Task Force Suggests Dutch Lane Fields For Community Park

By Rita Langdon

In an effort to elicit public comment, the Hicksville Park District Task Force has recommended that the Dutch Lane School athletic field be used as a community park during non-school hours.

At the Hicksville School's facilities meeting, Marc Herbst, Task Force coordinator and assis-tant to the town supervisor, said that Dutch Lane was chosen for a park because it abuts Abe Levitt Field, a town park, on Stewart Avenue. By combining the two properties, Mr. Herbst said, Hicksville will have a centralized park even larger than neighboring ones such as Plainview-Old Bethpage Com-munity Park. Hicksville is the only community in the Town of Oyster Bay that does not have its own park. Purchase of the field is subject to public and school board approval. The park ould be open to all residents and maintain ed by the town.

"We are not looking to take over the school building or close it. We are simply looking to utilize the fields that are there." Mr. Herbst said. He added that the Dutch Lane field is located in an "athletic neighborhood," refer-ring to Levittown Hall, which is a community center, and the Levittown Parkway Pool. Mr. Herbst said, "It seemed like the ideal location for us to approach the school board to simply ask: It is available? Can we utilize it? What's your reaction?"

Parts of the property, including the baseball fields, are in poor condition, Mr. Herbst said, and grading is needed because many puddles form on that field.

At the meeting, a substitute teacher for Dutch Lane said, "If it rains on Monday, the children can't play on that field until Friday." Mr. Herbst said that the school district is not capable of providing the same type of maintenance that the town can provide because the district doesn't have the personnel or the equipment. He added that Abe Levitt Field is in good condition and Dutch Lane fields could be also.

Mr. Herbst said that the field next to the sump needs work, the other fields need to be seeded, and the tennis courts may need major renovations and resurfacing,

Proposed Plans

Initial plans include the possibility of adding a picnic area or benches for sentor citizens and family outings. Mr. Herbst said that he is aware that with new activity, there will be more vehicles so he proposed adding 64 new parking spaces. He also said that the Dutch Lane temporary buildings could be turned into a park manager's office with a full-time maintenance crew and security staff. time maintenance crew and security staff. 'We could also provide classrooms for recreational programs and senior citizen activities," Mr. Herbst said noting that the temporary structures are ideal for those purposes because they have plumbing, heating and bathroom facilities. Mr. Herbst said that the town won't issue permits for use during school hours. The permits, which are free, will be for weekend use.

"The Dutch Lane School will have priority with any type of use of fields during school hours and activities," he said.

Residents' Comments

Residents said that the proposed new park would be just another place for people to van-dalize. They also said that security guards wouldn't act as a deterrent. However, one Hicksville High School student said, "I think security is a good idea. Kids won't go there if security is there. I should Eleanor Draycott, a member of the task force, said, "I keep hearing about kids who vandalize. This is a problem all over the country. School Board Says Burns Ave. Zone Change Will Discourage Commercial Development

By Catherine Tokar

The Hicksville School Board and a group of northwest citizens want two acres of commercial zoned property at Burns Avenue School changed to residential zone to discourage developers from buying the Attorney Gregory Guercio, representing the Hicksville School Board, spoke before the Town of Oyster Bay town board at last week's hearing on the school district's application to rezone two acres of district-owned property. The parcel constitutes part of the Burns Avenue Elementary School and is currently zoned "G" for business. It abuts Broadway Mall and post office properties near the school's rear baseball fields, and is the only district-owned parcel not zoned residence "D."

Mr. Guercio said that residents are concerned that the commercial parcel is attractive to developers, particularly the owner of the Broadway Mall. "We have no present plans whatsoever to dispose of this property," said Mr. Guercio in an effort to reassure the residents at the hearing. property," said Mr Guercio in an effort to reassure the residents at the hearing. He added that the school board agrees with concerned residents that all district property should stand on equal footing because "when and if the time comes that either this school board or some school board in the future looks toward reorganization of its system, then the fact that this parcel stricks out as a business parcel will be looked at as more attractive to dispose of, inespective of the eduational considerations.

According to Mr. Guercio, the Hicksville School District's position is based solely upon what is best for the educational aspects of the situation.

Mall Owners Oppose

James Bradley, the attorney for the James Bradley, the attorney for the Delco Development Corp., owners of the Broadway Mall, spoke in opposition to the zone change application on the grounds that the corporation may want to purchase the property at a later date. "We, frankly, at some point, may be interested in acquir-ing the particular parcel which is now zon-ed business "G," Mr. Bradley told the town board."

The Broadway Mall, formerly the Mid In Broadway Mail, formerly the Mid Island Plaza, is undergoing extensive renovations and its owners may want to buy the plot for expanded parking; therefore, according to Mr. Bradley, "We therefore, according to Mr. Bradley, "We would prefer and request that it remain zoned business G."

Mr. Bradley also noted there is "no reason" why the parcel should be rezoned, adding that the area is "more appropriate for a possible commercial development rather than for residential development." development.

Citing that commercial property is worth more than residentially zoned property, Mr. Bradley said, "If the application is granted, I just wonder if it might tend to reduce the market value of the property."

Why Zoned G

According to Maryanne Ferrado, presi-dent of the Northwest Civic Association, the small plot does not conform to the other district owned properties, all zoned residential "D", because in the mid 1956's, the school district "swapped" the parcel with Statler and Frank, builders and former

Multi-Alarm Fire in Abandoned Building

A fire, which broke out Friday night in a building scheduled for demolition, took seven fire departments four hours to ex-tinguish. The blaze was termed "suspicious" by the police arson squad and the fire mar-shal's office has started an investigation.

