Gas Main Break on West Nicholas Street

A construction crew working at Trinity Lutheran School broke a LILCO underground gas main Monday and caused area people to be evacuated, according to a fire department spokesperson.

Hicksville firefighters, working at another alarm—a smoke condition—at Broadway Mall, responded at about 12:40 p.m. to West Nicholas Street with six units under the direction of assistant chief A. Merk. The school, local stores and apartments were evacuated as a precaution.

Second Precinct Police assisted in the evacuation and traffic control while firefighters dispersed the cloud of gas. LILCO workers responded to the scene, located the valve and shut off the flow of natural gas. By 4:30 p.m., traffic resumed and area people returned.

Hicksville Projects Move Forward

Fire House Construction Makes Headway

The new Hicksville Fire Department sub-station on Levittown Parkway and Blueberry Lane is tentatively scheduled for completion in October, according to Al Bianculli, chairman of the Hicksville Board of Fire Commissioners. Much work has already been completed on the station which will be a three and one half bay house occupied by two or three companies.

Renovation of St. Stephen's is Under Way

The Evangelical Lutheran Church of St. Stephen at 270 South Broadway will be undergoing major renovations and expansions. According to Jennifer Schmoller, parish communicator, the project includes adding a new parking lot, ground level entrance and lobby, the installation of an elevator to make all levels of the church accessible to the handicapped, renovation of the narthex, chancel and nave, and the construction of a free-standing bell tower. Ms. Schmoller said that although contracts are currently being finalized, "We're hoping to break ground this summer." Funds for the projects are donated by members and friends of the church.

Motor Vehicle Anticipates Summer Completion

Underground work has been completed and visible construction has appeared at the new Department of Motor Vehicle office on South Broadway. According to Robert Chauvin, regional director for the Long Island Department of Motor Vehicle, the office is scheduled to be in operation sometime in the summer. "We're hoping for June or July," said Mr. Chauvin. Construction began in October.

Dr. Lupo Takes the 'Ouch!' Out of Back Pain

By Catherine Tokar

Back problems are not something to take lightly, according to Dr. Joseph Lupo, one of the area's leading chiropractors. In fact, back problems rank second to the common cold for lost work time. "Eliminating stress on the spine helps the overall health of the individual," explained Dr. Lupo, who lives and practices in Hicksville. "By detecting misalignments in the spinal bones and correcting them, we can greatly reduce the irritations on the nervous system as a whole."

According to Dr. Lupo, chiropractic is similar to modern preventive dentistry in that proper chiropractic maintenance care acts to deter spinal degeneration. "At the turn of the century, people didn't receive regular dental care, so they lost their teeth. Modern preventive dentistry has saved many teeth and chiropractic behaves much the same way by preventing the degeneration of the spine."

The most common problems Dr. Lupo treats are lower back and neck pain, head aches, migraines and muscular and skeletal aches. He helps spinal degeneration as well as degenerative arthritic conditions by using state-of-the-art therapeutic equipment and modern x-ray diagnostic equipment. For the patients' convenience, a full laboratory facility on the premises allows Dr. Lupo and his staff to provide the most modern, yet gentle, chiropractic procedures. A consultation with the doctor will determine the intensity and duration of the therapy, provided without obligation to begin or continue treatment.

Dr. Lupo said that maintaining an active lifestyle - and that does not mean a person has to be a "super jock," - is one of the most important factors in helping prevent back injury. Merely taking a brisk walk a few days week might do the trick.

Dr. Lupo is assisted by the personal and professional staff of Madeleine Belvedere and Annette Hammelman. He is a member of the American Chiropractic Association Council on Diagnostic Imaging and the New York State Chiropractic Association and is a diplomate of the National Board of Chiropractic Examiners. He is vice president of the Hicksville Kiwanis Club, and participates in post graduate seminars and continuing education courses to keep on top of such field advancements as x-ray diagnosis and physical therapeutics.

For more information about Hicksville's Dr. Lupo, who can take the "Ouch!" out of back pain, call 933-6920, or visit 762 S. Oyster Bay Rd., on the corner of Field Avenue and directly across from Merry Oldsmobile. Hours are Monday, Wednesday and Friday 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. to 7 p.m., Tuesday afternoons by appointment and Saturday 9 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Duffy Park Civic Meets

Duffy Park Civic Association will meet Monday, Jan. 30 at 8 p.m. at Old Country Road School. Guest speaker includes Richard Blankfein, commissioner of the Town of Oyster Bay's Department of Planning and Development. Also, a representative from the Community Projects Bureau will discuss the neighborhood watch program.

Darian's A 4-H Winner

Darian Todd Odabasi has been selected as the New York State winner in the National 4-H Citizenship Awards Program. Darian, a senior at Syosset High School, was honored last week at the National 4-H Congress held in Chicago, Illinois. The 4-H Citizenship Program is part of the 4-H Youth Development Program for children 7 through 19 and focuses on community service, government and heritage. In addition to all of Darian's volunteer work and community service during his 12 years in 4-H, he has also been very active in Boy Scout Troop #293 in Hicksville, where he recently became an Eagle Scout.

As part of many different community services, Darian brought together other 4-H members, Boy Scouts, friends and family in a project to restore 400 feet of historic Virginia fence at the Old Bethpage Village Restoration. Boy Scout Troop 293 is very proud of Darian's work—not only for having earned the Eagle Rank, which is Scouting's highest award, but also because he was selected as the #1 Scout in Nassau County and was asked to represent all the Eagle Scouts as Class Spokesperson at the Merchant Marine Academy Eagle Dinner at Kings Point. Darian has chosen to continue with Boy Scouts and is in the process of earning his Palms. Upon graduating this June, he hopes to pursue a career in medicine.

Hicksville Is Going Nationwide

First of all—wasn't it great seeing and hearing Billy Joel former Hicksville High School student, singing the Star Spangled Banner at the Super Bowl last Sunday?

Another example of Hicksville "getting around" was the TV cameras focusing in on pitcher Ed Hearn (Kansas City) in December. In the opening of the rehabilitation show the camera zeroed in on Hearn's Hicksville Ebbets Field Cafe shirt. It received wide exposure in the nation's heartland.

Ed and his wife Pat made a holiday visit to Eileen and Doug Dwyer's new home and related the story to the cafe owners. Ed is a pitcher for Kansas City and was traded from the Mets for David Cone three years ago. Eileen and Pat became friends when both were in Nursing School at Molloy College.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity. We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only.

We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

Community Input Needed

To The Editor:

Town Supervisor Angelo A. Delligatti met with several community leaders in the fall to discuss parks and recreational facilities in Hicksville. The result of the meeting was the appointment of an 18-member advisory Hicksville Park District Task Force.

The members of the task force are active members in various Hicksville organizations involved with athletics, business, civics, education, religion, senior citizens, services, and youth. The task force is comprised of members from different areas of Hicksville who have a wide range of interests and backgrounds.

The purpose and goal of the task force is to evaluate all existing parkland and any properties which could possibly be utilized for recreational needs. The task force will base its recommendations on the needs of the community. In order to achieve this goal, we are asking for community input. Two questionnaires are currently being developed, one for athletic organizations and the other which will be distributed to all residential homes in Hicksville.

