Museum Uncovers Mysteries Of Minerals

*Gregory Museum
Takes Part In Science Expo*

By Victor Caputo

The Hicksville Gregory Museum brought the wonders of earth science to the C.W. Post campus, compliments of curator Donald Curran, who presented experiments on the mysteries of rocks and minerals.

Curran, a participant in Long Island University's C.W. Post Science and Technology Expo this month, piqued the curiosity of campus visitors by offering them a "hands-on" opportunity to perform several different experiments including magnetism, conductivity and light refraction.

"We presented demonstrations we knew kids would have fun trying their hands at and, at the same time, we were able to teach them something about the wonders of minerals and rocks," said Curran.

He also presented demonstrations on testing the hardness of minerals, identifying colors and testing color in certain rocks.

"We were honored to have the Hicksville Museum as part of this year's festivities. Don Curran's exhibit on minerals was fascinating, informative and well received by many of our guests," said Expo Coordinator Dr. Margaret Boorstein.

The C.W. Post Science Expo is held bi-annually and attracts more than 70 exhibitors.

In addition to the science expo, the Gregory Museum plays a very active role in introducing young Hicksville residents to the rich past that belongs to Hicksville. Local historian Richard Evers of the Gregory Museum will be taking second grade students on a field trip around Hicksville in the coming week. The Gregory Museum has been doing this since 1981 when it signed a service contract with the school district.

"I take the kids out and show them the highlights of Hicksville," said Evers.

Students will visit the Stolz Duffy Horse Farm, which was originally Judge Duffy's homestead. They will visit the veterans' monuments at the south end of the middle school and Cantiaque Rock, the original marker from 1745 that designated the boundaries of the Town of Oyster Bay and the Town of Hempstead. Students also tour the Gregory Museum itself and the fire house. As the bus drives through Hicksville, Evers will point out to the kids various banks and

Traffic Deaths In Nassau Fall

By A. Anthony Miller

Traffic fatalities in Nassau County during 1990 numbered 150, according to the state Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV).

The DMV said the number reflected a drop of nine deaths over the year before. Statewide, 2,211 people lost their lives in traffic accidents last year, a drop of 52 from 1989.

Commissioner Patricia B. Adduci said that last year, the "state's highways were safer than any other year on record, with a fatality rate of 2.07 deaths for every 100 million miles of travel.

She added that 1990 was "the third consecutive year in which the state's traffic fatality rate set a record low." DMV keeps such records dating to 1930, when 2,984 people were killed on the highways. That added up to 13.38 deaths per 100 million miles of vehicle travel.

The year in which the lowest number of highway fatalities was recorded was 1944, with 1,584 deaths. In recent years, 1985, with its 1,995 deaths, marked the first time since 1950 that less than 2,000 people died on the state's highways.

The year in which the greatest number of traffic deaths occurred was 1971, when 3,227 fatalities were recorded.

The state had a population of 12,588,066 in 1930, compared with 17,558,072 in 1980, the last year for which such figures were immediately available.

Statewide in 1990, Suffolk County led with 207 deaths (two more than in 1989), followed by 190 for Brooklyn, 165 for Queens, 138 for Manhattan, 125 for the Bronx, and 107 for Erie. Upstate Hamilton was the only county in the entire state to record no fatalities. The 1980 population of Hamilton County, located some 270 miles from Nassau County, was set at 5,034, also making it the least populated county in the state.

Commissioner Adduci said that the traffic fatality decrease last year "occurred despite an increase in highway travel, from 106 billion miles in 1989 to nearly 107 billion in 1990."

She outlined a number of steps that motorists could take to further reduce highway fatalities, and urged that all drivers

Delligatti Announces Cantiague Park Dedication

Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Angelo Delligatti has announced that the Board of Supervisors approved a resolution officially designating Cantiague Park in Hicksville as park land.

"Cantiague Park was purchased in 1961 by the county and was never formally dedicated by the county as park land. By making this formal dedication, the board is ensuring that Cantiague Park will forever remain a recreational facility for all future generations to enjoy," said Delligatti.

Cantiague Park consists of 115 acres of land and offers a golf course, driving range, skating rink, ball fields, swimming pools, basketball courts, picnic facilities and many more recreational uses.

"The significant dedication is part of the county's continuing commitment to ensure that environmentally sensitive open land is protected forever. As a member of the board, it is my foremost priority to preserve and protect property with environmental significance," said Delligatti.

Sheriff Speaks To The Chamber

By Victor Caputo

Nassau County Sheriff Joseph Jablonski recently spoke at a Hicksville Chamber of Commerce meeting about the responsibilities of the sheriff and the state of the Nassau County Correctional Facility.

"Very few people realize that Nassau County has a Sheriff's Department," he said. Jablonski then proceeded to break down the responsibilities of the sheriff into three categories: enforcing orders issued from the family courts, collecting money owed after a court decision has been reached and running the Nassau County Correctional Facility.

"Anyone who gets arrested and does not make bail will go to the correctional facility," he said. The correctional facility can house 2,000 inmates. He pointed out that the facility stays at that capacity all year. He also said that the average age for prisoners in the facility is about 24 years old.

"The jail itself is essentially a small city," Jablonski said. The average stay in the correctional center is 30-45 days for an inmate, he said, with the exception of those inmates who are sentenced to one year or less, and serve their entire sentence in the facility.

"We offer many rehabilitation programs, a variety of drug and alcohol programs for the inmates," he said. Jablonski added that the stay for most inmates is short so it is very difficult to rehabilitate someone in the short time given. Another problem the sheriff faces with regard to rehabilitating inmates is that offenders do not usually go to jail the first time they are arrested. "The average person can be arrested five or six times before he may go to jail," he said.

Jablonski said that he has a $92 million budget to work with in corrections and it costs an average of $110 a day to house an inmate.

"Everything I do at the jail is defined by state mandates," he said, pointing out that the freedoms inmates have now are more than what they ever had before.

After he finished the core of his talk, Jablonski opened the floor to questions from the Chamber of Commerce members.

One Chamber member asked how many inmates are female. "Nineteen years ago, when I first started in corrections, we would sometimes close the female side of the jail because we did not have any in custody. Now, I would say that we house about 250 female inmates," Jablonski said.

"Is there a work release program in Nassau County?" asked another Chamber member, to which Jablonski answered no.

Jablonski talked about the "contracting out" of inmates to other jails because there is not enough room in the county facility to hold them.

Another question asked of Jablonski was how many guards it takes to watch over an inmate "It takes about six people to man one security post for 24 hours," he said.

