'92 - '93 School Budget Approved By Voters

Staton, Martin
Elected To Board

By John W. Garger

Hicksville voters approved the 1992-1993 Hicksville schools budget on the first try passing it by 2,128 votes. Both propositions that accompanied the budget vote were also passed.

Voters also elected David M. Staton and Voley A. Martin to three year terms on the board of education. Staton fills a vacated seat. Martin replaces James Martillo. Turn to page three for more details on the election.

The budget, which received 3,196 yes votes and 1,068 no votes received a majority of yes votes at each polling location. The $50,356,098 budget reflects an overall decrease of $404,343 from the 1991-92 budget. The estimated tax rate is $31.46 per $100 assessed valuation, as compared to a tax rate of $31.49 last year.

Superintendent Salvatore Mugavero said, "I am totally overjoyed having the budget passed on the first try." He added that he thinks the people in the district are beginning to feel that the administration works with integrity and honesty in an open process. At the Annual Budget Hearing held on April 29, Mugavero attributed the budget to the work of the new Assistant Superintendent for Business, Stuart Opdahl, the School

NEWLY elected board of education trustees David M. Staton (left) and Voley A. Martin will join the board as of July 1. Over 4,264 residents voted on the budget and the board candidates on May 20. The budget passed by 2,128 votes.

Business Executive Tina Inocco, and the new budget process which included several committees, including the Citizen Budget Committee.

Proposition two, which deals with transportation, was passed by 1,758 votes. It received 2,862 yes votes to 1,104 no votes. Proposition two calls for the following transportation distance guidelines: kindergarten through grade three - those who live more than 1/4 mile from the school; grades four through five - those who live more than 3/4 mile from the school; grades six through eight - those who live more than 1 1/4 miles from the school; and grades nine through 12 - those who live more than two miles from the school.

The Hicksville-Gregory Museum funding proposition, number three, was also passed by a wide margin. It received 2,825 yes votes to 1,217 no votes, a difference of 1,608 votes. Proposal three appropriates $40,000 to the Hicksville-Gregory Museum for educational services associated with its programs. Museum Director Joan Kawecki said, "We are very pleased that it passed. We will do everything to assure the community that we will continue the educational and cultural programs." She also commented that the museum is looking forward to celebrating its upcoming 30th anniversary and the 20th anniversary of the opening of the present museum building.

The 1992-93 budget is the second budget passed on the first try in two years. Previous to 1991-92, five budgets were rejected on the first vote. The announcement of the budget passing was greeted by a round of applause by a half filled high school auditorium. Previous to the public hearing on the results of the budget vote, the board of education held its regular monthly meeting in front of a sparsely populated auditorium.

Special mention was that at the June meeting of the board of education the district will be honoring its retirees.

Senior Citizens Have Ball At Their Prom

By John W. Garger

Senior citizens from Hicksville were treated in grand style at a four hour dinner dance hosted by the Hicksville High School Student Government. Entitled the "Senior Senior Prom," the affair was held Sunday, May 17 in the high school gymnasium.

The idea behind the event was to get students involved with community service projects, according to Mr. Ray McDonough administrative assistant at the high school. Colleen Bartley, the student chairperson of the event, said they chose the senior citizen prom so everyone could get involved with the project. According to Nancy DeSorbo, student activities advisor, there was a working committee of around 40-50 people and plenty of community involvement.

The junior class had the gymnasium decorated for their prom the night before. Only minor changes had to be done to the decorations to get them ready for the senior citizen prom. Students were not the only persons helping with the arrangements. Mr. David Master, the outgoing president of the Band Parents Association, coordinated the food for the night, which was donated by local merchants. Coordinating the door prizes and gifts was Mrs. Falkowski. They, too, were donated by local merchants. The fancy placemats were printed by Mr. Greenfield. The whole affair necessitated great coordination between the students, faculty and the custodial staff. Their hard work did not go unnoticed.

Most of the 250 guests were immediately impressed with the beautiful decorations and the 16-piece orchestra. The orchestra, Second Chance, is directed by Hicksville resident Carl Calma, and performs in the adult education program.

For couples like Martin and Rosemarie Cascio and the Falkowskis, who did not go to their high school proms, the Senior Senior Prom made them feel like teenagers again. Other people had fond memories of their high school days. Olga Cannizzaro, who went to Walton High, remembered her prom at the Asfor in New York City. Ann Koshansky said, "The lovely music and wonderful atmosphere brings back memories." Rose

Hurricane Season

Hurricane season begins in June according to the American Red Cross. Although a hurricane, a storm with wind velocities of 74 mph or more, would most likely hit this area in August or September, the season spawning these destructive storms runs from June through November.

