Interns may earn possible credits for helping regional representatives administer the Ombudsman Program, which helps citizens with questions or problems with state agencies. The assistance will include handling telephone inquiries, making contact with state agencies on the client's behalf, drafting responses to letters, research and occasional on-site inspections, all working closely with the offices of the Governor and Secretary of State. Locally, candidates should contact Tom Dejesu, Department of State, 114 Old Country Road, Mineola, N.Y. 11501, 747-0700.

From CONGRESSMAN NORMAN LENT: The 100th Congress passed the Coast Guard Authorization Bill, which provides $2.1 billion to operate the Coast Guard during 1989, an increase from $1.9 billion. The Coast Guard has a vital role in national defense and the protection of life and property at sea. Included in the bill was a provision directing the Coast Guard to make full use of the Coast Guard Auxiliary in rendering aid in non-emergency cases. This clarifies the interpretation under which the Coast Guard and the Auxiliary were precluded from assisting boaters in non-emergency cases. Now, the Auxiliary may provide towing assistance to distressed boaters if no response to a Marine Assistance Request Broadcast is received by the Coast Guard. This will promote boating safety and provide peace of mind for millions of recreational boaters.

As winter approaches, NASSAU COUNTY EXECUTIVE THOMAS S. GULOTTA has outlined the county's plan for the homeless. The services include Housing Assistance to help find permanent housing; a Homeless Helpline to handle evening and weekend referrals—535-4817 days or 542-3143 evenings and weekends; Homeless Shelters to provide temporary housing; and Outreach, informational flyers sent to low income families describing services available. Copies are sent to all service agencies, police precincts, hospitals, etc. Mr. Gulotta stressed that although the number of people requesting temporary housing placement is increasing, Nassau's homeless numbers continue to be much smaller than nearby suburban counties.

Capitol Hill Journal

By Martin Burns

Rep. Ted Weiss (D-NY), the chairman of the House Subcommittee on Human Resources and Intergovernmental Relations, announced this week that many disabled homeless men and women are not receiving the Social Security benefits they are entitled to because the Commissioner of the Social Security Administration (SSA), Dorcas Hardy, has failed to implement an outreach program mandated by law. Weiss made his statement after his subcommittee had completed a two year investigation of SSA.

will take center stage. The inaugural platform on the west front of the Capitol is progressing nicely. Work will begin on the reviewing stand for the inaugural parade in Lafayette Park directly across from the White House.

If you remember, in 1985 inclement weather forced the inauguration inside to the rotunda of the Capitol. Bad weather is almost an inaugural tradition. George Bush, like Ronald Reagan in 1981, will take the oath on the west front of the Capitol.

Last year, the Congress passed a measure which directed SSA to award grants to programs which would assist the homeless to receive the government benefits they may be eligible for. These programs were directed to help the homeless obtain permanent housing, food and medical care. In fiscal year 1988 SSA was authorized to award grants of $1.25 million and $2.5 in fiscal year 1989.

According to Weiss, SSA has yet to spend the monies.

It is interesting to note that while SSA has not spent the less than $4 million to help the homeless and mentally ill, it is wasting taxpayer moneys by not collecting funds that are owed it. According to the General Accounting Office (GAO), SSA has failed to collect approximately $10 million dollars in overpayments owed by U.S. citizens who reside outside the United States.

Throughout the campaign, George Bush made a commitment to do something about the problem of homelessness. A good first step for him would be to have SSA immediately implement the outreach programs.

Washington is getting ready for a party. In almost a month George Bush and Dan Quayle

Before Reagan, it had become traditional to have the ceremony on the east front. Reagan chose to make the change probably because it was an effective way to show that his was to be a different administration. Reagan was perhaps attracted to the west front with the view of the mall and the Washington Monument and Lincoln Memorial.

The festivities will begin on January 18th with a ceremony at the Lincoln Memorial. One very positive trend in this year's inaugural ceremonies is the fact that more of the events will be free and open to the public than in the past.

There will be several inaugural balls scattered across Washington. Like other Presidents and first ladies, the Bushs will try to attend as many as possible.

It is expected that on January 20th approximately half a million people will descend on Capitol Hill to watch George Bush take the oath of office. Security will be very tight and parking will probably be nonexistent. The most effective way to get around Washington on inauguration day will be the metro which may not be as glamorous as a long black limousine, but on inauguration day it may be the only way to avoid gridlock.

ROBERT R. McMILLAN'S

Direct Line

Let's give George Bush a chance. As the President-elect, he deserves the opportunity to lay out his plans for the future of the country. He cannot realistically do that until his people are appointed and in place. Responsible leaders of the Democratic Party have called for breathing room, and they should be supported.

