Gym Door Accident Sparks Local Concern

The type of freak accident that happened in a Melville gym and put a 9-year-old girl in critical condition last week should not happen in any of the Hicksville school facilities, a district administrator said Thursday.

Deanna Moon suffered severe injuries when she was crushed by a folding wooden partition as it was closing in the Sunquam Elementary School gym.

Thomas A. Shaw, director of facilities and operations for the Hicksville School District said that the partitions in Hicksville's gyms are reversible at any point of travel—the Melville wall was not.

Another safety feature in Hicksville's gyms, according to Shaw, is a slip clutch drive, which, when operated properly, can be stopped by approximately 40 pounds of pressure. He also said that there is no track on the floor which gives a person the opportunity to push the door sideways.

"There is no floor track for it to be locked into," Shaw said.

Also, as a result of the Melville incident, the district is looking into the

Balloon-Spangled Banner Welcomes Troops

By Rita Langdon

It's a grand old flag, and a big one, too. Hicksville soldiers returning home to see the yellow ribbons and parades in their honor, will also be treated to a 30-foot-by-15-foot American flag—made of 572 balloons.

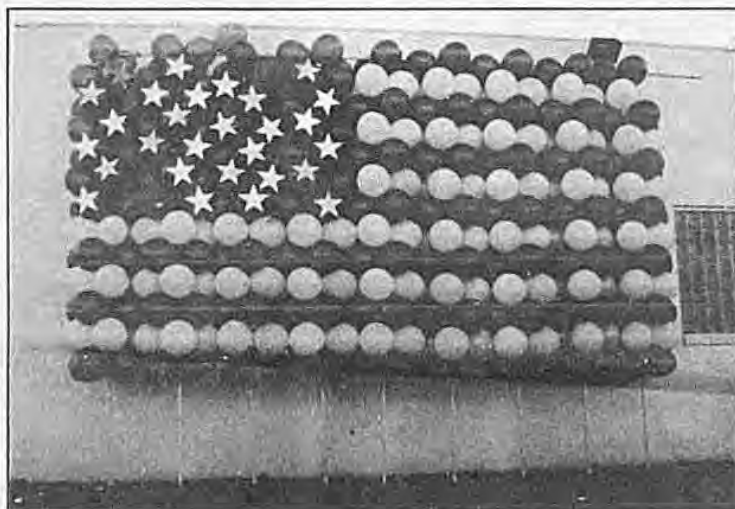

This balloon-spangled banner is the creation of local businessman Paul Caracappa, owner and head decorator of The Balloon Construction Company on Heitz Place, who spent 18 hours making the flag.

The flag, which was attached to the wall of Caracappa's neighbor, Hart-to-Hart DJs, was officially unveiled this month.

Caracappa said that project took him and his helpers 18 hours to make and that the flag must be maintained daily. The flag is illuminated by spotlights and can be seen from the surrounding area, especially by drivers and pedestrians traveling west on Woodbury Road.

"This is my show of support for the troops," said Caracappa. "It's the right thing to do."

Many people have stopped by to admire the gigantic flag. He said that area residents have been very supportive and that one resident brought him a cup of coffee and sandwich while he was working late one night on the project. "One lady even gave me a hug," he said. "I get a charge out of people stopping by. They honk their horns and flash their lights."

The balloons were blown up and assembled in columns on poles. Daily maintenance is necessary as the cold weather and wind often deflate the latex balloons. Caracappa's next project is to construct the words "Welcome Home" in balloons.

"I'm just doing my part. Other people buy flags, I make them," Caracappa said.

Fire Department Plans For 100th Anniversary

Seeks Memorabilia For Centennial F.D. Journal

By Rita Langdon

The Hicksville Fire Department is setting the groundwork for an elaborate week-long celebration in honor of its 100th anniversary in 1993.

Committees have already been organized to begin the plans for a carnival, block party and parade which will attract people from all over the Island.

"We're still in the early stages," said Third Assistant Chief Karl Schweitzer. "We wanted to start early because it takes a long time to get all the history," he said referring to the department's plan to publish a 100-page journal featuring a complete history of the department.

Schweitzer said that the public's help is desperately needed to find memorabilia—photographs, old newspaper articles, and other information concerning the fire department. All material will be returned upon request. A Special Events hotline has been set up for residents to call: 933-6461.

The events are planned for the summer months, but June is being targeted. The fire department is also hoping to host the New York State Drill which is held every year with 75 departments participating. Schweitzer said that the drill is usually held in upstate, New York, but occasionally it is held on Long Island.

As for the parade, Hicksville is planning to have the Hicksville, Ohio, fire department lead the procession. Hicksville, NY firefighters attended Ohio's anniversary celebration last year. Parade time is being considered to be about 4 or 5 p.m.

The Hicksville department would also like to have surrounding departments—for example Farmingdale, Levittown, Syosset, Jericho, East Meadow—participate in the parade, as well as local organizations.

"We're trying to get the whole community involved in this effort," said First Assistant Chief Pat Scanlon.

A carnival is also being considered and will feature booths for local organizations to promote their clubs and sell items.

Chairman of the 100th anniversary celebration is Ex-Chief Jerry O'Brien, co-chairman is Commissioner William Schuckmann. Pat Scanlon, who will be chief at the time of the celebration, oversees the entire project.

In other department matters, Tony Wigdzinski was sworn in as chief of the department at a ceremony held on March 2 in Queens Village. This is Wigdzinski's second year as chief. Also installed were First Assistant Chief Patrick Scanlon, Second Assistant Chief Albert Merk, Third Assistant Chief Karl Schweitzer.

Also, the fire department's Floodlight Heavy Rescue Co. 8 celebrated its 25 year anniversary at a dinner held last Saturday at the fire house. There are approximately 30 members in Company 8.

To show support for the troops, the Briggs Street Independent Engine Company No. 2 placed more than 100 flags along the top of the fire house, creating what Third Assistant Fire Chief Karl Schweitzer calls "The East End Embassy."

The flags were placed about 1 1/2-2 feet apart, with red, white and blue lights also strung along the building top.

The project was done immediately after the war started, but bad weather made the flags look like they've been in a war of their own, so the firefighters redid the top last week. The flags and lights will remain in place until all the troops come home, said firefighter Richard Schmidt, a member of the company.

Members of the company who helped with the project include Capt. Douglas Cucchi, firefighters Schmidt, Michael Kretz, Dave Daily, Dave Voight and others.

The fire station is located on the corner of Briggs Street and Woodbury Road.

Stores Damaged By Fire To Get Face-Lift

A group of West John Street stores partially damaged by fire in November will be completely restored and receive a new face-lift.

The stores, located on West John Street and Kuhl Avenue, include the West End Pub, Steve's Place luncheonette and Ahead Haircutting.

The fire was confined to the center area which was rented to the West John Street Deli. The 2,400 square foot store area where the deli was located should be completely restored in four weeks and is currently available for lease, according to Spiegel Associates, the site's owner.

"Because of the store's footage, Spiegel Associates will be leasing it as either one or two units depending on the tenant's or tenants' requirements," said Arthur D. Sanders, president.

In addition to restoring the center, Spiegel is giving it a face-lift. A new forest green canopy, which will be lit up at night, is currently being installed and will run the entire length of the strip. Spiegel is also constructing a modern facade and restoring all the exterior brick work.

Ellen Saleh Was First, But Will She Last?

