Eleven Nabbed in DMV Forgery Scam

By Rita Langdon

Eleven people were arrested Aug. 15 for altering drivers' learning permits and selling them for as much as $275 each to illegal aliens over the past year.

Nassau County attorneys and the Department of Motor Vehicle said last week that many of altered permits were sold out of Duenas Travel Agency in Hempstead to people who would be able to use the permits to obtain other forms of identification.

The defendants altered about 600 permits which were obtained from Nassau, Suffolk and New York City motor vehicle departments, including Hicksville, over the past six months.

The scam involved the defendants obtaining a learner's permit in his or her own name at DMV offices, using legitimate identification and paying a $9 fee, according to Nassau County District Attorney Denis Dillon.

The name, address, birthdate were then changed on the permits and sold primarily to Hispanics, who, in many cases, did not realize they were buying illegal permits, according to Assistant District Attorney Barbara Kornblau.

She added that in many of the Central American countries where these people are from, they obtain official documentation from travel agencies, "so for them it was not unusual to go to a place like Duenas Travel... to obtain official Department of Motor Vehicle documents."

As part of a three-month probe, DMV officials discovered that many of the people who obtained the phony learners' permits did not know the rules of the road.

Nassau County District Attorney Denis Dillon said that when those with illegal permits took their road test, they would stop at green lights and drive the wrong way down one-way streets.

Although George Filieau, a DMV representative, would not give details on how the defendants altered the learner's permit, he did say however that "chemicals were used."

Because learner's permit paperwork is not computerized, the DMV was not able to determine whether or not someone already had a permit, said Filieau. He added that the DMV is working on installing a new computer system to correct this problem.

Filieau said that the DMV will also try to block further forging incidents by issuing photographs on the learners' permits.

The eleven defendants were charged with forgery, criminal possession of a forged instrument, tampering with public records, falsifying business records and scheming to defraud. Arrested were Theresa Duenas, 40, of Westbury; Carlos De La Cruz, 51, of Corona; Magnolia Guzman, 35, of Jackson Heights; Domingo Hernandez, 49, of Woodside; Gloria Peralta, 40, of Woodside; Miguel Guzman, 35, of the Bronx; Reinerio Palma, 19, of Flushing and Tamara Arredondo, 24, of Corona.

The county is asking those with forged permits to return them to the DMV and no charges would be filed, Dillon said.

On Thursday, an ex-DMV employee was arrested for a similar scam. Larry E. Alston, 42, of Hempstead was charged with illegal-

Videotaping Helps Find Missing Children

By Jim McCrann

Each day in the United States, more than 13 children are reported missing — some never to be seen or heard from again.

In the last six years alone, more than 24,000 children have been reported missing to the National Center for Missing Children. Unfortunately, efforts to locate many of these children are often in vain.

Because still-photographs and descriptions are not always effective in the search for missing children, a new concept is being put to the test. "Kidprinting" is the videotaping of children's images, voices and mannerisms. These recordings can later be used as an effective tool in helping to locate these children should they become missing.

As part of a national public service campaign, all New York area Blockbuster Video stores are offering Kidprinting, free of charge, to children 12-years-old and younger. Kidprint days are Sunday through Wednesday, 2-6 p.m., until the end of August. Hicksville residents can visit the Blockbuster in Delco Plaza on Broadway.

"We don't claim to have the solution to the problem of missing children," said Cindy Smith, Blockbuster Video's Regional Marketing Manager. "But we hope Kidprinting will help people become more aware of the increasing need for child safety."

During a Kidprint videotaping session, which usually lasts anywhere from one to five minutes, a child is asked a series of questions which include name, address, phone number, age, and school. If the child is too young to talk, his/her mother responds to the questions. Following the taping, the videotape is given to the parents who may turn it over to authorities in case of an emergency.

"We try to make [the children] feel really comfortable [in front of the camera]," said Mary Gassner, an assistant manager of Blockbuster Video in Hicksville. But, most of the children have very little camera shyness anyway, she added.

Joseph Ferrucci, 12, of Kingston Avenue in Hicksville, who visited the Hicksville Blockbuster Video for a Nintendo tape and who was Kidprinted along with his nine-year-old sister Andrea, said that he would tell his friends about this. "I think it's a good idea," he said. "In case some kids get lost, the police have something to go on."

His mother, Rosemary Ferrucci, agreed. "We don't have a video camera so I would never think of doing this. It [would be] great to have [the Kidprint] if, God forbid, something happened."

Though the concept of Kidprinting is not original in itself, promoting it on such a large-scale basis is unprecedented. The idea of a nationwide program was developed by Blockbuster Video's marketing officials, according to Dan Wilinsky, an accounts supervisor in public relations for the company.

Kidprinting was originally tested in a couple of small cities, and because it was such a success, Blockbuster Video decided to promote it nationally.

Old Friends Teammates Again

Received a phone call from an old friend, Jimmy Valentine. He called to tell me that he and Sid Rigby, his school friend and teammate in Hicksville High School, are together again playing softball for the Levittown Flames.

Jim and Sid are both 1945 graduates of Hicksville High School and were teammates while in high school and after they came out of the service were teammates on Madden's Auto Body team.

The "Flames" are part of the Long Island Senior Softball Association (LISSA). You have to be at least 60 years of age to play on these teams. Jim said, "Sid and I are in pretty good physical condition. Sid is even slimmer than when he was in high school. You'd be surprised how we can still hit a ball. Our legs may not be quite as fast as they were then but we still play a good game."

Jim is playing third base and Sid is in the outfield. Jim said, "We'd like to get some more of our old school friends or teammates from the old Madden team (or any of the other teams) to come out and play with us next year. If anyone is interested they can call me at 579-9551 or Sid at 935-3462. We'd really enjoy playing with them again!"

So, come on you 'old' softball players—sign up for next year—it'll keep you young!

Good luck and way to go, Eric!

Every Golfers Dream

Congratulations to Joseph Fuchs (former Hicksville resident and graduate of Hicksville High School) upon winning the Club Championship at Spring Lake Golf Club.

Joe defeated two opponents in two previous matches to be eligible for the final 36-hole round with last year's club champion held on August 8.

Great going, Joe, we would all love to experience the feeling.

It's A Small, Small World

Never have I gone anywhere when I didn't meet someone I knew from Hicksville.

My husband Joe and I just returned from a lovely vacation in California and Las Vegas. We went to California to attend the National Convention of the Corvair Society of America. (A Corvair is a car that was made by Chevrolet from 1960 to 1969—and Joe has restored a few of them).

At the convention, Joe, wearing his Long Island Corvair Association pin, was approached by a fellow who asked him where he was from in Long Island. Joe said, "Hicksville." The fellow said, "That's where I came from. I went all through school there!"

It turned out that it was Peter Henneberger, who used to live on West Nicholas Street. His dad was Arthur and his mom, Norie, (who was a dental hygiene teacher in Amityville).

Pete is now living in Riverside and has been working at McDonnell-Douglas Aircraft Company for the past 20 years.

While reminiscing Pete mentioned that he had a great group of friends while attending Hicksville High. He pulled a photo out of his wallet and showed me "the old gang" and told me where they all are living now.

First was Peter Wells, of Locust Valley; Bob Oehler, Floral Park; John Goodell, Kentucky; John Hannon, Rochester; Ron Rocek, Dallas; Billy Allan Denver, and Jim Edwardson, Yaphank.

Pete said, "We all used to go to Frank's Alibi for pizza... and to this day I have never found a place that makes pizza as good as they made it there."

"I went back to Hicksville in 1986 for our 25 year class reunion. The day after the reunion was the best part of the trip back East as we and our families were all invited over to Peter Wells home in Locust Valley. We had the greatest time. It was swell seeing all my old friends!"

Note: Not only was Peter Wells a friend of Pete's but our daughter and son-in-law bought their home from Peter Wells mom. Small world, isn't it.

While in California I went to visit my brother, Bif Caruso. He owns a beautiful restaurant in San Pedro called Caruso and Me.

This was the first time we visited Bif at the restaurant—and I'll tell you... he's some chef! (But then the 'apple doesn't fall far from the tree'—my mom was a great cook).

He was recently named Restauranteur of the Year—1989 for Southern California and also received the Golden Bacchus Wine Award and the Gold Award.

Bif is going to open his second restaurant called Caruso in September. It'll be located in West Hollywood. If any of you are out that way stop in and say hello to him—you'll have "a gastronomical treat!"

While in California we called our old friend Billy Byrnes and his mom, Irene Byrnes. After all these years she still misses Hicksville. They live in Ventura. Bill is working for the county as a civil engineer and thinking about "maybe retiring."

Also, we saw old Hicksville friends, Pat and Ralph Ferrara. All send their regards back to their friends in Hicksville.

After leaving California we went to Las Vegas... and met former Hicksvilles—Ann and Al Schwing. They recently sold their house in Hicksville after raising their three children here... Linda, Luanne and Louis and are now going to buy a house and enjoy their retirement years in Las Vegas.

It was a very enjoyable vacation... and it really is a very small world, isn't it?

Where Were You In 1965???

The St. Ignatius Class of '65 is planning its 25-year reunion. It is to be held in the St. Ignatius New School Cafeteria on Saturday, Nov. 24.

If you—or anyone you know—graduated from St. Ignatius in '65 and are interested in attending the reunion please call 277-0973, 581-7173 or 472-9054... they'll be glad to send further information.

Valerie and David Dwork

What A Present!

Valerie and David Dwork recently returned from a lovely one-week cruise aboard Meridan to Bermuda.

