

Local Residents Upset Over Tree Trimming

By Michael J. Maloney

Hicksville residents who live along the main line of the Long Island Rail Road expect to hear the sound of trains passing behind their homes. What they do not expect to hear is the sound of chainsaws cutting off tree limbs in their backyards.

The sound of chainsaws being heard for the past few weeks was due to a project by the LIRR to clear away any branches and trees that could damage overhead utility lines, according to a LIRR spokesman. The operation, which is expected to be completed by November, is being handled by Laidlaw Tree Service of Holbrook.

Many residents are complaining that the tree trimming was too extensive. Trees which are on private property but have limbs that overhang LIRR property were trimmed from the property line up, resulting in awkwardly shaped trees. In addition, many trees on LIRR property that acted as a buffer to make living near the railroad more bearable, were cut down completely.

"I can understand trimming branches," said Marie Bellano of Roosevelt Ave. "I can't see why they have to cut down saplings that are four and five feet high. They came through and they just leveled everything up to the fence."

David Collins of Lawnside Drive has lived in Hicksville for more than 40 years and he says that this was the most extensive tree trimming done by the railroad. "I told them to take the tops off of the trees. That would clear the wires. When I came back out of the house, they had them trimmed right straight down."

Collins' three trees now lean toward his house and he is worried that they may fall down in the winter if there is a lot of snow. When asked if he was planning to have the railroad change the situation, he responded, "What can you do? They can't put the branches back on."

"We have received some complaints and we are checking into them to the extent that if we damaged any trees or shrubs other than those on our property," said LIRR spokesman Michael Charles. "If homeowners believe that the tree trimming operation has damaged private property, we will certainly investigate it. We will try to work out some type of settlement with the homeowner."

Residents can call the LIRR's public affairs department at (718) 996-5225 if they wish to complain about possible improper removal of foliage.

Town Seeks Demolition Of Jerusalem Ave. Home

A Jerusalem Avenue house that has been labeled dangerous and unstable may be demolished if the town of Oyster Bay receives court approval.

The home, located at 540 Jerusalem, has been used as a dumping ground for automobiles and appliances and was destroyed by fire about three years ago. Town officials have tried to reach the home's owner, but to no avail. Letters sent certified mail were returned to the town. "We made every effort," town spokesperson Marlene Kastleman said. "We would like to level that house."

The town deemed the house dangerous to the community after an expert architect reviewed the site. Over the years, the town has received many complaints about the house from residents.

In 1952, the town received permission from the State Supreme Court to clean up the site. "We carted trucks of stuff out of there," Mrs. Kastleman said.

The town is currently drawing up its paperwork to present to the court and will be submitting it their request within the next week. Mrs. Kastleman said.

Local Ballplayers Score for AHRC

Winners for the Day: HBA Girls' Team. They beat PAL in a very close game. Final score, 14 to 13.

HALFTIME ENTERTAINMENT: Benny the Bum with Jaclyn O'Keef, 10, Melanie Rogers, 9, Michelle Digirolamo, 9, Michele Rogers, 7.

CYO 12-Year-Old Girls' Team pitcher, Lauren Gerriero, playing against HBA girls.

Former New York Islander hockey star Bob Nystrom with Danielle Raemdonck, 12, of the HBA 12-year-old girls' All Stars Team.

SPECTATORS: Grandma Grace Rogers, grandson, Michael Rogers (5), friend, Michael Haley (5). Grace's 13-year-old grandson was playing on the PAL All Stars.

Hicksville's three sport organizations battered-up Saturday for two baseball/softball games that benefited the Association for the Help of Retarded Children.

St. Ignatius Catholic Youth Organization (CYO), Hicksville Baseball Association (HBA) and Hicksville Police Athletic League (PAL) put their abilities together for a good cause and raised more than $2,000 at the Kids-For-Kids Charity Tournament.

Final scores were HBA Girls 14, PAL Girls, 12, CYO Boys 4, PAL Boys 3.

The charity tournament was started three years ago by Al Ciacco who was then managing an HBA team. His team members were down in the dumps because they lost in the Williamsport Tournament (which is a Little League World Series). Al reminded the team that they were not losers, but winners because they at least had the ability to play. He suggested that they put that ability to some good use. When they got home from the tournament they challenged PAL to a game to benefit AHRC. Al got trophies donated and the two teams raised $500 the first year. The second year, CYO joined in the fun, and the trio raised $1,000. Al said that the proceeds for this year were $2,000 plus and still climbing.

He said he is very proud of the people of Hicksville for pulling together at the end of each baseball season to raise money for charity.

Winning is not the bottom line, Al said, but, charity, good sportsmanship and participation is what the day is all about.

LILCO Imposter Arrested

A Bayshore man believed to be the same person who was posing as a LILCO worker and charging people for phony services, was arrested last week on burglary charges.

John Rocco, unemployed, 28, was charged with burglary in the second degree at the Second Precinct Stationhouse.

Police said he burglarized a private residence on Center Street in Hicksville on July 11. He told the 78-year-old homeowner that he was a waterproofer and insulation man who had just finished work in his neighbor's house. He then asked if he could go into the neighbor's cellar to check for water damage or leaks and the homeowner let him in, police said.

Once in the cellar, Rocco told the homeowner to stay down in the cellar as he checked the water pressure upstairs. Once upstairs, Rocco allegedly took $425 and fled the house.

The investigation is continuing by the Robbery Squad to determine if Rocco is involved in more cases such as this one, and possibly with any of the recently reported cases where the suspect described himself as a Long Island Lighting Company employee checking for gas leaks.

Anyone who has been confronted in situations such as those mentioned is asked to call the Burglary Squad at 535-7825. All calls will be kept confidential.

Rocco was arraigned in First District Court, Mineola.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cosgriff

Susan Rose Bride of John Cosgriff

Susan Carol Rose, daughter of Fanny and Robert Rose of Hicksville was married to John Kevin Cosgriff, son of Rosemary and John Cosgriff Jr. of Bethpage.

The ceremony, followed by a reception, took place July 22nd at the Manor East in Massapequa.

Laurie McDermott, a friend of Susan's, was her maid of honor. Attending her were bridesmaids Colleen Cosgriff of Bethpage, Liz Marinacci, Lisa Yanopoulos and Michelle Walton, all of Hicksville.

Linda and Kevin Are Engaged

Linda Dovinsky and Kevin Malone became engaged on August 17th.

Kevin, a 1983 graduate of Hicksville High School and Linda, a Jericho resident, have known each other since their prom days.

Both families are very happy with the news.

Tommy's A Winner

Hicksville's Tommy Mullee—representing the Levittown Swimming Association—won the 50-Meter Breaststroke Final for 11-and-12-Year Old Boys at the Nassau County Swimming Championships held August 21 at the Garden City Pool Complex. Congratulations on a great come-from-behind victory.

Attu' way to go, Tommy.

Last Week I Met...

Violet (Beacon) Detloff. I hadn't seen her in many, many years and recognized her immediately. She hasn't changed. They still live in Hicksville. She and her husband Lou are both into 'golf' . . . I also met Mary (Stamos) and her husband "Bubby" Smith. They're still living in Hicksville—and also playing golf. John Harty told me that she plays a good game of golf. He didn't mention anything about Bubby though—wonder if she gives him competition? . . . I also ran into Tommy Henratty and Paul Olynk who I understand are both good golfers (some days, according to Paul) . . . Jack Krupnick husband of former Katie DeRiso was also waiting to play golf. He told me he enjoyed reading the story about the four fellows who built each other's houses (in last week's column) (Neder, Auer, Nelsen and Munch) as it brought back many memories. He and Katie used to join them at Christmastime when they would have their annual Christmas party. (What a small world). It was great meeting them all. If you want to see anybody—go down to Cantiague Golf Course—everybody is playing golf these days—and while you're waiting to play—you can visit with old (and new) friends.

Sending Congratulations

We're sending our congratulations, along with Kathleen's, to John R. Pawlowski of Dartmouth Drive. John, a 1987 graduate of Fairchild University, has successfully completed all four parts of the CPA examination. He is presently employed by a public accounting firm in New York City.

Richard Blanc Marries

Richard A. Blanc, son of the late William and Lucille (Montana) Blanc, was married to Ann Lampasi on Friday, August 11, at Our Lady of Lourdes Roman Catholic Church in Malverne, N.Y. Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lampasi of Atlas Court, Malverne. A reception was held at the Fox Hollow Inn, Woodbury.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Hawaii and on their return will reside in Malverne.

He's Made His Parents Proud

Peter Willard, son of Frank and Lorraine Willard of Hicksville and a 1975 graduate of Hicksville High School, was recently appointed Assistant Vice President in the investment banking firm of Merrill Lynch and Co., Inc. of New York City. Peter works in the international structured finance field and is awaiting transfer to the Corporation's office in London, England.

Armed Services News

Spec. Michael Papile has been decorated with the Army Achievement Medal at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. This medal is awarded to soldiers for meritorious service, acts of courage or other accomplishments.

Michael is the son of Dolores Papile of Hicksville and is a food service specialist with the 34th Field Artillery.

I Heard From . . .

Milt Levitt, now living in Maryland. He writes: "Been in touch with Lou Millevolte in Green Bay, Wisconsin and Stell and Chet Jaworski in Orlando, Florida and they all confirmed that they will be at the Hicksville High School Alumni Homecoming Dinner/Dance, Friday night, Oct. 13th at the Salisbury Country Club at Eisenhower Park. Many from the classes of '48 and '49 are looking forward to seeing Lou and Chet. 1948 was Chet's first year at H.H.S. and a most memorable one at that—taking the football team to the North Shore Championship by winning over Port Washington over a muddy field. Many felt that that game was one of H.H.S.'s greatest games."

Milt continued, "I have been in touch with Aida and John Econopouly (Albuquerque, N.M.), Charlie Willis (California) and Leon Veedor (Dallas), as well as many of my other classmates from that time frame. It looks like we'll have a good turnout and a great time. My regards to all my friends in the good old Hicksville area."

She recently flew to Italy then traveled by train to Venice. Every day she boarded a motorboat to San Marco. No matter how cluttered and crowded it might be, Pearl commented, "One must always go to Venice first. Venice is truly the 'Queen of the Sea'."

On July 12th she flew from Minestra to Rome. She then boarded a flight to Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia. Pearl said, "It is a very beautiful and quaint city. Along the way you encounter narrow roads bordering the edge of the mountains and truly unreal villages. Riding hundreds of feet above the water you don't dare look down. The yachts in the coves are there from all over the world. My trip was magnificent."

Arthritis Treatment - A Comprehensive Approach Part 1 - The Role of the Rheumatologist

This article begins a four part series on the comprehensive approach to the diagnosis and treatment of arthritis and disorders of the muscles and joints. This series will include an overview on the use of medications, the role of exercise, and finally the goals of nutrition. We will begin with the role of the rheumatologist in the diagnosis and management of rheumatic disorders.

Arthritis is a general term meaning joint inflammation. There are over 100 types of arthritis, each one requiring its own diagnosis and special treatment. Rheumatology is a branch of internal medicine dedicated to the scientific study and treatment of inflammatory disorders. An individual is recognized as a rheumatologist (arthritis expert) if the physician has completed several years of specialized training after medical school in the treatment of rheumatic disorders.

The most common reason for a patient to seek help from a rheumatologist is for evaluation of significant muscle or joint pain. Since most forms of arthritis result in pain, the first goal of the rheumatologist is to find out the cause of the pain.

The guidelines to proper diagnosis of rheumatic disorders include a complete medical history, comprehensive physical examination, specific blood tests, and diagnostic x-rays. Once this information has been evaluated, a specific diagnosis can be made, and an individualized program of treatment commenced. A program of treatment will include the use of anti-inflammatory medications to combat the arthritis, instruction in specific exercises to maintain joint mobility and finally, specific dietary manipulation to reduce joint stress. These treatment programs are the specialty of the rheumatologist.