By Cathy Greenfield

A Westbury woman, hoping to win the furniture pictured on the cover of IKEA's 1991 catalogue, began camping out at the furniture's store entrance on Friday morning.

Ikea, located at the the Broadway Mall in Hicksville, held its grand opening yesterday, Wednesday, March 20, and was scheduled to award its first customer a wall unit and living room furniture. (The Illustrated went to press Monday).

"When I got the catalogue and saw those blue and white striped couches on the front cover, I knew I had to have them," said Ellen Stoneberg-Saleh. The catalogue was mailed to almost every home on Long Island.

Ellen has been camping out, on the ground, in a sleeping bag against IKEA's front entrance since 10 a.m. on Friday. She takes turns waiting at the door with her husband, Ali, while one of them runs home to shower and eat.

Staff at IKEA gave her shish-kabob and biscuits on Friday and let her use the restroom inside the building.

Jean Marc Claizer, manager at IKEA's Hicksville store, said its not uncommon for customers to camp out at IKEA's grand openings. When the furniture store opened in California, the first customers camped out a week. At their Elizabeth, New Jersey store, someone camped for three days. Hicksville is IKEA's 91st store world-wide, the first in New York State.

Ellen said that she had checked all last week to see if anyone beat her to the door. After she cleared her personal schedule, she decided to begin camping out. Ellen said she knew of IKEA's policy and she called the Hicksville store to see if it was also going to give away furniture to its first customer. She added that she already owns some IKEA products.

On Saturday afternoon, the Illustrated learned that another woman, Kelly Weiss, of Pennsylvania, also came by with her camping gear in the car.

In an interview, Kelly said, "My brother's friend won the furniture in the Pittsburgh store." Kelly is here on spring break from West Virginia University and she said, "Even though spring break is over tomorrow [Sunday] I'd been willing to miss classes just to get the furniture because I'm moving to New York in June and need the furniture for an apartment." She said Saturday that she probably will return and camp out with Ellen to win the second prize, a leather sofa. Kelly said she also has IKEA furniture—a desk and bookshelf.

Wednesday kicked off IKEA's grand opening celebrations which will last for five days. More than 125,000 visitors are expected during those five days.

Fenton To Recommend New Budget Proposals

By Peggy Theis

Schools Superintendent Dr. Catherine Fenton was scheduled to recommend at last night's board meeting that the 1991-92 budget not be increased over the current year's austerity budget which was $49,872,182.

In an interview on March 15, she said she would also present two separate propositions to cover the costs of non-mandated transportation. One proposition would return busing to the pre-austerity levels and decrease the mileage requirement for high school students from 2 miles to 1 1/2 miles at a total cost of $1,217,285.

The second proposition would increase senior citizen funding to $50,000. In 1989-90, seniors received an allocation of $8,000.

The meeting was scheduled for yesterday, March 20, at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

The budget review process has moved at a snail's pace since getting underway in early January. To date, the board has partially reviewed two of the six budget codes. According to Fenton, in the interview, the district "must get back on schedule." In discussing her proposal, Fenton said "we've made extensive cuts" and urged that the community attend the March 20 meeting in order to hear the presentation in a "year unlike any other" because of Governor Cuomo's proposed state aid cuts, which for Hicksville total $5.8 million.

The Citizens Budget Advisory Committee (CBAC), who have been meeting since November, were scheduled to address the board on March 20 as well.

At the board's meeting on March 6, input from the CBAC centered around concerns with bus transportation and an internal auditor.

Jaco Transportation

The board had tabled a motion at its prior meeting on Feb. 26 to extend its bus contract with Jaco at a 1 percent per year increase for a 3-year period. At that time, Trustee Arlene Rudin had indicated she wanted to evaluate the entire contract before making a decision. Residents then asked the board to take into favorable consideration the merits of Jaco in awarding the extension. Since February 1990, Jaco has provided all regular in-district busing, as well as service to five private out-of-district schools.

On March 6, Board President Carol Wolf motioned that the board extend the Jaco contract at the 1 percent per year increase. CBAC Chairman Thomas Farrell interrupted to say that his group had a "problem" with the district's bid process for busing. Administration and the board agreed that some bus contracts needed further review and savings were possible in tightening routing for all contracts.

Farrell pointed out exceptionally large costs for some private-school transportation. Assistant Superintendent for Business William Hall said the district did not rent buses for these students but purchased "seats" on buses that serviced several districts. Hall said the district was looking into a consortium with other districts that could substantially lower these costs. The Transportation Code, which will not be reviewed until a later meeting, is difficult to estimate, according to Hall, because busing needs are not known to the district until April, when transportation requests must be filed.

CBAC member Joseph Leo said the group felt that perhaps the Jaco contract was "too high in the first place." Farrell persisted and suggested that the board take a one-year contract in order not to be locked into three years. Hall said the 1 percent increase per year was based on such an extension and a one-year extension would not be at the same rate. Rudin said that other bus companies dealing with the district had asked for increases based on the Consumer Price Index.

Trustee William Bennett said there was a "big risk" in putting the contract out to bid. However, CBAC member Herbert Ranschburg said that with the economy in a downward trend, the CBAC believed lower bids were possible.

Bennett, citing the district's problems in

Bands, Clubs Sought For Troop Parade

Bands and local clubs are being sought to participate in a Hicksville parade and rally to honor U.S. troops on Sunday, April 7.

The event—sponsored by the Mid Island Support Group for Operation Desert Storm and supported by Hicksville Veterans Post 3211—invites organizations to march at noon from the post hall, 320 South Broadway, north on Broadway to John F. Kennedy Memorial Park, located in the center of Hicksville. The parade route is approximately one mile.

In commemoration of their theme, "Til They All Come Home", the group will be putting a yellow ribbon imprinted with the name of each local service person serving in Operation Desert Storm on the large tree located at the park. These ribbons will remain in place until that service person or his or her family removes it. "We would be honored to include all service persons of whom we are notified," a Support Group member said.

Families interested in having their son or daughter's name on the memorial tree can contact Lynn at 433-5738 or Joyce at 932-3380. Soldiers who have already arrived home at the time of the rally are invited to be honored guests. Call the above numbers for information.

All are encouraged to bring American flags, banners and yellow ribbons to the rally. Residents are also asked to bring bells to the event. (President Bush said that all bells will ring at 3 p.m. on April 7.) Local dignitaries are expected to attend. The rally will be held rain or shine.

The Mid Island Support Group, which accepts members from the surrounding areas, has received a donation from the Hicksville Kiwanis Club to help purchase a banner for the Mid Island Support Group. Hicksville veterans have also contributed funds. EJM Entertainment of Hicksville is donating music for the rally, Hicksville-Jericho Rotary Club is donating the lights for the tree.

Hicksville Chamber of Commerce is also working closely with the support group. Anyone interested in contributing to this effort should contact Joyce Jurgensen, support group leader, at 932-3380.

TO YOUR HEALTH

By RICHARD H. BLAU, M.D.

Rheumatoid Arthritis Affects All Body Organs

Rheumatoid arthritis strikes three out of every ten people with arthritis. Most people believe arthritis is a disease of the joints, but rheumatoid arthritis affects almost every organ in the body. A patient with this form of arthritis can have problems with the skin, lungs, heart, nerves, kidneys, spleen, eyes, muscles, blood vessels, as well as the tendons and bursa.

