Hicksville Realtors See A Surge In Sales

By Rita Langdon

After months of frightening reports of a very slow residential real estate market, local brokers are reporting an upswing in sales and noted that many of those sales are first time home buyers.

Many area brokers are crediting the surge in sales over the past four months to a combination of lower interest rates and better-priced homes.

"As soon as January came around, the market opened right up," said James E. Dowdell, Jr., owner, broker for Vigilant Real Estate on Old Country Road. Hicksville homes selling for under $140,000 were "gobbled right up," according to Dowdell, who said: "It's a complete turnaround. We now need merchandise."

Another contributing factor, according to area brokers, is that after the Gulf War ended, consumer confidence perked up again. "Since the war ended, there's been a boost in the market," said Dowdell. "It's boom time."

Other Hicksville brokers agree. Harvey Brittan of H. Brittan Realty, Inc. on Old Country Road, said, "We're way ahead of last year's sales." He added, "Everything is absolutely flying off the market."

FIRST-TIME HOMEBUYERS are reportedly "gobbling up" the market. Pictured are Diane and Peter Marmann who purchased their first home on Cornell Lane in Hicksville.

People shopping for homes in the price range of under $150,000 have been surprised to learn that they need to make offers quickly if they are to be considered. What once took months to sell is now taking weeks, even days.

Brittan said that many of the lower priced homes in Hicksville selling for under $150,000 have been bought by first-time homebuyers, many of whom are taking advantage of the lower interest rates now offered. "There's a lot of mortgage money out there," said Brittan.

Charlie Montana, president of Montana Agency, Inc. on North Broadway, added that even homes selling for $160,000—$165,000 are being bought by first-time buyers.

Some of the brokers noted that Hicksville homes in the $200,000 and over market are not selling as quickly.

Diane and Peter Marmann recently bought their first home on Cornell Lane. "Low interest rates were the key," said Diane Marmann. "It's also a great area and affordable."

Dowdell of Vigilant added: "Hicksville is a very strong town. It's a great location... always in demand!"

Museum Campaigns To Pass Proposition

By Rita Langdon

The Hicksville Gregory Museum is campaigning strongly for a proposition that, if passed by voters, will award the museum $30,000 for its educational programs and property upkeep.

The proposition—referred to as Proposition No. 2—will be put before voters on May 22 as part of the Hicksville school budget vote.

Even if the proposition, which is voted on separately, passes, the money can only be awarded if the budget is approved. In the past, the museum's funding was incorporated into the budget.

From now until May 22, Joan D. Kawecki, museum director, said that she and other museum members will be campaigning vigorously for the passage of this proposition.

"The passage of this service contract is important to the museum," she said. "If it does not pass, we will seriously have to curtail operations and the Hicksville residents and school children will be required to pay for museum services."

Because the school district is currently on austerity, the museum has not received any funding since July 1, 1990.

"We're gasping under austerity," said Kawecki. "We hold an open house the first Sunday of each month because we felt badly that Hicksville people would come to the door, see that it wasn't free admission anymore, and leave," she said, adding, "So we offered the open house to help, but we can't keep it up for long."

Approximately 10,000 flyers explaining the museum's services will be distributed to area residents. Kawecki said she is personally making appeals to local houses of worship, senior citizen clubs and civic association and service organizations, asking for their support.

"We're approaching everyone... in order to state our case and show the community what they will be getting for their $30,000," she said.

If the service contract is passed by voters, Hicksville residents will be admitted free to the museum and will not be charged for museum services, with the exception of specially scheduled workshops, Kawecki said.

According to the flyer being distributed by the museum, if the proposition passes the following services will be offered free of charge to Hicksville residents:

- Admission to the museum is free at all times.
- All Hicksville school classes, public, parochial and private kindergarten through 12th grade will receive "hands-on" instruction in earth science, natural history and Long Island history.

- An Outreach program which brings free instruction to the classroom.
- Free instructional tours of Hicksville.
- Up to 36 Hicksville teachers receive 20 hours of accredited in-service instruction each year by certified staff free.
- Internships at the museum for Hicksville school students free.
- A research and study center for local history through collection and preservation of artifacts, photos and documentation of Hicksville's past.

The museum receives other funding from grants, private donations, admission and workshop fees from other school districts and people who visit the museum.

"But we can only survive minimally on what we make and donations we get," Kawecki said. "To improve our programs, we need the $30,000."

In the past, the Gregory Museum was allocated $40,000 in the budget, but due to the recession and austerity, Kawecki said the museum trustees decided to only ask for $30,000.

"Because of the economical problems in the community, we felt we should make an effort too," Kawecki said.

GREGORY MUSEUM trustees are campaigning strongly for the passage of a proposition which will award the museum $30,000.

About Rudy Supper

Received the following note from W.H. Wandelt about Rudy Supper who died in April.

I was sorry to hear of the passing of Rudy Supper, formerly of Hicksville. Rudy and I were classmates in high school and we graduated the same year. I remember he had a great talent for drawing. I don't know if he ever put this talent to work in his future life.

I was reminded of Rudy when I started to rewrite my diary of service days. His name came up on some of the mission and other documents of World War II. We were both stationed with the 379th bomb Group Eight Air Force in the town of Kimbolton, England.

He was with the 524th squad and I with the 527th squad but were located at different parts of the base and only met twice. D Day was in the making and our time was limited so we really never got a chance to talk over our school days. The closest we ever got after those two meetings was to fly on some of the same combat missions. I found this out from some of the mission reports that I had acquired.

Many years later, I learned that he finished his tour and returned to the states. I was glad to hear this but never did get to see him. I guess now all I can say is good-bye to an old schoolmate and 379th Group member. "Good-bye Rudy."

Heard From A Classmate

Received a note from an old school chum: Evelyn (Brandstetter) Gillen who now lives in St. Ann, Missouri.

Dear Evie: Thanks for sending me the old photos. I enjoyed the one of the parade. In the background I see the old ReXall Drug Shop on Broadway. It's been a long time since we graduated from Hicksville High. Glad to hear from you.

P.S. I'll send along the photos to the Hicksville Fire Department which is putting together a history journal for their 100th anniversary in 1993.