If you have any suggestions or comments with respect to parks in Hicksville, we ask that you contact any of the task force members. The task force includes: Phil

Caputo, Barbara Dale, Kathy Del Rosso, Ellie Draycott, Mary Ann Ferrado, Norma Goerke, Rev. Dr. Theodore Grant, Marc Herbst, Michael Kanuck, Effie Krogmann, Rosella Maggio, Thomas J. McGovern, Jr., Jo Ann Miltenberg, Sheila Noeth, Tony Previte, Marcos Ramirez, Greg Simonelli and John A. Walker.

Written comments may be sent to Town Supervisor Angelo A. Delligatti, Town Hall, 54 Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay, N.Y. 11771. Supervisor Delligatti will forward any correspondence to the task force.

Blinking Light Suggested

To The Editor:

A recent three-vehicle collision was the latest of the South Elm Street-Plainview Road intersection accidents. In the picture below, two small cars collided into a special school bus traveling west a few weeks ago. A woman in one car went to the hospital and the bus operator had a close call. The intersection has no signal lights of any kind and many drivers don't make full stops at the stop signs. This has been going on for years. I think a yellow blinking light would be a prevention.

EDITORIAL AND OPINION

A Letter from Lulabelle...

...Do you remember—or are you still anticipating—your first fur coat?...If you are a person who likes fur, you know that there's something so special and glamorous about seeing yourself in a fur coat for the first time....There you are before a full-length mirror looking at a you you never supposed you were—elegant, distinguished, ready for all kinds of exciting events—in short, the you that's only been hidden inside until now....My first fur coat, so very long ago, was a kind I don't even ever hear about now—a "mouton lamb"....I'm not sure what that was—or is—but it cost $125 and since I was making $1,500 a year teaching school, you can imagine just what kind of substantial investment that was to me!....I had a hat covered with feathers to go with it and I can tell you, I was so very pleased with myself—you can see it in the old snapshots in my scrapbook....I look as if I thought I had really arrived at success!....No other coat has ever had the same affect....And all of you ladies—and the men are wearing them too—know how exciting it is to choose the coat, the style, the lining and then to have your very own initials embroidered inside....And every time you wear it—and, of course, you wear it on every possible occasion—you feel again that glow, that specialness—not to mention how warm they are....If you want a fur coat, I hope you get yours soon and if you already have one, you know what I mean.

Congressional Pay Raises — Pro and Con

By Martin Burns

Recently the President endorsed the recommendations of the so called "Quadrennial Commission". Unless both the House of Representatives and the Senate vote against the move within a month, the salaries of members of Congress will be raised to $135,000 per year.

At present, members of Congress receive $89,500 a year as salary. Those in favor of the salary increases contend that federal salaries have not in recent years kept pace with inflation. They point out that federal salaries are only about 65% of what they were worth in 1969.

Those against the salary raise, point out that $89,500 a year is more than most Americans earn. They argue that a 50% pay raise is irresponsible when the nation is faced with a huge budget deficit. Many of those in the anti-increase camp believe that it is unconscionable that members of Congress should be awarded pay increases without voting on the issue. The Democratic leader in the Senate, George Mitchell of Maine, has indicated that the Senate will vote on the pay raise. It appears almost certain at this time that the pay raise will be voted down by a sizeable margin. The issue of the pay raise will in all probability be decided in the House. Earlier, there were frequent reports and rumors that the Democratic leadership and in particular Speaker of the House Jim Wright (D-TX), would not allow the measure to come to the floor for a vote. This prompted Wright to issue a terse statement saying in part that "I will neither encourage nor prevent a vote. Regular procedure will be followed."

There is opposition in both Houses of Congress to the pay raise. An interestingly coalition of conservatives and liberals have developed. In the past, the president has sharply cut the amount that the Quadrennial Commission has recommended. This time he has endorsed their findings.

It can be argued that the one thing that Congress does badly is regulate the salaries of its members. There is much political heat put on a member who votes to raise his own salary. However, members of Congress have a difficult job which requires them to relocate to another city while maintaining a residence at home and often to spend much time away from their family. A large number of members of Congress are earning far less as public servants than they could in private enterprise. They knew all this when they ran for election. Nevertheless, they should be fairly compensated.

There is a strong argument to be made in favor of the proposed congressional pay hike. I would hope that the Democratic leadership in the House would have the courage to bring the matter to a vote on the floor. If they don't have the courage to act on this matter, perhaps they don't deserve the raises in the first place.

IN THE DAYS BEFORE REFRIGERATION, LONG ISLANDERS WOULD HARVEST ICE FROM NUMEROUS PONDS DURING THE WINTER MONTHS. LARGE BLOCKS OF ICE WERE STORED IN ICE HOUSES, WHERE THEY WERE PACKED IN HAY AND/OR SANDWICHES WHICH HELPED INSULATE THEM FROM MELTING AWAY—AND THEN COULD BE USED THROUGHOUT THE YEAR TO KEEP MEAT & FISH FRESH.

What the Politicians are Saying....

From ASSEMBLYMAN JOHN C. COCHRANE: Speech and hearing-impaired New Yorkers will be able to use the telephone to communicate with hearing people. The New York Relay Service will link all users of telecommunications devices for the deaf with the hearing community stateside. This is a typewriter like device for sending and receiving printed messages over telephone lines enabling users to make their own calls 24 hours a day to anyone in the state. The user places the call by calling toll free 1-800-662-1220. Hearing persons wishing to call a device user may call toll free 1-800-423-1200. Calls will be charged on a "point to point" basis which means that a device user who makes a local call will be charged for a local call even though the call is routed through a distant point. In addition, since a call will last longer than the same call between hearing parties, the cost will be discounted 50 percent.

From CONGRESSMAN TOM DOWNEY: Recently I met with a group of Roman Catholic nuns who informed me of a unique problem facing religious communities which have been caught by a quirk in the Social Security and Medicare laws which does not take into account their lifetime commitment to the religious life. Most members of religious communities are not eligible for primary Medicare coverage because they never officially retire but continue to work in some capacity within their communities and, therefore, many religious orders continue to pay Social Security taxes for nuns, priests and brothers over 65 making them ineligible for Medicare. I have discussed this problem with the chairman of the Health Subcommittee and he has indicated that he is willing to work with me to resolve this problem.

Birthday parties, special celebrations and political conventions all have one thing in common — balloons. Yes, balloons have become the common denominator for celebration.

Millions of toy balloons are manufactured each year. They may be rubber, metallic or plastic. They are every color of the rainbow and children have as much fun blowing them up as they do playing with them. They come in the shape of globes, dinosaurs, hearts and letters. They are found at parties, parade routes, the circus and events of all types. But, where did the balloon, as we know it, come from?

There are many stories about balloons. There seems to be two theories and both may have developed at the same time. The balloon first came to being as a paper globe in China several hundred years ago. It may have developed as a toy out of the desire of humans to fly. One of the earliest recorded reference about balloons came during the middle ages. Comments appeared at that time about trying to fly through the use of a hollow globe made from thin sheets of copper.

Another early mention of efforts to fly with a balloon comes from Mexico where a citizen of Veracruz in 1667 allegedly broke a leg in "...a fall following an ascent in a strange device with fire." The device with fire is an obvious reference to the source of heat under a globe enabling the balloon to rise. An additional reported use of the balloon to fly comes from the year 1709. Bartholomew Laurence de Gusmao of Lisbon demonstrated the heated balloon's capacity to rise before several audiences. The reports state that it was a small balloon with an "earthen tray" as a "fire box" to heat the air. Gusmao and his balloon, however, faded into history.

