Vandalism on Rise, Firm Offers Reward

By Rita Langdon

A recent outbreak of vandalism at Hicksville businesses and schools has led one firm president to offer a $1,000 reward for information leading to the conviction of individuals defacing his buildings.

Spiegel Associates of Jericho is offering the reward because company officials have been "shocked by the widespread degradation of property in Hicksville."

Area vandalism this summer has included broken windows, graffiti and destruction of flower beds. In addition, a memorial stone dedicated to two residents active in a local sports organization was smashed.

According to Arthur D. Sanders, president of the real estate development firm, graffiti has also been sprayed on Hicksville buildings the business owns.

Spiegel Associates is prosecuting a 21-year-old St. James man who was arrested for uprooting flowers the firm had planted along its North Broadway building on the Jericho, Hicksville border.

"Business and homeowners alike must not surrender our environment to the hands of a few delinquent offenders," Sanders said. "Each of us must do whatever is within our means to stop them from further abusing our property."

People with information can contact Chuck Schnepfer at Spiegel Associates, 935-1100. All calls will be kept confidential, Sanders said.

Ivan Czipott, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said his organization's longstanding offer of $250 is also available to those who can supply information leading to the arrest of vandals of those who damage property in any part of Hicksville.

"These kids should know it's not a sport anymore. It's sadistic damage," Czipott said.

Conversely, vandalism at Hicksville schools had been on the rise in the early part of the summer, but slowed down after the school district beefed up security and two juveniles were arrested.

"For the most part of the summer it has been pretty quiet, [because] we've stepped up our patrol," said Thomas Shaw, the district's director of facilities and operations.

He added that two Hicksville youngsters, one 12-years-old, were arrested after 20 windows were broken and four or five skylights were damaged at Fork Lane Elementary School. There were six to eight students believed to be involved in the incident which took place in early August at about 7 or 8 p.m., Shaw said.

The district had received a call from residents who said that youngsters were on the roof at Fork Lane. After district security was sent to the school, two students were held until police arrived.

The cost of the window and skylight damage is $2,900. Since the beginning of the summer, about 100 windows were broken by baseball bats and rocks. Woodland Avenue, Dutch and Fork Lanes were heavily hit with graffiti, Shaw said. The high school is also a prime target for graffiti.

Stores along Broadway were heavily vandalized in the spring when graffiti showed up on building facades. The most common letters put on the businesses and schools is "MILK," Shaw said, adding that he believes that those letters are initials.

He added that the initials "C.B.H." have also been spraypainted on the walls of many of the district's schools. Shaw said that those letters stand for either "Control By Hate" or "City Boys in Hicksville."

High school students interviewed last week at a local school said they are familiar with the damage caused by "MILK," but they claim they do not know the person. They added that they think he is out of high school and must drive a car. "He really gets around," said one student referring to other neighboring communities that bear the "MILK" symbol.

School Budget Re-vote Set for August 29

By Peggy Theis

The Hicksville School Board set Aug. 19 as the date for a school budget revote after unanimously approving $1.5 million in cuts from the budget defeated on May 23.

Residents will now be asked to vote on a $1,584,000 budget, which would carry a tax rate increase of $3.45/hundred. The anticipated tax rate increase at the time of the budget defeat was $5.38/hundred. The contingency (austerity) budget currently in place would raise taxes by $3.16/hundred. The Board agreed that not more than two percent of the 1990/91 Budget will be retained as unexpended surplus (approximately $1 million).

How Cuts Were Made

Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Catherine Fenton, had indicated at the Board's July 19 meeting that it was necessary for the Board to decide how much of a general fund balance or surplus it desired for the 1990-91 school year before she could make recommendations on any cuts. The decision of the current Board to retain a lower balance than in the past enabled the Board to cut monies that otherwise would have accumulated as unexpended monies from all budget codes to fund a larger surplus. The reserve will now appear on the budget as a line item.

Since the Board's July 19 meeting, newly-elected Board Trustees Arlene Rudin and Carole Wolf met with Board Secretary William Bennett to review possible budget reductions. The availability of actual expenditures for the 1989-90 school year helped them determine where monies could be saved. These figures were not available until the end of the school year. Budget preparations, however, began last fall and the superintendent's budget was presented to the Board in January. The availability of "actuals" earlier in the year would, according to Rudin, make for a "better process."

In making her motion to cut the $1.5 million, Wolf indicated that the Board had publicly met on Monday evening, Aug. 6, to review the budget. Based on that meeting, she suggested that $500,000 be deleted from the various codes, as well as utilizing $745,000 from unencumbered funds and $255,000 from the benefits code.

Bennett attempted to reduce Wolf's proposed cut by $500,000 with an amending motion, but it was defeated 6-1.

Stating that while he would "like to cut $5 million," Bennett said he was concerned that a larger decrease in the revised budget could raise future tax rate increases because the "traditional $2.4-$2.9 million" general fund balance would not exist to help lower the tax rate the following year.

This year $1.2 million from the 1989-90 general fund balance will be used as revenue to reduce the 1990-91 school tax rate which must be set by the Town shortly. Bennett also expressed concern that a smaller general fund balance would generate lower interest, and revenue to the District.

Wolf reiterated her belief that the two percent surplus would be "a good cushion." Bennett, who had suggested a four percent surplus on July 19, said a larger surplus acts as a "buffer" for an "unexpected calamity" or rapidly rising costs such as heat or electricity.

However, Bennett joined the rest of the Board in unanimously voting to set the unexpended surplus at two percent saying he voted yes "because it's in the right direction."

In supporting the $1.5 million reduction, which she called a "reasonable number," Rudin stated such a cut would show that the Board was "trying to meet [taxpayer and community] needs" while preserving educational and extracurricular activities for children, programs for senior citizens and aid those residents selling homes.

Board Trustee James Martillo commented that if he were a member of the audience he would be "confused" as to how the budget could be cut now after being told three months ago that it was at the "bare minimum."

Superintendent Catherine Fenton explained that "philosophical assumptions" are taken into account during budget preparations. Citing heavy litigation facing the

Firemen Study at Special Summer School

By A. Anthony Miller

Local firemen are spending time this summer going to school.

Despite the hazy, hot and humid weather and drenching rain storms, volunteers from dozens of fire companies throughout Nassau and Suffolk visited the Fire Service Academy in Old Bethpage during the week of Aug. 6 to receive some special training.

Hicksville firefighters were in the group of about 400 who learned what to do if a gasoline tanker catches fire or overturns.

To help them in the course, which takes slightly more than four hours, they used a 41-foot trailer capable of holding 9,000 gallons of gasoline. Once in service as a delivery vehicle for the Amoco Oil Company carrying gasoline, jet fuel and home heating oil, the trailer was rebuilt by a Chicago company as a training vehicle and, with two Amoco instructors, has been touring the country for two years.

More than 8,000 firemen and emergency response personnel have benefitted from the course to date.

products in the country. Most of them carry between nine and 14 thousand gallons of product.

Insp. John Carlsen, head of the Nassau County Police Department's Emergency Services Bureau, said that all 37 officers under his command will be receiving the training.

There have been a number of occasions during the past 10 years when problems with such units have been encountered, including incidents in which trucks have jack-knifed, rolled-over or caught fire.

"The potential for a problem is enormous," Carlsen said. "It becomes incumbent upon the police and fire personnel, usually the fire rescue units at the scene, to do what has to be done to rectify the situation. We cannot always count on the industry people, who do come, to be on the spot."

"We have to know what to do in these incidents so that we do not jeopardize lives and handle the problem appropriately," the inspector added. "Gasoline is the number one

"We have to know what to do in these incidents so we do not jeopardize lives. Gasoline is the number one hazardous material transported, with several hundred trucks passing through the county daily."

—Inspector John Carlsen

The unit, called the "Amoco Side Kick," is so named because it can roll over 180 degrees, but is normally only rolled onto its left side for training.

Various covers and valves have been installed to show emergency response personnel what they might encounter. Firefighters, who must as part of the course drill into the tank, do so on replaceable plates.

The rig is similar to more than half of the 120,000 tank trucks that transport petroleum hazardous material transported, with several hundred such trucks passing through the county daily."