"Are there pregnant women in the facility?" asked a Chamber member. "Yes, it is an inmate's right to keep her child for one year," he answered.

Inmates are also used for labor around the facility, said Jablonski. Inmates have their own kitchen detail and laundry service within the facility.

Almost a third of the inmates that are currently in the Nassau County Correctional Facility are not residents of Nassau County. "If you get arrested and are tried in Nassau County, you do your jail time in Nassau County. We have the largest county

Town Studies Impact Of Theater

Residents concerned about complex to replace drive-in

By Kathy Gerber

A study performed by the Town of Oyster Bay confirms some area residents' fears about the effect of construction of a 14-screen multiplex movie theater and a B.J. Wholesale Club retail facility at the current Westbury Drive-In.

According to a report released last week, the addition of some 500 cars weeknights and about 1400 cars on Saturday evenings, has the "potential to adversely affect existing traffic conditions."

Reacting to the Town of Oyster Bay's Environmental Quality Review Commission's findings, Leonard Gutterman, president of a local civic group, said, "I think it is a very good sign that they're indicating environmentally it is an unsound project."

Gutterman heads the West Birchwood Civic Association, which serves residents living near the proposed theater. The civic group is adamantly opposed to the project because of the detrimental effect they say it will have on their community.

Assemblyman Lewis Yevoli, who is running for Town of Oyster Bay Supervisor, against incumbent Angelo Delligatti, agrees with local residents. He added that traffic on nearby Jericho Turnpike is already at or near maximum capacity. "On the basis of that alone it should be denied," he said.

The owners need a special use permit from the town to demolish the drive-in and build the multiplex and warehouse in an industrial "H" zone. Although within the Westbury zip code, the drive-in—whose main entrance is on Brush Hollow Road—is located in the Town of Oyster Bay, as is the Westbury Music Fair and Westbury Bowl.

Also mentioned in the Oyster Bay Town report is the effect of noise from the traffic on a local elementary school and nearby homes. The property is located near both the northeast corner of incorporated and unincorporated Westbury, and the West Birchwood section of Jericho.

Concern over the impact of the project on the Cantiague Elementary School led the Jericho Board of Education to schedule a

New Italian Restaurant In Hicksville

By Victor Caputo

Abbondanza, a ristorante and pizzeria located at 382 W. John St., opened its doors for business one month ago.

"We are very happy with the way business is going so far," said Philip Sinisi, owner of the establishment, speaking about the first month.

Abbondanza offers a wide variety of gourmet Italian dishes and pizzas. "We try to stay within the traditional old charm menu," said Sinisi. There are many pasta and meat dishes that can satisfy any appetite. Sinisi is very proud of his food and gives a very high quality product at a very moderate price.

He finds Hicksville a very enjoyable place to do business. "I think it needed a good family style Italian restaurant. Hicksville is a fabulous place to do business. I have gotten to know many of my customers, if not by name then by face. I am looking forward to many happy years here," said Sinisi.

Besides the restaurant and pizzeria, they offer a catering service with the same high quality food that is in the restaurant.

The name Abbondanza came about as a result of the portions of food that are given out. "The name means abundance of and that is what we try to give the customers," he said.

Further information about the restaurant can be obtained by calling 938-7070.

POLICE REPORT

Karol Angell was arrested in Naples, Florida, was extradited to Nassau County and then charged with Second Degree Grand Larceny.

It was alleged that between May and September of 1991, while working as head bookkeeper at Cookies Steak Pub in Hicksville, she wrote company checks to herself which amounted to $111,000 and then mailed them to her bank in Florida for deposit. It is further alleged that she would then use automatic teller machines in Nassau County to withdraw the money.

She was arraigned in the First District Court on Oct. 4.

Two off duty Nassau County police officers, who happen to be husband and wife, teamed up to arrest a Hicksville man after a purse snatching incident occurred in Plainview.

Robert Shaffer and his wife, Constance Morreale, were about to go grocery shopping at the Foodtown on Woodbury Rd. when they saw Stephen Pinkham run up to 61-year-old Carolyn Wolf, who was pushing a shopping cart in the parking lot. He grabbed her pocketbook and ran into the park located on the north side of the store.

Police officer Morreale, who had her 21-month old baby with her, along with Wolf, chased Pinkham as he ran away. When they reached the entrance to the park, Morreale gave the baby to Wolf and continued her pursuit of him.

Meanwhile Lieutenant Shaffer, who was familiar with the area, drove his car to the opposite side of the park and parked a block away from the park's entrance. When he saw Pinkham running from the park in his direction, he bent over and picked up a garbage can, acting as if he was a homeowner taking out the garbage, and was able to detain Pinkham.

According to police, the manager of the Foodtown ran to where Pinkham was being detained to help Shaffer. At one point he broke free from the two men and had to be forcibly restrained.

Pinkham, a warehouse manager in Hicksville, was charged with grand larceny and resisting arrest. Pinkham also admitted to committing a similar offense at the same location only a few days earlier, police said. He was arraigned at the First District Court on Oct. 4.

Robert Morgan, of Hicksville, forgot his second floor apartment key, according to police, and attempted to climb in a window when he slipped and fell. Police said he became impaled on a wrought iron fence through his right leg above the knee.

Emergency Service Officers responded and cut a two foot section of the fence taking him to Nassau County Medical Center where he underwent surgery to remove it.

Youth Council Peer Tutoring Program

The Hicksville Youth Council's Peer Tutoring Program is currently under way. The philosophy of the program is that teens feel more comfortable with other teens and therefore, may be more motivated to learn from their peers.

All tutoring takes place after school at the Youth Council and tutoring is scheduled on a weekly basis at mutually convenient times. Tutoring is performed by local Hicksville teens who volunteer their time and talents.

Tutors do not receive any financial compensation from the Youth Council, but do receive a letter from the Youth Council stating that they have completed community service work. This letter is important as colleges and prospective employers look for this type of reference from applicants.

This year, the Youth Council has instituted a $2 weekly donation for each tutoring session. In past years, tutoring had been offered as a free service, however due to the Youth Council's extreme financial crisis, they now ask for the weekly donation to help offset their fiscal problems.

For more information about the Hicksville Youth Council's Peer Tutoring Program, call Pat Schussler, A.C.S.W. at 822-KIDS. The Youth Council is located at 175 West Old Country Road next to Beacon Federal Savings Bank and is a non-profit organization dedicated to working with teens in all aspects of their life.