Your Nassau County Chapter of the American Red Cross is busy preparing for the season. In the event of a damaging hurricane, the Red Cross provides assistance to victims in the form of grants for disaster-caused emergency needs. This assistance, depending on the victim's needs, may include meals, groceries, temporary shelter, new clothing, emergency home repairs, basic household items, cleanup supplies, and replacement medicines.

Depending on need, the Red Cross can also provide bulk distribution of relief supplies, mental health services, and individual help with applying for federal disaster recovery assistance.

The coastal storms that blew through our area last fall took a substantial chunk out of the Red Cross Disaster Relief budget.

Your Red Cross Disaster Services needs your support. Your Nassau County Chapter needs to raise $120,000 as a part of the National Organization's $30 million Disaster Campaign.

Every dollar that goes to help a disaster victim is a gift from the American people who know that the Red Cross is a trusted vehicle for their financial contributions. We turn their generosity into round-the-clock disaster relief. Please support your Red Cross. To make a donation call 800-842-2200 or 747-3500.

Saving Energy Helps Save Money

By John W. Garger

Did you know that the many small openings in a house can add up to big heat loss in the winter; and by caulking and weatherstripping cracks in walls and floors, windows and doors you can save fuel and therefore money?

The above tip was provided by LILCO representatives as part of a presentation to the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce. The presentation included two parts. One aimed at residential energy conservation and another, specifically targeting the business owners in the audience, on LILCO's commercial conservation programs.

The residential presentation included handy, easily implemented energy saving tips, all of which can be found in a LILCO pamphlet entitled "53 Ways To Lower Your Electric Bill." Paul Travaglia, LILCO representative, explained how storm windows and doors are big energy and money savers. He said that having them can reduce heating costs by as much as 15 percent. He explained that they prevent warm air from escaping to the outside.

An energy saver for the winter is installing an attic fan to exhaust hot air. During the summer, the temperature in attics can reach 200 degrees. By lowering the temperature in the attic the temperature in the whole house is lowered.

Travaglia gave energy saving advice concerning all parts of the house. An electricity saving tip is to save all laundry until you have multiple loads to wash and dry. Drying laundry load after load allows the dryer to use heat left from previous cycles and therefore increases the efficiency of the dryer. Using a microwave for cooking was also highlighted as saving a lot of energy and money. Travaglia explained that conventional ovens used 70-80 percent more electricity than microwaves. He said if you insist on cooking with a conventional oven, to partially cook your food in the microwave and then finish it in a regular oven.

Homeowners can get more helpful hints on saving energy and money by applying for a free Savingpower Analysis. LILCO will send a home energy specialist to check homes, from basement to attic, and give advice on your specific energy saving needs. To find more about LILCO's cost control programs call 800-692-2626.

The second half of the presentation was aimed at businesses and programs that LILCO offers to them. Christopher M. Croft, a LILCO representative, explained the Energy Wise programs. The first step is to get a free Commercial Energy Analysis. This comprehensive audit of a business' energy use will help the company identify the steps it needs to take to improve its energy use and productivity. The audit includes potential savings in the following areas: cooling, heating, lighting, weatherization, refrigeration, ventilation, hot water, process energy, temperature control, cooking, and distribution.

Specific commercial and industrial programs include the Dollar and Sense Energy Rebate program, which is an energy conservation program for businesses looking to renovate; Smart Start, for new construction projects; and Energy Upgrade, for not-for-profit organizations.

Croft explained that these programs can end up saving companies more money than they invested in just a few short years. For detailed information on these or any LILCO conservation services call 800-692-2626.

Staton, Martin Elected To School Board

By John W. Garger

In the race for the Board of Education seats Dave M. Staton and Voley A. Martin emerged as victors.

Dave Staton, who will take the seat held by William Collins, captured 65 percent of the vote compared to 35 percent received by Carol Reden. Mr. Collins did not seek re-election. In an interview during the candidates race Staton said he plans on strengthening the school board by working in an open, trust-based manner, because "Our schools are centers of family life involving students, parents, grandparents, teachers, and homeowners. School problems become community problems." Staton has been involved with many community projects and is currently the Duffy Park Civic Association president.

Voley A. Martin beat out two opponents for the seat presently held by James Martillo. Martillo, looking to retain his seat, received 23 percent of the vote. Linda Mirro, running as an independent candidate, received 29 percent of the vote. Martin won the seat with 48 percent of the vote. Martin has said that he feels the most important issue is education. "My own personal interest is to address the subject of education at board meetings and ensure that our tax dollar is wisely expended for the purpose of educating our children, within the means of our community. The community should mean: all people of all ages."

Both new board members start their three year terms on July 1.

In other voting matters the 1992-1993 school budget was approved by 75 percent of the voters. This reflects an approval increase of over 10 percent from last year's budget. Proposition Two (transportation) received 72 percent approval; and the Gregory Museum proposal, proposition three, was approved by 70 percent of the voters. All three propositions were passed by larger margins than last year, although fewer people voted this year.