The nicest part of this story is that the cruise was a birthday present from Valerie to Dave... and that they set sail on their wedding anniversary, August 12.

Wishing them bon voyage were their three children—Krissey, William and Andrew—all of Hicksville.

A 'Perfect Picnic' Winner

Friends of the Arts announced the winners of their Annual Perfect Picnic Contest held Aug. 4 at the Planting Fields in Oyster Bay, home of Friends of the Arts' Summer Festival.

They awarded Alice Mackin of Hicksville a grand prize winner for the "Most Creative." She displayed a passionate painter's picnic on a hand-painted tablecloth with a palette made of food surrounded by artists' paintings of picnics.

For her prize she received a basket filled with gourmet sundries and champagne.

(And then, I'll bet, they had another picnic).

Discovering 'Hicksville' in a VW Camper

By Rita Langdon

When Al La Vorgna sat down to read his Aug. 9 issue of the Hicksville Illustrated he was intrigued by a story about seven Hicksville firemen who had recently returned from a trip to Hicksville, Ohio.

In their travels, the firemen had discovered that Hicksville, Ohio reminded them of the Hicksville, New York of yesteryear with its small population and a landscape marked by farmland.

But for Al La Vorgna of Kuhl Avenue this story sparked memories of nearly 20 years ago when his two young sons and another Hicksville boy embarked on a similar journey throughout the United States, and they, too, had come across this small village in Ohio.

"It was kind of like Mayberry," said Donald La Vorgna who was about 16 years old when he spent the summer with his older brother, Richard, and their friend, Rickey Muhlenbruck, "seeing the world" in their 1964 Volkswagen camper.

"But we didn't run into Andy Griffith," Richard, now 39, quipped in a telephone conversation from his California home.

Ohio was one of the many places that the trio visited during their two-and-a-half month excursion across the United States, Canada and Alaska.

While Rich admits that they "were a bit shy back then" and did not talk to anyone, they had earlier made it a point to pass through Hicksville, Ohio, and snap a few photos. "They were very excited that there was another town," said Rich and Don's mother, Evelyn.

Vowing to only spend a dollar a day each during the trip, the boys survived on hot dogs, hamburgers and beans. "Richard never wanted to look at another bean again," said Evelyn La Vorgna, Richard's mother said. "I was getting gray hair while they were all away. When they came home, all looked healthy," she added.

But, what their mothers didn't know was that they almost didn't make it home. While in Canada one of the pistons in the ever-faithful VW broke outside of the nearest town. "We took the engine out on the side of the road, got a ride to town to a VW shop, returned, fixed the car and were on our way," Rich said.

At another point on their trip, they had a run in with a huge black bear who seemed to want to hitch a ride with the Hicksvillites.

"We were driving down the highway," said Richard, "when this bear bumped into the back of the VW. We were scared."

This trip, however, was much more than a bunch of teenage memories. It was a turning point for 18-year-old Richard, in particular, who later decided that he would move to one of the states he visited.

Richard had saved for the trip with money he earned while working at Electronic City in the Mid Island Plaza, today the Broadway Mall.

"One day Richard came to me and said, 'Dad, this is not for me,'" said Al La Vorgna. "He didn't like this business of working 9 to 5. He wanted to be his own boss."

Richard, a self-employed licensed contractor, said that he would have rather worked outdoors and "that's why I'm living here in Santa Rosa, California!" He lives with his wife, Pat, and two stepchildren. Donald lives in Bethpage with his new wife, Christel.

As for Rickey Muhlenbruck, an employee of the U.S. Post Office, he ended up living next door to Richard. But, he still longed to travel as he did some 10 years ago when he road his bicycle from Santa Rosa, California to Jones Beach. But that's another story.

Andrew Dwork's On His Way To The Top

By Rita Langdon

For many 18-year-olds starting college in the fall it's not uncommon for them to be a bit unsure about their future career plans.

But for 18-year-old Andrew Dwork of Pewter Lane his goals have been etched in stone for quite some time and he's ready to continue perfecting his musical skills.

Since Andrew's career started in seventh grade as a drum player, he has achieved much success. From two scholarships to his first professional performance this summer, the 1990 Hicksville High School graduate will begin college in the fall with a full resume.

With dreams to become a high school music teacher and band director, Andrew says he looks forward to studying at Nassau Community College in September.

"I'm very excited about it. I even started taking music classes over the summer," Andrew said.

The driving force behind Andrew's success is his former Middle School music teacher Hillary Sperber. "She helped me stick with it," said Andrew referring to her guidance in the beginning of his career. "She taught me to strive for more."

Today, Ms. Sperber is still an active part of Andrew's career as she helps him to find other jobs.

Andrew had originally started out on the violin, according to his mother, Valerie. "He knew that it just wasn't for him." Later "when Andrew decided to take up the drums, I thought, my God, not the drums," said Mrs. Dwork. "But he was such a natural. A lot of hours went into this and now it's starting to come together."

The highlight of Andrew's summer was playing drums in the orchestra for the Plaza Theatrical Productions, Inc., production of The King and I at the Plaza Playhouse in Old Bethpage. Currently, he is performing "dinner theater" shows in Coram restaurants.

In addition to his drum lessons, Andrew will also begin private piano lessons in September which will help him as he studies to become a music teacher.

Through high school, Andrew played the drums for the Hicksville High School Marching Band, the regular band, jazz band, orchestra and percussion ensemble. He was also chosen to perform with the high school marching band at Disney World in Orlando, Florida.

He has performed as a drum player in school district-sponsored plays such as Guys and Dolls, Annie, Oliver, and The Wiz.

In 1987, he won a scholarship to a three-day percussion convention in St. Louis from the Percussive Arts Society. "A lot of famous drummers are there," said Andrew, "and they give clinics."

During the past few years, Andrew was awarded a scholarship to USDAN, a camp in Suffolk County, for dancers and musicians. He attended three summer sessions enhancing his musical skills.

He has performed on an amateur basis in the Music Man and Brigadoon at a Long Island Church.

"When I was younger, my goals used to be to play at the Nassau Coliseum in a rock band," said Andrew. "Now, I know I want to teach, but I would definitely like to play drums on the side for the rest of my life."

ly issuing DMV documents, according to Dillon's spokesperson, Ed Grilli. He said that Alston may have worked with Theresa Duennas in issuing the fraudulent non-driver photo identification cards.

"The victims here were not only the Department of Motor Vehicle but also the illegal aliens who were purchasing the documents," said Kornblau who added, "They are now walking around thinking they have a legitimate learners' permits."

RCA donated all of the video cameras that are being used for the Kidprinting and Scotch donated videotapes for the recordings. Parents can either supply their own videotape or purchase one of these videotapes at a cost of $2.25 — all proceeds from the sale of these tapes are donated to the National Center for Missing Children.

According to Mary Gassner, people are reacting very positively to this program. "[Children] are our most valuable resource [and] most of the parents are happy that something is being done."

"And if the program helps locate even one missing child," said Cindy Smith, "It will have more than served its purpose."

TO YOUR HEALTH

By RICHARD H. BLAU, M.D.

Lyme Arthritis - The Arthritis of the Northeast

Lyme arthritis was named after Lyme, Connecticut, where it was originally discovered in 1975. This disorder usually occurs in the summer or early fall, and can affect people of all ages and either sex. Although found in other areas, many cases are concentrated in the northeastern United States.

For many years the cause of this arthritis was not known. Recently an organism, called a spirochete, has been isolated and is believed to produce the disease. This spirochete is carried by a tick, and transmitted to people after a tick bite.

The arthritis is often manifested by joint swelling, pain, redness, and tenderness. This arthritis may travel from one joint to another. The larger joints of the body, such as the knees, are often involved.

This disease affects not only the joints, but also the skin. An enlarging rash typically occurs, often at the site of the tick bite. This rash can be associated with chills, fever, weakness, headache, and a stiff neck. In the more severe forms of the disease, both the heart and the brain can be affected. Left untreated, recurrent attacks lasting for several years may occur.

Because of the strong association with arthritis, the disease is often diagnosed and treated by rheumatologists (arthritis specialists). The diagnosis is made on the basis of a careful medical history and physical examination. Recently a blood test has been developed which has been very helpful in confirming the diagnosis.

Although the joint symptoms can initially be treated with anti-inflammatory medication, the spirochete appears to be very sensitive to antibiotics. In fact, tetracycline or penicillin have been known to eliminate the symptoms of Lyme disease.

Arthritis strikes one out of seven people. Learn the facts. Call for your complimentary copy of "The Joint Approach - An Arthritis Overview."

Attention Hicksville Voters

On August 29th your vote on the Hicksville school budget may have the largest affect on your community that you will make all year.

A vote for the school budget is a vote for our community.

A district with a supported school budget transmits a sense of pride in that community.

Selling a home in a district on austerity may be difficult.

The value of a home is worth less in a district on austerity.

Hicksville remains one of the districts with the lowest tax rate in Nassau County.

Yet Hicksville provides a quality education for our students at a very small cost to the taxpayer.

Vote Yes August 29th — 10 am-10 pm

Having a budget also means having safe transportation to and from school for your child, and for the many children around your neighborhood. On austerity, the district would be forced to cut transportation for those students within the state mandated two and three mile limits.

In a district on austerity:

- Transportation for competitions, whether scholarly or, athletic would be cut.
- Senior Citizens would not have transportation to entertaining and cultural programs.

It's not something to take for granted

Is something holding you back from opening a home equity credit line?

Announcing a home equity credit line with absolutely no upfront fees or closing costs.