Carlsen said that "the major carriers have an excellent safety record, but the problem tends to be with carriers not as scrupulous with their maintenance or training of their personnel. Our Highway Patrol Bureau's

Motor Carrier Safety unit does enforce the state regulations stringently, but we must still

SUMMERSCHOOL: Volunteer firemen attending the Amoco school get "hands-on" training on the "side kick." safeguard against and train for any emergency."

In addition to classroom instruction and two hours of "hands-on" experience, the volunteers who attend the instruction are given a 53-page manual printed by Amoco at its expense. Emergency Response Procedures at Petroleum Incidents identifies common problems and gives cautionary notes on how to handle—and how not to handle—different situations.

For the training, the truck is filled with water and not fuel. Firemen would normally use foam to extinguish the fire because water would cause the gasoline to spread and pour into catch basins, where it could ultimately act as a contaminant.

The "accident" was a staged simulation, but the firemen who "fought" the incident were dressed in full turnout gear with breathing apparatus. They were instructed on how to seal leaks, remove the contents, scale and drill into the vehicle.

Those interviewed after the instruction praised the training.

Fire Service Academy Chief Instructor Bob Lincoln filmed the training, given Tuesday morning to 57 individuals from more than 15 departments. The video tape will be made available to any departments or members who could not attend the training sessions during the week.

Those agencies who signed up for the program included the New York State Police, Nassau County Fire Marshal's Hazardous Waste Materials personnel and volunteers from area departments. The New York Fire Department also sent some of its personnel to the instruction.

Man Charged With Setting Building Fire

By Rita Langdon

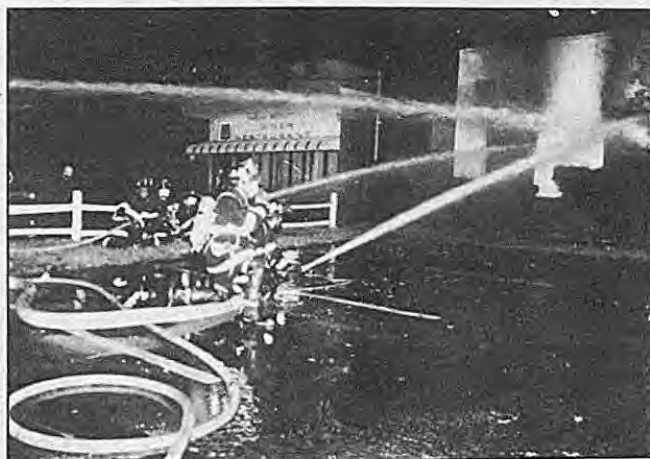

A recently fired worker at Municipal Testing Lab was charged with stealing equipment and then setting the New South Road business on fire last week.

According to police and fire officials, James Gill, 27, of Long Beach, entered the building and stole assorted tools, a VCR and four Troxler Moisture Density gauges, containing isotopes with low levels of radiation. He then allegedly stole a 1990 Mitsubishi with the license plate "Test Lab 3," according to Robert Doran, assistant Nassau County fire marshal.

Officials reported that Gill later returned to the scene of the blaze which by this time was being fought by Hicksville, Jericho and Plainview firefighters. When a police officer attempted to question Gill, he fled in the Mitsubishi.

Doran said that Gill was later recognized driving by the scene again by the son of the company's owner. Police chased Gill for about a mile until he hit two parked cars on Ferny Street. Doran said the stolen goods were in the car.

The Hicksville fire department reported that 12 units and 90 firefighters were at the scene. Five Hicksville fire fighters were injured. An assistant chief received a back injury, an ex-captain received debris in his eyes, a rescue captain and a fireman both received minor burns, and another firefighter suffered from heat exhaustion.

A fire department spokesman said that some type of flammable liquid was used to set the fire.

Gill was charged with third-degree arson, third-degree burglary and driving while intoxicated. He was arraigned in First District Court in Hempstead on Aug. 8.

The lab performs tests on construction projects such as concrete. The equipment used requires radioactive material. Members of the Hicksville Fire Department Hazardous Materials Unit made several checks of the area but there were no readings or leaks, a spokesman said.

Damage to the building was estimated at $300,000.

First offenders, under 16 years of age, who are arrested for criminal mischief such as vandalism, are usually required to attend the PAVE (Police Anti-Vandalism Education) program sponsored by Nassau County Police. The youngsters attend a one-time session where they discuss why they committed the act and what the effect the act has on the community, according to a police spokesman. Parents are also required to attend the program.

One Of America's Best Run Companies Gives 95% Of Its Money To Charity

CARE was recently named the best run best managed family in America. We aren't surprised. 95% of every dollar we receive goes to help impoverished people. Only 5% goes to run our organization.

No other company could survive on margins like that. But a lot of starving people can.

Fotomat recently opened a new One-Hour Mini-lab store at Delco Plaza in Hicksville.

Known nationwide since 1964 for the "Kiosk" and its drive-up convenience, Fotomat is now taking its service-oriented company one step further as its new Hicksville location becomes its 13th one hour mini-lab on Long Island.

The mini-lab, equipped with the latest Konica "Nice Print" System, offers 35, 110 and 126 millimeter color developing in only one hour. It also offers instant passport pictures, copy negatives, wallets, and reprints up to 5x7's. All work is done on the premises.

At Long Last, A Restaurant Is Here To Stay

By Andrea Martone

Caffe Tutto Buono

In its previous lives it has been a Greek Restaurant, as well as a high-priced Continental restaurant, both of which had short-term lives that ultimately gave way to an empty storefront in the heart of a prime business in Port Washington.

But as of one year ago, the space on Haven Ave. has found its destiny as Caffe Tutto Buono. And owner/chef Luigi Petrone has all intentions of remaining for a very, very long time. Located directly across from the Long Island Railroad station, Tutto Buono's lure is irresistible—if not for the commuters alone, who come in droves after a hectic day in Manhattan. Once inside, customers find themselves in a large, informal dining room that allows a clear view of master chefs at work in an open kitchen.

Having to choose randomly from the menu or from numerous specials offered daily on the blackboard, it takes a while for one to decide that suits their fancy. But whatever is chosen, the food is invariably good, frequently excellent, prepared with an emphasis on natural flavors and fresh herbs that justifies its name. . . Tutto Buono.

Pastas should be tried, either shared as appetizers or as a second course. Made on premises daily, there are over a dozen to choose from including special treats such as lobster ravioli, gnocci, tortelloni and more. Luigi prides himself on offering a variety of fresh fish dishes, all prepared on the grill with extra virgin olive oil and lemon, and some imported catches such as Cobia, a large fish from the southern coastal waters similar to swordfish. You'll find bottles of virgin olive oil and balsamic vinegar at every table, for those who need to indulge more.

On this particular evening, we began our meals with a sampling of appetizers (called a Spring Salad) that included fresh roasted peppers, mozzarella, grilled eggplant and zucchini, hearts of palm, sundried tomatoes, shrimp and calamari served over five types of lettuce. Offered at $13.95 for two, this could very well serve as a full meal at lunch, or with a side dish of pasta as dinner. The pasta special, a pappadella (thin lasagna noodle) heightened in flavor by a light Alfredo sauce with fresh peas and imported prosciutto, demonstrated the talents of the chefs. Following this winner came a veal and chicken francese combination—both pounded and lightly sautéed in a savory lemon-butter topped with fresh parsley.

The setting at Tutto Buono is suitable for the business lunch and the social dinner. An open, bi-level dining area with one side mirrored, shares space with a large full-service bar. Beyond the bar lies a smaller dining room, used mostly for catering and small parties, and tends to be more intimate in setting.

Tutto Buono has broad appeal, and understandably, a steady clientele, both local and imported who know when good is good.

Open seven days a week, Caffe Tutto Buono does not accept reservations. It is located at 14 Haven Ave. in Port Washington, 516-767-1102 and is open for lunch and dinner. Banquet and catering facilities are also available. An impressive list of imported and domestic wines is available.

Prices range from $6.95 for one of eight pizzas, to $16.95 for a shrimp entree. Lunches include choices of pasta or salad with any entree.