Also thanks to Kathleen Reinhardt Padmanabhan of Madera, California, for sending me some history on Hicksville.

I know her grandmother Florence Nenner and mother Dorothy Reinhardt both of Arizona. Kathy found the information when she was visiting her mother and grandmother.

Nice to hear from you. Everyone keep the photos and history coming.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cupolo

Wedding Announcement

When Cyndi met Joe it was "way back when" at Holy Trinity High School.

But on February 23, an equally historic event occurred: Cynthia Van Nostrand and Joseph Cupolo were married at an evening ceremony in Port Washington.

The theme was, appropriately, "Miracles Happen!" Happily sharing in the event were the bride's parents, Virginia and Alan Van Nostrand of Hicksville, and Millie and Joe Cupolo who came up from Florida, and a host of family and friends—many from Hicksville—who shared in the couple's special day.

George Stamos holding Leo Ruggiero

More Reminiscing

I just received another photo of the good old days. This time from my good friend Nicholas K. Stamos of Raymond Street. Pictured is George Stamos holding Leo Ruggiero. George died in 1980 and Leo Ruggiero died in December 1990. They are both greatly missed.

I remember Georgie as a teenager. He would hang out on my block (West Barclay Street) because he was friends with my neighbor Willie Johnson. There were a lot of young girls living on my block at the time and we loved to hear Georgie sing. I think every girl in Hicksville had a crush on him at one time or another—he was a really good looking fellow. He had such a lovely voice and he sang romantic ballad songs.

As for Leo... well every one who met him couldn't help but love him. He was a lot of fun and always was in a good mood. We got a lot of feedback from readers after he ran an obituary on him; many echoing my sentiments. Everybody was extremely sad when Leo died, but we all have those terrific memories of him.

Condolences

Irene Byrnes, a former Hicksville resident, died at her home in Ventura, California, on April 23.

She is survived by her son, William. Mrs. Byrnes was a very dear friend of mine. She spent most of her life in Hicksville and worked for many years at the Long Island Lighting Company in the office that was then located on Old Country Road across from Frank's Alibi.

She also met many Hicksvillites while working for the Illman Dress Shop which was located in the rear of Hicksville's main street, a few doors from the original Hicksville Sweet Shop.

I spoke with Mrs. Byrnes on the phone many times during the past 15 or 20 years. She always spoke about Hicksville with love in her voice. She missed the close friendships she had made over the years. Her son, Billy said, "My mom left Hicksville—but her heart never did!"

We'll all miss her.

Candles On The Cake

Happy birthday to twins Tara and Marc Sacco on April 22.

Celebrating birthdays this month are Michael Ciorciari and David Rock both on May 16, and Anne Pollock on May 20.

Burns PTA Presents Lifetime Membership Awards

Helen Grumo, kindergarten teacher, and Lydia Oliveri, second grade teacher, were selected as the 1991 Burns Avenue PTA New York State Honorary Life Membership recipients last month.

They were chosen to receive this honor for their outstanding contributions to the education and welfare of the children and community of Hicksville. They have significantly influenced the students of Burns Avenue School by their unselfish commitment and sustained involvement, according to the PTA.

These teachers have initiated many programs for the benefit and enrichment of the children. They began the Individualized Instruction Program in grades 1 and 2 at Burns Avenue and were cited for their excellence by the State Education Department. They have worked closely with student teachers from local colleges as well as students from Hicksville High School, most recently those students involved in the Student Intern Program.

Previously, Mrs. Grumo and Mrs. Oliveri were the Burns Avenue Unit Honored Guests at the district Founders Day dinner. They have been active on the PTA Executive Board serving on the Pre-School Committee, the Founders Day Selection Committee, the committee to honor former principal, Dr. Frank E. Burke, on his retirement, the Children's Fund Committee, the Playground Equipment Committee and as Teacher Liaison.

They were presented with their pins at a reception held at the school on April 24.

Five Hicksville High School students and 12 Middle School students were recognized for their achievements by the Hicksville School Board last month.

Richard Hogan, Principal of the High School, and Mary Sue Carr, Assistant Principal, introduced five seniors at the board's April 24 meeting, who they said have evidenced remarkable academic abilities coupled with impressive lists of extracurricular activities.

Seniors Jarret Roth and Robert Coogan will be attending the U. S. Naval Academy and Nancy Hogan will be the third member of her family to attend West Point. Class of 1991 Valedictorian Carrie Ann Sabato will attend SUNY Binghamton and Salutatorian Cynthia Gaylor, will attend either Brown, Cornell or the University of Pennsylvania.

Gerald Klein, Principal of the Middle School, and Marie Marshall, Assistant Principal introduced their students including Jaime Boyle, whose work was judged "Best in Show" at the recent Hicksville Library Art Exhibit.

Eleven seventh graders among those who participated in the Johns Hopkins Talent Search were identified as "truly talented". These students took the SAT normally taken by college-bound Juniors and Seniors and received special recognition for their scores: Jason Benowitz, Matthew Bruckner, Joshua Callaghan, Christine D'Amato, Nicholas Gonzalez, Ann Marie Huysman, Daniel Lasurdo, Todd Master, Christina Pero, Edward Puerta, and Aimee Sherry. Jason Benowitz had the highest cumulative score, just under 1100.

In other high school news, three Hicksville students recently won awards at a National History Day Contest held at Hofstra University. Winning first place for their media presentation on Women's Rights were Helen Woo and Connie Young. Also winning third place for an outstanding historical paper on William Lloyd Garrison was Joaquin Ezcurra. These students, under the advisement of Dr. William Lemmey, will compete in the State competition at Saratoga later this month.

Students Learn To Be Leaders

Thirty-four Hicksville High School students attended a Student Leadership Training program at Cuamsett Park in Lloyd Harbor on April 22.

The students joined Administrative Assistant Ray McDonough, Student Advisor and Business Education teacher Nancy DeSorbo, Attendance Officers Susan Feyler and Guidance Counselors Christopher Volpe and Michael Dalvano for all-day workshops.