Closing costs can really weigh you down.

Yet many banks ask you to pay them before they'll even lend you the money you need. Which means you may have to pay $1,300 or more on a $75,000 home equity credit line before you even use it.

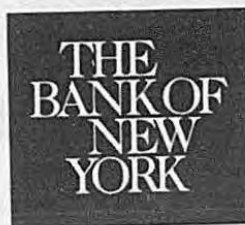

EquityLink<sup>SM</sup> from The Bank of New York is different. It allows you to open a home equity credit line with absolutely no upfront fees or closing costs. Which means you don't have to pay for things like an appraisal fee, mortgage recording tax, title insurance or bank attorney's fees. We even refund the application fee at the closing.

It also offers you potential tax advantages later on, because the interest on home equity credit loans is virtually the only deductible loan interest left under the current Tax Reform Act.

Not surprisingly, The Bank of New York also offers you some of the lowest home equity interest rates in the New York area. If you'd like to know just how much you can save with an EquityLink credit line, visit one of our more than 240 convenient branches.

Or call us at 1-800-942-1784 (from NJ and CT, call 914-899-2182 collect).

So if you're thinking about a home equity credit line, think about The Bank of New York. And close the book on closing costs.

Local Artist Displays Works In Virginia

John Duillo, a Hicksville artist, will display a collection of his Civil War Military Art tomorrow, Aug. 24, at the Civil War Society's 1990 Conference and Exhibition at the Hyatt Regency in Arlington, Virginia.

The conference, which began today, Aug. 23, features lectures, seminars, and discussions by noted authorities on Civil War history and includes paintings and sculptures by artists from across the nation.

John Duillo is president of the Society of American History Artists. He is a professional photographer, set designer and art director who studied under Adja Yunkers and Berenice Abbot at the New School for Social Research in Manhattan.

His lifelong fascination with history led him naturally to the Civil War period which he describes as "one of the most romantic of all wars... with everything but color."

He is married to the leading romance illustrator, Elaine Duillo, and a one-man show of his paintings will open in November at the Texas Trails Gallery in San Antonio, Texas.

The Hicksville Charity Tournament will be played this Saturday, August 25 at Abe Levitt Field (next to Dutch Lane School). The ceremonies start at noon and the first game starts at 1 p.m. The first game will be played by the girls teams of Hicksville P.A.L. and C.Y.O. and the boys teams will consist of Hicksville P.A.L. and H.B.A.

At the first practice of the girls P.A.L. team I had the opportunity to listen to Jack Zeller describe this game and what it meant to the girls. Jack stressed that this tournament was being held, not to determine which baseball organization is the best in Hicksville, but rather to raise money for organizations that help sick children. Jack told them that the previous three years we had raised money for the A.H.R.C. and that this year we were going to raise money for Make-A-Wish. He described in detail how Make-A-Wish works and made each girl feel important to be contributing to this organization. The Hicksville community is welcome to come and view this tournament and support all of the Hicksville youths who participate. Each boy and girl who participates in this tournament for Hicksville P.A.L. must sell 10 $2 tickets.

Girls Senior Division Giants vs. Cubs

Tuesday's game against the Cubs was an equally matched game until the last inning when a triple by Meredith Hennessey with bases loaded gave us the win 11-9. This brings our record to 9-0 with 5 games left. Fine pitching for this game by LauraAnn Dubeckey and Janine Rovtar. The hitting was supplied by Christine Hickey and Danille Taddeo. The outfield was well covered by Maria Taormina and Elizabeth Dubeckey. The infield with some fine plays consisted of Holly Griffenkanz, Lindsay Kist, Lauren Clarke and Allison Sayer. Also special thanks for our Umpire John Hickey and the rest of the parents for their support so far. During warm ups Carolyn Galdo suffered a broken nose and was unable to play the game.

Giants vs. Cards

The Giants continued their winning way behind the strong pitching of Lauren Guerriero, LauraAnn Dubeckey and Janine Routar. The offense was keyed by Christine Hickey, Carolyn Galdo, Meredith Hennessey, Holly Griffenkanz and Danille Taddeo. The defense consisted of Karin Meade and Lauren Clarke catching. Elizabeth Dubeckey, Maria Taormina, Lindsay Kist and Allison Sayer covered the outfield. Coaches Galdo and Clarke are looking forward to their four remaining games and know the girls will do just fine with all the team spirit they have.

Girl's Junior Division

Orioles 11

The Orioles beat the Red Sox in a game which saw the Red Sox rally for 7 runs in the final inning as they batted around the lineup before the game ended. The Orioles were led by Tara Keilty, who had 5 RBI's and Shannon Glynn who extended her streak of reaching base to 12 times in a row. Liane

Red Sox 9

Lewis pitched 4 strong innings, allowing only 2 runs. Kelly Mathis smashed a long triple, Jessica Smith did well at 3rd (and also had 3 more hits) and Christina Morreale did another great job of catching. Liane Lewis and Jamie Hines pitched great, fielding their position perfectly and allowing the hard hitting Blue Jays only 5 runs in the 5 inning game. Ivonne Gomez and Maureen Brodzowski each reached base all 3 times at bat.

CONTACT LENSES

SUCCESS OR FAILURE?

THE GOOD NEWS: One American in 10—20 million people—wear contact lenses... most of them successfully! Contact lenses are their choice for looking good and seeing well.

AND THE BAD NEWS: 1 million Americans have stopped wearing contact lenses for a variety of reasons, not the least of which are improper fitting, and improper or inadequate professional supervision.

When it comes to contact lenses—your vision, comfort, and safety—selection of the right doctor may well determine success or failure.

For thorough, skilled, caring professionalism, we are your first line vision resource center.

At Woodbury Optical Group all contact lens treatment is administered by Dr. Dean Hart, O.D., M.A., founder and director of the Contact Lens Research Foundation. Dr. Hart has treated thousands of lens wearers successfully.

He is a highly respected and frequent lecturer to the profession in the U.S., Canada and Europe. His texts and articles are used for reference throughout the globe.

Dr. Hart is the director of the Low Vision Clinic at a leading New York teaching hospital, and instructor of ophthalmology residents.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity. We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only. We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

Urged To Vote 'Yes'

To The Editor:

Bill Bennett, Carol Wolf and I have spent many hours this summer pouring over the school budget looking at ways to present a reduced budget to the community. We came to the process with differing views, but an overall concern for the community, the taxpayers and the educational needs of our children.

The budget which you will be voting on August 29 is an outgrowth of that work plus the work of other board members. It reflects a $1.5 million reduction from the budget submitted in May. It also reflects a reduction in the tax rate from the May proposal of $5.38 to $3.45. Additionally, the new budget includes a new line item which permits the district to hold two percent of the budgeted amount in a reserve account for emergencies. This amount, and more, has traditionally been in the budget placed in various codes. We did not add back money for this account but rather took it from the areas where it had already been placed and moved it to this new code. We felt, and the entire board agreed, that it should be visible to the community.

Many of you may say that this budget is still too high. Surely, we would have liked to have brought it in even lower. However, the reality is that to truly reduce the budget there are other areas that must be addressed and they require time. Let me assure you they are on my agenda for this year as well as the agendas of many of the other board members.

I am urging you to support this budget because austerity will still mean $3.12 to every homeowner. Approving the budget will cost $3.45. However, that difference of 33 cents is critical to all of us. It will keep Hicksville marketable. Realtors will tell you that it is more difficult to sell houses when a district is on austerity. If we have a budget all the senior citizen activities can continue, the extra curricular activities for our kids can continue, the community use of the schools can continue and transportation can continue. Can we afford to let 33 cents stand in our way?

For Hicksville's sake I urge you to vote "Yes" on Wednesday, August 29. The whole town is counting on You!

Arlene Rudin
Trustee

Exercise Your Right

To The Editor:

The most precious privilege of a free society is the right of electing persons you want (senators, councilmen, school board members, fire and water commissioners, etc.) "It is no mystery... that only 50 percent of eligible Americans voted in the presidential election of 1988—the lowest turnout since 1924." (Perhaps the S&L disaster will change this?) These words are a direct quote from an article on the proposed National Registration Act of 1990 which would make voting as easy as filling out a lottery ticket.

On Tuesday night, August 7, a meeting took place in the Oyster Bay Town Hall that was so sparsely attended by citizens, (including Town, state and congressional leaders—John Budnick well represented the County) that it was shameful. Where are our leaders—where are our concerned citizens. This meeting was mandated by Federal Superfund regulations before action on the Hooker/Ruco hazardous waste site could proceed. (We have another Superfund site in Hicksville—the former Anchors Lithemko company on W. John Street that is in abeyance). Every federal law mandates public hearings and citizen input. But citizens now work 8-10 hours a day to pay their bills and the high taxes from the good life on Long Island. Governmental leaders get paid for their expertise, knowledge of the laws, and attendance at meetings.

If the Hooker Cooperation agrees to this plan, and they seem so disposed, they will pay $1 million, and a beginning solution will be initiated after ten long years of citizen input. The government needs you. Your next chance to show your concern will be on August 29 for the School Budget and on August 30 when an incumbent water commissioner is up for election. These commissioners earn a paltry $60/meeting for their devotion, but they are the bulwark against the unwise use of water and land in this crowded beautiful Island.

THAT BEAUTIFUL LEVERAGE

QUESTION: What is meant by the word "leverage" when used in conjunction with investing in real estate?