It is customary for Presidents to be given a "honeymoon" as they take office. Some politicians are saying "no" and "not even a first date." Now, that is just wrong. The rhetoric was heated on both sides of the aisle during the campaign, and finger pointing as to who was first to use negative campaigning does not serve the country well. George Bush will be the next President, and he merits the support of all of us — as he outlines his vision of America. I believe it will be a "kinder and gentler" nation. When that vision is outlined and it does not fit the view of the nation, then, the nation should take time to express any differences.

The budget deficit alone is not the only issue to be dealt with. We must come to grips with subjects such as: acid rain; health care; a further reduction in nuclear weapons; affordable housing; the homeless; relations in Mexico and Central America; the Middle East; and the plague of drugs. While each Presidential candidate held forth on all of these issues while campaigning, it is one thing to talk about them, but quite another to lay out plans and then take action to implement the plans. What should the priorities be? Where will the money come from? But, central to all of the issues is the need to reduce the budget deficit and make sure the overall condition of our economy is not knocked off balance.

"Read my lips — no new taxes." This phrase was very strong, and Michael Dukakis also pledged no tax increases unless all else failed. It is absolutely clear that most Americans do not want new taxes — unless it is a tax on the other guy. Budget reduction talk is what we will hear the most about as our new President takes office. The Congress will end up cutting the budget. Some of those cuts will be in the military. Other cuts will be in the entitlements area — but, not in Social Security.

If George Bush is to build a "gentler and kinder" America, he will have to work very closely with the Congress and keep the hot heads and extremists on both sides of the aisle at bay while coalitions are built in the center. Extreme budget cuts or tax increases could destroy the delicate balance of today's economy and could lead to a recession. We may see some increases in excise taxes, but I seriously doubt that personal income taxes will increase.

Closer to home, many eyes will be on Albany as the Governor tries to sort out his stated two billion dollar short fall. The Republican and Democrats will have a field day on that issue as the Legislature reconvenes next January.

The result is that budget reductions and discussions of tax increases will be the talk of two towns in January. How Governor Cuomo and the Legislature deal with New York's fiscal crisis will be measured against how George Bush and the Congress handle the hot potatoes in Washington, DC. One way or the other, it will cost all of us. The buck does stop with all of us.

Questions and opinions may be addressed to Mr. McMillan, Anton Community Newspapers, 132 East Second Street, Mineola, NY 11501.

Was Dad's brother Clarence - Highly startled to file THIS story - Uncle's phone call was how Mother finally learned Dad was in Mineola Hospital, Well bandaged and thoroughly concussed.

Several days later Dad came to And cheerfully remarked, "Damn thing climbed a tree!"

Distrubed grave faces Of gathered physicians Greeted this remark But Mother knew all was well - She smiled and said, "He's in fine shape Of course That's exactly what happened!" Dad lived 34 more years - just as unpredictable.

Shoreham vs. Fossil Fuel

To The Editor:

As owner of a heating and air conditioning business, and having participated in the construction of fossil fuel power plants, I've been interested in nuclear power from its beginnings.

I followed the progress of nuclear power in this country closely and learned many things. I learned that nuclear fuel for power plants is of a low concentration and cannot explode. I learned from Three Mile Island that its partial meltdown was wholly contained within the reactor vessel, which itself was enclosed within the 6 ft. thick, steel-lined walls of the containment structure. Even the dissident group of Union of Concerned Scientists admitted that any meltdown would be wholly contained within the plant's physical structure.

From the beginnings of nuclear energy to the present, we've been continually told of its dangers. Through all the hysterical mouthing I kept looking for proof of its horrors. Through its 33 year history in the U.S., no one was killed or injured. Jane Brody of the New York Times visited the TMI area and thoroughly researched every report of cancer and other diseases in humans and animals. She found that any increases were in proportion to increases in population and actual incidences of cancer were less than in other areas without nuclear energy.

What TMI did teach us was to redesign control and safety systems of existing plants so that they would be safer still than the 100% safety record the industry had up to that time.

As Ralph Nader and his fellow doomsday prophets have been giving us their non-factual armageddon prophecy over the years, fossil fuel plants have been killing millions of people and eroding our lakes, streams, and forests. But anti-nuke supporters fail to acknowledge this truth and continue their efforts to panic everyone about nuclear energy.

Then we were faced with the Chernobyl disaster, where a totally different type of nuclear plant than we have in our country failed. Chernobyl did not have the safety of a containment structure. The differences between Chernobyl and our U.S. plants are like night and day. Noted scientists and engineers, including the Russians, have repeatedly said that "Chernobyl can't happen here."

As far as our own Long Island Shoreham plant is concerned, it now appears that the absolute worst that could ever happen is some sort of slow seepage, not any kind of explosion. The need for a large scale evacuation being needed is a very remote possibility. Based on our past experience with nuclear energy, it's the safest form of energy we have.