The building, at 33 Old Country Road, formerly housed General Contractors, which formerly housed General Contractors, which moved two months ago. The property is said to be owned by developer Martin Yudell and adjoins Delco Plaza, a new shopping center erected by Mr. Yudell. Fast work by the Hicksville Fire Department, under direction of Chief Jerry O'Brien, kept the blaze from spreading either to the Delco Plaza stores or to the Subaru dealer immediately user of the to the Subaru dealer immediately west of the

A security guard, Gus Ingrassia, 46, employed by a local security agency, said he was on patrol in the area when "suddenly a ball of flame came up" from the structure. Dolores DiGuillio, security supervisor at Delco Plaza, said the building had been va-cant for about two months and earlier that a work crew started demolition.

Hicksville firefighters quickly summoned sistance, under a "mutual aid" plan used by firefighters who need more manpower Plainview, Syosset, Jericho, Westbury, Farm-ingdale and East Meadow sent men and equipment and Walter Krummenacker, a Hicksville fire commissioner, said that about 200 men in all were deployed.

It was after 2 a.m. Saturday before the fire had been completely extinguished. Krum-menacker said the building was "fully involv-ed" before firemen arrived.

The structure was a total loss and was later the structure was a total loss and was later razed. Lt. George Geyer, of the Arson Squad, said that preliminary investigation showed that the work crew had been in the building about an hour before the fire broke out and he was investigating the possibility of an ac-

On May 9, 1957, the Mid-Island Herald reported that Hicksville residents voted 3,445 yes to 490 no on Proposition 1: "Statler and Frank Land Transfer." The transfer resulted in the school district obtaining the two acres as a buffer and the Mid Island Plaza obtaining more land near the West John Street entrance. Now, the school district wants the land to conform with the rest of Burns Avenue's 16 acres as well as all district-owned property.

"We've been actively watching this ac-tion for some time," said Mrs. Ferrado, who said her civic association is "all for" the zone change. "It should be zoned as all the other pieces of school district property."

Some residents also said that the traffic would be overwhelming. "During the summer at 5 p.m. it takes 15 to 20 minutes to cross the street," one resident said, adding "You'll be making it very unsafe with all this traffic." Another said, "I think you better consider the traffic situation. There are two buildings going up on Stewart Avenue. We will be so overwhelmed with traffic."

Mr. Herbst said that the town has offered either to purchase the land or have a long term lease for the town to maintain it. "It's up to the school board," he said.

School board president Jo Ann Miltenberg-said that there can be no sale of property without a referendum. She said public hear-ings would be held and the public would vote.

The Hicksville Task Force, which was form ed a few months ago, acts as an advisory body, gathering input from the community. It is not a decision-making body. Members of the group include active community residents such as civic leaders and representatives of organized sports clubs.

Mr. Herbst said residents will be surveyed on their opinions about the plan for the park. He stressed that the plan presented at the meeting is subject to public approval. School facilities' chairperson Carole Wolf said that

Local Educators Prepare To Help At-Risk Youths

Three staff members from the Hicksville Public Schools recently participated in a two-day conference, "Building Self-Esteem in Vulnerable Youth." Conducted by nationally known educator and author Dr. Sol Gordon, the conference centered around techniques for reaching out to students who are depressed, abused or disaffected.

Dr. Gordon's basic message was straightforward. "The most practical thing you can do is to save one person," he said, "and you should encourage a colleague to save one person."
This "Each One Reach One" theme was backed up by numerous suggestions for techniques teachers and counselors can use techniques teachers and counselors can use to meet the needs of vulnerable youngsters and promote the growth of self-esteem. "Young people who don't feel good about themselves have more problems," Dr. Gordon has written. "They have a higher rate of teen pregnancy, suicide and substance abuse.

We received the following message from Ralph Straub: He writes: "I recently received a call from Coach Lou Millevolte. He call-ed from his home in Green Bay, Wisconsin. He called because of the article called "A Story" he read recently in the Illustrated News where it told of my wife Annie who had undergone open heart surgery. Arthritis and Intestinal Disorders

A link to intestinal disorders and arthritis has been recognized by doctors for many years. Types of intestinal problems associated with arthritis include: ulcerative colitis, Crohn's disease and Reiter's syndrome. *
The first two illnesses are known as inflammatory bowel diseases. In these disorders, inflammation occurs within the small and large bowel. The associated arthritis affects the lower back, hips, knees, and ankles. The arthritis of Reiter's syndrome often occurs after an episode of diarrhea. The back is most often involved, but joints of the lower extremities can also be affected.

Arthritis symptoms include morning stiffness, lower back pain, and painful, red, warm or swollen joints. Should you have either symptoms of arthritis or abdominal pain, you should visit your physician promptly.

Rheumatologists are aware of the relationship between intestinal ailments and arthritis. There are over 100 types of arthritis, and each one requires its own treatment. An exact diagnosis of the type of arthritis you have is very important.

If intestinal abnormalities are detected, the rheumatologist will work closely with the internist or a gastroenterologist. The arthritis is usually treated with medication, rest and

We have lost a comrade and great American as Dr. Jerome Niosi suddenly passed away on Dec. 5 Jerry Niosi was commander of New Hyde Park Post and Nassau County Legion Scholarship Chairman. Locally he will be remembered as former superintendent of Hicksville School District. I will never forget a graduation speech during which Dr. Niosi mentioned Hicksville graduates have a great tradition of service to our nation.

"Red Ribbon"

With the holiday season upon us, our already perilous highways and roads become even more dangerous. It seems as if holidays and increased alcohol consumption always go together and can result in an increase in the number of people driving while under the influence. This problem, along with the presence of icy roads in the cold and inclement weather, makes driving extremely hazardous at times. Though little can be done about the weather, Hicksville High's "Students Against Drunk Driving" is attemp-ting to prevent people from driving while in-toxicated through its "Red Ribbon Cam-

The "Red Ribbon Campaign" was the brainstorm of the organization known as M.A.D.D., or "Mothers Against Drunk Driving." The goals of M.A.D.D. are basically the same as those of S.A.D.D., that is to stop drunk driving. In knowing that the holiday season usually brings about the greatest number of D.W.I. incidents, the two organizations wanted to find a way to remind people not to drive while drunk. From this came the idea of "Tying one on for a safe holiday." Red ribbons were distributed by S.A.D.D. members throughout the school. These ribbons are supposed to be tied on to the side view mirror of the car. They act as a reminder to not drink and drive.

