Town Responds To Recent Rabies Problem

Nassau County has recently been designated by its Board of Supervisors as a "rabies county." The Town of Oyster Bay has developed a plan to ensure that all dogs and cats that are brought to the Animal Shelter are inoculated for rabies.

Animal shelter employees have been issued pre-exposure rabies inoculations and the shelter has purchased rabies vaccine. The director, assistant director and senior animal warden of the Animal Shelter have all been authorized and trained to administer intramuscular inoculations to all the animals.

At the present time, the mandatory rabies requirements only apply to dogs. The town has said that cats will also be inoculated at the shelter since it is believed that the mandate will be expanded to include them within the near future. Every person who adopts or retrieves a lost animal from the shelter will receive a certificate of rabies inoculation.

The Hicksville Kiwanis Club continued its yearly tradition of giving to the community by holding its annual Holiday Dinner at the Ground Round in Hicksville recently for needy families.

The dinner was held just before Christmas, with Santa arriving near the end of the dinner to ensure that all the children who attended got a Christmas present.

More than 100 people, with almost half being children, took part in the dinner. The Kiwanis Club spends a good part of the year searching out the names of the families in Hicksville who may need assistance and then they invite them to the dinner.

"We have been doing this for years and it has been getting bigger every year. We take pride in helping out the needy families in the community," said Hicksville Kiwanis Club President Marc Ramirez.

The Key Club in Hicksville, which is comprised of all high school age community children, also lent a hand, helping to set up decorations and offering face painting to the children who attended.

"We welcome the help and support of the Key Club. They played a major role in making the evening a success and should be congratulated for their efforts," said Ramirez.

The Key Club is not the only organization who helps the Kiwanis Club with the event. The children of the Dutch Lane School along with the Salvation Army contributed hats and gloves to give to the people who may need them in the cold winter months ahead.

The Kiwanis Club buys most of the presents that Santa gives out at the dinner with their own money that they raise through various fundraisers throughout the year.

They are very glad to offer the dinner as a way of extending the holiday spirit to members of the community that might not

Administrative Reorganization In District

By Victor Caputo

Superintendent of Schools Salvatore Mugavero has set up an Administrative and Supervisory Reorganization Plan that will completely replace the existing plan that is used in the district.

It will produce savings of more than $1 million to Hicksville taxpayers and while saving money, the plan does not hurt educational services to the students, he said. The plan, according to Mugavero, will bring a more specific approach to curriculum development, better services and a greater interdisciplinary approach.

"With all of these, the most important aspect is the greater accountability of these staff members in terms of delivery of these services," he said.

The administrative structure at the district level will be as follows from top to bottom: Superintendent of Schools, Assistant Superintendent of Educational Services, Assistant Superintendent of Schools of Business Management, Director of Personnel, Director of Instruction, Director of PPS and Special Education, Assistant Director of PPS and Special Education, Director of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Driver Education for K-12, Director of Facilities and Operations or Supervisor of Operations, Supervisor of Fine Arts K-12, Supervisor of Foreign Languages and Compensatory Education K-12, Coordinator of Computer Services K-12, Supervisor of Liberal Arts K-12, Supervisor of Math and Science K-12, Coordinator of Curriculum Materials Center and Library Management K-12 and Community Relations and Public Information.

"In order to more effectively monitor and supervise the various areas, they will all be located at the central office," Mugavero said, also pointing out that they will spend 80 percent of their time in the buildings of the district. This, he said, will insure that the entire curriculum from K-12 will be monitored.

"The new K-12 position will allow the individual administrator assigned to each job to cross traditional subject area boundaries in providing ample opportunities for enhancement of the curriculum, interdisciplinary study," Mugavero said.

"Having a single administrator in charge of a wider range of curriculum areas increases the possibilities open to us to see that the curriculum for each subject area is continual, sequential and logically develops the study skill development and application of skills to higher level forms of intellectual inquiry," he added.

The high school will eliminate four Teacher-Deans and convert the position of Administrative Assistant Dean of Students. Mugavero said that this will give teaching periods back to the staff members and will give the new dean a full-time assignment of monitoring student discipline and attendance at the high school.

There will be a number of stipend positions with no released time, but there will be a dollar stipend in eight academic subject areas, Music K-12, Art K-12, Coordinator of Special Services K-12, Business Education Sixth-12, Reading K-12, Physical Education and Athletics K-12 and Technology/Home and Careers K-12.

The following positions that will be eliminated or combined will be taken from English or Social Studies, Science or Math, Driver Education, Chairperson of Special Education, Supervisor of Physical Education, Director of Facilities and Operations or Supervisor of Operations, Supervisor of Vocational and Occupational Education, International Baccalaureate Teacher, Teacher Deans, Various Coordinator Positions, Alternative School and six secretarial positions. "We are confident that this revision will allow us to maintain quality instruction and at the same time, improve the monitoring and supervision of the instructional program on a continuous basis," he said.

"The new K-12 curriculum supervisors are suggested as a complete replacement for the former system of secondary level department chairs assigned by subject area. In this proposal, the chair positions are abolished and the new K-12 positions allow the in-

What Hicksville Residents Are Reading

Every week the Hicksville Public Library takes a poll of what books and movies are the most requested by community members.

This week, the top books in the fiction department are No Greater Love by Danielle Steel, Remember by Barbara Taylor Bradford, Sum Of All Fears by Tom Clancy, Night Over Water by Ken Follett and The Firm by John Grisham.

Top books in the non-fiction department this week are Chutzpah by Alan Dershowitz, The Best Treatment by Isadore Rosenfeld, Dreadnaught by Robert Massie, Under Fire by Oliver North and Cruel Doubt by Joe McGinniss.

Top videos this week are Silhouette, Dances With Wolves, Cadence, What About Bob and Outrage.

Fire Department Needs Community Support

The Hicksville Fire Department once again is asking for the community's support. In 1993, the fire department will be celebrating 100 years of firefighting service to the community.