Recalling World War II Experiences

By JOI (SW) Greg L. Snaza

More than 800 veterans of Anzio Beach, the site of a World War II engagement that cost 25,000 Allied casualties, gathered together on May 2 at the Navy's largest naval base in Norfolk, VA to witness their heroism commemorated.

The occasion was not the dedication of a memorial, but the commissioning of a new guided missile cruiser. It will carry the memory of Anzio beachhead into the 21st century.

For Anthony D'Angelo, a resident of Hicksville, the commissioning ceremony was fulfilling. "Naming a cruiser in honor of the battle of Anzio will be a lasting memorial for those of us who fought, and to those who lost their lives," D'Angelo, 72, said. During World War II, D'Angelo served as a Tech 5 medical technician in the Army.

As D'Angelo recalls, the Allied forces' invasion at Anzio Beach, almost 50 years ago, in January 1944, was considered a turning point in World War II. Only 37 miles from Rome, 40,000 British, Canadian and American troops secured the Anzio beachhead.

But after initial success, the Allied troops were pinned down on the beachhead by a superior force of 80,000 German troops. "For me, looking back doesn't bring back good memories," admitted D'Angelo. "My job was to care for the wounded. As an ambulance driver, I transported the wounded from the front line back to the aid stations. My lasting impression is how they (the wounded) were crying out to be helped. We did win the war, but a lot of young lives were lost."

Through sheer fortitude and bravery, the Allies held the beach for four months before breaking out in late May and ultimately marching victoriously into Rome, the Eternal City, in June of 1944. One measure of the courage and sacrifice of those who fought there can be found in the 22 Medals of Honor awarded to Americans.

The awards represent the most Medals of Honor presented for any single battle of World War II. Copies of those citations now hang on permanent display aboard USS Anzio (CG-68).

The Anzio vets took advantage of the opportunity to be together again by holding a reunion in conjunction with the commissioning. On hand to express the gratitude of the people of Italy for the sacrifices made by the Allies so long ago was a delegation of citizens, led by the mayor, from the town of Anzio.

D'Angelo said that the thrill of seeing the Anzio commissioned was seconded only by the opportunity to meet the members of the crew who will take the cruiser to sea.

Sailors like Navy fireman Daniel A. Tausch said that meeting veterans like D'Angelo gave a sense of continuity to the Anzio's crew, almost as if a torch had been passed from the aging veterans to the new generation of men now serving in America's armed forces.

"Talking with the Anzio veterans gave me a better understanding about the background of the ship's name; learning about what they each personally went through helps me to appreciate serving on a ship named Anzio that much more," said Tausch, a native of Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

USS Anzio is the 22nd Ticonderoga class guided missile cruiser to join the fleet. She incorporates the newest and best of both ship design and weapons systems. The 567-foot-long ship can steam in excess of 30 knots and is remarkably maneuverable.

Also known as an Aegis cruiser, Anzio can deploy such weapons as standard surface-to-air missiles, surface-to-surface cruise missiles, automatic anti-aircraft guns, and five-inch rapid-fire deck guns.

A vet at the ceremony speculated about how much different Anzio Beach might have been if the might of the new cruiser had been available in 1944 during those fateful four months.

D'Angelo, while touring the ship, was told that ships like the Anzio will take on added importance in the new downsized version of the Navy that is being planned. Increased automation has reduced requirements for shipboard personnel. The Anzio has a crew of 24 officers and 340 enlisted men.

Capable ships like Anzio will be called upon to be able to hold the lines of the future without the luxury of a larger fleet to depend on as a back-up.

Tuesday, June 2

Children today need more than dedication and good grades to earn a college degree. A college education takes money.

The Hicksville Public Library welcomes Gloria Y. LeViness, a Certified Financial Planner, on Tuesday, June 2 at 7:30 p.m., as she presents "Financial Planning for College."

This informative workshop will outline, in non-technical language, the positive steps parents can make today to make college more affordable for their children in the future. Discussion will include the cost of college in the future, where the money will come from, various investment strategies and how to get started. Admission is free and open to the public.

Upcoming

St. Anthony's Society of Westbury will celebrate St. Anthony's Day on June 13 with a mass at 5 p.m. followed by a procession through the streets of Westbury. Join them at St. Anthony's Hall 85 Post Ave.

Eight students from the Hicksville Middle School have been acknowledged for their outstanding performance on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) as part of the Johns Hopkins Talent Search Contest.

These eighth grade students -- John Corso, Andrew Costello, Janice Hofer, Jon Spielman, Joseph Demarest, Anthony Bianco, Shirin Odar, and Shaun Rajan -- took the SATs while in the seventh grade and scored well above average for their grade level. The exam is basically taken by eleventh grade students. The SAT is primarily used as an entrance examination for college admissions.