Last Call To Volunteer For Budget Committee

The Hicksville Public School District is issuing a "Last Call" for volunteers who wish to sign-up for the Central Office Budget Advisory Committee. Representatives on this committee will have the opportunity to explore the budgetary process, determine fiscal priorities, and make recommendations for the 1992-93 school budget.

Interested Hicksville School District

residents capable of executing this task are invited to send a letter of application, stating appropriate background experience, to the Superintendent of Schools, Salvatore Mugavero, Administration Bldg., Divisor Avenue, Hicksville, New York 11801. Letters must be sent by Nov. 1, 1991. Central Office Budget meetings are slated to begin by Nov. 12, 1991.

This is the fourth installment of "The Great Newspaper Debate" We posed some tough questions to the major party candidates in the Town race. Their answers will appear here weekly.

Q: Illegal multi-family dwellings are becoming more and more prevalent. While putting money in landlord's pockets, their tenants do not contribute to property tax collection. Burdens are placed on water, schools and services. How should the town address this problem so that all of its residents benefit? Would you agree to the legalization of these non-conforming units? How would you protect against further proliferation if you choose to legalize?

SUPERVISOR — TOWN OF OYSTER BAY

OYSTER BAY TOWN COUNCIL

Q: Briefly, describe one way to address the shortage of affordable housing in the Town.

Robert Aliano (D)

Affordable housing requires a combination of providing more disposable income to senior citizens and young adults through a method of reducing property and income taxes. If efforts are not taken immediately to accomplish these goals, our town and Long Island will no longer be affordable to the middle class.

Barbara Amster (D)

We should make every effort to convert any property in the Town of Oyster Bay that needs rehabilitation into affordable housing. We don't need any more shopping centers and we can work with the commercial property owner to convert much of the existing structures into housing. The best way to make housing affordable, however, is to lower taxes and that is what we should concentrate on.

Thomas Clark (R)

The Town designed an Affordable Mortgage Program for first-time home buyers that would make it possible for eligible residents to purchase homes with loans for down payment assistance from the Town, as well as help in making monthly payments. This program, which is contingent upon the sale of 65 acres of surplus Town-owned property with a portion of the proceeds earmarked to finance the loans, will make mortgages available annually through a lottery.

Francis Goban (D)

The Town of Oyster Bay should allow and encourage, by providing tax incentives, the building of two-story, one and two bedroom garden apartments, if it is to address the shortage of affordable housing. This should be done in place of the "strip mall" and numerous gas stations. The town does not need a gas station or strip mall on every block.

Leonard Kunzig (R)

The Oyster Bay Town Board has developed an Affordable Mortgage Program that, in effect, offers first-time, resident home buyers who meet certain criteria, the ability to purchase a home with a smaller down payment and a reduction in monthly mortgage payments. The program is actually an interest-free loan payable upon the sale of the property. Financing for the program will come from partial proceeds of the sale of a 65-acre parcel of surplus Town-owned property.

Ann Ocker (R)

Our children are our legacy and we must see to it that they are able to purchase homes in the Town and that they, too, can raise their families here. Supervisor Delligatti's Affordable Mortgage Program is the product of this goal and will be available to residents who meet a specific income and length-of-residency criteria. By selling a surplus piece of Town-owned property, we can put a portion of the proceeds into a housing trust fund and use the interest to help first-time home-buying residents to stay here in the Town.

Angelo Delligatti (R)

As Oyster Bay Town Supervisor, I am well aware that the current state of the economy has made it difficult, if not impossible, for many people to afford their own homes. Also, rising costs have put additional burdens on homeowners.

These are just some of the reasons that illegal multi-family dwellings may have become more prevalent in recent years. While I understand the pressures that lead to illegal apartments, such apartments do not belong in the Town of Oyster Bay.

In my travels around the town, I hear from my constituents about the problem of illegal, multi-family dwellings. They make it quite clear to me that one of the primary reasons they moved to the Town of Oyster Bay and one of the primary reasons they want to remain here is because of the suburban character of the town, a mainstay of which is the single family home. They worked hard to earn the money to purchase homes in the town and they work hard to maintain them. For someone to take a single family home and make it a multi-family, whether or not it is owner-occupied, diminishes the suburban atmosphere that brought most people to Oyster Bay in the first place.

Legalizing illegal multi-family dwellings is a very unsatisfactory proposal. Some municipalities that have attempted this approach have set deadlines or "grace periods" only to find themselves pressured into extending them. With an implied forgive and forget attitude, not only do they not stop the proliferation of illegal multi-family dwellings, they wind up encouraging them. Also, even when an amnesty is offered, there are those who will always be suspicious of government motives and choose to remain outside the system.

Legalizing multi-family dwellings gains little for residents or the local municipality. Residents who have worked to maintain the single-family character of their communities feel betrayed and rightfully so. As far as any monetary gain, the assessment is based solely on the addition of a kitchen, not any other improvements that might be made in the course of the conversion, so that tax benefits are negligible and do not outweigh the financial drain of multi-family dwelling places on services such as water, schools and sanitation collection.

The town is not totally opposed to the concept of multi-family dwellings. Mother-daughter conversions are permitted in certain situations, providing that a parent-child relationship exist. A variance is required from the town's Zoning Board of Appeals, which, if granted, must be renewed every three years. In this way, the ZBA can keep a handle on those multi-family dwellings to see that they remain strictly mother-daughter. Also, there are residential zones within the town where two-family dwellings are permitted. Unfortunately, with today's economy, not many developers are coming to the town for permits to build houses, let alone multi-family homes.

When I became Supervisor, I made a commitment to keep Oyster Bay suburban. I take that promise very seriously. The Department of Planning and Development will continue its efforts to curtail illegal multi-family dwellings while permitting legal multi-family dwellings where appropriate and within guidelines. The Town Board has a well-deserved reputation as a protector of the suburban environment and, as long as I am Supervisor, will take whatever steps necessary to see that the town remains a great place to live, work, play and stay.

Rebuttal To Last Week's Question: The only realistic approach to solid waste management, given existing markets and technology, must include something in addition to recycling and composting because, despite Assemblyman Yevoli's protestations to the contrary, there is a portion of the waste stream that cannot now be either recycled or composted. One only has to look to North Hempstead Town to see how infeasible the methodology of Mr. Yevoli's "professionally designed plan" for full-scale recycling and composting is. While they opted to pursue 100 percent recycling, they found their garbage getting ahead of them because the markets and technology simply do not exist. One hundred percent recycling and composting is a dream, at this time. North Hempstead found that out when they had to scramble for a company to ship their garbage after trying to strike deals with other municipalities to incinerate their non-recyclable and non-compostable waste.