People affected with rheumatoid arthritis may initially suffer from early morning pain and stiffness. The joints may become swollen, hot, or reddened. These symptoms are the result of an inflammation occurring in the body. This inflammation is the body's way of fighting the arthritis. Unfortunately, after long periods of uncontrolled inflammation, fatigue and joint damage may occur. If you have any of these symptoms you should consult your physician. Early diagnosis and treatment may prevent many of the problems associated with longstanding arthritis.

The diagnosis is only made after a careful study of the symptoms, a comprehensive physical examination, blood tests and occasionally x-rays. Fortunately, physicians can successfully control the inflammation and are capable of reducing the pain, discomfort, and possibly prevent the deformity associated with rheumatoid arthritis.

Your rheumatologist (a specialist in arthritis) may use anti-inflammatory medications, prescribe personalized exercises, advise you on techniques of reduction of emotional stress, and begin you on a proper diet. All play a major role in the treatment of arthritis.

Arthritis strikes one out of seven people. Learn the facts. Call for your complimentary copy of "The Joint Approach - An Arthritis Overview."

Contests Teach Students Special Skills

This week we take a look at the many interesting contests and programs that aid Hicksville parochial students in their studies. Each of the parochial schools annually sponsor book contests, spelling, math and geography bees, public speaking contests and a number of other programs which help students learn new skills. Hicksville has four parochial schools—St. Ignatius Loyola, Trinity Lutheran, Holy Family and Our Lady of Mercy.

St. Ignatius students in Miss Scheel's first grade class at Saint Ignatius Loyola School recently completed their Reading Stars Book Contest. The purpose of the contest was to encourage the children to read. The children had to read at least 10 books in a four-week period to complete the contest. Certificates were presented to all the children who completed the contest. Special prizes were awarded to the top four readers: First place: Scott Bryan—260 books, Second Place: Peter Sluka—240 books, Third Place: Melissa Navia—183 books, Fourth Place: Michael Albinski—165 books.

ST. IGNATIUS' January students of the Month: Cynthia Reinhard, Adam Przybyszewski, Traci Barton, Charles Vallone, Lauren Adia, Vincent Carroll, Jennifer Manley, Meaghan Kenny, Jessica Lap.

SPEECH CONTEST WINNERS: Our Lady of Mercy's Alison Burke (8C), third place, Michael Intindoli (8A) second place, and Jessica Sheehy (8B), first place.

Math Bee Winners

In other St. Ignatius school news, grades 4 through 6 recently participated in a math bee with five representatives from each class.

The participants demonstrated great mathematical skills as they progressed through the rounds. The following children were the winners: First Place—Omar Syed, grade 6; Second Place—Joanne Smith, grade 6; Third Place—Christopher Fingerhut, grade 6; Fourth Place: Cydney Hayes, grade 5.

These children will go on to participate in a Zone Bee at Our Lady of Mercy School on Tuesday, March 26 at 3:15 p.m.

Students of the Month

St. Ignatius Students of the Month for January were honored during February. The students were chosen for their effort and achievement at an assembly. The students are class 1-1: Cynthia Reinhard, 1-2: Adam Przybyszewski, Traci Barton, 2-1: Charles Vallone, Lauren Adia, 2-2: Vincent Carroll, Jennifer Manley, 3: Meaghan Kenny, Jessica Lap.

Operation Safe Child

Saint Ignatius School recently participated in the Operation Safe Child program. Officer John Bienkowski of the Nassau County Police Department taught the first grade about safety with strangers. The program is designed to acquaint the children with appropriate responses in situations which involve their personal safety.

Russian Visitors

Maria Jikharena, a teacher from the Soviet Union, visited the sixth graders at Saint Ignatius Loyola School.

The class had studied the history and geography of the Soviet Union so they had many questions to ask. They were most interested in how teenagers in the Soviet Union compared to American teenagers. The students learned a great deal from Ms. Jikharena and she was impressed with their knowledge and background. The class is now writing to Russian students. They hope to develop new friendships.

Trinity Welcomes Grad Home

Trinity Lutheran School welcomed home a former graduate who participated in Operation Desert Storm by designing a special banner in his honor. "The Welcome Home" message is being displayed from a classroom window.

Mr. Spring's homeroom class sent Marine Lance Corporal Mark Mullen, a 1985 Trinity graduate, a care package, during the war.

Yellow ribbons, handmade by Trinity's school nurse, Jean Wittig, were hung on trees and each classroom door.

Holy Family Pen Pals

The second grade students at Holy Family have been showing support for the troops in Saudi Arabia by writing letters. Miss Burke's class has received a number of letters from soldiers while Miss Tobin's class has found a special pen pal—Hicksville's own Darren LoPardo. The children sent him a letter to show support and in return he sent back to each child a beautiful postcard of Saudi Arabia, with a response to each of their letters.

The first graders at Holy Family have joined Scholastic News' "Nation of Neighbors" Pen Pal program. The pupils have already exchanged letters, drawings and photographs with Pen Pals in California. One of the most interesting facts that the California pen pals told the children is that they attend school year round and they also like many of the same things that other students do on the east coast.

"In addition to making new friends, we feel that this enrichment program will enable Woodland Avenue School honored its PTA Founders Day dinner guests in a special ceremony last month. The honorees include (from left) Joan Weinberg, Eileen Hoffman and Alice Boyle. Here they are congratulated by Woodland's principal Dr. Manus J. Clancy and PTA president Susan DeFreitas. The Hicksville Council of PTAs honored 35 people from all schools at a dinner on Feb. 28.

our students to learn lessons about the diversity and commonality of life in different parts of the United States," said one of the schools' teachers.

"They'll learn new facts about their own community and state as they dig for geographic information to share. They'll improve their writing skills as they use writing, spelling and handwriting and language for a specific, real world purpose."

National Geography Bee

Our Lady of Mercy School fourth

through eighth graders participated in a nation-wide geography bee under the sponsorship of the National Geographic Society. This organization provides the questions and answers for the bee.

The National Geography Bee was developed in response to a growing concern about the lack of geographic knowledge among young people in the United States. With a first-place prize of $25,000 college scholarship and other prizes totaling more than $100,000 in additional scholarships, cash and classroom materials, the Bee is designed to encourage the teaching and study of geography.

There are three levels of this geography competition—school, state and national. The first phase of the competition—the school bee—was won by a fifth-grade student,

Debra Sands. She must now complete a written examination to be forwarded to the National Geographic Society headquarters in Washington, D.C. to be rated. Those who receive high schools will be invited to participate in the state bee to be held in Albany in April.

The other participants in the geography bee were Albert Abonado, Larissa Budinick, Edward Cafiero, Andrew Cherry, Justin D'Agostino, Pamela DelaPena, Christopher Gorman, Declan Healy, James Idiat, Brian Jingleleski, Nicole Ruzolo, Maria Saccardi, Thomas Tiedemann, Camille Veneziano, Lucian Veneziano, Margaret Watt, Maria Welk and Michael Wyer.

Speech Contest

Our Lady of Mercy School was the topic of its second speech contest. The seventh and eighth graders prepared for the contest in many ways. Their speeches were advertisements or commercials enticing either a person or an inanimate object associated with the school to come join the family at Our Lady of Mercy.

The third place winner was Alison Burke from 8C. She was a textbook who told other textbooks that the students at Mercy would appreciate the concepts and ideas they had to offer.

The second place winner was Michael Intindoli from 8A. He gave a great sales talk about Mercy, The Land of Opportunity.

