Local Groups To Be Awarded Chase Grants

By J.W. Garger

Two local not-for-profit groups are among the 92 Long Island organizations that have been awarded the Chase Manhattan Bank Neighborhood grants for 1992.

The Hicksville-Gregory Museum and the Hicksville Public Library (in conjunction with the Hicksville School District) will be awarded the grants at a June 25 ceremony. The Chase Manhattan program, now in its 25th year, supports a variety of community groups involved in the arts, education, health and human services, and housing and economic development. Over $60,000 was awarded to 47 Nassau and 45 Suffolk organizations.

The Hicksville Library will receive $500 to help fund the Summer Reading Program that it coordinates with the school district. The theme of the program this summer is "New York Is Reading Country." Youngsters are enrolled as either Little Apple Readers or Big Apple Readers and are awarded prizes based on specific number of books read. Registration will begin at the end of June. The Hicksville-Gregory Museum also

A Friendly Omen Invades Mall

OMEN THE ROBOT was only one of the attractions at the Hicksville Chamber of Commerce Business Expo '92. In addition to the robot, clowns, and an orchestra many local merchants displayed their products and services to interested mall shoppers. Shoppers learned firsthand about what Hicksville businesses have to offer and some lucky residents won prizes that were raffled off by the merchants. Businesses were not the only organizations represented. Non-profit groups such as the Hicksville-Gregory Museum, Youth Council, and the Public Library were present. Also on hand were representatives from the post office, Hicksville Water District and service organizations such as the Kiwanis, Rotary, and the Lion's Club.

Waiting For Word on Funding For Youths

By John W. Garger

The Hicksville Youth Council is not waiting for the county's decision on whether it will provide funding for its programs, it is going ahead with all its services and looking forward to a fun-filled summer.

Nassau County is currently debating how to close their budget gap, last reported to be $175 million. If a proposed $75 million General Obligation Bond does not get support the county has threatened to cut all non-essential services. The Nassau County Youth Board, which provides the majority of funding for the Hicksville Youth Council, as well as for 42 other youth agencies, would lose funding if the county cuts all non-essential services.

Agencies that are funded by the Nassau County Youth Board provide counseling services, runaway programs, youth housing, and multi-service programs such as what is provided at the Hicksville Youth Council. The Hicksville Youth Council offers area youths counseling, peer tutoring, crisis intervention, employment opportunities, and recreational activities. The two full-time workers and four part-time employees serve more than 500 Hicksville youths.

Tom Bruno, the Executive Director of the Hicksville Youth Council, said that it is a wait and see situation. Earlier in the year the council received a 16 percent cut in funds because of the $1 million that the Nassau County Youth Board lost. "We have no idea what is going on right now," said Bruno. He is asking parents and any community members who are concerned with the possibility of losing the Youth Council to call or write their local officials. "Any concerned citizen in the area who doesn't want to see the council closed or cut further should call or write the Supervisor, Lewis Yevoli; the Presiding Supervisor of Hempstead, Joe Mondello; and the County Executive, Tom Gulotta, asking them not to close this agency or any other youth service in order to balance the budget," said Bruno. Bruno added that parents should ask the supervisor where their child is going to go to find the services that the Youth Council offers.

Bruno pointed out that the Youth Council does not only serve youths who are interested in the sports and recreation activities who the council offers, but it serves youths that are not interested in the after school sports programs, so they turn to the only place available, the Hicksville Youth Council. Getting involved at the council is easy. After filling out a registration card, youths are eligible to participate in any activities or to take advantage of the counseling services.

Recreation is not the main goal of the Youth Council explained Bruno. There are state certified social workers available at the council. "We use the recreation activities to get youths to know the agency. Once they use the agency they feel more comfortable," he said. Unfortunately if funding is further cut, Bruno feels that the recreational activities would be the first ones to be cut from the offerings of the council.

As in the past the Youth Council is planning fundraisers to make up for some of its lost funding. There is a charity softball game June 19, a garage sale on July 11, a flea market in August, and possibly a carnival later in the year. Watch for more details in the paper.

The Hicksville Youth Council's Drop-In lounge is open from 2:30 to 5 p.m. from Monday to Friday for young people to play pool, ping pong, Nintendo, and foosball. Scheduled events include softball on Monday nights from 6-8 p.m. at the Middle School, Friday night movie nights at 7 p.m., and trips to Great Adventure, Splash Splash Water Park, Adventureland, Canoeing, Bayville Beach, and the Hayden Planetarium. For more information about these and other events call the council at 822-KIDS.