Holiday Decorations

"It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas" at Hicksville High School, thanks to members of the student government who took the time to "Deck The Halls" in celebration of the holiday season. The main lobby in the school is decorated with many lights, wreaths and garland which add to the festive mood and bring about an aura of holiday cheer.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible, we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space, they MUST be signed (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice), they must include an address and relephone number so that we can verify their authenticity.

We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only. We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

More About Reuben

To The Editor.

The recent funeral of the homeless man, Reuben Rodriquez, has received a great deal of publicity in both newspapers and television and rightfully so. It is interesting to realize how local acts of charity are viewed by many quite far removed from our area. The Hicksville Chamber of Commerce received the letter below this past week. Since the letter aims to compliment the peo-ple of Hicksville, and not necessarily only the Chamber, we feel it should be shared with readers in general and we thank you for its publication. The writer, Harvey Freilich of Aberdeen, New Jersey has apparently glean-ed from newspaper and television accounts the spiritual significance of these events in Hicksville — timely during this holy season. Marcos Ramirez, President

To Whom It May Concern:

I'm 52 now, and I've been out of New York

these past twenty years.
I've missed New York so very much, but from what I've seen these past eight months from here, in New Jersey (my version of the river Jordan, i.e. like Moses who can't cross over) New York doesn't look anything like the jewel I remember; More like a nightmare of tarnished glass...and now this story today of what Hicksville did for that what appears now to be a very, very rich man dressed and living like a vagrant

That this seeming derelict could elicit such an outpouring of love and affection; I tell you, my heart has been singing all evening, and if I never again set foot upon my beloved ci-ty's shore, the riches of compassion you showered upon this most fortunate of human beings will forever endear my beloved city in any future conversation where her name is mentioned. Hicksville....lt might as well have been Bethlehem — How very wonderful you are! How extremely marvelous of you! Such a magnificent gesture. Surely, with all He has had to contend with, God must have wept tears of joy at your act of mercy.

Please, please advise the City Fathers of what, in one humble stranger's opinion, was an act of charitable intent to rival any Good Samaritan's deed. Bravo & Well Done!

Stop Stereotyping

My name is Nancy Talente and I'm a senior at Hicksville High School. On Wednesday, Dec. 14, I attended the school's facilities committee meeting at my school for my participa-tion in Government class. The purpose of this meeting was for any member of the town to voice his or her opinion about the possible use of Dutch Lane fields as a community park during non-school hours.

For over two hours, I listened to the various opinions of the community members. I would like to voice my opinion now, something I was unable to do at the meeting. Several women living in the area near Levit-Several women living in the area near Levit-town Parkway were against the idea of this park for many different reasonss. One reason was because of "the teenagers vandalizing nearby stories and the nearby pool, and do-ing drugs as well as selling them." They repeatedly seemed to refer to every teenager as a drug-dealing vandal. They felt that no amount of security would deter teenagers from doing illegal things and the park would only provide more opportunities in the area. I would like to respond to these women as well as anyone else who feels this way. I think it is extremely unfair to stereotype all teenagers into this catergory. Not all of us use narcotics and vandalize public places. I don't understand the need to punish everyone who can benefit from having a town park because of a few bad people...and it is a few. What about the other kids? Why must all of us suffer? Is that fair?

Thank you for letting me voice my opinion. Nancy Talente

Traffic Light Needed

To The Editor:

In the last fews months two women crossing south Oyster Bay Road in the area in front of Our Lady of Mercy Church in Hicksville have been hit and killed by passing motorists. One woman was hit after leaving five o'clock Mass, the other in the afternoon when cross-ing to go and pick up her grandson from school.

We at the Parish Council, are concerned over this situation and feel that Nassau County and the Town of Oyster Bay should take some precautionary measures to safeguard the residents of the area who must cross. We feel there is a need for a yellow blinking light in a north-south direction; a lengthening of

Editorial

There are two important issues residents should be aware of that concern Dutch Lane and Burns Avenue elementary schools.

First, The Hicksville Park District Task Force has recommended that the Dutch Lane School athletic field be used as a community park for all Hicksville residents during non-school hours. It is important to note that nothing has been implemented. Residents have time to voice their concerns. According to school board member Carole Wolf, this proposal will be discussed again at upcoming school facilities meetings. The proposal was first introduced at last week's meeting. Each resident will be surveyed on the proposal. The Task Force is not a decision-making body, it only makes recommendations to the Town of Oyster Bay. "Nothing's being forced down anyone's throat," said Marc Herbst, coordinator of the Task Force and assistant to the town supervisor. Hicksville residents should keep that in mind while reviewing the proposal.

Secondly, The Hicksville School Board has applied to the Town of Oyster Bay to rezone two acres of district-owned property at Burns Avenue School. The school board wants to do this to discourage developers from buying the land because it is presently zoned "G" for business. Northwest residents and the school board want the two acres zoned residential. If the application is rejected, area residents may be in serious trouble in the future. Local developers, particularly the Broadway Mall, have expressed interest in buying the property. The attorney for the mall said they may want to use the plot to expand parking.

The mall is practically on top of the school already. The safety of the children should be considered because their playground is right next to the fence dividing the school property from the mall. If they expanded their parking lot, what guarantee do we have that if a buffer was put up between the school and the mall that it would be adequate enough for safety purposes. The mall also generates a lot of traffic, and adding another lot might add fuel to the already burning fire. We urge the town board to let the parcel of land be re-zoned residential.

