The Baldwins Take A Cruise of a Lifetime Long-time residents Blanche and Artie

Baldwin got more excitement than they bargained for on their recent week-long cruise aboard the MS Celebration. They sailed on Feb. 4 from Miami and headed toward the Caribbean. Truly enjoying superb weather and life aboard ship, they visited San Juan, Puerto Rico, St. Thomas and St. Martin. On their way back to Miami on Feb. 10, however, at approximately 5:50 a.m., they were awakened by a loud noise which resembled two cars crashing into each other. Their ship had literally sawed in hali the Cuban cargo ship San Luis, according to Mr. Baldwin. This is their first-hand account of the ordeal:

"The noise was horrendous and our ship shook and shuddered. Artie pushed back the curtains from our cabin window and saw the stern portion of the San Luis float by about 20 feet from us, her cabin lights still burning! No alarms or announcements were made by our crew. We quickly got dressed, donned our life jackets and proceeded to our stations along with our good friends, Pat and Nick Giancola, and fellow passengers. All aboard were calm and orderly.

"Standing on the deck at sunrise and wat-ching a ship that had just been cut in half and was sinking was a terrible experience. The stern went down within 15 minutes, the bow took about an hour. We could see the life rafts of the survivors and watched our own laun-ches pick them up and bring them aboard our ship. "After determining that there was very lit-de damage to the MS Celebration, her crew the damage to the MS celebration and the second se continued to search for the three missing men from the Cuban ship. We had picked up 41 survivors, one who was in serious condition from a severed foot.

"The collision occurred approximately 20 to 30 miles off the north coast of Cuba, in the Bahaman Strait, a busy shipping lane. A U.S. Coast Guard plane arrived and joined the search. Shortly thereafter, two armed Cuban helicopters circled the area and our ship.

"The passengers aboard the Celebration were given very little information. Our cruise director finally came over the P.A. system with his usual "Hi, gang" to inform us that we would be Aaying in the area to continue the search for three missing men from the Cuban versel vessel. "What became even more frightening was the arrival of two Cuban gun boats, manned and ready. Cuban coast guard officials board-ed the MS Celebration. We had no idea whether they were friendly or hostile when they decided to detain us due to the collision.

(By then, Artie was ready to buy a few cigars) "During the hour-long discussion between the Cuban officials and our captain, many passengers tried to communicate with the Cuban crews, throwing cigarette packs down to them. They kicked the packs down their hatches with their feet, and never changed the expressions on their faces. They just stared back at us.

back at us. "The Cuban officials, apparently satisfied, left the MS Celebration and we continued toward Miami and home, about 3 p.m. Our last night at sea was very subdued, most of us finding it difficult to resume the happy care free atmosphere we had been enjoying. "It was quite an experience and we have great photos and a video tape that will always rekindle the memories of that day at sea. Our hearts went out to the families of the three missing men, who were at the point of im-

Residents' Concerns Prompt Town Hearing On So. Oyster Bay Road Speed Reduction

Due to the concerns of residents about a number of recent accidents on South Oyster Bay Road, the town board at its March 7 public hearing will consider reducing the speed limit from 45 to 40 mph. The proposed reduction would affect the entire stretch of South Oyster Bay Road, which runs between Hicksville Road in Bethpage and Jericho Turpike in Syosset. The proposal came after a number of meetings were held with residents, police and county officials to determine what remedial action might be taken to increase safety along the roadway. Late last year, a Plainview resident was fatally injured in a hit-and-run accident in front of Our Lady of Mercy Church. Although the speed limit changes to 25 mph from Old Country Road in Hicksville to Woodbury Road in Plainview, a spokesperson for Our Lady of Mercy said that the change has little effect on drivers. "It's like a raceway here," said Sister Eileen. "People race down here 50 to 55 miles per hour, and it's hard to get them to slow down to 25 when they're going that fast." Town of Oyster Bay spokesperson Marlene Kastleman said the town board has been working with the Nassau County Police working with the Nassau County Police Department in conducting traffic surveys and speaking to residents about possible solutions. To date, officials have or are in the process of installing better lighting along the road. In ad-dition, the following safety improvements are also being considered; reset traffic signals at the intersections of South Oyster Bay Road and Wiretin Amonus of Colembra Badde and Virginia Avenue and Colombia Road to coordinate traffic leaving the parking lot after services at Our Lady of Mercry, enlarge signal light faces; enlarge school crossing signs and repaint cross walk to make them more visible, and allow more time for pedestrians to cross at the walk signals.