In conjunction with this anniversary celebration, a 200 page journal will be published. The research team has been gathering information for about six months. They are asking that residents, past and present, who have information, stories, photographs, programs and memorabilia that might be helpful in putting together the journal, to please contact the fire department.

They are also asking if past members families can contact the special events phone center at 933-6461 and leave information for the fire department to use.

The Fire Department is hoping that there are residents who can help them trace their history.

The following is a list of last names who have had an impact in the department and who they would like to know more about: Christ, Hahn, McGinnagle, Liebke, Quaritus, Rohrbach, Heitz, Herzog, Heberer, Augustin, Puvogel, Duffy, Weterau, Voight, Turner, Stoltz, Reinhardt, Schnepp, Cisler, Borley, Kerbs and Hauxhurst.

This list is not limited to only these names. Please help the fire department come up with the most up-to-date journal of events that have occurred and the people that have helped make them memorable in the department's lifetime.

New Program At The Library

The Social Issues Resource Service, a new CD-ROM data base computer program is now available at the Hicksville Public Library.

Better known as SIRS, this program contains thousands of full-text articles on a wide variety of science and social science topics. Articles in the data bases are selected from 800 publications including newspapers, magazines, journals, government documents and English language editions of foreign publications.

Filled with fascinating information, SIRS details the latest technological and medical developments and also explores natural phenomena on land and in space. It also features up-to-date articles and information on all social issues and contemporary problems throughout the world. SIRS is easy to use, with the help of screens throughout the program. The user can print full or partial text.

Restrictive Covenants Placed On Local Business

Sixteen restrictive covenants have been placed on a special use permit granted in December to operate an automobile retail business in a G-1 business district located at the corner of Railroad Ave. and Old Country Rd.

Grand Prix Leasing was the applicant. The board stipulated that there will be no outside storage of material, trailers or equipment of any kind and no gasoline, motor vehicle fluids or hazardous waste shall be dispensed or stored on the site. It was further stipulated that there will be no repairs, servicing or washing of vehicles other than display vehicles at any time on the premises. Further restrictive covenants include the size and location of signs and the proper disposal of garbage, all outside lights cannot inconvenience passing cars and a maximum of 16 cars shall be stored on the premises. A site plan must be approved by the town.

TOB Says Farewell To Delligatti

By Dagmar Fors Karppi

The meeting at the Oyster Bay Town Hall hearing room got off to a late start. A surprise farewell was scheduled for Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Angelo Delligatti. He apologized for being late.

He said the day before, he had returned his official car to the county and they gave him a loaner for the rest of the year.

It wouldn't start.

He didn't cause a fuss and call Town Hall for a lift. His wife Mary was coming to Oyster Bay, and she dropped him off. Later when he was scheduled for lunch at The Basil Leaf in Locust Valley, he told Councilman Tom Clark that he couldn't go, someone needed him for decisions.

Angelo Delligatti's days in office are ending in kind. He never put himself first, he just worked hard and tried to do the right thing. His last act was to cancel the contract with American Ref-Fuel to build an incinerator.

When he was asked why he didn't put an end to the incinerator project before the Nov. 5 election, he said "I considered it a governmental and not a political decision." He considered the issue of major importance and as such should be kept "out of the heat of the election."

Councilman Tom Hogan was the first speaker at the public farewell. He likened the election vote to "a child striking out at their parents" because of uncertainty. He said it was "not at you as a government official, but as a figurehead, a father of the community."

Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Angelo Delligatti sits in the audience as he listened to his board members salute his tenure in office. Councilman Tom Hogan, at the podium leads the standing ovation.

Photograph by Dagmar Karppi.

He said people will recognize what fine things were accomplished during the Delligatti term. The audience of town workers and political watchers murmured a soft "Hmmm," in agreement.

He said Mr. Delligatti was "open, and listened to people and got things done."

didn't raise taxes and showed a reasonable surplus. The parks, beaches, streets and highways have never been better maintained.

"I know first hand the inroads you have made to acquire the Jakobson Shipyard and the Glen Head Community Center," said

County Leaders Gaze Into 1992

By A. Anthony Miller

The year 1991 may well go down in the history books as one that saw great swings in the American spirit.

Our clear and swift victory in the Persian Gulf War brought the American self-image - as well as our image abroad - to a new high. The collapse of the Soviet Union, once considered a superpower rivaling America - left the United States the undisputed world leader.

But at home, a foundering economy, shrinking income, and rising taxes left many unemployed and at risk of losing savings and homes, and even those who held on to their jobs were left feeling helpless and unable to control major portions of their lives.

In many instances, we were shocked not only by an escalating crime rate, but by the viciousness of some of the crimes. Police are reporting more incursions into Nassau by New York City criminals, many of whom carry sophisticated weapons which they do not seem reluctant to use.

As the old year ended and we begin 1992, we can anticipate some changes in our way of life here in Nassau County. Governor Mario Cuomo and the leaders of the state legislature are wrestling with an estimated $875 million shortfall in the current budget, and the question at press time was not whether more services will be cut and whether taxes will be increased, it was what will we lose and how much more will we have to pay.

On the local level, for the first time since the foundation of Nassau in 1899, no one political party has a clear majority in the board of supervisors. Politicians who once seemed entrenched in their positions find that their patronage bases may be slipping, as the popularity quotient many community leaders enjoyed appeared to be slipping. Frustration was seen as a factor in many elections last November, such as the one in North Hempstead that gave the Democrats a solid majority for the first time ever, and the Oyster Bay vote which ousted Angelo A. Delligatti from his supervisor's seat.

Yet, our political leaders have a vision for the coming year and we asked some of them to share it with our readers.

Thomas S. Gulotta, Nassau's County Executive, acknowledges that many of the hundreds of residents to whom he has spoken "are scared, and they are frustrated."

Gulotta recalled that the "1980s were a boom time for Long Island and for America. Our economy expanded at an unprecedented rate and people looked to the future with a sense of optimism."

The 1991 recession, however, "has created hardship for many and anger and frustration are rampant," the county executive said.