ANSWER: Leverage arises because ALL of the income and ALL of the appreciation belongs to the property holder regardless of the amount of the loan. To illustrate, assume a $100,000 property was purchased for only $10,000 cash and a $90,000 mortgage loan. Five years later, the same property is sold for $150,000 (a 50% gain in value). After paying off the $90,000 mortgage, the investor would realize, not a 50% gain, but rather a 500% gain on his initial cash investment because he only invested $10,000 for the property. That's leverage!

LEVERAGE is the key to multiplying profits from real estate.

Letters From Our Readers

Letters to the editor are welcomed by the editors and publishers of the Anton Community Newspapers. However, they must follow certain guidelines in order for us to print them: they should be as short as possible; we reserve the right to edit in the interest of space; they MUST be signed (a typed name at the bottom will not suffice); they must include an address and telephone number so that we can verify their authenticity. We receive many fine letters which we would like to share with our readers, but we are unable to use them because they are unsigned or have a typewritten name only. We cannot publish every letter we receive because of space limitations, but we try to present both sides of all issues. Personal attacks and letters considered to be in poor taste will not be printed.

Vote 'No' On Budget

To The Editor:

Well, here we go again! Hicksville homeowners, a school budget re-vote.

Those jokers (The Hicksville School Board) are back trying to bleed us for another mere half million dollars which is approximately an increase on your school obscenity of $3.50 per one hundred of assessed valuation.

Too bad this Board cannot get along on a $1 million dollar austerity budget that includes 5 million dollars that we had no control over—vote or no vote.

All this for an enrollment reduction of approximately 50 students, which equals an increase of about $100,000.00 for each student lost (example of The new math: Less equals more!!)

If this Board cannot get along on $1 million dollars, then it does not deserve to be a School Board.

What we need are people who know the value of a dollar, and are not willing to sacrifice your homes, ruin our lives to satisfy their inflated eyes.

Also, do not forget that mere half million is just to tide them over until next May when it will begin all over again and be assured that their austerity budget will be close to 60 million dollars and God only knows how much more they will try to pay out of our pockets above that obscene amount.

Stop these uncaring bureaucrats now and every year until they come to their senses and become realistic!

Vote down any increase now and forever. Maybe we should send them to the Plainview School District for a lesson in humanity.

Footnote: Crisis in Mid-East, increasing oil prices. Can you imagine what the Board will do with that next year?

It has now become imperative that we adopt with this board, the phrase being brought to the children of today: "Just say NO!"

The homeowners of Hicksville are not an endless source of wealth.

Charles Burke, Jr.

Vote 'Yes' August 29

To The Editor:

I would like to thank the members of the Board of Education for presenting us with a much more palatable budget (shaving 1.5 million off the previous budget) and for voting unanimously for a re-vote on August 29, 1990.

These cuts bring the difference between austerity and a budget to approximately 29¢.

I urge Hicksville to come together and support the school budget.

A defeat of the budget hurts the entire community. Our taxes still go up—budget or no budget.

Please vote YES August 29th.

President, Woodland Avenue PTA

No Relief For Taxpayers

To The Editor:

On August 29th residents will be asked to vote on a $51,584,000 budget which would carry a tax rate increase of $3.45 per hundred bringing the total proposed tax rate to $30.93 per hundred of assessed valuation—an increase of 12.6 percent. Although the proposed budget has been reduced by 1.5 million, it is still almost 5 million more than last year.

Carole Wolf and Arlene Rudin have worked hard to try to reduce the budget but the reduction consists of shifting monies around in the various codes and cutting the reserve fund to a questionably low amount. There were no actual cuts in expenditures. It is still a budget of $1 1/2 million dollars for approximately 4,200 students.

Once again the Board has failed to address the basic problem of too many schools and too many highly paid teachers for too few students. The proposed budget represents no change as far as the number of schools, number of teachers, administrative staff and education and recreational programs. In addition, due to the oil crisis, we know we will be paying much higher costs for heating and lighting half empty schools.

The proposed budget does not offer any relief for the already overburdened taxpayers.

Helen M. Lafferty

Charity Tournament

To The Editor:

Community Unity Happening, August 25, at noon. The children from Hicksville Baseball Association (HBA), Hicksville Police Athletic League (PAL) and St. Ignatius Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) will be participating in a baseball/softball tournament to benefit the Make A Wish Foundation. The games will take place at the Abe Levitt Complex, Stewart Ave. and Levittown Parkway.

Many dignitaries and "honored" guests will be on hand for the opening ceremonies. This day promises to be enjoyable for the entire family.

The children who participate in the tournament will be raising donations for the Make A Wish Foundation. At this time we are seeking anyone or business in the Hicksville area, who would like to make a donation to the Make A Wish Foundation to please mail your donation. We would gladly announce your name in the local papers and during the opening ceremonies as being a contributor.

We hear about so many negative things happening around us today, let's all get together and do something positive. Please make all checks payable to: Make A Wish Foundation.

Water For "The Asking" Only

To The Editor:

Hicksville Water District has distributed thousands of "Yours for the Asking" table cards to restaurants, catering halls and diners within the District.

The table card state that water will be served only when requested by customers.

The front of the table cards reads "We're cooperating with the Hicksville Water District Water Conservation Program by serving water only when requested. So, if you want a glass just ask and we'll gladly serve all the water you want."

The back of the table card reads: "By serving water only on request, we not only save the glass of water, we save the water needed to wash that glass and the water needed to make ice to chill that glass, so you see, it all adds up."

Save some water everyday—all year round.

Vote 'Yes' On Budget

To The Editor:

I would appreciate it if you could pass my message along to the good people of Hicksville about the upcoming budget revote held on Aug. 29th. VOTE YES.

As I looked for a community to raise my children some 10 years ago Hicksville struck me as an area of beautiful homes, friendly people, and most of all good schools. Who knew five short years after I moved in, that Hicksville residents would defeat the budget the first time around for a consistent five years in a row. Oh yes, after the second budget was brought up it passed, but the question is why? Could it have anything to do with that the people are now conditioned to reject the first budget knowing that a few hundred thousand dollars would be cut to get it passed? Or maybe that taxpayers are totally fed up with the bureaucratic system of taxing and are lashing back the only way they know how? Have we lost faith in our administration in the manner in which they calculate the budget? The answers to these questions are all YES. Now the question that should be asked of the District Administration and Board of Education is what will it take on their part to get this community behind a budget to get it right the first time?

No one really realizes the impact a contingency (austerity) budget has on a community, until it directly affects them personally. The difference between having a budget and being on austerity is only $29. Figure it out on your tax receipts. Depending on what your house is assessed at, it could be anywhere from $15 to a $50 savings a year. Now look at the down side. There will be no busing for elementary children living under 2 miles and no busing for the secondary children living 3 miles from their school, no senior citizen activities or salaries for their coordinators, no cultural programs, no athletics for the secondary schools, and most of all the real estate value compared to a district who has in place a passed budget will greatly be affected.

I'm sure this letter will offend some, sorry, but I'm for the children here and they must come first. It just seems that the young and old are always the stepped on and it just isn't fair.

I would like to personally thank Mrs. Rudin and Mrs. Wolf in being the "driving force" behind the board to make the 1.5 million dollar cuts and for giving Hicksville another crack at passing, and having in place a budget before school starts on Sept. 5. I urge you all to VOTE YES and get involved. IT'S THE ONLY WAY WE CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE.

Donna Martillo, President
East Street PTA

Player Asks For 'Yes' Vote

To The Editor:

I am writing to you on behalf of the Hicksville High School football team and every other after-school extra curricular activity. After writing the Board of Education about the serious matter of being on austerity I decided to write the residents of the town of Hicksville because you are the people who can resolve this major problem.

Being on austerity cannot be the answer to this problem. Is money the only thing that matters anymore? Does children's love and pride in a sport they play or an activity they participate in mean anything to the people in this town anymore because I know it used to. We might not have the best athletic program in the country but there are still children out there every day during their particular activity season working as hard as they can for their school. We might not win a game or a competition but in the long run we win every day because we tried. In my book if you try your hardest when you step out on that football field, stage, or even when you put that instrument to your lips, you are a winner no matter what anybody says. If you cannot take pride in that, what can you take pride in?

I am going to be a senior this September and I have been looking forward to this all my life. For three years my schoolmates and I have been building up something called school spirit. To some it might not be much and everyone might not have it but I do. I love Hicksville High School, I love my town Hicksville and I love football because that's what I do. It's people like me who are going to get hurt the most.

People, when you go out to vote again on

From the Editor's Desk

On Aug. 29, Hicksville's residents have a second opportunity to support their future—our children. An austerity budget, which has been in effect since July, cancelled the summer recreational program usually offered.

High school band members had to seek outside funding for their workshop held last week in Pennsylvania. Now, athletes will be forced to raise substantial monies in order to continue extra curricular sports. Senior citizen clubs have faced increases in their costs because the law forbids district fundings while under austerity.

Most important, the safety of a large number of students, public and parochial, will be compromised when bus transportation ceases for all who live less than two miles from school; three miles from high school.

Yes, the school board must continue to pursue other avenues to keep the budget from rising again next year. A Citizens' Budget Advisory Committee that the board approved this month is a good start. However, for the sake of the children of Hicksville, we urge the passage of the school budget on Aug. 29.

*****

Hicksville residents also have another important vote to cast next week.

On Thursday, August 30, Richard Humann is running unopposed for reelection as a Hicksville Water Commissioner.

Voting will take place at the main fire house, 20 East Marie Street from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

the budget, don't think about the money but instead think about the children. Keep us off the streets, give us things to do and think about your high school days, you know the games, the dances, the pep rallies. Please don't take these memories that we also one day would like to have, away from my friends and I. This is supposed to be the best time of our lives. So again I am asking you to please vote for the budget on August 29th.