Kastleman said that a public hearing is re-quired to change a speed limit, whereas the guired to change a speed limit, whereas the other improvements along the road do not require a public hearing because they are con-sidered "in-house" projects. "It is usual prac-tice for the town to hold a hearing for a speed limit change. In addition, members of the church and residents of the area will have the chance to speak," said Kastleman. In January, parishioners called for second precinet police to enforce the laws more stitictly on South Owster Bay Road. In

By Catherine Tokar

By Catherine Tokar Ask any artist to depict Hicksville. Chances are, he orshe will paint a scene of Broadway or the middle school building because of the history associated with them. Another inter-pretation of Hicksville might include the Broadway Mall, the train station, high school or any place along Old Country Road, Newbridge Road or Jerusalem Avenue. The artist would have no trouble finding cars, students, Long Island Rail Road commuters students, Long Island Rail Road commuters or rush hour traffic jams to paint. These are mostly recognized by people who pass through town.

But a local watercolor artist captures a different side of Hicksville in paintings which, she says, convey "a somewhat romantic representation." The look is soft and lacks the hard contrasts of more modern art. The subject matter is pure Hicksville, but a Hicksville of another time.

of another time. Caroline Goldsmith's paintings reflect the older side of the town, in particular, the old houses located in a few segregated patches around the town. No Cape Cods, no split levels. She only paints the bonafide cottages or "farm" houses. If you own an orginal Hicksville house, maybe you've seen Caroline perched near your front lawn trying to il-lustrate the warmth and friendliness it generates. She also gently contrasts the old and the new in her work. One painting in par-ticular shows a slightly run-down house with a telephone company truck parked near it. By capturing contrast of the old and the new, the soft greens and browns of nature behind the metallic industrial truck. Caroline adds impact to her already captivating paintings. "More than anything painting seems to be an easy way forme to depict an era," explain-ed Caroline, who works out of her home on levels. She only paints the bonafide cottages ed Caroline, who works out of her home on Spindle Road. "The older houses have a suggestive feeling so that an artist can interpret the era and the feeling of life when the town was younger. People can enjoy my paintings because they can imagine what it was like to live at that time in their own town.

Homeowners Edgeloan paysoffnow. And

Introducing a 60 minute loan with no upfront costs.

The intelligent shopper is always on the lookout for a great deal. But when it comes to homeowners' loans, the truly intelligent shopper knows that there's more to a great loan than a great rate.

That's why we created Homeowners Edge." The loan that combines the advantages of a home equity loan with the simplicity of an installment loan. And with no upfront fees or closing costs.

Homeowners Edge lets you borrow from $7,500 to $25,000 while allowing you to use the money as you see fit. We offer a choice of low rates, flexible terms and a set payment schedule. And in most cases, we'll give you a decision on your application in 60 minutes or less.

Plus potential tax advantages on April 15th.

Like a home equity loan, Homeowners Edge is secured by a mortgage on your house, condo or co-op. So chances are, interest on a Homeowners Edge loan will probably qualify for a full interest deduction. Which isn't always the case with other types of loans. (There are some exceptions to deductibility. Please consult your tax advisor before applying.)

To The Editor:

I just finished reading "Crime Prevention Information" in your Feb. 16 issue, as writ-

American Legion Post 421. I began to think, how amazing it was that we could raise millions of volunteers to fight and stamp out an enemy. One that was more than 3,000 miles from our shores. Yet we have an enemy from within: the robber, rapist and murderer. He may be no more than 30 feet away from your wife and children. What do we do in this case? We issue all

Garbage—Another View

To The Editor:

In a recent letter to the Editor, written by Richard Singer, references were made to "Garbage Management in Japan" authored by Drs. Allen Hershkowitz and Eugene Salerni.

Salerni. In fairness to the authors Mr. Singer would have pointed out that the same publications also stated, in chapter VI, page 6, "Incineration is regarded by the Japanese as the most sanitary method to treat waste." While Japan has a land mass size approximately equal to that of California the report states, "Japan has constructed 1,05 waste incinerations in sizes the greatest commitment to waste incineration of any country and complements Japan's extraordinary recycling efforts, which appears to be the most comprehensive and successful in the world."