Corrections

Due to information incorrectly provided to this newspaper, there was an error in the location of a trailer fire in last week's issue. The trailer fire was not at American Transfer on Duffy Avenue but at an adjacent property owned by another corporation.

In our Aug. 2 issue, we incorrectly reported that Rachel Staiano was president of the Hicksville-Mid Island Senior Club. The president is Irma DeStefano.

Timberland Fencing and Decks

by Keni Woodruff

There's more to fencing than keeping pets and children in and strangers out. Ask Chris Voulo, owner and founder of Timberland Fence & Deck, Inc. in Port Washington.

"Fences are used for many purposes," he says. "...to define property lines, as decorative accents, for privacy, to separate or create different activity areas, for protection, for safety... and there are many kinds of fences, from simple stockade, to chain link, to custom designed, hand built, hand installed models."

After years of experience in the fence and deck industry, a lifetime love of woodworking, cabinetmaking and designing, Voulo founded Timberland, just a year ago. "I wanted to do my own designing, real custom work."

"Fencing is just one part of our business at Timberland," Voulo commented. "We specialize in decks—raised, multi-level and single-level—and build pool party centers and enclosures, cabanas, hot tubs, gazebos, trellises, awnings, sheds, handmade children's play gyms, retaining walls, even dog houses. We'll do virtually any outdoor wood project."

"Most important," he said, "is the quality of our products and our workmanship. I use only the highest quality products and I personally supervise every job. In fact, I do about 80% of the work myself! I'm a real perfectionist. I won't let a job go to completion if it isn't up to my standards...even if the customers are happy. Sometimes I lose money, but I know the job is perfect."

If you've got an outdoor project in mind, call Timberland. Chris will come and give you a free estimate, bringing pictures and brochures of standard fence, decking and structures. He brings potential customers another quality, his uniquely creative imagination. Working with the client, he'll translate their individual needs, taste and budget into a fence, deck or structure that's well built, designed for functionality and beauty, long lasting and uniquely beautiful.

"We've done a lot of pool party centers recently," Chris commented. "Depending on the space, these can be simple or complex. They might contain an in-deck hot tub, a cabana, an enclosed barbecue and a cedar awning for shade...whatever the client wants, we'll build it. We use cedar and lattice and they really add a whole new dimension to the pool area."

"We also do raised and multi-level decks (in any shape the customer wants), with storage benches, planters, retainer walls for terracing. These are nice around a pool, in a hilly backyard to create several usable levels, to make a small property seem larger, and to unify a large, sprawling property. Raised decks can add a whole new living area to a hi-ranch where the kitchen and dining room are well above ground level, or to a second floor master bedroom or library...imagine a master bath with an in-deck hot tub."

Are you planning to put in new fencing? Does your pool need decking or an entertainment area? Does the idea of a private deck off your bedroom sound intriguing? This is the perfect time to call Timberland Fence & Deck, Inc. They're licensed and insured and professional workmanship and old-fashioned quality are assured. Call 883-7098 and set up an appointment.

Furniture Rental, Perfect Answer to Fast Furnishing

by Keni Woodruff

If you're opening an office and want to be ready for business on opening day, furniture rental can be the answer to long waits for purchased furniture.

International Furniture Rentals, with convenient showrooms in Manhattan (345 Park Ave.), Westchester (16 Saw Mill River Rd., Hawthorne), Long Island (61 Jericho Tpke., Jericho - 333-9040), as well as Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Atlanta, Georgia, offers a variety of furniture options for home or business. Customers can make their selections at IFR's spacious showrooms, and the furniture will be delivered within 48 hours.

Choices range from contemporary to traditional, in every price range, and IFR experts will help coordinate all selections. Delivery is included in your rental fee (as little as $75 a month for a basic three-room apartment, to approximately 20%-25% of the monthly rent for your home or office space).

As your needs change or your business grows, you can reduce or increase the amount of furniture you are renting, or exchange items for different styles or sizes. IFR offers complete decorating service, too, renting everything from the carpeting on the floor to the pictures on the walls, decorative accessories and furniture from leading manufacturers.

For the new business, furniture rental can reduce cash outlay significantly, easing first year financial strains and increasing tax benefits (rental of furniture is a deductible operating expense), and allowing complete flexibility. If your corporation is relocating and needs to set up temporary business and residential quarters for your transferred employees...furniture rental is the perfect solution, allowing "business as usual" before your permanent office is ready, and affording comfortable transitional lodgings while your employees seek and furnish permanent residences in the new locale.

For complete details, call International Furniture Rentals...333-9040.

Spotting Children's Vision Problems... The Clues are Evident

Children who see 20/20 may lack the necessary skills to keep up with the demands of the classroom, says Dr. Joseph Schkolnick, OD, optometric director of Vision Therapy Associates in Hicksville.

"The eye chart test commonly used in schools checks only how clearly a child can see at distance. There are many other vision problems that could affect a child's learning and enjoyment of recreational activities."

Clues often come through behavior which parents and teachers can spot," says Dr. Schkolnick. "Children who consistently sit close to the television screen, avoid sports, do poorly at outdoor activities, squint, or are tense when looking at things far away may be nearsighted, have astigmatism, or eye coordination problems," the optometrist says.

"On the other hand," he notes, "children who consistently avoid reading or other close work, or who squint or become tense when looking at things close up may be farsighted, have eye coordination or eye focusing problems."

Vision performance problems are the most difficult to detect, yet they can seriously hamper a child's ability to learn, even making failures of children with above average intelligence, Dr. Schkolnick says. There are behavior clues parents and teachers can spot:

- dislike or avoidance of close work
- short attention span for the child's age
- excessive blinking or rubbing of eyes
- nervousness, irritability, restlessness or unusual fatigue after concentrating on close work
- difficulty remembering what is read or following verbal instructions

- headaches, nausea, and dizziness after concentrating on close work
- difficulty going up and down stairs, throwing or catching a ball, buttoning or unbuttoning clothing, or tying shoes.

Symptoms that may occur while the child is reading include:

- turning the head to use one eye only or closing or covering one eye
- placing the head close to the book or desk
- frowning or scowling
- losing place or using the finger or a marker to guide the eyes
- saying words aloud or moving lips while reading
- omitting, repeating and miscalling words or confusion of similar words
- persistent word reversals after the second grade

Most children exhibit some of these symptoms at one time or another, but those who do so frequently or consistently need a thorough eye examination, says Dr. Schkolnick. Parents should be certain to tell the optometrist about the behavioral symptoms they note. This will help the optometrist determine what, if any, special tests may be needed.

Vision problems can exist without symptoms, so it pays to have children's eyes examined thoroughly every year.

Vision Therapy Associates is located adjacent to Woodbury Optical Studio at 185 Woodbury Road in Hicksville. They are offering free vision screening to all children between the ages of 5 and 10. Please call 681-3937 for screening dates and more information.

New Physician Assistants Program at Touro College

by Keni Woodruff

Touro College has just announced the relocation of its Physician Assistant program from Manhattan to its School of Health Sciences in Dix Hills where students and teachers share the resources of the college's Physical Therapy, Occupational Therapy and Bio Medical programs as well as the large medical library, anatomy laboratory, and spacious lecture halls.

As medical costs rise and the patient load increases, Physician Assistants are becoming a vital part of the health service picture in hospitals, clinics and medical offices across the country, and the profession has become one of the ten fastest growing fields in the United States.

While supervised by a licensed physician, a PA is qualified to perform physical exams, order lab tests, make diagnoses, treat patients, and, in some states (New York is one) to prescribe medication.

"A PA program is similar to the first and third years of medical school," says F. Lynn May for the American Academy of Physician

Assistants. "Candidates usually require at least two years of college credit for admittance," says May. "It's usually an extremely concentrated program, during which students are instructed in the medical sciences in a classroom atmosphere, and, in clinical rotations, receive hands-on experience in primary care and a variety of medical specialties."

"Upon graduation," May comments, "a PA can take national certifying examinations (a requirement to practice in most states) and must complete 100 hours of continuing medical education courses every two years to maintain their certificate as well as a recertification exam every six years. A PA is usually qualified to do about 70% of what a general practitioner can do."