These workshops were conducted as part of the restructuring of the student government at the high school and offered the students an opportunity to exchange positive ideas.

"The high school is hopeful that this will kickoff future Leadership Days, with the next one planned for the fall," a district spokesperson said.

The Illustrated Helps Reunite Old Friends

Photograph Leads To Florida Get-Together

From time to time, we publish addresses and phone numbers of former Hicksvillites who have moved to other states. Many want to let their old high school buddies know what they've been up to over the past years.

Just last week, we received word that in Florida, four Hicksville friends were reunited as a result of a photograph we published last year. Howard Olsen, now of Hampton Bays, tells us about the happy event:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Hicksville Illustrated for making the following reunion possible.

After seeing John Uss' picture in your paper and after establishing contact with him, I decided to visit him on my next trip to Florida.

First, I visited Paul Bickford who was staying at his brother Roger's house in Vero Beach. (Both Paul and Roger are former Hicksville residents) Paul and I decided to take a ride to Port St. Lucie to see if we could locate John Uss. We had no problem finding him at home.

When Paul and I got out of the car, I heard John say, "I'd know that face anywhere!" Neither Paul nor I had seen John in more than 49 years. It was good seeing John again. We asked him to come visit us in Vero Beach and a few days later we all met at Roger Bickford's house. Roger and John had not seen each other in more than 50 years. I guess you realize that we sat and talked and talked.

We had a lot of laughs and we spoke of the things we did as kids growing up in Hicksville during the 30s and 40s. We also spoke about the many guys and dolls who we went to school with. (If your ears were ringing during the middle of March, it was most likely us talking about you.) It's great when old friends get together. I've met a few school time friends recently and plan to look up more of you oldtimers this year. So, I'm issuing a warning! If you should open your front door and see a big ugly monster standing there, don't get frightened. It may be just little old me.

More Desert Storm Troops Return Home

By Cathy Greenfield and Rita Langdon

Two more Desert Storm heroes have come marching home to Hicksville.

Arriving in late April was Joseph Artale, a reservist who has been in the Persian Gulf since November.

"It's great to be home," said Joseph, 43, at the Mid Island Support Group meeting held last week at the Hicksville VFW Hall. "The support that I received made the whole experience more tolerable." He added, "The most positive things that came out of this war was the revitalized spirit in this country."

Joseph is married to Arlene (Fugarazzo) and has three children, Joseph John, 18, Melanie, 16, and Robert, 13.

Also arriving home was Jude McFeeley, 21, son of Mary and James McFeeley of Hicksville. The 1988 Hicksville High School graduate is a member of the U.S. Army and had been stationed in Saudi Arabia for more than seven months.

"We are very very relieved that Jude is home," said his father, James. "It seemed like he would be there forever." James added: "I was a doubting Thomas at the end when it took so long after the cease fire for him to actually arrive inside our door."

Jude has three sisters, Helen, Madeleine and Mary.

Last week, both Jude McFeeley and Joseph Artale addressed members of the Mid Island Support Group which meets at the Hicksville VFW Hall on South Broadway. Jude's parents and Joseph's wife are members of the support group.

Local Students Learn Lifesaving Skills

By Cathy Greenfield and Rita Langdon

Students at Holy Family School learned basic life support skills for both children and adults during a program sponsored by North Shore University Hospital in Manhasset last month.

This program, which is used as a resource learning center for Health Education in all schools, taught the students how to perform CPR (Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation) on infants, children and adults. They also performed the Heimlich maneuver on all three victims and learned basic first aid.

"At this age they are the best learners because they have no fear or anxiety that most adults have in these situations," said Rosemarie Ennis, coordinator of the Basic Life Support program at North Shore University Hospital. "They have an open mind and are not frightened."

As part of the program, the students put together a first aid kit for their homes. They were given a list of the contents and had one week to prepare. "Ninety-percent of these items are already in the house, but they are all over," Ennis said. "This kit brings everything together in one box with everything labeled as to what it is and what it is used for."

The children will receive cards of completion from North Shore University Hospital.

SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

Fairy Tale Classics Retold By Dutch Laners

Sixth graders at Dutch Lane have been putting their writing, organizing and editing skills to work by re-creating classic fairy tales from their own viewpoint.

The students have been taking well-known stories—such as Jack and the Beanstalk, Hansel and Gretel and Goldilocks and The Three Bears—and re-creating them in their own words with a lot of creative spirit.

Their stories are on display in the front hall of the school and will soon be available in the library for circulation. The stories will also be on view at the International Reading Association Convention in Las Vegas this month.

Rita Ezor, author and primary consultant for the Individualized Language Arts program, a National Diffusion Network (NDN) replicated program, demonstrated lessons at the Dutch Lane School on Jan. 24 and 25. Her lesson in Harry Smith's class dealt with the telling of a fairy tale from a particular point of view. The students were so intrigued with the idea that they wanted to write their own fairy tales. Under the guidance of Reading Teacher Roberta Katcher and Smith, the class persevered in rewriting their own stories.

The class worked in groups and each group had to decide which fairy tale they would retell and from whose viewpoint. Another decision was the form of the story—would it be told as a story, a play or poem form.

Once these decisions were made, the students worked cooperatively, using computers to type, edit, and print the final versions.

When the fairy tales from Smith's class were finished, the students in John Maiorino's class decided to do the same. Ms. Katcher did the initial lesson in Mr. Maiorino's class, and the process began again.

MR. SMITH'S CLASS: The authors of Rapunzel, two versions: Angela Becker, Nikitas Miglis and Daniel Mockler; James Alexander, Christine Camacho and Blanca Martinez.

The fairy tale books were all recently completed and laminated. The students learned from cooperatively working together, and each idea was important and valued. They had to plan, organize, write, edit, reflect, revise, finalize, and illustrate their story, and each student received a final copy of their work.

The students who worked so hard on this project are from Mr. Smith's class: Little Red Riding Hood, Richard Ohnmacht, Jonathan Bobrowsky, Colleen Gilson and Donna Phillips; Little Red Riding Hood, Henry Connelly, Diana Fong, Tricia Giordano and Michael Raspanti; The Emperor's New Clothes, James Guadosio, Michael Becker and Jillian Snyder; Cinderella, Jennifer La Scala, Jaelyn O'Reefe and Adrian Diaz; Rapunzel, Angela Becker, Nikitas Miglis and Daniel Mockler; Rapunzel, James Alexander, Christine Camacho and Blanca Martinez.