Lewis Yevoli (D)

It is illegal to house more than one family in a single family dwelling and in my opinion this law should be strictly enforced. When you have multiple families in a single family home, other taxpayers are forced to subsidize the added cost of services that are provided to two, three or more families living in a one family home. These families can and often do have several children who are both legally and morally entitled to an education.

As a result, a single family home that normally sends two or four children to the local school, can now be sending eight or more children to that school.

Obviously, the cost of the education increases but the house is assessed for taxes at the same rate whether there are no children or twelve children, one adult or twenty adults. Additionally, the cost to provide health services increases proportionately to the number of individuals that need these services. Other services such as water and fire protection are also jeopardized when there are more people than the facilities can safely provide services for.

In recent years there has been a proliferation of illegal occupancies in one family homes. In many cases homes have been purchased not by a family, but by individuals who rent the house to several families or a group of individuals. Whopping profits are being realized as a result of this illegal practice at the expense of hard working homeowners whose taxes are raised to provide the services needed for the increased population who do not pay the tax.

Ironically, Supervisor Delligatti has ignored this problem just as he has ignored so many other problems confronting our township. It requires courage and leadership to deal with controversial problems, failing to take action exacerbates the situation.

The number of multiple families illegally occupying single family homes has increased dramatically during Delligatti's administration and it cannot be allowed to continue.

The only existing exception to multiple occupancy in a single family home is a "special use permit" that can be approved by the Town Board which allows a mother or father to live with their son or daughter who owns the home. This is a reasonable long standing town ordinance that serves a legitimate need and it should remain in effect.

The only addition to the local ordinance I would consider is allowing senior citizens on fixed incomes to rent a portion of their home to one individual. Many senior citizens in our township who are on limited fixed incomes cannot afford to pay the ever escalating property taxes.

In the last five years, Angelo Delligatti raised the average homeowner's town and county property tax over $400. Frequently, the property tax now accounts for the largest portion of a senior's fixed income and they discover they can no longer afford to stay in a home they worked for all their lives.

That is a disgrace and if the rental income from a single tenant can assist the senior on a fixed income in meeting our outrageous property tax rate it should be considered within the stringent parameters of a tightly drawn local ordinance.

*Assemblyman Yevoli
Supervisor Delligatti's response from last week.*

Entries Now Being Accepted For Amateur Photo Contest

The Town of Oyster Bay Department of Parks is accepting entries in the Supervisor's "Discover Oyster Bay" Amateur Photo Contest and will continue to do so until March 7, 1991.

"Amateur photographers have an opportunity to get out there and capture some of the beauty of our Town," said Town Supervisor Angelo Delligatti. "Fall and winter offer amazingly colorful and exciting photographic opportunities for shutter bugs who enjoy nature and have a knack for seeing something that the rest of us miss!"

The contest rules require that all photographs be taken between October 1, 1991 and March 1, 1992, and that the general theme depict fall and winter play and recreation in Oyster Bay's parks, beaches and places of interest. Each contestant may submit only one photograph, which can be either black and white or in color, and all participants will receive certificates of achievement.

To enter the Supervisor's "Discover Oyster Bay" Amateur Photo Contest, send entries to "Play in Oyster Bay," Department of Parks, 977 Hicksville Road, Massapequa, New York 11758. Each contestant must include his/her name, address, age and telephone number in ink on the back of the photograph.

Do not send original slides or negatives. Only designated award winners will be asked to supply original negatives or transparencies. Due to the fact award-winning photos, along with the photographer's name, may be used in Town publications, newsletters and the Town calendar, winners will also be asked to supply a release from each identifiable person in the photograph.

Long Island's water supply is the finest in the nation. At Slomin's we're taking positive steps to help preserve it. Specifically, we've established a special financial assistance program to help subsidize the cost of complying with the new regulations regarding buried fuel oil tanks.

Under this program, you will be able to purchase our environmentally safe, 280-gallon fiberglass tank for a price that is truly below our cost.* There are also economical options available for above ground storage tanks, starting as low as $100 installed. We realize that even with our subsidy, replacing your tank may be a financial burden, so we're offering low monthly payments with no interest or finance charges.

As a leader in the fuel oil industry, we feel a responsibility to invest in our community... to put our money where our mouth is, so to speak. We're proud to be working with our Long Island neighbors to preserve our fragile environment.

Opening lead — ace of spades.

A declarer should try to avoid relying on a method of play that depends essentially on luck, when there is another method of play that either reduces or eliminates the luck factor.

Assume you're in five diamonds and West leads the ace and another spade, which you ruff. Offhand it might seem that you should draw trumps and play the ace and another club. If the clubs are divided 2-2 you make the contract; if they're divided 3-1 you go down one.

But this would be the wrong approach. If you study the matter more closely, it becomes clear that you are a big favorite to make the contract even if the clubs are divided 3-1, provided you take the necessary steps to cater to a 3-1 as well as a 2-2 division.

The proper line of play is to draw trumps, cash the A-K of hearts, and then ruff a heart. Now, instead of playing the ace and another club, you lead a low club from your hand.

Observe the effect of this play in the actual case. If East wins the trick with the queen, he is forced to return a spade or a heart — in which case you ruff in your hand and discard a club from dummy, making the contract. The outcome is the same if West wins your low club lead with the king. He would also have to hand you the contract, whatever he returned.

First of these was to "buckle up." Adduci noted the "70 by 92" campaign, an effort to achieve 70 percent seat belt law compliance by the end of next year. The most recent survey in the state, she said, indicated a 68 percent compliance rate. "The state can realistically aim for a rate of up to 80 percent use by the end of next year," she said.

Next, she said, "obey the 55 mph speed limit!" She referred to a recent national study in which "there were 28 percent more deaths last year on rural interstate highways where the speed limit was 65 mph compared with the average for 1982-86, when the limit was 55 mph on those highways."

Fatalities on the 65 mph highways, Adduci said, "have been significantly higher every year since the federal government authorized 65 mph limits in 1987."

The third proposal was to "avoid the deadly combination of alcohol or other drugs and driving. From 1982 to 1990, alcohol-related fatalities declined from 41 to 32 percent of all traffic fatalities, thanks to aggressive legislation, administrative programs, and public information and education activities."