The distinguished students were honored by the principal of the Middle School, Mr. Gerald Klein, on their outstanding performance on the exam, which measures language and mathematical skills. "You have the ability to construct tomorrow and contribute knowledge to the world," Mr. Klein told the students, "I encourage you to use your gifts."

Furthermore, the students were honored by Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Salvatore Mugavero, at the April 30 Hicksville Board of Education meeting. Congratulations to the students on their fine accomplishment.

MS Students Score Well On SATs

Over the years Old Country Rd. School has participated in Pizza Hut's Book-It program. The program runs for five months. Every month the teachers for individual classes determines the amount of books to be read each month. When the child reads the required amount of books for the month they receive a coupon from Pizza Hut for one free personal pan pizza.

There is also a prize if the whole class does well-reading. If an individual class has 100 percent participation for at least four out of five months the class then receives a free pizza party.

Miss Kaplan's second grade class won that honor this year with 100 percent participation. Miss Kaplan should also be recognized for having three classes in a row that have won the pizza party.

Shown in the picture to the right is Miss Kaplan's class holding up some of the books they read and the boxes from the personal

Postal Jeep Break-Ins On The Rise

Since the beginning of the year there have been more than 90 postal jeep break-ins in Nassau County.

Jeff Martin, Long Island Division general manager/postmaster, is asking for the cooperation of postal customers, to report any suspicious vehicles driving through neighborhoods during the day when the letter carrier is delivering mail or parcels.

Carriers in most Nassau towns park their jeeps and proceed to deliver to the houses on their routes. The vehicle is then vulnerable to thefts any time the carrier is out of sight of it.

"It is imperative that our customers report any suspicious individuals roaming around the postal jeeps," expressed Martin with concern. "The Postal Service, just like any other business, is subject to criminal activity. It is easy for criminals to prey on postal vehicles because we're routinely in the street six days a week, covering the same routes."

To give information, please call the Postal Inspection Service at 228-7662 at Garden City and 933-2416, Hicksville, and your local police department.

The Mid-Island Seniors meet at the VFV Hall, 320 South Broadway, in Hicksville, beginning at 1:30 p.m. For additional information about the May 28 program with SANUS call 1-800-231-9555.

New Medical Director For Jones Manor

Dr. Peter J. Kurzweil, an attending physician at North Shore University Hospital-Glen Cove and a geriatric medicine specialist has been appointed Medical Director of Jones Manor on the Sound.

On Monday, May 18, representatives of the two townships served by this gracious adult home presented Dr. Kurzweil with a plaque commemorating his over five years of tireless service to the residents. Supervisor Lew Yevoli of Oyster Bay, Councilman Anthony D'Urso and Councilwoman May Newberger of North Hempstead, congratulated Dr. Kurzweil and also thanked the trustees and Managing Director Barbara Edwards for their efforts to make Jones Manor a lovely home for needy senior citizens of Oyster Bay and North Hempstead townships.

The Jones Foundation was founded in 1836 by a bequest from Samuel Jones of Oyster Bay which stipulated that this should "remain a permanent fund, from the interest of which support shall be afforded to the poor of said towns." Jones Manor defrays its operating costs that cannot be covered by the investment fund through State aid, grants from the two towns it serves and private donations.

Scott Fairgrieve, chairman of the Jones Foundation Board, points out, "In this time of homelessness, Mr. Jones' remarkable bequest is 'a point of light' for many residents from Port Washington to Massapequa."

According to Barbara Edwards, director of the handsome home which has been located in Bayville for the past 10 years, Jones Manor has recently been operating at a deficit due to low interest rates, increasing costs and funding cuts. She said that, in order to continue, more help is needed from the communities it serves.

Summering At Home

Summer has officially begun and already you've heard complaints about the heat, polluted beaches, crowded expressways.

Sure, Long Island isn't perfect and, in the sweltering summer months, its imperfections are magnified. Flaws and all, however, there are few places that offer as much as our hometown does.

Few beaches anywhere in the world compete with the beauty of Long Island's. If you haven't watched the sunrise at Jones Beach or the sunset on the Sound, you haven't taken advantage of two of Long Island's best attractions.

Long Island boasts the finest recreational facilities—championship golf courses, scenic parks, countless tennis courts, Adventureland, the Long Island Game Farm, just to name a few.

As for cultural offerings, look no further than the bi-county region. There are innovative theater groups, masterful symphony orchestras, sophisticated chamber players, aspiring poets and eloquent authors. Long Island also has its impressive share of museums and historical exhibits, with our favorites being the Nassau County Museum of Art, Old Bethpage Village Restoration and Teddy Roosevelt's home at Sagamore Hill.

For fun, there's also a few comedy nightclubs that are a great way to spend an evening.