According to Kevin Bolan, RPA-C, president of the N.Y. State Society of Physician Assistants, "there are currently only nine registered PA programs in New York State, graduating approximately 150 physician assistants per year. The addition of this educational program on Long Island will allow many people here to become a member of this profession. It will also assure high quality, cost effective health care to Long Islanders."

The Touro College PA program was established in Brooklyn in 1973 and has graduated more than 640 Physician Assistants. It adds new dimension to the varied and highly acclaimed Health Sciences programs available on the Long Island campus.

Interested individuals may contact the Touro College School of Health Sciences, 135 Carmen Rd., Building 10, Dix Hills, 073-3200 for complete information and applications.

College Costs are Rising: Planning for College Tuition Starts Early

College costs continue to rise and a child in kindergarten today can expect to pay an estimated $50,000 in tuition at a public college, a staggering $135,000 at a private university.

According to Prudential Bache, with proper planning those costs are within reach. They suggest an investment plan which utilizes dollar-cost averaging which takes into account what you will need to invest to achieve your goal.

There are various investment options available, and a Prudential Bache representative will help you arrange an Automatic Savings Accumulation Plan (ASAP) to suit your individual plan.

There's a free brochure available (The ABC's of College Tuition Planning), and a call to John Miranda at Prudential Bache's Great Neck office (466-8300) can get your children's college plans underway.

Hicksville Administrative Posts Filled

The Hicksville School Board filled two administrative positions with current District employees at its Aug. 8 meeting. However, approval was not unanimous and Board members, to the bemusement of the audience, explained their negative votes while congratulating the two administrators.

Leslie Mann was appointed a secondary assistant principal assigned to Hicksville high school. Mann joined the Hicksville School District in 1989 as Math Department Chair, 7-12. Board Trustee Carole Wolf abstained in the vote to appoint Mann because of her recommendation on July 19 to eliminate an assistant principal position at the High School as a means of saving the District up to $100,000 in salary and benefits. She stated, however, that she believed Mann to be technically qualified. Trustee William Collins abstained as well.

William Gagnon was appointed Director of Personnel for the District. Trustee Arlene Rudin, in saying she would vote "no" on Gagnon's appointment, expressed concern with the difficult nature of the position which she said required legal and technical experience she felt Gagnon lacked.

Trustee James Martillo indicated he would vote "no" for the same reasons. He went on to say that there was nothing personal in his decision and that Gagnon had done "wonderful things" for the District. Martillo added that he would support the vote of the majority of the Board and wished Gagnon good luck, saying he looked forward to working with him.

The vote was 4-3 with Trustee William Collins also voting no. After the vote, Rudin said she looked forward to voting yes on Gagnon's tenure in three years' time and wished him well. Collins extended his congratulations to Gagnon as well.

With the appointments of Mann and Gagnon, the District must now begin looking for two new administrators, a Math Department Chair, as well as a Supervisor of Fine Arts.

Local Student to Attend Arts Center

Jennifer Barbara from the Hicksville school district has successfully auditioned for September admission to the Nassau BOCES Cultural Arts Center, a high school-level program in the performing and visual arts.

The Center, located in Syosset, provides professional training in dance, music, drama, art and musical theater as part of a teenager's public education. Students come from both Nassau and Suffolk Counties; this year's new students are drawn from 45 different school districts. The Center offers them: the opportunity to study with teachers who are professional artists or performers and to share with other teenagers who have similar talents and interests.

Jennifer Barbato's area of study is Art. Students can choose a half-day program, spending the other half at their home high schools taking academic courses, or a full-day program, taking academic courses at the Center.

CONDUCTING HIS FIRST meeting as 1990-91 Commander is Richard Hochbrueckner of the Charles Wagner Post 421, Hicksville American Legion. A distinguished past commander (1970-71) and Past Nassau County Commander, Hochbrueckner looks forward to a year of community and veterans' service.

Legionnaires' Log

By Greg Bennett

Charles Wagner Post #421,
Hicksville

The Third Annual Salute to Veterans held at Eisenhower Park on Aug. 4 was a great success and was a tribute to our World War I veterans. The days' events featured a display of military vehicles provided by the Long Island Military Vehicle Club. The New York Army National Guard provided a "Huey" helicopter display and a tent display. Daytime music was provided by the 42nd Infantry (Rainbow) Division Band.

Before the evening musical show, the 187th Field Artillery provided an artillery salute honoring our 50 states. During opening ceremonies recognition was given to our Prisoners of War and those listed as Missing in Action. A most touching sight was when Vietnam veterans assisted the attending World War I veterans onto the lakeside theatre stage.

One veteran of the First World War who didn't require assistance was Walter Blanchard of Seaford American Legion Post.

Veterans and citizens are asked to support the Nassau County Veterans Monument Fund which will erect a Korean War, a Vietnam War and a POW-MIA Monument at Eisenhower Park. Send donations to the Nassau County Veterans Monument Fund, P.O. Box 43, Hicksville, N. Y. 11802. Let's not forget our veterans and those who gave their lives for our nation.

Veterans needing benefit assistance are reminded to contact the Nassau County Veterans Service Agency at (516) 535-3218. The next meeting of Charles Wagner Post 421 is on August 20 at 36 West Village Green, Hicksville. Veterans are encouraged to join. For membership information call (516) 796-9485.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity. We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only.

We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

$1,000 Reward Offered

To The Editor:

We at Spiegel Associates have been shocked by the widespread degradation of property in Hicksville. Graffiti has been sprayed on buildings throughout our area at an alarming rate. A memorial to two residents active in the Hicksville Baseball Association was smashed into pieces. We apprehended someone who uprooted and absconded with flowers we had planted along North Broadway at the foot of our office building's parking lots. Enough is enough.

All of us, business and homeowners alike, must not surrender our environment to the hands of a few delinquent offenders. Each of us must do whatever is within our means to stop them from further abusing our property. We are prosecuting our flower thief, and we will prosecute all such offenders to the full extent of the law.

Also, we are offering a $1,000 reward for anyone who provides us with information leading to the conviction of any individuals who deface any of our buildings. Please call Chuck Schnepfer of our office (516-935-1100) with any leads; all information will be kept strictly confidential.

Spiegel Associates has made great efforts to upgrade our buildings and beautify Hicksville. We have received many, many expressions of appreciation for the planters we donated in downtown Hicksville, the flowers we planted along North Broadway and the Christmas and Chanukah holiday decorations we displayed at 375 North Broadway. We take great pride in these contributions to our commercial landscape, and are saddened by the threat of confiscation and destruction. For the good of our community, we ask everyone's cooperation in apprehending the offenders of our open spaces.

Arthur D. Sanders
President
Spiegel Associates

Elect Richie Humann

To The Editor:

It is with considerable pleasure that a Committee to Support the re-election of Mr. Richard Humann to the Board of Commissioners, Hicksville Water District, can announce his candidacy for the office.

He has been a member of a strong three man board of community minded citizens who have been at the helm of our water supply system during a period of tense times in this area and beyond. The Board has been constantly under pressure to maintain the quality and quantity of our water supply, which they have done in a convincing manner.

Once again there has been a continued update of water treatment projects at various well sites in the Hicksville Water District during 1989-90 with a strong accent on advanced technology to ensure the community a leading role in this crucial area. As before, the Board has continued its commitment to controlling such costs without the need to finance, but rather to pay as we go. The community's strong desires for "home-rule" has made this type of fiscal control a responsibility of locally elected officials.

Mr. Humann had as a collateral duty this past year the role of a legislative watchdog. The Board has long been active in monitoring such state legislation as relates to matters concerning our most stringent drinking water standards. Commissioner Humann did an outstanding job in this capacity and just several weeks ago appealed to local consumers to write in support of such consumer-oriented legislation which prohibits scare tactic advertising and calls for bottled water testing bill S-7614B, bottled water testing (Sen. Tully and Bill A-3765C (Assemblyman DiNapoli) which calls for an end to scare tactic advertising, on the part of the home water filter industry.

Richard Humann is seeking re-election as a Hicksville Water Commissioner.