P.T.S.A. Supports Budget

To The Editor:

Hicksville High School P.T.S.A. is supporting the Budget due for a revote on Wednesday, August 29, 1990.

This $1.5 million dollar reduction in the proposed 1990-91 budget reduces the total amount to $51,584,000 and represents an estimated additional $3.45 per $100 of assessed value. This is a significant decrease from the $5.38 increase presented at the first budget vote.

This budget allows the district to continue its present transportation services and leaves all educational programs, student activities, interscholastic athletics, and senior citizens programs intact.

Please support this budget and vote on Wednesday, August 29, 1990.

Thank You

Hicksville High School P.T.S.A.

Support New Budget

To The Editor:

The Hicksville Council of PTAs is in favor of supporting the resubmitted school budget. The new budget, reduced by $1.5 million, will result in a significant decrease from $5.38 to $3.45 per $100 of assessed value. This new reduced budget will provide funding for transportation, educational programs, sports programs, after-school activities and senior citizen adult-education programs.

Please support the school budget by voting on Wednesday, August 29 from 10 a.m.-10 p.m. at your regular polling place.

An absentee ballot can be obtained at the Administration Building on Division Avenue at the District Clerk's office on the second floor.

Please vote for the budget on August 29, so that our schools can get on with the work at hand, that of educating our children.

Insurance Agents Advice To College-Bound

Sending kids to college is expensive enough without additional, unanticipated expenses resulting from inadequate insurance coverage. That's why the Professional Insurance Agents of New York State Inc. (PIANY) suggests that families protect themselves by reviewing their policies before packing their children off to college.

PIANY notes two immediate considerations. First, does your insurance cover your children's health care needs while away at school? And secondly, does your homeowners policy cover damage or theft of personal possessions in the dormitory?

PIANY President Lewis L. Wilson, CIC, CIAA, suggested that for those in this situation, a review of homeowners insurance is in order. Why? "To determine exactly what is covered in the policy in the event you suffer a loss," he said. For example: if the value of dormitory possessions exceeds the specific figure in a standard policy, insurance holders should consider buying additional coverage.

"Remember, replacing such items as mini-refrigerators, computers and televisions could be very costly," said Mr. Wilson. Headvised parents to keep a list of the possessions their son or daughter is taking to college, noting each item, original cost and date purchased.

"Health care coverage is another area of concern for families with college-bound kids," continued Mr. Wilson. "In general, under a group policy, children are covered until age 24, as long as they are still single, financially dependent and full-time students."

However, coverage under a parent's individual policy generally ends when the child is 19 years old, even if the child is a student, he noted. For this reason, health insurance policies should also be reviewed, to guard against a lapse in coverage—especially while a child is a student and between graduation and the start of employment, where they may be eligible for a group plan.

The Investor's Corner

By Dr. Joseph P. Fry

Are You Organized?

Getting together a good financial plan requires that you be organized in your files. In this way, and only in this way, can you get rid of the minute details that clutter up the mind and interfere with an orderly decision-making process. You need a clear picture. The pieces must fit together if you truly want a financial blueprint. This means that you must take time to get your money accounts down on paper to see how it is spread out among various accounts. Investments, mutual funds, insurance policies, wills and loan agreements are all part of a personal package. The compiling of the data into a summary is the first step to getting organized. When you have it all together, you will then be able to get a picture. You will see if there is a cohesive plan, or, the more usual, a hodge-podge of past investments decisions that have extended into the present.

A financial blueprint will help you decide if you have enough insurance protection, or the right kinds for your stage in life; or if any one type of account is getting too much; or if you are losing the diversification that I believe all such plans should have for a measure of safety. Is a stock or a mutual fund that you have acting sluggishly? Should something be replaced, eliminated or expanded? A financial blueprint will help you make these important decisions.

Another important factor is that, in an emergency, like a sudden death, the surviving spouse will have an idea of what you have and where it is located. Many of us keep our spouses in the dark to the detriment of the survivor's financial health.

Some of my suggestions are going to be tedious and a neck pain to do. But when you have finished, the work will be well worth the trouble. Have a layout to follow:

- 1) Home Mortgage: amount outstanding, monthly payment, balance, and equity in the home. Location of the records.
- 2) Rental properties: just repeat number 1.
- 3) Investments: description, purchase price, present value, purchase date and location of the records.
- 4) Insurance: home, auto, life and health—all should be listed in clusters. Do not forget your group life insurance because if you change jobs you may want to replace it. Do it all by policy number, premiums and due dates. If you have some cash flow problems you can change the payment dates with most companies. Also list the rental insurance separately.
- 5) Taxes: Who is the tax preparer or accountant? Where are the past several years' records located?
- 6) Wills: Who is executor? Where located? Beneficiaries? In the last issue of the Garden City Life (my home town paper) there was another article written by a lawyer about wills. Look it up. What that lawyer could not and did not say is that the majority of wills are poorly drawn. That is, they do not do what the person really wants to do. In my consulting business it is now standard procedure for us to look at the will. My experience is that 2 of 3 do not conform to the present day objectives of my clients. Sometimes they were drawn up by an incompetent, but mostly the ages and the wealth and the objectives have changed.

There is not enough space in the column to complete the topic, so next week we will return to the same subject.

A Letter from Lulabelle...

...A long time ago I bought a kit to make a doll house and then found that it was just too hard for me...And so it has sat for several years while I sought a hobby to take on the job...and then I found this absolutely wonderful couple—he is a cabinet maker and she is a hobbyist in many fields and between them they have constructed the most beautiful doll house for me...It's Victorian with twelve rooms, three porches, much gingerbread, a pointy tower, fish scale shingles (applied one by one!) and a lovely stained glass window in the attic...It is so beautifully done and with such loving care that I have told them that we are sharing it...Miniature collecting is a wonderful hobby for adults—really too delicate for children—and I have been collecting for the doll house for a long time—here, there and on trips...and I have a most eclectic mix, mostly Victorian, of course...I have an English nanny pushing a little boy in a wicker stroller—a beautiful lady with a parasol about to take her leave—and even a French priest with his wide brimmed black felt hat!...There is an old-fashioned coal stove in the kitchen and a pull chain toilet in the bath—with a tub on legs, of course...an etagere has those tiny reproductions of the regular size Hummel figurines and I have minuscule Delftware from Holland...Brass pots hang in the kitchen and the sink has a pump...There's a wicker chaise on the porch and a double swing in the yard...My friend, also a doll house enthusiast, has a tree with a tire swing and a little boy swinging...There's a bird house with birds and lots of pets for the miniature family—a boxer dog and a cat with kittens...I am looking for a squirrel for the yard and for a gazebo...The walls are papered with tiny replicas of the Schumacher and Bradbury papers...This is a hobby that can go on forever and one can always be alert for what is not intended for a doll house but can be used so well...For example, recently I was returning from a trip and thinking that I had not found one thing for the doll house, when, on the dinner tray was a package of Dutch chocolates and included was a tiny Delft plaque—just right for a kitchen tile in the doll house!...Lots of people who do not have room for a house are buying specially made boxes that can sit on a table or hang on a wall and can be decorated and furnished like one room of a house...If it sounds intriguing, look into your nearest hobby shop.

Yours, Lulabelle

It's "Back To The Future"

by Keni Woodruff

It's 1925. Max Schwartz is milking his cows, bottling the fresh milk and sweet cream in his dairy on his own farm in Queens. The glass bottles and carrying baskets bear the name Elmhurst Milk & Cream Co., Inc. and many of us still remember the early morning clink of bottles and the clip-clop of horse hooves, and later, the sputter of his milk trucks as they made their rounds.

Over the years, Elmhurst has experienced major changes in regional growth, in product lines, in customer needs, meeting those changes with the latest processing and packaging technology. Homogenization has eliminated the morning routine of Mom separating the cream from the top of the milk, supermarkets have changed the nature of home delivery, and automation has made hand milking a thing of the past (it's also made the milk you drink more sanitary).

Two things have remained constant at Elmhurst's 13-acre Jamaica site...the Schwartz family name, and the quality milk products bearing the Elmhurst label. Today, the company is owned by Max's son, Henry M. Schwartz, who has followed in his family's generations-old tradition of dairy farming.

Elmhurst has become the largest fully integrated fluid milk processor and distributor in the N.Y. Metropolitan area, serving stores, institutions and families in the New York City and Long Island area. Its product line includes a wide variety of dairy and juice products including whole and skim milk, cream, yogurt, juice and much more.

"Many of our customers have been with us for a good part of our 65 years," says Henry. "It's with great pride that we've watched that client list grow steadily over the years. We've always taken a personal interest in our customers' needs, and in response to popular demand and our own ecological concerns, we have recently introduced a line of 'country' bottled returnable quart-size glass bottles for our home delivery routes," he said.

"It's a very exciting move for us," Schwartz commented. "It brings us back to our beginnings, without sacrificing quality or freshness, and it helps us and our customers minimize the problem of disposables that is overwhelming our environment. The milk is delivered in the early morning hours and placed into an insulated 'porch box' to ensure that everything remains at the proper temperature, ready to be enjoyed fresh for breakfast."

Initially, home delivery customers will be able to order whole milk, 99% low-fat milk and skim milk in glass containers, an Elmhurst spokesperson said. The company will also deliver eggs, butter, juices, sour cream, cottage cheese and yogurts.