This is fact. So when Governor Cuomo says "I don't want another Chernobyl to happen on Long Island," I know that his LILCO deal is a phoney and we're being flimflammed. On one hand he says he's against acid rain, but the fact is he's ready to build five more fossil fuel plants on Long Island. Does that make sense? To spread fear about a nuclear disaster that has never occurred while increasing proven death and destruction from the effects of fossil fuel plants does not spring from a man who knows (or will admit to) the facts.

I'm firmly convinced that to Gov. Cuomo his political "Deal" is priority, not the environmental and economic future of Long Island.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity.

We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are imagined or have a typewritten name only.

We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

To The Editor:

Hello, my name is Katya Ullmann. I am a senior at Schreiber High School in Port Washington. I am doing a project for my Government Law class on the crime related issues in our society. I recently read the article about "The War on Drugs has Reached Nassau County." I was also interested how the keynote speaker John Poklenka, the N.Y. State Criminal Justice Director spoke about the "Citizens For Drug Free Communities" and how this group has tried to help the drug problem in our society.

With this group and other groups, I think our society will become more aware of what drugs are doing to us.

I would like it if you could send me some more information about the "Citizens For Drug Free Communities."

Thank you for your time and consideration. I hope to hear from you soon.

Thank You PAL

To The Editor:

While much of police work is concerned with apprehension and punishment of the lawbreaker, there is much that is directed towards the prevention of crime. Nowhere is this more apparent than in the relentless efforts of police, firemen and concerned private citizens who give generously of their time and talent to the Police Athletic League (PAL).

People often ask: PAL is not even part of the criminal justice system, how can it prevent crimes? Quibbling over a technicality, they would be missing an obvious point.

The work of the PAL in large and small communities all over this state and in many other parts of the country is doing a tremendous job of preventing crime every day. How? By advancing the ideals and respect for other people's rights, healthy bodies and minds. PAL activities also bring out the spirit of honest competition in achieving goals and the good old American concept of fair play and good sportsmanship. Yes, these concepts still exist and nowhere are they more honored and promoted than in the sports programs of the Police Athletic League.

The PAL is certainly not just a convenient place for Johnny to play ball. It does offer that at the very least. But more than that, it is a training ground not only for young athletes but for good citizens of tomorrow.

We, as parents, can be thankful that we have organizations like PAL to help us with this heavy responsibility.

Grause Calls For Two-Party Government

To The Editor:

The continued and costly squandering of taxpayer funds by County Executive Thomas Gulotta in his quest to circumvent the directives of three state courts and to deny to the taxpayers tax refunds required under the law borders on malfeasance in office.

It is also a mystery as to why it has taken the combined effort of the county executive, the board of supervisors and the county attorney all of these months to perfect a "minor" technical change in the 1988 budget. Surely, it could not have been solely due to bureaucrat red tape but rather the manifestation of a strong dose of political Machiavellianism.

Could there possibly be a connection between the continued effort of GOP Leader Joseph N. Mondello to create a single party judiciary here in Nassau County and the current effort of the Republicans to contrive a situation designed to force State Supreme Court Justice and a member of the Appellate Court Andrew J. DiPaola off of the case? Perhaps it is only a coincidence that only two of the remaining 20 Justices of the State Supreme Court and Justice DiPaola are Democrats. If he should be forced to excuse himself from the case then there is every reason to believe that it will be placed in the hands of a "friendly" Republican judge.

The Richard Korn suit to force adoption of a legal budget has brought to light many significant situations. Mr. Gulotta has stated that he is above the law in the development of a budget, the true intent of the Mondello ban on the cross endorsement of duly elected and sitting judges has been exposed for what really is and the public has seen its hard earned tax dollars "abused" by the county executive in an attempt to deny the taxpayers a refund.

The people of Nassau County are in need of the protection only available to them as a result of viable two-party government. Edward A. Grause

Town of Hempstead

Tree-Climbing of a Sort

My 1901, my father, Hal B. Fullerton,

Was the Long Island Railroad's

Special Agent for Publicity -

When a very new track-crossing alarm system

Was installed at Westbury crossing.

With gusto, he thoroughly and proudly

Publicized this information.

One morning, soon after, our family

watched Dad

Ready what he called "The Doghouse" -

His 11x14 camera complete with tripod

And plate-carrying case -

All weighing a ton.

At last the day had arrived

To plan the start and route

Of the proposed first Vanderbilt

Cup Race.

Enroute to the meeting place

Dad and other newspaper friends

Were wedged as passengers in a

French car

Driven by famous racing driver, Fournier;

As the car neared Westbury Railroad crossing

The new alarm bell rang a noisy warning.