There's also shopping, and it doesn't get better than Long Island's Main Streets and quaint neighborhood retail districts.

For all its faults, Long Island is the perfect summer spot. Countless thousands of tourists make our home their vacation destination every season. Maybe it's time you discovered what they already know.

A Letter from Lulubelle...

...Being a teenager is a terrible thing—probably worse now than when I was one—but, nonetheless, traumatic whenever... So desperately anxious to be popular and so concerned about every little thing about our persons, how scared we were by the ads of my day—"Do you have halitosis?" and "Are you sure you don't have BO?"... We went around with our best friends breathing on them and standing close so we could check for these horrendous maladies... I remember that there were often strips of cartoons detailing the downfall of some pretty girl because she had BO, but how quickly her popularity was revived when she started to use Odorono... Do you remember Odorono?... It was a strong deodorant—they didn't tell lies about that—but no one ever mentioned that it also rotted lots of fabrics in the underarm area, so I guess you were not smelly but raggedy... But when I think of the things they advertise on television today, how tame were my old magazine ads!... Nothing is sacred anymore and peculiar diseases that I didn't even know existed are discussed very openly and the phrase "My doctor said..." has become the answer to the most amazing problems... You know what I mean if you watch television... I know pharmaceutical companies and their ad agencies have to make money and sell their products, but—really—!!!!

A Fond Farewell

Mrs. Betty Grayson...how dare you retire this year! Who will cook the stone soup? Who will be the hostess with the "mostess" at the Grandfathers' Pancake Breakfast and the Grandmothers' Tea? Who will orchestrate the Circus Parade—truly the "Greatest Show on Lee Ave?" And, surely, no teacher ever beat a tambourine nor tickled the ivories with such gusto as the ever ebullient Mrs. Betty Grayson!

Two years ago my daughter, Samantha, was in Mrs. Grayson's kindergarten class. Throughout the school year, Samantha and I grew not only to respect such a fine teacher, but also to appreciate her care and concern. Whether it be one of her whimsical notes sent home with my daughter, or another delightful Holiday Party, Mrs. Grayson always injected her special brand of humor and enthusiasm. And when Mr. Grayson, "Magician Extraordinaire," would perform—fully equipped with top hat and wand in hand—children and parents stared in amazement! What a truly positive and nurturing introduction to elementary school this was.

And so, Mrs. Betty Grayson, I repeat, "How dare you retire this year?" Is it because you've given so much of yourself over the years? Is it because the "call of the wild" beckons? Or is it because that crafty husband of your intends to wave his magic wand and "Presto" produce that lovely magician's assistant he's been waiting for all these years?

Whatever the reasons, dear Mrs. Grayson, it is with fondest admiration that we wish you the same joy and love that you bestowed upon so many youngsters during your illustrious 25-year career in the Hicksville school system.

Bravo! Mrs. Betty Grayson...bravo!!
Andrea Davis and Family

Tremendous Effort

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who attended and organized the "Senior-Senior Prom" held at the Hicksville High School on Sunday afternoon, May 17.

The decorations, music, food, contests, and door prizes were received with tremendous enthusiasm by the 240 senior citizens who attended. One gentleman remarked to me that he had never resided in Hicksville for 45 years and never enjoyed a social event more than this one.

Such an event does not happen overnight. Well over a year ago, the Student Government at Hicksville High School voted to create this affair as a service project. During the past year a tremendous effort has been made by students, parents, community merchants, and members of my staff to make this a memorable moment for a very special group of our community, our senior citizens.

My thanks, therefore, to all those who contributed to the success of this event: Carl Calma and the wonderful orchestra, "Second Chance;" Dave Masters for his help with obtaining food donations, Mr. and

Police Do Not Solicit

"The Nassau County Police Department does not solicit funds from the general public for any reason, nor do any of the police unions," said Nassau County Police First Deputy Commissioner Donald F. Kane.

This statement was made in response to a number of complaints received by the department in recent weeks from the business and professional community of Nassau County regarding requests for donations to various police-related agencies. These agencies hire professional fund-raisers who call upon business and professional people in Nassau County asking for money. "While certain legitimate organizations do solicit funds, they are in no way connected with the Nassau County Police Department," stated Commissioner Kane. "Merchants have complained that the solicitors are misleading and sometimes suggest that the donations are directly connected to the quality of police service."

"Local law requires organizations soliciting funds to register with the Police Department," Kane said. The Special Investigations Squad maintains records of complaints regarding solicitors. Anyone having a complaint, or a question about police-related requests for donations is encouraged to contact the Special Investigations Squad at 573-7818.

Personal Growth Seminar

SAGE Seminars Inc., a two-year old company which conducts personal growth seminars, expects to bring the seminars to more than two million people worldwide by 1996. Henry Malone, Ph.D., a Manhasset, based psychologist, has joined SAGE as a SageManager in this region and will hold his first "Dreamwalk" seminar in Bayside, from June 12 to 14.