Adduci noted that the number of people killed in accidents involving drinking drivers under age 21 "decreased by 56 percent when comparing 1982, the last year of the 18 alcohol purchase age, with 1989, the last year for which such figures are available."

Despite the progress, she said, more than 700 traffic deaths each year are alcohol-related.

He told the Chamber that the county is building new buildings to house inmates but once those are complete, no new buildings will be constructed on the property. He added that the land next to the facility has been sold and senior citizen housing will be built "A closed-in movie would have tremendous draw. It would be showing movies all day long," she said. She also said she feared the impact of traffic on children riding bikes to and from school and for the buses coming to school.

Ms. Brody has organized a petition effort against the project. Several hundred signatures have been collected and will be presented to the Town Board, she said.

The Town Board has not yet set a date for the required public hearing on this application.

there. Jablonski also talked about tours through the facility that are offered. "It used to be that you had to be at least 16 to tour the facility, now it is for children age 13 and above," he said.

Chamber members showed interest in taking a tour of the facility and he said that tours could be set up but there is a waiting list.

Letters To The Editor

Letters to the editor are welcomed by Anton Community Newspapers. We reserve the right to edit in the interest of space and clarity. ## Congratulations To The School Board

I would like to congratulate the Board of Education for making the decision to hire Bishop Associates to perform the utilization study of our Elementary and Middle Schools.

It was clear, during the last board meeting, all the members of the board agreed that a professional team was needed to look into how, as a district, can accurately gather the information needed to close schools. If this would have been done last year when the burden of closing schools was heavy on all of our minds, perhaps this would have saved this community a lot of stress and grief.

But, it is not too late to do the right thing. We should not be afraid of obtaining expert information and I applaud those Board Members who had the courage to seek professional recommendations. Not one of us is an expert in this field, and deep down in our hearts, we all realize this is the only right, fair and logical way to deal with school closings.

I hope Mr. Mugavero keeps up the good work. We all should support our new Superintendent and give him a chance. . . he has been here a short while and has many excellent ideas that need our support.

Patricia Spielman

Thank You To Those Mentioned

Thank you for your recent cover story about my son, Matthew Castaro, who was saved from choking by Miss Alicia Reilly.

On behalf of Matthew and our entire family, I would like to publicly thank Miss Reilly and Danielle Cerillo for their quick and cool reaction.

I would also like to thank Matthew's classmate Joseph Whittaker, (who first noticed Matthew's predicament and called for help) and Mrs. Roz Garman, the school nurse, who took great pains to examine and comfort Matthew after the incident.

To all those mentioned, and to all who ran to help and then offered their concern, I am grateful. A great tragedy was averted this Friday the 13th due to these wonderful people. God bless you.

Gail Castaro

Commending The School Board

My congratulations to Superintendent Mugavero and the board on deciding to hire impartial and unbiased consultants with the expertise to determine which schools should be closed. I don't want my school closed, but I could live with that decision if it is based on facts and figures rather than ill-prepared, emotionally charged individuals with a "lynch law" mentality.

I commend the Board on deciding to seek outside help. I was always taught that it is wise to seek wisdom, and to reach out in order to do the right thing. I feel that the board did just that. There are two clear advantages of hiring outside consultants. First, we will be assured that all the proper facts and statistics will be gathered and examined, without prejudice. Second, if a decision is reached based on these facts and statistics, there can be no legitimate grudge held against any other part of town.

I think it is in the best interest of anyone interested in a fair outcome to the school closings, and a happy and healthy Hicksville to support the Superintendent and the Board in this decision.

Carl Singer

Defending The School Board

You can't have it both ways Mr. Bennett! Last year you criticized the board for not following the recommendations of the "experts" on school closings. This year you criticize us for doing just that!

The decision to hold a special meeting on Oct. 2 was made at approximately 10 p.m. and Sept. 26 by unanimous agreement of all seven board members and the superintendent.

While you would like the public to believe that the hiring of the consultant and the charge to the consultant was done by four board members the vote was as follows:

On an amended motion, by me, to let the consultants pick the school/schools the vote was 4-3 (Martillo, Rudin, Collins and Wolf voting yes; Phaender, Black and Lafferty voting no.) On the main motion to hire the consultants the vote was 6-1. (Martillo, Rudin, Collins, Phaender, Lafferty and Wolf voting yes; Black voting no.) On the motion to appoint a lay committee to work with the consultants the vote was unanimous. This is democracy Mr. Bennett!

Since day one this Board has made an effort to work cooperatively with each other and to do our work out in public within the bounds of the Sunshine Law. While it appears that board members are challenging each other in public, this is the way it always should have been. Disagreements are inevitable, but if they are discussed in a free and open arena and handled without rancor and with respect for each other's opinions then the democratic process works. In the past, and indeed during your reign as president, much of the discussion the public now sees was done behind closed doors.

In 1984 consultants were hired. They rendered a report recommending the district close schools. You were the president of the board with a solid board majority for most of the years following, yet no schools closed for six more years. Why? Perhaps, it was because of the politics of certain school board members who said: "We can't close a school when I'm up for re-election. It's political suicide."

Mr. Collins, Mrs. Wolf, Mrs. Rudin and I are determined that school closings be depoliticized. The community through the lay community (who knows the communities concerns) and the consultants (who have no political agenda and no vested interests) can bring to the board a recommendation based solely on what is best for Hicksville, and our children.

A Letter from Lulabelle...

...Have you noticed how the "do it yourself" stores and the window stores are proliferating lately? . . . Folks have realized that it's far easier and cheaper to remodel or expand than it is to seek a new home, a new mortgage, and have to move the kids to another school . . . So many are actually doubling their living space by putting a second storey on a one storey house and many of them are very handsome homes. . . And, as for windows, I don't remember that people replaced windows in their homes, but now I see one of the window replacement company trucks all around town—and many of the new windows—especially those with the rounded tops (palladium?) are very exciting. . . One house I saw recently had changed every window on the first floor to the rounded top type, and, although it sounds overdone, I liked it. . . And then we have the skylight windows that bring in the light and make whole rooms or halls so cheerful and bright that plants can now grow where none could before. . . And, if you want to be really extravagant, these new greenhouse type additions to porches, kitchens, or anywhere are so wonderfully glamorous and can make an ordinary room new and "gorjus". . . If you walk through one of the "do it yourself" stores, you will be astonished at the wealth of materials and the ideas they suggest for doing something exciting to your home—and even if you don't want to do anything, walk through just for the fun of it.