The first place winner was Jessica Sheehy of 8B. She represented herself as Sister Joanne II, complete with costume. She interviewed an interested mother and potential student.

The judges were Sister Maureen, Miss O'Brien and Mrs. Anderson.

Other speech contest participants were 7A's Gerry Galvin, Sally Ann Yodice, 7B's Kathleen Brolly, Maria Welk, 8A's Michael Intindoli, Jessica Scorsese, 8B's Lynn David, Jessica Sheehy, and 8C's Alison Burke and Camille Veneziano.

the past 18 months with the arrest of bus driver Robert Izzo on sex abuse charges, said the district had a "bitter pill to bite" with bus companies and had to be "very careful." The board then unanimously approved the 3-year extension, which Wolf said was "researched in depth" and was a "very good deal."

Internal Auditor

In reviewing Code 1000, Superintendent Catherine Fenton noted that in accordance with a recommendation from the CBAC additional monies were included in order to attract a well-qualified Internal Claims Auditor, a position which has been unfilled. The CBAC, however, explained that their recommendation was for the position of an internal auditor, with an estimated salary between $40-60,000.

Debate then centered on the organizational position of such an auditor, as well as the type of duties to be performed and whether the internal auditor had to be civil servant or specially certified. Rudin questioned whether the internal auditor could report directly to the board and/or be hired on a contractual basis. Farrell said the internal auditor would provide assurance that funds were being prudently spent and Ransburg said such an auditor would be "worth his weight in gold."

Hall expressed a concern with how the existing business office staff might react to hearing the CBAC's recommendation that an internal auditor be hired "when there is a position on staff already. They might interpret it as a criticism of their work." Farrell pointed out that nobody was saying the financial area was in "dire straits", but that an internal auditor could address concerns in all departments, including purchasing.

Wolf polled the board and found that all were interested in pursuing the matter, but more information was required. Superintendent of Schools Dr. Catherine Fenton, indicating that her successor would have to decide any organizational changes, said she would not be able to help the board in this area.

Planned Balance

The defeated 3-1 vote of Feb. 26 which would have authorized a reduction in the 1990-91 budget by $1 million by eliminating the Planned Balance, was brought back to the floor by Wolf, who asked that the board "rescind the rejection of the motion." The motion was then passed as Trustee William Collins—who had been absent for the first vote—voted affirmatively. Bennett, the only negative vote on both occasions, again attempted to receive guarantees from the board that the $1 million would be returned to the taxpayers as a district on austerity cannot have a planned balance. Wolf, however, indicated that the $1 million in question was surplus from the 1989-90 budget and was not raised by taxpayers under austerity. The Unreserved Fund Equity will not be increased by the $1 million.

Budget Vote

The 1991-92 budget vote and election of three board trustees is scheduled for May 22. However, at the Hicksville Community Council meeting on March 7, Assemblyman Fred Parola said it was "crucial" for Long Island school districts to push back budget votes until June because of the unlikelihood of a State budget before some time in May. In addition to decisions on state aid cuts, possible changes in mandates to school districts may then be in place which could affect local school budgets. The School Board has not yet publicly commented on this.

Future Meetings

The board will meet with the CBAC again on March 20 at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. The board's regular monthly meeting will be held on March 27 at 8:15.

Youth Council Needs Assistance

To The Editor:

The Hicksville Youth Council needs your help. The governor's budget was released recently and as it stands right now the Youth Council will be cut 55% starting in June of this year. This reduction in funds will reduce the state-wide amount of 13 cents per child a week to a ridiculous 5 cents per child per week.

The Youth Council has been delivering concrete services in the areas of recreation, counseling, tutoring, and vocational placement, to the youth of Hicksville and their families for the past 19 years. The Youth Council is the only agency in the Hicksville area that provides these types of services free of charge to our young people.

The idea behind the Youth Council is to provide positive structured alternatives to fill the idle time that these young people sometimes have. Basically, we offer the youngsters the alternative to "Hanging Out." If the types of service that we offer to the young people of this area are taken away, the young people will have very little to do with their spare time, which would make them prime candidates to get involved with the Juvenile Justice System.

To compound the matters even more, the Hicksville School District has been operating this year on an austerity budget. Which means that the parents must pay for any extracurricular activities that the young people might want to get involved in after school. Our agency has been trying to fill this void by offering structured programs where the young people can interact with their peers in a supervised environment. This year the Hicksville Youth Council has had over 800 young people registered in the program and receiving some type of service. If these types of services stopped what would these young people do with their idle time?

We at the Hicksville Youth Council are desperately asking for your help to try to get the budget restored. You as concerned citizens and taxpayers can do this by calling and writing your local legislators voicing your disapproval of the budget, and by asking them to restore the monies back to youth services. If you should need phone numbers or addresses of these officials please call the Youth Council at 822-KIDS.

Please help us to continue to provide our young people with the positive structured programming that they so desperately need in these troubled times. There has to be a better way than by cutting funding to these most needed services. If you have any questions about this crisis or the type of services that we offer to the Hicksville Community, please feel free to call the Youth Council at 822-KIDS, and ask to speak to Tom Bruno. He will be more than happy to answer any questions pertaining to this problem. Thank you for your support. Please help us to help our youth.

Response To Letter

To The Editor:

Mrs. Bennardo should apologize for stirring up resentment in Hicksville. [Letter from Dorrie Bennardo, March 14 issue]. She doesn't hear any echo. She hears a chant, an angry chant from every other section of Hicksville, including a quiet number of residents who have to be quiet because they are afraid of retaliation from the self-proclaimed "nightmare on East Street."

Can it be that the rest of Hicksville is wrong and Mrs. Bennardo is right? Why does the closing of East Street always come up? Does anyone really believe that one day everyone in Hicksville woke up and decided to close East Street?

Mrs. Bennardo would like everyone to believe that this is about innocent children and hazardous roads. But we all know that it is about a scam, a political scam. It is about power and corruption. It is definitely not about ethics and morals, for these are two virtues about which the people who are behind this scam have apparently forgotten.

Why are the people chanting? Why are the people angry? It is because of conflicts of interest, personal vendettas, secret agencies, video surveillance, attempted intimidations, kitchen maps and questionable contract negotiations?

Mrs. Bennardo wants to know why East Street should be closed. Perhaps it is because of dangerous asbestos, rodents, cockroaches, age of building, costly repairs and non-accessibility to the handicapped. Perhaps it is also because of austerity, high taxes and underutilization of the building.

In closing, all the children of Hicksville deserve a good education whether they attend Dutch or Fork, Willet or Woodland, Old Country Road or Lee, Burns and East. They all deserve the same fair treatment.

No one holds a grudge against any of Hicksville's children. It is just a shame that Mrs. Bennardo and her supporters continue to use the children as pawns in a game of power.

Laura Will Be Missed

To The Editor:

Just a note to say goodbye to a dear friend of Hicksville. Laura, owner of the Jolly Swagman Restaurant on West Nicholas Street. She has closed the restaurant and joined her husband Win in St. Eustatius in the Bahamas. Laura was such a gracious hostess. The business grew to bring friends and neighbors together. Everyone came to enjoy her company. May she and her husband enjoy their new business at Kings Well Resort on St. Eustatius.

March 10 was the last day and many friends came by to wish her well.

A Letter from Lalubelle...