We feel the re-election of Richard A. Humann as Water Commissioner would be of positive advantage to the community. He is "home-town", positively interested in local affairs, a member of the fire department, active in church matters, a man concerned with civic affairs of his town. It is our desire to see him returned to office by asking for the voters of Hicksville to turn out Thursday Evening, August 30th, between the hours of 7 P.M. to 10 P.M. at the main fire house on 20 East Marie Street in Hicksville.

The Committee to
Re-elect Richard Humann

Support New Budget

To The Editor:

At the Wednesday, August 8, 1990 meeting of the Board of Education, members of the Board voted unanimously for a second Budget Vote on Wednesday, August 29th from 10 a.m. - 10 p.m. Registration is Wednesday, August 22nd from 3 p.m. - 8 p.m.

This was not an easy or hasty decision, it took 2 1/2 months of deliberation by our two new board members, our current board members and administration. The Budget was reduced by 1.5 Million dollars. I believe that this is a fair and "bottom line" budget for the 1990-91 school year, therefore I urge the public to support it in order to preserve the education and well-being of our students and community.

Absentee ballots are available from the District Clerk's Office at the Administration Building on Division Avenue. Please obtain one if you are going to be on vacation or if you are a college student and will not be in Hicksville on that date.

Please vote YES on Wednesday, August 29th.

Patricia Rooney
Editor's Note: Mrs. Rooney is a member of the Hicksville School Board.

Holy Trinity Episcopal Church

HICKSVILLE HOUSES OF WORSHIP

The Holy Trinity Episcopal Church of today on the corner of Old Country Road and Jerusalem Avenue. (Photo By Ed Bady)

THE FIRST Holy Trinity Episcopal Church was built in 1900 at a cost of $1,400.

It was in 1900 when a small congregation founded and built the first Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in Hicksville. The cost was a mere $1,400 and the church was more than big enough to accommodate the few families who worshipped there.

But, since that time, the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church has grown a staggering amount, both in membership and in the church itself. By 1927 there were 19 families with 41 children attending services regularly. As membership continued to grow, the need for a larger church arose and parishioners began to raise funds for a new church. In 1941, a new church was erected at a cost of $12,000. But, this too was only a temporary solution to the need to accommodate a rapidly increasing parish population. Finally, in 1960, members of the congregation proposed the construction of another new church and in 1961 the cornerstone of the current Holy Trinity Episcopal Church on Jerusalem Avenue and Old Country Road was laid. Dedicated in 1963 by Bishop DeWolf, Holy Trinity Episcopal Church is one of Hicksville's newest churches despite a history that goes back almost a century.

Church of Christ at 105 Broadway was once the home of the Hicksville Methodist Church.

Church of Christ

The Church of Christ, located at 105 Broadway, is a non-denominational church founded in March, 1950 by Elmer C. Kile. Because there are so few of these churches in this part of the country, Hicksville's Church of Christ draws people from all over Long Island.

When the church was first purchased from the Hicksville Methodist Church in 1950, there were only eight members. Since that time membership has increased dramatically. The most dramatic increase was in 1953 under the leadership of Charles E. Faust from Ohio when membership increased by more than 100 percent. The building which houses the Church of Christ, although approaching 90-years-old, has undergone extensive renovation over the years allowing it to continue to represent the religious diversity throughout the Hicksville community.

Hicksville Methodist Church

On July 12, 1899 at 4:15 p.m., the Hicksville Methodist Church was born during a service by Rev. S.A. Sands at the Union Chapel

The Hicksville Methodist Church was the last Protestant group to use the Union Chapel which it replaced in 1902 with the church that still stands at 105 Broadway—The Church of Christ).

Over the years, the Hicksville Methodist Church experienced slow but steady growth increasing the number of members from approximately 100 in 1914 to about 301 in 1944.

In 1944, with the arrival of the Rev. Cranston Clayton, plans were made for the construction of a new church. In July of 1945, the members of the congregation voted to raise $10,000 over the course of the next two years for the new church on Old Country Road.

On Thanksgiving Day, 1949, the cornerstone for the new church was laid and after years of building and expanding, the job was completed at a cost of $110,000. Since 1944, the number of people belonging to the Hicksville Methodist Church has increased from 301 to more than 2,300 people.

The large influx of German immigrants to Hicksville in the mid 1850s led to the establishment of Hicksville's oldest church — Trinity Lutheran Church. The church was actually founded in 1850 as the German Lutheran Trinity Church. In 1863, it held services in the Union Chapel which was built on the east side of Broadway on land donated by John F. Heitz and with money collected by James Wood. In 1956 under Pastor Edward Stammel, the church underwent a 10 year expansion program which included the completion of a $250,000 elementary school and resulted in a three fold increase in the size of the congregation. The present Trinity Lutheran Church at 40 West Nicholas Street, is famous for its replica of Lorenzo Ghiberti's 'The Gates of Paradise' on the front doors of the church.

The famous "Golden Doors" at Trinity Lutheran Evangelical Church. The doors, called "The Gates of Paradise" are a replica of artist Lorenzo Ghiberti's work. There are only two replicas of the doors — one at Trinity and the other in San Francisco, California. The original is in Italy. The Gates of Paradise was a gift to the church in memory of Katharine M. and Kenneth D., the wife and son of George C. Carlson.

Hicksville Jewish Center

Hicksville Jewish Center on Jerusalem Avenue and Maglie Drive.

In the early 1950s, a small group of Jewish people from Hicksville came together each week to worship. Because they did not have a permanent structure in which the congregation could gather, they held services in each others' homes, basements, stores, tents or wherever they could find room.

In 1954, this group founded a synagogue which they named the Hicksville Jewish Center, and the first goal of the members was to find a permanent building in which they could worship.

Four years later, in 1958, the members dedicated a building located on Jerusalem Avenue and Maglie Drive, the current home of the Hicksville Jewish Center. A member of United Synagogues of America, the Jewish Center is a small conservative congregation which is very active and involved in the community.

On Dec. 9, 1883, the First Reformed Church was organized here. Holy Trinity Episcopal Church was started as a Mission with first services held in Sept. 1899 at the Union Chapel. The Hicksville Methodist Church worshipped here after their organization in March 1890. Since the Methodist Church is now located on Old Country Road, the property belongs to the Church of Christ.

'New Tax Trends' subject of show

There are only a few things on this earth you can depend on, say the pundits. Among them, so the saying goes, are death and taxes. To them, however, you may as well add a third - professional seminars.

Just ask the 'Foundation for Accounting Education'. On August 21-22, 1990, at least, they're putting on seminars which deal with the taxes end of things.

Called the Long Island Business and Accounting Show, it promises to provide free exhibits on the latest innovations in finance-oriented products, as well as timely seminars in the following areas: current tax trends, including recent changes in federal, state and local taxes; the growing popularity of electronic filing; an update on real estate taxation; and the latest rules affecting passive activity losses.

Seminars cost $30 per session.

The show is designed for the general financial community. Sponsored by the foundation and the NYS Society for Certified Public Accountants, it will be held at the Crest Hollow Country Club in Woodbury. Seminars are 9-7:40 pm.

In the exhibit hall, say organizers, financial professionals will discover products that will help keep firms on the 'leading edge'. That means computer hardware, financial products and services, and more.

Moreover, timely topics will include: Estate Planning; and the CPA's role in Divorce Settlements; Employee Benefit Plans.

The Investor's Corner

By Dr. Joseph P. Frey

FINANCIAL PLANNERS

Several weeks ago this column devoted three weeks to stock brokers. We discussed how to find a good one and your relationship with your broker. We covered what they do for you and how you work with them. Each party has a responsibility to the other.

Much of what was discussed applies to your search for a financial planner. For instance, do not go to the yellow pages under financial planners and "let your fingers do the walking." Who knows what you could end up with as a planner. If you feel that you need a planner, you must shop. The relationship has to be solid. In that respect the process is the same as looking for a broker.

You ask friends. You look to the financial planning associations that planners join to help them get clients. I will discuss below. You check their references, you interview them, you ask to see plans that they have done, you ask about their fees. In short, you have to make a decision about a person who is going to advise you about your future financial security. That deserves considerable effort on your part.