The report contradicts Mr. Singer's statements about the attractiveness of these plants on page 69; where the authors state. "Moreover, many facilities are not just in-cinerators but are community centers, often cincitators but are community centers, often equipped with heated swimming pools and other recreational facilities. These amenities are negotiated by the community in ex-change for siting a facility. INFCRM visited the Fukuoka (Takuma) plant which has a pool, tennis courts, baseball fields and a playground. The Sohka and Machida plants also have community pools. Many new facilities include chargements of the second also have community pools. Many new facilities include classrooms, informational display and movies about waste disposal pro-grams in the community and the residents important role."

It is clear from the above statements that the Japanese practice the same "integrated solid waste management strategy" as that ad-vocated by the Town of North Hempstead Solid Waste Management Authority. Japan has almost no illiteracy. Our work ethic has, in large measure, gone down the drain. The Japanese are so intent on working that the Japanese government has found it necessary to advertise in order to have people relax and take time off. Training and education is another area where Japan leads. Recent international tests show we are dropping the ball in science and math education. On the other hand, Japan excels. Students are motivated to achieve excellence. Some of our children and teachers worry more about how many days off they get than how to perform a thigher levels in school. in school.

There are still further areas where Japan has the edge on us—respect for authority and a sense of discipline. Somewhere along the way, our tor authority and a sense of discipline. Somewhere along the way, our values of work and respect were abandoned by large segments of the American society. This is not to imply that we should be clones. We must emphasize diversity and creative thinking. But, if we are to com-pete with the Japanese, we are going to have to change some of our

With Japan's growing economic power and the frustrations we are having with drugs, imports from Japan. Ilteracy and loss of manufac-turing jobs, there is a growing temptation to bash Japan. It is clear that some of that frustration directed towards Japan is justified. The economic playing field has been tilted against us. They have placed road blocks to our exports and in subtle ways continue to do so. But, if we focus on those road blocks alone and not on the positive forces which contributed so much to their economic miracle, we will be destined to further decline relative to Japan. We must concentrate of work and mutual respect. If not, we can never expect to turn it accomplish at war—a sobering thought for all Americans. Questions and opinions may be addressed to Mr. McMillan, Anton Community Newspapers, 132 East Second Street, Mineola, NJ 1202 With Japan's growing economic power and the frustrations we are

.Do you remember when your grandmother's home was broken up after her death and all of her belongings were being cleaned out—and you could have had almost anything that you wanted—and you didn't want much of anything—all too old for your taste!!...And now, year's later, does your mind—as mine does— go over all the treasures you so disdainfully refused??...There was that marble top table with all of the curlicues on the bottom that you considered awful-and now you love victoriana and would love to have it....And there was what was called a hall costumer—you remember that in your grandmother's hall....It was a piece of furniture that set against the wall with a mirror in the middle and clotheshooks on both sides and below the mirror was a hinged seat with a storage box for boots and once you had found your boots, you could sit on the seat to put them oneminently sensible idea, as you will realize if you have been standing in your hall on one foot trying to put the other in a boot!!.....No, I didn't take that either....And then there were all of those dark old pictures in the heavy gold frames—all over the place—and now I am paying antique dealers—probably for the very frames I gave away....I did take two prints-maybe from calendars-of lovely ladies by Howard Chandler Christy, now reframed and a great decorating addition ... and there was a mirrored stand with silver legs that is just perfect under a vase of flowers...And I found her wedding certificate, which I framed for my family wall...and even some actual Indenture papers, which said on the back, "the children's great grandfather", which I suppose means my mother's great grand-father and I don't know how many greats that makes for me!! He was indentured to a tribe und it talls what he was do not be back and a state of the same down and the same to a tailor and it tells what he must do and what his employer must do—a real find for me, interested as we all are in our roots...But, oh, how I regret that I didn't want the cut glass, the embroidered linens, the wicker tray with the pressed flowers, the china closet with the beveled rounded glass sides...oh, my, what a dunce I was!

knows full well that recycling alone cannot handle the garbage problem. No one will argue the success of Japan's recycling efforts. And, someday the United States may achieve the high rate they do. But unfortunately that day is a long way off and the reality of the Long Island Landfill law is less than two year away. After Dec. 18, 1900, we in North Hempstead, will no longer be able to landfill raw garbage. The law clearly states that the only waste that can be land-filled is, "material that is the product of resource recovery, incineration, or com-posting and downtime waste and un-treatable waste." Clear and simple. If we de-pend only on recycling to handle our garbage we will have to ship garbage off Long Island as Hempstead and Oyster Bay are doing. Cur-rently this costs the Town of Hempstead almost hioomillion a year. For the taxpayers ac Nicab Hemosteriad bitming washare off rently this costs the Town of Hempstead almost thoomlilion a year. For the taxpayers of North Hempstead shipping gabage off Long Island could cost as much as t40 to t45 million a year, which translates into nearly an 800 percent hike in town property taxes. Only through an integrated solid waste management strategy consisting of reduc-tion, recycling, resource recovery and landfilling, as allowed by the Long Island Land-fill Law, will be able to handle our garbage problems into the 1990s and beyond. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