The seminar incorporates a variety of methods, from traditional educational formats to leading-edge psychological techniques and a process unique to SAGE called ReSourcing, to enable participants to break down the obstacles that may be keeping them from getting the most out of their lives.

Bill Dempsey and Peggy Davenport, SAGE co-founders, will be the instructors at the upcoming "Dreamwalk" Seminar. Both bring decades of experience in the personal-development seminar field to this endeavor.

Beach Clean Up

New York State is once again participating in the annual documented Beach Clean Up which has now grown to become international in scope. Beginning as an event which involved only our coastal states, it last year included Canada, Mexico, Guatemala, and Japan as well as New York State's partners, Israel, Greece, Cyprus, Australia and New Zealand. In New York State, Beach Clean Up is organized by the Department of Environmental Conservation with the help of the American Littoral Society and is also sponsored by numerous environmental and civic groups. Beach Clean Up is an integral part of Coastweeks and will take place the weekend of Sept. 19/20. Local clean ups last approximately two or three hours.

On Beach Clean Up day beaches and shorelines are cleaned and the numbers and type of debris tabulated. The refuse is bagged, weighed, and if possible, recycled. The purpose of this annual event is to determine the sources of ocean trash washed up on our shores and also to monitor the effectiveness of controls now in place.

In New York State 2700 volunteers last year cleaned 142 miles of shoreline on Long Island, New York City, the Hudson Valley and the Great Lakes and collected 40,000 pounds of debris. Much of this was recycled.

Equipment such as data cards, scales and garbage bags are distributed for use at local sites. Following the clean-up, all completed data cards are mailed to the Center for Marine Conservation in Washington, DC where the data are collated, tabulated, published and analyzed.

If you wish to participate in Beach Clean Up, contact Marian Roet (914-232-3394).

Life Saving Program

Schneider Children's Hospital of Long Island Jewish Medical Center is offering "Swim-Safe," a life-saving program for parents and caregivers. Last year in the United States two thousand children lost their lives in drowning accidents. Many others were left with permanent neurological damage. Proper water safety practices and knowledge of basic life support can prevent these tragic accidents.

The program will run through July. Parents and caregivers will be instructed in infant and child CPR and pool and water safety.

The fee is $40 per person; $70 for couples. For Swim-Safe registration information, call (718) 470-KIDS.

Computer Room Dedicated At Library

The Hicksville Public Library, in recognition of his many years of active involvement and support, officially dedicated the Peter N. DeNinno Computer Room during a moving ceremony on Sunday, May 17.

Friends, family, community members, and business associates gathered to praise Mr. DeNinno for his constant effort to expand the cultural and public services aspect of the library. Mr. DeNinno passed away on April 15, 1989, while serving as a Hicksville Library Trustee, a position he held for almost 12 years until his death. He was a teacher of language arts in the Plainview-Old Bethpage Public School District for over 30 years. "It is very fitting that we dedicate this room, which is geared toward higher education, to a man who dedicated most of his life to the betterment of education and public services," said Library Board Trustees President Marc Herbst.

Mr. DeNinno's good nature and humor was noted by several of the honored speakers, notably Library Director Celeste Watman, Board President Marc Herbst, and school district colleague Lucian Veneziano. Mr. Herbst spoke of how Mr. DeNinno influenced his life and eventually led him to seek the position of Library Board Trustee. Local Historian Richard Evers, who was a neighbor of Mr. DeNinno for many years, reminisced about Mr. DeNinno's Christmas lights, that were left up all year long. "Peter always loved to savor the holidays for as long as possible," said Mr. Evers.

Oyster Bay Town Councilman Thomas Clark commented on the many hours he and Mr. DeNinno spent volunteering on various community committees as Hicksville was developing. Councilman Clark presented Mr. Herbst with a Nassau County Citation, on behalf of Nassau County Executive Thomas Gulotta, recognizing the dedication of the room and Mr. DeNinno's constant push to increase library services, making the Hicksville Public Library one of the most active and finest on Long Island.

The most touching moment occurred when Peter DeNinno's sister, Agatha Mongelli, thanked the audience for honoring her brother in this fashion. "If he were still alive, I know he would be very honored," she said.

A special red ribbon for the dedication ceremony was donated by Flowers By Peter Kenny. Ms. Watman and Ms. Mongelli had the honor of cutting the ribbon, officially dedicating the room.

Broadway Play Trip

Glenn Close was nominated for a Tony Award for her performance in this play.