In the June 25 issue of the Economic Times of Long Island, these efforts to revitalize the region's weakened downtowns—as well as a status report on the retail industry—will be examined through a variety of different perspectives.

The business publication looks at what's happening in a number of Nassau and Suffolk communities and what approaches are being taken by the people who rely on neighborhood business.

Economic Times found that Business Improvement Districts (BIDs) are increasing in popularity as merchants take their future into their own hands and band together for the necessary improvements. The publication also takes a close-up look at Port Washington, where an effort is underway to establish "house accounts"

Rotary Clubs Help Athletes' War

By A. Anthony Miller

There's a very powerful but largely invisible foe on the loose. It's called hunger.

Hunger strikes at all areas and many segments of our society. It respects no boundaries, no ages, no classes.

One of its leading opponents is the Plainview-based group called Athletes Against Hunger.

The Athletes, according to their director, Jerry Goldman, have recruited another ally in their fight: the 41 member clubs of the Rotary International District 725, whose clubs are in Nassau, Queens and Brooklyn. And on Tuesday, June 23, the Athletes Against Hunger, the Rotarians, WWORTV and SportsChannel will join forces at Shea Stadium before the start of the 7:40 p.m. Mets-Chicago Cubs game.

Fans will be asked to bring donations of nutritious canned foods, which volunteers stationed at each gate will collect. The volunteers will come from the Long Island Cares Food Bank, the Interfaith Nutrition Network (INN), the Brooklyn Coalition Against Hunger, the Bronx-based Paraclete Foundation, and Staten Island's Project Hospitality. These groups will collect, and later distribute, the food.

Rotarians made a huge difference in last season's food drive, their efforts producing a reported 25,000 pounds of food beyond the 2,000 donated by Mets fans.

Franklin Square's Dick Petersen, a past Governor of Rotary District 725, has been called the driving force behind the participation of the Rotary District's clubs.

The following clubs are collecting food in one or more way: Bayville, Farmingdale, Floral Park, Franklin Square-Elmont, Glen Cove, Glen Head, Great Neck, Hempstead-Uniondale, Locust Valley, Manhasset, Massapequa-Seaford, Oceanside, Oyster Bay, Port Washington, Valley Stream and West Hempstead.

But Petersen realizes that food drives aren't the solution to the hunger problem.

GETTING READY for another campaign in the war on hunger are, from left, Dick Petersen, Jerry Goldman, Susan Torborg, Jeff Torborg, and SportsChannel's Richard Kahn. Fans coming to the June 23 Mets-Cubs game are being asked to donate food.

"This year we hope to collect 100,000 pounds of food. We will raise money to buy food through the sale of Mets' tickets to our members. A number of our clubs are organizing food drives at local supermarkets and businesses. The Mets are generously offering prizes, such as an autographed jacket, glove and bat to those clubs that collect the most food.

"However, to eradicate hunger we must do more than give food to hungry people. We must work together to make education and job training easily accessible. Jobs that pay decent wages and reliable day care centers must also be available, so that all poor people have the opportunity to lift themselves out of poverty and feed their own families!"

SportsChannel and WWOR-TV, which air Mets games, will also be involved. Throughout this month, both stations will make announcements about the food collection, both to increase the amounts to be brought and to heighten public awareness of the problem.

Mets Manager Jeff Torborg and his wife, Susan, will also have major roles in the food drive program, appearing on TV and radio spots to let fans know about the food collection. It's not a first for Susan, who has worked with several anti-hunger organizations.

"Unfortunately," she noted, hunger has grown dramatically during the last decade. Those who are most severely affected are children and the elderly, who account for the majority of our nation's hungry. This is not tolerable."

Eskay Introduced In Grand Style

By John W. Garger

Hicksville was formally introduced to one of its newest businesses last week as Eskay Business Systems held an open house at its new headquarters on Bethpage Road.

Eskay, a servicer and supplier of brand name copy and fax machines, held its open house in grand style with a catered party featuring a full buffet, live music, and magic acts all under two giant tents. The highlight of the day came when Larry Kirsch, president of Eskay, was presented with a special citation from the County Executive's office.

The festive atmosphere surrounding the day was appropriate considering the history of the 10 year old company. Eskay was founded by several employees of a Fortune 500 company that fell on hard times. Those employees were faced with a choice to be employed elsewhere or market products individually that they were most familiar with. They decided to start their own business systems company, thus forming Eskay.