"As environmental concerns grow, many people have expressed a desire to do their part, no matter how small, in contributing to the environmental needs of their communities. The return of the returnable glass bottle is Elmhurst's contribution to this vital effort, our way of securing our future," said Schwartz.

"Now families can have the convenience of milk delivered straight to their doorsteps. And, they can enjoy the unexpectedly delicious taste of milk in glass bottles while they do their part to protect Long Island's environment. There's another bonus," he commented, smiling. "The fond memories of childhood days, of simpler times, will be stirred by the early morning clink of milk bottles as our milkmen service their home delivery routes."

If you're interested in the home-delivered freshness of milk in glass bottles, call Elmhurst at 1-800-339-0166 for details.

Hofstra Highlights: Education, Culture and Social Benefits

While Hofstra University has long been considered a prestigious institution of higher learning on Long Island, its campus has undergone tremendous growth in recent years. These changes have lent to greater educational and social opportunities for the entire Hofstra community.

Hofstra, at one time, was generally considered a commuter school. Five years ago, approximately 3,000 students lived in Hofstra's residents halls, comprising less than half of the full-time, undergraduate student body. Since then, due to the opening of one housing complex and construction of two additional dorms, over 4,100 students reside on campus.

To accommodate to social needs of the increasing resident population, a new recreation center was built in addition to Hofstra's already existing facilities. These facilities include a physical fitness center which houses an olympic size swimming pool; Hofstra USA, the campus bar and dance club; and numerous dining areas that have been renovated as they are frequented more often by more people.

"I like the fact that at Hofstra there's so much to do and learn outside the classroom," said Franessa Lukaszuk a graduate student in the University's School of Education and a Hofstra alumna. "There's always something going on on the campus and lots of opportunities to meet people and make friends."

The University's accredited School of Education was once the primary draw for incoming students and Hofstra's most highlighted program. The campus community takes pride in the fact that its education program has been able to retain its accreditation, but today it must share the limelight with Hofstra's accredited School of Business, College of Liberal Arts and Science, School of Law, New College and the University College of Continuing Education. Hofstra's University Honors Program is one of the academic highlights of the school. The program consists of a series of seminars ranging on topics from "Studies In The Human Condition" to "Bioethics." R. Andrew Ball, a student enrolled in the Honors Program and editor in chief of the weekly newspaper on campus said, "The program has given myself and other honors students opportunities to examine many different cultural, philosophical and literary theories. Even though I sometimes have ideological disagreements with many of my honors professors, I have been encouraged to work in areas I am interested in. It is an intellectually open atmosphere, one very conducive to thought and exploration."

To provide for its educational environment, Hofstra's Axinn Library boasts over 1,200,000 volumes, a figure which increases by 20,000 volumes a year. Dempster Hall is home of the Communication Arts department where state of the art equipment is provided for broadcasting majors; in fact, Sportschannel broadcasts nightly from the Hofstra campus. Additionally, a new classroom building and law library have been built and will open in time for the upcoming fall semester. In all, 40 new buildings have been added to the University since 1981.

Numerous cultural and historic programs are sponsored by the University as well. In just the past few months, Hofstra has featured a number of informative and entertaining conferences and events. In March, Hofstra held its 41st annual Shakespeare festival that featured a well-received production of Othello. Scholars from around the country attended a Hofstra conference in April on the life and administration of United States President Theodore Roosevelt. May brought the annual Dutch Festival which was complemented this year by a conference and tribute to Vincent van Gogh. Scientists and environmentalists turned out for a conference entitled The Environmental: Global Problems, Local Solutions, held in early June to discuss the environmental problems the earth is facing and how they may be prevented and remedied.

This fall, Hofstra will host its eighth presidential conference entitled Keeping The Faith on the Carter Administration. As with past presidential conferences, politicians, policy makers and scholars will be on hand to participate in panel discussions and to deliver papers and lectures. The 39th President of the United States is scheduled to be present for the proceedings in November.

Aside from the conferences and productions, art and beauty are featured year-round in the numerous galleries and exhibits on the campus. The Hofstra Museum is accredited by the American Association of Museums. Also, the beautiful 238 acre Hofstra campus is a registered arboretum accredited by the American Association of Botanical Gardens and Arboreta.

University President James M. Shuart takes pride in all Hofstra has achieved in the past few years. "Enrollment is at an all time high at Hofstra, and I think this is a direct reflection of the progress Hofstra has made in improving its academic programs and the quality of campus life. Students find the work to be challenging yet rewarding; Hofstra is a university where student have much to gain educationally, socially and culturally."

Though Hofstra University is first and foremost an educational facility, it has grown to be an institution where students can also refine their social and cultural skills. The campus community is just that—a community where students, faculty and administrators work together to make learning, teaching and working for the University a worthwhile experience.

Montessori School of Plainview

What can you expect from a Montessori education for your child? Here are a few educational principles of Dr. Maria Montessori:

In the Montessori classroom we are interested in the development of the whole child - not just the intellectual development. The goal of our program is the integration of the child's personality and the organization of his thought processes. This provides for later academic success, and is accomplished through direct experiences with meaningful activities and materials. "Develop interest, rather than give facts," said Dr. Montessori.

Educational research indicates that children ages 3-6 are fully capable of learning meaningful things, and that intellectual stimulation given at this age helps set the foundation for later academic success. A program of play does not do a great deal towards helping the young child to organize his mental processes, which is necessary for academic learning. Therefore, a Montessori program is a learning program with a curriculum; the children enjoy their work-play environment.

Young children have amazing mental concentration if given activities and material that fulfill their need to grow and discover themselves. Your child literally absorbs knowledge from his environment. If the environment is enriched with special materials suited to his needs, the child can learn easily and joyfully. Children in a Montessori setting learn to read, write and work with numbers, in the same natural way that they learn to walk and talk.

Gently saying "no" to a child and setting reasonable limits does not suppress qualities within the child. Rather, it aids his/her development by giving him/her a basis for making judgements. No child is happy without a sense of self-discipline and order.

In our Montessori setting the children are enabled to experience the excitement of learning by their own choice; this is a major factor in maximizing their potential to become independent, secure, loving and balanced human beings. When a young child has a positive experience with the learning process, it influences the child for the rest of his life. Our Montessori program is dedicated to seeing that your child's encounter with the educational process will be positive and satisfying.

Friends Academy Excellence In Education for 114 Years

Friends Academy was founded in 1876 by Gideon Frost as a Quaker school. Today, Friends retains its Quaker affiliation and, in key respects, the school's philosophy and purpose are a direct outgrowth of this heritage. Quaker ideals of simplicity, moderation, patience, caring service to others, integrity in thought and action and commitment to non-violent resolution of differences form the foundation of a Friends education.

Friends is a co-educational, college preparatory, day school, enrolling 700 students from Pre-School Play Group through grade 12. Virtually all graduates go on to leading colleges and universities throughout the country, reflecting their various talents and interests. The school has a well-rounded, vibrant student body with nearly a quarter of the student population receiving some degree of financial assistance.

In keeping with its Quaker heritage, Friends provides its young people with a strong sense of ethical responsibility and develops each student to his or her fullest intellectual, social and moral potential. Once a week Lower, Middle and Upper School students attend Quaker meeting in the Matinecock Meeting House. This is a time for reflective silence and for students, faculty members or visitors to share their thoughts.

Friends has a demanding academic program that includes numerous advanced placement courses. The school is committed to excellence in education. It provides a low student/teacher ratio and offers small classes taught by a dedicated and highly qualified faculty of which approximately 70% hold advanced degrees. Close interaction between students and teachers, both in and out of the classroom, helps create a caring and challenging experience. Students are encouraged to become involved not only in the classroom but also in extracurricular activities such as dramatics, athletics, student government, school publications, Mock Trial and band and orchestra.

Community service plays a vital role at Friends at all grade levels. In the Upper School there is a mandatory 10th grade course which emphasizes the importance of community involvement. The courses culminate with a two-day "hands-on" experience working with the homeless in a shelter in New York City. In addition, a large number of students regularly volunteer at local hospitals, nursing homes, and boys' and girls' clubs as well as Habitat for Humanity in New York City and the Interfaith Nutrition Network, I.N.N., a center for the homeless in Hempstead.

The Locust Valley campus is located on 65 acres and it has extensive facilities for the Lower School program, an expanded Middle School and an Upper School. The Leonhardt-Cassullo Commons contains modern science laboratories. There is a Learning Center, the David O'D. Kennedy Library housing 30,000 volumes and a varied multimedia collection, and a visual and performing arts center. Nearly half the faculty are housed on campus. A multi-purpose field house contains an indoor track and fitness room and there are outdoor tennis courts, a track, swimming pool and fields for soccer, football, field hockey, baseball, softball and lacrosse.

Dance and Theater, Living Arts at Martha Merideth

by Keni Woodruff

"If you can walk, you can dance. If you can speak, you can sing and act." The philosophy of Martha Merideth has been an active force in the 25-year success of her Syosset based School of Dance and Theater, and home of the Dance Theatre Eclectic. Located at 31 Ira Rd., Syosset, the Martha Merideth School of Dance and Theater has been acclaimed as one of the top dance and theater schools on Long Island, offering exceptional classes and performing workshops for children, teens and adults.

"We give people who have always wanted to dance the opportunity to strengthen their passion," says Ms. Merideth. "Our school encourages the students' minds and bodies with energy, health, fun and a highly spirited dance life."

Dedicated to the philosophy that the humanistic aspect of teaching is paramount to the development of all students, children or adults, Ms. Merideth strives to arouse the potential that exists within the human body and mind by building a confident spirit.