Now that the snow season is upon us, in addition to removing the snow from driveways and sidewalks, please shovel out fire hydrants located adjacent to your home. This will help our volunteer firemen in the event of an emergency

What the Politicans are Saying

Senator Norman J. Levy (R,C-Merrick), in an effort to foster greater awareness and understanding of the handicapped among our State's school children, announced that he will press for enactment of his legislation requiring New York State's Regents to furnish suitable curriculum to assist teachers in instructing elementary school children on handicapping conditions.

Senator Levy, a member of the Senate Education Committee, explained, "Under both Federal and State law aimed at eliminating discrimination against the disabled, more and more handicapped children are being placed in regular elementary school classes with non-handicapped students. Unfortunately, many young children who have never been exposed to someone slightly different from themselves, may be unintentionally cruel to these handicapped children, not because they are mean, but, simply because they do not know how to respond to them."

He pointed out that it may be difficult for teachers and other school personnel to find the appropriate teaching materials to help them in their efforts to promote student awareness and understanding of the handicapped.

Under this bill, the Board of Regents will be required to supply a suitable curriculum on handicapping conditions.

U.S. REPRESENTATIVE ROBERT J. MRAZEK (D. Centerport) recently was presented with a Tech Map of Long Island by GEORGE C. SOOS, president of the Long Island Forum for Technology. The map identifies the location of high technology companies by logos and demonstrates the world-class technology expertise on Long Island. The map is available by contacting 755-4230.

While Nassau County taxes skyrocket in the proposed 1989 budget of County Executive Thomas Gulotta there will be less money for police, RICHARD KORN, Democratic party activist told the members of the Nassau County Board of Supervisors.

The Board will have the final say on the County Executive's record $1.55 billion proposed budget for next year.

"It should be noted here that the Police Fund shows a 16.4 million increase in 'salary savings. That means, simply, that there will be no new hires or no replacements for cops lost through attrition. So the tax increase may be lower in the Police Districts, but so is the level of County supplied police protection," Mr. Korn told the Board during a public hearing on the proposed budget in Mineola.

A Letter from Lulubelle ...

...It's Christmas time and there are lights everywhere—on houses, trees, stores, restaurants—and I really love to drive around and see what everyone has done but, there's one thing I don't like and that's lights that blink.... I like lights that stay on...My kids love lights that blink and take great delight in teasing me by tryng to put the blinkers into my lights, too!!...But, as always, to each his own and, if you like your lights to blink—so be it...And this is the busy last-minute week going over the list—checking to see that everything has arrived—is it wrapped?...and do you make a major undertaking of the wrapping as I do?....I love to fuss with bows and ties and make each package a work of art....but, for the children. it's not worthwhile, so I am big on using tissue paper, which is inexpensive, rips easily and burns quickly in the fireplace. We all know kids love to get right to the present to see if it's something good, like a toy or something dull like new pa jamas...And if the gift is a pocketbook, do you put a coin inside to guarantee good luck and a full purse??....And what do you have on your tree?...Many lights, of course...small ones or the old fashioned large ones, complete with metal reflectors that I am still using...and do you see all your old decorations...or have new sophisticated ones?...and do you use garlands—beads or glittery ones...and do you put on myriad strands of tinsel-all, of course, carefully arranged, one by one, on each branch...and do you have a birthday cake for Christmas day, with writing on the top saying, "Happy Birthday, Baby Jesus"...we do and the youngest one present blows out the candles as we sing...Think about those family customs, which are so special to you and yours....Isn't it wonderful!!...Have a happy Christmas. dear friends.

Yours, Lulubelle

The White House vs. Capitol Hill -A Reporter's Notebook

A friend asked me the other day which I like to cover more—the White House or Capitol Hill. I really couldn't answer the question because comparing these two institu-tions is really like comparing apples and

On Capitol Hill, you have over 500 representatives and senators trying to make news. Every region of the country and ideological perspective is represented. This makes for some interesting confrontations.

Many days a reporter must choose between two or more interesting stories to cover. As a Capitol Hill correspondent, you spend time walking between events in that maze of underground passages, which connect the House side of the Capitol with the Senate side.

The White House is, by definition, made up of one person. The entire organization is an extension of the President's personality. an extension of the resident's personally. Covering the White House means that you will spend a lot of time waiting. For example, you wait to be allowed into the rose garden to watch the President sign a piece of legisla-tion; you wait for the presidential spokesman's daily briefing; and you wait for a press conference by congressional leaders who have just met with the President in the "driveway" (this is the name given to the space in front of the west wing of the White House). Different correspondents cope with this waiting in different ways. Some, like myself, try to make the best of this time by either working on stories or by checking messages back at the office. Other reporters who are, perhaps, more resigned to the waiting game, pass the time by doing the day's crossword puzzle or by balancing their checkbooks.

Representatives and senators are very accessible to members of the press—far more than the President or a member of the White House staff. You can almost always get to speak to them after a hearing or you can "buttonhole" them in the halls or in the elevator. The House of Representatives has an elevator that is reserved for members of the press and representatives. The present Speaker of the House, Rep. Jim Wright, holds daily press con-ferences in his office, when the House is in session. Almost without exception, represen-tatives and senators are eager to hood press conferences on the issues which interest

Press conferences are not important only for the answers that a politician gives. They allow us to see a politician think on his feet

Working on Capitol Hill is a distinguished assignment for a journalist. The White House is the most prestigious assignment in town. is the most prestigious assignment in town. The press room is located just a few doors down from the Oval Office. Any news made here will be flashed around the world in a matter of moments. As you walk out of the northwest gate of the White House, the tourists stare at you, trying to determine whether or not you are "anyone" (The other day, I was mistaken for an administration official by a very eager West German tourist.)

Our get well wishes to Lou Morce who had surgery; our condolences to Jim Ingino whose sister passed away. Al Trigente who was recently hospitalized is recovering nicely.

Help is still needed for bingo; the lodge might be renovated to some extent; our recent Halloween and Christmas dances were very successful with more than 200 people attending; Thanks to Fred Ausiello for chair-ing the Christmas dance.