Turning to France, there was another use of balloons that did make history. It was in the early 1780's that the Montgolfier brothers first developed their own small paper balloons in an effort to fly. In 1783, they made a fairly large balloon, and it was able to fly.

Professor Jacques Charles heard of these experiments and fashioned his own balloon. Crowds gathered to watch the new spectacle. In the assemblage, watching the professor's flight, were John Quincy Adams and Benjamin Franklin. While Professor Charles' balloon flight ended with local farmers destroying the "monster" because they were frightened by its descent, the flights of balloons were fun for spectators.

Professor Charles continued his flights. With later ascents, vendors at the launch sites sold eight inch diameter balloons to those gathered. Benjamin Franklin bought one of the small balloons and brought it with him to England. He was soon besieged with requests from many friends — perhaps the start of balloons for fun. Balloons became so popular that hair and clothing styles, jewelry, bird cages, clocks and wallpaper all used the balloon motif.

So, the next time you enjoy a celebration with balloons, remember that even the balloon is a part of history.

Kiwanis Membership Continues to Grow

The Hicksville Kiwanis Club's membership is continuing to grow as a result of the membership roundup initiated by President Tony Citrola.

At the January 11 luncheon meeting of the club, three new members were officially accepted into membership and were inducted as Kiwanians by visiting Kiwanis New York District Past Governor Jim Hebron. In his preliminary remarks, Mr. Hebron thanked the Hicksville Kiwanis Club for asking him to officiate at this ceremony and said that welcoming new members into Kiwanis was the most pleasant part of this year as Governor of the New York District. His remarks to the prospective members included congratulating them on selecting Kiwanis as their service club, reminding them that in joining Kiwanis they would be expected to participate in community-related projects and activities, had the "Objects of Kiwanis" read to them, and upon their promising to abide by these objectives, officially welcomed them into Kiwanis. Tony Citrola pinned the "K" on them.

Smile..February is Children's Dental Health Month

by Keni Woodruff

The Dental Society of the State of New York, as part of National Children's Dental Health Month, is sponsoring "Sugarless Wednesday" (February 8), and "The Longest Sugarless Snack List Contest," in school systems throughout the state. Students in the Dental Society's 13 component school groups will have the opportunity to participate in the Snack List contest. The 13 winners will receive a $50 U.S. Savings Bond and become eligible for a grand prize drawing for a bicycle.

The month long event is aimed at increasing public awareness of the importance of dental care for children. To add additional support to the program, Governor Cuomo recently signed a proclamation designating February as Children's Dental Health Month in N.Y. State.

"It is important for parents and children to understand that caring for children's teeth and gums while they are young will help prevent serious dental problems in later years," according to Dr. Alan Patrignani, 1989 Chairman.

According to the Dental Society, the major cause of dental disease is plaque, a thin, colorless film of bacteria that turns the sugars and starches we eat into acids and other bi-products which are harmful to teeth and gums. Even the very young infant is subject to these bacteria, and the Society offers tips for parents and children which, when made a part of the child's daily routine, will help ensure healthy teeth and gums and a bright smile throughout their lives.

Wipe the very young child's gums and teeth with a damp gauze pad after every feeding.

Don't put an infant to bed with a bottle of milk, formula, juice or sugar water, as the acids that form will remain pooled around gums and teeth for long periods of time. Clear water or a clean pacifier will satisfy the sucking instinct and prevent decay.

Your child's first visit to the dentist should be made by age 2. By this age, the parent

CONTEMPORARY HEALTH CARE ISSUES

Why should you bring your teenage daughter to a gynecologist? Even if she's not sexually active.

As a parent concerned about your daughter's good health, you'll want to make sure that her first trip to the gynecologist is as pleasant and free from anxiety as possible. You know that your own relationship with your gynecologist is built upon trust and respect, and that's why you'll want your daughter to have a professional friend she can talk to before she has any gynecological problems or concerns.

As she develops physically and emotionally into a young woman, your daughter will also be developing a sense of privacy about her own life. And that's why, if she's menstruating regularly, using tampons, plus asking sexual and relationship questions, she's ready to talk to an understanding gynecologist and receive an examination given with extra special sensitivity. . . before she has her first boyfriend. . . before she goes off to college. . . before she's faced with a problem that needs immediate attention.

You may think it's too early to bring in your adolescent daughter. . . but it's better than being too late!

This medical news is being brought to you as a community service by the Long Island Women's Health Care Group. We're a dedicated group of obstetrician-gynecologists who treat each patient as an individual. We're affiliated with the Maternal Child Care Center at Winthrop University Hospital, a major teaching affiliate of SUNY at Stony Brook School of Medicine.

can begin teaching the child how to brush his/her own teeth...a step toward the toddler's own independence.

Teach your child to brush using a small toothbrush with soft, rounded bristles (replace brush as soon as bristles look ragged or bent), using a small dab of fluoride toothpaste. Brushing can be a learning "game" for parent and child until the youngster can manage the routine alone.

Flossing removes plaque from between teeth and under gums. It should be done with parental help until the child is able to master the technique without inadvertently injuring the gums. Cut a 12-18" length of floss and wind most of it around one index finger, the remainder around the other, leaving about 2" between. Slide floss gently between teeth to the gum line, curve into a "C" shape around tooth, scrape gently up and down. Keep winding floss from one finger to the other, cleaning each tooth with a fresh section.

Make a weekly check for plaque part of the "game," using plaque revealing tablets, paste or liquid. These contain harmless vegetable dyes that stain plaque deposits a bright color, and which disappear when plaque is removed.

Fluoride makes the teeth stronger and decrease decay. You may give your child a fluoride supplement, in tablet or drop form, as prescribed by your dentist.

Your dentist may also suggest an application of fluoride while your child is having a regular checkup...especially helpful if your water does not contain fluoride or your child is prone to decay. Use fluoride toothpaste and, for older children (and adults), fluoride mouthrinse (do not swallow).

Regular dental visits, for your whole family, especially when started while children are young, can prevent future problems, enabling the dentist to spot early signs of decay and normal tooth formation.

Healthy diet, too, is essential to dental health, affecting formation of teeth, bone and soft tissue.

Snacks should be healthy and fun, according to the DSSNY, and Sugarless Wednesday and the Sugarless Snack Contest events were developed to provide an opportunity for children to enjoy themselves while learning about proper diet and dental health," says Dr. Patrignani.

A booklet, "Help Your Child Have a Healthy Smile" is available, free, from the DSSNY. Communications Dept., Dental Society of the State of N.Y., 30 E. 42nd St., New York, NY 10017.

Extreme Cold Can Lead to Frostbite...Be Aware, Don't Get Cold Feet...

by Keni Woodruff

Frostbite is a cold injury developed when the body's soft tissue becomes frozen, and is most likely to occur when temperatures drop to 26 F. or its wind-chill equivalent. According to the Nassau County Podiatric Medical Assn., young children, seniors and diabetics are especially susceptible to frostbite. They say:

Wear soft, thick socks for greater absorbency, and change them as often as needed to keep feet dry. Make sure shoes and boots are completely dry before wearing.

If feet appear very white, have a bluish tint, or feel numb after being out in the cold, warm them slowly, then see a podiatrist (a doctor specializing in treatment of foot disorders).

Never allow your feet to be exposed to extreme heat (heating pads, hot water or hot water bottles).