From Mr. Maiorino's class, Jack and the Beanstalk, Anthony Guadosio, Suzanne Klein, Gary Raisig and John Schiralli; Hansel and Gretel, James Blaesser, Joseph Demarest, Elizabeth Karmann and Synphen Wu; Goldilocks and the Three Bears, Daniel Kraemer, Douglas Economou, Jennifer Le Fevers, Kelly Fried, and Roberto Rivera; Goldilocks and the Three 'Fur Balls', John Danzi, Michelle Firestar, Athena Scheidetand Paul Tanck.

Old Country PTA Expands Lunch Program

OLD COUNTRY Road's PTA expanded its lunch program for a week to host an International Week. ESL (English As A Second Language) students made flags from their different countries for decorations and each day the PTA offered a different food from a different country. The menu included tacos, egg rolls, potato knishes, Sicilian pizza and American grilled cheese. The children enjoyed this so much that some of the items have been added to the lunch program.

New Marketsquare To Be Ready By Summer

Construction on Long Island's newest shopping center, the Bethpage Marketsquare, is progressing rapidly. Formerly the site of the renowned Nassau Farmers Market, the marketsquare, is expected to be completed by the end of this summer, according to Arthur D. Sanders, president of Spiegel Associates of Jericho, the project's developer.

The property is located on the west side of Route 107 on the Hicksville/Bethpage border.

The first phase of the project, which is currently being erected, will be the construction of 112,000 square feet of the 147,000 square foot shopping center. Sixty percent of the 112,000 square feet has already been leased. The Bethpage Marketsquare will feature a Waldbaum's supermarket as the anchor store, a national chain drug store, several restaurants, a dry cleaners, apparel shops and other retail outlets.

"We've recently received a strong surge of interest regarding the new shopping center," said Sanders. "It seems that the end of the war in the Persian Gulf, along with an-anticipated upturn in the economy has significantly increased leasing discussion concerning the Marketsquare," he added.

The remaining 35,000 square feet will be determined at a later date based on market conditions, Sanders said. Development costs for this project are estimated at $30 million.

The Farmer's Market, which was 81,000 square feet and built in 1954, resembled a giant barn which housed a "flea market" type operation.

Clean Up Day For Duffy Avenue Area

A joint effort between the Duffy Park Civic Association and American Transfer Company resulted in another littered area being cleaned up and reclaimed for the neighborhood.

The crew cleaned up a portion of Henrietta Street in April 20. A dumpster, along with a payloader and street sweeper, were provided by American Transfer.

"Duffy Park thanks James Alessandria, president, and Paul Kay, vice president of American Transfer, for their generous assistance," said Dave Staton, president of the civic association. "Thanks also to Juan Cotto for the fine job done with the payloader and sweeper."

Additional clean up and a flower garden are planned for Henrietta Street in the near future. Residents interested in participating can call 433-9528 or 822-2380.

Many of the homes left in Hicksville, brokers report, are in the $165,000—$170,000 and over price range, or handyman specials.

Other brokers said that prices have stabilized and are not as inflated as they were in the 1980s. "I think the [sellers] have come to the realization that they're not going to get prices they got a few years ago," said Brittan. "Home prices... went beyond what they should have."

Montana noted that through the 1980s, the market was in favor of the seller. Last year, the market favored the buyer. "Today, while it's still considered a buyer's market, it is definitely more balanced," Montana added. "If reasonably priced, the house will sell. Buyers are more knowledgeable and sophisticated. They won't look at the [homes] if they're overpriced."

"People who bought at the end of 1990, made out like bandits," said Dowdell of Vigilant. "They didn't even need to use a gun."

We're putting our money where our mouth is to preserve Long Island's water supply.

Long Island's water supply is the finest in the nation. At Slomin's we're taking positive steps to help preserve it. Specifically, we've established a special financial assistance program to help subsidize the cost of complying with the new regulations regarding buried fuel oil tanks.

Under this program, you will be able to purchase our environmentally safe, 280-gallon fiberglass tank for a price that is truly below our cost.* There are also economical options available for above ground storage tanks, starting as low as $100 installed. We realize that even with our subsidy, replacing your tank may be a financial burden, so we're offering low monthly payments with no interest or finance charges.

As a leader in the fuel oil industry, we feel a responsibility to invest in our community... to put our money where our mouth is, so to speak. We're proud to be working with our Long Island neighbors to preserve our fragile environment.

For more information, call Slomin's in Nassau at 932-7000, in Suffolk, call 242-4888.

DESERT STORM SAY "THANK YOU"

Since last August, when the first troops were deployed to the Persian Gulf the country has prayed for their safe return. Thankfully, those prayers are now being answered.

Through the Suffolk County Executive's Office, a gala Desert Storm Welcome Home Parade and Celebration has been scheduled for May 18 at the Armed Forces Plaza, Veterans Memorial Hwy. This event is Suffolk's way of saying "Thank You" to the area's brave men and women who have risked their lives for peace.

Patrick Halpin, Suffolk County Executive has named Anton Publications the coordinator and publisher of the Keepsake Souvenir Journal which will be distributed to the thousands of spectators at the May 18 event.

With your support, the Journal will be a fitting tribute, on behalf of the entire Suffolk County community, to our brave Hometown Heros.

COUNTY BRIEFS

Cops Don't Solicit

Neither the Nassau County Police Department nor its line organizations solicit funds from the public, Police Commissioner Samuel J. Rozzi repeated last week.

"This department does not ask donations from the public," said Rozzi. "We do not sell advertising space in publications, nor issue stickers or shields to be affixed to cars or shop windows."

Rozzi said that his office has received questions and some complaints from residents and business people about fund solicitations.

Rozzi said high pressure tactics should not be tolerated and urged that anyone asked for funds be certain with whom they are dealing and only to make donations if they are convinced the cause is good.