He called on Nassau residents to "pool our resources and make the tough decisions. There have been 33 recessions in this country in the past 120 years. We have survived every one and we will survive this one. Our willingness to make tough decisions now will ensure the economic health and vitality of each of our citizens for the future."

"While no one has a magic wand, and while we do not control the national economy, we must do our best at the local level. By working together, with our citizens, we can break the back of the real property tax

Commissioner Rozzi Steps Down

By A. Anthony Miller

A "search committee" will help Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta select the ninth commissioner of the Nassau County Police Department.

The current commissioner, Samuel J. Rozzi of Oyster Bay, who announced his retirement on Dec. 23, leaves office Jan. 30, the same day as Charles Spahr, the first deputy commissioner.

Harry Anderson, the second deputy commissioner, retired last spring, and his position has remained vacant since. It's the first time in the department's history that all three top posts will be vacant simultaneously.

Rozzi made his announcement at a hastily called press conference attended by a dozen reporters and photographers and more than 30 top ranking police officers, who sat quietly and with stony faces in the police auditorium at Mineola headquarters during the short session, which began with a brief statement and ended after reporters questioned the commissioner for 10 minutes.

Rozzi, whose wife, Santa, a deputy county executive, had been quoted only a day earlier in a New York Times interview as saying that her husband had no plans to retire, told his audience that "after 43 years of service in the Nassau County Police Department and almost 14 years as the chief executive officer or commissioner, I have made a decision to retire."

He said his announcement comes after "deep consideration and consultation with all the members of my family." Calling it a "difficult choice," he denied either that he had been forced from office or that budget restraints that the department faces in 1992 were a factor in the choice. Sources inside the department, however, insisted that until his announcement, Rozzi had shown no indication that he would retire.

The commissioner claimed that he wanted to "once again enjoy a family life without the virtually continuous demands associated with my office."

He joined the department as a police officer, or, as the job was then called, "patrolman," on March 8, 1948. Almost 30 years to the day later, he became the department's eighth commissioner, succeeding Daniel FIREFIGHTERS responded to a call at the Imperial Wok restaurant. They responded very quickly preventing further damage from occurring.

FIRE REPORT

Hicksville firefighters responded to a kitchen fire at the Imperial Wok restaurant on W. Marie St. at 11:41 a.m. on Dec. 24.

The alarm was reported by a passerby and upon arrival, the firefighters found employees fighting the fire and patrons inside were unaware that a fire was taking place.

No injuries were reported, but a large quantity of food was exposed to smoke and the Health Department was requested to investigate.

Four units responded to the 11:41 a.m. alarm under Assistant Chief Patrick Scanlon.

The damage was estimated at $1,500.

Hicksville firefighters later responded to a 2:41 a.m. call from an alarm box on S. Broadway.

Upon arrival Assistant Chief Scanlon found a house converted to a store and office completely engulfed by flames to the point you could see right through it to the rear of the building said a Fire Department Spokesperson.

Ten units and 100 firefighters responded under Chief A. Wigdzinski and had the fire under control in about 45 minutes, but not before a neighboring building suffered heat damage and several vehicles and neighboring fences also sustained fire damage.

Chief Wigdzinski had the first arriving units initiate protective measures on homes to the rear of the building.

The building at 476 S. Broadway was occupied by the Supreme Home Improvement task and obtaining that one last photo. Over six months of research has gone into this effort and still no luck.

The fire department is asking the communities help in finding this last photo. Does anyone remember Jacob Christ? He served in the Hicksville Fire Department from 1907-1908.

Jacob and his brother David were members of the Protection Hook and Ladder Company One. They helped build Company One's horse drawn ladder truck.

Anyone with information about the fire department can obtain a photo of Jacob. If they would like to contact the fire department to help bring the search to an end during the 100th Anniversary and to help answer questions that have been puzzling the fire department for many years.

Residents can go down to the Hicksville Fire Department Headquarters on 20 E. Marie Street, Hicksville, or call 933-6461 to help the fire department locate a photo.

The Hicksville Fire Department will be bidding farewell to the 56th Chief to serve during the over 98 years of service to the community. Chief Wigdzinski will have his photo placed with those who have served before him.

Over 30 years ago, a project was started by then Chief Larry Huttie to enshrine the past chiefs photos in the fire department headquarters. His committee, along with Chief Saurar, worked feverishly and was able to find 99 percent of the photos dating back to 1893.

Chief Saurar had since completed his term as chief and went on to become fire commissioner and as recently as 1989 he completed 50 years of dedicated service to the Hicksville Fire Department.

The quest to reach 100 percent of all the chief's photos remains one photo short. They currently have 55 of the needed 56 photos.

With the 100th anniversary on the horizon, the Journal Committee has once again renewed the interest in completing this

SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

Program Inspires Positive Action

As part of the cultural arts curriculum in the schools, the Woodland School PTA sponsored the high energy mime show, We Care.

It was a presentation to help instill sensitivity. Mime Scot Cannon combined training, talent and experience to come up with a meaningful program for school children at all levels of the school system to inspire positive action and give students the tools to give themselves higher-esteem.

Cannon is a versatile composer, author, director, producer, actor, mime, musician and teacher with original and captivating, heartwarming and hilarious performances. The students enjoyed the show very much.

He opens his programs by posing the question, "If you couldn't see, hear, walk or talk, what could you still do?"

Through mime, he presents wonderful skits that focus on such handicaps in a caring manner, giving students a different perspective that they might not otherwise have had.

Cannon encourages students and teachers to role play various situations in which a handicapped person is present. He hopes that all (continued on page 9)

Learning Bike Safety The 4H Way

Students in Holy Family from second, fifth and the sixth grades were recently taught bicycle safety by Mrs. Jeffrey of 4H.

She explained the need for each bicycle to be checked by its rider before starting out. Checking a bicycle is more than looking to see if the bell, horn or bicycle reflectors are working she said. She also said that students do not realize that chains and pedals can become loose or tires can lose air and that brakes often need to be adjusted.