A way on my way to serve in Korea. I would next visit Japain in Joys and then go back repeatedly on business in the late seventies and early eighties. The contrasts between my first visit in Joys and the later visits were dramatic. First, the economic progress over twenty two years was self evident. From a World War II destroyed economic base, a modern Tokyo emerged—a symbol of the reconstruc-tion which had taken place from the North to the South of Japan. But, there were more than new buildings, roads as a result of defeat in World War II. That verve has skyrocketed Japan to competitiveness with the United States in economic world leadership.

Spending for veterans health care is less than 1 percent of the entire federal budget; yet, it has been stretched to pay for 1.1 million in-patient visits and 22 million outpatient visits each year. Even this capacity does not meet the veterans population demands. By contrast, federal spending for Medicare con-sumes 9 percent of the entire budget and since 1985 the annual veterans medical care budget has increased only 17 percent while Medicaid spending has grown 55 percent for the same period. As a result, the VA is shut-ting down hospital beds, eliminating certain outpatient care, forcing delays in most types of care, and forcing delays in opening new hospitals and buying modern medical

Kiwanis Club Observes Brotherhood Week

Hicksville Kiwanis Club observed Brotherhood Week at its Feb. 15 luncheon meeting. Kiwanian Effie Krogmann, chair-man of Spiritual Aims, arranged the program. A few weeks ago, several members of the Bayside, Queens, Kiwanis Club visited the Hicksville club. Among the visitors was a clergyman, Rev. Don Taylor. Mrs. Krogmann invited Rev. Taylor to address the club during Brotherhood Week.

The Rev. Taylor is the pastor and gospel trumpet soloist of the Galilee Baptist Church of Christ in Bayside. He began his program by telling the club members and guests that he was an Army bugler during the W.W. II, and had brought along his trumpet to entertain with some "Big Band Era" music prior to speaking. In his talk, Rev. Taylor spoke about one of his trips to the Holy Land and the Sea of California of Galilee.

Basketball Camp...For Kids Who Dream of "Magic.."

Pocono Invitational Basketball Camp offers a "dreams come true" summer camping experience for the young basketball players in your family. In the 26 years it's been in operation, more than 50,000 boys and girls from the U.S. and around the world have participated in the camp's acclaimed instructional program, many going on to college and professional basketball careers.

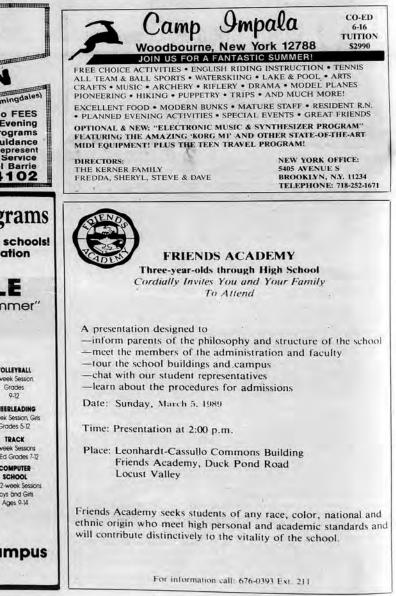

Located on 43 lush acres in the heart of the Pennsylvania Poconos, PIBC offers instruction in all phases of their favorite sport, osaching by some of the leading names in basketball, individualized attention, guest appearances by basketball's greatest pros, and the opportunity to perfect their skills on 18 full courts with more than 40 baskets. Girls are invited to attend a special, four week program under the expert instruction of a resident staff of jr. high, high school and college coaches.

Open to youngsters ages o through high school, the camp offers small group instruction, optional individual instruction during free time, and daily competitive play, affording each child the opportunity to learn and perfect their offensive and defensive basketball skills. Personal improvement is stressed, and awards are given, in each league, for one-on-one, three-on-three, foul shooting, and hot shot, culminating in an award for "most improved player" in each league. The largest outdoor facility of its kind. Pocono Invitational Basketball Camp is directed by founders Robert and Patrieus Kennedy, with programs directed by Cherlyn Paul (co-head coach of Ouinnpiac. College's Division II basketball team..NCAA quarter finalists for four years running), and John "Jay" Bulter, head women's coach at Davis & Elkins College.