If feet perspire excessively, rub gently with alcohol then dust with a good foot powder before putting on hose.

Always wear water repellent boots while shoveling or being out in the snow or cold/wet for extended periods of time.

To aid circulation after exposure to cold, flex and relax leg and feet muscles.

If you are diabetic or a senior, you should avoid shoveling snow. If not possible, limit the effort to 10/15 minute segments, warming your feet gradually indoors.

Remember: Many diabetics have some degree of feeling loss in their feet, and may not be able to feel extreme cold, thus, being more susceptible to frostbite. Young children, in their exuberance, often do not think about cold and wet and parents are cautioned to dress their youngsters warmly and limit outside exposure.

Dressing wisely, keeping feet and hands warm, dry, allowing good blood circulation, and taking precautions necessary for your age and health, means you can enjoy the cold without endangering your feet or your general health.

Out-Patient Substance Abuse Treatment...

by Keni Woodruff

The public and business community is growing increasingly aware and sympathetic to the social and economic problems faced by the families and employers of compulsive drinkers and substance abusers. Employees in Nassau County and throughout the country are faced with absenteeism, increased accidents, lowered productivity, the confusion and concern of co-workers, and the added burden of rising medical insurance costs.

In addition to the enormous personal tragedy alcoholism and substance abuse incur, businesses across the country are losing millions of dollars due to loss of valuable employee output.

According to Central Recovery Systems, an out-patient substance abuse treatment program serving the business and private sectors of Nassau and Suffolk Counties, national averages indicate that approximately 10% of the workforce is suffering from the progressive effects of this abuse, with absenteeism at a level 2 1/2 times the norm, accident rates 3.6 times higher, compensation claims 5 times greater, and sick benefits used 3 times more frequently than in the non-using or non-abusing employee population.

Recent studies show the loss of these well-trained, formerly competent employees is costly, and employers are finding that 65-80% of employees who enter treatment under supervisory referral, where job jeopardy is present, successfully complete the treatment programs, recovering sufficiently to resume satisfactory job performance. This reduces lost work time by 40% and decreases sickness and accident benefit payouts by nearly 60%. It is estimated that for every dollar spent by the employer, two dollars are regained in work productivity by the rehabilitated employee.

Increasing public awareness and concern about the extent of substance abuse in the workplace has prompted many employers to utilize out-patient treatment and rehabilitation programs to assist their workers in achieving complete recovery, without losing still more time, says CRS.

The benefits of a service like CRS are many fold...the recovering employee receives the treatment, continuing support and psychological help he or she needs so desperately, without the additional stress of job-loss and financial burden so often incurred in an in-patient rehabilitation situation. The employer becomes part of a critical 'life-support' system, and Central Recovery System provides its services at no cost to the employer.

A NY State licensed treatment program, Central Recovery Systems, offers a variety of outpatient programs for alcohol and drug dependent individuals and their families. These include an 18 week 'intensive care' program, covered by most insurers and HMO's. During the first 6 weeks, the individual attends 5 evening group sessions a week (if individual psychological help is needed, it is offered as part of the program). During the remaining 12 weeks, group and individual therapy sessions are held three evenings a week. The program includes support groups for families of the individual to add additional strength to the rehabilitation program.

There are programs available for those individuals who need less intensive care, and a variety of groups for family members, including co-dependents and adult children of alcoholics. CRS takes referrals from state and local agencies, hospitals, private doctors, detoxification centers, and other sources where continuing treatment is not available.

If your company is experiencing the devastating problem of employee substance abuse, if your family is struggling with the many problems facing the recovering alcoholic or drug user, Central Recovery Systems may be the alternative you've been seeking. Call 921-4404 for complete information.

Starting Your Exercise Program By Brad McLam

Fitness Director - The Syosset Club

Keeping physically fit through a program of regular exercise has many benefits. According to a recent Gallup survey, people who exercise regularly:

- feel more relaxed
- have more self confidence
- feel more creative
- enjoy an active social life
- follow a sensible diet
- adopt other good health habits
- feel more satisfied in all areas of life

The benefits of a regular exercise program go well beyond a feeling of physical well being. They include reducing the risk of heart disease, sudden heart attack, high blood pressure, cancer, osteoporosis, obesity and elevated cholesterol levels.

With all of these benefits from regular exercise you would think that everyone is doing it. Unfortunately, only 20 percent of American adults follow a regular exercise and fitness regimen, and only one out of every two people who starts an exercise program actually sticks with it over the long haul.

Boredom is often the cause of short-lived fitness programs. You may like aerobic dancing...jogging...lifting weights...playing racquetball...riding a bicycle. They are all good forms of exercise, but after several weeks or months any one of them can lose its appeal and become a grind.

The answer is diversity. Switch off from time to time so that you look forward to your daily or twice weekly workouts. And, when you look forward to regular exercise sessions it is likely that you will stick with the program.

If you want to discuss the best way for you to get started on a regular exercise program call me at 496-3100.

Statewide Study on Drinking Patterns Released

by Keni Woodruff

The initial results of a statewide survey on alcohol use and problems in New York state, conducted by Louis Harris & Assoc. for the Research Institute on Alcoholism of the N.Y. State Division of Alcohol and Alcohol Abuse and the Division of Substance Abuse Services showed that 75% of adult New Yorkers drink and 15% (1.8 million people) are considered "heavier" drinkers (averaging more than two drinks daily. Seven percent (834,000) consume more than four drinks daily, accounting for half of the alcohol consumed.

The survey, of 6,364 persons 18 and older, was conducted in 1986, with over-sampling in some groups to provide more data about young adults, college students and minority groups.

In contrast to earlier studies which showed the problem decreasing with age, this survey showed that older people, especially males, have drinking rates similar to their middle-age counterparts. 18% of college students are heavier drinkers, and college women have twice the rate of heavier drinking as do their non-college peers.

The study indicates that the younger a person was when drinking began, the more likely they are to be heavy drinkers, regardless of age, now, showing a two to five rate of heavy drinking compared to late starters.

Abstainers, some 26% of the adult population (3.3 million) are equally split between those who once drank and those who never did.

Men have higher drinking rates than women (80% vs. 68%), and four times more heavier drinking (23% vs. 6%). Black males have higher rates of heavy drinking than white or Hispanic males (31% vs. 23% each). The survey also showed that overall drinking is highest in the 21-34 age group (83%), dropping to 55% among those 65 and older.

Among the 18-20 year old respondents, some 24% of those who started drinking at 16 or younger are now heavy drinkers, and of those who started at 17-20, only 10% are now heavier drinkers. The study showed similar ratios in the older age groups.

According to Marguerite T. Saunders, Acting Director of The DAAA, "This connection between early drinking and later problems underscores our efforts to delay the start of alcohol use. Raising the purchase age (21) was one crucial step, and the next challenge is to increase educational efforts, particularly for children of alcoholic parents, and to remind the alcoholic beverage industry of its responsibilities not to advertise or promote products to children and teenagers."

The study covered various "environmental" situations where drinking has become a major problem: Driving while intoxicated...some 13% of adults (1.7 million) had driven while intoxicated during 1986, and approximately 1.5% reported doing this weekly.

In the workforce...6% of the male workforce reported drinking during the workday at least 52 times during the prior year, with male executives topping the list, and laborers, transportation workers, salesmen and clerks, and construction and production workers following in decreasing proportion. Female executives averaged only seven times. Of all workers surveyed, 23% said they had an Employee Assistance Program.

