Youth Council Plans For Fundraiser

By Rita Langdon

Proposed cuts in state youth services and warning signs that the future could bring further cuts, has prompted the Hicksville Youth Council to begin plans for a major fundraiser this August.

The Youth Council, located at 175 West Old Country Road, met with community members last week to toss around ideas for the weekend event called "Save The Hicksville Youth Council."

Aug. 17 and 18 have been designated for a car wash, carnival and flea market. The flea market and carnival will be held at Beacon Federal Savings Bank on Old Country Road, a few doors down from the council. Rain dates are Aug. 24 and 25.

The Youth Council is also planning other events for the weekend.

The council will host another meeting this Monday, July 8, and is again asking residents for their input. "We did a lot of brainstorming at our first meeting," said executive director Tom Bruno.

Two Heroes Return From Gulf

By Rita Langdon

Hicksville can now add Sean Brennan and John Renneisen to its list of Persian Gulf veterans who have returned to U.S. soil.

CPL Sean Brennan returned to Hicksville on June 20 after serving five months in Operation Desert Storm.

PFC John Renneisen, son of JoAnne Renneisen and John Renneisen, arrived on April 26 after serving more than seven months in the Persian Gulf as a member of the 2nd Armor Regiment Division.

Both 1988 graduates were greeted with applause by members of the Mid-Island Support Group for Desert Storm which met last week at the Hicksville VFW hall.

"I'm really glad you were there for my mom," said Sean of his mother, Maureen Falco who is a member of the support group. "If people didn't care we were over there, we wouldn't care," said Sean. "The support made a difference."

"It was really great to know the support we had from home—from everybody, not just from Hicksville, but from the United States," said John.

Sean's enlistment in the army, which would have ended five months ago, was extended because of the war. Since his discharge, he has relocated to Florida and will be marrying former Hicksville resident Marny Filaseta in October 1992.

John will be returning to an Army base in Germany on July 17. After he finishes his term in the army, he plans to attend college in engineering.

The Mid-Island Support Group now awaits for one more soldier to return to Hicksville. 2nd Class Petty Officer Michael J. Krikalo, son of Jeanne Scott of Hicksville and Martin Krikalo of Huntington is expected to be home this week. The 1986 Hicksville High School graduate has served aboard the battleship U.S.S. Missouri home-ported in Long Beach, California.

School's Closed—Not Just For The Summer

Willet Avenue Shuts Its Doors

By Rita Langdon

The halls and classrooms at Willet Avenue Elementary School are empty now. But unlike Hicksville's nine other schools, the sounds of children talking and laughing will not return again in the fall.

Willet Avenue officially closed its doors to students on June 21. About 160 students who attended Willet will be heading to Woodland Avenue Elementary School in September.

Declining pupil enrollment, the Board of Education's decision for school consolidations and the elimination of singleton classes were major factors in the school closing decision.

To help ease the integration process, both Willet and Woodland hosted joint programs so students would be able to meet their new classmates.

Both schools instituted a pen-pal program in which students in Willet corresponded with their future Woodland Avenue classmates. The PTAs held a joint picnic earlier in June at Woodland Avenue to meet their pen-pals. The Willet Avenue students later paired off with their pen-pals who showed them the classrooms they will be learning in come September.

On Arbor Day, a tree, donated by the Willet Avenue PTA, was planted at Woodland Avenue to serve as a reminder of the merge. A plaque is located at the site in memory of Willet Avenue.

Woodland Avenue PTA sponsored a get-together in which Willet Avenue parents were invited to tour the school earlier this year. More than 500 people attended a Woodland Avenue PTA-sponsored social for families of both schools.

On the last day of school, Willet Avenue teachers, students, parents and friends paid tribute to their school during a special ceremony.

The students placed objects in a time capsule that represented Willet Avenue. Some of the items to be preserved include the first grade reading books used in Willet's first year (1962-1963), a poster of Willet, predictions for the year 2,010, future ambitions, written memories and memorabilia and a school banner. The time capsule will be kept at Woodland Avenue.

Willet Avenue fifth graders were given honorary certificates of excellence at the ceremony because they will not be graduating from Willet Avenue next year.

Willet Principal Michael Dunn was honored, as were retiring nurse Bridget Herzlinger and ESL (English as a Second Language) teacher Barbara Seiden, whose position has been excessed.

Four Willet Avenue teachers will be assigned to three other district schools. Barbara Bunting will teach at Burns Avenue, Theresa Doerler and Carl Schulz head for Fork Lane and Sophie Milburn to Lee Avenue.

Willet teachers Nicholas Monfredo, Rosalie Sones, Sandra Salat, Margaret Belz and Barbara Koenig have all been assigned to Woodland Avenue.

Woodland Avenue has officially extended its membership to Willet Avenue PTA members. Susan DeFreitas of Woodland Avenue will continue to serve as PTA president for another year. The vice presidency will be shared by one parent from Woodland and another from Willet. The PTA executive board is now comprised of both Willet and Woodland parents.

Michael Dunn, Willet's principal, said of the closing: "There was a lot of mixed emotions. The students felt very sad about it, but they're confident they'll get a good education at Woodland Avenue School [and] they're hopeful that next year will be a good year."

Dunn has been principal at Willet Avenue for five years. He has been assigned to Burns Avenue to serve as principal. "It was a great experience for me," he said. "I really enjoyed the Willet Avenue parents, students and teachers."

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Catherine Fenton said in an interview last week:

In Appreciation

I received this wonderful letter from Marie Smith a Hicksville mailcarrier.

"I would like very much if you could please print the following message in your paper. I have the most caring patrons! You see, I have been ill with the Epstein-Barr virus for a few months (a.k.a. chronic fatigue syndrome) and I am a letter carrier. I was out of work altogether for a month and I am now on light duty. I was one of the lucky ones—they caught it early. I am amazed at all the cards and well-wishes I have received from my customers.