Hicksville Firefighters Assist Control Of Westbury Propane Gas Tank Explosion

A spark that ignited a 20-pound propane tank being filled at a New Cassel gas company shut down Old Country Road, the Long Island Railroad and caused the evacuation of thousands of people last week.

Workers were unable to extinguish the fire at All Boro Compressed Gas Company which began shortly before noon on Aug. 22 and quickly spread to a nearby 1,000 pound tank.

The tank exploded, hurling debris and other tanks into the area, some of which traveled hundreds of feet before landing on neighboring buildings and homes.

The 15,000 gallon tank was engulfed in flames, according to Nassau Police Det. Lt. Willard Kraus, and it became necessary to call 35 fire departments and approximately 150 firefighters to the scene.

Close to 40 firefighters from Hicksville were called to assist in the effort. Hicksville sent one engine and one ladder, under assistant chief Patrick Scanlon. Hicksville's Hazmat (Hazardous Materials) was also dispatched to the scene, under the direction of Richard Russell, a team coordinator. Flood light No. 938 was used during the night activities.

Haz-Mat monitored the vapors in the area to check for the accumulations of propane

A 100 pound cylinder blew up and landed on an electrical supply store next door to the gas company. Hicksville firefighters were responsible for extinguishing the fire on the roof, according to Haz-Mat team member Gene Pietzak. This also allowed Hicksville to direct Westbury firemen on the ground as they had a view of the gas company's yard.

Hicksville Captain George Howard was in a helicopter above the site, surveying the area.

Hicksville also monitored the main tank pressure release valve and was responsible for extinguishing flames on the east side of the property.

The mere danger of such an explosion resulted in police evacuating several hundred homes and stores within a quarter-mile radius. The evacuation order remained in effect until 10 p.m. Tuesday. Westbury Fire Department members were still at the scene Wednesday morning.

First Block Party A Big Success

Saturday, July 29 was a big day for the residents of West Nicholai Street—they held their first block party and by all accounts it was a smashing success. Neighbors got a chance to meet, socialize and even play some volleyball on an absolutely spectacular summer day.

The party came about through the hard work of Cathy DeCristan and Joanne Fitzpatrick. They arranged the horse rides, toys to play with, and games for the kids (who had the best time riding their bikes in the street). They even had a raffle for items donated by local merchants and a scrumptious dessert table after dinner. The day was capped off by a fireworks show at the Fitzpatrick's with Joanne's husband, Gerry, doing the honors. Everyone had a wonderful time and they all look forward to making it an annual event for many years to come.

The neighbors would all like to publicly thank Cathy and Joanne for enabling the children—and grown-ups—to have a "really good day" and they are sending special thanks to the Paint House, Beyer Auto Parts, Carvel, Tom's II Chinese Kitchen, and to all the other local merchants who helped make our day a success.

Editor's Note: If your block had a party—send us the information and we'll print it—free.

An Exciting Summer

What an exciting summer this has been for the Leone boys—Matthew and Michael. They won a dance contest presented by the Town of Oyster Bay called Music Under the Stars featuring Jimmy and Barbara Dockett. Their partner, Merry Senn, has also been a regular at the Leone house this summer and shared in the award.

I'll bet their mom and dad, Christine and Michael enjoyed all the summer "going-ons" as much as the boys did.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PARENTS and RESIDENTS of THE HICKSVILLE SCHOOL DISTRICT

All of us — the Community, the Parents, the School District, the Bus Company — are appalled by the circumstances in which we find ourselves unexpectedly, involuntarily involved. It is a situation which merits the resultant outcry of public concern. It cannot be minimized or swept aside!

Despite the most stringent hiring standards (which include in-depth interviews and background checks, conducting driving tests, giving classroom instruction and monitoring each driver's on-the-road performance, plus securing signed character references, official Department of Motor Vehicle driving records, professionally administered substance abuse test results, State-administered fingerprint analysis to determine existence of a criminal record), these procedures will reveal only that which is already on record — not unrecorded personal secrets.

HARRAN has in its employ many fine people who have been with us for 10...20...30...and more years. We have the utmost faith and confidence in them. Their reputations are exemplary; their driving and employment records, as well as their personal standards, leave no doubt as to their good characters and high moral standards. Most are parents; many are grandparents; each has the same concern for the welfare and safety of your children as they have for their own families. We hope you will judge these fine people on their merits. It is important that they have your confidence and your support. They do, indeed, have the confidence, support and respect of our Company.

The management of HARRAN stands ready to meet with School District officials and Parent-Teacher representatives to discuss and explore ways to improve and ensure the safety of our children.

We have been entrusted with this responsibility since 1926. It is not a trust we take lightly.

Sincerely,

George A. Semke

Two For The Seesaw

Bring summer to a close with laughter. The Hicksville Public Library is presenting the play Two for the Seesaw performed by the Other Vic Theatre Company on Friday, Sept. 15 at 8:30 p.m.

The long-run Broadway hit was reviewed by critics, who said... "It's a whale of a hit, a bittersweet joy ride." — N.Y. Times. "An absorbing, affectionate, and funny delight." — N.Y. Daily News.

This play is co-sponsored by the Hicksville Public Library and the Nassau County Arts Decentralization Consortium with public funds from New York State Council on the Arts Decentralization Program.

The play is free and all are welcome.

School District's Free Milk & Free Lunch Plan

Hicksville Union Free School District has announced a free price meal (free milk) for East Street Elementary School, Fork Lane Elementary School, Old Country Road Elementary School, Woodland Avenue Elementary School, Hicksville Middle School and Hicksville Senior High School children.

Local school officials have adopted the following family eligibility criteria to assist them in determining eligibility:

Income Eligibility Guidelines for Free Milk and Lunch Effective from July 1, 1989 through June 30, 1990

Family Size	Yearly	Monthly	Weekly
One	$7,774	$648	$150
Two	10,420	869	201
Three	13,078	1,090	252
Four	15,730	1,311	303
Five	18,382	1,532	354
Six	21,034	1,753	405
Seven	23,686	1,974	456
Eight	26,338	2,195	507
For each additional family member add...	+2,652	+221	+51

Food Stamp/AFDS/ADC Households: Households which currently include children who receive Food Stamps or benefits under "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" or "Aid to Dependent Children" for your child, you only have to list the child's name and food stamp or AFDC or ADC case number, print their name and address and sign the application. Separate applications must be filed for those children within that household who do not receive food stamps, AFDC or ADC benefits. Eligibility determination for these children must be based upon the same criteria as for "All Other Households" as outlined below.

Other Households: With incomes at or below the amount of money listed above for their family size may be eligible for and are urged to apply for free milk and lunch. They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home with a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year to the building principal. If a family member becomes unemployed if the family size decreases, or if your family income increases by more than $50.00 per month, or $600.00 per year, the family must contact the school to file a new application. The form requests information needed to determine economic need based on the income and number of persons in the family. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

The school district does, however, have the right to verify at any time during the school year the information on the application. If a parent does not give the school this information, the child/children will no longer be able to receive free milk and lunch.

In certain cases, foster children are also eligible for these benefits. A family may wish to apply for meals for them and should contact the school.

Under the provisions of the policy, the designated official will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the designated official, he/she may make a request either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision. The Director of Special Education and Pupil Personnel Services, whose address is Division Avenue at Sixth Street, Hicksville, NY 11801 has been designated as the Hearing Official. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy. However, prior to initiating the hearing procedure, the parent or School Food Authority may request a conference to provide an opportunity for the parent and official to discuss the situation, present information, and obtain an explanation of the data submitted in the application or the decisions rendered. The request for a conference shall not in any way prejudice or diminish the right to a fair hearing.

All questions on the application must be answered completely for the application to be considered by the school district for approval. This includes complete and accurate information regarding: the Food Stamp/AFDC or ADC case number; the names of all household members; the social security numbers of all adult household members or an indication that an adult does not have one; and the amount and source of income received by each household member. In addition, the parent or guardian must sign the application form, certifying the information is true and correct.

In the operation of Child Nutrition Programs, no child shall be discriminated against because of his race, sex, color, national origin, age, or handicap. If any member of a household believes they have been discriminated against, they should write to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

A complete copy of this policy is on file in the Principal's Office in each of the Schools and in the office of the School Food Authority District Administrator where it may be reviewed by any interested persons.

From the Editor's Desk

...We're happy to hear that an attempt is being made to do away with that dilapidated house on Jerusalem Avenue (between Alexander Avenue and Spindle Road) which has blighted our neighborhood for more than 10 years. The Town of Oyster Bay plans to ask the State Supreme Court for permission to raze the house. Good luck! ...

...And speaking of eyesores, haven't we had enough with abandoned cars cluttering our community? Traveling through the neighborhood, one can't miss that heap of junk on Duffy Avenue. (See photo below)

...The re-location of the soup kitchen, which recently moved to Redeemer Lutheran Church on New South Road at Old Country Road, is causing quite a stir, especially from neighboring homeowners.

Residents have called our office saying they are opposed to the move because Redeemer Lutheran is located near Triangle Park, where many children play. They do not want "vagrants" roaming the area. Another concern is that the soup kitchen, run by the Interfaith Nutrition Network, attracts people other than Hicksville residents.

You might recall that last year when the I.N.N. was located at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church on Jerusalem Avenue, area merchants blamed I.N.N. for derelicts loitering and despoiling their businesses.

A member of the I.N.N.'s board of directors defended the soup kitchen in a letter to the editor last week. Effie Krogmann maintains that Hicksville has not escaped the blight of homeless and hungry people and that many are living in our town. "We trip over the same kind of people on our doorsteps," she said. Redeemer Lutheran has always reached out into the community, Mrs. Krogmann said, housing such groups as Alcoholics Anonymous, the Boy Scouts and Over-Eaters Anonymous. "Do the homeless and hungry have to die before we shed our crocodile tears?" she said.

Local attorney Robert Taylor, an expert in real estate law, explained that there would be little, if any, legal recourse for residents to take.

The Town of Oyster Bay, which permits a church to operate in a residential zone, could not object to the church performing one of its major objectives, the Christian mandate of housing the homeless, feeding and clothing the needy.

While Mr. Taylor said that the application could be made to the State Supreme Court for injunction relief, he strongly discounted the possibility that any court would grant such a relief.

A town spokesman said that a letter has been sent to the local precinct asking for increased patrols in the area.

We're sure that Redeemer Lutheran will take into consideration residents' concerns and do its best to curtail any problems. . .

...Our most sincere gratitude to the members of the Hicksville Fire Department and their peers throughout the county whose heroic efforts helped divert a potential tragedy last week in New Cassel. Perhaps the next time there is a call for volunteers and funds, Hicksville residents might be more willing to give of their time and pocketbooks, especially when they think of the propane disaster that wasn't...

...Speaking of the members of the fire department, they will be hosting the Labor Day parade this Sunday, Sept. 3 beginning at 4 p.m. at fire headquarters on East Marie Street. Don't miss it...

...Labor Day also brings an early deadline for the Sept. 7 issue of the Hicksville Illustrated News. Copy must be at our office by Friday, Sept. 1 at noon. If you have a question, call our editorial office at 747-8282, ext. 164.

Also, our "Hidden Symbols Contest" is coming to a close. All entries must be in our office by Tuesday, Sept. 5. Good luck. For further information, see our contest rules on page 34.

...School begins on Wednesday, Sept. 6, so please drive carefully, and enjoy what's left of the summer.

raised our family, educating them without asking for assistance from anyone. When the children were little, my husband worked two jobs for a time...when they were older, I went back to work to help with college costs. The boys helped themselves with paper routes and later, part-time jobs. Both our sons graduated from private colleges without having to take even a student loan. Nobody gave them something for nothing. Why shouldn't hard working people like us, who have pride in our homes, resent having a soup kitchen (sounds like something that belongs on the Bowery) practically in our backyard!