"Most organizations soliciting are legitimate," the police commissioner said. "They use funds to provide seminars and conferences to improve the quality of police service. They lobby for law changes and to protect benefits for law officers."

These associations are registered with the Nassau County Police Department for public protection. If anyone has a complaint, they may contact the Special Investigations Squad at Mineola Headquarters at 573-7818.

Art On The Green

The application deadline for the Art Show on the Green, sponsored by the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks, is May 28.

The Eisenhower Park show, scheduled for June 8, gives local artists the opportunity to show off their talents in areas such as painting, graphics, sculpture, photography and mixed media.

Exhibitors will be provided with 15 feet of snow fencing to display their artwork. All materials for hanging must be supplied by the exhibitor. Special recognition awards will be selected.

Junior and senior high school student artists may enter their artwork. However, registration and exhibit requirements differ. Each student can enter one piece of art, not to exceed 26 feet by 30 feet.

The Art Show on the Green will take place in a grassy area adjacent to parking fields 6 and 6A. For further information and an application, call the Applied Arts Unit at 542-4495.

Seafood Advisory

The Nassau County Department of Health recently advised that residents be aware that a small number of fish in the area's waters contain potentially harmful levels of chemical contaminants.

New York State guidelines recommend that although most marine fish are safe for consumption, bluefish and eel should not be eaten more than once a week. Striped bass from the Long Island Sound, west of Wading River, should not be eaten; those taken from the eastern Sound should be eaten only once per month, according to officials. There are no other advisories pertaining to marine fish.

Only one meal per week of fish taken from fresh waters is recommended. The state Department of Environmental Conservation recommends that residents either limit or avoid fish consumption, depending on the species, from the following locations: Freeport Reservoir, Upper Massapequa Reservoir, Loft's Pond in Baldwin, Halls Pond in West Hempstead and Lakeview, Smith Pond in Rockville Centre and Smith Pond in Roosevelt Park.

More specific details are available from the Health Department. Call 535-3602 for more information.

Fur Goodness Sake:

Animal League, Seniors Connect For Pets

By A. Anthony Miller

"Pets put purpose in peoples' lives."

Dr. Ed Hamilton, medical director at the North Shore Animal League in Port Washington, noting that both "Be Kind to Animals" week and "Senior Citizens' Month" fall in May, last week unveiled a program that combines the interest of both groups.

The League, which actively rescues animals and cares for some 42,000 of them every year, has embarked on a unique program that pays seniors to care for injured puppies and kittens.

"There's something here for everyone," Dr. Hamilton said at a May 2 press conference, attended by some 20 members of the Senior Citizens of Westbury Center, as he explained how seniors can put more meaning in their lives, share love and affection, and be paid at the same time.

Many baby animals need special home care until they are old enough to be adopted. The care may last from several days to several weeks.

Through the program, the League will supply all the necessary food. The senior must be able to get to the League, on Davis Road in Port Washington, at least once a week with the animal.

"We're looking to create a one-on-one environment," Dr. Hamilton said, noting that at any time, up to 250 animals may be available for temporary placement. They include some puppies with broken bones, and kittens who need nursing. The seniors are also asked to provide healthy doses of good, old-fashioned TLC: tender, loving care.

The League will pay $30 per week for the care for a cat, with or without litter; $40 per week for a dog; and $3 a day for a puppy or kitten alone. The stipend for a mother dog and litter is $50.

Geraldine Ferraro, who the day before said she might run for U.S. Senate this year, attended the conference to discuss issues facing seniors and suggested that the League's plan might both provide a needed supplemental income and address the loneliness experienced by some seniors.

Seniors interested in applying for the program should call the League at 883-7575 to make arrangements.

NASSAU BUSINESS BULLETIN

SCORE Business Counseling

The Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) reported that its caseload has risen sharply during the last few months, reflecting the changes in the economy.

SCORE counselors are retired business executives with experience in many fields. They offer their expertise as volunteers and will counsel on a single or continuing basis with no charge.

Many of SCORE's current clients are recently laid off, and, because of the economic situation and the difficulty in finding employment, have decided to try going into business on their own. SCORE, which has been counseling would-be entrepreneurs since 1964, says that many of its clients who want to go into business, do so almost in desperation, said Al Kaiser, district representative.

SCORE operates under the aegis of the US Small Business Administration. There are offices in Nassau, Suffolk and New York City. To find the office nearest to you, call 454-0753.

The Bar Association of Nassau County is located at 15th and West Streets in Mineola.

Dining Guide Available

The New York State Restaurant Association has published its seventh Dining Guide, according to Donald LeCompte, president of the Long Island Chapter.

The 1991-2 guide is a 104-page handbook especially designed for private dining, as well as those planning social and business events. Facilities are listed in sections including alphabetical, geographical, cuisine-type, brunch service, on-premises catering and off-premises catering. In addition, there are maps of Nassau and Suffolk counties indicating the locations of the restaurants.

The guide also features special editorial sections on wedding planning, conference and business meeting planning, wine selection and service as well as "dining-out language."

Information under each facility name in the alphabetical section includes cuisine type, price range, number of seats, meals served, days open and handicapped facilities.

There is no charge for the guide if it is picked up at the association's Farmingdale office. There is a $2.50 postage and handling charge for mailed copies. The association's address is NYSRA, 640 Fulton Street, Farmingdale, NY 11735.

Tree Planning Guide

Lileo has announced that its revised Tree Planning Guide is now available.

Whether trees are planted for shade, beauty or privacy, the guide will help home gardeners choose trees well-suited for their specific landscaping conditions. The 18-page guide has been revised with up-to-date information on selecting, planting and caring for shade and ornamental trees. It also includes a comprehensive guide to using Lileo's tree trim hotline at 800-LIL-TRIM.

Lileo is providing quantities of the guide free of charge to Long Island's garden centers, nurseries and horticultural groups for distribution to their customers and members. Requests for the guide should be directed to the Lileo media relations department, 175 E. Old Country Road, Hicksville, NY, 11801.