...Have you been in a high school lately and does it seem chaotic compared to the high school you remember from your young days? ...To me it does, since the school I attended, and most of the others I knew about, had such strict rules about so many things. ...We had students who were hall monitors all along the halls and we walked on the right. ...Our schoolrooms had two doors and we always went in the rear and out the front which helped with good circulation of traffic. ...We had locker rooms, not lockers along the halls, which did make for less confusion—but I suppose along the halls may be a better use of space and leave the old locker room for a class room. ...Perfect attendance was praised highly and lateness was a mortal sin. ...We all believed that being sent to detention for some infraction would be listed on our permanent record and follow us to the grave and completely ruin our life and chosen careers. ...And no girl ever wore slacks to school except on maybe some field day. ...WE wore sloppy joe sweaters and pleated skirts and saddle shoes—or maybe we even wore heels to school, especially on tea dance day (in case you never heard of a tea dance, it was held in the gym after school and we danced to records and girls even danced with girls if necessary and they served punch, not tea)—must have been named for the hour not the beverage—but it was very popular in my school and we all went. ...It was depression time and the school was on a tight budget, so they couldn't afford enough frogs for the whole biology class, so we watched the teacher do the dissection—thank goodness! ...And they couldn't afford enough gym teachers for everyone, so seniors didn't have to take gym if they didn't want to. ...As far as what goes on in the classes, I remember being one of the two girls taking higher math and I hope that girls have changed since those old days. ...and today, the kids are taking courses in high school that we took well into college, and that's great. ...With their sweat suits and their jeans and their strange hairdos—and in spite of their bad press—most of today's kids are special and caring and ambitious and really good!!!

Yours, Lalubelle

Selling Out

Now the DOW has risen close to all time highs. The over the counter market and the S&P 500 have topped previous highs. You are worried because the war is over and the economy is poor. Should you sell out, take your profit, and go to the sidelines? There is no firm answer to your question. Each of us must make up his or her mind. It is not an easy decision. This column will give you some rules to guide you in your decision.

Our system at J.P. Frey Associates is to let the market decide when we should get out. It takes monitoring. We advocate the establishment of sell points. A sell point is the price at which you sell. It is a calculation based on a person's tolerance for risk. When you first purchase a stock, you set the limit that you are willing to lose with that stock. In case no one told you, you can lose money with stocks. They do decline, they do not just go up. The percentage loss can be established at 5 percent or 10 percent or 15 percent, depending on your tolerance. Tell your broker immediately, when you buy, to sell at the point. This is called a stop loss order. We have discussed this system before in these columns.

As the stock climbs in value as many stocks have done recently, you raise the sell point and tell your broker. Keep doing this until one day you are sold out of the stock. Simple, is it not? We do this for all individual stocks. Mutual funds require a more elaborate system.

Many people in the market are unable by their make-up to take a loss. No matter what the reason for this, those people should not be investing stocks at all. Some people are afraid that they will sell and the stock will go higher. Our advice is to be glad you had a profit, you cannot go broke that way. Let someone else get a little. Remember, pigs lose.

Forget trying to time the whole market when you buy stock. No matter what, there are losers in up markets and vice versa. If you try to focus on the whole market, buy mutual funds.

Ok, it is time for a few rules to guide you as to when to sell IF you do not use the system described above.

Rule 1. When you realize that you have made a mistake, sell. You will make mistakes. Do not let your ego get in the way. Sell.

Rule 2. If a stock has advanced up for awhile and it has a further sharp up spike, it is probably the time to sell.

Rule 3. When the Price Earnings Ratio (stock price divided by your company's earnings) gets too high, or loses value, consider a sale. What is a high PE? 50 percent higher than the S&P 500 PE. (In your financial pages).

Rule 4. If news comes out on your stock and you have a disaster, sell immediately and sell at the market. If you have established sell

Home Purchasing Help for Volunteer Firefighters

Legislation designed to help volunteer firefighters purchase homes in the communities they help protect by providing affordable home ownership to those who have served a number of years in one fire company has been announced by state assemblyman Michael Balboni.

The proposed bill would grant preferences to volunteer firefighters who are first-time home buyers and who wish to purchase their home within affordable home ownership developments. Volunteers must have continuous service with the same fire company or department for three years or more, and must be certified by the fire company's chief as an active member in good standing.

Preparing For A Police Career Beyond 2,000

By A. Anthony Miller

Floral Park resident Donald Kinne earned a degree in mechanical engineering in 1986 at Hofstra. On March 22, he graduates from the New York State Police Academy in Albany, where he's spent the last six months of his life studying to be a state trooper.

Melissa Y. White of West Hempstead needed just one more credit before she could get a bachelor's degree in criminal justice at the New York Institute of Technology in Old Westbury. She, too, is one of the 147 to be graduated from the 168th academy class of troopers March 22.

The State Police—they're called troopers—have been many things to many people since the organization was established in 1917. On Long Island, where they re-established a presence in 1980 as Troop L, now based in Farmingdale, they're largely traffic cops, who patrol the state parkway system in Nassau and Suffolk. They co-exist and work closely with county and many village departments.

More than 100 of their detectives—called investigators—are now assigned to help city police in the war against drug-related crime. In many communities upstate, troopers provide the entire range of police services.

Troopers, like other police agencies, perform patrol work, conduct investigations, operate police stations, direct traffic, respond to bank alarms, check buildings for burglaries, and catch criminals. They interview complainants and witnesses, help people who are injured in home and highway mishaps, execute search and arrest warrants and interrogate suspects.

The salary for today's state trooper starts at $24,308, jumps to $28,979 after one year, and after four years, reaches $41,729. Promotional opportunities, which raise these incomes, exist to the ranks of investigator, sergeant, lieutenant, captain, major, inspector, colonel and superintendent.

The troopers operate 191 stations throughout the state, including ones in Valley Stream and Lake Success, have more than four thousand uniformed and investigative members, and are assisted by almost 700 civilians, such as typists, clerks, mechanics, and the like.

To be a trooper, an applicant, who must pass a competitive written exam, cannot be less than 21 nor more than 29 years old at time of appointment, must be a citizen of the United States, have a valid driver license, and 60 college credit hours (of which 30 will be waived for military experience). Eyesight must be in good order, and weight must be in proportion to height. A background check is performed, and conviction for a felony and certain misdemeanors automatically disqualifies.

After 24 weeks of training at the academy—the week runs from Sunday evening through Friday afternoon, during which time the recruits may not leave—another 12 weeks are spent in field training and evaluation under direction of a seasoned trooper.

Benefits? Beside the 12 annual paid holidays, the state allows 15 days annual vacation, three paid personal leave days, 13 sick days, health, dental and optical insurance, and retirement at half pay after 20 years.

What kind of training does the academy provide? Superintendent Constantine recently permitted 18 journalists to visit the academy for an intensive, two-day look at the curriculum and meet with the recruits. Reporters learned and saw how troopers attended classes in constitutional, penal, criminal procedure and traffic laws—tests are given—and how they live—in dormitories, two to a room—and how they learn the rules and regulations of a police agency.

Of the 1,040 hours in the academy, the recruit will spend 40 learning how to run a police station, 68 in patrol and emergency operations, 20 in how—and when—to effect an arrest, 18 on the rules of physical evidence, 44 in DWI enforcement, 28 in speed enforcement—including proper use of radar—and 40 in accident investigation.

Instructors are drawn from the ranks of troopers throughout the state, who augment the 30 regular members of the academy staff, teach those courses with which they're most familiar, and later return to their own stations.