Yours, Lulabelle

We believe that this time all board members should be removed from the school closing process and receive the final report together. Then we will make a decision without any pre-conceived ideas or pressure.

Why are you afraid of this process Mr. Bennett? Is it because you fear that they may not recommend the school that you want closed?

James Martillo

The School Board Has Not Surrendered Its Vote

I am writing this letter because I am really getting tired of hearing Bill Bennett twist and distort every situation so that he can stir the pot and keep Hicksville from coming together as a community that can work together even if and when we disagree. Mr. Bennett seems to think that he is the patriarch of our entire community and we, his children, are only here to hang on his every word (of which there are way too many) and to believe everything he says.

It is obvious to me from reading Mr. Bennett's letter to the Editor in your newspaper dated Oct. 10, that he thinks he should be responsible to interpret (or misinterpret) whatever goes on at board meetings, and then feed his distortions to the people who did not attend the meetings.

I do believe that the last board meeting was poorly publicized, and I would hope that in the future better care would be taken to give the public sufficient notice of all board meetings.

I also agree that everyone should closely monitor school board meetings.

Unfortunately, it would appear to be more important to monitor Mr. Bennett's distortions than to monitor the Superintendent and the School Board!

If the truth be known, and I quote Mr. Bennett's letter, the board majority did not "Surrender their role as board trustees to an outside consultant to determine and name a school or schools for closing."

What the board did do, however, as Yolanda Rodriguez reported in her article in Newsday on Oct. 9, was to hire "two consultants to study the district and make recommendations for reorganization. Mr. Victor Caputo of The Illustrated also reported in the Oct. 10 issue that the outside consultants were hired to "look at the feasibility of school buildings being closed." In the same Illustrated article, Carole Wolf, the Board President, was quoted as saying, "We are not giving away our voting right. We are asking them what our options are." Trustee Arlene Rudin also was quoted as saying "The final decision on school closings or no school closings rests with us." Nowhere is it mentioned that the board majority surrendered their role as board trustees to an outside consultant as Mr. Bennett would have the public believe.

The board has not, as Mr. Bennett has accused, given "outsiders the charge to close one or two schools." What they have done is hired highly qualified people to work up an analysis so that the board can make an intelligent decision. Mr. Bennett seems to feel that he has all the intelligence that any community could want and does not seem to think there is a need to seek the educated opinions of others.

To The School Board

On Wednesday, Oct. 2 the Board of Education voted to hire a consultant and directed him to conduct a study based on demographics which would determine if any school should be closed in Hicksville. The board came to this conclusion as they did not have enough of their own independent information to make this decision.

In view of this we believe that if there is not currently enough information to make a determination on school closings, what was the rationale on the closing of Willet Avenue School? We therefore think it is important that Willet Avenue be included in the consultant's study in order to get a total picture of our school district.

Additionally, during the board's discussion that evening, and in a later informational presentation by the Superintendent at the Hicksville Council of PTA's, it was stated that the consultant would study

Seven Artists Meet 'Five Minute Challenge'

Long Island residents and art aficionados, Phyllis and Stanley Kreitman, and Bill Wisser, are the sponsors of an exhibit of drawings — featuring the work of seven innovative artists who work from a model with a special requisite, "the five-minute challenge," to be held at New York Institute of Technology, Old Westbury Campus, Oct. 22 through Nov. 25, in Wisser Memorial Library.

The exhibit is free and open to the public, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. in Wisser Library. A reception will be held on Thursday, Oct. 24, from 6 to 8 p.m. (Entrance to campus is on Northern Blvd., Rte. 25A, east of Glen Cove Road.)

There are seven artists included in the showing; they meet weekly in a studio in North Bellmore, changing their model's pose every five minutes. This self-imposed restriction forces them to stimulate their creativity.

When working from the model, Sylvia Arbesfeld allows her tools to make their marks randomly and uncensored, not looking at the paper. This method of "blind drawing" prevents her from knowing beforehand what the drawing will look like and adds to the underlying expressive images. Incorporating ink, paint and/or collage adds dimension; the results are sometimes whimsical and bizarre.

Naomi Grossman's drawings are as much about materials as they are about the figure. The variety of media is important; there is an excitement in the contrast of black chalk against the wash, a delicate line with large dark areas, as a dialogue is created in her drawings and her sculpture. Energy and spontaneity are apparent in this artist's expressive works.

By exploring with a coarse nervous line in mixed media, Judy Henry depicts the raw energy that enervates the city and feeds the often violent underbelly. Her large drawings are of over-crowded rooms filled with people who never seem to connect, or of one figure, singled out by its aloneness and twisted by the pain of its existence.

Shirley Kotik works in an expressionistic mode which gives her freedom of gesture and aids in the transference of emotion from model to drawing. This transformation creates feelings such as pensiveness, loneliness or wistfulness. Exploring with assorted drawing tools gives her diversity of surfaces and when continuing this exploration with found objects, leads to tactile assemblages.

Malati Narsu was born in India and has lived in the United States all of her adult life; she combines her East Indian art background with its heavy emphasis on symbolism and myth with Western influence. She uses a variety of inks, conte, and pencil on a wet surface and welcomes the spontaneity of what occurs. The coming together of her two cultures makes for fascinating visuals.

Alice Sawyer uses exaggeration and distortion in her figure drawings to underline the exaggerated and distorted attitude prevailing around her in the US toward physical beauty particularly as it applies to the female figure. Her mixed media pen and ink, conte, charcoal, and pencil drawings lead to three-dimensional mixed media realizations composed of crushed paper, cotton, found objects, and other materials.

Artists Sybelle Trigoboff combines use of an abstract geometric shape with the figurative form as symbolic of the relationship between the spiritual and the physical. The human figure is distorted and the geometric shapes are sometimes covered with Hebrew and English conjugations of verbs.

will be re-created at Old Bethpage Village Restoration on Saturday, October 27 and Saturday and Sunday November 2 and 3 from 2:30 to 4 pm. Come see how far we have come (haven't we?) in our electoral sophistication by comparing today's political campaign techniques against those in the wild and woolly days of young, pre-Civil War America.

The Crown of Columbus,
Michael Dorris and Louise Erdrich,
Harper/Collins, 382 pp.

The Crown of Columbus is the story of two Dartmouth professors, Vivian Twostar and Roger Williams. Vivian, who is "Navajo-Irish-Hispanic-Sioux by marriage" and who says "I like to think a version of American history was contained in that log-jam of names." Roger is pure White Anglo-Saxon Protestant. The two had been lovers and Vivian had born a child, Violet, out of wedlock. An ardent feminist, she has decided to raise her child alone unless she can make Roger see that he wants to marry her and share the bringing up of their child.