Do I resent the Hicksville I.N.N.?...you bet I do! Does that make me a bad person...I think not.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity.

We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only.

We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

Board Members Should Resign

To The Editor:

This letter is being published upon request:

Hicksville Board of Education

Mark Cardella, President

Administration Building

Division Avenue

Hicksville, New York 11801

Dear School Board Members:

As concerned Hicksville parents, we feel compelled to voice to you, our elected school board members, our outrage over the handling of both the Izzo bus driver arrest and the contract proposal for the Hicksville Congress of Teachers.

In the matter of the May 21 arrest of Robert Izzo, we feel that although Dr. Fenton may have legally discharged her responsibility by notifying the Board, that morally and ethically it was her duty to strongly recommend board action to notify parents of Izzo's arrest. Failing to do this however, it was ultimately the Board's responsibility to treat this most grievous issue with prompt and decisive action. The Board chose to do nothing, thus revealing their impotence in recognizing and acting upon matters that are the most critical to the physical and emotional health of our children.

When eventually confronted with the seriousness of their error in judgment (Board Meeting - 8/8/89), the Board failed to recognize that it was their mistake that resulted in exacerbating an already horrific situation. There appears to be a definite lack of accountability here that is unacceptable.

Regarding the current HCT negotiations, the Board of Education's lack of leadership, cohesiveness and professional demeanor have created a situation of strength for the union and its members, and weakness for the parents and taxpayers. This issue is not one of "blackouts" or impromptu meetings, but rather what contract is sensible, fair and cost effective for our school district.

Our confidence in the Hicksville School Board to function responsibly and ethically in accordance with the needs of the community has been seriously undermined by the handling of these two grave issues. Consequently, we demand that all present school board members resign and implement a new election process to commence immediately.

Unresolved Conflicts

To The Editor:

Hicksville is a fine community, with a quality school system and it is very disturbing to read about unresolved conflicts and mistrust among School Board members themselves and within the community.

I have great admiration for those Hicksville taxpayers who devote countless, unsalaried hours as board members. However, they

Medicare Revisited

Dr. Joseph P. Frey
When I first looked at the Medicare Catastrophic Act of 1988, I wrote an article entitled "A Catastrophe." I was a little negative because it is the first time in the history of the country that the recipients of a government benefit have to pay for the benefit by themselves. Up to this point, a benefit to one group was paid for by everyone's taxes. While Congress called it a premium, it is really a tax. I still do not like that part. Most of you do not like it either.

However, I have done a lot of talking to people, have attended seminars on the subject, and have given the subject much thought. I find that it is a major piece of important legislation that is a boon to most people, especially the children of older people.

Yet, as far as an advance as it is, it still does not go all the way to protect the wealth or the health of the older people who get so sick that they have to go to a nursing home. It is still possible that an entire life savings and the result of a lifetime of work can go to pay the medical bills. It is a spectre that we all think about. It was this fear that the law starts to address. It does not do so completely.

To close the gap and allay our fears, there have been a slew of insurance policies that have been on the market for years, even before the act of 1988. The trouble with most of them is that they are costly, and designed so that the insurance companies could get out of paying. They were lousy. The AARP policy, which many of you have, was ok, but it was only the best of a bad lot. Better than nothing, it did help some.

It used to be that a financial planner had to plan to impoverish the client legally so as to leave something for the heirs of the sick person. Spouses were left in almost total destitution if the estate was set up wrong. It has happened often. I know of one law firm of legal estate planners that specialized in just that, legal impoverishment to keep something for the family rather than send it

A Letter to Lulabelle...

Do I remember my first flight? You bet I do. It was in 1939 and my boyfriend had a friend who was taking flying lessons. Mom and Dad would have objected if they had known my plans so I stayed overnight with a girlfriend and her parents in Amityville. Allen called for me in the morning and we went up in the plane with his friend, the student, and his flying instructor.

We flew over the site of the 1939 World's Fair in Fresh Meadows, Queens, I had a great time flitting back and forth looking out of the two windows—no seat belts in those days.

But wait—that's not all! In 1945 I was dating a Marine fighter pilot (WWII era) and he took me up in a Piper Cub. Yes, you guessed it—he let me handle the controls—"steer" it, in other words. My first flight in a BIG airplane was in December 1945 but that was the first of many. But the 1939 experience will never be forgotten.

to nursing home.

It is unfortunate that in the United States you have to be rich or poor to afford a nursing home. Once the Medicare benefits run out, Medicare will take over unless you have some money. That is why the lawyers mentioned above practice "poverty estate planning." It is all legal and very, very tricky.

Those of us in the State of New York did not have a really good way, short of legal improvement, to protect ourselves when I wrote the first article on the medicare act (3/18/89). Fortunately, now we do. At a recent seminar, my favorite insurance man made a presentation about nine insurance companies that have been authorized to sell packages to cover the Medicaid gap. The terms are different, the costs are not as bad as I would have figured. The need certainly is there. Like all insurance, it is a bad buy if you do not need it, and a great buy if you do.

It is like home fire insurance. Few of us need it for a claim, but who does not have it on our house or auto. The odds of having a house fire are 1 in 10,000. The odds that we will end up in a nursing home sometime after the age of 65 are 2 out of 5. The longer we live, the worse the odds. If a parent has assets and little cash, it would seem prudent for the children to pay for the insurance to protect their parents' assets, and theirs.

If you would like to get a copy of a handout on the insurance companies that have approved insurance products for this problem, send me a large envelope with a 25 cent stamp and your name and address and marked insurance on it. Send it to Anton Community Newspapers, 132 East Second Street, Mineola, NY 11501. Attn: Dr. Frey.

ROBERT R. McMILLAN'S

Direct Line

This is a tale of two people — both black and both with New York City roots. One became a Democrat in Michigan and later switched to the Republican Party. He had a distinguished career as a New York City policeman, FBI agent, and was elected Sheriff and County Executive of Wayne County, Michigan. The other was to forge his career as a no-nonsense officer in the United States Army with distinguished and heroic service in Vietnam. Both were to be in the headlines after George Bush named them to take high-ranking positions in his Administration. But the headlines would soon take different directions and raise questions in the minds of many as to whether civil rights leaders have become an appendage of the Democratic Party.

First, there is little argument about the qualifications of Army General Colin L. Powell to be Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. His critical service, as President Reagan's National Security Advisor, immediately after the sale of arms to Iran, was applauded by politicians on both sides of the aisle and by experts in the field of foreign affairs. But, the silence from many civil rights organizations and liberal columnists about his appointment to head the Joint Chiefs has been extraordinary. Even after George Bush's appearance at the annual meeting of the Urban League, little, if any, overt praise from civil rights leaders has been directed at the President for this outstanding appointment. Jesse Jackson, to his credit, was one of the few civil rights leaders to speak out soundly in favor of General Powell's appointment.

Turning to the other part of this tale, we have William C. Lucas. Mr. Lucas, a former Democrat, became a Republican to run for Governor of Michigan in 1980 and then supported George Bush's Presidential campaign in 1988. He was nominated by the President to head the Civil Rights Division in the Justice Department. Once the appointment was made, Democrats and civil rights workers came out loudly trumpeting their opposition to Mr. Lucas. Now, Lucas was not without negatives in his background, and some criticism may have been justified. But, the crescendo of opposition from groups which had previously supported him as a Democrat raises real questions as to the motive. Because Lucas was not a knee-jerk member of the "movement" and had even become a Republican, he was not supported. Yet, the same Lucas nay-sayers have been very silent when it comes to speaking out against the overwhelming excesses of Marion Barry, the black Mayor of Washington, D.C. I wonder why?

There are those who will say the reason for not supporting Lucas and not opposing General Powell is based on the qualifications of each man. The subtlety here is one of nuance. Civil rights leaders who have fought Lucas not, with equal force, cheered the selection of General Powell. Silence has been the rule. Could it be that some civil rights leaders cannot handle a Republican President who is putting into action what so many politicians have just talked about?

With appointments like Colin Powell and the willingness of people like William Lucas to serve this country, let us hope that race can be eliminated as a form of "means test" to hold office or to be used secretly to keep qualified Americans out of office. Let us also hope that civil rights leaders become less partisan in their actions. If they do not, the mainstream of the "movement" may soon eclipse those leaders. Most people are willing to be recognized for ability and do not want to be kept on a string through the manipulative use of patronizing handouts and rhetoric — something Democrats and civil rights leaders had better focus on as political sands continue to shift. A true two-party system is in everyone's best interest.

80th Birthday Party For Runhild Wessell

By Richard Evers

The Milleridge Inn was the scene of another birthday celebration for Hicksville's wonderfully alive senior retired teachers this past Thursday. Runhild Wessell, who taught German and English for 43 years at the Hicksville High School, celebrated her 80th birthday.

In the partying crowd Miss Wessell calls friends are Misses Harriet Spink, Lenora and Helen Clinch, all of whom celebrate their big eighties and nineties birthdays with luncheons. Dick Evers, their junior colleague from the Junior High retired teacher list, is invited to join the parties for his known fondness for birthday cake, charming ladies and his camera. Joining the party for Runhild's fete were two friends from the Nassau Retired Teachers' Association, Mrs. Lillian Wanzer, retired Social Studies Department chairlady from Oyster Bay High School, and Mrs. Ruth Judge, who taught elementary grades in the North Babylon schools.

Four decades or easily on Miss Wessell's shoulders, she is a familiar figure around the village and a frequent visitor to the public library. Along time devotee of Manhattan's great museums and their exhibitions, Runhild's alumni friends will enjoy hearing that she is as chipper, self-reliant and public-spirited as ever.

The daughter of a minister of the Swedish Evangelical Mission Church, and a mother who was a nurse, Runhild has had a splendid career as a teacher. She was graduated from Mount Holyoke College, Massachusetts, took a Master's degree in French at Columbia and completed over 40 additional course credits. Her first teaching was five years of service at Runhild Wessell, retired German language teacher at the Hicksville High, enjoys her 80th birthday party this past week. Dick Evers, a long-time admirer and teaching contemporary of Runhild was on hand for the reminiscing and cake—and took a few photos.

Retired teachers never die—they just keep on partying. At Runhild Wessell's 80th birthday fete are (L-R): Lillian Wanzer, Oyster Bay schools; Dr. Rita Altobelli, Hicksville Schools foreign language department, and Ruth Judge of the North Babylon faculty.

Runhild Wessell

Willsboro, New York, up on Lake Champlain. She came to Hicksville during the Great Depression and was hired by Dr. Eric LeBarron, Superintendent of Schools.

A long-time close friend of the late Hicksville teacher was historian Gertrude Wetterauer. Miss Wessell was a Fulbright Scholar in Germany in 1956 and later was the founder and first president of the New York State Chapter of the Fulbright Alumni Association. In the summer of 1965 she attended Princeton University under a National Defense Education Act Foreign Language Seminar Scholarship.

Forty-three years with Hicksville kids mastering German was followed by a noble retirement career of instructing inmates at the Nassau County Jail. From 1974-1984, Runhild Wessell was one of a team of volunteer teachers who went into the crowded Correctional Center to work on a one-to-one basis with felons, striving to help inmates in a course designed to develop a capacity for improved, appropriate decision-making. This social service was followed by a final two years (1984-86) of helping inmates who were seriously deficient in reading and arithmetical learnings.

Miss Wessell is quite modest about her 50 years as a teacher. Her friends love her for her unaffected ways, her marvelous good humor, her never-failing courtesy, her capacity for wonder and expressed appreciation. A fighter for true liberal causes and democracy always, Runhild is an educator by heritage and profession. Her brother, Dr. Nils Wessell, was the youngest president of Massachusetts' Tufts University (1954-1960). The gentleman holds 12 honorary degrees and was the president of New York City's Alfred P. Sloan Foundation for many years.