Girls' basketball is an extremely important aspect of the Pocono Invitational experience. The camp offers a special four week program just for girls (June 18-23, June 25-30, Aug 6-11 and Aug 13-18). Youngsters are grouped according to ability, age, size and previous experience, and all play an equal amount of time, participating in two league games daily. Weekly visits by profesional players and leading college coaches highlight each session. For box, PISC offers a summer-long seleco

Choosing a Summer Camp. . . Accreditation Counts

Accreditation is an important factor in choosing a summer camp for your child. What does "camp accreditation" mean? According to the American Camping Associa-tion, camps that display the ACA insignia have successfully participated in "the one national program that establishes com-prehensive standards for every type of camp."

camp." A non-profit, professional membership association, ACA establishes and constant-ly updates standards for sleep-away, day and travel camps which encompass every impor-tant aspect of the camp's operation. These include site, facilities, administration, person-nel, health and safety, programs, aquatics, horseback riding and trips. As many as 200 separate standards are in-cluded in the accreditation process, depen-cluded in the accreditation process, depen-ding on the specific nature of the camp. ACA-certified Standards Visitors assure com-pliance with these criteria with on site visits every third summer (more frequently if ownership changes or other factors warrant).

The camp must make "yes" answers to pre-requisite standards relating to health and safety issues, and very high percentages must be achieved by the camp in all other categories.

Accreditation assures parents that their most important questions have been ans-wered, simplifying the process of choosing "the right camp" for the child. "Accredita-tion is voluntary," says ACA. There are camps that choose not to become accredited, and even among those which are, there are a even among those which are, there are a wide variety of programs and philosophies. "In making a choice, it's important to ask questions...about the camp's philosophy, specific programs, staff and, especially for day camps, transportation. Mrs. Mingin's fourth grade class at East Street Elementary School were introduced to mealworms through a new science unit by the district. By conducting different ex-periments and oberservations, the children were able to learn how to classify and measure. It was an interesting program because the experiments were created and done by the children. All the students were totally involved in the study. A few worms will be kept as "class pets" to fully study the complete life cycle of this insect.

In general, the purpose of a holdup play by declarer is to interfere with enemy communications. Thus, if one studies the heart holding in this deal, it becomes obvious that if South ducks the K-Q of hearts when they are led and then takes the are he are led, and then takes the ace, he prevents West from ever scoring the good judgment in deciding whether it is wise to win or referse whether it good judgment in deciding whether it is wise to win or refuse to win a particular trick. Applied incorrectly, a holdup may prove to be a liability rather than an asset. Take this case where West leads the king of hearts. South ducks, because West may have the K-QJ-x-x and it is important to exhaust East of hearts to guard against this possibil-ity.

But the problem of how long to hold up cannot always be solved by applying a flat rule. One must also use

hears to guard against this possibil-ity. But South should win the next heart when West continues with the queen. There is no longer a valid reason for holding up the ace, because if West has only four hearts the contract can be nailed down by taking the queen and forcing out the ace of diamonds, while if West has five hearts the holdup is pointless. After all, if West has five hearts and the ace of diamonds, the contract suply cannot be made. The objection to ducking the queen of hearts is that West may decide to abandon the suit after taking the KQ. He may shift to the idd, the igy would be up. The point is that the holdup play should be used only for a valid poportunity is there. It should be abandoned when there is a serious danger of attack elsewhere.

The Discount Window

Now that interest rates have started their rise in earnest you are going to hear more and more about the discount window at the Federal Re-to, in fact, it is not some-place that the public can go. It is a depart-ment of the Federal Reserve where the banks, serve. There really is not a window that people can go to, in fact, it is and now the Savings and Loan Associations, can go to get temporary help if they have li-quidity problems. On Thursday, Feb. 23, Mr. Greenspan said that the Fed will stand behind any S&L that that fue red will stand bening any S&L that has liquidity problems resulting from the very large volume of withdrawals from S&L's around the country. The discount window is where they will go. While the loans are sup-posed to be temporary, (about two to three unartical temporary tables to state the second se posed to be temporary, (about two to three weeks), I suspect that with the S&L's, it will be longer. The Fed is acting in its capacity as the "lender of last resort" in this situation. It is entirely proper. It also shows that there is really no need for the Federal Home Loan Bank Board which is supposed to function this way with the S&L's. The idea behind this generation

The idea behind this move is to put our fears at rest about the soundness of the S&L depositor has to fear for the money on deposit in any S&L anywhere in the country. Now back to the discount window and its function.