"They went out of their way to find my address, write get well notes and request the substitute to tell me they hope I feel better. Many of them are very ill themselves, far more so than I am!

"Here is my message:
"To everyone on Route 22 in Hicksville: Thank you for all so very much for all your caring concern and well-wishes! The cards and messages I received really cheered me and helped me to feel better. I hope you are all well and I will see you soon!

Your letter carrier, Marie"

Science Awards For High School Students

Hicksville High School's science department proudly announced three outstanding award categories in science recently. Two of these are new to Hicksville. The first of the new awards is a result of a high school physics competition, the Physics Challenge Contest, sponsored by the Long Island Physics Teachers' Association. The winner of the school-wide competition was John Butt, with runner-up Ray DeAngelis. John's name will be inscribed on a plaque to be hung in the school lobby, and both students received award certificates.

The second new award, from St. John's University, recognizes outstanding women in science. Framed certificates were distributed to the following female students for their corresponding outstanding achievements: Linda Thomas, Chemistry; Cathy Hora, Chemistry; Judy Woo, Chemistry; Lorraine Fan, Chemistry and Biology; Cynthia Gaylor, Chemistry and Biology; Tara Hooper, Chemistry and Biology; Colleen Bartley, Physics; Kathleen Rombach, Physics; Kathleen Higgins, Biology; and Samantha Smith, Biology.

The third award was presented to the most outstanding junior in science. The prestigious Bausch & Lomb award was given to Soo Young Kim for his outstanding overall achievement in science. The award enables Soo Young to compete for a substantial scholarship to the University of Rochester upon graduation.

• In other high school happenings, the original poster contest sponsored by PAWS (Pioneers for Animal Welfare Society) and the Greater New York Savings Bank was won by two Hicksville High School Students.

Jennifer Rappaport won first prize and Vinnie Inocco won third prize. The presentation was held at the Broadway Mall branch of the Greater New York Savings Bank on June 18.

The PAWS Organization has been part of the speakers' program in the health classes at the high school.

• The Hicksville High School students in Kathy Lawlor's Human Development Class recently learned the responsibilities involved in caring for an infant.

For a week, these students carried their "Flour Babies," a five-pound sack of flour, everywhere with them. This included having to hire a baby sitter if the student were to go out without their flour baby. Industrial Arts teacher Howard Schwartz helped to set up the window display in the front lobby where the flour babies were placed after the assignment. The students were very clever in decorating the display and dressing up their babies!

The students who took part in this project are Stephanie Mirro, Debbie Frankson, Danielle Cipione, Theresa Romano and Tanya Karazin. Sharon Fredericks, Margaret Diekjobst, Jennifer Manna, Sue Doucette, Amy Hojnowski and Lisa Ellinger.

SCHOOL BRIEFS

College Graduates

Sixteen Hicksville residents were among the more than 1,100 students at the C.W. Post Campus of Long Island University who received their degrees May 12.

They include John Bargiuk, Barbara Boehmle, Gail Brindler, Joseph Doherty, Stephen Erickson, Su-Chuan Hsu, Margaret Hughes, Shin-Hak Kang, Christine Korb, Jun-Bin Leem, John McAleese, Karen Patterson, Deborah Ressa, Rosa Villata, Peter Weisgerber and Jiann-Shya Wey.

Visitors From Russia

Four Soviet visitors toured Hicksville High School recently as part of a cultural awareness exchange sponsored by the district's retired School Nurse-Teacher Gery McManus. McManus, who has travelled extensively throughout the Soviet Union, is now hosting Russian visitors in our country, giving them a taste of Hicksville and Manhattan, as well as an American public high school. The Soviets—Sergei Zladimirov, who is interested in American math classes and finance; Alex Gouk, a Russian Tour Guide for French speaking people, as well as a Russian Art buff; and Valentina Souchko and Irna Lyssens, both secretaries for Sputnik and the Russian space program—were impressed with the school district and noted a freer exchange between students and teachers.

State Summer School

Hicksville High School Sophomores Kathryn Knauer, Allison Rappaport, Mark Haddad, So Young Kim and Elaine Chow have been chosen to attend the New York State Summer School of the Arts Program at the School of Visual Arts co-sponsored by the State University College at Fredonia and the Chautauque Institution.

The program, which runs from June 30 through July 27, provides the opportunity for 150 New York State students to work in sculpture, clay sculpture, printmaking, mixed media, and drawing and painting under the direction of noted exhibiting artists and educators.

The students were selected on their portfolio presentations. The School of Visual Arts is a State-sponsored program supported by the Office of the Governor and State Legislator, and administered by the State Education Department.

We're putting our money where our mouth is to preserve Long Island's water supply.

Long Island's water supply is the finest in the nation. At Slomin's we're taking positive steps to help preserve it. Specifically, we've established a special financial assistance program to help subsidize the cost of complying with the new regulations regarding buried fuel oil tanks.

Under this program, you will be able to purchase our environmentally safe, 280-gallon fiberglass tank for a price that is truly below our cost.* There are also economical options available for above ground storage tanks, starting as low as $100 installed. We realize that even with our subsidy, replacing your tank may be a financial burden, so we're offering low monthly payments with no interest or finance charges.

As a leader in the fuel oil industry, we feel a responsibility to invest in our community... to put our money where our mouth is, so to speak. We're proud to be working with our Long Island neighbors to preserve our fragile environment.

James Carroll Named K Of C Warden

The New York State Council of the Knights of Columbus, at its recent annual convention, announced the election of James E. Carroll to the office of State Warden.