Clearly, insistently -

Dad cautioned -

Fournier, however, bet he could beat the train -

He lost

The train hit the car broadside!

Dad and his camera and gear tightly

wedged

In the front seat,

Rode out the flight

And the smashed French car landed with a crash

Many feet beyond the crossing.

The Investor's Corner By Dr. Joseph P. Frey

How To Read A Prospectus

This is the season when you get all kinds of calls from all kinds of people to invest in all kinds of things. It used to be a lot worse in the go-go days of the tax shelter scams. That is one thing for which I am grateful to Congress, the elimination of most tax shelters. Now we can invest in quality with taxes a secondary consideration. This brings up the point to be made in this column. We still get prospectuses to read. Much of the stuff in them is boilerplate fluff. We really do not have to read it all. If you do want to, go ahead. It will save you time if you followed this suggested sequence.

Dr. Joseph P. Frey

The SEC requires full disclosure which means that all problems, all fees, all risks, etc. have to be spelled out. Investors usually think it is boring and skip it all. This is a serious mistake, and it can cost you money. If the sequence that I propose is followed, it will cut the time and the risk. It will give you a better picture of the situation. These are the parts to read, there are parts to skip.

First, read the summary of the offering because this outlines the deal. Second, read the accounting FOOTNOTES and the financial projections. These projections are in table form, they summarize cash in and out and the after-tax effects to the investor. Always remember that they are based upon the most optimistic assumptions. It will never be better than this. Everything must go A#1 for them to be realized. Just remember Murphy's Law. It is imperative that you look at the assumptions upon which the estimates are based. I cannot stress the importance of this enough.

Third, look at the section which describes the uses for the money. That shows where it will go; how much goes into investment, how much to fees, etc. Fourth, look at the compensation to the general partners, the promoters, and the affiliates; it will all be broken down. Fifth, look at the track record of the promoter from prior deals. Good or bad? Sixth, look at the description of the experience of the general partners, key people and employees. Do they know the business? Last, look at the tax discussion. Section 1 will be about 10 pages, sections 2 to 6 will be about 20 to 30 pages, and section 7 will be between 10 and 30 pages.

You will find the tax discussion in two places, in the body as a general tax discussion and in the back as a legal opinion on taxes. These parts have to be quite specific. The IRS does not want superficial opinions and as a result they have been getting shorter with the years and the annual tax law changes. A lot is boilerplate and after reading one or two, you can skip all except about five pages. The tax topics to concentrate on are the tax problems relating to this SPECIFIC INVESTMENT, DISPUTED AREAS. The problem with this is that the specific areas are made as obscure as possible. That is why you originally looked at the footnotes and the assumptions of the accounting projections. Accountants cover themselves with footnotes because they do not want a malpractice suit. Besides, no one looks at them anyway. But they explain the problems, it is the roadmap to the tax section. Buried in there are the real problems. Let the footnotes tell you what to read. If they are difficult to spot, then that is all the more reason to read the tax discussion. You do not have to be a tax attorney, it is supposed to be in clear, layman's English. Once you start to read the prospectus, you will find it full of caveats, disclaimers, and warnings. Any lapse of conflict of interest, compensation or tax question may be considered a violation of the securities laws. So the "bad news" can go on for 40-50 pages. Somewhere in there will be buried the real problems. The inexperienced investor disregards it all. You can skip the discussions on whether the deal will be taxed as partnership or corporation, how the partners are taxed, tax preference items, interest deductibility, hobby-losses, audits, carryover basis, state taxes, transferability and pending tax reform discussions.

Investments can enhance your wealth if the time invested saves your capital and makes it grow. There just is no free lunch.

Dr. Frey is a professor of investments and finance at LIU/C.W. Post campus on Long Island.

The Grapevine

By Gary Ryder

If you're planning a party during the holiday season, be sure to include wine on your shopping list.

Sparkling wine has become the festive drink for any occasion, and especially during the holiday season. Many well-made domestic and imported sparkling wines are available at reasonable prices.

White wine has become the ubiquitous drink at parties, acceptable to almost anyone, easier than punch to prepare and serve, and almost as inexpensive. Choose a good jug wine; pour from carafes or pitchers to avoid spills.

Party punch can range from a seasonal eggnog to any of a dozen different Champagne mixtures. Beware of oversweetened mixed liquor fruit punches that may not sit well with occasional drinkers.

A good host or hostess always includes an assortment of low or nonalcoholic choices. These are popular with calorie watchers, too.

SENIORS - Join our Over 60 club for discount. We sincerely appreciate you shopping with us! Come & browse.

Come do your party-planning at Wine Warehouse.

We've got what you need. Merry Christmas & Happy Chanukah!