Hix Youth Council Plans Fund Raisers

Starting in June of this year the Hicksville Youth Council will be losing $26,000 in funding from the Nassau County Youth Board. In order to absorb these cuts we are planning a variety of Fund Raising Events. The first will be a Charity Softball Game with the New York Islander Alumni and WALK Radio. The Youth Council will play against a team which will consist of Islander Alumni Bob Nystrom and friends, and WALK radio personality of Gene Michaels and friends. The game will begin at 8:30 p.m. on Friday, June 19 at Plainview Park located on Washington Ave. in Plainview. A suggested donation of $2 will be asked of those attending the game. Donations will be accepted at the Youth Council prior to the game as well as at the gate the night of the game. For further information and directions please call the H.Y.C. at 822-KIDS. Please come out and support your youth council and at the same time see some of your Islander favorites from the Stanley Cup winning team, as well as WALK radio personalities.

We will be conducting our Second Annual Garage Sale on Saturday, June 27, at the Youth Council. As we did last year we will be asking people of the area to donate any treasures that they might have around the house to us, to sell at the garage sale. When you start your spring cleaning, and you find things that are getting in the way or you just want to get rid of we will be happy to take them off your hands. At the same time, you will be supporting your Youth Council. For further information, please call the Youth Council at 822-KIDS.

For people like Joe Zimmer it was a first time experience. Joe went to an all boys high school, where they didn't have a prom. So this was his first with his wife Grace. Both were amazed at the work that went into the affair. This was also Mr. and Mrs. Grimm's first prom. They went to school in Europe and neither attended a prom. When asked what they thought of the Senior Senior Prom they said, "The students are doing a great job."

The praise for the students just kept coming. "It's a wonderful thing for them [students] to take care of senior citizens and we appreciate it very much," said Tony Borzell, who was there with his wife Florence and a table of friends, whom he has known for 35 years. Mary Catalano and Salvatore Falletta remarked on how thoughtful the students were and what a beautiful job they did.

The students may have started a tradition. Most seniors were so impressed they are looking forward to attending one again next year.

HorseFair Returns To Belmont

After a one-year hiatus, Belmont HorseFair is back and promises to be two weekends of fun, excitement and learning for horse lovers of all ages.

Originally designed as a backdrop to the Belmont Stakes, the five day event features horsemen and women, clubs and groups from Long Island and throughout New York State. The festivities are scheduled to run May 30-31 and June 5-7 from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., except Belmont Stakes Day when it runs from 10 a.m. to noon.

"We feel the HorseFair is the proper event to tie in with the Belmont Stakes. When it wasn't held last year we received a lot of requests from fans to bring it back," said Allen Gutterman, NYRA's Vice President-Marketing. "We're localizing the event to concentrate on Long Island and New York. Some of the nation's finest equestrians reside in Nassau and Suffolk Counties and upstate New York.

"It will be held on the weekends because that's when families can best attend and the HorseFair is a premier family event," he continued. "But we've added the Friday before the Belmont to give schools the opportunity to participate in groups."

As in the past, this year's HorseFair will celebrate the beauty and versatility of the horse by presenting a variety of breeds and equine performances. Among the demonstrations and performers scheduled for this year's HorseFair are the Smithtown Hunt, Long Island Sidesaddle Team, Grand gymkhana. Scenes from the Civil War will be re-enacted with horses and riders in correct uniform and tack.

Friday, June 5, has been designated "Kid's Day" and will feature performances of jumping and carriage pulling by miniature horses, displays of 4H and Pony clubs directed at children, and a demonstration on therapeutic riding by the Long Island Riding will also stage their famous musical ride and perform a crowd control demonstration.

Belmont Stakes Day will also be celebrated with displays of elegant carriages, a Grand Prix dressage demonstration and appearances by some well known retired Thoroughbreds, including Creme de la Fete.

Visitors to the HorseFair can also enjoy a Colonnade of approximately 35 booths with various equine displays, exhibits and gifts, which will be set up on the walkway along the outside of the grandstand, and pony rides will be available.

In addition to the HorseFair, a FoodFair will be held in the backyard on the same weekends, featuring a variety of ethnic and specialty foods, including Italian, Chinese, Latin, barbeque and summertime treats.

"Between the HorseFair and the FoodFair, the backyard at Belmont will be like a big street fair," said Gutterman. "We hope the two events will create a lot of excitement!"

Admission to HorseFair '92 is free once the track admission is paid ($2.00 for the grandstand or $5.00 for the clubhouse). Children under 12 are free. All performances will take place in the Belmont arena.

"Among the demonstrations and performers...are the Smithtown Hunt, Long Island Side Saddle Team, Grand Prix jumping by the United States Equestrian team, polo, trick riding, trick roping and Paso Finos, and a display of breeds."

Prix jumping by the United States Equestrian team, polo, trick riding, trick roping and Paso Finos, and a display of breeds including Quarter Horses, Appaloosas, Arabians, Paints, and Icelandics. In addition, a number of western activities will be featured, including team penning, reigning, barrel racing, cutting and western for the Handicapped.