The guide was edited by Lilco horticulturalist Larry Ferrandiz, with the assistance of Richard Weir III of Nassau County Cooperative Extension. Officials of the Cornell Cooperative Extension also provided assistance.

Vacant House Fire

A vacant house on Jerusalem Avenue near Alexander Avenue was destroyed during an early morning fire on April 29.

The alarm was received by the Hicksville Fire Department at 1:51 a.m. and nine units and 50 members responded. Upon arrival, the house was completely involved and occupied and neighboring homes were being showered by burning embers, fire department spokesman Owen Magee said.

"There have been several fires in this house in the last six years and efforts to contact the owner who lives overseas has been unsuccessful," said Magee. Last year, the Town of Oyster Bay sought a court order to demolish the home.

Things- This And That

Over the last 5 weeks we have discussed fixed income investments. The good, the bad of them, the ridiculous and the sublime. It is time to catch up on things.

It has been great times on Wall Street for the first quarter. You could hardly have made a mistake. Stocks have returned to vogue in a big way. One of the contributing factors is the weak, or should we say paltry, returns that people are getting in the money market mutual funds. To make matters worse, when your CD has to be rolled over, the returns have slipped to about enough to cover the inflation rate. Throw in the tax bite, and you get a negative return. Getting Yields. People do not want to just keep up. They want to increase their wealth. With the short term rates low, investors are reaching out for higher yields. To escape six percent and below, they are looking at more risky investments. For instance, the foreign money markets offer higher yield. Great, why not switch! There is no reason not to do so as long as you understand that you have added another risk level that you do not get in U.S. money markets; the currency swings. This is a real threat to your higher returns. If you buy a higher yielding fund (or foreign stock or bond) remember the time to buy them is when the dollar is weak. When the dollar gets stronger, the dollar value will increase, and vice versa. Right now, the dollar has started to fall again. This will be a little further down the road. Wait a little longer for the international money markets.

We have researched 38 international stock funds trying to find a few gems. We found two that met our very harsh standards. We are having a seminar on May 22. (details at the end) We will discuss them. We featured them in our May newsletter.

Reaching For Higher Yields. Investors are stretching for higher yields. Another vehicle they are looking at, and buying, are mutual funds that specialize in adjustable rate mortgages, or that are geared to the prime rate. There is absolutely nothing wrong with these funds (or any investment) as long as you understand the risks.

With the international money markets, the risk is currency values. With adjustable rate mortgages, the risk is fluctuating prices. These investments, either directly or in mutual funds, will fluctuate with interest rates. As interest rates fall, the interest falls and you will get less yield. You will get more yield than with money markets, just understand the variability. The prime rate funds will match the rise and, more likely, the fall of the prime rate. The rate floats. The risk here is that the investments are in senior secured bank loans. You rely on the managers to pick banks that will not fail. That should not be much of a risk. However, Greenspan said that there is no reason for banks to be kept alive just because they are big. The motto always is: Understand What You Buy, Before You Buy.

If you buy a mutual fund, look for a no load fund. These funds are not difficult to administer. Look for low expense ratios. We will shortly investigate funds of this type and make up a report.

Annuities. These have recently been all over the media. A major firm, First Executive went bankrupt. How does this affect you? What are the risks to your annuities? We will discuss this at our upcoming seminar. We will discuss mutual funds and the economy.

The Seminar. May 22 at 7:30, Garden City Casino, 51 Cathedral Ave. You must write or call us, not the paper, to register. 56 Brixton Road, GC, 11530, or 741-7450. See you there.

Minutemen Progress To Fourth Round

The Hicksville Minutemen 1977 B travelling soccer team progressed to the fourth round of the NY State Cup Tournament in their age group, after an 8-0 win over Schenectady, New York, at Triangle Field on April 28.

The defense, which constantly kept the ball moving upfield, was anchored by Danny dePinho in goal in the first half and Bobby Braun in goal in the second, assisted by Kenny D'Introno at sweeper, Timmy Dalton at left halfback, Greg Walunas at right halfback and Andres Turcios at stopper. The first half goals were scored by Richard Werchenski on a header off an Anthony Noya corner kick, at the game's 5 minute mark; Jason Brown, unassisted at the 10 minute mark; Brown again on a Tommy Coffey cross at the 15 minute mark; Coffey off an Anthony Noya setup at the 20 minute mark; and Werchenski again, off a Coffey feed at the 25 minute mark for a 5-0 halftime lead.

dePinho switched to left wing in the second half and was set up by Coffey one minute into the play. Four minutes later, Coffey again set up dePinho. The Minutemen then did much passing, constantly moving the ball around, for the next 20 minutes at which time Jason Brown set up Noya who put in a line drive from 25 yards out, for an 8-0 lead. All of the defensive players then switched to offense for the game's final 10 minutes. Bobby Wagner and Brian Rigert also played a fine game at wing, striker and halfback.

Minutemen Beat Auburndale

In a game on April 27, the Hicksville Minutemen evened their LI Junior Soccer League record to 2 wins, 2 ties, and 2 losses, via a thoroughly dominating 2-0 victory over the Auburndale Navahoos. Hicksville was led to the win by the sensational play of Jorge daSilva at sweeper.

Hicksville, playing minus two starters and their top two subs, had something to prove to themselves, and played with that idea in mind, from the opening to closing whistle of the game, controlling the ball and the game's tempo at the offensive end, midfield, and in the defensive zone. Their constant persistence paid off at the game's 29 minute mark. Hicksville's offensive pressure forced Auburndale to put the ball over the end line, setting up an Anthony Noya corner kick, which went directly to left half Michael Hershkowitz. Michael then put the ball past the Auburndale keeper for a 1-0 Hicksville lead. Three minutes later, Brian Rigert, at left wing, gave Doug Garcia, at striker, a perfect lead pass, which he carried in and put past the Auburndale goalkeeper for a 2-0 Minutemen lead.

Former Grumman CEO John Bierwirth Is Still Taking Care of Business on Long Island

For 16 years, Jack Bierwirth ran the Grumman Corporation, Long Island's largest employer and a major economic force. In his "retirement" Jack is busier than ever, although every now and then he finds time to fish. He is deeply involved in a cause that is just as important as maintaining Long Island's economic well-being: restoring and preserving our unique environment.