No More Names Withheld

To The Editor:

I just finished reading the Aug. 17 edition of the Hicksville Illustrated News, and once again another letter was printed by "Name Withheld Upon Request." My, but he writes a lot of letters!

I suggest you refuse to print letters written by people too cowardly to state their names. If a person does not want everyone to know that an opinion is his, he should not voice it. He is either ashamed of it or has reasons for not being willing to back his own statements. Either way, if he cannot stand by them, how can we, the readers, do so?

Also, perhaps the reader could understand his position better if he signed his name. Is he board member, a teacher, a parent with small children, or a retired "concerned taxpayer" (?) with no small children. (I wonder how anyone concerned about anything could leave out his name.)

The only thing the reader knows is that the writer is a coward who refuses to stand behind his opinions. So can the reader take them seriously? And why do you as editor, print them?

Marie Smith

Editor's Note: While we acknowledge Ms. Smith's point of view, we grant our readers the opportunity to have their names withheld because we respect their rights to speak freely and without fear of reprisal. In some cases, parents are concerned that reprisal will be visited against their children.

Thank You

To The Editor:

The Board of Education of the Hicksville I.N.N. (Interfaith Nutrition Network) — otherwise known as the Hicksville Soup Kitchen, would like to express their deep gratitude to all those who helped so generously in so many ways in the project of moving the soup kitchen. The move was accomplished with facility since there were plenty of volunteers, who represented so many of the residents, service groups and caring individuals. The Board would also like to thank members of the Town of Oyster Bay, who were helpful in helping with the arrangements; the attention being given by the Nassau County Police and the auxiliary police is much appreciated by the Board, and perhaps will help to assuage local apprehension.

The I.N.N. has been in operation at the new location, Redeemer Evangelical Lutheran Church on New South Road, Hicksville, for over a week, without incident. The new location is not as central to transportation, etc., as was the previous location, but the I.N.N. reported that hungry guests made their way to the I.N.N. nonetheless. The Board again thanks all the many volunteers, friends, and benefactors of this worthy cause.

and trusts that the needs of the homeless and hungry can be met with as little disturbance to the surrounding community as possible.

Effie C. Krogmann

Editor's Note: Mrs. Krogmann is a member of the I.N.N.'s board of directors.

Kevin Tully —
Nassau County Veterans Exemption Division

"With CSEA and AFSCME, we have clout, we have lawyers, we have lobbyists," says Kevin. "When we sit down with county officials, they know where we're coming from. They have to talk about a fair and equitable contract. ACE absolutely, positively can't match this strength."

Kevin is thinking of Suffolk County ... where an independent union lacks the clout of CSEA. There, over 1000 jobs have been lost ... the union has no contract ... and members are facing a reduction in take-home pay!

If you work for Nassau County, Kevin advises, "Vote CSEA ... it's the only way."

YOU NEED A STRONG UNION.

Alumni Announces Homecoming Dance and Scholars Dinner

Principal actions taken at the August meeting of the Hicksville High School Alumni Association included the planning of a second annual Scholars Dinner, Homecoming Dinner Dance and scholarship funding.

The Board of Directors unanimously approved the recommendation by President Conrad Weyer to hold the second Scholars Dinner which is tentatively scheduled for May 2, 1990. Community and school response to the first dinner was overwhelming.

The Scholars Dinner was proposed at the November 1988 meeting of the Alumni and donations provided seed money. Directors authorized full cost coverage.

Invitations were extended to the academic students in the top 20 percent of the class of 1989. Parents were included.

Held at the handsome new Hicksville Elks Hall, the affair was praised by the 300 in attendance. The Hicksville PTA Council was invited to participate in presenting individual awards to the scholars. President Weyer appointed Howard Finnegan chairperson for 1990.

Dinner Dance

The 1989 Homecoming Dinner Dance will be held at the Salisbury-on-the-Green at Eisenhower Park on Friday, Oct. 13. The classes of 1948 and 1949 will hold a joint reunion at the affair.

Chairman James Fye has pegged the complete evening at $45 per person. A cocktail hour begins at 8 p.m. The dance concludes at 1 a.m.

Janice Manaskie has been appointed coordinator of scholarships for 1989-90. President Weyer thanked her for organizing the Boys and Girls Annual Athletic Awards and Scholars'ip Dinner.

Her cooperation along with Robert Kenney and Pat Cutrone of the Physical Education Department was acknowledged.

Other Notes . . .

As in 1988, the Football Reunion of Hicksville Grid Players for the decade of the '70s will be the homecoming dance feature. Tickets can be obtained from James Fye at the main Hicksville office of the Bank of New York, Broadway at East John Street.

Homecoming tickets may also be purchased at the Ebbets Field Cafe, corner of Duffy and Charlotte Avenues, from Doug Dwyer.

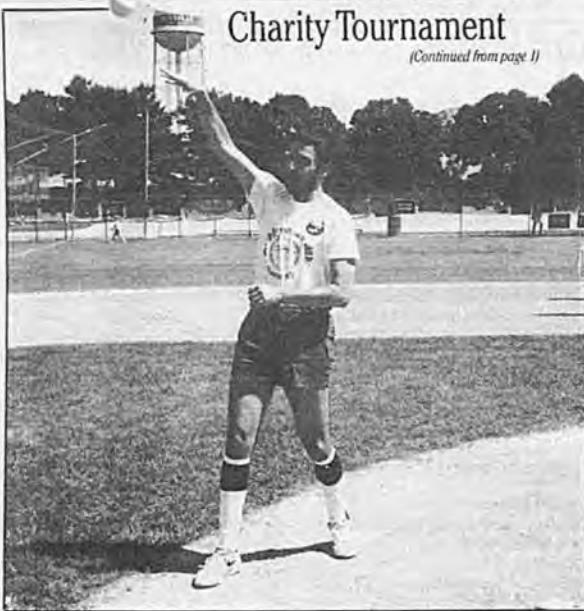

Thanks to Thomas Shaw, Hicksville Schools Building and Grounds administrator, for moving the Hicksville High School Alumni plaque in honor of the 50-year service of Mable R. Farley, to a more visible location in the high school auditorium.

The alumni's request received favorable direction from Superintendent of Schools Dr. Catherine Fenton.

The People at LILCO: Working harder to serve you better

Here's how you can help Long Island avoid power shortages.

Meeting the electricity needs of Long Island this summer requires everyone's help.

At LILCO, we've recently built additional turbine generators, upgraded our aging power plants, purchased as much electricity as possible from other utilities, and initiated a comprehensive conservation program to cut demand.

But we still need your help. When you hear a Power Alert message, please reduce air conditioning use, shut off unnecessary lights, and defer appliance operation until late evening or early morning. Thank you.

National Conference

David E. Martin of Hicksville, is attending one of the nation's major Masonic meetings in Pittsburgh this week. The annual session of the Supreme Council of Scottish Rite Freemasonry for the Northern Masonic Jurisdiction attracts more than 2,300 thirty-third degree masons from the 15 northeastern and midwestern states comprising the 430,000 member Northern Jurisdiction as it conducts its yearly gathering in the western Pennsylvania city for the first time since 1977.

Mr. Martin has been selected to receive the Thirty-third degree in September 1990.

"CSEA has taken our cause to court, to see if we can get equality on these jobs."

Kathy Martinez —
Nassau County Health Department

Kathy feels strongly about pay equity, and she knows that CSEA is fighting this issue to the finish in the courts. "They're pushing it very strongly," she says. "I'm sure that ACE would never have the money to do this."

CSEA has the professional staff, the money, the clout, and the staying power to support members all the way... even in court, if necessary... and see things to the very end. Kathy worries about her benefits if ACE wins the coming election.

"With a small group, we may lose a lot we've already gotten," she says. If you work for Nassau County... vote CSEA.

Summer Fun for Students

There were no desks, no textbooks and no tests for 15 Hicksville School District students who enrolled in the Nassau BOCES Foreign Language Immersion Program this July. Instead, they increased their fluency and confidence by using French, German, Italian or Spanish as they exercised, played volleyball, made new friends and even shopped for and cooked ethnic meals.

"The easiest, most natural way to learn a language is to use it every day in ordinary situations," explains Deena Sherman, executive administrator of Nassau BOCES Language Programs and Assessment Services.

Teenagers from 23 Nassau County districts participated in the four-week experience, including the following students from Hicksville: Erin Bartley, Denis Coffey, Dominique Felippi, Thomas Keevins, Jarrod Pfeifer, April Rodriguez, Danielle Stampfli and Robert Taylor in Spanish; Jennifer Carrado, Susan Gaylord, Maura Johnston and Christine Sacco in French; and Elizabeth Fichtner, Catherine Hora and Elizabeth Mueller in German.

For youngsters interested in learning more challenging languages, beginners' institutes in Russian and Japanese are offered simultaneously with the immersion programs.

Burger King Granted Extension For Plan

The Town of Oyster Bay recently granted a one year extension for Burger King to obtain site plan approval, building permits and certificates of occupancy for a special use permit to use and operate a drive-thru window at the southeast corner of Old Country Road and South Oyster Bay Road.

According to town officials, the extension was needed so that the current special use permit will be valid. In April 1988, the town board approved the drive-thru window request, but placed 24 restrictions on the special use permit so the change would not adversely affect traffic. The restrictions limited drive-thru window hours to the following: the window would have to be closed from 7 to 10 a.m., noon to 2 p.m. and 4 to 7 p.m.

Lutheran Church Hosts Blood Drive

Trinity Lutheran Church in Hicksville is hosting its semi-annual blood drive on Sept. 17. It will be held in the church gym, located at 40 West Nicholai Street, between 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

The need for blood is constant all year round. Approximately 700 pints of blood is needed on a daily basis to fill the needs of 42 hospitals throughout Long Island and Eastern Queens. Only four percent of people able to donate blood do, so the difference must be met with blood imported from Europe.

Donating blood is rewarding, easy, and requires just an hour of your time. With one donation, five different people will benefit. For example, your platelets may give a child with leukemia a chance to live, while your red blood cells may help an accident victim recover.

All equipment used to draw blood is sterile and disposable and used only once. The actual donation takes less than ten minutes and normal activity can be resumed shortly afterwards. The whole procedure from registration, medical screening, donation, and refreshments afterwards, takes one hour.

Anyone between 17 and 70, weighing at least 110 pounds, and in general good health is encouraged to donate. For further information, call Long Island Blood Services at 752-7300.