Church of St. Stephen Holiday Dinner

The Church of St. Stephen in Hicksville held its annual Thanksgiving Eve dinner. This dinner was started a few years ago when the late Rev. Roland J. Perez was pastor and has continued under the sponsorship of the Social Ministry Committee. A complete turkey dinner with all the fixings was served to members of the congregation as well as to friends and members of the community. This event not only serves as an opportunity for fellowship but provides, at little or no cost, a holiday dinner for those who are alone and/or who might not otherwise enjoy this traditional meal. St. Stephen's serves an average to 70-80 meals

Hicksville High Variety Show is a Smash Hit

By Jim McCrann

From the astounding performances of song and dance to the hilarious skits of Bubblegum and The Kickline Tryout, Hicksville High School students put on a memorable performance at the Variety Show last Thursday night. This showcase of the students' talents was coordinated through the efforts of the school's choral director, Charles Arnold and drama teacher Judy Passeltiner. It was a popular event which seemed to electrify the audience. The show put the audience in awe one moment and on the verge of tears from laughter the next. It was hosted by seniors Will Snedden and Jane McQuade, who as Mr. Arnold said, "Did a super job [keeping the] crowd loose and keeping the whole thing very fluent." one moment and on the verge of tears from

The show featured many dance routines by students. Some dancers performed in groups while other performed by themselves. Though there were some slower, and more expressive-type dances, the majority of them were energetic as they danced to songs such as The Rhythm is Gunna Get You and Do It as The Rhythm is Gunna Get You and Do It To The Beat. The M.C., Will Snedden, evok-ed much laughter from the audience with his rendition of the dance performed by Rerun on the television show, What's Happening. There were also many who sang during the show. Slow ballads such as On My Own and One Moment In Time were enjoyed by the audience. Classic rock was included in the show at the end as Sean Tower and Doreen show at the end as Sean Tower and Doreen Barile sung Nobody Home and Comfortably Numb by Pink Floyd. This performance brought down the house as well as ended the show at a climax.

A Jazz Jam, a piece for electric bass and drums, was another crowd pleaser. Rana Araneta vigorously strummed her bass pro-ducing music with a lively sensation for which drummer Jason Paulsen kept the beat. In the beginning of the piece, Rana took center stage with her distinctive bass part, but at the end she gave way to Jay who swiftly and smoothly oscillated between his drums in an impressive and powerful drum solo.

The skits were the most humorous of all the performances. One of the favorites was Bubblegum. This skit was situated in a classroom complete with a boring, unperceptive teacher and disinterested students. The plot of this story involves one girl who is chew-ing a piece of gum which inadvertantly gets stuck to the girl sitting next to her. The two get stuck together until one pulls free. She then ends up becoming attached to the girl next to her with that same piece of gum and it continues down the line and then back again. All of this occurs without the teacher noticing. The superior acting by the people involved in this made it a very entertaining act. Another skit was a story about different girls coming together to try out for the Kickline. The girls involved came from all walks of life. There was a bookworm which the other girls in the act called a "fag," a very obese girl, a klutz, a conceited and pompous girl, a few "cool" girls and the all-knowing in-structors. The strong acting and the dif-ference in characters made this a hilarious skit.

Almost everyone's favorite character was the "fat girl." An audience member, Jim Dyckman, said," The fat girl should be in

How did the performers feel about being on stage in front of their peers? Most were somewhat anxious, but as their performance went on, their confidence grew and neryousness diminished. One performer admit-ted to having stage fright. How did she cure it? "I was squeezing this girl's hand. I almost killed the girl," she joked. Another performer, Laura Manser, responded to the question about being nervous by saying, "No, not really." Sean Tower said, "I was nervous in the beginning until people started to get into [the music.] Then I calmed down."

When asked about how the show went, the performers unanimously agreed that it was an excellent performance. The success of this show stemmed from the many hours of hard work and preperation. Mrs. Passeltiner said, "Everybody who worked on this developed acts and rehearsed them. Peo-ple put in a lot of time." The crew was also very instrumental in the success of the show despite the fact that their contribution was behind the scenes. Sal Noto, one member of the eight-person crew, explained the job of the stage crew. "Before the show we put up the lights and focus them. During the show we have to get the microphones out, make sure the actors get out on cue and get the chairs out." They are also responsible for set-ting up cable and are ultimately responsible for making the show work. To put on a show of this caliber it takes a team effort which is what did happen for Thursday night. According to Mr. Arnold, "It really gets put together by the kids. They do all the work. It was a good show by great kids."

Sparkling wine is wonderful all by itself, but sometimes it's fun to add flavor and turn the wine into a cocktail. One of the classic combinations is the Kir Royale, sparkling wine enriched with creme de cassis.

Other choices, splash in some plum brandy, or your favorite fruit-flavored liqueur. Or pour half and half wine and orange juice for a Mirrosa, a popular brunch-treat. Up to now, the French companies have concentrated on California, but Charbaut's people feel New York growing conditions are more like Champagne's.

California entrepreneurs are planning a train that will take tourists through the Napa wine country, from Napa to St. Helena, with stops at wineries along the way. It's supposed to start operations next month.

Nine Christmas Trees Glorify Our Winter Wonderland

Seven Christmas trees inside and two outside on nearby boats make every corner of Captain Bill's Commodore Inn a true winter wonderland.

The green lobby tree is entirely decorated in gold—swags; cherubs, musical instruments, and clusters of grapes. In the front dining room, the Captain's Room, the tree is white, decorated with green and blue peacocks and all ornaments carrying out the blue and green peacock

The bar and the Bay Shore Room feature multi-colored lights, one with shiny ornaments and the other with country-style angels and old time objects.

The private room for small parties, upstairs in the restaurant, the Victorian Room, has a flocked green tree with red poinsettias and red bows, with red poinsettias and red bows, and the Catering Hall has two trees—a shiny gold foil in the bar area and a glittering white tree behind where the brides usually sit.