Of particular interest is the 72 hours spent in public and human relations—"sensitivity training," it's called—in which real actors create situations that allow the recruits to understand the human emotions and behavior that they'll confront "on the street." How to tell a family that a loved one has died in a traffic accident, how to deal with a rape victim and how to handle incidents of domestic violence are just three aspects of this course.

Guns, of course, are a major part of the police presence, and after 91 hours of physical training and learning defensive tactics—including how to disarm a person with a gun—the troopers spend 30 hours learning the rules of gun safety, and another 30 hours in qualifying with the gun. Troopers since 1990 have been armed with a 17 shot Glock 9-mm. handgun, which they've found to be faster and more reliable than the old .45-cal. revolver. Each trooper carries two additional clips, which allow the gun to be reloaded instantly.

All this training prepares the trooper for his working conditions: weekends, holidays and nights are a regular part of his or her "day," as is outdoor work in all kinds of weather conditions.

Searching a building, critical incident management—being the trooper in charge of an ongoing crime scene or disaster—and "street survival"—in which the trooper is pitted against armed and "desperate" adversaries, are role-playing exercises in the academy in which the reporters participated. They found out what's it like to enter a dark building, knowing that one or more armed adversaries are inside. The reporters learned what it's like to stop a car for a traffic infraction only to have the "motorist" start shooting at you.

And as much time is spent learning how to handle the gun safely as is in shooting the gun—and learning when, and when not, to shoot.

Why all this training? Superintendent Constantine noted that the "crime problem has absolutely exploded in this country" and that "projections in violent crime are not heartening." He was pleased that there is a "fantastic interest" in becoming a trooper: there are 100 applications for each recruit selected.

It's a dangerous job: throughout the United States, 66 officers were killed in 1989, and an average of 16 out of every 100 officers were assaulted.

The troopers who graduate March 22 will be providing police services into the next century. What inspires people like Donald Kinne and Melissa White to do that?

Kinne, 27, who spent four years in the Marine Corps, believes troopers are "respected. People where I come from (Utica) look up to troopers. It's a goal to shoot for." Kinne, who ultimately wants to be an investigator, has asked for assignment to Troop K, which covers Columbia, Dutchess, Putnam and Westchester counties.

He wants to work on drug cases. His parents were upset that he's giving up a lucrative opportunity to use his degree in engineering, but Kinne believes he'll go back to that once he retires from being a trooper.

Melissa White, 24 years old, "wants to help people, to give something back to society." One of her NYIT professors, Dr. Julie Salzano, an ex-New York City cop, gave her a "feel for it, and a trooper who came to lecture in one of my classes impressed me." She decided to not take the city police test—her first choice—and has also asked to be assigned to Troop K and work "patrol out of Brewster."

Melissa says her family is "very supportive" of her chosen career, and she has "no hesitation in recommending" the state police as a career to anyone, although she believes "not everyone is cut out to do this" kind of work. Both Kinne and Melissa realize that the municipal police agencies generally pay more than do the troopers, at least as a starting salary, but as Melissa said, "money is not a factor. Besides, I worked too hard to make a change now."

Molded in the same classes, Melissa and Donald have different thoughts and suggestions on crime control, particularly the drug abuse so prevalent in today's society: Melissa believes in being a positive role model for adults, and in forming their ideas. Donald, who shares Melissa's goal to eliminate drugs from our society, is "big on education. Build strong relationships with children. Talk to kids."

The training these troopers received in the academy have helped prepare them and the other 145 who graduate with them to police our society for many years to come.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	3 ♥
Pass	4 ♥

Opening lead — nine of spades.

There are times when a player must abandon the so-called "percentage play" because his common sense tells him that the normal method of play cannot succeed.

For example, take this deal where South gets to four hearts on the bidding shown and West leads the nine of spades. East wins with the jack and plays the A-K of spades. Declarer ruffs with the ten and cashes the A-K-Q of trumps, drawing all three of East's trumps.

South next leads the ten of diamonds, losing the finesse to East's king. Back comes a diamond, taken in dummy with the ace, and declarer then leads the jack of diamonds to his queen.

South is now at the crucial stage of the play. If he follows the standard approach of leading his nine of clubs to the ace and finessing the jack, he winds up down one.

But if South is alive to the situation, as he should be, he does not adopt this losing line of play. He realizes that East passed originally and that early in the play East showed up with the A-K-J of spades and king of diamonds. It therefore would not make sense to expect East to have the queen of clubs, since he surely would have opened the bidding had he also held that card.

So declarer credits West with the queen of clubs and adjusts his play accordingly. He leads the jack of clubs at trick ten, planning to let the jack ride if West follows low. If West covers the jack with the queen, declarer wins with dummy's ace, returns a club, finesses the nine and thus makes the contract. True, South has to be lucky to find East with the ten of clubs, but this is manufactured luck rather than ordinary luck.

possibility of relocating the operation of the switches for better personnel supervision, he said.

Shaw said that members of his staff last week inspected all the gym walls for malfunctions.

In the Melville incident, it is alleged that a small piece of wood was wedged against the "on" button by a Sunquam teacher who walked into another room as the door closed. "There has never been a history of anything like that happening in the [Hicksville] school district," Shaw said.

In the Melville incident, firefighters had to use the "Jaws of Life" hydraulic tool to free the fourth grader. The girl was reported to be in a coma as of Monday. The student apparently was caught in the door while crossing through the gym to another class, police said.

points as above, you will be sold out at the market when the stock falls to the point.

Rule 5. If you are unfortunate to have a good company in a troubled industry, you have little hope of a stock price advance. At best you will have what Peter Lynch calls a laggard. At worst, you will have a loser. Consider a sale with the idea to come back to your good stock when the problems are diminished in the area. This was our strategy with the S&L bank we mentioned here in October. Nobody wants S&Ls. This column recommended one at $5.00 which is now $8-1/4. Our present sell point has been established at $7 for aggressive clients and $7-1/4 for the timid. In either case, we will be happy to take profits. Our expectation is that we will be forced to sell at about $15 by the market using our system discussed in the first part of this column.

For more broad advice related to the market as a whole, consider this.

When the market has gone up rapidly, on huge volume, this is called a blow-off. It ordinarily means that the bears have capitulated and are buying, the short sellers have been forced to cover their shorts, and all the good news is out. Does this sound like today's market? You bet! You are advised to sell a portion of your portfolio and establish sell points. It is probable that there will be a sell off. Never be a pig, you lose.

When the market has a major decline, sell your weak and poorer quality stocks (if not already done). Look for good companies in a good industry (this should have been done already) and buy the best.

Thank You

To The Editor:

Almost overlooked sending our subscription renewal. Definitely wouldn't want our delivery terminated. Thank you and those responsible for the perfect mail service over the years.

We were residents for 29 years until retiring to New Port Richey, Florida. Daughter, Edith, thoughtfully started us a subscription at that time, 10 years ago. Needless to say, our Hicksville paper is an important part of bridging the gap moving 1,200 miles away can bring. We read the names and places of things familiar to us. We read about friends, neighbors, people we knew of, of may have worked with. We see items about our families, our children and grandchildren who still reside there. Sometimes there is a picture to our delight.

Seeing the paper in our mailbox is always a pleasure. Looking for it has become a habit. It does keep you in touch. Continued success.

Love to the Nolans and the Hearons.

Mom and Dad

Charley and Irene Hearon

P.S. Oh yes, enclosed please find check to renew our subscription. Happy new year of printing.