Citizen's Service Van Visits Hicksville

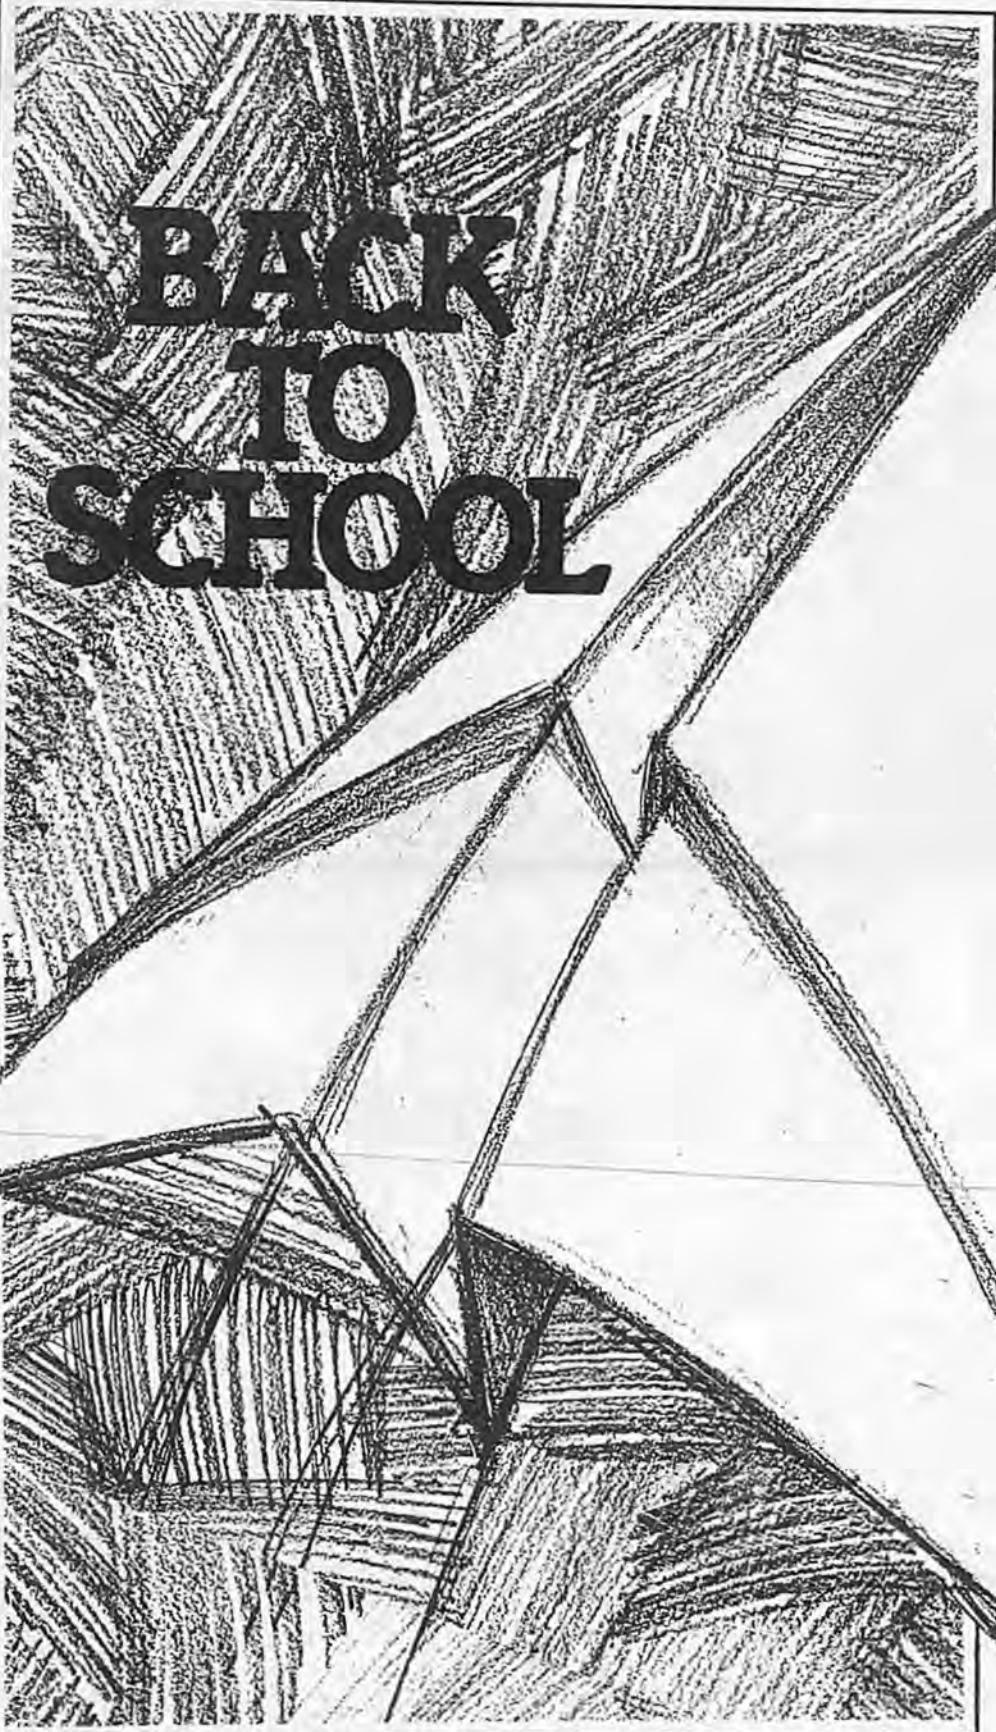

The Nassau County Citizen's Service Van will be at the Hicksville Public Library on Tuesday, Sept. 5 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Nassau residents who have a government-related problem or wish to learn more about the county services available to them, are welcome to visit the van and get the help they need.

PUBLIC HEARING
PLEASE TAKE NOTICE, that, pursuant to law, a public hearing will be held in the Hearing Room of the Town Hall, East Building, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay, New York, on Tuesday, September 12, 1989 at 10 o'clock a.m., prevailing time, or as soon thereafter as practicable, to consider amending Chapter 6, Article IV, "Dangerous Buildings," of the Code of Ordinances of the Town of Oyster Bay, thereby ADDING a new Section 6-89 (c) and REDEFINING the current Section 6-89(c) as 6-89 (d), in order to create economic incentives through the imposition of fines, for curing dangerous conditions in buildings. Interested persons shall have an opportunity to be heard upon the said proposed amendment at the time and place aforesaid. The ordinance is on file in the Office of the Town Clerk, and may be examined during regular business hours by any and all interested persons. TOWN BOARD OF OYSTER BAY ANGELO A. DELIGATTI, Supervisor; CARL L. MARCELLINO, Town Clerk. Dated: July 25, 1989, Oyster Bay, New York.

Riverview School

Riverview School in East Sandwich, Mass., serves the exacting educational needs of teenagers who have multiple learning/language disabilities in conjunction with average to low-average intellect.

Riverview School has a total enrollment capacity of 112 residential students. The School occupies an 11+ acre campus which encompasses the two boys' and five girls' residences and all academic, dining, athletic, health care, administration and maintenance buildings.

Founded in 1957 as both a primary and secondary school, Riverview was one of the first independent schools established in America to meet the needs of learning disabled children. The School is accredited by the New England Assn. of Schools and Colleges, and is a member of NAIS, ISAM, ECIS, NAPSEC and NEASC.

Riverview School has a staff of 78 persons consisting of administrators, specialized instructors, reading/speech therapists, child care workers, certified school psychologists, registered nurses, clerical, food service, and maintenance. Faculty members are all doubly certified in both their academic discipline and as instructors of children with moderate special needs. Riverview's child care staff was among the first in the country to participate in an in-service training program leading to certification.

Throughout its history, the School has constantly endeavored to improve its programs to insure their relevance to the adult world students must face upon graduation. The School has sustained both its programs, faculty, staff and physical plant with revenues from tuitions, fees, and small contributions while maintaining a balanced budget for more than a decade.

Its philosophy is based in the belief that children with learning problems resulting from perceptual or intellectual limitations can, through a structured and supportive environment, acquire the skills necessary to become self-supporting, contributing members of adult society.

Riverview has achieved this level of success by designing an Individual Education Program for each student, then carefully monitoring the student's progress, making modifications as necessary. The Individual Education Program is based on a hierarchy of specific attainable social, language, academic and prevocational goals.

Appropriate behavior, ability to understand language and express oneself clearly, acquisition of academic skills in English, math, the sciences, social studies, physical education, career education, and fine arts, and the development of prevocational and leisure time skills applicable to post-Riverview adjustment are the specific objectives we address. To this end, specialists in counselling, residential adjustment, nursing language, reading, and vocational training are blended into the student's Individual Education Program.

Fundamental to our thrust as a residential program is the recognition that social skills are as difficult for our students to master as academic skills, and are just as telling in predicting eventual levels of social and vocational independence as an adult. As a result, our residential staff implements a thoughtful, task analyzed, social development program evenings and weekends. Small and large get-togethers in dorms, field trips, and activities are just some of the vehicles used to enhance social skills and a general enjoyment of social interaction.

For complete details, call (508) 888-0489 or write Riverview School, 551 Route 6A, East Sandwich, MA 02537.

Music, Music, Music... That's All There Is at All Music

Six years in Plainview is music to Irwin Natman's ears, and the satisfied customers of this music-only shop play counterpoint to Natman's success. His shop, All Music, is just that... he carries a full line of musical instruments, houses 12 music teachers in what may be the largest music school on Long Island, and can order exotic and vintage instruments for those customers with esoteric musical taste.

All Music carries electric, acoustic and synthesized instruments, and stocks everything from guitars to trumpets. "We've obtained sitars and other unique instruments for our customers," says Irwin, "and I'm always on the lookout for antique instruments for one customer in particular. He's a sculptor and uses them in his works."

Formerly a working musician, Irwin learned the drums at age five, studied piano for ten years and opened his store to keep in touch with the music industry while he satisfied his wish to own his own business. All Music keeps him more than in touch, the store is visited regularly by well known musicians who stop in to buy, to chat or to play a riff or two.

The music school is housed upstairs, where some 250 students are taught in eight studios by professional musicians who have either played with the industry's top names, performed on Broadway or toured with bands.

Unlike the big chain stores, All Music is a hands-on enterprise. Irwin is almost always in the store, almost always available to offer suggestions, share his vast expertise, and almost always adding to the store's extensive stock of CDs, tapes, albums, sheet music and supplies. In his rare moments of relative quiet, he'll take time to share anecdotes with a customer or student.

His favorite sounds, "progressive jazz." But the sweetest sound of all, is that of All Music's students working hard to perfect their own abilities.

Break the College Entrance Barrier With Higher Test Scores

By Keni Woodruff

High PSAT and SAT scores are prime goals for high school students applying to both state and private colleges and universities. With competition keen for placement in most colleges, high school juniors and seniors are turning toward test preparation centers to hone their math and English skills.

Robert Greene Academic Services offers students an analytical approach to raising college board scores, utilizing educational techniques which will help the students throughout their academic years and into their professional lives.

"Tricks and short cuts do not teach the youngster how to study," says Bob Greene, "they are temporary measures, and the kids often forget what they've 'learned' as soon as they complete their tests. Here, we teach them how to study using methods and tools that are educationally sound, that will help them in all their studies, not just to get high test scores. We teach the etymology of words, the roots, to help them understand the more esoteric words used in the PSATs."

"Our staff is comprised of licensed, mature, experienced men and women who are specialists in their fields. We don't cross disciplines, our math tutors are licensed math teachers, or English professionals, our English teachers, experienced in verbal as well as written techniques. They use their own teaching tools and techniques, teaching materials that have proved effective in their own classrooms, as well as for the specialized classes held in our test preparation work."

Bob Greene bases his PSAT classes on the Barrons Study Book and utilizes short quizzes in his course, rather than full "sample" tests, many of which give a false sense of security to the students.

"We have small, homogeneous groupings based on academic skills and previous PSAT scores," he says. "Classes are flexible, too. If a student tracks 80% in math but feels the pace is too fast, we'll put that student in a slower paced class. Conversely, the bright, underachieving student can move up into a faster paced class."

"We don't have labs, or use tapes. We find that students don't really use them, and unless they put in a great deal of extra time, don't benefit from them. We offer free, individualized tutoring, 45 minute sessions before each class, to those students who need extra help or remediation. They are tutored in either or both math and English. Their scheduled class immediately follows the tutoring session, firmly implanting that newly understood material. We find this is much more effective. The students come away with a solid understanding of the subject that serves them in their high school classes, not just on their boards.

"We track our students for 12 months after they've completed the test preparation course. We see how they did on their exams as well as how they did in their classes during the school year. We don't offer them puffed up guarantees, but if they do not do as well as they expected and decide to take another test, we do offer them at least two full weeks of classes before their next exam...free!"

Classes at Robert Greene are small, with approximately 12 students, less in remediation classes. Sessions are shorter, two hours and ten minutes, plus the optional 45 minute tutoring session, and there's approximately one to one-and-a-half hours of homework each week. "Most of the test preparation centers give a three hour session," Bob Greene commented. "We feel this is too long. The kids get tired, their attention wanders, the teachers get tired, too.