Hundreds of tiny white lights sparkle in every window and real poinsettias decorate each surface.

Fifty thousand lights herald the joy of the holiday season!

Whether your choice is a sumptuous dinner amid the festive surroundings of Captain Bill's dining rooms, or a jolly party in our holi-day decorated catering hall, Captain Bill's is the place for you.

In our dining rooms we will be serving a full menu New Year's Eve dinner at the hour of your choice. In our Commodore Inn Catering Hall the strains of Long Island's most famous Dixieland band, The Isotope Stompers, will pace the evening activities on the dance floor. The festivities begin at 9 p.m. with a cocktail party followed by a continuous buffet with Captain Bill's famous food at midnight. We will welcome in the New Year with a champagne toast and a con-tinental breakfast will be served at 2 a.m. The total cost including tax and gratuity is $75 per person. Seating is limited, so call (516) 665-3677 as soon as possible.

Holiday Safety Suggestions

Don't bring a live tree into the house until the day you're going to use it. Get a stand large enough for the base and a good supply of water. Check and fill the water supply daily. Don't use candles on or near the tree. Use noncombustible decorations. Whether your tree is live or artificial - check all wiring for UL (Underwriter's Labortary) certification, and check all wires, plugs and sockets before installing them. Frayed wires must be replaced. Remove the tree from the house before the needles get too dry.

• If you use electrical decorations outdoors,

• It you use electrical decorations outdoors, make sure they're rated for such usage. When the children open their presents, dispose of the wrapping paper in a closed trash container as soon as possible. Children using electrical toys should be supervised by an adult.

 Get every member of your family together, and work out a fire escape plan. If a fire breaks out, leave the house at once. Memorize the emergency number for your fire department, and call from outside the house. If remember the number, use the 911 emergency number.

Now that the weather is getting colder, Insp. Steimuller also has some suggestions for those who use home fireplaces. If you haven't used it lately, before you start the fire, make sure. birds and squirrels haven't built nests in the

· Be sure your chimney is functional, not just decorative. Your chimney should be lined its entire length and a few inches beyond with a flue pipe, covered by outside brick. If your chimney is not flue-lined, check for broken bricks or mortar leaks. Have someone check the roof where the chimney emerges, to be sure it is clear of ivy, tree limbs, nests or dried twigs and branches. It should have a fire screen to prevent accumulation of debris and to break up large sparks.

Salmonella Update

The recent media coverage concerning salmonella in eggs has caused lots of confusion. Eggs were thought to be contaminated by bacteria on the shell and most cases of salmonella were attributed to cracked, spoiled, and improperly prepared or stored eggs. This increased outbreak of salmonella has puzzled scientists, and they are examining other possible causes such as disinfectants. feeds, or hens.

Salmonella in raw foods of animal origin. such as meat, poultry, fish, milk and eggs, has been a source of possible illness for many years. However, these bacteria, and the potential for illness is easily destroyed if good food safety practices and adequate cooking procedures are observed.

The risk of contracting salmonellosis from raw or undercooked eggs is small for the general population, but there are several high risk categories: the elderly, the very young, pregnant women and those weakened by serious illness or an impaired immune system. The USDA and FDA specialists suggest that you avoid eating raw eggs or raw egg pro-oucts until the mystery is solved. Eggs should be fully coagulated (140°F for two and a half minutes). Do not eat soft cooked or eggs fried sunny side up. Eggs should be fried three minutes on each side; soft cooked. seven minutes

In addition, keep cold egg dishes below 40°F and hot egg dishes above 140°F, and do not leave egg dishes at room temperatures for more than a hour (including preparation).

For more information on egg safety, send a self-addressed, stamped, legal-size envelope to: "Handling Eggs Safely at Home," Cornell • Cooperative Extension, 1425 Old Country Read, Plainview, NY 11803. If you would also like to receive another fact sheet available from Cornell Cooperative Extension on salmonella, attach an additional stamp to the envelope.

...Relax Enjoy Family and Friends, Think Positively...Beat the Holiday Blues.

It's okay to be a bit grumpy or sad during the holidays. In fact, believing that you have to be full of good cheer can actually plunge you into the "Holiday Blues." Psychotherapist Phyllis LaBella, CSW, of N.Y.S. Society of Clinical Social Work Psychotherapists, says that we can become depressed if we expect to feel joyous during the holidays, or think that others expect us to feel that way. "Some of us feel that the holidays will magically lift our spirits and make problems seem far away," LaBella says. When that doesn't happen, we can feel very

"A healthier attitude," according to LaBella, "is to think of the season as just another time of the year to relax; to get together with friends and family members we love. Try to reflect on all the positives in life, and be thankful for them. But don't expect your problems to disappear.

Dealing With Holiday Blues

LaBella, says certain problems make it hard not to feel blue during the holidays: Following are the most common causes of the holiday blues, and some ways of dealing with them:

Loss through death or separation.

During the holidays, there is a tendency to mourn loved ones who have died, no matter how much time has lapsed. A recent divorce or broken love affair also often stirs feelings of anger or sadness. Try to remember the good times spent together and be thankful for them. Don't feel guilty—you aren't negating their loss by en joying the holidays.

Being single. The holidays are about family values, and single people can feel left out. Those who live far from siblings sometimes can't, or don't, wish to return home. Remember that "family" doesn't have to be limited to marriage or blood relation-ships. Create your own holiday traditions by inviting freinds and other single people over to form an extended family.

Parent-child conflict. Teenagers, or young adults who have left home, can view the holidays as a threat to their in-dependence. Parents often "infantilize" older children at holiday time, treating them as though they were very young Parents

Childlessness: Because it is so much a "child's" holiday, Christmas is difficult for couples who can't have children. However, all of us still have children in our lives. It's wonderful to be able to spend the holidays with nieces, nephews and children of friends. Take advantage of the chance to be a kid again yourself by sharing their wonder and excitement. (Ed. note: you could even, be a Big Brother or Sister for the holidays...call 864-1313.)