According to Ms. Saunders, "The link between drinking and highway accidents is well known, but this survey documents how problems with the drug, alcohol, are seen in families, schools, jobs and human service agencies."

"Our next challenge," she said, "to be implemented between 1989 and 1994, is to raise awareness, educate staff and increase screening and treatment for alcoholism among clients in health and human service agencies."

For more information on this study, please contact Richard Chady, 518-474-5418 (Albany).

From Woodland Avenue...

Children at Woodland Avenue School enjoyed an afternoon snack and a visit from their good friend Santa in December. The children's activities Committee of the PTA organized the event. Cupcakes, ice cream and juice were served while each child waited patiently to visit and talk about their holiday wishes. Here, first grader Tanya Katowitz asks Santa for her favorite toy as helper Elaine Kabakoff assists.

Woodland Avenue students, parents and staff began their holiday shopping at the PTA Holiday Boutique, organized by Janice Nolan and Maryanne Zeller.

The boutique was a tremendous success, shoppers reported. Children had the opportunity to purchase holiday gifts from a large assortment of items, including jewelry, pens, erasers, mugs and small toys.

From Holy Family...

Busy Month for Students

December was a very busy month for the students at Holy Family School. It began when principal, Sister Eileen McMahon, distributed the first Progress Reports. The following week brought parents to school for Parent-Teacher Conferences.

The pre-kindergarten and kindergarten children were given vision tests to detect any early problems. On Dec. 14, the children from grades pre-k to second went to the Westbury Music Fair to see the Christmas show Merry Cranberry. The fifth and sixth grades went on the 19th to see A Christmas Carol.

In order to bring the true meaning of Christmas home to Holy Family students, the sixth grade pupils, under the direction of their teachers, Mrs. O'Neill and Mrs. Costa, sponsored a program to collect money for the earthquake victims in Armenia.

And finally, Sister Elaine's kindergarten classes were pleasantly surprised when they were each given a yarn "octakitty" made by the eighth grade students.

The Christmas spirit lives all year long in Hicksville's Holy Family School.

After learning about the Armenian earthquake, the students banded together to do something positive to help the victims. In just one week, the students raised $185 to be sent to Armenia in the form of medical supplies. Their pennies, nickles and dimes were presented at a prayer service for the quake victims.

Teacher Carol O'Neill said, "We at Holy Family are quite proud of our students' efforts to 'reach hands across the water.'"

From East Street...

EAST STREET FOURTH graders visit the Gregory Museum.

East Street fourth graders of Mrs. Mingin class had a fine visit to the Gregory Museum. They walked over to Heitz Place, had a tour of the National Historic Building, a former courthouse-town hall, and heard all about Long Island geography and Hicksville water supply from Museum Historian Richard Evers. A special treat was the fluorescent mineral exhibit and a visit to the "Hicksville At the Turn of the Century" historical display. And then they inspected the Old-time Courthouse Jail. What a field trip! Outreach service to Hicksville schools is a notable Gregory contribution.

Local Chiropractor Conducts Food Drive

Dr. Steven J. Tremaroli, a Hicksville chiropractor, has announced that he is conducting a food drive in cooperation with the Salvation Army of Hicksville. On Tuesday, Jan. 31, between the hours of 2 and 8 p.m., Dr. Tremaroli will be accepting canned and dry foods at 362 South Oyster Bay Road in Hicksville. All donations will then be distributed to needy local families by the Salvation Army.

Anyone who donates food at Dr. Tremaroli's office will be entitled, if they choose, to a complimentary consultation and spinal examination. If x-rays are required, they too will be provided at no charge on Jan. 31, 1989 only.

"I feel very strongly about the obligation we have to the hungry on Long Island," said Dr. Tremaroli. "We live in one of the most affluent areas of the United States and yet there are people who go to bed hungry. That is a disgrace and I want to do my share to help. Therefore, all services in my office will be performed without charge on Jan. 31, when a person brings in a food donation. I hope other professionals take my lead and start similar projects."

Dr. Tremaroli requests that you call his office at 935-1030 for further information on this project and to schedule an appointment for a complimentary consultation and spinal examination.

Residents Must Visit Library for Bar Code I.D.

The Hicksville Public Library is automating its library services with a system known as CLSI. The CLSI system will provide speedier and more accurate services to the public. It is currently in use in several public libraries in Nassau County.

In order to progress with automation, it is essential that every Hicksville resident with an Adult Library card come to the library with their card, so that a bar code number can be issued to them. The bar code number is used for the purpose of patron identification and it is necessary for the library's own records.

Please come to the circulation desk as soon as possible to receive your bar code number.

Hicksville Republican Club

Joseph Jablonsky

Robert Kluck
President

By Marc Herbst

Town Supervisor Angelo A. Delligatti served as the installing officer for the Hicksville Republican Club's annual installation of officers ceremony.

Supervisor Delligatti installed Bob Kluck for his second term as club president along with other club officers and directors.

Bob Kluck and his wife Jo have lived in Hicksville since 1950. While residing in the community, they have raised three sons, Bob, Steve and Tom.

Bob has an extensive record in local politics. For more than 20 years, Bob has been an elected public official of the Nassau County Republican Committee. Also, during that period, he has served on the Hicksville Republican Committeemen's Council. He is currently the treasurer for the Council.

Mr. Kluck has been involved with various community organizations. Bob volunteers his time to the St. Ignatius Loyola Parish, where he serves as an usher. He is a fourth degree member of the Joseph Barry Council of the Knights of Columbus. Bob is also a past president of the American Lung Association, Nassau/Suffolk Chapter as well as a member of the Duffy Park Civic Association.

In addition to the club president, Supervisor Delligatti installed all officers of Mr. Kluck's administration. The officers were: Bill Maher, first vice president; Jenny Fischetti, second vice president; John Marks, third vice president; Carol DiMarzo, treasurer; Martha Masseria, recording secretary; Helen Henderson, corresponding secretary; Tony Previte, sergeant-at-arms; and Marc Herbst, publicity director.

Six club members were also installed to serve three-year terms on the board of directors. The directors are: Mary Ann Dealy, Arthur Leo, Joe Giordano, Bob Stenson, Frank Jopp and Fred Vevante.

Congratulations to all the officers and directors on their installation.

The next general membership meeting is scheduled on Friday, Feb. 10, 8:30 p.m., at the Hicksville VFW Hall, 320 South Broadway, Hicksville.

Alumni to Sponsor Scholarship Dinner

The board of directors of the Hicksville Alumni Association voted to sponsor a dinner for top Hicksville High School scholars. Eighty students will be involved.

Plans for an early April testimonial were set in motion at the alumni's January meeting.

President Conrad Weyer appointed Howard Finnegan and Harry Jacobs as co-chairmen. School superintendent Dr. Catherine Fenton will appoint a school coordinating liaison.

Seven hundred dollars has been donated as seed funds. At the urging of the chair, the association matched the anonymous original donations.

Other board actions included accepting the nominating committee (chaired by Harry Jacobs) slate of officers and directors for 1989. They are: Conrad Weyer, president; Harry Jacobs, vice president; James Fyfe, treasurer; Karin Weyer, recording secretary; Grace Way, membership; Janice Manaskie, corresponding secretary. Three-year term on the board.

of directors: John Ajello, Bob Scuziello, Tom Manaskie, Nancy Rooney, Pete Humann and Joyce Jurgerson.