Carroll is a parishioner of St. Ignatius in Hicksville and a member of the Joseph Barry Council, also in Hicksville.

Additionally, Carroll is a board member of A.H.R.C. and is employed at Marine Midland Bank as assistant vice-president/branch manager in Lynbrook.

JAMES E. CARROLL

Presently, there are more than 26,000 members of the K of C in Nassau and Suffolk Counties, with 83 local councils. Carroll said that the goal of the Knights is to make people in the diocese more aware of their many charitable endeavors and to increase the membership to 30,000 men. All Catholic men over the age of 18 are encouraged to contact a local council and learn more about the largest Catholic fraternal order in the world today.

During May, students in grades 4, 5, 6 and 7 at Saint Ignatius Loyola School went on oceanographic trips out of Captree Boat Basin, West Babylon.

The students worked at different stations which allowed them to collect plankton samples with their homemade plankton nets. Tide bottles were dropped with messages inside requesting the post cards be filled out and returned by mail. Some of the cards were returned.

At the Ocean Beach area, the crew dredged the bottom to bring up samples of mollusks and crustaceans which were all identified. On the way back to Captree, the children were able to relax and enjoy a scenic boat ride.

THE WOODLAND AVENUE and Willet Avenue PTAs held a Woodland-Willet Picnic for the students and staff of the two schools on June 6. The picnic, held at Woodland elementary school, brought together the two school communities. Willet Avenue is closing and the students will now attend Woodland. The students, who had pen-pals from the other school, were paired off with their new friend and integrated into the same grade classroom. The classes shared similar experiences with each other, as the Woodland students showed the Willet students around their room. It was an exciting experience as the Willet children were introduced to their new school and all the children made many new friends. Here, Bill Vernillo, a

Opening lead — king of hearts.

The bidding by the opponents sometimes draws a road map that leads declarer directly to his destination. For example, suppose you wind up in three spades on this deal after the bidding shown and West leads the K-A-J of hearts, which you ruff.

It is obvious at this point — since West doubled one spade and then doubled two spades, both times for takeout — that West almost surely has the ace of diamonds and king of clubs.

It follows that if you play the hand in the normal way — that is, draw trumps and lead a low club from dummy to your queen — you may wind up losing five tricks and go down one. In the actual case, if you adopted this line of play, you would in fact finish down one.

But you should not play the hand in this fashion under the given circumstances. It is far better to arrange your play so as to take advantage of the information gained from West's bidding.

The best approach is to lead a trump to the queen at trick four and ruff dummy's last heart. Then cash the ace of trumps and, when both defenders follow suit, you are all set to apply the coup de grace.

Lead a low club towards dummy's jack. If West goes up with the king, you score three club tricks and cannot lose more than one diamond. So let's assume West plays the four of clubs instead.

In that case you win with dummy's jack and return a club to your eight.
West wins with the nine but is stymied. It does not matter whether he returns a club into your A-Q or leads a diamond — either way you lose only one diamond trick and make the contract.

The Unsung Hero

This past weekend (June 23) was a very happy and rewarding time in the Schrader household. Tricia, who was injured in a car accident almost four years ago, was eight months in a coma, one-and-a-half years in a re-hab hospital and still on the mend, graduated from High School and had a great party to celebrate her success.

We want to tell you of the person behind this brave girl. The woman who has been at her side encouraging her, her mom. Pat

Schrader spends countless hours a day working with Tricia on her therapies, and any other thing she needs, and whenever times get tough and depressing Pat is there to encourage her and never lets her give up.

Pat always seems to be in the background enjoying Tricia's successes and we want her to know that her friends applaud her for her sacrifices and know that without her none of this would be.

Community Honors Dr. Fenton At Dinner

Saluting retiring Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Catherine J. Fenton, a large cross-section of Hicksville community leaders and educators dined and danced away on June 14 at the Cheateau Briand Restaurant in Carle Place.

Among those speaking in tribute to the retiring school leader, who praised her decade-long service to Hicksville included retiring school board trustee William Bennett, Assistant Superintendent Dr. Robert Couillard, Robert Durso, director of education, William Hall, Assistant Superintendent for Business Services and master of ceremonies for the evening.

Also serving on the dinner committee was Thomas Shaw, director of facilities and operations, and Dr. Dan Kremin, director of special education who presented Dr. Fenton with gifts.

A Letter from Lulubelle...

...Everyone has lots of family pictures—mostly locked away in drawers and boxes, but I have noticed that more and more people are making what they call "a family picture wall" . . . There are pictures of all kinds—old rotogravure brown ones with ladies in bouffant hairdos and bustles—and new ones in full color. . . Interspersed are often old wedding certificates, graduation diplomas, perhaps a very special picture drawn by a long-ago kindergartner with the sky and the ground far apart and a round sun with rays shooting out and a note on the bottom saying, "I love you, Mommy" . . . And one that I have is composed of photos of each grandchild taken on Christmas day every year. . . The first was only two months old and there she is in one of those stretch terry red Santa suits complete with cap and white pom pom looking wide-eyed at all that's going on. . . Then there's number two grandchild already six months old clutching her teddy bear and happily smiling at all the toys. . . and then, another girl-child enchanting in her velvet dress and big hair bow. . . and finally a boy at six months old and obviously puzzled by the whole affair. . . and after that, every year, another picture—growing from year to year through dolls and trains and into the teens. . . and finally, the oldest is joined in her Christmas photos by a gorgeous husband!! . . . This is a really wonderful family picture wall—but the one that shows all the generations and all the ancient ancestors is delightful as well—have one of each. . . Don't mind putting nails in the wall—have your family before your eyes!!