Although holiday blues are common, according to LaBella, anxiety and depression that begin before the holidays and last for weeks afterward indicate that psychotherapy can help.

Learning About Learning Disabilities

by Anita Gurian, Ph.D. Schneider Children's Hospital

Many children with learning disabilities are not diagnosed until they reach school and have experienced a series of failures. While school districts provide for the special needs of the learning disabled, early recognition and remediation can be critical. Parents should be familiar with the following information: What is a Learning Disability?

Learning disability is a term commonly used to describe a variety of disorders that can interfere with a child's ability to learn ef-fectively. The child who has difficulty learning because of a learning disability is not less intelligent than the child who learns quickly. What Causes a Learning Disability?

While the actual cause is unknown, most learning disabilities are not due to a physical abnormality. The root of the problem is in the abnormality. The root of the proofers in the child's finability to process information. It may be helpful to think of learning as taking place in a series of steps. First, information has to be recorded in the brain before it is organiz-ed and understood. Then the information is stored in the memory and, finally, it is com-municated to others. When a child has a learning disability something along the way interferes with this process.

What Are the Symptoms of a Learning Disability?

All children are different and a learning disability may be exhibited in various ways While some children have just a few symp toms, others may have several. Some children have difficulty interpreting things they see, for example, the child might reverse letters seeing "b" for "d" or "p" for "q" or the word "was" for "saw." Or, the disability may affect tasks such as udging distance, doing puzzles, catching a ball or any skills that require the eyes and hands working together.

Some other ways a learning disability may

- * Sequencing—telling a story out of order

 * Memory—not remembering words to nursery rhymes or songs, a spelling list or math
- * Language—trouble finding the right word and making grammatical mistakes * Social situations—not picking up subtle
- social clues, inappropriate behavior *Coordination—clumsiness in fine or gross
- motor activities
- Concentration—distractability, inability to focus and maintain attention

What Can Parents Do?

Early diagnosis can help. Find out where your child's strengths and weaknesses lie; each child learns in his own way. If you suspect a problem have your child tested by a qualified specialist such as a psychologist, education or language specialist or a developmental pediatrician. This professional should help design a learning approach that will utilize the child's strengths rather than magnifying weaknesses.

With early detection and treatment, it is possible to avoid and minimize later difficulties. Treatment may include educational remediation, modifying the school setting.

counseling and/or medication. With proper help, children with learning disabilities develop confidence and become competent and successfully functioning adults.

Another problem may cause the child to have difficulty interpreting what is heard, such as subtle differences in sounds — words like "work" and "walk" or "fin" and "fan." When children cannot process what they hear as quickly as expected, they often miss part of what people say to them. Then they misunderstand and respond incorrectly

You Might Be Allergic to Your Weekend Home

If you're prone to allergies, your weekend home may be the very cause of heightened suffering itchy, watery eyes, a swollen, raspy throat and sneezing—you may already know

Specialists at The New York Eye and Ear Infirmary have reported a sharp rise in allergy cases and have uncovered a new source of allergies-their patients' weekend homes

"Weekend-house allergy afflicts people who have always had allergies, as well as adults that never had allergies before and are perplexed as to why they have developed them now," said Dr. Charles Kimmelman, chief of The Nasal Center at The New York Eye & Ear Infirmary. "Many of these patients spend weekends at vacation homes that are closed up during the week. Because there is no ventilation, house dust and mold, the most common cause of allergic rhinitis, accumulate to levels where they cause problems. In a well-ventilated home, these same people have no problems.

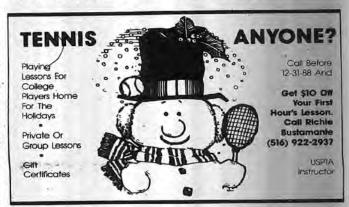

Individuals who have hay fever, or other related allergies, are born with a predisposi-tion to turn on specific antibodies which lead to allergies. While the immune system identifies and destroys disease causing organisms, an excess of these antibodies, harbored in the soft tissue surrounding blood vessels in the lungs, sinuses, skin and other areas, causes oversensitivity to even the most benugn particles, such as dust.

"Keep the air in the house circulating. A central air-control system that hears, humidifies, cools and filters air is ideal," says Dr. Kimmelman. "If you don't want to leave the air conditioning running during the week, turn it on when you arrive and go out, anywhere, for an hour. When you return, the house will be well-venulated and free from trouble-makers."

You Auto Know

By D.F. Karppi

We have all become more knowledgeable about the effects of drinking. We no longer look on someone who is drunk as funny. We see a person who is ill and out of control.

More and more young people have learned that if they intend to drink, there should be a designated driver in the group.

During this holiday season, there is a new emphasis being placed on what can be drunk safely.

The Governor's Traffic Safety Committee (GTSC) and Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) has launched the state's "Toast To Life" campaign, designed to offer sensible alter-natives to drinking and driving during the holidays.

The campaign centerpiece is a recipe book with nearly 100 recipes for non-and low-alcohol drinks, and high protein foods that slow the body's absorption of alcohol. Hosting tips, along with information on DWI laws and the effects of alcohol, are also included.

"The holidays are celebrations of life by families and friends. Unfortunately, we've seen too many DWI accidents turn holiday celebrations into tragedies," said Governor Mario M. Cuomo.

During last year's holiday season, from Thanksgiving through New Year's, 265 peo-ple died in traffic accidents on New York's highways, according to DMV statistics. About one-third of the holiday fatalities, 85 deaths, were alcohol-related.