For three months they worked out of a house. In 1982 they located in a small Bayside, Queens site. Four years later they moved to Mineola, occupying 12,000 square feet with 65 employees. When those accommodations became too small they moved into their present site at 60 Bethpage Rd, Hicksville.

According to Kirsch, Eskay has grown from a small group of people who "Had this vision of building an organization which would offer independence to us and give us an opportunity to chart our own destiny" to a sales and service company of business systems that employs over 100 people and has dealt with nearly 10,000 customers. Many of its customers are Fortune 500 companies, but Eskay also deals with small businesses, and federal, state, and local governments.

Eskay located in Hicksville because it "represented an opportunity for our future expansion as well as a central point to service our Long Island clientele," according to Kirsch. Eskay sells to and services the entire metropolitan area as well as supporting clients nationally. They have another branch office in Manhattan.

A family-like atmosphere was exhibited at the open house. Fitting, considering the name of the company was taken from the initials S and K, which were derived from a

TO YOUR HEALTH

By RICHARD H. BLAU, M.D.

Systemic Lupus Erythematosus — A Disease of Inflammation

Systemic lupus erythematosus (lupus) can affect any organ in the body. No one knows the cause of lupus, but women are eight to ten times more affected than men. For some reason, the body's immune system turns against itself and attacks healthy tissue. The result of this attack is inflammation and injury to the involved organ.

Lupus can begin as fever, weakness, weight loss and fatigue. If the inflammation involves the skin, a butterfly rash may occur on the face. If the joints become involved, arthritis can ensue. In the more severe forms of the disease, the lungs, the heart, the kidneys, the blood, the muscles, and even the brain may be attacked.

The diagnosis of lupus can be very difficult. Your physician will need to obtain a careful history of your illness, and perform a complete physical examination. Specialized blood tests are also often required.

Rheumatologists (specialists in lupus) usually treat the mild form of the disease with simple medications. If the inflammation is severe and many organs are involved, your rheumatologist may begin more powerful medications. Additionally, a program of rest, exercise, balanced diet, avoidance of sunlight and emotional support groups may be recommended.

Arthritis strikes one out of seven people. Learn the facts. Call for your complimentary copy of "The Joint Approach — An Arthritis Overview."

James Kramer (center) accepts a certificate and $1000 grant in recognition of his potential to be a master teacher from Concordia President Dr. Ralph C. Shultz. Mr. Paul Wenger joins them.

Finding Tomorrow's Teachers Today

James Kramer and Trisha Toelstedt—students at Long Island Lutheran High School and members of Trinity Lutheran Church in Hicksville—participated in the pilot education career program, Teachers Discovering Teachers. The program, sponsored through Concordia College, Bronxville, aims at discovering students with the potential to be tomorrow's master teachers.

Though the program is new, the notion that inspired it is old as education—good teaching makes good teachers. The program's first phase concentrated on today's master teachers, awarding their efforts at a dinner at the college. The program's second phase pointed toward the future as the master teachers selected students they felt had qualities and character needed to be tomorrow's master teachers. The student's were invited to Concordia where they talked with faculty and administration and were presented with an award recognizing their potential as educators. Each award carried a $1000 grant to study education at Concordia.

"The students responded enthusiastically," reported program planner and coordinator Fritz Trinklein. "We already heard of a ripple effect...students coming forward and asking to be considered for the program next year."

This pilot program marks the first time Concordia has invited a select group of students to explore the educational opportunities in a single profession.

"What's unique about the program," said John Bahr, director of admission and financial aid at Concordia, "is its enlisting the help of teachers to exhort students to follow lives of personal service."

Concordia is a liberal arts college located in the village of Bronxville. For the past 110 years the college has dedicated itself to preparing students for lives marked by service to community and church, including one of the most important service professions—education.

SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

Dutch Lane Writes The President

The Dutch Lane students from Mrs. Marx's fourth grade class all wrote letters to President Bush, because they couldn't understand why we were helping the Russians when so many people in the United States need help. President Bush answered all the student's letters with a letter of his own.

One of the students, Michael Behr, wrote: "I am in the fourth grade and in my Weekly Reader I read that Americans are helping Russians. Why are we helping Russians when there is starvation and homeless people in our country? You had better do something about it now! Russia may be poor but you should think about our country first. Starvation has plagued us for centuries and you can do something about it!" He also added that he hopes Bush gets re-elected.