Yours, Lulubelle

Sister Jeanine Wins Education Award

Sister Jeanine, who heads the mathematics department and teaches math to the seventh and eighth grades at Our Lady of Mercy, received the Outstanding Teacher's Award at the National Catholic Education Association's annual award convention in Boston.

The award, presented by the Department of Elementary Schools of the National Catholic Association, was established in honor of Sister Miriam Joseph Farrell, P.B.V.M., who was the Executive Secretary of the NCEA until her illness and death in 1970. This prestigious award gives public recognition to the excellence of Catholic elementary school teachers in the 12 geographic regions of the United States. Criteria for nomination and selection for this award include at least 10 years of service as a teacher in Catholic elementary school education, a clear, integral philosophy of Catholic education, a teacher highly regarded by colleagues, and a member of the NCEA Department of Elementary Schools.

Sister Jeanine said, "I am convinced that the development and integration of the 'whole' youngster, body, mind and spirit are keys to providing a child with a lasting educational foundation. Education should provide an exciting experience which leads one from 'darkness to light' and from ignorance to truth, the truth that is God."

Sister Jeanine has taught at Our Lady of Mercy since 1969. When the students leave Mercy and go into ninth grade, she often hears from their parents how easy they find math because of their sound preparation.

COUNTY BRIEFS

Child Abuse Prevention

Nassau County will implement a series of child abuse seminars for seasonal and full time recreational employees working for the county.

The seminars will consist of a two hour training course designed to educate the employees in three major aspects of child abuse: how to identify abuse; how to approach a child who is suspected of being abused; and the proper method of reporting child abuse.

"This program is designed to provide our seasonal and recreational employees—those who are most likely to come into contact with children—with the tools to detect signs of child abuse," said Nassau County Executive Thomas Gulotta.

The seminars will be provided free of charge by Jean Forman, Director of the Nassau County Coalition on Child Abuse and Neglect.

Breast Cancer Education Bill Signed Into Law

Legislation which will promote the early detection and diagnosis of breast cancer by allowing approved breast cancer detection and education programs to provide breast health awareness education at the elementary school level has been signed into law by the New York State Senate.

Prior to the new law, the State Department of Health was authorized to provide state grants to approved breast cancer detection and education programs to conduct breast health awareness programs in secondary schools, upon the approval of the local school district, but was not authorized to provide the grants to elementary schools. The program includes instruction on breast self examination and the importance of this as a lifelong personal health behavior and the benefits of early detection and treatment.

The new law resulted from a 1990 Breast Cancer Symposium conducted by the Senate Health Committee at which the participants unanimously recommended that breast cancer education begin as early as possible in order to provide a better understanding of the benefits of early detection, the risk factors for breast cancer and the importance of breast self examination. Survival rates are greater than 90 percent when the disease is diagnosed in its early stages.

Swim And Recreation Events For Physically Challenged

Two swim and recreation programs for physically challenged adults will be offered again this summer by the Nassau County Department of Recreation and Parks.

The programs will offer one-to-one pool assistance and companionship in a pleasant park setting. Pool areas are assigned for the exclusive use by program participants. Games and conversation will take place before the assigned swim time.

The schedule is as follows: Christopher Morley Park, North Hills, Wednesdays, July 10 - August 21, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.; North Woodmere Park, North Woodmere, Thursdays, July 11 - August 22, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

A physician's advisement and registration form is required prior to participation. There is no fee for either program and bus transportation is available to both parks from Eisenhower Park. For registration and further information, call 542-4438.

Wanted: Some Very Special Families

By Andrea Marjone

Love, nurturing, patience and understanding are but a few of the virtues that parents find essential in raising well-adjusted children. Unfortunately, these virtues are gifts, and not every parent has them, nor cares to.

Enter North Shore Child and Family Guidance Center (NSCFGCC).

A mental health agency founded 35 years ago, NSCFGCC is a major Long Island facility for consultation, counseling and treatment of children, adolescents and their families. Using "clinic teams," the center assists parents in preventing the development of emotional disturbances and treats children's problems by dealing with their causes.

NSCFGCC was the first community supported, non-profit guidance center for children in Nassau County and it still counts on a strong community base. Residents and civic leaders who organized the agency, have, in more than three decades of action, instituted a unique partnership with highly trained professionals to serve the children and their families.

Youth from birth to 25 years and their families are eligible for service. Fees are based on family income on a sliding scale and no one is refused help due to inability to pay. The quality of service does not depend on the amount of the fee. A broad base of services is offered: individual, family and group therapy; parent counseling; and crisis intervention. The center has more than 30,000 patient visits annually and all services are also offered in Spanish. A special effort is made to be sensitive to the needs of all minority and ethnic populations.

A new program offered by NSCFGCC is Turnabout, which utilizes a foster-parent model for meeting the special emotional needs of children and adolescents. Turnabout provides a community-oriented treatment program for troubled children and adolescents and serves as an alternative to more restrictive institutional settings often recommended for children/youths with serious emotional difficulties. Foster families are recruited, carefully selected, well-trained, closely supervised and given reimbursement ($14,000 yearly tax free in addition to $1,000 yearly for clothing) to take a troubled youth into their home for an extended period of time. The youths are also fully covered through Medicaid for all expenses in addition to dental care.

The foster "professional parents" are the main "agent of treatment" and are closely supported by family specialists on a 24-hour-a-day basis. The biological parents receive help in preparation for the eventual return of their child.

According to Sandy Whiteside, a case social worker for NSCFGCC, "the family is a major treatment agent in working with the child and is an integral part of the professional circle. We give them beepers and 24-hour backup in case of problems or emergencies."

HELPING HANDS: Thousands of children and families call upon the North Shore Child and Family Guidance Center for counseling and help a variety of problems.