What you are trying to avoid is hiring a scam artist. You want someone with whom you are comfortable. It is a very close financial relationship, or it should be one.

One of the important decisions to make is what kind of planner you want. There are many aspects to this. First, there is a matter of educational background. There are no minimum requirements of any kind for the person to meet. ANYONE can put out a shingle and be a financial planner. So you want to be especially careful to check the education, the degrees and the professional associations of anyone you are thinking of hiring.

A caveat: Just because someone has all sorts of degrees and designations from educational institutions, the SEC and industry associations does not mean they are any good. Degrees do not make a financial planner. What makes a financial planner right for you is their ability to deliver what you want delivered.

A degree does not necessarily confer "smarts" on anyone. All it means is that they have been EXPOSED to a body of knowledge. It does not make them a good financial planner. Education does not make a person a good broker, a good minister, a good anything. If you take a public speaking course it does not make you a good speaker. Just be careful about holding people in awe because they have degrees.

Another thing you should be concerned about is fees. If you need and want advice, you are going to pay for it. That is the way a broker or a financial planner makes their living. Check out very carefully HOW your planner gets paid. Planners come with different packages. Some are fee only, some fee plus commission from the products they sell, some are commission only. Sometimes a fee plus commission planner will reduce the fee because of the commissions. A high price paid to a planner does not guarantee a quality plan or even a quality planner. ... A word about each type.

COMMISSION ONLY PLANNER:

This person will listen and draw a plan (maybe) and then sell you the products he or she represents. They can be very competent because competence is not determined by how you pay, that is determined by the quality of the planner. The thing to remember is that this planner's recommendations will be biased toward the products sold by the planner. This is true no matter what products the planner sells. Insurance, stocks, bonds, mutual funds, etc. It is what the planner knows and how they make their living.

FEE PLUS COMMISSION PLANNER:

Most of the comments made for the commission apply here. The size of the fee will be determined by the amount of the commission income that derives to the planner. The recommendations will be biased toward the

A Letter from Lulabelle...

...We have been chuckling about how selfish we were when we were little and how hard it was to learn to share...One young man said that when he had a chocolate bar, he always licked it all over so that no one would ask for a bite...And another had us all spellbound with his story of how he and his sister were always trying to outdo each other in having the very last bite of something...like perhaps french fries...so he would always hide a few in his lap and when she said, "Ya, ya, I have the last bite!"...he would whip out his hidden store and have the last bite - and the last laugh - although he did admit that sometimes his dog got to his lap before he did!...And then there was my friend who was mad about black jelly beans, which her kids seemed to want, too...so she told them that black jelly beans were poison and she was a good mommy and would eat them all so they wouldn't have any problems...And there was a man who didn't want to stop at the carousel every time he went along a south shore highway, so when his tiny daughter asked, "What is that?" he said, "Oh, that's where they send all the bad little boys and girls!"...and it was quite some time before the little girl found him out and wondered why "Everyone looks so happy in there"...These were good mommies and daddies, but they did "make up" a few stories!...And I suppose, speaking of sharing, that everyone knows the solution of one mother and two sons and one piece who said, "One of you may cut the cake in two and the other may have first choice of the pieces!"...Sharing is what we all learn and enjoy when there is brotherhood on home, school, state, nation and world level...May we all learn it early and practice it always.

Yours, Lulabelle

WHY ARE THE STREETS OF SEA CLIFF SO NARROW?

AFTER THE CIVIL WAR, REVIVAL MEETINGS HELD IN CAMP GROUNDS BECAME POPULAR. IN 1871, THE METHODIST CAMPGROUND ASSN. LAID OUT "SEA CLIFF GROVE" TO BE USED AS A SUMMER RESORT. THEY BUILT A TABERNACLE AND SET A GRIDWORK OF SMALL PLOTS OF LAND FOR SUMMER TENTS...

planner's products.

FEE ONLY PLANNER: The difference between a fee only planner and the other types is the bias of the recommendation. A fee only planner should not take any kickbacks, commissions or gratuities from the products and people recommended. The quality of the advice is determined, as always, by the competence and diligence of the planner. Their advice tends to be much more long range of the three types. (There is no advantage to having the client switch from one investment to another. Just the opposite, the planner has more work to do without compensation).

It is no surprise that people prefer the fee only planner. Who does not want objective, non biased advice. It should be no surprise that people use the commission and commission plus fee more often than the fee only. Everyone wants the best, most objective advice. They just do not like the fees with no product other than a written plan. With planners who are paid by fees, someone else is paying the bill. It seems better and right.

The studies say that the market place has no preferred method to compensate the planner. Other studies show that planners make less money if they work only for fees. That could be an indication of which is more popular.

The important thing, no matter which type of planner you have is the competence of the person. The fees lose importance over long periods. If you think you should have a planner, investigate all types. It is too important a decision to be done without checking out the person's competence.

Fire Rips Through Hicksville Home

A home at 26 Alpine Lane received $500,000 in damage after a fire swept through the entire first floor on August 9, at about 9 p.m.

According to a fire department spokesman, the fire had burned for an undetected amount of time in the structure, which is two Levitt-style homes joined together to form one large house.

The fire has been termed suspicious until the Nassau County Fire Marshal's office can interview the occupants who were in the home an hour earlier. Both front and rear doors were found unlocked and open, according to the fire department.

Ten units, under Chief Anthony Wigdinski responded with 65 members. Neighbors said that the owners have been trying to sell the property but to no avail, the fire department reported.

Worker Trapped

A payloador collided head-on into a dump truck trapping the dump truck's driver for 30 minutes as Hicksville firefighters and police worked to free his legs. The accident occurred at Twin County Recycling at 449 West John Street at about 10 a.m.

Four fire units, under assistant chief Karl Schweitzer responded. Both drivers were transported to Nassau County Medical Center.

Hicksville Man Missing

Nassau police are seeking the public's assistance in locating a Hicksville man who was reported missing.

According to Eighth Precinct Police, Luis Benancourt, 35, of Willy Lane, has arrived home from work on July 11 at about 7 p.m. He is a collection agent in Woodbury. Shortly after his arrival, he told his wife he had left his wallet at work and was returning there to retrieve it. Benancourt has not been seen since.

He is described as white, 5'6", 120 lbs., brown hair and eyes. He also wears glasses. He was last seen wearing a brown shirt and pants and black shoes. Benancourt's physical and mental condition is normal, police said.

The Missing Persons Squad asks that anyone with information concerning Benancourt to call 573-7858.

Man Arrested for Manslaughter

A 39-year-old Hicksville man was arrested for stabbing a Bellport man in a Westbury social club early Sunday morning.

Third Precinct police reported that Juan Ramon Sol of Arnold Street, a manager at the S&S Social Club, had an argument with 32-year-old Arturo Custillo Lazzo over a dice game.

After the two went outside on Union Avenue, Sol allegedly stabbed the victim in the chest, police said. As Lazzo fell backwards, he managed to pull out a knife and nick Sol on the neck with the blade, causing a laceration.

Sol was later treated at Nassau County Medical Center where he was arrested on manslaughter charges. He will be arraigned in First District Court at a later date.

Lazzo, an unemployed landscaper from Boquin, El Salvador, was taken to the Medical Center and pronounced dead at 2:58 a.m. An autopsy will be performed to determine the exact cause of death.

The Third Precinct's homicide detectives are continuing the investigation.

Three Injured in Accident

Three people were injured in a two-car collision on Levittown Parkway at Blueberry Lane on Aug. 7 at about 3:20 p.m. One victim received an eye injury, another complained of chest pains and the other person suffered an arm injury, a fire department spokesman said. All were taken to Nassau County Medical Center by fire department ambulances.

Burglaries Reported

The Eighth Precinct has reported the following:

- Aug. 3—A home on 10th Street was broken into through a pried-open rear window. Jewelry was stolen.
- Aug. 4—Two Buckner Avenue homes were broken into through rear windows. Jewelry was stolen from one of the homes.

- Three cars were stolen from the Hicksville area. From Stewart Avenue, a 1990 Lincoln; From 10th Street, a 1984 Camaro; From Old Country Road, a 1982 Ford.