A complete party bar includes spirits, too. Though it is acceptable to feature a "white" drink like vodka with an assortment of mixers, it's even more hospitable to offer Scotch, rye, bourbon, Tennessee mash whiskey and whatever else your friends like, shop early!

Legionnaires' Log

By Greg Bennett
Charles Wagner Post #421, Hicksville

The holiday season begins in a truly joyous manner for our post as we are moving into new quarters at the West Village Green on Newbridge Road. Our next meeting on Dec. 19 will be a social meeting for the holiday season. Make plans to attend and see our new home. It's a great moment as our post continues to serve our community and nation.

We also want to thank all the post members who worked very hard to find our new quarters and to get our gear moved in. Special thanks goes to VC Al Cinotti and Chaplain Al Egan. Dick Hockbrueckner, Greg Bennett, Al Egan, Al Cinotti, Albert Cinotti and Wes Tietjen provided the muscle, moving in colors and furniture to our new home.

On Wednesday, Dec. 14 at 7:30 p.m. gifts were given to children at the Nassau County Juvenile Detention Center on Old Country Road in Westbury. On Thursday, Dec. 15 we will spread cheer at the Wayside Home for Girls on Dutch Broadway in Valley Stream at 7:30 p.m. On Saturday, Dec. 17 children at the Long Island Development Center in Melville, will be greeted by Legionnaires at 1 p.m. Also on Saturday, Dec. 17 at noon Legionnaires host a Christmas party for veterans at Kings Park Psychiatric Center. This is a busy, but wonderful time.

Holiday events started with the wrapping of children's and veterans' gifts at the Carle Place Post last week. PC Harry Christo, PC Ray Gamble, PC Wes Tietjen, Cdr. Arlene Howard, Adj. Greg Bennett, Chaplain Al Egan, PC Artie Rutz and Julie Surico attended the festive event.

Pressure from the American Legion prevented passage of H.R. 3822 which would have seriously hampered covert activity ordered by the President. Remember we can't defeat terrorists by having our hand tied by politicians who restrain the forces of democracy with useless rules.

Do you have a nomination for Legionnaire of the Year? Bring your ideas to a post meeting. So far this year our post has made the largest donation of any post in Nassau County to the Special Olympics and don't forget you can make a personal donation to Special Olympics by seeing Chairman Ed Smith, Jr.

Dennis Dunne of the Nassau County Veterans Service Agency urges all Vietnam vets to come to the Agency at 320 Old Country Road and file Agent Orange claim forms. Surviving spouses and dependent children are also encouraged to file. A toll free number 1-800-225-4712 has been set up for information about the Agent Orange settlement.

Don't forget our social meeting on Monday, Dec. 19. Until then don't forget to pray for our POW-MIA's during the joyous Christmas season. Also remember the Armenian earthquake victims in your prayers.

The 1973 Roe v. Wade decision that insures a woman's right to choose an abortion may soon face a new challenge. Given possible vacancies on the Supreme Court in the near future and continued pressure from anti-choice forces, the American majority, which supports Roe v. Wade, may again have to rally to its defense.

Deborah Guckenberger Heads Down Under

Deborah Guckenberger shudders when anyone refers to Russell Reynolds Associates, Inc. as "an employment agency."

The Hicksville resident gently points out that the corporation, headquartered on Manhattan's Park Avenue, is an executive recruiting firm and that their clients are the businesses seeking personnel to fill top management positions. Russell Reynolds represents these corporations and not the individuals seeking the employment, she emphasizes.

Miss Guckenberger, who joined the firm as administrative assistant after graduation from The Berkeley School of Long Island in Hicksville, with experience in two previous positions, is heading for the Russell Reynolds office in Sydney, Australia, as part of an expanded operation there.

"I vacationed in Australia and loved it," she said. The Sidney office is one of two in that country and, with two new recruiters due on the scene, welcomes a trained administrative assistant with the two and a half years of experience, which the Berkeley graduate has put in with the company.

"It's one less person they have to train," she explained, about her success in requesting a transfer. "I was in the right place at the right time."

Miss Guckenberger expects to leave for Australia between mid-December and March, depending on when the paper work is completed. She likes the idea that there will be no language barrier, "except that they speak with an accent; but, they were telling me that I was the one with the accent," she said.

"Sidney is so clean that it is unbelievable," she continued. "It's a safe city after dark, although there are some places that you don't go into. There are not as many homeless people and you don't have the tensions of melting populations."

The Long Islander is also impressed with the good manners of the populace. "In New York, you run for a cab and whoever gets the hand on the door first gets the cab," she begins. "In Australia, they cue up even for taxis. It looks like a line of people waiting for a bus."

Apartments are inexpensive by New York standards and Deborah plans to live alone initially and perhaps take in a roommate later. "You're better off with a total stranger than with a friend," she said, about sharing living quarters.