The recommendations to submit a raise in dues to $5 was adopted. The raise will take effect in 1990.

Report of the alumni concession stand at football and basketball games was given by Harry Jacobs and Tom Manaskie.

Profit from early sales encouraged the association to vote a $500 support toward the Disneyland trip of the Hicksville High School band.

Howard Finnegan was appointed editor of the annual newsletter that is sent to members with the annual report. Grace Way and Ellen Bruwer will organize and produce the label and address list. Grace Way agreed to chair the annual spring brunch. Alumni sweaters, designed by Doug Dwyer, were modeled.

An alumni banner, (in black with orange letters) to be displayed at Alumni fund-raisers, was unveiled.

Postal Service Reminds: Clear Ice and Snow

"Each year, the hazards of ice and snow cause numerous accidents and injuries to letter carriers and other delivery people. Prevention is simply a matter of clearing, salting and/or sanding the stairway or pathway to provide safe access to the mailbox or front door," said Roger Nienaber, General Manager/Postmaster, Long Island Division.

The Postmaster stressed, "Ice is particularly dangerous on steps and any walking surface, especially painted wood or concrete, like stoops and porches. We will get the mail through, but we need a little help from our customers."

In addition, items such as children's toys, sleds, accumulation of wet leaves, loose bricks, broken steps and cracked walkways are contributing factors in many injuries sustained by delivery people, visitors or family members. The Postal Service urges everyone to examine their property and make any repairs as needed. The elimination of these hazardous conditions will benefit all concerned.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 ♥	Pass

Some deals you hear about sound much more like fiction than fact. For example, here's one that may test your credulity. It occurred, believe it or not, in a head-on match between two of the leading teams in a life masters national team-of-four championship.

At the first table, the bidding went as shown. It is obvious that North vastly overestimated the value of his hand. Granting that South's one spade response was very intriguing, North surely overstated his high-card power when he made a jump-shift in diamonds and then leaped to five spades over three hearts. This was really too much!

Of course, the slam should have gone down one, missing two aces. But it did not occur to West that his partner held the ace of trumps, and, unfortunately, he decided that desperate measures were necessary to overcome the slam that North-South had bid so confidently.

Accordingly, he led the deuce of diamonds! West was hoping to find dummy with the K-J, East with the queen, and that declarer would play the jack from dummy. However, it turned out that this was not the right time or place to underlead an ace against a slam, and South easily made the contract. He won the diamond lead with the queen, cashed the ace of clubs, discarding the king of diamonds from dummy, played a trump, and that was the end of that.

At the second table, the bidding went differently, but the final contract was exactly the same! Again South got to six spades, again West underled the ace of diamonds, and again South made a slam — so the deal was a washout!

Now do you agree that truth is stranger than fiction?

TOWN OF OYSTER BAY TOPICS

The Town Clerk's Hicksville Annex Opens for 1989 General Tax Payment

Residents are reminded that the first half of the 1989 General Tax Levy which was due on January 1, 1989, may be paid, without penalty, through Feb. 10, 1989, according to Town Receiver of Taxes Gary F. Musiello.

"By law, a taxpayer has a 40-day grace period from the date the tax is due during which payment may be made without penalty," Musiello explained. "After that 40 days, a 1% penalty is added for each month the tax remains unpaid, retroactive to January 1st."

The Town Clerk's Annex, located in the Town Parking Garage at Newbridge Road and Duffy Avenue in Hicksville, will be open to receive general tax payments, on Monday, Feb. 6 through Friday, Feb. 10. The Annex will remain open from 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. to receive tax payments.

Residents can pay in person at the Tax Office, Oyster Bay Town Hall West, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay, or at the Town Clerk's Office in Town Hall South, 977 Hicksville Road, Massapequa, during the hours of 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., weekdays. Payment can also be made by mail.

When paying in person bring the entire tax bill with the payment. Payment being made by mail for the first half of the year should include Stub #1 and #2 should be included if the entire tax for the year is being paid.

Residents are cautioned not to write on, cut, fold, staple or otherwise deface the tax stubs as it can cause the computer to reject the payment.

Vacant Town Board Seat Waits to be Filled

With former Town of Oyster Bay Councilman Kenneth Diamond fully involved in his duties as a District Court Judge, watchers of the local political scene are still guessing at who will be appointed to his vacant seat on the town board.

At a recent press conference, Supervisor Angelo Delligatti provided a list of candidates for the position, although he does not expect to make any final recommendation until next month.

One of the more likely candidates is Leonard Symons, a resident of Plainview. An assistant district attorney at the same time Delligatti was, his closeness to the planned Oyster Bay resource recovery facility is considered a drawback because the supervisor does not want Simmons to be a target for opponents of the incinerator.

Joseph Covello, also from Plainview, is under consideration. Covello, an attorney, became known in local political circles in his campaign against Assemblyman Lewis Yevoli last November.

John Galasso of Oyster Bay is also in contention. However, since Councilman Thomas

Hogan is from nearby Locust Valley, Delligatti may not wish to have two board members so closely related geographically.

Leonard Kunzlig, who heads the town's golf course operations, is another name on the slate. A resident of Bethpage, he was administrative assistant to former Supervisor Joseph Colby before assuming his current position.

Ken Davis of Massapequa, town spokesperson Marlene Kastleman and Lois McKenna, a member of the Federation of Republican Women in Farmingdale, are also interested in the post.

Delligatti said that the front runner changes daily and could provide no definite insight. He added that although the decision will be primarily his own, he will consider recommendations from the executive committee of the Republican Party as well as those made by residents.

Whoever the new councilman or councilwoman is, however, his or her stay might be a short one. Diamond's term expires this year and the new town board member will have to run for reelection in November.

Discount Taxi Fare for Town Senior Citizens

Taxi Companies servicing the Town of Oyster Bay have agreed to offer senior citizens, age 62 and older, a discount. Any resident who shows a Town of Oyster Bay Identification Card will receive a 25 cents discount, which equals approximately 10 percent of the average taxi fare. The discount will be available between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and all day Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

Companies offering the discount are: Long Island Yellow Cab, Massapequa Taxi, Oyster Bay Taxi, Syosset Taxi, Inc. and Massapequa Transportation Corporation.

Seniors wishing to obtain an identification card can send a written request, including their name and address, to Supervisor Angelo A. Delligatti, Oyster Bay Town Hall East, Oyster Bay, N.Y. 11771.

Town Topics

"This is Oyster Bay" will be aired on Cable Channel 20 on Friday, Jan. 27 at 6 p.m. The topic of the program is the responsibilities of the town clerk.

Town Unveils New Fleet of Recycling Trucks

The clean white and green open-sided trucks stood in the bright morning sunshine with their drivers at the ready. They were the Town of Oyster Bay's fleet of recycling vehicles, each of which cost $55,000. They represent the latest addition to the municipality's effort to reduce the waste stream that has to be shipped off Long Island at a cost of $103 a ton. The unique trucks are designed to be operated by one or two men. There are two steering wheels in the cab of the truck, to allow a driver to sit or stand. There are two convenient steps on each side of the trucks that allow easy access to the cab. These features will help the men in their job of both driving the truck and loading it.

There will eventually be 10 of the green and white S.O.R.T. (Separate, Oyster Bay's Recyclables Today) vehicles on the road.