These courses are very intense, and we find the shorter session is much more beneficial.

At home, Greene students work with previous tests, timing themselves and familiarizing themselves with the types of questions they'll find on their tests. "They might use English or math flash cards. We don't suggest that parents help with math solutions or problem solving unless they are proficient and aware of today's math techniques. However, it is important that parents are aware of their youngsters' progress, that they make sure homework assignments are completed, and that the make sure students take advantage of tutoring where necessary," Bob comments.

Bob Greene teaches English in the New York City school system. He puts his 22 years of active teaching experience to effective use in his own program, heading several of his test preparation classes himself.

For complete details, course schedules (programs begin the week of September 11), and registration information, call Robert Greene Academic Services, 679-9370. Classes are held at the Plainview Jewish Center, 95 Floral Drive, and Suburban Temple, Jerusalem Ave., Wantagh.

Fall Program Registration Underway at Mid Island Y

Fall is almost here and that means going back indoors for activities. Come to the Mid-Island Y and expand your horizons — there's a wide range of programs for everyone, from infants to senior adults. Member registration will be held Sunday, Sept. 10; non-member registration begins Sunday, Sept. 17.

* Early Childhood (servicing infants through pre-K) has limited openings in its 4-year-old morning nursery school. In addition, more than 30 courses are being offered for infants, toddlers and preschoolers, such as Afternoon Toddler Delight, Junior Music Makers and much more.

* Children's Services (grades K-8) offers a variety of after school programs. In addition to club groups, there are programs catering to each child's interest — dance, music, cooking, woodworking and so much more! Some of the new courses this fall are: Toymaking, Kite Flying, American Sign Language and Around the World.

* Teens (grades 9-12) can take advantage of college preparatory classes for PSATs and SATs, as well as seminars on how to prepare for financial aid, choosing a college just to name a few. In addition, the Youth Services Department sponsors special events and trips throughout the school year.

* Young Adults (ages 18-29) can meet other singles in a relaxed, social atmosphere at weekly volleyball games, support groups and special events.

* Singles & Couples sponsors social, recreational and self-actualization groups. Offerings include Bereavement Support Center, Couples Clubs, Singles Programs and many special events.

* Senior Adults can take advantage of many clubs and activities every day of the week, from Monday Funday to Senior Surprise.

* Adult Education has something for everyone's taste, such as a one-session Total Body Workout & Lecture, cooking demos by local restaurants, handyman courses, jewelry classes, financial advice workshops, Yiddish & Hebrew classes, Losing Your N.Y. Accent and a wide variety of exercise classes.

* Health & Physical Fitness provides classes in an enjoyable atmosphere for all ages. Parents can swim in the pool with their infants, a four-year-old can learn how to play basketball, adults can shape up with their friends and more.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Martha Merideth's School of Dance, 31 In Rd., Syosset, has been called one of the top dance schools on Long Island. Perhaps her success can be expressed by her unique philosophy: "Dance," says Ms. Merideth, "is a special education that helps a person develop feelings of selfhood which can help them in nearly everything they do in life... it can help them develop better self-presentation, better delivery."

Her school is in its 11th year, and her students have graduated to professional parts in city dance companies and Broadway productions, often opening their own dance companies. A highly regarded instructor, Ms. Merideth is committed to developing each aspect necessary to a dancer's career, enhancing the student's techniques as well as his or her physical, mental and spiritual control.

For those students not interested in a career in dance, the school offers classes in interrelated fields such as dance therapy and dance photography.

Students range in age from four to adult, and Ms. Merideth will work with "anyone willing to learn... and work. It's not a place to just come in and take classes," she comments.

The school offers ballet, jazz and musical theatre dance, with a staff of professional dancers who are affiliated with leading dance companies and colleges in Long Island and Manhattan.

To celebrate her 11th year of success, Ms. Merideth has extended the faculty and the school's community and cultural events schedule in order to provide the best services for her students. The first scheduled event for the 1989 season will be a performance at Heckscher State Park in East Islip, benefiting the L.I. Association for AIDS, the goal: to raise $150,000 to aid the fight against this dread disease.

Potential students are interviewed individually, in a process she calls: "Consultation and Examination," a physical interview which includes an examination of the candidate's skeletal alignment and breathing. Younger students at the Martha Merideth School of Dance learn only the movements of dance, not total dance patterns. "When a child of eight or nine begins ballet," she says, "I don't want them saying 'I want to learn something else, I've already learned all about ballet.'

There are now acting classes on Saturdays and a new dance club, where students and teachers will explore choreography and music. Says Ms. Merideth: "The real success story is the continuous accolades I receive from graduates who have achieved success in interrelated fields."

When your infatuation with dance is more than a passing fancy, Martha Merideth's School is the place to strengthen your passion. For more details, call 921-2912.

Brandeis Guided Learning Centers

The Center's 11th grade SAT program consists of 15 weekly two-hour lessons. The 12th grade review covers eight weekly two-hour lessons. The PSAT program for tenth and eleventh graders consists of six weekly two-hour classes. Each phase of the various programs has been diligently sequenced to bring the student to an ultimate state of readiness on examination day.

For a complimentary diagnostic evaluation of testing performance, call Brandeis Guided Learning Centers, Inc. (374-1371). There are centers in Great Neck (Temple Beth-El), Massapequa (Congregation Beth-El), in Huntington, Forest Hills, Bellmore-Merrick-Wantagh (Bellmore Jewish Center), and a main center in the Five Towns area, (Woodmere).

The path to SAT success is paved with words. According to Brandeis Guided Learning Centers, "the greater the vocabulary, the greater a student's ability to effectively understand the thoughts of others."

That philosophy has helped thousands of students to significantly raise their SAT scores and, according to Michael Brandeis, director and creator of the unique program, "students at Brandeis learn that they alone are responsible for their education. There is no easy way to excellence, no short cuts, no magical tricks that will produce results. It is only through trained, disciplined use of logical test-taking techniques that they can produce desired results."

At Molloy College, a Classic Education Will Never Go Out of Style.

While trends in higher education gain popularity only to fade away, there's one thing you can count on. "Molloy College will always offer the 'classic' liberal arts program for undergraduate students."

For more than three decades, Molloy College has been steadfast in its commitment to the traditional values of education. We offer a comprehensive curriculum in the liberal arts and sciences, business, education, career-oriented programs, nursing and other health professions.

We also constantly strive to raise our standards of academic achievement. Our new Master's degree program in Nursing has earned high praise for its state-of-the-art educational techniques.

With our emphasis on small classes for maximum personal interaction, Molloy College is the ideal place to explore the liberal arts and develop professional skills. Students also enjoy our beautiful campus, conveniently located in Rockville Centre, Long Island.

"I'm Standing As Straight As I Can."

Scoliosis...Early Detection & Treatment is Vital To a Child's Healthy Growth

by Keni Woodruff

"Stand up straight!.. 'I am.' How many times have you heard that interchanged between parents and teens or nearly teens? How many times have you said that to your own youngsters? And how many of you have been shocked to learn that your child, was, indeed, standing "straight," but that he or she had scoliosis, or curvature of the spine, (which is a spinal deformity which causes a lateral development of the spine.)

Unfortunately, scoliosis is relatively common. In fact, it is estimated that some 5% of adolescents have a small degree of curvature. Fortunately, in the vast majority of cases (90-95%), symptoms do not progress, and no treatment is necessary.

...in the vast majority of cases (90-95%), symptoms do not progress, and no treatment is necessary.

In the one-in-ten youngsters who may need bracing, the curvature can usually be corrected, without surgical intervention, when detected and treated early.

According to Dr. Irvin A. Spira, a Roslyn based orthopedic surgeon who has spent more than 15 years specializing in scoliosis and spinal deformities, and one of the most highly respected and knowledgeable physicians involved in the treatment of this spinal syndrome, "In the majority of cases, its cause is still not known and it is referred to as 'idiopathic scoliosis'. However, we find that scoliosis is a genetic tendency, one that is more common in females than males (about five to one), with the incidence somewhat higher in girls who are slightly taller and more slender than others."

The disease has been part of mankind's burden since earliest recorded history.

Drawings of people with spinal curvature were found in Stone Age caves, along with drawings of early attempts at treatment. The term scoliosis was coined by Hippocrates, who called any curvature of the spine "skoliosis," and developed methods of bracing to treat patients stricken with the disease.

Through the early Twentieth Century, many forms of treatment were attempted, with little permanent effect. In the Seventh Century, there are records showing methods of bandaging deformed torsos to splints. In the 1500's, armorers forged cuirasses that were molded to fit patients with scoliosis.

In 1914, Dr. Russell Hibbs performed the first spinal fusion for scoliosis, and in 1946, the Milwaukee brace was developed.

"Prior to mandatory screening (which became law in New York State schools in 1979), it was not uncommon to see youngsters with 50° curves," Dr. Spira. "It was a tremendous shock for parents to see their perfectly healthy child with enormous spinal curvature. It was so common, and so demoralizing, that a group of parents on Long Island organized the Scoliosis Club of Long Island. This was the forerunner of the Scoliosis Association, which is now an international organization of scoliosis clubs with branches all over the world. In 1978, the L.I. group lobbied, successfully, for the legislation which made screening mandatory in our schools.

"These parents were terribly traumatized by the sudden realization that their children needed major surgery. Nowadays, youngsters are screened from grade five and up, and severe curvature is considered a tragedy. We only see four or five cases a year now," Dr. Spira remarked.

For those youngsters whose curvature is progressing, bracing is generally the treatment of choice," Dr. Spira noted. "The child usually wears the brace full time for one to two years, then part time until completion of adolescence. For girls, that's usually about two years after onset of menses; for boys, it's about two years later... 15 or 16.

According to Dr. Spira, "there are a variety of braces, and the young patients can usually go about their lives normally while wearing the appliance. I've got one patient who pitches little league, another who became Miss New York State. Patients can take off their brace for specific activities, but I've found that the more athletic the youngster is, the more dedicated to his or her sport, the better they are about wearing the brace and getting used to it," says Dr. Spira. "In fact, in healthy youngsters, there is really no other cause, hence the term 'idiopathic'. It's an imbalance of the spine, which is 'pulled' laterally to the 'stronger' side."

"It also may be a manifestation of many diseases of the nervous or muscular system... polio, cerebral palsy, spina bifida, muscular dystrophy... and can accompany diseases of the connective soft tissue," he noted, "but that's not the common, idiopathic form that affects most children who are diagnosed as scoliotic."

He noted, "Trauma, too, can cause scoliosis, especially in youngsters who are active in time well.

"Today, bracing is much less frightening, and there are scoliosis clubs which offer support, suggestions and sessions for the youngsters and their families. There's very little need for counseling these days. Occasionally, a youngster's biggest problem is the failure of the parents to accept the condition and to comply with the treatment prescribed by the physician. They feel they were inadequate, they feel guilty or embarrassed, and do not support the child.

"Scoliosis is really a symptom, or manifestation, of unequal muscle/ligament equilibrium, and, despite the extensive research that's been done, is still not sports. Major injury, and fractures, especially when there is "wedging," or compression, of the spine, can cause curvature, and children who have suffered accidents involving spinal injury should be checked for scoliosis following major traumatic spine incidents.

"This is a good place to dispel a common myth," he commented. "Carrying books on the hip cannot cause scoliosis, nor can wearing a knapsack over one shoulder. However, either might exacerbate the condition if it is present. The school can make provision for an extra set of textbooks and school materials to be kept in the student's home so that he/she does not have to carry that weight."

The screening process is a simple procedure done by the school nurse, gym teacher or the child's physician during an annual pre-school or pre-camp physical check up. The spine is examined with the child standing, bending forward, to the side, and away), sitting and lying face down in a prone position. Any, or all of these positions will help the professional detect asymmetry of the trunk, an elevated shoulder or hip, or a prominent shoulder blade. If any of these manifestations are found, the youngster should be referred to the family physician or an orthopedist for follow-up.