Three people were injured in this two-car accident on Levittown Parkway last week. See story at left.

Budget Re-vote

District, Fenton indicated that the previous Board desired to build a money reserve. She said, "It was planning in a prudent way and now looking it over again maybe this isn't the year." According to Fenton, the current Board's decision of the reserve enabled further budget reductions.

Budget Re-vote

The Board unanimously approved motions to submit the reduced budget to the community on Aug. 29, the date of the next regular Board meeting and to hold voter registration on Aug. 22.

On an austerity budget, transportation is provided to K-8 students living more than two miles from school and high schoolers living more than three miles away. Ten days' notice must be given to the bus companies in order to change those limits. Wolf said that if the budget were approved on Aug. 29, busing could be available for the first day of school for all students normally receiving transportation. Assistant Superintendent for Business Services William Hall said that the bus companies would be notified immediately.

In addition to providing transportation for school's opening, Wolf also cited the availability of absentee ballots for vacationing residents as a factor in her decision.

Earlier in the year, Bennett had indicated that he would not support any budget revote.

Explaining his decision to "eat his words", Bennett said he felt the reduction of $1.5 million coupled with increased assessed valuations of $3 million would make the budget acceptable to taxpayers.

Trustee Patricia Rooney asked for the support of the PTAs, senior citizens and employee groups in an effort to pass the budget.

Board Goals

The Board approved Rudin's motion to establish a Budget Advisory Committee with community residents which could (1) analyze the 1990-91 budget in preparation for monitoring the 1991-92 budget, (2) give ongoing advisory recommendations to the superintendent and (3) give a final advisory recommendation to the Board.

The agenda had indicated that Fenton would be recommending that two-thirds of the committee be comprised of senior citizens and civic and business associations and one-third from residents who represent the educational community as parents, teachers and administration. A resident, stating he was a taxpayer who would not qualify for membership on the committee if the proposed requirements were adopted, helped convince Fenton and the Board to further study the committee's composition.

The Board reaffirmed its goal of site-based management to achieve excellence and accountability. The District was selected last year by the state as a pilot district in this area.

Board members will be discussing their individual goals for consideration by the Board at a future meeting.

School Sports Remain In Jeopardy

While the Hicksville School District continues operating on an austerity budget, the 1990-91 sports season remains in jeopardy for all athletes.

In order to field teams in any area, funds must be raised to meet all costs outside of coaching. The District's legal counsel has advised that teachers' salaries are an ordinary contingent expense for those coaches who are certified teachers.

Donations must cover such costs as transportation, officials' fees, insurance, physicians' fees, custodial services, equipment and supplies.

In an interview with Robert Kenney, Director of Health, Physical Education and District Activities, it was learned that volunteers are currently being sought to lead an athletes' booster club. However, each sport would proceed under austerity only if sufficient funds were raised to cover its expected cost.

For example, sufficient donations might be raised for one sport but not another. Figures have been calculated and are available. (See story on back page for details). The Hicksville Alumni Association has indicated to Kenney that it would be supportive of fundraising efforts.

Football will be the first sport affected on austerity. Football is scheduled to begin on Aug. 20 to give the team sufficient practice time in order to compete. A budget revote has now been scheduled for Aug. 29, but funds must be raised and submitted to the District before football can start on the 20th. Monies would be returned to the donors if the budget is ultimately approved. Volleyball, soccer, and cross country are scheduled to begin Aug. 27.

Information has been sent home to students regarding required physical exams and other pertinent information.

Award Of Bids

The Board voted to close the Teacher Retirement Reserve ($734,000) and the Boiler Replacement Reserve ($734,000) and to transfer those funds to the Asbestos Management Reserve for a total in that reserve of $1,305,800.

The Board then voted to award bids totaling $1,248,100 for asbestos abatement work to be done during the 1990-01 school year.

Bids for oil burner service ($7,722) and sanitation services ($57,457.60) were awarded.

Board Committees

Board committees meet on the third Wednesday of the month or as otherwise indicated on the district calendar or local papers. All meetings are held in the Administration Building. Curriculum and Policy meet from 8 - 10 p.m. with Assistant Superintendent of Educational Services Dr. Couillard representing Administration. Public Session

Resident Peggy Parsekian questioned how notice of the Board's special meeting of August 6 was given. Fenton explained that notice must be posted 24 hours in advance of a special Board meeting and was given by posting a sign on the Administration Building door. No action was taken at this meeting as members of the Board took the opportunity to study the budget and have questions answered by the Administration. A resident noted that more residents would have been aware of the meeting if the notice had been posted on the large message board outside the Administration Building.

Two residents expressed the hope that closing one or more schools be considered by the new Board in looking at future budgets.

Donna Martillo thanked Arlene Rudin and Carole Wolf for being the "driving force" behind the $1.5 million budget reduction.

Resident Mrs. Monte thanked members of the Board and Administration for showing their support by attending the Robert Izzo court proceeding on Aug. 3.

One resident commented that it was an insult to have the budget revote during the summer when many people were on vacation.

Two residents referred to political newsletters recently received. Jeff Segal inquired as to the possibility of the district not having to replace some oil tanks as per a Nassau County Executive Thomas Gulotta letter. This will be looked into by Fenton. William Kelly questioned the amount of state aid Hicksville received as reported in Senator Ralph Marino's letter, as well as a legislative grant mentioned.

Fenton explained that the district will be submitting documentation with regard to a $200,000 grant for science laboratory modernization and the purchase of computer software and science equipment to the State. Upon approval the district would receive the monies at the end of the year.

With regard to state aid, Hall said the figures were "misleading". Bennett further stated that Hicksville's state aid was actually cut by $2 million and that amount then "loaned" to the district with interest, commenting that "state aid is not mortgaged".

Resident Joseph Van Berckelaer questioned the legality of restricting the time a member of the public could address the Board. Miltenberg had announced a trial three-minute limit at the July 11 meeting. Legal counsel Gregory Guercio advised that the public speaking session was at the discretion of the Board and that, if it desired, no time had to be allotted for this purpose. This prompted Van Berckelaer to ask if that was "taxation without representation", to which Miltenberg replied that the Board represented taxpayers. Guercio quipped that it was "taxation without oration".

Stunt Kites Come To Nassau

Watch The Pros Take To The Air In First NY Championships

For most of us, getting a single-line kite in the air for a few minutes is difficult enough - but stunt kites can make even the most intricate maneuvers look simple. If you doubt it, this weekend's stunt kite competition will put you to rights - but quick!

On Saturday and Sunday, August 18 and 19, competitors from throughout the United States will go fly a kite. Not just any kite, of course. They'll be flying stunt kites with two or more lines in intricate air patterns or designs. In the first New York Stunt Kite Championships, sponsored by Chemical Bank.

The event, sanctioned by the American Kite Flyers Association, is the last of three free neighborhood kite flying festivals put on by Chemical. It begins each day at 11:00 am at Eisenhower Park, East Meadow, on the grass and field area near parking field 8.

- *Kites originated in China, over 2,000 years ago.

- *Aside from fun and sports, kites have been used to ward off evil, deliver love messages, and catch fish.

- *Military uses of kites have included propaganda leaflet dropping, spying on enemies, radio signals, and towing vehicles.

- *While today's kites are often plastic or synthetic fabric, they were once made from paper, leaves, and silk.

- *Stunt flying is less than 20 years old, having originated in England in the mid-1970s.

- *Someone once flew a kite for 366 days straight - and the altitude record for a single kite is 12,471 feet, over two miles!

- *Some other records - largest kite, 5,952 square feet; most kites flown on one line, 2,233; longest kite, 2,313 feet; fastest kite, 114 mph; and longest kite tail, 5,560 feet.

Spectators at this weekend's events may expect to be treated to colorful, synchronized stunt kite flying competitions.

The event, sanctioned by the American Kite Flyers Association, is the highlight of the ChemPlus Summer Skylark Kite Festival Series. The series was planned, according to Chemical Bank sources, to help celebrate the

27th Heritage Festival Features Traditional Crafts

On Sunday, August 19th, Long Islanders will have an opportunity to take a moment from their busy schedules to enjoy some antique and collectibles browsing, sample international foods, and observe authentic traditional crafts - and at the same time, do their part to preserve a part of the Long Island heritage.