Everyone agreed that it was important to ride a bike that is the correct size. A large bike that has to be grown into is harder to control.

Students were taught that an important piece of equipment needed to insure bicycle safety is the helmet. Statistics show that three out of every four bicyclists who are killed in crashes die of head injuries. About two-thirds of those injured or killed in bicycle/motor vehicle accidents are between the ages of five and 19. The students agreed that it was a good idea to "head out with a helmet."

Mrs. Jeffrey suggested that bicycles can be registered with the local police department.

Bicycles must follow the same rules of the (continued on page 9)

Reading Is Fundamental

As part of the Reading Is Fundamental Program (RIF), the Lee Avenue School invited one of the school district's board members, Helen Lafferty, to read a book to Mary Radziejewski's first grade students.

The children thoroughly enjoyed the books Lafferty read to them, Feathers for Lunch and But No Elephants.

Lafferty offered to come back in the spring at which time she will again read and the children will in turn, read to her.

Students Chosen For Advanced Placement Program

Eight Hicksville students were chosen for the St. John's University Saturday Advanced Placement Art Program out of 30 openings for the total Long Island/New York area.

Hicksville students Allyson Salmaggi, Lillian Keller, Sunny Park, Allison Rapaport, Johnathan Yee, Mike Dattoma, Laura Mango and Karen Romanello make up nearly one-third of the students chosen from the Long Island/Metropolitan area to be accepted to this annual program.

Selection was based solely upon a portfolio review and recommendations. This year, the program will focus on Photography and Basic Design.

Administration

Individual administrator assigned to each job to cross traditional subject-area boundaries in providing ample opportunities for enhancement of the curriculum, interdisciplinary study and the application of learned skills to higher level thinking," said Mugavero.

He feels that by having a single administrator in charge of a wider range of curriculum area will increase the possibilities to see if the curriculum in all areas is continual and sequential. It will also show a student's skill development within the curriculum.

The board approved this plan. Some residents showed concern at a recent board meeting that the new administrative plan will take away from the students who might need assistance. Mugavero told them that it will not take away from the needs of the students.

He feels that this plan will save money and still provide needed services to the students. "People out there are hurting. We must look for ways to cut costs," he said.

They plan on continuing this good will gesture for many years to come.

The families who attended enjoyed the event and the children had a great time with Santa Claus.

Ramirez said that Hicksville is the type of community that likes to get involved and help its fellow community members and this is just one way that they do so.

This holiday season, you can give the priceless gift of love and laughter to a child who has a life-threatening illness. Your tax deductible donation, to the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Metro New York, made in honor of your clients or employees can help make a child's special wish come true.

Please help Make-A-Wish provide the magic to light up a critically ill child's smile this holiday season. With medicine and magic working together, miracles can happen.

We're putting our money where our mouth is to preserve Long Island's water supply.

Long Island's water supply is the finest in the nation. At Slomin's we're taking positive steps to help preserve it.

Specifically, we've established a special financial assistance program to help subsidize the cost of complying with the new regulations regarding buried fuel oil tanks.

Under this program, you will be able to purchase our environmentally safe, 280-gallon fiberglass tank for a price that is truly below our cost.* There are also economical options available for above ground storage tanks, starting as low as $100 installed.

We realize that even with our subsidy, replacing your tank may be a financial burden, so we're offering low monthly payments with no interest or finance charges.

As a leader in the fuel oil industry, we feel a responsibility to invest in our community... to put our money where our mouth is, so to speak.

We're proud to be working with our Long Island neighbors to preserve our fragile environment.

For more information, call Slomin's in Nassau at 932-7000, in Suffolk, call 242-4888.

Don't Waste Your Time And Money On Advertising That Costs More Than It Produces.

If you're not getting your money's worth from your advertising, you're wasting your time. It doesn't take lots of money to hire an exceptional advertising agency that focuses on results. If you're thinking advertising, think about this:

QUALITY: The basis of every piece of work that we create. Our award-winning team will develop a strategy that's on target with your marketing plan. Our copy writer and art director then use the strategy to create conceptually provocative and visually stimulating work. The kind of advertising that produces results.

SERVICE: You'll have the complete support of our staff at your side, offering expertise in all areas of marketing. We can help with all your concerns from creative to media and more. Not only that — we'll work as closely with you as an in-house agency would.

COST: We don't charge more than what's necessary for anything. We focus on award-winning work that produce results. Even if it means working overtime, we throw the clock out the window to keep some money in your pocket. At Zebra Advertising, the only thing that goes in the garbage is garbage.

The program was designed to teach children how to deal with strangers in different situations. The children were the opportunity to ask questions at the end of the presentation.

Each child received a certificate from the police department after the program. This is the seventh year that Officer Bienkowski has presented the program to students at St. Ignatius. The school wants to congratulate him for a commendable job that he does during the presentation, teaching students about safety in Nassau County.

Kimera Salon Opens In Community

Tony Vazzola is the owner and manager of the Kimera salon and he has recently opened his new shop in the brand new Waldbaum's shopping center on Hicksville Rd.

Vazzola is a Hicksville resident and is very happy to be opening a salon in his hometown.

The shop has been doing well since it opened its doors for business on Dec. 11.

"It has been very encouraging. I have been pleasantly surprised with the business we have done so far," Vazzola said.

The salon prides itself on the expert service customers can expect to receive when they make their appointment to come in.

Vazzola said that the clients they have had since they opened have said that they are happy to have found a place where stylists listen to what they are saying and do their best to give them what they want.

"We are here to service people and that is what we pride ourselves on," said Vazzola.

"The staff is the very best we could find," he added, talking about the extensive interview process they went through to come up with the best available personnel.

They use only top of the line products and promise an expert job. "We hope to raise a high level of service in the industry," he said.

He plans on staying for a long time and he has received a good response from people in the area.

The salon caters evenly to men and women. They offer haircuts, hair coloring, manicures, pedicures, facials, beard grooming, facial waxing, leg waxing, frosting and other things.