...the young patients can usually go about their lives normally while wearing the appliance."

Another device which helps with detection, is the "Scoliometer" (pictured). It's similar to a carpenter's level, but has end canal with graduations to determine the percentage of curvature if any. Some experts utilize a plumb line to detect scoliosis.

"There's a non structural form of scoliosis which becomes obvious when the patient is seated, and appears to correct itself when the patient is prone," Dr. Spira notes. "It's caused by limb length inequality, and further progression can be halted by an appropriate shoe lift on the shorter side."

There is no back pain connected to scoliosis in most adolescents. However, if a youngster does complain of pain or discomfort, it should be investigated NOT in relation to scoliosis, Dr. Spira cautions.

"Some infants are born with scoliosis," Dr. Spira comments. "It may occur in cases where the spine is not properly formed, and may require early treatment. This congenital form is usually spotted at early life by the pediatrician and is usually treated by bracing or surgery."

"Patients often ask about exercise to correct the condition," Dr. Spira comments. "Many studies have been conducted, starting in the 30's, both here and in Europe. There's been pretty conclusive evidence that exercises have no effect on correcting or arresting the condition. I did my own five year study, in fact. It was very controlled, very broad, and the results were totally inconclusive...the one thing it did show was that since so many adolescents have such poor posture, Dance and aerobic therapy, such as the Alexander method, have been proven effective. However, I do recommend exercise in conjunction with wearing a brace, as the muscles do tend to relax and droop. Daily exercise keeps up muscle strength and can be helpful in achieving better correction. Many doctors who treat scoliosis recommend Blount-Bellinsky exercises as an adjunct to brace treatment." (Dr. Blount developed the Milwaukee brace commonly used in scoliosis treatment).

...Carrying books on the hip cannot cause scoliosis...

In smaller percentage of cases where the disease, though idiopathic, is progressive, if left untreated, the spine develops an increasingly lateral rotation which can deform the rib cage, involving the thoracic cavity, thus disturbing the proper functioning of the heart and lungs. The body tends to form compensatory curves to keep the head directly aligned with the pelvis, in order to keep the spine balanced.

In progressive scoliosis, the most common manifestation is a right thoracic curve. Right curves develop rapidly, and can cause severe cosmetic defects and impairment of cardiopulmonary function. In these cases, the patient must be treated early.

"During the past five years, a new surgical technique has been introduced which obviates the need for post operative casts or braces. Developed in France, the Correl-Dubouset procedure enables the patient to leave the hospital in 10-12 days, ambulatory and wearing their own clothes. It's quite a difference from the prolonged recuperative period the patient had to spend in a cast prior to this surgical innovation," Dr. Spira commented.

Another recent development, an electronic monitoring system which monitors the function of the spine during surgery, has virtually eliminated the risk of spinal damage during surgery. This development has added to the safety of the patient during surgery.

Contrary to early belief, scoliosis, if untreated, does not come to a halt when the patient reaches adulthood. A significant number of people with progressive scoliosis suffer distressing pain and instability as they grow older...if the lesion goes untreated, especially susceptible are those adult patients who have a strong genetic "load" of scoliosis, those whose curve pattern throws the trunk out of balance, and those with extremely poor muscle tone (especially women who have had pregnancies), are overweight and underexercised.

While the thought of your child having scoliosis is distressing, early diagnosis and professional treatment promises virtually complete correction, assuring the young person of an adulthood that is unhampered. In its most common form, the disease does not progress, and while bracing is not pleasant to contemplate, it is effective and allows the child to participate in a full schedule of activities.

The L.I. Scoliosis Club meets on the third Tuesday of the month, at North Shore University Hospital, Community Drive, Manhasset.

Forward Bending Test, above, is part of the screening process used to detect scoliosis.

Focusing on Better Eye Care for Kids

By Rita Langdon

Fact or Myth: Your mother was right when she told you eating carrots would make you see better.

Answer: Vitamin A in carrots and in other foods has shown to be a necessity for the eyes as well as the body, but will not necessarily deter eye problems. A well-balanced diet including fruits, vegetables and nuts, and avoiding processed sugar found in candy and soda, can set your child on the right road.

However, there's more to vision care than that, according to Dr. Dean Hart and Dr. Vincent E. Coltellino, optometrists at Woodbury Optical Group in Hicksville.

Even a child who shows no signs of vision problems should be checked at least once a year by an optometrist specializing in pediatric eye care. "Things can change rapidly, especially with a child," said Dr. Coltellino, referring to intense reading during the school year as an example. "20/20 vision is not the best indicator of what's going on in the eye," Dr. Hart added.

Regular doctor visits are imperative, as it's difficult to repair the eye once the damage is done.

"People don't realize how much vision affects everything you do," Dr. Coltellino said. That's why it's important to recognize

Healthy Baby Teeth Mean Healthy Permanent Teeth

By Keni Woodruff

As awareness of the importance of early dental care has grown, pediatric dentistry has become a recognized specialty. The very young, pre-teen and teenage dental patients require different approaches in dealing with their behavior, guiding their dental growth and development, and in helping them avoid future dental problems.

Andrew Attias, DDS (Syosset Medical Arts Bldg., 50 Underhill Blvd., Syosset) offers his young patients that very special training, with personalized care and sensitivity to the needs of youngsters, whether they are very young first time patients or older, image-conscious teens.

The pediatric dentist is aware that good dental health is an important part of overall good health for the developing child, and will often work with pediatricians and other dental specialists to assure that well-being, utilizing a team approach which benefits the normal, healthy child as well as those who may be chronically ill, hospitalized or handicapped.

Dr. Attias believes in an early start to regular dental care, recommending routine examinations beginning by age two, when, much to a parent's surprise, a child may already have decay.

The pediatric dentist is proficient in treating nursing caries, using sealants and other techniques, which include instructing parents in proper brushing methods to ensure healthy growth of the child's permanent teeth.

"Baby teeth serve a number of functions," Dr. Attias comments. Beside helping the child to chew his or her food properly, they enable the youngster to develop good speech habits and guide the eruption of permanent teeth.

"We are skilled in caring for the home and playground accidents that are so common among very young children, too," he says. "Quick action can often save a tooth that has been knocked out of its socket and new materials enable us to repair broken or chipped teeth effectively."

"A pediatric dentist is prepared for comprehensive treatment of the child's mouth, and can restore teeth affected by disturbances which might discolor or damage one or more teeth."

Working with teens and pre-teens is particularly important in the practice of pediatric dentistry. Generally poor eating habits increase the problem of maintaining healthy teeth, and learning to care for their teeth while wearing orthodontic devices adds another stress factor to a teen's already fragile emotional state. These trained specialists not only provide a supportive atmosphere for these young people, they are sensitive to the adolescent's emotional needs, knowledgeable about the pressures they endure during adolescence, and can help them increase their self esteem while developing the good dental habits that will ensure strong healthy adult teeth.

For your own family's dental health call Dr. Andrew Attias, 921-0222.

Sport Safety

True or False: Never wear glass lenses when playing sports.

Answer: True.

A hockey puck or tennis ball in the face is not uncommon for today's active youth. But the right protection is needed to avoid any irreversible damage. Children should never wear glass lenses.

in sports, Dr. Coltellino says. "Plastic and polycarbonate lenses are so far superior in impact resistance and if they do break, it's in large chunks, whereas glass will shatter."

Editor's Note: Dr. Hart and Dr. Coltellino's office is located at 185 Woodbury Rd., Hicksville. Phone number is 681-3937.

But, there is a disadvantage to polycarbonates—they scratch easily. Dr. Coltellino suggests that those participating in sports wear sports goggles, which have a ledge behind the lens. On impact the lens will pop out as opposed to popping into the eye as some regular glasses do.

Dr. Hart added that side shields on frames can also help. "Things can hurt the eye from the side, especially in games like racketball," he said.

True or False: Children who don't wear glasses, don't need them to play sports.

Answer: False.

All children, even those who don't need glasses, should wear protective eye gear when playing sports.

"Those with imperfect vision should have the best eye glass prescription when they are playing sports, especially for fast moving targets," Dr. Hart said, adding, "They can pick things up better and respond to them faster, as well as improve eye-hand coordination."

True or False: Most children dislike getting their first pair of glasses.

Answer: Surprisingly, many children do not have a problem wearing their first pair of glasses. They welcome the improvement. But, it's mostly farsighted children who may have a problem adjusting to them. Farsighted patients are accustomed to seeing distance objects clearly. Objects up close are blurry. However, they make themselves focus on the close object. Dr. Coltellino says this forces the child to use too much energy to focus, and therefore, retards their academic success. Dr. Hart said, "They find it hard to read and perform their work. They may even avoid reading, watch a lot of television, or stare off into space in the classroom."

"When the farsighted child focuses close up, he's straining much more than anybody else does even if he tests with 20/20 vision in the distance," Dr. Coltellino said. He added, "He can look at something and get it clear, but in the long run he's not able to keep it clear as long as most other kids."

Can You Succeed in Business Without an MBA?

Many college bound, and about-to-graduate students, look at their potential in the business world and feel that an MBA is absolutely necessary. The Graduate Management Admission Council is holding a series of MBA forums to help individuals determine whether a graduate degree is really necessary to their career goals, and, if so, to help them identify which business schools would best fulfill their advanced education goals.

A recent study commissioned by the U.S. Department of Labor indicates that between now and the year 2000, the economy will become more global, more technically advanced, demanding higher education and higher skill levels. It also points to an older workforce which contains more females and greater ethnic balance.

According to Susan McTiernan, Director of Hofstra University's MBA Program, "MBAs are better equipped to meet the divergent needs and resources of the marketplace, an ability greatly valued in today's highly complex service oriented society."

To inform and direct the potential MBA candidate, the 1989 MBA Forums will offer an opportunity for individuals to meet representatives of more than 100 national and international colleges and universities during two days of sessions at the Omni Park Central Hotel, 7th Avenue & 56th Street, New York City.

Forums will be held on Friday, October 6, between 2:00 pm and 8:00 pm, and Saturday, October 7, between 10:00 am and 4:00 pm. There will be workshops and panels, and topics include "The MBA and You," "MBA Careers," and "Doctoral Programs." Panels will be headed by education and career experts in admissions, curricula, career planning and job search strategies. Workshops will last one hour and there will be ample question and answer time. A $5.00 daily registration will cover all activities.

For further information, call: Margo Smith at 914-636-1100.

money on tuition. Federal and state grants alone can cover as much as $5,950 of college expenses.

There is even more money available than that. Briarcliffe has established academic scholarships for students who have excelled in high school, and need-based scholarships for those whose personal financial circumstances would prevent them from attending college. "We want to help every student who wants an education to get one. Money should not have to stand in the way," says Fadem.

In the cases of students whose family incomes may be too high to qualify for grants, there are deferred payment student loans available. With student loans, the students do not need to begin repayment until after they finish school. Depending upon the amount borrowed, monthly payments can be less than sixty dollars a month.

Why is this money available? Robin Masters, Briarcliffe's Career Development Counselor says the government is making an investment in the future. "The lawmakers who create the budgets for college financial aid know the value of a business degree. Our graduates make more money and as a result pay more taxes during their careers. It's a good deal for students and for America," Masters adds.

No Need To Fear College Costs

Many college-age students and their parents have been frightened by news articles about rising tuition. Their fears may be unwarranted, according to Nancy Fadem, Admissions Director at Briarcliffe The College for Business.

"There is a lot more money available to help pay tuition than most people seem to think," says Fadem. Financial aid makes it possible for some students to attend private colleges like Briarcliffe without spending any of their own that the demand for business college graduates is very high.