Outrageously Treated

To The Editor:

I'm writing because I am wondering why the two ladies who responded to Diane Otten's letter didn't comment on how outrageously she was treated at the Support-The-Troops rally on February 10. At the risk of reading into what they wrote, I'd say it seems they think she got what she deserved because "Anti-war protestors did not belong there... it was to show each other how much love and support there is in our communities... they (troops) deserve our love and respect."

I believe Ms. Otten said that she'd been told the rally was for anyone who wanted to show support and that was why she was there, not to protest war. Her way was to carry a sign that began with "I love you." She encouraged them to put down their guns and not to meet evil with evil (sounds like a teaching I've heard somewhere before) because she felt that that wouldn't depress a soldier as much as seeing a comrade die.

As for Ms. Gunning and Ms. Giardina's statement "What better way than to come together in friendship with outstretched hands to comfort each other," if only the people at that rally had responded to Diane Otten with friendship, outstretched hands and open minds! Or is it "America—as long as it's our way?"

IT TAKES MORE THAN A RESOLUTION TO LOSE 50 POUNDS.

It happens every year about this time. You make a list of resolutions. At the top of the list: I will lose weight!

But if you have learned anything from these annual rituals, it is this: Losing at least 50 pounds takes more than a resolution.

It requires a medically approved and supervised weight-loss program like The OPTIFAST® Program. And to help you keep the weight off, The OPTIFAST Program also provides nutritional counseling, behavior-modification techniques, an exercise program and the group support of others who share your problem.*

So make 1991 the year you give your number-one resolution a real chance. If you are 50 pounds or more overweight, resolve right now to attend our next evaluation session. It's free and there's no obligation to sign up.

It's The Greatest Show On Earth

By William Gravert

"Ladies and Gentlemen, and Children of All Ages!" croons Ringmaster Eric Michael Gillett in the bigtop's ageless call-to-attention.

It must be Spring because the yearly pilgrimage of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey (RBBB) Circus is in town with its collection of clowns, creatures, and crazy antics ranging from graceful artistry to graceless lunacy.

After a week-long run at the Nassau Coliseum, the 121st edition of "The Greatest Show On Earth" opens in Manhattan at the "World's Most Famous Arena"—Madison Square Garden.

RBBB sets a nice pace between dramatic, comedic, and skills exhibitions all choreographed to canned music or live orchestra. The net effect is polished magic leaving an awe-struck audience (particularly the youngsters) asking: "How'd they do that?" The performances are the result of teamwork, meticulous planning, specialized division of skills and labor, and thousands of hours of practice.

Headlining RBBB is David Larible, winner of the prestigious Silver Clown Award at the Monte Carlo Circus Festival. A polished mime, juggler, acrobat, and musician—including a trumpet also accompanying his wife, comely aerialist Vivian—Larible brings more to the table than the usual tomfoolery. His trademark audience-interactive skits draft 'instant clowns' from the crowd while cajoling them through a series of monkeyshines.

The clown troupe, all graduates of the RBBB Clown College, portray every conceivable oaf, buffoon, and oddball.

Like any circus, RBBB is stocked with international acts. This year producer Kenneth Feld has accented the multinational flavor with plenty of flags, pomp, and pageantry.

Soviet juggler Gregory Popovich perches atop an 8 foot ladder balancing platters, glasses, and other assorted kitchen equipment. He is also the only person who can juggle nine rings aloft at once.

This year's aerialists seem genuinely fearless. Venezuelan 'The Flying Vargas' and

A BICYCLE BUILT FOR 14—The Fujian Acrobatic Troupe from The People's Republic of China form mind-boggling compositions based on symmetry and balance in an astounding three-ring bicycle display in the all-new 121st Edition of The Greatest Show On Earth.

Mexican 'The Flying Espanas' pull off simultaneous "triples"—each flyer completes 2 airborne somersaults before being caught by a teammate on an alternate trapeze. But where were the tightrope walkers?

Most thrilling is the "Globe of Death." Three motorcyclists roar around the inside of a spherical steel cage with a woman standing in the center, performing gravity-defying twists, turns, and loop-the-loops all to the musical accompaniment of Van Halen's "Panama." Big-time entertainment.

The 28 members of the Chinese Fujian Acrobatic Troupe are a study in balance and precision specializing in the finesse of juggling, nimble acrobatics, and bold bicycle tricks in a charming blend of strength and grace.

Also fascinating entertainment are the roustabouts, riggers, and runners who set-up and breakdown the acts.

The Finale features dual human-cannonballs joined by the entire cast.

So grab the kids and runaway to the circus for a day! Madison Sq. Garden: March 21 thru April 28. TicketMaster: 516-888-9000, 212-307-7171 or at MSG Box Office.

He has been featured with ensembles throughout the world, including the Yomiuri Nippon Symphony of Japan, Rome's Santa Cecilia Orchestra, the orchestras of Stockholm and Moscow, Hartford, San Antonio, Toronto and Kansas City. His recording of John Corigliano's Clarinet Concerto, commissioned for him by the Philharmonic and conducted by Zubin Mehta, was nominated for a Grammy Award for best classical performance, instrumental soloist, with orchestra. The American Chamber Ensemble, in existence for over two decades, has presented a series of concerts at Hofstra University for the past twelve years. ## Asian Theatre At C.W. Post

The performing arts of China, Japan and Korea will be the focus on this year's annual theatre festival on the C.W. Post Campus of Long Island University. The Asian Theatre Festival, sponsored by the University's Department of Theatre and Film, will present a special series of events this spring celebrating Asian performing arts and cultures and their influences on American society.

"People express and reveal themselves most dramatically in their traditions and their performing arts," said Professor Tevot Fairservis Pourchot, director of the festival. "Asia is now at the forefront of global change; here on Long Island, our fastest growing community is of Asian descent. What we learn now about Asian cultures may be a guide as our lives are increasingly touched by international relations in the future."

Members of the community are encouraged to take part in the festival by attending all or some of the events which begin in March 22. They include a series of theatre performances, tours, workshops, seminars and lectures on Asian theatre and art. For more information, contact the Asian Theatre Festival Office at (516) 629-1532.

The theatre festivals have been presented on Campus for 23 years and have offered the community a multidisciplinary celebration of the arts. This year's event is co-sponsored by the East-West Fusion Theatre of Sharon Connecticut, which hosts artists and scholars from around the world to collaborate on international performances.

The following is a listing of events scheduled as part of the Asian Theatre Festival:

March 22: Asia in the Classroom — A seminar from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. exploring ideas and techniques for the study of Asia. Workshop sessions will be led by East-West Fusion Theatre guest artists and theatre students from C.W. Post. The seminar is designed to acquaint educators with the festival, and to help them incorporate its offering into their classroom curriculum. It will be held on the C.W. Post Campus and is free. Participation is limited and reservations are required.

April 11-13, 19 & 20: East-West Comedies — Three comedies on one bill will be presented by the Post Theatre Company under the direction of the East-West Fusion Theatre. The program will include English adaptations of Kyogen, traditional Japanese comedies; The Black Bowl, a comic murder mystery from the Chinese Peking Opera, and Baseball Noh: The Hero Babe Ruth, a new Fusion play. All performances are 7:30 p.m. Special matinees will be presented at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, April 15, 18 and 19.