The Fed only deals with banking institu-tions. Its public functions, other than selling tions. Its public functions, other than selling some government paper to some individuals, are mostly public relations. At the discount window it loans money to financial institu-tions on a collateral loan basis. The banks, etc. put up collateral just like you do when you borrow or finance on a collateral basis. The rate that they borrow at is considered to be an indicator of the facily proteins as for an indicator of the Fed's intentions as far as the interest rate directions are concerned. Banks use it as one of their factors to deter-mine the prime rate which has much more impact on your interest charges. In fact, it is not anywhere near as important as other in-terest rates under the control of the Fed, the federal funds rate as an example. Many small bankers are unsophisticated.

They believe that to borrow from the Fed is a sign of weakness. They think that it is go-ing to have the Fed looking over its shoulder all the time. As a result they do anything to avoid borrowing at the discount window. That really is not the function of the Fed. At one meeting that I had with them, the head of the discount department assured me and of the discoult department assured the and the others at that meeting, that that was not the truth. They stand ready to help, not hurt any institution. They stand ready to help monitor economic progress, not hurt it. While the discount window is by far not monitor economic progress, not hurt it. While the discount window is by far not the most powerful weapon that the Fed has to help the banking institutions, and while it is not the most important tool, I am glad that it is there now to help the S&I's that need it. It is a good example of how the system works to protect you. As an indicator of the direction of interest rates, the Fed has been raising that rate slowly, for some time. It is one reason I was able to say with almost 100% certitude that interest rates would rise. It is one of the maturity of your investments in fixed income securities. As all of you should be aware, as interest rates rise, the value of all fixed income securities fall. The longer the maturity, the greater the fall in value. Right now, you should be in 1 to 2 year securities, nothing longer, unless you are satisfied with the yields you are receiving. To determine when to lengthen those maturities, keep watching the discount rate as an indication. In addition, this column will mention when I feel that rates will turn around. mention when I feel that rates will turn around.

VITA Offers Free Tax Help

The Internal Revenue Service has announced that free tax help is available through VITA, the IRS sponsored Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program. VITA sites are located throughout Long Island, according to Public Affairs Office Robert Kobel.

VITA helps lower income, elderly, han-dicapped and non-English speaking tax-payers, or individuals who are unable to use regular IRS assistance, fill out Form 1040EZ, Form 1040A, or a basic Form 1040-The IRS form 1040A, or a basic Form 1040. The IRS trained volunteers are prepared to point out special credits and deductions for which tax-payers may be eligible, and how they may have been affected by the Tax Reform Act of 1086 1986

Taxpayers going to a VITA site should bring their 1988 tax package received in the mail, wage and earnings statements (Form W-2) from all employers, interest statements received from banks (Form 1000), a copy of last year's tax return, if available, and any other relevant information.

You really enjoy those March winds, don't you?"

By Charlette Anstey

Now that the schools have reopened, the Hicksville PAL basketball, judo, karate and dance-twirl programs are again in full swing.

Basketball Notes

In our boys' senior division, the Laker's Coach Bill Dammes had this to say about his team: "Even though during a few of our games we were defeated by a large point games we were detected by a large point spread, this team never gave up. As I watch-ed them try their best up to the last minute of play, I realized that win or lose - these boys were having a good time.

Congratulations to our top scorer and main "Congratulations to our top scorer and main rebounder Brian Anstey, our next high scorer and displaying great offense Jason Dammes, Brian McKee for not only scoring but also good defense, Kestutis Bitenas whose scor-ing and aggressive play contribute to our game, Rob Izzo who did a fine job on defense, Gerard Halfpenny (not playing prior due to a knee injury) whose aggression and scoring has helped our team and C J, Carlisle who can be counted on to help out wherever it is need ed. We hope to have Brian Anstey - who miss-ed our last two games due to strep throat -

Local Athletes Shine in the College Sportlight

Patty Esperto, a 1987 graduate of Hicksville High School, and daughter of Pat and Bob Esperto, received her second varsity soccer letter at SUNY Farmingdale. Patty, a sophomore, is a criminal justice major who played left fullback for the Region 15 Women's Soccer Champions.

Jim Hughes

Jim Hughes, a senior on the Providence College Hockey team, equaled his career high of eight goals with a goal made against Boston College in a recent game. The Hicksville native tied his personal best with a power play goal in the 2-2 tie. It was his sixth of the season.