He encourages people to stop in for free consultations, samples and giveaways.

Further information can be obtained by calling the salon at 932-MERA.

The Discount Rate Cuts

The discount rate was cut over and over in 1991. Historically this has been good news for the stock exchanges, not every time, but most times. The latest cut was a full 1 percent. The Federal Reserve, after five small cuts which did little for the economy, took an ax to the rate. This is a final signal that the Fed wants the interest rate down. The prime dropped. All well and good if the banks use the lower rate to provide loans for business. If not, it will have little effect.

If is the big word. Last year banks were not in the lending mood unless you were absolutely gilted. They preferred to lower their costs and improve their profitability. They felt they needed the lower costs to repair the damages of the 1980s.

The stock markets, all of them, take this as a cue that businesses and the consumer will get the money they need to spend. It reacted in the predictable way and rallied. Yesterday (Dec. 22) it was up about 80 points after a nice run-up the day before. There will be some seesawing, but the trend should continue up. Our prediction, and the way we have handled our investments is based on a good 1992 stock market. We believe the stock market will be up considerably this year. On what do we base our opinion?

First, the pain of the layoffs, restructuring and plant closings in the USA is starting to show up in the profits of companies. Rising profits are good for stock prices.

Second, the falling dollar, as the result of our interest rate cuts and rising interest rates overseas, will stimulate exports. This equates to some employment gains. Employment gains are good for the stock market.

Third, the employment gains will inspire more consumer confidence. It has been very low, this confidence. This will help change the spending mood somewhat. We say somewhat because the consumer is still saddled with a lot of debt. But the lessening of fear about the job will help. We believe the

A Letter from Lulubelle...

...What are some of the things you've never done—and may never do?...As for me—I'd love to take a carriage ride through Central Park in one of those gaily decorated carriages with someone I like a lot—just as they do in the old movies...I'd like to be an architect and design homes with lots of fireplaces, a bath off every bedroom, lots of closets, and lovely windows with palladium tops...Or I'd also like to be a senator and belong as one of my friends said, "to the most exclusive club in the world" and we all know it doesn't have enough females to keep them in line!...I'd like a completely private audience with the Pope so I could ask why we can't have an approved old-style Latin Mass which I loved...I'd like a meeting with the painter Delacroix in his studio with all his originals around—I have many prints but no originals...I'd like to finish my Ph.D., but, of course, I never will...I'd like to strangle people who are in love with apostrophes and don't know where to use them correctly—it's means it is, not a possessive for it—pronouns do not take apostrophes to show possession...I'd like to buy a tape of the original Rescuers—I'm mad about Bernard and Bianca and Evinrude—they have issued The Rescuers Down Under, but no plain Rescuers as far as I have been able to ascertain....I'd like to see all of Green Acres, that ridiculously funny comedy of yesteryear with Arnold, the pig, and the Douglases...I'd like to finish my needlepoint anniversary sampler...I'd like to visit the Holy Land when it didn't seem too dangerous...I'd like to go to France every year of my life...I'd like to have the talent to write a novel—dialogue is so hard...I'd like to know how to use a computer as well as my grandkids do—and program the VCR!!!...And I'd like to have enough time to get really organized...How about you—what would you like???

consumer will still reduce the debt they have, but at a lower pace. Rising consumer confidence is good for the stock market.

Fourth, the banks should find some ground to lighten up on the stringent credit requirements. The regulators have been encouraged to encourage the banks to lighten up and loosen their Scrooge-like attitude. This will help businesses to expand. Expanding businesses are good for the stock market.

Fifth, the people do not like being stringent with themselves. If they possibly can, they will spend what they can.

Sixth, Congress and the President will finally put together some sort of package to help the economy. It will be too little and much too late, but it will look good. Maybe some perceptions will change. Changing perceptions on the positive side are good for the stock market.

Seventh, we do not expect the inflation, which is partly the result of a weak dollar, to catch up with us in the near future. It will come later on. Low inflation, which we have, is good for the stock market because it keeps interest rates down.

Last, the number of Wall Street Bears has risen recently. This is always a good sign for the contrarian. A good and rising number of Bears is good for the stock market.

We have said for most of 1991 that our prediction is for 1992 to be a very good stock market year. We expect most of 1992 to be a generally up stock price year with the DOW hitting 3600 or more in 1992. We do not have the same feeling for 1993. We will deal with that one later on.

We want to

1. Wish you all a great New Year. May it be all you want it to be.

2. Urge you to be positive about investing in stocks and be careful about bonds.

For God, Country & The Thrill Of It

From January 19 through February 23, The Museums at Stony Brook will hold two concurrent exhibits on women in the military. For God, Country and the Thrill of It: Portraits of Women Airforce Service Pilots by Anne Noggle examines women aviators in World War II and those pioneers as they are today. Quietly Bold: Frontline Women addresses women in the military from World War II to the present, with special emphasis on their role in Operation Desert Storm. Quietly Bold and the Stony Brook venue of For God, Country and the Thrill of It are made possible, in part, by a generous contribution from Grumman Corporation.

For God, Country and the Thrill of It: Portraits of Women Airforce Service Pilots by Anne Noggle is the work of Anne Noggle. One of the finest photographers working today, she has created a collective "portrait" of her WASP (Women Airforce Service Pilots) comrades, who, during World War II, were the first women pilots licensed in the United States to fly military airplanes.

Accompanying ten poster-sized vintage photographs from the 1940s, thirty-five arresting portraits by Noggle from the 1986 Stillwater, Texas, reunion of these pioneer women military aviators capture their vibrancy, power and individuality and provide an eloquent testament to their spirit. Fascinating works of photographic art, the portraits depict a remarkable chapter in both women's history and American military and social history.

A former flight instructor, air show pilot, and crop duster, Anne Noggle left the military in 1959; she began concentrating on photography while completing her undergraduate degree at the University of New Mexico in 1966, where she earned a master's degree in 1969. She has since served as curator of photography at the Museum of Fine Art, Santa Fe, and an adjunct professor of art at the University of New Mexico.