Bush responded by thanking the class for sharing in his concerns about the homeless and hungry in our society. He said that solving these problems is very complicated because individual circumstances vary, but he assured the class that he is committed to bringing effective assistance to Americans who are in need of food and shelter. He outlined some of his programs and added

DUTCH LANE students recently wrote to President Bush about concerns that they have been reading about. They were delighted when the president responded with a reply for the entire class. The president shared the students concern and encouraged their participation.

Honors At VICA Competition

Six Hicksville High School students were among those who won awards at the recent New York State VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) Competition. Held at the Concord Hotel in Kiamasha Lake, New York, the conference attracted approximately 2,000 occupational education students from around the state, and featured a variety of leadership skills competitions.

Senior Frank Bottitta, a third-year student in Nassau Tech's Airframe Aviation program, John Villani, a junior in his second year in the Aviation Airframe program; and Brian Magee, a first year student in the same program, all won first place as part of an eight person team in the Chapter Business Procedure Competition; this recognizes a club's ability to conduct VICA meetings according to the organization's parliamentary procedure and order of business.

Senior Osvaldo Herrera took second place for his demonstration of skills acquired in the Commercial Art program at Nassau Tech's Westbury Center, where he is in his second year of study. He designed a VICA pin. Seniors Thomas Fico and John Heberer, both in their second year of study in the Commercial Arts program, were third place winners in the Bulletin Board Display competition, which required illustration of the theme "America's New Professionals: Quality at Work."

The first-place winners will represent BOCES in the national competition to be held in Louisville, Kentucky in late June.

Law Day Competition

Hicksville High School seniors Michael Calapai and Ian Kean were selected as winners for their entries in the Arts Category of the Law Day Competition by the Bar Association of Nassau County, NY Inc. As winners, the students visited the state capital as guests of the Honorable Joanna Seybert, Nassau County Court Judge, enjoying a tour of the State Legislature and the Judiciary. The students were accompanied by their Government teacher Robert Zaleski. Additionally Joe Fesser and Charisse Maisonet won Honorable Mentions in the Essay and Poetry Category.

Another VICA Winner

Congratulations to Renee Turchiano who placed second at the New York State VICA Regional Competition in the Job Interview Category. Renee attends the Levittown Memorial Education Center as part of the Hicksville Vocational Education Program.

East Street Science Fair

In April everyone at the East Street School was tuned into one special event—Miss Saxton's Annual Science Fair.

The Electrical Expo featured her fourth grade students demonstrating the application of simple electrical battery circuits in a variety of imaginative and creative projects. A magnetic tow truck, electro-magnets, telegraph keys with Morse coded secret messages, liquid conductors, challenging steady-hand skill games, buzzers, question and answer games, and houses that lit up were shown.

The children enjoyed exhibiting and sharing their inventions with all the classes in the school. It proved to be a creative, hands-on experience enjoyed by all.

A Place In the World

The children in Mrs. Fuch's kindergarten classes at Lee Avenue (a.m.) and the Woodland School (p.m.) learned that they have a special place in this world. They found this out by using the Social Studies unit, "My Place in the World," whose main concept is identifying the world as a big place but knowing that they have a place in it and they can find that place by using maps and understanding symbols.

Brownie Troop Trip To Carvel

St. Ignatius Loyola Brownie Troop No. 3356 enjoyed dessert after their lunch when they visited the Carvel ice cream store in Plainview earlier this year. The Brownie scouts were given a tour of the store and a demonstration on how to make ice cream. Frank Marchese, store manager, guided the troop members as they created their own sundaes. The St. Ignatius Brownie Troop really enjoyed the afternoon.

Bulldogs In Memorial Day Parade

TRINITY LUTHERAN School's new marching band, the "Bulldogs," were in the Hicksville Memorial Day Parade for the very first time this year! The band consists of 30 musicians, 32 pom-pom girls, and 13 baton twirlers who have been practicing very hard for the past few months. Thanks to Miss Mary Jane Morton, Trinity's Band Director, and all of our supportive parents, the Bulldogs seem to be off on a good note!

Midland Beautifies Triangles with Flowers

By Gert Paul

Since early spring, the flowers have kept blooming in our triangles. First daffodils, then glorious tulips, now some iris and a myriad of flowers planted for the summer season. On May 23, the Beautification Committee of the Midland Civic Association met at 10 a.m. to clean up and plant flowers on the triangles on Willet Ave. and Nevada St. off Bethpage Rd.

It was very warm, but the dedicated members completed their job. Present and working hard were Ellie and Ed Draycott, Gert and Bernie Paul, Tom Pfeiffer and son, John Kuchs, Gail Gomula, Paul Richards, Maureen Scier, and Acta Diaz.