"Children do become what they learn,"

she says. "It is so rewarding when a student becomes positive, productive, enchanting to watch, and enchanted with genuine knowhow. Dance and theatre can help create a healthy, happy, well adjusted student, preparing them for the real world."

To achieve these goals, Ms. Merideth has assembled a superb staff of professional dance teachers: Shelley Paradisin, Loida Santos, Cynthia Levchenko, and, of course, Ms. Merideth, herself. Her staff is affiliated with the Broadway stage, dance companies, and New York and Long Island colleges and universities. Students will dance to the music of the school's resident pianist, Barbara Bixby, who is celebrating her 15th year on staff.

Students of the Martha Merideth School of Dance have been well received throughout the United States and in performances in Europe, and have graduated to performances in major dance companies and on Broadway. Others have successfully entered related fields in the performing arts industry, where their intimate knowledge of dance has added new dimension to their work. "My students are active in dance science, film, screen writing, film editing, producing, directing, dance photography, and dance therapy," says Merideth. "One is a dance physician, and one is a geologist who still dances professionally."

Students at Martha Merideth School of Dance come from all over Long Island and Queens to satisfy their dreams of becoming dancers. Here they learn their craft, hone their skills and develop a lifelong love of dance and music and a self-awareness and sense of discipline that improves every aspect of their lives.

"We've been acclaimed as one of the five best dance/theater schools on Long Island," says Martha Merideth, "and after 25 years, we are still dedicated to the preservation and quality of dance and theater education as well as its impact on human life and the community."

"In fact," she commented, with pride, "in June we were honored by a proclamation which embodies my philosophy and the very heart of the school: 'Senator Ralph J. Marino honors and salutes Martha Merideth, whose devotion to the arts and love for life have been beautifully choreographed into a purposeful career and humanitarian presence benefitting both her students and the citizens of Long Island.'"

The Martha Merideth School of Dance and Theater opens for registration in August. Classes begin on September 10. For details, call 516/921-2912.

Local Artisans In NYC Crafts Festival

When the Seventh Annual Autumn Crafts Festival at Lincoln Center Plaza kicks off this weekend, among the list of artisans whose works will be shown will be a few of Nassau County's top craftspeople. Chosen from some 800 applications by a jury of six professionals, craftspeople from Great Neck, Port Washington and Freeport will join the list of 300 artisans from 34 states.

Those chosen for the exhibit include Marilyn Harris of Great Neck, who will be displaying jewelry; Philip and Anne Levine of Port Washington, who will be showing home furnishings; and Haan Endred and Alfred North of Freeport, who will be showing jewelry.

The seventh annual Autumn Crafts Festival at Lincoln Center's Fordham University Plaza is sponsored by the American Concern for Art and Craftsmanship, the same organization that produces the American Crafts Festival at Lincoln Center in July. The show, which takes place on two consecutive weekends - August 25, 26 and September 1, 2, 3 from 11:00 am to 7:00 pm - features master artisans from every region of the United States.

Plan on going? Expect such sights as these: a blacksmith, forging fireplace implements; live sheep shearing; square dancing to country music; plus some of the top crafts from across the United States.

The crafts themselves will be personally presented for exhibition and sale by the artisans themselves. The displays feature original designs in clay, leather, precious jewelry, blown and stained glass, hand-crafted apparel in silks, furs, wool and other natural fibers, contemporary furniture, toys, musical instruments and more.

To put a few numbers on it - three hundred craft displays, 15,000 art objects, and 200,000 visitors are expected.

With all those numbers, organizers of the festival still claim they'll be able to provide what they call "a balanced format expressing the full range of American Crafts activities." According to information provided to the press, twenty percent of the displays will be devoted to works in clay; 25 percent jewelry; 20 percent fiber-related; 10 percent in glass, 15 percent in wood; and a final ten percent in miscellaneous items, such as baskets, forged iron, handmade paper and mixed media creations.

Some items to watch for include: hand-painted, personalized puzzles by Sharon Kallweit of Maine, for $15; precision tuned windchimes in gold or silver by Don Tracy of Mt. Tremper, NY, for $75.

Then there are violin brooches from Southampton, sweaters from Vermont, and Apache art from Auburn California. Not only that - Daniel Boone, a blacksmith from Greenbelt Maryland will forge, by fire, weather vanes and home accessories. And for the appetite, there will be all-natural foods, plus bbq'd chicken, Chinese, Mexican and Italian specialties.

All-in-all, the events are enough to lend new meaning to the old notion of New York as a melting pot!

For organizers, there's more to it than that, of course. The American Crafts Festivals at Lincoln Center were originally conceived as opportunities to provide support mechanisms, enabling crafts artists to continue their work, provide them with a dignified living, while offering the community what they termed unparalleled cultural events. Since their inception, these events have become among the most extensive and best attended crafts expositions in the United States, hosting over 4 million visitors since 1977.

The American Concern for Art and Craftsmanship, creators of the festival, is a Manhattan based non-profit group. Aside from the festivals, they also offer a free referral service to artisans interested in developing contacts with institutions, galleries and department stores in the New York metropolitan area.

For more information, call (212) 677-4627.

MARYLAND BLACKSMITH DANIEL BOONE displays some of his wares. Some 300 artisans, including several from Nassau County, have been selected by a panel of 6 professionals to present their works at the 7th Autumn Crafts Festival at Lincoln Center over the next two weekends.

Bill Staines, Of Prairie Home Companion,

will perform his brand of 'good-humored musical storytelling,' on Friday, August 31 at 7:30pm at "Our Times" coffee house at the Ethical Humanist Society of Long Island, 38 Old Country Road, Garden City.

"Captain Bill's" Establishes Itself As THE Waterside Dining and Entertainment Spot On Long Island

by Ellen Burke, Food Correspondent

More Special Events Are Planned For The Fall

The summer season has moved briskly for Captain Bill's since the innovations introduced by Janice August have been implemented.

Innovations such as the Monday through Friday "Sunset Dinners". "They're timed to coincide with the setting sun on the Great South Bay," said Janice August, "when the sun becomes orange and has a wonderful effect on the water. Of course, the price at $12.95 which includes everything from 'soup to nuts' is pretty wonderful too!"

"We've been establishing certain events which are giving our guests something more. We've made a point of having live music on the week-ends from 3 to 8 pm, and we've had tremendous enthusiasm for our Sunday Buffet Lunch", continued Janice. (The Sunday Brunch, by the way, includes unlimited mimosas and bloody marys with a complete buffet. At $16.95 it's one of the best values on Long Island.)

But more "events" are planned for the Fall and Winter season. An "Oktoberfest" is planned for six weeks, which will include special foods from Austria, Germany and Switzerland, along with an international selection of native wines, and of course, fabulous beers. The special European and American fare will be specially prepared by "Captain Bill's" and will incorporate seafood specialties as well.

A Tradition Continues

The tradition of the Yuletide Log will be continued at Captain Bill's this year, but with even more enhancements. "We plan to make the Holiday Season an event that will be known around the region" explained Janice August. "The decorations themselves will take three months just to design and make, and the selection of foods will cover the range of English, American, Scandinavian and European Holiday delicacies—it will be fantastic!"

Holiday Weddings

"We were delighted to book a number of Holiday Weddings which will focus around these special events—it was just a case where we offered more than just a "catered affair", concluded Janice.

It's Still Easy To Get To

Captain Bill's is still easy to get to. Located at the foot of Ocean Avenue in Bay Shore, it's summer views, turning into Fall views are worth the trip alone. It's just minutes from Southern Stat Parkway...so call Janice for a reservation at (516) 665-3677 or just "drop in".

"Captain Bill's" Reggae Festival drew a delighted crowd this summer. Here seen on the newly renovated "Captain's Walk", set right over the water in front of Captain Bill's.

Schooltime At Coliseum With 'Big Bird'

World Premiere Of Live Theatrical Performance Will Delight Kids

It's an offer no youngster can refuse: an invitation by Big Bird to "plug in your imagination" and play school!

And the curriculum is as diverse and diverted as the popular Sesame Street stars who populate 'Let's Play School,' the all-new production of Sesame Street Live. Reading, writing and arithmetic become child's play in the 90 minute musical production, coming to the Nassau Coliseum August 29 through September 2 for nine performances.

What's more, when the world premiere of the show opens, one of the cast members will be in familiar surroundings - because she's from Farmingdale.

By that, we're talking about Maureen Corbett, who plays 'Lavender Teen'. Maureen, who was born in Plainview, currently resides in Farmingdale. Trained in tap and jazz dancing for 20 years, as well as ballroom dancing, ballet, and various other skating and gymnastic specialties, she has performed with Nia Peeples at the Dunes Hotel in Las Vegas, the Flamingo Club in Tokyo, Japan, and the Grand Hyatt in New York City.

The show will be presented on the following times and dates: August 29/30, 7:30 pm; August 31, 11:00 am and 7:30 pm; Sept 1, 10:30 am, 2:00 pm, and 5:30 pm; and September 2, 1:00 pm and 4:30 pm.

'Let's Play School' brings a fresh, fun perspective to a favorite small fry activity through the eyes of the trusted television friends of the preschool set: Big Bird, Bert, Ernie, Cookie Monster, The Count, Grover and the rest. Although the school day includes such classroom staples as roll call, spelling, music hour, story time, numbers and show and tell, the fun extends beyond the every agenda.

Basically, the stars stretch their imaginations to explore ways to get to school, crossing the streets, and fire safety. The message goes even deeper - as the pupils learn how to evaluate what is most important to each individual.