Concurrently, The Museums at Stony Brook will present Quietly Bold: Frontline Women, an exhibition addressing the role of women in the armed forces from the time of World War II through Operation Desert Storm.

Powerful works by Shaun Conroy-Hargrave, one of the few photographers to specifically focus on the contributions of the 40,000 American service women in the Persian gulf conflict, are the centerpiece of the multi-media show, which also includes a model of Grumman's J-STARS aircraft, photographs, uniforms, medals, citations and other pertinent memorabilia. Conroy-Hargrave states that these women... deserve more than medals [or] words... [and] only educational exhibitions of this type can hope to educate the populace... about their courage and contributions to the nation's armed forces.

Mr. Conroy-Hargrave and journalist A. Craig Copetas traveled to the war zone to report on a "war between men" and discovered thousands of women in the "fervor of battle" from infantry soldiers deep inside Iraq to airwomen on supply and refueling missions to the front. Reporting for Madame Figaro, Paris/Mirabella, USA, the photographer and journalist noted that "one of the most striking characteristics of the women... on the front was the pride they took in their ability to defuse the strains and tensions of battle." They further noted their observations that women indeed have the physical capacity and emotional competence for combat—an issue that has been and continues to be very much in the news.

Rozzi

Guido, who also rose through the ranks and who now heads the Suffolk County Police Department.

Rozzi amassed a significant number of awards and commendations throughout his career, including citations from the Hofstra Alumni Association, Long Island University, and Nassau Community College. He has been honored as "policeman of the year" by the Town of Oyster Bay and the Order of Sons of Italy, and has received achievement awards from the American Academy for Professional Law enforcement and the International Association of Auto Theft Investigators.

Among the numerous organizations that selected him as "man of the year" are both the Columbia and Jewish Lawyers Associations.

A strong proponent of higher education for police officers, he earned an associate's degree from Nassau Community College, a bachelor's degree from Hofstra and a Master's degree from LIU. He has graduated from the FBI's National Executive Institute and from the Washington, D.C.-based Police Foundation.

Rozzi's latest award came just hours before he made his announcement. He and District Attorney Denis Dillon were among those honored by MADD - Mothers Against Drunk Driving - and the Aetna Insurance Company, who presented "Trailblazer" awards for the department's use of six video cameras for use in arresting and convicting drunk drivers. The cameras have been called "an effective new tool in increasing conviction rates, obtaining more guilty pleas and saving officers' time and court costs."

The commissioner ruled out a role with any other law enforcement agency, but said he might travel and teach. He said he has not been asked for a recommendation as to his successor.

County Executive Thomas Gullotta praised Rozzi for providing "professional guidance and strong leadership during difficult times" and said "he will be sorely missed by all."

which can be cut. The state cut aid to Nassau County in the amount of $60 million in 1991."

DeRiggi says that "our dreams and hopes for 1992 are all centered around getting the economy going again. We must encourage building, development and expansion while at the same time alert not to trample upon environmental considerations which would be harmful in the long run. I am confident that we can turn the economic tables around so that at the end of 1992 we will see a balanced budget in Nassau County, which will then allow us to continue the programs we had to curtail in order to balance the 1991-92 budget."

years." He had four years as Supervisor and three years before as a Councilman.

He thanked Frank DeStefano, a great friend, and Ann Baker, his secretary for seven years. "She kept me going in the right direction."

Councilman Douglas Hynes, who comes from a political family, spoke of the tremendous cost of political service for the family.

He said he rarely if ever saw his father with his collar unbuttoned, or in a leisure shirt.

There is an irretrievable impact on family life, he said, when mom and dad are out doing public good.

"Being restored with the family after seven years, makes a happy circumstance. The Town of Oyster Bay will be the loosener and the Delligatti family will be the winner."

Please include if the child will be trying out for a travel team. Also include if there are any adults interested in coaching.

The time and date for the tryouts will be announced at a later time. Make the check payable to the Hicksville Babe Ruth League and send it to the address above.

During the season, teams in the league will play other teams in their division as well as teams from other Babe Ruth Leagues throughout Nassau County.

those dates. All new players must bring an original birth certificate as proof of age or mail a copy for early registration only.

HBA will accept registrations by mail for any child that has played baseball/softball with them during the 1991 season and for those who wish to take advantage of the early registration.

Along with a check payable to the Hicksville Baseball Association, parents or guardians should include the names of the children who wish to play, the age of the children, their birth date and sex. They should also include if the child or children have played in the HBA league in 1991 and what other league they might have played in.

The HBA is a volunteer organization and must depend on volunteers to run the 1992 season. They are asking for people to give some of their time to keep the league as successful as it has been. Please include with the registration information whether you would like to manage, coach or umpire or help with the shed duty and what league you would like to do it in.

Residents can mail this information to Rosemarie Rodriguez, treasurer, Hicksville Baseball Association, 4 Elmira Street, Hicksville, NY 11801.

The ages for the individual leagues are as follows: the Instructional League is for boys and girls age six and seven, the Farms are for boys age eight and nine, the Minors are for boys ages 10 and 11 and girls ages eight, nine and 10, the Majors are for boys ages 11 and 12 and girls ages 10, 11 and 12 and the Senior League is for boys and girls age 13, 14 and 15.

Further information can be obtained by calling Jane Senn at 933-2792, Jerry Mana at 681-1095, Maria Rodriguez at 822-6419 or Carol Baglieri at 681-6144.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	3	Dble
3 NT	Dble	Redble	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead — two of spades.

Consider this deal played in a national championship some years ago. The names of the East-West pair are mercifully omitted, since they probably would not relish the publicity.

North opened the bidding third-hand with three diamonds, and East doubled for takeout. South decided to muddy the waters by bidding three notrump, which West doubled to indicate his few scattered values. North redoubled to show that his preemptive three diamond bid was exceptionally strong, and, surprisingly, everyone passed.