Exposure to the British culture will not be a new experience for the transported American. As a member of the world champion St. Ignatius Drum and Bugle Corps in Hicksville, she traveled for seven years as a drummer, not only all over the United States, but in Canada, as well.

A graduate of Hicksville High School, Miss Guckenberger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Guckenberger. Her father is with Long Island Lighting and she has two younger brothers.

Tips on 'Shaping Up' Your Holiday Parcels

Aerobics instructors regularly remind their students to keep their tummies "tight" and "tucked." The same advice applies to preparing holiday parcels for mailing.

Choose a sturdy carton or box and seal it smoothly and tightly with the proper tape. Do not wrap cartons in bulky brown paper or tie them with string or twine. The paper can tear and the twine can get tangled in our automated mail processing equipment. Using paper and string is not necessary if you are using the proper box or carton. If you feel a need to wrap or tie a box, that may be a signal that you don't think the box is sturdy enough to begin with. Get another one instead. Padded mailing bags work very well for small items. Cardboard boxes and padded mailing bags are available at your local post office for a moderate price.

Parcels should be sealed with a tape designed for sealing packages: pressure sensitive, nylon reinforced kraft paper or glass-fiber-reinforced pressure sensitive tape. The postal service advises against using cellophane or masking tapes, because they just are not strong enough.

Correct addressing is as important for parcels as for letters. The top of the package should show the name of the addressee, the house number and street, and apartment number if applicable. The last line should contain the city, state and zip code. Be sure to use the zip code to help speed your package. Also include your own return address in the upper left hand corner.

Preparing the inside of a package or box is as important as preparing the outside. The contents should be cushioned carefully with crumpled paper, foam shell or air-pocket padding that is commercially available. Do not leave any empty space in the box for the contents to rattle around in. Before you seal the package, it is also a good idea to enclose a slip of paper showing the name and address of the person you are sending the package to as well as your name and address. Although it doesn't happen very often, parcels can get damaged so that the outside address can't be read. Finally, if a package contains irreplaceable valuables, send by registered mail.

MAINTENANCE PROGRAM OPENING NOW

No one ever lost weight permanently through willpower alone. No one.

If willpower were all it took to lose weight, your first diet would have been your last. But, with few exceptions, even the most determined dieters regain the weight they lost.

Now, you can lose weight and keep it off with The OPTIFAST® Program. The OPTIFAST® Program is a hospital-based supplemented fasting program that combines a nutritionally complete diet supplement, diet counseling, behavior modification and group support.

Most important of all, The OPTIFAST® Program involves the close, on-going attention of physicians, nurses and other medical professionals. 200,000 people have participated in The OPTIFAST® Program of weight loss. Studies have shown that up to 80% of OPTIFAST® treated patients may lose more than this amount; the average loss is 85 pounds.

But even more encouraging is the fact that in some people, long-term weight maintenance—the most important part of obesity treatment—is accomplished in The OPTIFAST® Program.

If you're more than 30% or 50 pounds overweight, please call 932-6250 and receive complete details about The OPTIFAST® Program. You supply the willpower you've always had. We supply the medical support you've always missed.

Nassau Sports Review

By Jack White

Nineteen New York State high school basketball coaches have accumulated 400 career victories. With a bit of luck and with the maturity of his very young team, Roslyn coach Joe Lettera will soon join that select group.

Lettera, in his 30th and final season as a head coach, won his 397th game last Saturday when the Bulldogs held on to edge Mineola, 55-53. Roslyn nearly blew a 19 point lead, something Bulldog teams have rarely ever done. Inexperience is the problem. All the starters from last year's excellent squad graduated and at one point last Saturday, five sophomores were on the court for Roslyn. It would be a terrific JV, but this is varsity competition and it will take time for the Bulldogs to develop.

Time is the one thing coach Lettera doesn't have. "My friends are teasing me that I may have to come back another year to get 400," he laughed. "But this season is it. It's time. I've always loved coaching, but I've been at Roslyn for 32 years. One was as JV coach, one I was injured, and 30 as varsity coach. We're young now, but we'll be all right."

Roslyn basketball teams have always been much more than all right. Under Lettera's guidance the Bulldogs have won nine league championships and twice advanced to the County final.

The coach still enjoys the game and the challenge, but he has seen some changes. "It seems to me that when they broke up the North Shore League (1978), some of the excitement and competition was lost. Now you're always playing different teams. The rivalries are gone."

Nassau basketball will certainly lose someone special when Joe Lettera retires next spring.

Only two Section Eight coaches are among the 19 who have won 400 games. Uniondale's Russ Bastin won his 400th in 1985 and is still going strong. Frank Morris was the first to reach the mark while he directed St. Agnes. He finished with 471. The all-time leader, Dudley Maxim of New York's Trinity School, is starting his 51st season.