Today Jack is Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Long Island Chapter of The Nature Conservancy. For 39 years, The Nature Conservancy has been in the business of saving land all over the world — more than 6 million acres in the United States alone. And on Long Island we've protected more than 25,000 acres, including the 19-acre remnant of the Hempstead Plains.

We Long Islanders can still fish for trout; we can still walk in the woods, lie on the beaches, swim in the bays. But make no mistake, the quality of life here is under threat. We urge you to make it your business to help preserve Long Island's magnificent natural heritage by becoming a member of The Nature Conservancy. For further information, call (516) 367-3225, or write to us at our Long Island Headquarters, 250 Lawrence Hill Road, Cold Spring Harbor, NY 11724.

Please enroll me as a member of The Nature Conservancy. My $15.00 check is enclosed.

PAL Lacrosse Defeats Floral Park

The Hicksville third/fourth grade PAL Lacrosse team avenged their only loss of this year by defeating Floral Park 8-5 Sunday. Hicksville played its best game of the season and handed Floral Park its first defeat. While Hicksville dominated the entire game they took only a one goal lead into the fourth quarter. The strong aggressive play of the Hicksville defense led by Robbie Normile, Ryan O'Toole, and Carl Johnson held the Floral Park attack to only one goal in the last quarter. This great effort by the defense gave the Hicksville offense the opportunity to score three goals in the final quarter making the difference in the game. Robbie Normile even assisted in two goals on clears he made. Thomas Busch played another outstanding game as goalie making six great saves.

The Hicksville offense played unquestionably its best and smartest game of the season. The great hustle by the midfielders and attackmen came up with many loose ground balls and were able to find the open man for the score. Brian Boyle lead the attack with four goals. Chris Swier (1 goal/2 assists), Dennis Abberton (1 goal), Jimmy Madden (1 goal), Danny Cocchi (1 goal), and Mike Silver (1 assist) provided the rest of Hicksville scoring.

This most important victory of the season was a result of a superior team effort. The other members of the team contributing in this victory were: Matt Koenig, Ryan Cousland, Michael Theis, Shaun Lyons, James (JT) Quinn, and Matt Koopmann.

Liza Dazzles With A "Z"

William Gravert

She's the queen of the tabloids, darling of the entertainment programs... She's Liza Minnelli, show biz with a "Z"

Confirming her position in the rarefied stratosphere of glitzy musical theatre, Liza opened a three-week run—through May 23—last Tuesday at Radio City Music Hall.

Directed by her long-time lyricist Fred Ebb, musical direction by Bill LaVorgna, arrangements by Marvin Laird, choreography by Susan Stroman and Lisa Mordente (daughter of Chita Rivera), the million dollar production, Stepping Out, is loosely based on her movie, due out in September.

The first act features Liza the chanteuse. In the second act, Liza the hooper is backed by a varied mosaic of a dozen tapping women—who also handle the chorus chores—all singers who jump out of the audience to join her on the world's largest stage.

At the final preview Liza looked taut and fit in white beaded mini-dress, white leather jacket and cowboy boots, but seemed ill-at-ease—chalk it up to opening night jitters.

Though not a trained dancer, Liza's skills are sufficient for this occasion. It's her powerful and energetic voice that separates Liza-the-Pro from the also-rans. Her repertoire spanned the musical horizon from evocative ballads to full-pipe show tunes.

Witness the touching A Cottage For Sale, the sensitive Teach Me Tonight, or the title song Stepping Out. On the flip-side is Gypsy's bouncy and bubbly Some People and So What (Settle For What You Get) from Camelot.

Liza employs a very European style of performance, peppering her songs with stories and anecdotes. Recalling "the happiest 80-year-old woman" she ever met, she chimes the bright and spritely I'm Livin' Along And I Like It.

Most entertaining were Charles Asneour's Quiet Love (with Liza augmenting the lyrics with sign language) and the lusty Sailor Boys.

The dancing cast is an exercise in democracy. Ranging in age from the squeaky-clean, 18-year-old identical twins to a 56-year-old grandmother, let's just say they aren't the Solid Gold Dancers.

Liza stands out on the athletic Tipperary. Most fun was the spicy ensemble number My Heart Belongs To Daddy.

Stepping Out features a heartfelt tribute to Liza's daddy, director Vincente Minnelli (a former artistic director at the Music Hall), titled Seeing Things.

It's sophisticated fun—check it out and

"Z" what I mean.

Tickets are available at the Radio City box office, 50th Street and Avenue of the Americas, or through TicketMaster 212-307-7171, 516-888-9000. For information call 212-247-4777.

Long Island Opera Company To Present Il Trovatore

This spring, the Long Island Opera Company will present two performances of Verdi's Il Trovatore. A Saturday, May 11 presentation will be offered at the Lincoln P. Orens School in Island Park; on the following Saturday, May 18 the Company will perform at Roslyn Middle School. At both locations, the opera will be a fully staged production with orchestra and will begin at 8 p.m.

The Long Island Opera Company is celebrating its 30th year of bringing fully staged and costumed grand opera and operetta to the Long Island community at affordable prices. The Company features fine young singers from the New York area who have performed throughout the United States.

Charles Bezinover, artistic director and general manager, took the reins of the Company in 1989, installing a professional orchestra and chorus. Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Golotta says that "Mr. Bezinover has consistently worked to raise the quality of the performances while retaining the Company's commitment to maintaining affordable ticket prices."

Mr. Bezinover, who has been a principal tenor with the Long Island Opera Company since 1981, has directed the group's performances of Die Fledermaus, Tosca, Cavalleria Rusticana, I Pagliacci, La Beheme and most recently, The Barber of Seville. According to Jerry Seckler, Director of the Nassau County Office of Cultural Development, "Mr. Bezinover strives to present operatic performances that are not only beautiful, but understandable and entertaining as well."