West had no clear-cut opening lead. He was in the unfortunate position where any lead he made — whether a spade, a heart or a club — might easily turn out to be very right or very wrong. After great thought, West elected to lead a spade, and this proved to be disastrous.

Declarer took the spade with the king, cashed seven diamond tricks, led a heart to the ace, and then — with nine tricks already in the till — led another heart and finessed the jack. As a result, he made three notrump redoubled with two overtricks for a score of 1,750 points!

If West, by chance, had happened to select a club as his opening lead, the outcome would have been altogether different. Assuming best defense thereafter, East-West could have cashed five spade tricks and five club tricks, and declarer would have wound up with only three tricks instead of 11!

Moreover, East-West would have been plus 3,400 points instead of minus 1,750, or 5,150 points richer! It's not often that one play costs a side that many points, and perhaps it's just as well that East-West were playing only for glory and not for dollars and cents.

Rozzi

Guido, who also rose through the ranks and now heads the Suffolk County Police Department.

Rozzi amassed a significant number of awards and commendations throughout his career, including citations from the Hofstra Alumni Association, Long Island University, and Nassau Community College. He has been honored as "policeman of the year" by the Town of Oyster Bay and the Order of Sons of Italy, and has received achievement awards from the American Academy for Professional Law enforcement and the International Association of Auto Theft Investigators.

Among the numerous organizations that selected him as "man of the year" are both the Columbia and Jewish Lawyers Associations.

A strong proponent of higher education for police officers, he earned an associate's degree from Nassau Community College, a bachelor's degree from Hofstra and a Master's degree from LIU. He has also graduated from the FBI's National Executive Institute and from the Washington, D.C.-based Police Foundation.

Rozzi's latest award came just hours before he made his announcement. He and District Attorney Denis Dillon were among those honored by MADD - Mothers Against Drunk Driving - and the Actua Insurance Company, who presented "Trailblazer" awards for the department's use of six video cameras for use in arresting and convicting drunk drivers. The cameras have been called "an effective new tool in increasing conviction rates, obtaining more guilty pleas and saving officers' time and court costs."

The commissioner ruled out a role with any other law enforcement agency, but said he might travel and teach. He said he has not been asked for a recommendation as to his successor.

County Executive Thomas Gulotta praised Rozzi for providing "professional guidance and strong leadership during difficult times" and said "he will be sorely missed by all."

which can be cut. The state cut aid to Nassau County in the amount of $60 million in 1991."

DeRiggi says that "our dreams and hopes for 1992 are all centered around getting the economy going again. We must encourage building, development and expansion while at the same time alert not to trample upon environmental considerations which would be harmful in the long run. I am confident that we can turn the economic tables around so that at the end of 1992 we will see a balanced budget in Nassau County, which will then allow us to continue the programs we had to curtail in order to balance the 1991-92 budget."

years." He had four years as Supervisor and three years before as a Councilman.

He thanked Frank DeStefano, a great friend, and Ann Baker, his secretary for seven years. "She kept me going in the right direction."

Councilman Douglas Hynes, who comes from a political family, spoke of the tremendous cost of political service for the family.

He said he rarely if ever saw his father with his collar unbuttoned, or in a leisure shirt.

There is an irretrievable impact on family life, he said, when mom and dad are out doing public good.

"Being restored with the family after seven years, makes a happy circumstance. The Town of Oyster Bay will be the loosener and the Delligatti family will be the winner."

spiral in the county. Hopefully, when this recession is over, we will be able to look back knowing that we are better off because the difficulty, and sometimes controversial decisions were made."

Glen Cove Mayor and Supervisor Donald DeRiggi, re-elected to his third two year term, agrees that "the recessionary climate and contraction of business" has stunned all of us. "Rather than looking to expand programs and services, we are looking to see Councilman Hogan.

"Close the door ever so lightly. You have left the family comfortable and fiscally sound with a prominent future!"

Councilman Douglas Hynes said Supervisor Angelo Delligatti came onto a board that had controversy. He brought it openness and sincerity. "A tidal wave swept across the nation that has swept out the good and the bad. Unfortunately it swept out the good in Oyster Bay."

Councilman Hynes said Mr. Delligatti enjoyed the unanimous support of the Town Board. "It may be the last unanimous vote," in a long while, he added.

Frank DeStefano, his friend and Deputy presented a framed Town of Oyster Bay Flag to his colleague. It was apparent that he spoke from the heart when he said: It is very hard to say goodbye...to a very sincere man who took on a job that most people would consider thankless.

Supervisor Angelo Delligatti took the podium and mentioned what the recession is doing to Nassau County and how Oyster Bay has remained fiscally sound without raising taxes. "People will be paying less in 1992 than the day I took office."

"It's been a great four years, a great seven

SPORTS SHORTS

Holy Family Highlights

Holy Family's eighth grade CYO Boys Basketball team won its third game of the season against Our Lady of Lourdes with a final score of 60 to 36.

Bobby Campbell led the team in scoring with 24 points. Anthony Panarelli scored 11 points, Brian Soper scored eight points and Sean Pearsall scored six points. Billy Reif and Balan Bruckner each scored four points. David Oswald scored two points and Peter Carriero finished the scoring with one point.

David Oswald and Steven Kane with their excellent rebounding and defensive efforts gave the team the needed inspiration to win. Coach Campbell also noted the team's defensive work of Chris and Mike Tramantana, John Carroll, Peter Carriero and Anthony Panarelli. Also noted was the powerful passing work of Brian Soper and Brian Campbell.

As usual, the fantastic cheerleading inspired the team in their victory.

The team recently played in the Holy Trinity Holiday Tournament that took place on Dec. 27, 28, 29 and 30.

Seniorobics At The Hicksville Public Library

The Hicksville Public Library will offer Seniorobics with Ellen Coven.

It is an exercise program designed specifically for the needs of men and women over the age of 55.

Registration for the program will start at 10 a.m. on Feb. 3. Classes will take place on Thursday, March 5, 12, 19, and 26.