Opening lead — queen of spades.

A fine declarer makes not only the tricks that belong to him, but also many of them that don't. These extra tricks are usually the result of a calculated effort he makes to induce errors by the defense.

Here is a good example of the art. South is in four hearts and West leads a spade. If you examine all four hands, it becomes obvious that declarer should go down one. The trumps are divided 4-1 and the diamonds 4-2, and he should therefore wind up losing three trump tricks and a club.

But if declarer plays his cards right, he is likely to make the contract. Though he does not see the adverse cards and does not know that the trumps are divided 4-1, he should base all his plays on that assumption.

He realizes that a 3-2 trump division will give him the contract, so he takes steps to deal with a 4-1 division. Accordingly, he wins the opening spade lead in dummy and returns the ten of hearts!

Now put yourself in East's shoes and imagine you see only your hand and dummy's. How many players do you know who would play the six on the ten?

Most of them would cover the ten with the jack and declarer would then proceed to make the contract. He would play the ace, spearing West's king, cash the king of spades, ruff a spade, and lead a heart from dummy. East would eventually score two trump tricks and a club, but South would make the contract.

Note that if declarer's first trump lead from dummy were the three, East would quite naturally play the six. South would eventually lose three trump tricks and a club and go down one because he neglected to give East a chance to make a mistake.

Tomorrow: Another Famous Hand.

The Fabled Gift of Love

Chocolate, in stories, poetry, art and music, is the gift of love. Its chemical properties have, indeed, proved to have "aphrodisiac" effects, some studies say. Certainly, chocolates... in every country, for any occasion, are a symbol of affection, a romantic expression of feelings, a gracious gift to host or hostess, a treat that can be as ordinary as a Hershey Bar or an artistic gourmet experience.

At Judy's Chocolate Tree (9 West Marie, Hicksville), gourmet experiences are the house rule and Chocolatier Judy and her creative staff have made the production of candy a rare artistic event.

IN KEEPING WITH THE HOLIDAY SPIRIT, Anton Community Newspapers has joined with local chapters of two charitable organizations to bring Holiday cheer to our Neighbors in Need.

We are proud to announce our partnership in this effort with The Salvation Army, whose well known street corner kettles are an integral part of the Christmas scene, and with Make-A-Wish, which is relatively new to the community for sharing. WHY DO WE GIVE? We give because we remember the true meaning of the holiday season, and want to be part of it. We give because we know that there are people less fortunate than ourselves, and we recognize a duty to help. We give because others have shared what they had with us and now it is our chance to give back. We give because it is inescapably in our hearts to do so.

WHO ARE OUR PARTNERS?

The Salvation Army aids needy families and elderly and homeless people at Christmas time as part of its broader mission to "care for the poor, feed the hungry, clothe the naked, love the unlovable, and befriend those who have no friends." It was started in the 1800s in England, and spread rapidly around the world to become a world renowned institution dedicated to helping others. Typically, families receive checks from the Army for food for their own home-cooked Christmas dinners, and for toys and clothing for the children.

The first chapter was established in 1980 after police officers in Arizona granted a little dying boy's wish to be a policeman by presenting him with a custom made uniform, helmet and badge. In Nassau County, Make-A-Wish has fulfilled nearly 300 wishes since it was founded in 1983. The wishes that are fulfilled are as unique as the children themselves, and are limited only by the child's imagination.

The Make-A-Wish Foundation is an international non-profit, volunteer organization dedicated to granting wishes of children with life-threatening illness. Here at Anton Community Newspapers, we're proud to be partners with The Salvation Army and Make-A-Wish in this year's effort to bring holiday cheer to our Neighbors in Need. But we still need one more member to make our team complete—you.

Make A Wish

Dawn is a bright, bubbly sixteen-year old whose wonderful spirit would brighten anyone's day. Her cancer had prevented her from attending school and while in the hospital and at home, Dawn became a big soap opera fan. The afternoon soap operas helped pass the time. Dawn would love to spend a day on the set of a soap opera and have the opportunity to meet the stars of her favorite show. She dreams of a magical wish experience where she is the star for a day: a limousine ride to the studio, a chance to see a taping of a soap opera and a special dinner with her mother and brothers who have been so very supportive during Dawn's illness.