Tom Pfeiffer carried buckets of water from my outdoor faucet, Ed Draycott dispensed Cocoa-Cola from his cooler, and passers-by cheered us on. It was tiring, but very satisfying. Hopefully another site to beautify will be allocated to us. However, we need a few more willing hands to make Hicksville beautiful.

Pre-school Graduation At Old Country

Congratulations to Old Country Road Pre-School students who graduated on April 11.

The commencement began with the children marching in to Pomp and Circumstance. Pat Aceste, co-chairman of the Pre-school committee then led the pledge of Allegiance and thanked the pre-school teachers, Bonnie Keyer (co-chairman), Arlene Robinson, Debbie Bacotti, Jeanette Tremmel, and Karen Burgoyne, for their dedicated work. Before turning the program over to OCRs principal, Mrs. Silver, Nancy Callari (PTA President) read a very moving poem about children growing up. Mrs. Silver then presented the diplomas to the children.

The morning ended with a graduation party for the children, their families, and friends, which included baked goods, a sheet cake, juice, balloons, and a graduation gift for each child.

Midland Civic Final Meeting Report

By Gert Paul

On May 19, at 7:30 p.m., the Midland Civic Association met for the last time this season at the Woodland School. It was a beautifully run meeting, and there was a great deal of audience participation. Councilman Tom Clark swore in the new officers and board members for the '92-'93 season. Newly elected John Kuch conducted the meeting since President Harry Single was unable to attend. Speakers included three candidates for the school board: Dave Staton, Volley Martin, and Linda Mirro (the other candidates, James Martillo and Carol Reden declined to attend); Debbie Weintraub, a board member of the Gregory Museum; and Ellie Draycott, who was filling in for Connie Steers.

The question and answer period, after the candidates gave their opening statements, was handled deftly by John Kuch, and the entire procedure was dignified and cordial.

Debbie Weintraub spoke with pride about the Gregory Museum and what it means to our community. She urged passage of the proposition that we sponsor some of the cost of maintaining it.

Ellie Draycott told us about a group home for indigent veterans being treated for substance abuse under the auspices of Connie Steers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. She asked for donations of food and vital toiletries for these desperate people.

Gert Paul, chairperson of the Beautification Committee, proposed that we adopt a road as part of the Town of Oyster Bay Beautification program. It was decided that we adopt Bethpage Rd. and Bay Ave. from the railroad to the juncture with Route 107. The motion was passed unanimously. It is now up to us to "pick up" and keep on beautifying our corner of this town.

Door prizes were given, and refreshments were bountiful. The entire assembly of members and guests left the meeting with high hopes for a wonderful new season to come.

Retailer's Environmental Greenprint

The Home Depot, the nation's largest home center trailer, today introduced its "Environmental Greenprint" (sm), a proprietary blueprint that provides home environmental information for homeowners and home improvement professionals alike. The Greenprint will be available at all stores the first week of June, in addition to expanded environmental product information and displays.

The Greenprint is an easy way for homeowners to check the home for environmental efficiencies in areas of resource consumption and health safeguards, such as water conservation and indoor air quality. "We created the Greenprint to make customers aware of the many alternative 'green' product choices now available to them," said Mark Eisen, Manager Environmental Marketing.

The homeowner uses the Greenprint as an environmental map of the home, identifying environmentally preferred products and practices which the homeowner can choose to purchase or implement.

For 1992, Home Depot is developing a program to ensure the wood and wood products it sells are responsibly forested and harvested; switching to recycled paper cash register receipts and recycled plastic printing ribbon cartridges; and initiating programs to help our customers recycle at our stores.

Work begun in 1991 with the Environmental Protection Agency in voluntarily removing lead solder from its plumbing departments has become the company's benchmark environmental principle for the nineties.

The Chase Manhattan Grants program, under the leadership of William H. Hoefling, senior vice president and the Long Island regional banking executive, has become a vital resource for the betterment of the Long Island Community. "By supporting these various local and civic organizations, we at Chase can demonstrate our own sense of community pride. We believe, both as a financial institution doing business here and furthermore, as Long Island residents, that we also have a moral responsibility to help promote the continuing good works of these organizations."

Tackling The Traditions

Due to some of the recent controversy perhaps we should look at Father's Day in a different light. Traditionally, it's the day you buy dad a tie, leave him alone to watch television or fall asleep in the yard. Maybe, if he's been extra good to you this year, you'll wash and wax his car. The man we honor each June, at least by the verbiage of the cards, is the macho guy who makes the money, yells at the kids and will choke if he gets another tie.