Briarcliffe's commitment to helping students go to college goes beyond their own students. For years they have been providing financial aid counseling to family members of students enrolled at Briarcliffe. Under a new program just announced by college president Richard Turan, free financial aid counseling will be provided to all members of the community.

For information about free financial aid counseling for any of Briarcliffe's programs call the admissions office at (516) 681-1100.

Tips to Help Parents Turn Their Children Into Math Winners

Question: If a hen-and-a-half lay an egg-and-a-half in a day-and-a-half, how long would it take 13 hens to lay 13 eggs?

That many educated Americans are stumped by this familiar math brainteaser concerns learning authority Robert L. Baseman, president of the Chicago-based Britannica Learning Centers.

Baseman's concern follows recent, well-publicized reports on U.S. student math standards—including studies by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics and Educational Testing Service. Such reports have cited shortcomings in U.S. pupils' math performance. One study found American students were outperformed by their counterparts in four other countries—South Korea, Spain, Ireland and the United Kingdom—and four Canadian provinces.

"Many theories have been expounded on why U.S. youngsters appear to have problems coping with math," Baseman said. "What it comes down to, however, is the need for parents to be more directly involved in their children's math training. We think there is reason for optimism if youth and parents work together."

Baseman's optimism is based on observations in other countries of parents, who he said frequently become deeply involved in their children's math education. In these situations, he added, if a child faces problems, his parents then are in a better position to detect the "whys" and "wherefores" needed to solve the problems.

Drawing on the experience of the math skills program given at almost 100 Britannica Learning Centers across the country, Baseman offered suggestions for applying parent power to our nation's widespread problem of math illiteracy (innumeracy):

- Incorporate a sense of fun when it comes to mathematics. For instance, when taking a child shopping, have him become involved in weighing of produce, counting change and pricing what is the best buy. Recent studies of U.S. math education have stressed the importance of such real-world applications of math principles.

- To help your child develop confidence in counting, use actual objects. For example, drop marbles into a jar one-by-one and have him repeat after you the numbers 2, 3, 4, etc. as you drop each marble in.

- To build his competence in counting, teach him rhymes like the one that begins, "one, two, buckle my shoe . . ." and read to him such books as The Sesame Street 1, 2, 3 Story Book."

- Check with a child's teachers to determine what progress he or she is making in math. Such contacts should include, but not necessarily be limited to, regular parent-teacher conference sessions.

- When planning a long-distance vacation or other trip by car, have your child use road maps to determine the number of miles to your destination. Also, have him or her calculate an estimated time of arrival, based on departure time, projected speed (in miles per hour) and estimated duration of any stops en route.

- Encourage your child, and let him or her know that perseverance usually is required in solving math problems.

- When baking or cooking, have your child help by reading directions on packages and measuring ingredients into bowls. Have children become familiar with measuring spoons and cups.

- Periodically have your child explain how he or she developed the answer to a problem. He or she should be able to explain, in mathematical terms, how the solution was found.

- If your child has missed school for any reason, make an effort to learn what math concepts were taught when he or she was absent. Failure to learn a concept when it is taught can hamper performance in future days, weeks and months.

- Have your child log how his or her allowance money is spent during a vacation period or over the summer months. Based on money received, and money spent, your child should be able also to determine the percentage of money saved.

- If success still does not occur, do not hesitate to obtain help. Classroom teachers often are good sources to ask about supplemental services.

Diagnostic testing is available at the Britannica Learning Centers, which offer individualized programs tailored to the specific needs of each child. Those wanting more information may call the Massapequa Park center at 795-5850 or the Hicksville center at 433-4555.

How to Check Your Child's Know-How

The following problems are from the battery of math diagnostic tests given in the Britannica Learning Centers. Have your child answer the problem in his grade level.

Beginning level (kindergarten to grade 3)

Q. Sixteen apples were in the basket; four more were on the ground. How many apples were there all together and what did you do to find the answer?

A. The correct answer is achieved by adding 16 and 4, which gives a total of 20. However, some children will make the common mistake of subtracting 4 from 16.

Intermediate level (grades 4 to 6)

Q. At the delicatessen, Tony served a submarine sandwich that had 1.034 ounces of bologna and 1.041 ounces of salami. Which type of meat was in the sandwich in greater quantity?

A. Surprisingly, some students will incorrectly select 1.034, presumably because they are confused by the use of decimals.

Senior level (grades 6 to 8)

Susan's purchases total $75.62. If the monthly interest is 1 1/4 percent on the unpaid balance, and she made no payment this month, what is her interest charge and her new balance? If she is charged $5.00 for not making the payment, what is her balance now?

The interest charge is $75.62 x .0125, which equals .9452 dollars or approximately 95 cents. The new balance is $75.62 + .95 + $76.57. With the five dollar charge, the new balance would now be $76.57 + $5.00 = $81.57.

If your child has not achieved the correct answer to the problem in his age level, he might profit from a professional consultation at a Britannica Learning Center.

Annual Greek Festival September 8, 9, 10

The Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church of Hicksville will hold its 13th Annual Festival on Sept. 8, 9 and 10.

The event will take place on the grounds of the Church located on Field Avenue, south of Old Country Road and west of South Oyster Bay Road in Hicksville.

Enjoy the delicious food and pastries of Greece, sip its delicious wine and ouzo. Have fun playing the games. Browse through the boutique containing jewelry, crafts, records, etc. Share the spirit of being Greek through music and dance. Performing throughout the Festival will be the Hellenic Dancers of Hicksville. This group is comprised of children of the community ranging in age from six to eighteen, dressed in their colorful ethnic costumes.

The Church will be open to the public to look and admire the new icons of Pantocrator, Platytetera, the Baptism and Resurrection of our Lord, installed during July 1989.

You will also see an exhibition of all the Church's educational programs.

Admission to the Festival grounds is free. Free parking at LILCO on New South Road.

Free Blood Pressure Check at Hospital

Syosset Community Hospital reminds you that monitoring your blood pressure is a quick and painless step toward detection and treatment of hypertension. The Hospital offers free blood pressure screening on the first Wednesday of each month. The next screening will be held on Wednesday, September 6, 1989, from 1:30-3:30 p.m. in the lobby. No appointment is necessary. Syosset Community Hospital is located at 221 Jericho Turnpike, in Syosset $\frac{1}{4}$ mile of South Oyster Bay Road. For further information call 490-6527.

Catholic Golden Age Meets Sept. 8

The Hicksville-Levittown chapter of the Catholic Golden Age will meet on Friday afternoon, Sept. 8, at 1:15 p.m. The meeting will be held at Levittown Hall on Levittown Parkway in Hicksville.

Bradward on Classifieds

Abbreviations in your classified ads?
No. Don't use them.

And that says it all.

Here is why.

All of us have a good education. As the world counts smart, we are smart.

Yet here is a string of abbreviations Bradward cannot decipher, and we dare you to do so.

These three classifieds are copied exactly from a major metro newspaper.

This is under "Residential Rentals," BLDWN HLS ADJ 1245 M/F UTIL INC CPTIS DROPS. BUCKINGHAM/MLK RTTZ (000-0000).

This is under "Industrial Equipment Services," LAGBY 3 AXIS CNC, VERT MILL, THE BEST UNDER 30K. CALL 000-0000.

This little gem is under "Property for Sale," 1100-1300 SF WLA OFC/IND 1500SF SLA XLNT PKG. 35000SF LAX DIV STOR. LO RATE. BKR (000-0000).

What absolute nonsense.

Want to guess some more?

How about "cts"? Does this mean Cents? Counts? Cartons? Cats? Crates?

How about "BR." Does this mean Branch? Bankruptcy? Bedroom? Bathroom? Brokerage?

How about "MI." does this mean Miles? Minutes? Michigan?

The only abbreviations acceptable to you should be directions (N.E.S.W) days of the week (Mon., Tues., Wed.,), months (Jan., Aug., Oct., Dec.), addresses (Ave., St. Blvd., Rd.), titles (Mr., Mrs., Ms., and Dr.), and names of states (NY, OH, TX). And, oh yes, AM and PM. These and no more.

Your abbreviations may be perfectly clear to you. They are not perfectly clear to many of your readers.

To expect great success from your newspaper then fill your classifieds with abbreviations, is like expecting great music by clapping with one hand.

Why do good people play these games with their newspapers? Easy! They try to save a dollar on the cost of their classified.

It's not that they saved a dollar or two; the shame is they risked the six or eight dollars they invested.

If your newspaper offers you classified ad space by the line (agate line), you will surely use a few more lines. But isn't having your message perfectly clear what your advertising is all about?

Promise yourself: NO MORE ABBREVIATIONS, FOREVER.

Next time a check list of points worth their weight in gold! Your gold, that is!

"what am I going to do with this?"

put it in the classifieds.

SUNY Soccer Schedule Features Top JC Teams

The defending Region 15 soccer champions at SUNY Farmingdale will be opening their season on Sept. 9 and 10, when they host three outstanding college teams from neighboring states. The Rams have invited perennial JC champion Mercer CC, from Trenton, N.J., Massasoit JC, from Massachusetts, and Burlington CC, from New Jersey, also to participate in the Farmingdale Invitational.

Pairings for the opening games on Saturday, Sept. 9, are as follows: Farmingdale vs. Mercer at 1 p.m. and Massasoit vs. Burlington at 3 p.m. Admission is free.

Farmingdale won its first Regional Championship last fall under Coach Jim McGeough, from Hicksville, and McGeough is very optimistic about this fall's team, after a very good recruiting season. Returning for the Rams are All American goalkeeper Dan Callahan, from Commewague, Brian Robertson, from Huntington, Nick Boutis, from Commack, Dan Fisher, from Kings Park, and Vin Longo, from Hicksville. In addition, McGeough's son, Tony, who played for the Rams in 1986 and was their leading scorer, has returned to add depth and experience.

The tournament will wind up on Sunday, Sept. 10, with the consolation game at 11 a.m. and the championship game at 1:00 p.m. All games will be played at the Rt. 110 campus behind Nold Hall gymnasium.

Tryouts for Swim Team

Tryouts for the Huntington Bethpage Swim Team will be held on Saturday, Sept. 9 at 9 a.m.

The tryout will take place at the Huntington YMCA, Main Street, Huntington. All ages are welcome.

For information call 938-8446.

Jeannine Sirey Participates in Lifeguard Tourny

Central Federal Savings Offers Free Tax Seminar

J. Alan Ornstein, Chairman and CEO of Central Federal Savings announced a free tax seminar to be given at its Hicksville branch at 10 a.m. The seminar will focus on how to lessen the tax burden on your earnings as well as how to use this money to provide additional income. There will be no cost for the seminars and absolutely no obligation to buy or invest. Seating at the seminar is limited. For reservations call 800-243-3309.

Hicksville Resident Runs With "Lightfeet"

Hicksville resident John Lupski participated with the LILCO men's running team, "LILCO's Lightfeet," in the recent Long Island Corporate Challenge Race in Eisenhower Park. The LILCO team of 10 runners placed second overall, behind Grumman, in a field of 1700 runners from 130 companies. This is the 10th year that Manufacturers Hanover Bank has sponsored the 3 1/2 mile competition among New York area businesses. Lupski works in LILCO's gas customer service department in Hicksville.

Thanks From St. Ignatius Loyola CYO

By Barbara Lewis

On Saturday, under splendid skies, our children participated in the "Kids for Kids Tournament." We would like to take this time to thank all the coaches, children and parents for their contributions in supporting the Association for the Help of Retarded Children.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Al Ciaccio, for extending the invitation to our organization. This tournament lets our community come together to do something for those less fortunate. The entire community of Hicksville should be very grateful to have a man of unselfish dedication as Al Ciaccio. Al has worked many hours to make this day the big success it was. All the directors and parents of St. Ignatius CYO applaud you.

I would also like to express our gratitude to Fr. Ed Tarant for his beautiful prayer in the opening ceremonies. He totally expressed the true meaning why we were all there to participate.