For several years, Roger, a poet, has been working on an epic poem about Christopher Columbus and, by coincidence, Vivian has been instructed to write a piece on the explorer from the point of view of the native Americans. While doing research for the paper, she comes across extensive correspondence between the Dartmouth administration and the Cobb family, major benefactors of the college, correspondence that has been misfiled in the library.

It appears that in the early 18th century, an early member of the family had entrusted certain documents relating to Christopher Columbus that he had come upon by accident, to Dartmouth. Later generations of the family came to believe that the materials should be returned. The most recent letter from one Henry Cobb states: "I insist for the sixth and last time that you locate and return all materials pertinent to Christopher sent to you in good faith by my father and grandfathers."

Vivian writes to Mr. Cobb, who lives on an island in the Bahamas and tells him that she has found the missing material. He immediately sends her one thousand dollars and asks her to fly to the Bahamas to give him the documents. Vivian decides that she will use the money for airfare for herself, Roger and the baby, Violet, and they will make the trip to the Bahamas a family vacation.

When they arrive they find that Henry Cobb believes that the Columbus papers contain information about a crown that Columbus had presented to the natives he met on one of his voyages and that the crown is somewhere on his island. Cobb is convinced that the crown is of immense worth and he is determined to locate it. Vivian and Roger want to discover the crown because they are scholars and believe it belongs to history.

They soon find that Henry Cobb will stop at nothing, including murder, to achieve his ends. What began as a research project in the Dartmouth College library ends in an exciting rescue operation in the Bahamas. The secret of the crown of Columbus is revealed at last and it is no anticlimax.

Louise Erdrich and Michael Dorris are husband and wife and, like Vivian and Roger, met at Dartmouth where she was his student. Ms. Erdrich is also the author of two books of poems, Jacklight and Baptism of Desire, and three novels, The Beet Queen, Love Medicine and Tracks. Like Vivian, she is part Navajo. Michael Dorris is also a native American and has written extensively on that subject. He has also written The Broken Cord, a story of fetal alcoholism syndrome which afflicted his adopted son. The collaboration of the two has produced a fascinating novel.

Long Island Landscape In Photographs

The vision of eight photographic artists forms the basis for A Sense Of Place: Contemporary Long Island Landscape Photography, a new group on view at the Heckscher Museum from Oct. 26 through Jan. 5, 1992. In the enduring tradition of Timothy O'Sullivan, Dorothea Lange, Walker Evans and Ansel Adams, these eight photographers, each with longstanding local ties, create a portrait of the 120-mile landscape of Long Island, from Brooklyn to Montauk. A Sense Of Place: Contemporary Long Island Landscape Photography is organized by Anna C. Noll, curator for the Heckscher Museum.

The eight photographers whose work has been selected for this show are Regina Deluise, Carol Fonde, Kris Giulianielli, Linda Hackett, Joanne Mulberg, Russell Munson, Lauren Piperno and Neil Scholl.

Regina Deluise, who grew up in Northport, is represented by a series of exquisite platinum/palladium prints exploring the seemingly perfect world of Long Island's grand Gold Coast estates. Ms. Deluise's work reveals the influence of her studies in Florence, Italy where she first became involved in landscape photography.

Carol Fonde's Lloyd Harbor roots are reflected in Salt Marsh, Lloyd Harbor, a 1991 glimpse of a watery inlet seen through the thin afternoon light of winter. Ms. Fonde shoots in color and typically prints in a large format, emphasizing the expansiveness of her subjects.

Garden City resident Kris Giulianielli also uses color to enhance the aesthetic, emotional and intellectual impact of his landscape images. Mr. Giulianielli's photographs capture everyday life, showing homes, buildings and places of business, recreation and transportation.

Linda Hackett's work captures the grassy dunes, open fields and flower-filled gardens of Long Island's East End. The artist, who has been coming to Southampton since childhood, favors the use of pinhole photography for its latitude with exposures and the resultant subtle shifts of color.

Huntington resident Joanne Mulberg has concentrated on the ever-changing physical and cultural landscape of Long Island over the past 15 years. Ms. Mulberg's large-scale color photographs reflect the subtleties and complexities of the familiar world around her.

Like Linda Hackett, photographer Russell Munson uses the East End as a setting for his work. Merging a life-long interest in aviation with his art, Mr. Munson's photographs frequently portray the landscapes of eastern Long Island from the air. Mr. Munson's black and white abstractions convey a sense of the timelessness of nature.

Freeport-born Lauren Piperno is represented by a series of photographs taken in the early 1980s documenting the stations, platforms and tracks of the Long Island Railroad, the nation's busiest commuter line.

These photographs have not previously been on exhibition. Many of the landmarks captured by Ms. Piperno have since disappeared or radically changed.

A Sense Of Place opens at the Heckscher Museum on Saturday, Oct. 26 and runs through Sunday, Jan. 5. There is a full schedule of informative lectures and workshops related to the exhibition. Several of the artists with works in the show will be presenting programs.

The Heckscher Museum is open Tuesday-Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Saturday and Sunday, 1-5 p.m. The suggested voluntary admission donation is $2 for adults and $1 for children. The museum is located on Prime Avenue in Huntington.

classroom and building use, census information, etc., and then announce to the board whether or not a building or buildings should be closed, and thereby designating the building, in addition to the Superintendent naming a building(s). It was further explained that the board would vote on any possible closings at this January meeting. The next month an additional computer consultant would present to the board the redistricting plans as to what schools the students would attend.

We would like the board to present the information on the building closure and the reorganization, and to vote simultaneously on this information. We would like the safety of the children, especially in regards to transportation, to be an important consideration. Last year during the rescinding of a building closing, two of the current board members could not vote on the closing of a building without knowing where the students were going. The vote to rescind occurred before the superintendent could present this information. Why would a vote be taken without this information this year? This is vital information, it should not be a twofold decision.

We hope the board will consider discussion and revision of their philosophy in regard to these two important concerns.

NANCY LIEBERMAN CLINE gives Lakiesha Weeb and Pat Hart tips on basketball.

Professional Athlete Heads H.S. Basketball Clinic

Two-time Olympian athlete Nancy Lieberman Cline addressed an audience of interested Hicksville High School athletes recently in a basketball clinic sponsored by members of the Student Athlete Leadership Program.