Whiteside sees the foster parents as "a kind of domestic peace corps where they are in front line battle." A battle, said Whiteside, "where you overcome fear and learn to trust."

Turnabout uses the help of a family support program, also a part of the NSCFGCC that has been in existence since 1985. With the help of a grant from the NYS Office of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities, it enables staff members such as Sandy Whiteside to provide counseling, case management, crisis-intervention and advocacy to developmentally disabled children and adults and their families.

"Many of these handicapped individuals have been seriously emotionally disturbed as well as being retarded. Services have been especially difficult for them to obtain because, traditionally, both mental health clinics and agencies serving the retarded have refused to service them due to their dual diagnosis," Whiteside said.

The Family Support Program, referred to as "The New Survivors" by Whiteside, meets at the home of Maggie Weber, mother of twins who are disabled. Weber, who has been featured in a mini-series—The New Survivors—on Channel 12 for two years, holds a two-hour support group every Thursday from 8 to 10 p.m. for parents of chronically ill/medically fragile and/or technology dependent children.

"Most of the kids are multi-handicapped in addition to their medical condition," said Weber. At 34 years of age, Weber is the mother of 3 1/2 year old twins and one 16 month old. The twins, one of whom is medically fragile and the other technology dependent, require full time care with the help of a live-in nanny. Weber is divorced and works part time as a community resource specialist at Suffolk Child Development Center five mornings a week. Of the families throughout the Nassau County area who come each week to the support group, Weber said, "when you have a child so ill, you feel isolated and have no one to turn to except family and close friends. It's a way to network with other people who live the same life—evolved around therapists, nurses, doctors—to discuss stress in their marriage and allowing us to have a base for advocacy."

Those who want to learn more about Turnabout or the services of NSCFGCC can contact Sandy Whiteside at (516) 626-1971.

HOSPITAL/HEALTH SERVICE HOTLINE

Health Care Proxy

If you could not make health care decisions for yourself, who would do so? With the passage of the New York State Health Care Proxy Law, you can now appoint an agent who can make these decisions for you. This law affects every New York State resident over the age of 18. Learn about its implications and how to make the health care proxy law work for you at a free community health forum in the Rust Auditorium at North Shore University Hospital-Cornell University Medical College July 11, at 7:30 p.m.

Questions such as "What is a health care proxy?" "Why should I choose a health care agent?" and "When would my health care agent begin to make treatment decisions for me?" will be answered. The forum will provide information on choosing your health care proxy, how to appoint the agent, and the decisions your agent can be authorized to make. The differences between the health care proxy and a living will and canceling the proxy will also be discussed. There will be ample time for questions and answers.

Parking is available in the indoor garage, located at hospital entrance 3. The lecture is free, but advance reservations are requested. To reserve a space, call the hospital's department of health education/community affairs at 562-3045.

Lupus Society

The American Lupus Society is a non-profit, tax-free, charitable organization, engaged in the fight against the disease Lupus Erythematosus. Wynton Is Two Shows In One

By William Gravert

Like the King of Beasts, one of the "Young Lions"—jazz hierarchy's new movers and shakers—roared, and purred, at Planting Fields Arboretum.

Trumpeter Wynton Marsalis and his septet performed the first concert in the Friends of the Arts Festival last Sunday night at the pastoral Oyster Bay preserve.

The show was actually two concerts in one.

The first half, aimed at cajoling the casual jazz listener, was all-Dixieland, dedicated to Marsalis' native New Orleans. The all-bop second half delivered a knock-out punch to the hard-core fan's jazz-solarplexus.

Comfortable on both sides of the musical aisle, Marsalis is just as renowned for his classical abilities (he's recorded Mozart trumpet concertos) as his jazz chops.

The son of a prominent piano sideman and music teacher (hence, the classical training), Wynton (and brother Branford, a rising tenor saxophonist) was influenced by such greats as King Oliver, Louis Armstrong, and Al Hirt (who gave him his first horn). Marsalis later became known to mainstream jazz as a member of Art Blakey's Jazz Messengers.

Known primarily as lively music, the Dixieland set had pace problems, going from slow to slower to slowest. Here, the ensemble (Wess Anderson: alto sax; Todd Williams: clarinet, soprano and tenor saxes; Wycliffe Gordon: trombone, Sousaphone; Reginald Veal: Bass; Herlin Riley: drums; Farid Barron: piano) projected a going-through-the-motions tameness.

After a mid-tempo "Bourbon Stree Parade" suggesting "Satchmo's" hornwork, Marsalis leaned into a mournful blues, "Nobody Knows How I Feel This Morning." Jelly Roll Morton's dirge-like "Jungle Blues" followed, featuring a duet solo from Marsalis' muted horn and Gordon's barking trombone.

The slow-down spiral continued with the first half of a traditional New Orleans funeral procession "The Death of Jazz." Preceded by a painfully-slow snare cadence, it featured another Marsalis crying, mute solo, and Williams with a pliant clarinet solo.

Things picked up with strong group play on "The Original Second Line," the second half of the procession.

Marsalis' introspective style, with its angular, fragmented phrasing and disjointed attack, was showcased on the trumpet/tuba duet, "Dear Old Southland," complete with melodic suggestion of "Summertime."

While their Dixieland was passable, Marsalis and Co. missed the musical point: Where's the fun of this joyous genre? For some authentic Crescent-City-stompin' check-out the Preservation Hall Jazz Band July 20 at the Arboretum.

In the second half of the evening's program Marsalis showed his true colors with everyone displaying more verve for the bop stylings.

While his song construction is hardly free-form, he does shy away from the traditional theme-improvisation-theme jazz format. Evidence Ellington's "Rubber Bottom" or "Play the Blues and Go." On the later the action starts with a Coltrane-tinged tenor solo followed by Veal's nifty slap-bass solo. Two Thelonious Monk tunes shined: "Hackensack" and "Green Chimneys."