It all takes place at Heckscher Ball Park in Huntington, and will be held rain or shine from 10 to 5 on Sunday.

And while the cost may be small - $3.00 for adults, in fact - the stakes are high. That's because, for organizations like the Huntington Historical Society, which is putting on this year's heritage festival, the event is a fundraising key to their efforts to preserve part of the local heritage.

Long Islanders are a busy lot. If it's not pursuing their business goals on our narrow island, or desperately seeking shopping or recreational attractions, they're hard at work fighting to preserve the remnants of lifestyles of our bygone eras - the Colonial, farm and Gold Coast eras in particular. Aided and abetted by innumerable individuals, including businessmen and the corporations they serve, these groups are helping to keep alive part of what makes our region more than just another place to make a buck.

The list of organizations which are involved in the effort is broad - from Friends for Long Island's Heritage and the Society for the Preservation of Long Island's Antiquities, to the more local Historic Associations in townships and hamlets across Long Island. Pretty much however, the aim is the same: to preserve and maintain what's left of Long Island's heritage.

In a similar manner, the number one challenge to most of these groups is the same. That challenge? You guessed it - it's money.

the meager list of grant sources which are still available, and on the good will of President Bush's 'thousand points of light' (that's us), these organizations have in their hands the future survival of what amounts to a non-renewable resource that benefits us all.

Which is why it is critical that as many of us as possible do what we can to support them.

For most of us, the best way we can do our part to participate is to pitch in a few bucks at an annual fund raiser.

The upcoming Huntington Historical Society's Heritage Festival, is one chance to do that.

The 27th annual Heritage Festival put on by the group, this year's event has numerous highlights. Aside from what is billed as unusual food, antiques and entertainment, the event features an unusual Craft Tent, where the public can see authentic traditional crafts such as quilting, rug hooking, spinning and weaving.

An organization which is responsible for the upkeep of several Colonial buildings in their area, the Huntington Historical Society puts on this festival as the major fund raiser of the year. A big attraction locally, the Heritage Festival features dozens of international foods, plus over a hundred antique and collectible dealers. Add to that a History Village, and entertainment by such groups as the local ballet theater, folk music society, traveling theaters, and you've got the makings of a big turnout.

The cost? Three dollars for adults, one dollar for children. And if that's not cheap enough, there are discount tickets available at the Historical Society's three locations, and from many Huntington merchants.

Three dollars. A pretty small price to pay for the preservation of our past. And if the historical societies of Long Island are right, a pretty important price as well.

THE HERITAGE OF LONG ISLAND will be explored at a historical festival in Huntington - the twenty-seventh of its kind - put on by the Huntington Historical Society this Sunday.

Preview Set For US Worlds Fair Pavilion

World's Fair activities are hot during the month of August at the Queens Museum in Flushing, which was the site for both the 1939 and 1964 World's Fairs. A series of weekend lectures, walking tours and films is on, spotlighting the rich history and exciting future of large international expos. But on August 20th, a special lecture will be presented, in which a sneak preview of the United States Pavilion - for the Seville Spain Expo '92 - will be in the offing.

The lecture, by Jim Ogul of the United States Information Agency, will examine how the United States pavilion will stack up against the great pavilions of the past, among other insights.

Here's a look at some of the events. First off, there's the film series. On successive Saturdays, it will focus on the two great New York Fairs, and includes a mix of vintage films, mostly from the Museum's own collection. Then there are the lectures on Sundays. They feature glimpses of past fairs held at other sites, and conclude with a preview of Expo '92.

After each lecture, there will be a walking tour of Fair attractions that remain at Flushing Meadows Corona Park.

Highlights of the film series, which began on August 11th, are the following:

Saturday, August 18th, 2 pm, a series of short films on the 1964 World's Fair will be shown. They include "Unisphere", a short documentary on the building of the theme center; "Great Fair, Great Fun", a sampling of the '64 fair; and "To The Fair", directed by the man who won fame for his 'To Be Alive' film shown at the Johnson Wax Pavilion that year.

Saturday, August 25, 2 pm, a series on the 1939 fair will be shown. It includes "Beauty For Ashes", which tells how Flushing Meadows Park was created out of a garbage dump to serve as the fair site that year; "RCA, The Birth Of An Industry", which presents RCA President David Sarnoff's speech dedicating the RCA pavilion and the introduction of television; and "Newsreel Clips", a collection of shorts including the visit of the King and Queen of England.

Meanwhile, the lecture series includes a presentation by Peter M Warner on August 19th, called "Collecting World's Fair Memorabilia," and the Pavilion lecture by Ogul on the 25th.

The pavilion lecture should be particularly interesting. With the recent approval by Congress of $13 million in federal funds, plans continue to progress for an official US pavilion at Expo '92 in Seville. Jim Ogul, who is project director for the pavilion, will be letting the audience in on what's happening with the building's design, and the exhibits that are being planned.

The lectures, film series and walking tours are all part of The Queens Museum's continuing 1989/1990 World's Fair Anniversary Celebration, now marking the 50th and 25th anniversaries of the second seasons of New York's Worlds Fairs. Admission to all events is by free ticket, plus museum admission which is by contribution. Tickets are distributed on a first-come, first-serve basis, and are available on the date of the event only.

The bidding:

Opening lead — ten of diamonds.

Choosing the best line of play sometimes requires very good judgment. In most cases, though, the correct approach is clear-cut, though not necessarily apparent.

For example, suppose you're in four spades on this deal and West leads a diamond. You win with the ace and the question is how to play the hand. It seems obvious that you should try to ruff a club in dummy to acquire a tenth trick, but this is much easier said than done.

Let's say you lead a low club at trick two in order to pave the way for a club ruff in dummy. In that case, East would win with the nine and return a trump. He does not have to be a genius to figure out what you're trying to do. Your best bet would be to finesse, but West unfortunately wins the trump with the king and returns a trump. Eventually you go down one.

However, this is the wrong way to play the hand. The right play at trick two is the king of clubs, not a low club! Observe the effect of this play if West has the ace, which you should expect to happen about half the time. In the actual case, West takes the king with the ace but is helpless.

He can return a trump, which you'd win, but when you next lead a second club, West would find himself stymied. If he won the trick, he would then be faced with the unhappy choice of letting you ruff a club in dummy or sacrificing his sure trump trick by leading a second trump. And if East won the club instead, he would have no trump to return.

The king of clubs lead at trick two is not something that springs readily to mind, but it nevertheless greatly increases your chance of making the contract.

Costs Of Running Sports On Austerity

The defeat of the budget during the vote in May has forced the Hicksville School District to adopt a contingency budget which affects many of the extra-curricular activities such as sports.

Because of the contingency budget, some programs are not funded and students must provide the funds needed to run each program. If the amount of money raised falls beneath the minimum amount needed to run each program, the program will not function.

The following is a listing of criteria and costs of operating the sports programs while the district is on austerity. The list includes (1) the number of players needed for each team (2) the total cost required in order to function as a team (e.g. supplies, officials, transportation, equipment, etc) (3) The average cost for each player.

Any prospective athlete who had a physical exam in the spring or who anticipates participating in a fall sport must report to the Administration building between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Aug. 14-17 or Aug. 20-24. Those who still need to take a physical must have a signed parent permission form. Those who already have taken one must have the top half completed by a parent or guardian along with the permission portion. This may be brought to the school where the student will attend in the fall at anytime until Aug. 16 for football, or Aug. 22 for all other sports at the high school level. The nurse must clear all participants. Physical examinations will be administered on Monday, Aug. 20, at 8:30 a.m. in the senior high school nurse's office.

On Wednesday, Aug. 15, and Friday, Aug. 17, from 7-9 p.m., parents of athletes will be collecting donations at Levittown Hall on Levittown Parkway to defray the cost to student athletes.

The following is a listing of the starting dates for senior high school fall sports: Football—Monday, Aug. 20—8:30 a.m.; Volleyball, boys' and girls' soccer—

Monday, Aug. 27—8:30 a.m.