At a press conference on Jan. 19, Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Angelo Delligatti said:

"When I was sworn in as Oyster Bay Town Supervisor, I announced that one of my immediate goals would be the implementation of a town-wide recycling program. I am proud to say that one week from today, Jan. 26 every household within the Town's sanitation disposal district, and approximately 7,000 residents served by private sanitation collection, will be actively participating in our S.O.R.T. program."

Cooperative Effort

Delligatti noted that the recycling truck bodies are manufactured by Labrie of Quebec, Canada, and the chassis by International Harvester. The vehicles which are 20-foot, 31-cubic-yard, low-entry trucks have movable compartments which facilitate the separate collection and transportation of various recyclables.

"Implementation of the program required Herculean efforts by many people in Town government," said Delligatti. "Weekly recycling meetings struggled with the geographical logistics of phasing in new areas, creating and staffing a new service division—and coping with how recycling materials would be collected during the interim period."

An education program was developed so that new participants would be aware of what materials were acceptable for recycling, when to place their recycling container at the curb for collection and, most important, why recycling was, and is, crucial to the future of our Town.

Reducing the Waste Stream

In addition to the 10 recycling vehicles, bids were developed for the purchase of 20-gallon yellow recycling containers, blue boxes for the collection of newspapers from Town government offices, and containers for the separation of high grade office paper.

Commenting on the state of recycling, Delligatti said that recent stories have focused on the glut of recycled newspaper. This, he said, stems from a lack of uses for paper once it has been recycled. To encourage the creation of paper recycling markets, the Town will be accepting bids for the purchase of high grade office paper, colored paper and computer paper. "Only by creating markets for recycled materials will we complete the cycle necessary to foster growth in recycling," he said.

Leaves and Tires

Mentioned during the press conference was the Town's composting program and the "Tires for Leaves" swap program with the Town of North Hempstead. A first for Long Island, the Town of Oyster Bay accepts one (1) ton of leaves from North Hempstead in exchange for their acceptance of 25 tires. Leaves, from North Hempstead, Town parks and those collected during the fall leaf collection program, are being composted on a 1/2 acre site. Based on present figures, the Town of Oyster Bay will be delivering 12,500 tires for shredding and eventual return to the marketplace.

"This is just the beginning," said Delligatti. "In the future we will be exploring markets for plastics, batteries, and corrugated paper, just to mention a few potential areas. Town government, working jointly with Oyster Bay businesses, will assist those businesses in developing their own recycling programs. The possibilities are endless and we intend to explore all avenues."

THERE IS A good feeling of camaraderie amongst the members of the Town of Oyster Bay Recycling workers. Jeff Hass (Bubba), of Hicksville; Richard Misa (Bubba I), of North Massapequa; Neil Esposito, of Farmingdale; John Piraino, of North Massapequa; and Artie Diemickie and Eric Stalzer, of Bethpage, will be helping residents of the town in their recycling efforts.

The World According To Lulubelle

By Peter Sloggett

Every week, like clockwork, a stiff white envelope arrives at our office. It bears no return address and its stamp is affixed with precision, perfectly aligned, as it ought to be, to within an exact 1/8 inch of the top and right hand sides of the envelope. Inside that envelope are one or two sheets of onionskin paper, carefully typed but never lacking a scattering of proofreader's marks to indicate corrections. And at the bottom, it is always signed in flawless Palmer method script, "Yours, Lulubelle".

I mention the Palmer method script because it is one of the few insights I have to offer about the charming lady who is the author of these weekly communiques. For although she is not shy about sharing her views, Lulubelle wishes to remain anonymous.

It is not impossible, however, to gain a bit more insight into Lulubelle's character from a thorough inspection of her epistles. In the spirit of a psychological profile, such as is often employed in detective work, the following is a look at Lulubelle as we know her...or at least as she's allowed us to know her.

Since her first letter arrived several years ago, Lulubelle has shared her thoughts, her opinions and experiences on an endless variety of subjects. I'm sure that if they were gathered together, they'd make a good sized book. You'd also have yourself at least a bushful of ellipses, those little dots lined up three in a row.

The long dash—used, like so, to interject another thought into a sentence—is another Lulubelle favorite. So much so that between the ellipses and the dashes, I speculate that if you take all the words out of a Lulubelle letter, you would still be left with some secret message in Morse code.

Don't fool yourself into thinking Lulubelle's inordinate fondness for these grammatical devices stems from (as it often does in my case), any indecision regarding proper punctuation. Lulubelle is as fastidious about the proper use of grammar and punctuation as her Mother was regarding milk bottles on the table. "My Mother thought only peasants ever ate at a table not covered with a white cloth," wrote Lulubelle, "and it was an even worse sin to put a milk bottle—yes, bottles, containers hadn't come into use—on the table."

No, there's no doubt in my mind that the most thorough search of Lulubelle's correspondences would turn up no dangling participles, and not a comma out of place. Lulubelle said it best herself. "Those of us who love the English language take great delight in trying to be correct."

"English was a very serious subject..." explained Lulubelle in a missive on her early tutelage under a teacher whose career, she said, spanned an astonishing 52 years. "We were all very thoroughly grounded in spelling, punctuation and grammar. In my school, three 'comma blunders' (putting a comma where one should not be, or worse, leaving one out where it should be) was an automatic zero on the composition...and as you remember, there were many compositions. We were writing all the time...and the teachers corrected every one of those compositions."

It would seem that writing is one of Lulubelle's favorite pastimes, and that letters are her favorite thing to write. In one letter to this newspaper, devoted to an account of her dissatisfaction with a pair of panty hose, Lulubelle recounted a tale of how she wrote the manufacturers demanding restitution...or at least honesty in their packaging.

"I love writing letters," she said. "I want to be a squeaky wheel that gets results."

The lady may be (and you heard her admit it yourself) a squeaky wheel, but it isn't always results Lulubelle is after. More often than not, she writes to share with us her musings on whatever subject strikes her fancy. It's not quite reminiscing but she has a special talent for noticing the absence of the things one fails to remember have gone from our lives.

Lulubelle remembers with fondness, the days when every corner drugstore had a soda fountain, where the floats were served in a tall glass nested inside a metal holder...and that you had to drink at least a third of the soda before you could flip that single scoop of ice cream smooched onto the rim of the glass into the soda.

She recalls with equal fondness the days "before mugging was a word", and when recycling was something every family did to support the war effort. And at the same time she wonders "How did I ever live before the electric blanket?"

"...I think of myself as being very up-to-date and forward looking, but sometimes I am astonished to learn how long it takes me to catch up with some of the good things that make life so easy," Lulubelle mused over her recent purchase of a garage door opener. "One little push on that magic button and in you drive."

Yet not all technological advances meet with the lady's approval. The remote control button for the television set was panned in a recent letter as having too much appeal to a decidedly male compulsion...channel hopping. And despite the obvious benefits of her new thermopane windows, she still feels a nostalgic yearning for "the lacy patterns that form on a frosty window."

And she does still have rotary phones in her house. It's no sin, Lulubelle. Lots of us still have rotary phones. Some of us even still have "those lacy patterns" forming on our windows...the very windows that stick closed in early summer, only to stick in the open position come autumn. But thanks for letting us know it's okay to pine a little for "the good old days"...and keep those letters coming.