For the May 11 performance of Il Trovatore, soprano Kathleen Lacey will play the part of Leonora, tenor Thomas Honnick will play Manrico, baritone Charles Gafford will perform as Count Di Luna and Florence Sammon Consorte, mezzo-soprano, will sing Azucena's role. On May 18, Leonora will be played by soprano Dorothee Kemps, Manrico will be played by tenor Ronald Carter, the Count will be performed by Leo Lozito, baritone and mezzo-soprano Stephanie Rogers will portray Azucena. Alan Andrews will play the part of Ferrando for both performances. All of these performers have extensive operatic experience and promise to offer memorable performances. Mr. Lozito and Ms. Rogers each have been with the Long Island Opera Company for more than 20 years.

Admission for Il Trovatore will be $10 for general admission seats; $7 for senior citizens and students. Children under 12 years old will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult. The Lincoln Orens School is located on Trafalgar Boulevard in Island Park; Roslyn Middle School is at Powerhouse Road and Locust Lane in Roslyn. The Nassau County Office of Cultural Development, the sponsoring agency for the two performances, may be reached by calling 624-7120 for further information.

Congress For Jewish Cultural Arts On Long Island

In a precedent-setting move, the United Jewish Ys of Long Island will host the First Congress for Jewish Cultural Arts on Long Island on Friday, May 31, 1991. This one-day conference will be held at the Sid Jacobson-North Shore YM & YWHA and is open to all organizations, whether or not ethnically affiliated, that present Jewish visual or performing arts programs. A major goal is to establish, for the first time anywhere, an opportunity for professional and lay people, representing organizations committed to the Jewish arts, but not necessarily of Jewish heritage, to network and develop cooperative programming.

The Congress has been conceived of as an educational tool to assist in broadening the knowledge and scope of Jewish cultural programs and provide direction in methods of achieving presentation. In an earlier planning meeting, Long Island organizations such as YM & YWHAs, youth groups, Jewish service organizations, schools, arts councils, churches, museums, and PTAs came together to compare current and projected activities and needs. Based on its recommendations, workshops on topics such as marketing, fundraising and programming will be presented by recognized professionals in the field, and there will be ample opportunity to network with colleagues.

Oscar Brand, the internationally acknowledged folk singer, resident of Great Neck, will chair the conference. The Congress will enable participants to define audiences and methods of reaching them, identify resource tools and share knowledge. Specifically, the conference will enable them to explore the potential for consortium, investigate funding sources, set up a communication amongst themselves, compare ticket sales approaches, and share mailing lists.

To register for the Congress for Jewish

Cultural Arts on Long Island, send $25 to the United Jewish Ys of Long Island, 55 Manetto Hill Road, Plainville, NY 11803, or call 516-938-4600 for more information. The conference will begin at 9:00 a.m. and run until 1:30 p.m., at the conveniently located Sid Jacobson-North Shore YM & YWHA in East Hills. The registration fee includes coffee and Danish at check-in and lunch at noon, as well as a hardcover looseleaf Directory of Jewish Performing Arts, and two tickets to the Ninth Annual International Jewish Arts Festival of Long Island, which will take place on September 1 and 2, 1991, Labor Day weekend. The Festival is the United Jewish Ys largest annual community outreach program, serving to strengthen the community as a whole, and presents over 150 performing and visual artists to audiences of 20,000 annually.

The bidding:
South West North East
1♥ Pass 2♠ Pass
2♥ Pass 3♥
Opening lead — Jack of spades.

The trouble was that all these triumphs occurred only in Samson's dreams. In real life he couldn't count to 13, and he revoked as often as he followed suit. In fact, he once went down 4,600 points at three notrump redoubled when he could have made the contract with an overtrick!

But once Samson entered the Land of Nod, a startling change took place. His sluggish mind vanished, and his thinking suddenly became clear and precise.

Here is a simple example of Samson's prowess. He held the East hand against four hearts. Declarer won the spade lead with the ace, drew two rounds of trumps, then led the queen of diamonds and finessed.

Our hero took the king and calmly returned the only card in his hand that could beat the contract — the jack of clubs! Declarer was helpless. Whether he covered or not, the defenders could not be stopped from scoring three club tricks to put him down one.

But note that if Samson had made the more normal return of the three of clubs instead of the jack, South would have followed low and lost only two club tricks. Similarly, had Samson cashed the ace of clubs first, declarer would also have lost only two club tricks. Samson had triumphed again!

Once upon a time, in the early days of contract bridge, there lived a man by the name of Samson Shmearcase. He was regarded by some (particularly by himself) as the greatest bridge player who ever lived.

His exploits at the card table were simply phenomenal. Smother plays, double squeezes and triple grand coups were all child's play to him, and when he was defending, no hand that could be defeated was ever made.

Comets Lacrosse Knock Out Baldwin 12-9

The Hicksville Comets Varsity Lacrosse Team took sole possession of second place on April 19, knocking Baldwin into third, by a winning score of 12 to 9.

Once again, "Smoken" Joe Renneisen scored 5 goals and 1 assist with ease. Eugene Goodrich had 2 goals, 2 assists and was a major asset as a team pulled together. Mike Valente with 2 goals, 1 assist kept Baldwin's defense on its toes. Rich Nofi (won 17 out of 25 face-offs), Les Spence and Vinnie Spadaro each contributed important goals.

Defensemen Tom Bruckner, Scott Hutchinson and defensive midfielder Jarret Roth all took great strides in clearing the ball downfield. Bob Coogan also had a great game at defense. Goalie Doug Danowski skillfully protected Hicksville's goal with 11 saves.

Hicksville played a close game against Massapequa on April 22. The final score was 10 to 9 with Massapequa scoring the fatal goal with 43 seconds left in the fourth quarter. Rich Nofi took 7 out of 13 face-offs, and goalie Doug Danowski made 10 saves.

Hicksville's winning ways continued with a 5-2 victory over a very tough MacArthur team. Thanks to goalie Doug Danowski (7 saves) and the defense led by Tom Bruckner, Bob Coogan, Jarret Roth and Scott Hutchinson the first half ended scoreless. The offense got going in the third quarter. Vinnie Spadaro led the attack with two goals, Joe Renneisen had 1 goal, 1 assist, Eugene Goodrich, had 1 goal and 1 assist, Rich Nofi had 1 goal.