During solos the ensemble's cohesion was impressive as backing players stood side-stage and vamped supportively. Pianist Barron comped convincingly while Riley alternated between tumbling stickwork and percolating brushwork.

The evening's highlight was Marsalis' ballad solo, Hoagy Carmichael's "Stardust." With soulful, well-rounded phrases he sculpted the tune to his own needs. Utilizing a snarling, half-valved technique, his improvised growls, flutters, and purrs were in stark contrast to his impeccable tonguing and delightful, controlled vibrato.

The encore of Marsalis' own "Uncle Pete" was merely an epilogue to a solid set.

The Friends of the Arts concerts are held in a 1400-seat outdoor tent with room for another 2000 on the surrounding lawns.

Upcoming at Planting Fields: Philharmonia Virtuosi's all-Mozart program, June 29; Johnny Cash, July 6; Philharmonia's all-Bach program, July 13; Preservation Hall Jazz Band, July 20; Philharmonia's all-Vivaldi program, July 27; Judy Collins, Aug. 3; Spyro Gyra, Aug. 10; Dave Brubeck, Aug. 17; Jean-Pierre Rampal, Aug. 24; Orchestra of St. Luke's Beethoven Festival, Aug. 31, Sept. 1.

Baseball and Lesser Sports, Wilfred Sheed, Harper Collins, 298 pp., $19.95.

This season marks the 50th anniversary of Joe DiMaggio's record breaking fifty-six game hitting streak. It is an appropriate time to read Wilfred Sheed's love letter to the game of baseball. Sheed, a resident of Sag Harbor, has written about baseball for publications as varied as The New York Review of Books to Sports Illustrated. In this collection of essays, he tells us how, at the age of nine, he was uprooted from his home in England to come to live in the United States. "They took away my cricket bat," he tells us, but it wasn't long before he found a new love and baseball has remained important in his life.

Trying to explain the hold baseball has on so many people, Sheed postulates that it may be because baseball players "come in regular earth-sizes" compared to other athletes. "Watch a troupe of basketball players loping through an airport sometime and you'll think you've died and woken up in Flamingo Park; turn them into football players and the scene becomes a convention of nightclub bouncers. Sharing an elevator once with a group of both types, after a party for Joe Namath, I felt I was alternately gazing up at Mount Fuji and being crushed to death. And I found myself wishing that Joe only knew a few baseball players, so I could get my bearings."

Sheed takes a few swings of his own at movies about baseball. Field of Dreams, he says, is not really about baseball, only the idea of baseball as perceived by a "brief but ardent attention span." Bang the Drum Slowly gets thumbs up for "a very good, and completely authentic, pennant race."

Baseball books come under Mr. Sheed's keen eye and a few of them rate his approval. Autobiographies rank low. Of Hank Greenberg's The Story of My Life, he says, "Greenberg's book suggests in places that he may have had the defects of his virtues; he tended to be tunnel-visioned and stubborn, and a slow take if life sent him a pitch he hadn't seen before."

A book that appeared after Wilfred Sheed's Baseball and Lesser Sports concerns Pete Rose and A. Bartlett Giamatti. Sheed is eloquent on that same matchup: "The endless, timeless showdown between Pete Rose, who bet on anything that moved, including his own team, and the late Bart Giamatti, the baseball commissioner, arrived by stages at the kind of drama that perhaps only our two slowest pastimes, baseball and the law, still have time to stage. Pete Rose is a classical figure in baseball (even his face is old-fashioned): the eternal roustabout who takes the game's natural properties of slyness and bluff home to bed with him and elsewhere. His author is Ring Lardner... Bart Giamatti, for his part, was an echt, baseball fan, whose love for the game was almost too pure for this world, and whose author, I am tempted to say, in this case, is Giuseppe Verdi!"

Among the individuals Sheed profiles in his essays are Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams and Jackie Robinson, whom he regards as truly great; "fringe players," Marky Vaughan and Enos Slaughter; and "near misses," Phil Rizzuto and others. He would still like to see Rizzuto in the Baseball Hall of Fame, but as an announcer, not a shortstop. "For all his cow-worship and his wedding announcements, Rizzuto is at least likable, a genuine pleasure to have around for a few minutes, every now and again."

The "lesser sports" that Sheed treats are boxing, with a description of Muhammad Ali's style; golf, as viewed from Jack Nicklaus' come-from-behind victory in the Masters at the age of 46; pro football, in an essay entitled Unnecessary Roughness. He writes professionally of all of them, but clearly they take a back seat to baseball, Mr. Sheed's true love.

Momix—Dancer-Illusionist At Heckscher Park

Described as mesmerizing, brilliant, imaginative, beautiful, breathtaking and inspired, Momix an internationally-known company of dancer-illusionists, will perform at Huntington's Heckscher Park on Sunday, July 7, 8:30 p.m., as the third Star Event of Huntington's Annual Summer Arts Festival.

Momix, founded and directed by Moses Pendleton, is especially known for its creative and surrealistic images created by props, light, shadow, humor, and of course, the graceful human body. In the duet "Skiva," dancers wear actual skis, seemingly defying the laws of gravity. In "Preface," dancers let audiences see only select lines and contours of their bodies when they shine hand-held lights onto themselves. The July 7 performance in Huntington will be Momix's only Long Island appearance this season, and a major event in the Festival.

In addition to stage performances worldwide, the company has frequently worked on special projects and television. Momix was recently seen in an Italian RAI television feature broadcast to fifty-five countries, including the USSR and China. It also was selected to represent the United States at the European Cultural Center at Delphi, and will be featured in the film F/X 2.