The first woman to play in men's professional league, Cline spoke candidly to the students about hard work, determination and pride. The students listened intently as she spoke of the various skills and techniques the professionals employ, and students participated in fast-paced drills and exercises to improve their game and their stamina.

The clinic was open to all interested Hicksville High School students and was attended by members of both the girls' and boys' Hicksville High School Basketball team.

Cline, who also toured Europe and North America with the Harlem Globetrotters, was the youngest female ever to make the Olympic Basketball Team in 1976, and is currently training for a spot on the 1992 Olympic Basketball Team.

Hicksville Rockets Roar To Victory

The Hicksville Rockets won at the Brentwood Columbus Day Tournament in the under 11 Boys Major Soccer Division with four wins and a tie.

The team displayed great defense in allowing only one goal in five games. The Rockets beat HBC 2-0, Sachem 2-0, Haupaage 2-0, Clarkstown 2-0 and tied Hewlet 1-1.

Goalie Danny Cocchi was super in recording four shutouts. He was assisted with fine defensive play led by Nick Alfano, John Fiorillo, Eddie Pettei, Hank Zuckerman, Paul Mastorano and Adam Sobel.

The goal scorers were Martin Ferrario and David Neves with two goals, and solo goals by Mikey Camerinos, Michael Tanella, Andrew Burner, Chris Musinski, Brett Huzar and Kevin Nolan.

Coach Roman Musinski and Dean Camerinos were pleasantly surprised by the championship as they knew going into the tournament that they would be facing tough Division I teams.

Isles Score 13 Goals But Drop 3 Games

By A. Anthony Miller

After seven games in the 1990 season, the Islander's stood at two wins, five losses and no ties. After seven games—as of Oct. 19—the Islander's 1991 record stands at 2-4-1.

But that's where the similarity to last year end. May believed that the 1991 Islanders only had one star: Pat LaFontaine. But Pat, who hasn't played this year—and isn't considered likely to—seems by his absence to have forced the team to come up with alternates.

Knowing that they're working without LaFontaine, the Islanders are working harder. Last year, fans at the Coliseum may have seen 20 spirited minutes out of every 60. In this year's games, it's been 40 and better.

Let's look at some individual players: Tom Kurvers, the 29-year-old defenseman obtained from Minnesota last June in exchange for Craig Ludwig, has had a six game point streak and a four game assist streak.

Right wing Patrick Flatley, the Islanders' number one draft pick in 1982, had a four game point streak and two game assist streak. (All stats are as of Oct. 17.)

Right wing Patrick Flatley, the Islander's number one draft pick in 1982, has a four game point streak and two game assist streak. (All stats are as of Oct. 17.)

And take left wing Derek King, the Islander's number two pick in 1985, who's entering his fifth professional season: the pundits who have been saying he's just about "ready" seem to know their stuff. On Oct. 15, Derek recorded his third career hat trick and along the way, broke a record.

The three goals were scored in the span of 1:18, shattering Denis Potvin's record of 3:21 in 1978. Derek beat Pittsburgh Penguins' goaltender Tom Barrasso, the same goaltender against whom he recorded his first hat trick on Feb. 6, 1990.

The Oct. 15 game opened quickly, with the Islanders taking three shots on goal in the first 15 seconds. King's hat trick also came in the first period, and at the end of the second period, the Islanders were ahead, 5-2. Randy Wood made it number six 20 seconds after the start of the third period, but that's all she wrote, for the Penguins, who seemed to be dispirited for the first 40 minutes, suddenly came alive.

Mario Lemieux turned a hat trick of his own, and what had been a 6-2 lead suddenly became a tie after Penguins' Jaromir Jagr made it number six, forcing overtime. That lasted just two minutes and 30 seconds before Phil Bourque brought a crashing end to an inspiring start.

The Isles travelled to Pittsburgh two days later, only to lose 8-5 in regulation to the team which won the 1991 Stanley Cup.

The third game of the week, Oct. 19 against the Edmonton Oilers, saw another Islander favorite in goal, as Mark Fitzpatrick, who has been suffering from a lingering illness, was recalled from the Capital District of the AHL, together with defenseman Dennis Vaske and center Hubie McDonough.

Fitzpatrick, making his first Coliseum appearance of the new season, and always a crowd favorite, stopped 19 of the 23 Oilers shots last Saturday, while only two of the 26 Islanders who fired made their mark. Derek King scored on a power goal at 10:59 of the second period, after Ray Ferraro notched his fourth goal of the season at 17:29 of the first period.

The Islanders have only two games, both at home, scheduled for this week. On Oct. 22, the Winnipeg Jets make the first of two appearances at the Coliseum, while on Sat., Oct. 26, the Los Angeles Kings visit for the only time this season.

Season and individual tickets for Islanders are still available by calling 794-4100. Home games are televised on cable and aired on several AM radio stations. Many away games are also aired, both on radio and television.

Kevin A. Miller contributed to this report.

1991 Ice Skating Fees Same As In '86

The Oyster Bay Town Board has approved a schedule of fees for the town's three ice skating rinks which reflects no increase over 1986 levels.

All rinks will open for public skating sessions beginning on Nov. 23, weather permitting. The three outdoor rinks are located at Majorie Post Park, Massapequa, and the Syosset-Woodbury Community Parks.

General admission for two-hour public skating sessions at all rinks is $2 for skaters age 16 and over and $1 for children age 15 and under.

Senior Citizens over age 62 will receive a .50 cent reduction on a two-hour session as do volunteer firefighters and auxiliary police as long as they bring the proper identification.

A special $1 one-hour session will take place at the Bethpage rink for skaters age 16 and over and a .50 cent hourly session for children 15 and under. The sessions will be free for seniors 62 and older as well as being free for volunteer firemen and auxiliary police officers with proper I.D.

The town's Department of Parks will conduct a Recreational Ice Hockey Program for those youngsters who enjoy the high energy, fast paced sport of ice hockey. The program is designed for people between the ages of 6 and 17 and will focus on many facets of hockey.

Controlled scrimmage games as well as arranged games with other hockey programs of similar levels of play will be held, but no standing will be kept.

The registration fee for this program is one regulation ice hockey puck.

A new offering this year is geared for those who enjoy speed or fitness skating. A special session at the Bethpage skating rink on Sunday evening from 7-9 p.m. will be devoted to skaters who practice the sport for physical benefits. Admission will be the same as the regular two-hour session.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Department of Parks, located at Town Hall South, 977 Hicksville Rd., Massapequa, at 795-1000.