THE WHOLE GANG FROM SESAME STREET will appear at the Nassau Coliseum from August 29 through September 2, in a live theatrical performance entitled "Let's Play School."

An extension of the original television show, Sesame Street Live, now in its 11th season, retains both the imaginative entertainment and educational aspects of the award-winning TV series, adding the excitement of a live stage show and extensive audience interaction and participation.

'Let's Play School' is a can't-sit-down show filled with loads of familiar Sesame Street songs. Professor Grover will take kids singing and dancing through an imaginary day on Sesame Street. Other Sesame friends rock through roll call, dance through spelling class, jam through music class and sing through story time.

'Let's Play School' was produced by VEE Corporation in conjunction with the Children's Television Workshop. Produced by Bob Shipstad, the script was written by 'Sesame Street' writer Nancy Sans.

Tickets for this live theatrical presentation are $11.00 and $9.50, with a $1.50 discount for children. On sale at the Nassau Coliseum box office and all Ticketmaster locations, tickets may be charged by calling 516-888-9000 or 212-307-7171.

Long Island Photography In Roslyn

Midwestern Photographer's Style Compared To Impressionists

Hal Fullerton, move over. Landscape painters, step aside. To the list of recent art shows featuring impressions of Long Island, the Nassau County Museum of Art has added one of their own - with an exhibition of the Long Island photography of Larry Kanfer, opening August 25th.

With hints of Claude Monet's "Impressions: Sunrise" series and a touch of George Seurat's pointillist style, say museum representatives, Mr. Kanfer's works are becoming recognized in the world of fine art. Specifically, his photography is seen as an intriguing substitute for fine art representation, using the camera rather than canvas and paintbrush.

In fact, many of the photographs on display have been chosen from Mr. Kanfer's new book, entitled On This Island - Photographs of Long Island. But the influences on the man are broader than our region. His first book, Prairiescapes, reveals the mid-western roots of this Illinois photographer.

Mr. Kanfer's focus has changed in the last two years, while he travelled with his vintage 1969 Cannon and Hasselblad cameras to the Long Island area. The "medium format" Hasselblad gave him sharp pictures with tight grain images and square format, enabling him to accurately capture details as minute as a blade of grass.

Although the scenery is different in the Midwest's prairies, the themes and images are somehow comparable, says Mr. Kanfer. "The light is similar (to Illinois)," he said. "There is a certain softness to it. It is a fairly flat area, and there is a lot of sky."

"A lot of my work has a similar appearance - but instead of black soil, there is the ocean."

This comment in particular highlights an important factor in Mr. Kanfer's work. Light is a key element - especially the softness of light, big skies and the designs in architecture, like shadows, lines and patterns. "There is a tension and release about the area," he said. "Just outside of New York City, all of a sudden there is beautiful nature and wide open spaces."

Larry Kanfer has been credited for examining and portraying territory familiar to the average person. At the Museum of Art, they call it the "ah-ha" experience of his photographs - a sudden reassessment of one's surroundings. For this, they say, Mr.

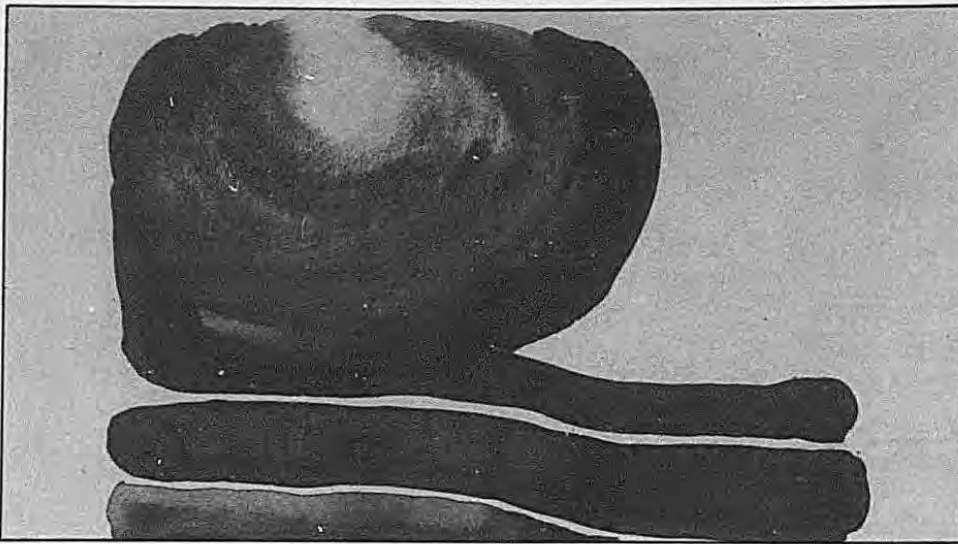

Kanfer's recreation of the East Coast atmosphere is highly successful.

Hopefully, it will also be widely viewed by local residents at his show.

Viewing hours at the Museum Annex of the Nassau County Museum of Art are from 12:00 noon to 4:00 pm, Tuesday through Sunday. Located at Northern Boulevard and Museum Drive, about 1/4 mile west of Glen Cove Road in Roslyn, the museum has free guided tours Wednesdays and Saturdays at 2:00 pm.

In addition, group opportunities can be arranged in advance, as well as a program of lectures and special events.

Celebrate the art and passion of art collection with the Heckscher Museum in Huntington, opening September 8th. The works include Georgia O'Keeffe's 1917 'Evening Star No. II', from a series of her Texas watercolors.

Contract Bridge By Steve Becker

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♦	2 ♠
3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥

Opening lead — king of spades.

Let's assume that on a given deal, your opponents bid and make four hearts, vulnerable. In that case, they score 700 points for winning the rubber and another 120 points for the trick score — a total of 820 points.

Now let's suppose you defeat the contract. In that event, you'd be either 100 or 920 points richer, depending on how you view such matters. For example, you could argue that the only actual gain is the 100 points you wrote down on the score sheet. Alternatively, you could argue that you had improved your position 920 points by depriving declarer of 820 points and by scoring 100 points for your side instead.

Regardless of which philosophy you adopt, the fact remains that there's still a big difference in scoring between a contract that's made and a contract that's defeated.

All of which serves as an introduction to today's deal, where if you defend against four hearts correctly, you defeat the contract, while if you misdefend, declarer gets home safely.

Two hurdles must be surmounted. One arises at trick one, when East should overtake the spade king with the ace in order to play the queen next. This is not a very challenging play, since East can easily afford to go up with the ace regardless of whether South has one spade, two spades, or even no spades at all.

The second hurdle arises when East plays a third spade at trick three. If South ruffs with the queen, West must not overruff with the king! If he does, declarer will have no trouble scoring the rest of the tricks. Instead, West should discard in the hope that East was dealt either the jack or ten of hearts, in which case South will later have to lose two trump tricks and go down one.

1990 Hurricane Season August-November Critical Period

How many storms are left for the 1990 hurricane season? No one knows for sure, but it may be that the worst is yet to come. While hurricane season runs from June through November, historical dates shows that nearly 90 percent of the hurricanes striking the United States in this century made landfall between August and November.

Last year, the Atlantic hurricane season produced seven hurricanes, all of which occurred during the critical August-November period. Hurricane Hugo, the most costly hurricane in history, began as a cluster of thunderstorms off the coast of Africa and attained hurricane status in the tropical Atlantic Ocean on Sept. 13. Hugo's path of devastation took it across the Leeward Islands, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico and South and North Carolina. Hurricane Hugo made its final landfall on the South Carolina coast on Sept. 21, with surface winds of 140 mph. Total damage estimates from Hugo are as high as $10 billion.

Hurricanes can cause severe damage to property, but insurance can provide financial protection against storm losses. According to Federal Insurance Administration (FIA) officials, most homeowners' policies contain coverage for wind damage, but flood damage, often the most destructive element of a hurricane, is specifically excluded. Many property owners discover their homeowners' policies do not cover flood losses only after a storm has hit. A separate policy must be purchased for financial protection from flooding.

Flood insurance coverage is available in any of nearly 18,000 communities nationwide that have agreed to participate in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) and it is not limited to those buildings in special flood hazard areas. In fact, the FIA officials say that about a third of flood claims paid have been for losses that occurred in areas identified as having only minimal to moderate flood risk.

Flood insurance can be purchased from any licensed property and casualty insurance agent. Policies are then processed through the federal government's NFIP or through one of the insurance companies who have signed arrangements with FIA, a part of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, to sell and service flood insurance under their own names.

There is normally a five-day waiting period before flood insurance policies become effective, so they must be purchased before storm warnings are issued.

Soil And Water Conservation District's Coloring Contest

The New York Association of Conservation Districts is sponsoring a statewide coloring contest to celebrate fifty years of conserving New York's soil and water. One child from each of three age groups has the opportunity to win a $50.00 savings bond!

Anyone who lives in Nassau County and is between the ages of 0 and 12 years old can obtain a coloring contest entry from the Nassau County Soil and Water Conservation District. Age group classifications are 0-4 years, 5-8 years, and 9-12 years. Completed entries must be submitted to the district office by September 15, 1990.

One winner from each age group will be chosen and entered into the state wide competition. The New York Association of Conservation Districts will then judge each county's entries and choose a final winner from each age group. Winners will receive a $50.00 savings bond.

Here's your chance to represent Nassau County in state wide competition. Show your coloring ability and at the same time support soil and water conservation efforts.

For further information or to obtain an entry, call, write or visit the Nassau County Soil and Water Conservation District at: 1425 Old Country Road, Building J Plainview, New York 11803