Heckscher Park is located at Prime Ave. and Route 25A, just east of the village of Huntington. Admission is free and the performance is accessible to the differently-abled. Bring folding chairs, cushions or

The Music Of Andrew Lloyd Weber At Jones Beach

The Music of Andrew Lloyd Weber, a musical showcase of the world's most popular theatrical composer, will embark on a six week tour of the nation's most prestigious summer venues. Special Guest Star Michael Crawford, who created the starring role of The Phantom in the London and Broadway productions of The Phantom of the Opera, joins a 37 piece orchestra and an accomplished cast of 12 Broadway singers. The itinerary of summer venues includes state-of-the-art outdoor amphitheatres which combine permanent covered seating with the festival atmosphere of a grassy knoll. The Music of Andrew Lloyd Weber is the first theatrical concert to endeavor such an ambitious tour. The entire production has been devised and supervised by Mr. Lloyd Weber.

Opening July 14, for one night only at Jones Beach, this unique theatrical concert will highlight musical numbers and specially arranged orchestral suites from such Andrew Lloyd Weber hit shows as The Phantom of the Opera, Jesus Christ Superstar, Evita, Cats, Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, Song and Dance, Starlight Express, Requiem, and Aspects of Love.

First staged for a limited run in England in 1988, The Music of Andrew Lloyd Weber was subsequently revised and expanded, and premiered in Vancouver in May, 1989, followed by Toronto and a U.S. tour, breaking all previous box office records at the theatres in which it performed.

Andrew Lloyd Weber's impressive list of awards includes four Tony Awards, four Drama Desk Awards, three Grammys (including the award for Best Classical Contemporary Composition for Requiem in 1986) and three "Larry's," the British equivalent of the Tony Award.

He was again honored in 1988 with an award for Creative Achievement by B'nai B'rith in New York, and was awarded the Fellowship of the Royal College of Music. In October, 1982, he became the first person to have three musicals running in New York and three in London, a record he equalled once more in January, 1988, when The Phantom of the Opera opened successfully in New York, and he became the first recipient of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers' Triple Play Award. When Aspects of Love opened in New York, Mr. Lloyd Weber had set a new record—three musicals on Broadway and four in London playing concurrently.

This U.S. tour of The Music of Andrew Lloyd Weber marks the first national tour for Special Guest Star Michael Crawford. His portrayal of the Phantom in The Phantom of the Opera has earned him an astonishing catalogue of critical recognition. In England Mr. Crawford was awarded the OBE (Order of the British Empire) by the Queen and the Olivier Award for Best Actor in a Musical. Bringing Phantom to Broadway, he received a Tony Award for Best Actor in a Musical, the Drama Desk Award and the Drama League Award for Unique Contribution to Musical Theatre. In Los Angeles

he received the Dramalogue Award as well as the L.A. Drama Critics Award.

Concert tickets are $35, $30 and $25. Showtime is 8 p.m. To charge tickets, call 516-221-1000.

All-Bach Program By Philharmonia Virtuosi

Friends of the Arts' Summer Festival will feature an all-Bach performance by the Philharmonia Virtuosi chamber orchestra on Saturday, July 13, at 8 p.m. in Planting Fields Arboretum, Oyster Bay. The concert is sponsored by Norstar Bank.

The Philharmonia Virtuosi chamber orchestra has been described by The New York Times as "joyful music brilliantly done." Under the baton of its music director, the charismatic Richard Kapp, the orchestra has excited audiences from Anchorage, Alaska, to New York's Carnegie Hall. Kapp, described The New York Times as "exuberant and articulate," speaks to the audience in a series of verbal program notes that bring fresh meaning to the music.

The all-Bach program for July 13 will include Violin Concerto No. 2 in E Major, BWV 1042, Violin and Oboe Concerto in e minor, BWV 1060, Concerto for Two Violins in d minor, BWV 249, Suite No. 2 in b minor for Flute and Strings, BWV 1067 and the Brandenburg Concerto No. 2 in F Major, BWV 1047. Tickets are $25, $20 and $15 for a reserved seat in the tent and $12.50 for the lawn (bring a chair). To charge tickets by phone, call Ticketmaster at 516-888-9000 or 212-307-7171. For further information, call Friends of the Arts at 516-911-0061.

$1,000 Raised At Alumni Lacrosse Game

About $1,000 was raised for the Steve Meier Lacrosse Scholarship Fund at the third annual alumni lacrosse game, sponsored by Hicksville Athletic Booster Club. Steve Meier, a Hicksville High School lacrosse star, died of leukemia at age 33. The day began with a PAL midjet lacrosse game of the Hicksville teams vs. an all-star team made up of players from Massapequa and Farmingdale PAL teams. The Hicksville High School alumni followed on the Dutch Lane field on June 22.

Harvey Brittan and Tommy Beck were the referees. Games sponsors included Ebets Field, Chaplains, ERA (Harvey) Brittan, Wicker's, Scruples, Dryolin Corporation, Peppercorn's, Little Country Pub and alumnus John Pagano.

PAL Lacrosse Beats Northport 17-2

The Hicksville PAL Juniors Lacrosse team had a field day in their last game of the season beating Northport 17 to 2.

The Hicksville team exploded with seven of its 12 players scoring goals. Hicksville led 1 at the half when the two "fill in" coaches George Howard (Chris' dad) and Jimmy Madden (Jimmy's dad) moved the players to different positions. But even this could not slow down the dominant Hicksville offense. The scoring was led once again by Brian Boyle (5 goals/2 assist), Danny Cocchi (3 goals/3 assist), Peter Martin (4 goals/1 assist), James (J.T.) Quinn (2 goals), Matt Popmann (1 goal/2 assist), Matt Koehnig (1 goal), and Jimmy Madden (1 goal). The goalkeeping duties were shared by Thomas Busch and Carl Johnson. Due to Hicksville leading more than 5 goals for almost the entire game, J.T. Quinn was unable to show his superior faceoff techniques.