"Just Say No" Clubs

Positive Peer Pressure for a Drug-Free America

- Fact: Most American youth have used illegal drugs by the time they are seniors in high school. Kids in rural areas are only slightly less likely than their urban counterparts to use drugs. In some areas, the rate of drug use among country kids actually exceeds that of city kids.
- Fact: Children today are using drugs at a younger age than ever before. A substantial and growing number of grade-school students report being pressured by friends to use drugs. The earlier the age at which kids begin experimenting with drugs — including alcohol and tobacco — the greater the chance they will develop serious drug problems later on.
- Fact: One of the main reasons young people use drugs is peer pressure. Peer pressure intensifies most at the point in kids' lives when they are most susceptible to the influence of friends — around the time they enter junior high.
- Fact: "Just Say No" Clubs are groups of children, 7-14 years old, who are united in their commitment to resist peer pressure and say No to drugs. The Clubs strengthen members' resolve through a variety of research-based educational, recreational, and service activities. Kids join "Just Say No" Clubs for the support they offer, for the fun and excitement, for the chance to make a positive difference in the world. They know that together they can create a new kind of peer pressure — peer pressure to remain drug-free. But they need your help. You Auto Know

If you are one of those people interested in the balance of trade between nations, here is a story to add to your file. The Mazda Motor Corporation has announced that it will purchase a compact sport utility vehicle from the Ford Motor Company. The car will be for sale through its U.S. dealer network starting in the 1991 model year.

The vehicle, which is still to be named, represents a turning point in Mazda's 20-year business relationship with Ford. This is the first time Ford will supply Mazda with a vehicle for sale under the Mazda badge. Mazda Motor Corporation President Norimasa Furuta said this move represents the beginning of "an era of true reciprocity" between the two companies.

Mazda currently supplies Ford with the Ford Probe model, which is assembled at Mazda's Flat Rock, Michigan, plant; several models which are marketed under the Ford badge in Japan, Australia, New Zealand and Asia, and with parts and components.

Ford sells some of its cars in Japan. Steve Weiss of Sysoset Ford said that "Ford exports the Taurus in quantity to Japan."

The 1991 compact sport utility vehicle that Mazda sells in the U.S. market will incorporate certain design changes specified by Mazda. It will be engineered and will be built by Ford.

"This venture represents another step in the mutual determination of Mazda and Ford to serve customers with products that meet their specific needs while maintaining each company's distinctive identity," said Furuta.

That shows that cooperation is as good as competition in the marketplace.

Minutemen Bring Back Trophies from Commack

The Hicksville Minutemen, 1977 "B" traveling team, sponsored by Seaman & Eisemann, entered two teams in the Commack Indoor Tournament on Jan. 15 and both teams came home with second place trophies.

The "yellow" team, anchored by Anthony Noya in goal, ably assisted by fullbacks Greg Walunas and Keith Carpenter, center half Danny dePinho, and wings Jason Brown, Robin Blicher and Bobby Wagner, compiled a record of one win, one loss, and two ties, which gave them second place in their division. Their first game was a 4-0 blowout at the hands of Central Islip, but the team then came back to show its true grit. The next game was a 1-1 tie against West Babylon, with Jason Brown putting in Hicksville's goal. They then beat Three Villages 1-0, on a Danny dePinho goal. The fourth game was a beautifully played 0-0 tie against Malverne.

The "red" team, anchored by Michael Coen in goal, ably assisted by fullbacks

Michael Whitman and Bobby Braun, center half Jorge deSilva, and wings Tracy Koetter and Brian Rigert, compiled a record of two wins, one loss and one tie, good for second place in their Division. Their first game was a 1-1 tie against Oceanside, their goal coming on a perfect Jorge deSilva cross to Brian Rigert, who put it in. They then lost 4-0 to West Babylon but came right back with a 2-1 victory over Malverne, overcoming a 1-0 deficit. Tracy Koetter and Jorge deSilva put in Hicksville's goal. They went into the last game knowing they had to win by two or more goals to capture second place and responded with a 2-0 shutout, on goals by deSilva and Rigert.

Congratulations to the team for a morning of enjoyable, hard fought, competitive, winning soccer and to assistant coach Peter Whitman for his many contributions to the day's success. Thanks to Seaman & Eisemann for their support, as well.

PAL Basketball News

By Charlette Anstey

All the coaches, commissioners, teachers, Bill Toelstedt (police officer in charge), Eleanor Abrams (obtains our referees and umpires) and I (Charlette Anstey) hope all of our participants and their families had wonderful holidays.

Our basketball season is under way and the coaches will be giving me information on the teams. If you will be at a game and would like to report on it, please notify your coach and he will tell you where to mail the story. We also need photographs of the teams. Please put the names of the boys/girls on a sheet of paper (Do Not Write On Back Of Photo).

Boys' Senior Division The Laker's coach Bill Dammes says his team is off to a great start with very high scoring games. Brian Anstey and Brian McKee have done a terrific job in racking the points up. Jason Dammes and Kestutis Bitenas have been dependable on their long shots. C.J. Carlisle and Robert Izzo have done a great job on defense. Coach Dammes says special thanks to Bob Izzo and George Murtos for their assistance with practices and to team "cheerleaders" Charlette Anstey and Pat Dammes. We are looking forward to a fun season.

The Hicksville PAL wants to extend its thanks to the Hicksville School District and the Hicksville community for all their cooperation for our youth programs. We are very fortunate that the Nassau County Police Department provides the Hicksville community with the services of Police Officer Bill Toelstedt.

News About Our Kids

I saw Nancy Galdo (coach for girls' softball for last four years) at King Kullen. She looked great and told me that her children Carolyn and Scott had qualified for Holy Trinity School's basketball program. Hope both their teams win a trophy. Jason Dammes' mom (boys' basketball and boys' baseball) said that Jason made the Hicksville Middle School's eighth grade honor roll. Kristen Anstey (Dance/Twirl, girls' basketball, girls' softball) and Melinda Foresta (Dance/Twirl) performed a Dance/Twirl routine at charity events for the Pegge O'Connor School of Dance. These events included performing at a nursing home, a senior citizens group and Galileo Lodge where they entertained mentally handicapped children in the morning and the Lodge's children in the afternoon. Congratulations to St. Ignatius CYO Referees Mike Hack and Rob Gelb for their outstanding contributions to CYO's basketball program. Tony Cassano (St. Ignatius CYO) for winning his age group in the Basketball Shoot-Out. Anyone who wants to be included in this section of the column, please mail your news to your coach or me.

Road Runners Seek Nominees for $2,000 Scholarship

The Plainview/Old Bethpage Road Runners Club is now accepting nominations for its fifth annual scholarship award.

POBRRRC will present a $2,000 savings bond to a graduating high school senior who will be chosen on the basis of his or her involvement in and service to the Long Island running community. This year for the first time, all high school seniors from anywhere in either Nassau or Suffolk County are eligible for consideration.

The first annual POBRRRC scholarship in 1985 was a dual award presented to Michael Kaufman of Syosset High School and Douglas Nassisi of Hicksville High School. The scholarship was won by Christine Gray of Holy Trinity High School in 1987, and by Eileen Downey of Syosset High School in 1988.

In 1988, the amount of the scholarship bond was only $1,000, but the club was pleased to be able to raise the award to $2,000 for 1989.

Applications for the 1989 Scholarship can be obtained from POBRRRC scholarship chairman Lee Bertram at 472-6986. The deadline for submission of applications is April 1, and the scholarship will be awarded at the April, 18 general meeting of POBRRRC.