Plandome Gallery Art Exhibit

The Plandome Gallery will present an exhibit of paintings by Betty Stephens and sculpture by Yaroslav Yasnopolsky. Ms. Stephens is a graphic artist from New York, while Yasnopolsky is a student from Kiev, Russia. The exhibit will run thru April 1. Gallery hours are Monday — Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. For information call 627-6560.

Fourth Annual East Street Roller Races

By Brad Jaworski

The East Street elementary school physical education department, under the direction of teachers Brad Jaworski and Rory Lawlor, recently held its fourth annual Roller Races for the Kindergarten, first and second graders.

The children propel these Roller Racers by moving the ram horn handlebars in a side to side motion.

While racing, the children develop coordination, arm strength, and balance along with some friendly competition.

Ribbons were awarded to first, second and third place winners, for boys and girls separately. The ribbons were enjoyed by all the winners and were made possible by the East Street P.T.A.

A VERY SPECIAL SUPPLEMENT

ON THE COVER

Would you believe it? The top photograph on page 1 shows Old Country Road facing eastward in 1941 from today's Wantagh State Parkway.

Potato fields, farm houses, a greenhouse and a few vehicles fill the horizon. Just past the two homes is now Appex Road, across from today's Malvese. The house in the trees on the right was the home of the Lebkuecher family.

The photo below shows the remarkable development of Hicksville 50 years later. Travelers making their way over the Wantagh State Parkway, will find on the north side of Old Country Road a restaurant, gas station, office building and heavy equipment contractor. On the right, a housing development which stretches east to Levittown Parkway.

The 1941 photo is courtesy of the Hicksville Gregory Museum historical collection. The contemporary photo was taken by Edward Bady on May 1, 1991, and was provided to us through the Hicksville Library Local History Collection. Also, a special thanks to Richard Evers and Bill Clark for the historical background.

HICKSVILLE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BUSINESS EXPO '91

More than 70 businesses from Hicksville and neighboring areas will participate in the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce's biggest business exposition ever on Saturday, May 18.

The expo, which is open to the public, will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the center (atrium area) of the Broadway Mall. Admission is free.

All types of business—including insurance companies, banks, service organizations, computer specialists, florists, real estates and professionals—will be available to familiarize you with their products and services.

Also exhibiting will be the Hicksville Gregory Museum, the Hicksville Public Library and Friends of the Bay.

As a result of this exposition, the chamber has gained several new members who will also be exhibiting their products and explain about their services.

They include Dr. Michael Garger, chiropractor; Long Island Balloon Inc. which will be creating an archway of balloons at the expo; Briarcliff, the college for business; Royal Flush Contracting Corp., a plumbing and heating contractor; Chase Manhattan Bank of Long Island; Hicksville Water District and P. & B. Insurance Agency Inc. The chamber has more than 100 members.

Raffles and prizes will be awarded throughout the day. NatWest Bank is donating a $50 savings bond. Fotomat will be raffling off disposable cameras. A clown will also be available to entertain the kids and give away prizes. Other exhibitors will have free gifts for visitors as well.

The Chamber has made arrangements to have Omen—the walking, talking robot—at the expo to entertain the visitors. The robot will at the mall from 2 to 4 p.m.

Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Angelo Dellagati is scheduled to make an appearance.

The number of businesses and professionals exhibiting this year has more than doubled since the last expo was held in 1989. Also, this is the first time the Hicksville expo is open to the public.

"The response has been great. We've had a tremendous amount of inquiries about the expo," said Marc Ramirez, chairman of the event. "We ask that the community support this expo and stop by to see what services the members of the Chamber of Commerce and those participating in this exciting event have to offer."

The Hicksville Chamber of Commerce is a volunteer membership organization through which the business, commercial and industrial firms, professional leaders and institutions of Hicksville work together to make Hicksville a better and more prosperous place in which to work and live.

The members of the Chamber of Commerce identify the problems of Hicksville business, large and small, and seek solutions through study and research, contact with elected officials, legislation and information programs and services.

Since its formation in 1926, it has succeeded in promoting the economic and business interests of the community.

Membership information may be obtained by writing the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce at 252 Old Country Road, Hicksville NY 11801, or by calling 931-7170; or Ivan Czipott, chamber president, at 433-1380. ## Mid-Island Ceramics

Helene Jankowski of Mid-Island Ceramics, notes that ceramics offers many advantages to all ages. Churches, scouting troops, social clubs, senior citizens' organizations and other groups turn to ceramics for recreation and as a way to produce articles for fundraisers.

Parents of young children find Mid-Island Ceramics a great place to have an evening out where they meet people with similar interests. Homemakers appreciate the opportunity to make decorative and practical custom ceramics and teens like stretching their budget by making their own gifts.

According to Helene, no experience is necessary.

"We show our students how to do everything from start to finish," said Helene. "We guide them every step of the way."

Mid-Island Ceramics is located at 45 E. John Street in Hicksville. Call 938-1818 for more information.

Montana Agency

When Charles Montana, Sr. founded what is now known as the Montana Insurance/Real Estate Agency, he knew there could be no better place for his business than Hicksville. This is where he grew up. He can vividly remember how Hicksville looked when the community was mainly potato farms. "We went from potato farms to every foot of land being built upon. I used to be able to see Melville from my upstairs window," said Mr. Montana.

Despite the great changes in Hicksville, he never had any intention of leaving. The business, located on North Broadway, is continuing to grow with greater support from the Hicksville area. And with almost half of the current staff living in Hicksville, it appears that the Montana Agency will remain here for a long time to come. It is already an integral part of the community as a member of the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs. The office on Broadway. The phone number is 938-3600.

Peppercorn's

Peppercorn's has a very special Hicksville history behind it. This "pub-style" restaurant was once the old East

Marie Street firehouse, which in later years moved to the other side of the street. Peppercorn's owner, Eddie Restivo, renovated the old firehouse's dome-shaped second floor and created a catering hall for 100 people. It has a bar, dance floor and of course the same great food as the restaurant.

Peppercorn's is also known for its gourmet Continental specials and its aged (on premises) steaks. Add Peppercorn's friendly staff and the relaxed atmosphere to make a winning combination.

Stop by 25 East Marie Street and taste for yourself.

The Hicksville Subway shop, located at 495 South Broadway, has been in business since 1987 and is owned and operated by Rich and Patti Gute. They decided to open their store in Hicksville because it seemed to be a good town with a good sense of community.

Over the past four years, Rich and Patti along with manager Tom Mochringer, have involved themselves with many community organizations including the high school band and athletic departments, the Fire Department, the Interfaith Nutrition Network, VFW and the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

"Local participation is our way of giving back something to the community that has given us so much," said the Gutes.

The Ecumenical Consultation Center

The Ecumenical Consultation Center is non-profit and non-sectarian and was founded in 1973 as an action of the Mid-Island Ecumenical Council. It was established to fill a gap which existed in mental health services and to service those families in the middle income range who faced a dearth of services. Through the center, psychotherapy services at a moderate fee were available.

For the past 18 years, the Center has continued to offer individual, marital and family psychotherapy, as well as groups including Caregivers for the Aging, Mothers' support and co-dependency support. Fees are based on a sliding scale and there is no waiting list.

From 1973 to 1989, the Center operated out of a house provided by St. Stephen's Lutheran Church. Due to planned expansion by the church and their need to sell the property, the Center needed to relocate and St. Ignatius offered an old house on its property. Local businesses, churches and service groups donated building materials, workmen and funds to rebuild the house.

The Ecumenical Consultation Center is located at 147 Broadway and can be reached by calling 935-6179.