Danny Cocchi (voted MVP for the season by his teammates) and Brian Boyle tied for the team lead in points for the season with 25 each. Danny had 16 goals and 9 assists, while Brian had 23 goals, and 2 assists. Hicksville ended its season with a 6-1-1 record. The other members on the team are: Chris Swier, Shaun Lyons, Ryan O'Toole, Chris Howard, Michael Theis, Robbie Normile, Mike Silver, Dennis Abberton and Ryan Cousland.

The coaches, Chris Roach and Warren, would like to thank the players and their parents for a great season and look forward to coaching them next year.

1991 Tobay Games To Get Underway

The 1991 Tobay Games will get underway July 15, according to town officials.

Sponsored by the town's Bicentennial Historical Commission and Department of Parks, the Tobay Games feature track and field events for youngsters ages 5 to 14. Those who win first, second and third places in the various events at their home parks will qualify for the finals, which will be held at Theodore Roosevelt Memorial Park, Larchmont Avenue, Oyster Bay July 25.

The dates and locations of the games are as follows: July 15, Theodore Roosevelt Memorial Park; July 16, Syosset-Woodbury Community Park; July 17, Plainview-Old Bethpage Community Park; July 19, Old Bethpage Community Park; July 22, Swarth Allen Park in Farmingdale; and July 23, Marjorie Post Community Park in Massapequa.

The games will be incorporated into the Summer Recreation Program sponsored by the Parks Department with all children participating as part of a scheduled activity of program. Those children not enrolled in the summer recreation program can register at any of the participating facilities. A registration form can also be obtained by contacting the Parks Department at 977 Hicksville Road, Massapequa, NY, 11758 (795-1000). In addition, participants may sign up the day of the event, but a parent or guardian must be present to sign the release form.

Participants will be divided into age groups—5-6, 7-8, 9-10, 11-12, 13-14—with boys and girls competing on a separate basis. The events will be a potato race, 50-yard dash, obstacle course, physical fitness, long jump and Frisbee throw. Each contestant must compete in five events to qualify for the finals. The first, second and third place winners in each event from each facility will be eligible to enter the finals.

Every participant in the preliminary games will receive a certificate of participation. For the finals, each participant will receive a Tobay Games t-shirt and a copy of the Constitution while first, second and third place winners in each age category and each event will also receive medals.

ST. IGNATIUS CYO NEWS

By Barbara Lewis

Doyle Baseball and CYO

Doyle Baseball is on the move and coming to Hicksville. Their staff will be conducting a Satellite School in our area. The program is geared to developing players of all ages by improving their basic skills. You have an opportunity to participate in an outstanding educational program right here in Hicksville.

The Satellite School program has grown because it reaches everyone involved in an organization. Parents, coaches and players all benefit from the program provided by Doyle Baseball.

All parents are welcome on field during a Satellite School. They are welcome to video the program, take notes and follow their player through each of the sessions. They are then able to work with their player at home or at the field with a purpose. Best of all, parents are able to monitor progress and be a positive influence as their youngsters grow as players.

If your son or daughter is involved in baseball or softball, attending a Doyle Satellite School is your best educational effort. Not only will they learn baseball, discipline and strong work ethics are emphasized. A Satellite School is a true learning experience.

Date: July 18-20 (Thursday-Saturday)
Time: 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.
Fee: $90 per child (after July 11 ($100))
Please contact: Joan Famiglietti, 935-6369; Audrey Andrews, 933-0887; Barbara Lewis, 681-6947.

Baseball Highlights

Our baseball scores are coming in slow due to our playoffs in each league. Congratulations to the Fifth Grade Travel Team.

Manager: Mike Guerriero
Coaches: Harvey Fried and Don Colton
Our organization would like to extend our congratulations to all the boys on the Fifth Grade Travel Team on winning the "Bishop Gerald J. Ryan Sportsmanship Award" in the Midget Division.

K-2 6-1 Cardinals 13 - Whales 5

The Cardinals' attack was led by Scott Bryan, Andy Visconti and Kraig Binick; each went 3 for 3. Jamie Callani, Jared Troise and Chris Krishanuk each delivered clutch singles and played great defense. For the Whales, the hitting stars were Jimmy Bligh, Ray Carnevale and Jimmy Monaco; each collected three hits. Frank Pesale had two hits and played great defense. Joe San Filippo did a great job as catcher.

6-3 Whales 16 - Sharks 9

The Whales' attack led with Jimmy Bligh hitting 4 for 4; Keith Wedlock, John Westendorf, Jimmy Monaco, Ray Carnevale and Jason Becker all going 3 for 3. The Sharks' hitting stars were Mike Vicchiarelli, 3 for 3 with two doubles, and Mike Kenefick hitting 3 for 3. Defensively, Mike Zuccaro led the way catching two hits.

Sport Short

The Hicksville Junior Varsity Lacrosse Team concluded its season with a record of 10-5. Highlighting the season were overtime victories over Freeport, 9-6, and Massapequa, 11-10.

Leading scorers for the team were Chris McAuley with 18 goals and 13 assists, Steve Gilbert with 23 and 3, Mike Parrella with 19 and 9 and Dave Gleason with 10 and 14.

Coach Phil Essigman said: "Congratulations go out to freshmen Mike DelPercio and Danny Melody on their successful seasons on the varsity level."

"And a very special thanks to our team managers, Jennifer Sullivan and Kris Rooney who endured all kinds of elements (including myself) and did a great job. Thanks girls!"