Edward is a construction worker who is temporarily out of work. His wife Ann is in a psychiatric hospital in upstate N.Y. Ann cannot come home for Christmas, but Edward would like to take their three children to visit her. Annette, (15) Chris (14), and Debbie (12) haven't seen their mother in over 6 mos. Being a family again, even for just a day would mean a lot to the whole family. Edward needs your help to provide gifts for his children and Ann, and to make their family reunion possible. Diamonds are Forever

Little girls grow up, and so do puppies, but diamonds... they're forever... the perfect way to say "I love you." Our puppy, and his tie, were irresistible, a flight of fancy you won't find in a jeweler's showcase, but, if you want to find a piece of forever for your favorite "little girl," Marvin and Sons (Turnbury Commons Woodbury, 367-6666, and Spruce St., Cedarhurst, 569-2200) is an irresistible reality.

Known for their extraordinary selection of fine jewelry, watches and unusual gift items, Marvin & Sons carries an exciting selection of real diamond treasures... exquisitely cut, uniquely set, lastingly beautiful, and guaranteed to please.

Time is no problem for the discerning shopper... Marvin carries a wide selection of the finest Swiss timepieces for men and women... Concord, Corum, Chopard, Breit, Citizen, Pulsar... from a simple leather banded sport watch for everyday punctuality, to a diamond studded evening watch for the most elegant dress-up occasion.

You'll bring lasting pleasure to the most important person on your gift list with "a little treasure" from Marvin and Sons.

the hottest products on the beauty scene.

Zulu perms, curls within curls, are one of the specialties here, and you'll spend $60-$70 for your new look at Trax ($150-$200 elsewhere). And, for the holidays, Linda and Maraj are offering $5 off most perms and a 10% discount on Paul Mitchell, Sebastian, Nexus, Jingles, OGGI, Zotos.

Trax is the place for perfect perms, holiday hairstyles and exciting coming attractions: a skin care salon, an exercise room, luxurious saunas...lots of treats to make you beautiful.

to our first place and second place artists and all of our honorable mentions. And thank you to all the children of Long Island who enthusiastically participated in our Holiday Art Contest. The response was so overwhelming that it made it difficult for us to select the winners. We wish we had the space to print all the entries, as we enjoyed them all so much. Former Superintendent, Dr. Jerome Niosi, Dies

Dr. Jerome J. Niosi, a former superintendent of the Hicksville School District and a long-time resident of New Hyde Park, died December 2 at Nassau-Winthrop Hospital of head injuries sustained in an accidental fall at a nearby restaurant. He was 71.

Entering the teaching profession in 1938, Dr. Niosi taught Social Studies at Sewanhaka High School; later when the district was enlarged, he became district director of publications, and two years later became assistant principal and later principal of New Hyde Park Memorial High School. He left New Hyde Park Memorial in 1971 to become superintendent of the Hicksville schools.

In 1975 he accepted a position as associate professor of education in the graduate school at Villanova University and taught there for seven years. Before his retirement in 1983, he was dean of Biscayne College in Miami, Florida, now St. Thomas University. For many years he had also been an adjunct professor of history at Hofstra College and St. John's University.

Dr. Niosi is survived by his wife of forty-seven years, the former Celia Marcheski, also a teacher in the Sewanhaka District; his

You Auto Know

By D.F. Karppi

One year I gave my family ice scrapers and dry gas as stockings stuffers. I never lived it down. I think the Automobile Club of American has a better idea. They say buy the items for your own car.

After all, we all know when you need that special equipment, it's a life saver.

To help you drive in the worst weather this winter, the Automobile Club of New York suggests you "surprise" your car with the following items for storage in the trunk:

- A shovel—preferably one with a square blade. Pointed blades don't make good snow removers.
- A combination ice-scraper and snow brush (a wooden handle assures cold weather durability) for clearing windows and other parts of your car.
- A large bag or bucket of sand that can be sprinkled in front of the drive wheels to provide traction after the way has been prepared with shoveling.

Rear-drive cars can benefit from having 100 pounds or so of ballast in the trunk to improve traction on the drive wheels—provided the extra pounds do not exceed the manufacturer's luggag capacity rating. Warning: Extra weight in the rear trunk of a front-drive car will worsen traction.

That is because rear-drive cars are pushed by the engine and front wheel-drive cars are pulled by the engine...but you know that 10-4 Good Buddies

Hicksville Soccer Club Elects New Officers

By Karen Blicher

More than 300 parents and children attended the Hicksville Soccer Club general meeting at the Middle School on Dec. 2. While scores of children viewed a soccer movie, their parents witnessed the election of the following slate of officers for the coming term: President Phil Caputo, Vice President/Travel Team Liaison Steve Baglieri, Secretary Al Blicher, Treasurer Jay Schwartz. Medallions and trophies were distributed to the top teams in the Pee Wee and Bantam Division. Congratulations kids and officers. A very special thanks to the folks at the administration building of the Hicksville Public Schools for their kind assistance.

GAIL SCHWARTZ and Board member Joe Matz join in the festivities during soccer meeting attended by over 300 in Hicksville.