Seniorobics incorporates lively music to increase flexibility, strength and cardiovascular endurance.

Registrants must have had a physical examination within the last six months. Participants must wear sneakers and are advised to wear loose clothing.

Admission to the class is free.

Runners Club Meeting

At a recent meeting of the Plainview-Old Bethpage Runners Club, guest speakers Larry Davidson, Maryann Capo and Bob Cook gave a lecture and demonstration on various cross-country training exercise programs for the winter months.

Larry focused on indoor exercise equipment, with emphasis on the Nordic Ski track that has proven to be such an effective tool for keeping in shape.

Maryann spoke about cross-country skiing.

Bob, the proprietor of the Runner's Edge in Farmingdale, emphasized mountain bikes.

The main thrust of all three was the benefit of some kind of a cross training program to help runners improve their running performance.

PAL Football

The Hicksville PAL is intending to start a football league but it needs the help of community members to make it a success.

They are encouraging anyone who wishes to help to write to Al Caccio, 1 Joseph Lane, Hicksville NY 11802.

There will be a meeting on Jan. 4, from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. in the Kenneth S. Barnes Community Room at the library.

Hicksville Runners Score In Holiday Road Race

Hicksville runners came out in record numbers for the festive Ho Ho Ho Jingle Bells/Run held recently in Bethpage.

Top Hicksville performers included John Lupski, who took 17th place overall out of the nearly 1000 runners and third place in the tough 30 to 39 age group with an incredible time of 17 minutes and 10 seconds over the five kilometer course.

Other top performers were Liz Flahavan, who was also a third place finisher in the women's 25 to 29 age group finishing at 20 minutes and 5 seconds and 14 year old Jennifer Walker who took third place honors among girls in the 14 and under age group with a time of 24 minutes and 27 seconds.

The Plainedge-Old Bethpage Road Runners Club and run sponsors Dr. B. Well Naturally (Long Island's newest health food supermarket) and Twin Lays, who are distributors of the energy drinks Untrafuel and Hydrofuel, would like to thank all the Hicksville runners who participated in the event to make it the tremendous success it was.

The run started at the Bethpage High School with the starting gun for the five kilometer run that started at 9 a.m.

The run took runners on a very scenic winter tour through Bethpage then back to the high school for a lot of holiday refreshments.

In addition to all the water stations all along the course, there was also a non-alcoholic egg nog station to keep up with the holiday spirit.

The run took place on Dec. 21. Mother Nature gave the runners an early Christmas gift by not snowing on the five kilometer course.

Awards were given out to the first three males and the first three female finishers in each of the age group categories. Every entrant received a t-shirt and some surprise novelties.

All the proceeds will be split between the Help the Needy Families of Bethpage Fund and the Children's Brain Tumor Foundation.

All the Hicksville runners showed that they are a force to be reckoned with on the race course.

Hicksville Baseball Association Signup Underway

The Hicksville Baseball Associates will be celebrating its 40th year with its 1992 season.

In celebration, the league will be expanding its travel teams. For the past five years, HBA has sponsored a travel team for young people between the ages of 16 and 18. This year, the league is going to expand that to include 13, 14 and 15 year olds. Further information will be forthcoming.

During the past 40 years, the HBA, also known as the Hicksville National Little League, has provided an opportunity for eligible youths to participate in organized, planned and supervised programs of amateur baseball and softball. Hicksville Baseball Association encourages the development in youths the ideals and values of good sportsmanship. Instruction in the basics and fundamentals of baseball and softball for our youths within a safe environment has always been a priority.

HBA wants everyone in the community to know that there is no relationship between HBA and the Hicksville Babe Ruth League. HBA is the only Chartered Little League in Hicksville.

Registration is $58 for the first child and $70 for two or more children per family. There is a separate uniform deposit check of $20 for each child in all divisions except instructional.

HBA is asking residents to date the uniform check July 1. This check will be given back when the uniform is returned at the end of the season. All registrations not accompanied with the necessary checks will be returned to the parent or guardian.

Included in the registration fee are six chance books for each family and seven books if two or more children are registered. The chance money is to be kept by the family as a reimbursement towards their registration fee. There will be a drawing held during the All-Star Dinner in Oct. All chance books should be dropped off at our concession stand before the end of the season.

There is a $5 discount on all registrations received before Jan. 10.

Introducing The Hicksville Babe Ruth League

The Hicksville Babe Ruth Baseball League was incorporated on July 26 in New York State as a not-for-profit youth sports league.

The interim officers of the league are President George Kessler, Vice-President Thomas Boyle, Secretary Pamela Geslak and Treasurer Anne Kessler.

They are the interim officers because the organization is new and meetings of the parents who will manage the league have not taken place yet.

The first meeting of the Hicksville Babe Ruth League will take place on Jan. 21 at the Parkway Community Church on Stewart Ave., just west of Levittown Parkway, at 8 p.m.

Kessler pointed out that because the league is new "we can make it anything we want to." He is encouraging all residents who would be interested in helping with the league or enrolling their children in the league to come and meet with them and share their ideas. "You do not have to have a child presently playing baseball, but you must have a desire to see children learn how to play baseball correctly," said the league president.

The league will be looking for people to help manage the general business of the league. They will be happy to speak with anyone interested. Interested community members can call 681-0544 or 935-7214 or can write to the Hicksville Babe Ruth League, P.O. Box 274, Hicksville NY, 11801-0274.

Along with a regular league, there are plans to start a travel team for 10 and 11-year-olds, which will be entered in a western Suffolk travel league. There is already a travel league in Nassau County for 13-15-year-olds and the Hicksville league is planning to enter a team for that competition.

Early registration for children, ages eight thru 15 can be made prior to Dec. 31 for a fee of $45 per child and $60 per family.

Registration between Jan. 1 and Mar. 31 is $60 per child and $80 per family.

It is important to remember that no registration will be accepted after Mar. 31.

Please include with your registration fee, your name, telephone number, address, age of child and date of birth.