On Belmont Stakes Day, June 6, the Nassau County Mounted Police will be highlighted as they lead the field to the post for the 124th running of the Belmont Stakes while the Nassau County Police Pipes and Drums and Drum and Bugle Corps play the "Sidewalks of New York." The "Mounties"

The bidding:
South West North East
1♥ Pass 1♣ Pass

Opening lead — jack of clubs.

There are times when declarer must make what appears to be a silly play in order to give himself the maximum chance for his contract. The play may seem senseless if it turns out to be unnecessary, but when the play turns out to be essential, the declarer has something worth talking about.

Take this case where West leads a club against four hearts. Declarer wins with dummy's ace, returns a low trump, and finesses the jack!

The finesse seems absurd when you consider that South is gazing at ten trumps headed by the A-K-J. But, oddly enough, it is the right play — not because the finesse succeeds in the actual deal, but because it assures the contract beyond the shadow of a doubt.

To appreciate the advantage of the finesse, let's assume that declarer makes the more normal play of the ace on the first round of trumps. After West shows out, South must go down one, losing a trick in each suit.

Let's now assume that when South finesses the jack, it loses to the queen. This is not cause for alarm, because the contract is still fully under control. The best the defenders can do in that case is to cash a club and shift to a diamond.

South wins the diamond return, draws the one missing trump, and plays the king of spades. West takes his ace, but that's the end of the line for the defense. South later crosses to dummy's nine of trumps and discards his diamond loser on the queen of spades.

In effect, the trump finesse is a safety play to guard against a 3-0 trump division. Quite often it will cost declarer a 30-point trick, but that is a mighty small premium to pay for insuring a vulnerable game.

FIVE LOCATIONS TO SERVE YOU

Mrs. Bartley; the merchants of Hicksville; Mrs. Falkowski and Mrs. Rombach; the dozens of Hicksville High School students who decorated, waited tables, and served food; and special thanks to our Director of Student Activities, Mrs. Nancy DeSorbo, Mr. Raymond J. McDonough, Dean of Students, and Student Government Vice President Colleen Bartley, whose organization and leadership skills resulted in an afternoon that will be long remembered.

Richard G. Hogan
Principal

Heartfelt Thanks

We are writing to express our heartfelt thanks to all the people of Hicksville who put their faith in us in last Wednesday's election. That faith will guide us over the next three years toward our goal of restoring your trust in our School Board and what it stands for.

Right has won out, folks, and we applaud you for cutting through the nonsense. Things were said and done during this campaign that have left us with deep doubts as to what really matters to some people. Our hope is that these people come to realize that it isn't about power or politics or control or revenge. It's about how we go through this life and how we leave our mark along the way.

It is said that nothing is accomplished without passion. We can attest to the passion of some very dedicated and special people who worked so hard for us during the campaign. Their names won't fit in this space but they know who they are. They may never know how much it has meant to us. Deepest thanks especially to Pollyanna and The Boss.

Thanks also to Linda Mirro for running an honest, high road campaign. She deserves a chance to serve Hicksville as a school board trustee and we look forward to working with her in the future.

We now have a budget and a reason to feel good about what's ahead for Hicksville. Thank you again for the chance to be a part of it.

Dave Staton
Voley Martin

Appreciation And Gratitude

We would like to extend our appreciation and gratitude to the very many good people throughout Hicksville, and our friends and neighbors, who gave much support and guidance during the recent campaign for the school board.

Although we did not win the election, we were successful in the ways that truly counts. We have made new friendships, strengthened old friendships, and most of all we maintained our sense of integrity and principles. We took positions that we believed to be the right ones even when others may have disagreed.

Now we must look ahead and ensure that the new board works in a manner accountable and responsible to all residents of Hicksville. All of us must stay involved, because all of our responsibilities lie in the participation with the school board. We all have a right to be heard and we will be heard.

We wish much success to the new school board.

B-Ball In Hicksville Hits A Grand Slam

The Hicksville Athletic Association's Babe Ruth League is an elite travel team of 11-12-year-olds. The team is playing in Babe Ruth Leagues in Nassau and is also entered in a western Suffolk league. The team is managed by Tom Boyle and coached by Ken Englehardt and Larry Soper. We call ourselves the Hicksville As.

The season opener was on April 15 against the Plainedge Red Sox 12-year-olds under the lights at Syosset-Woodbury Park. Tommy Kessler did a superb job pitching, only allowing one hit. Batting was strong with Adam Geslak going 3-3 and Tommy Kessler going 2-2. The entire team did an outstanding job.

Our second game was against Kings Park at their home field on April 25. Kevin Soper came in as pitcher and did a great job of keeping some strong hitters in check.