"It's becoming increasingly popular for people to ask for alternatives to alcoholic becapes, said DMV Commissioner Patricia Adduci. "This makes sense when you consider the dangers of drinking and driving." In cooperation with the NYS Food Merchants Association, supermarkets across the state have purchased and will distribute about

65,000 recipe books. The N.Y.S. Christmas Tree Growers Association is assisting in distributing

A Car Care Reminder

Good brakes are especially important in hazardous driving conditions. Why not take the time now to have your mechanic check the condition of your vehicle's brake system and the adequacy of brake linings and pads. Motorists who have a problem with a repair shop, inspection station or dealer should call the Department of Motor Vehicles toll free Automotive Helpline 1 (800) 342-3823.

the road. Why not take the time now to check the condition and tread depth of all tires, in-cluding the spare, and always keep tires inflated to the recommended pressure. Motorists who have a problem with a repair shop, inspection station or dealer should call the Department of Motor Vehicles toll free Automotive Helpline 1 (800) 342-3823.

Take the Time to Check Car's Exhaust System

Long idling periods in winter's cold weather and slow-moving traffic conditions increase the risk of carbon monoxide poisoning. October is New York State Car Care Month, so why not take the time now to check your vehicle's exhaust system and repair any holes and leaks. Motorists who have a problem with a repair shop, inspection station or dealer should call the Department of Motor Vehicles toll free Automotive Helpline 1 (800) 342-3823.

Check Your Headlights For Safe Driving

Visibility diminishes as winter weather sets in. Why not take the time now to check your vehicle's headlights, tail lights, stop lamps, directional signals and hazard warning signals to be sure they work properly. Lenses should be cleaned frequently during bad weather months so you can see better and be seen. Motorists who have a problem with a repair shop, inspection station or dealer should call the Department of Motor Vehicles toll free Automotive Helpline 1 (809) 342-3823

Your vehicle needs more air than gasoline to run properly. Why not take the time now to check to make sure your air filter is clean. Motorists who have a problem with a repair shop, inspection station or dealer should call the Department of Motor Vehicles toll free Automotive Helpline 1 (800) 342-3823.

Your Radiator Needs

Regular Maintenance
With the current winter driving conditions, why not take the time now to test the strength and level of the anti-freeze/coolant. Flush and refill the radiator every other year; in the alternate year add rust inhibitor and water pump lube. Motorists who have a problem with a repair shop, inspection station or dealer should call the Department of Motor Vehicles toll free Automotive Helpline 1 (800) 382-3823.

In Bad Weather Keep An Adequate Fuel Supply

A full fuel tank is good safety insurance in bad weather. Why not take the time now to keep your gas tank more than half-full at all times to prevent excessive condensation in the fuel system and assure an adequate fuel supply during unexpected bad weather days. Motorists who have a problem with a repair shop, inspection station or dealer should call the Department of Moror Vehicles toll free Automotive Helpline 1 (800) 342-3823.

Maria Paradiso Exerts 'Total Determination'

By Michael Lewis

Finally, Hicksville senior midfielder Maria

Finally, Hicksville senior moneiger Maria Paradiso got the opportunity to pick on somebody her own size. Instead of battling bigger and faster players as she has all year, Paradiso played soccer on a girls team for the very first time this season at the reccent Exceptional Seniors Games.

In her previous 20 games in her senior year, Paradiso played on the Hicksville High boys'

'It would have been a shame if she didn't play soccer this season," said her youth coach, loe Lee of the Sachem Tomahawks, "I think she has a good chance [for a scholarship]. She could be high Division II or middle Division I."

Paradiso, who turned 17 on Oct. 21, was able to show what she can do at a level more familiar to her at the Games, which showcased the top seniors in Nassau and Suffolk coun-ties at Walt Whitman High School in Huntington.

Paradiso said she had her typical game nerves before starting for the Nassau Blue team, which played a scoreless tie against the

'I feel good," she said. "I was playing with girls. I liked playing with them."

At least one coach walked away impressed — Yale assistant coach Karen Parker, who is trying to recruit Paradiso. "She's a very smart player," said Parker, one of 120 college coaches who used the Games as a scouting or recruiting trip. "She always settled the ball and controlled it. She always worked for a short, simple pass, which is difficult to do in a tournament like this."

And playing with the boys certainly didn't hurt. "It probably was the best simulation you can get." Parker said.

It wasn't planned this way. Last year Paradiso was ready to play for the Hicksville girls' team, but not enough girls came out. The team folded, leaving her without a team, Paradiso spoke to boys' coach Ed Moeller, who gave her a tryout. While she did not start, Paradiso usually played sweeper or stopper with some midfield thrown in here or the about 15 to 20 minutes per game.

"I think she played great," Moeller said. "I don't think she ever made a mistake.

What she lacked in strength and speed she made up in intelligence, field sense and her overall knowledge of the game."

MARIA PARADISO

Added Paradiso, "My skill helped me through it...I learned to react faster and play

She admitted she was more comfortable at midfield, although against the boys, "I was tentative taking the ball up."

Lee saw Paradiso play twice — during the egular and in the Nassau Class A semifinals. "The coach has to respect her to play her in a game like that," he said.

Paradiso has built up an impressive soccer resume. She has played in the Empire State Games, for the New York State Select Team and attended regional camp the past two

She might be best known for her timely goals for the Tomahawks when they won the Patricia Masotto Cup in 1986.

In the national semifinals against the Houston Phoenix, Paradiso scored the first goal as the Tomahawks turned a 2-0 deficit with 12 minutes left into a 4-2 overtime victory over Phoenix of Houston.

In the final, Paradiso scored the first goal in a 3-1 triumph over Zodiax of Seattle. "She has total determination," Lee said

"She is always working to improve herself. She works extremely hard. Her attitude is always positive. Even is she's having a bad day, she never gets down on herself."

Perhaps that was the reason she was accepted so readily by the team.
Hicksville forward Jack Fabrizio said
Paradiso was just one of the guys.
"She fit in well with the team," forward

Mike Luongo said. "It was quality time for her. She was an asset to the team!