Some politicians have recently been calling on Americans to return to their traditional roots, to the nuclear family. Mom, Dad, Kids, all under one roof, kind of the "Father Knows Best" arrangement.

If only wishing could make it so.

Today's families only vaguely resemble those of generations ago. And, while much of that is not appealing, there are some characteristics better left in the past. If we've learned that families function better as cooperative units, then we've also learned that Robert Young and Donna Reed—and, yes, Murphy Brown—don't exist. No parent knows everything and the assumption that simply the designation of "father" is a guarantee of knowledge, security and sense of right is more fictional than anything produced on television. And, if we've learned anything as a society over the past few decades, it's that there's no absolute "better way."

We're happy that today's fathers, for the most part, are not emotionless breadwinners and hardnosed disciplinarians. They make the breakfast, pack the lunches, some even stay home with the kids.

We agree that respect, discipline, sense of community and family and love are as vital today as they were yesterday. In fact, even more so. We disagree, however, that these ideals can only be realized in ideal situations. We're thankful for our dads, the dads who aren't perfect, who don't fit the perfect image. We're most thankful for the dads who never tried to fit the image, teaching us, by example, to meet our challenges and that imperfect is okay.

A Letter from Lulubelle...

...How wonderful it is to be a grandmother and go to the high school art show and see the wonderful artwork that your grandchildren have done!!! ... Now, of course, while all of the students did remarkably well, my two high school age grandchildren—one a junior and one a senior—did produce the best and most thrilling work of all—and, naturally, I'm not prejudiced!!! ... A spectacularly successful teacher in this school has made his students perform what one would say is an impossibility—beyond their talents. ... By inspiration and encouragement, he has given them the confidence to know that they can produce something wonderful—even though some of those things are not appealing to my traditional conservative viewpoint on art—still, I can appreciate the imagination and the technique that goes into the making of one of these pieces of paint, clay, "cut and paste," or whatever—it is truly amazing where the minds of these great kids will take them. ... In many cases, working from the Impressionists, he had them make many different phases of the same painting—how they ever thought of the many ways they displayed, I'll never understand, but it was very exciting. ... The name plates on each exhibit told where the student would attend college next year and many prestigious art schools were listed and the scholarships which had been awarded to the student. ... My grandson did a hand which could have been done by Leonardo Da Vinci, it was so spectacular, and a hockey player with so much action that I expected him to jump right off the page! ... Go to the art show at your high school—especially if your grandkids go there. ... it will be good for your artistic soul. ... especially if you are like me and took art all through high school and loved it and then finally had to realize that you had no talent.

Yours, Lulubelle

VFW Memorial Day Parade Report

By P.P.C. Carmine A. Somma

Sunday, May 24, was a busy day for the Comrades and Sisters of the Post. At 8:30 a.m. we started at Plainlawn Cemetery in Hicksville and had our Memorial Day service for our Comrades who gave their lives during WWII. Post members and the Ladies Auxiliary went to the gravesite of Wm. M. Gouse, Jr. in Westbury. The Post is named after him. At 10:30 a.m. the UVO of Nassau County kicked off the annual Memorial Day services at the Veterans Monuments at Eisenhower Park. The Veterans organizations who participated in the services were: United Spanish War Veterans Honorary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled War Veterans, Jewish War Veterans, Catholic War Veterans, Marine Corps League, National Guard Veterans, Am-Vets, Polish Legion Am-Vets, 1st Marine Division Assn, Pearl Harbor Survivors, US Submarine Vets WWII, 82nd Airborne Vets, 802 T.D. Bn Veterans Assn, 824 T.D. Bn. Vets Assn, Women Marines Assn, Vietnam of America, Am-Legion, Veterans of the Vietnam War, WWI Vets and Am-Ex-Prisoners of War.

At 2 p.m. the Long Island National Cemetery Memorial Organization in Farmingdale had their annual Memorial Day services. The President of this organization is Joseph Scordo, VFW Past President. Conrad Steers of the LINC was the Grand Marshal of the Memorial Day services and parade. The welcome address was given by Dennis E. Kuehl, Director of LINC, who has given the cemetery a new look and his grounds keepers and crew who are dedicated workers had the cemetery looking like a showpiece. The Veterans organizations who participated were: Marine Corps League, Am-Legion Post 94 and their Celtic Pipe Band, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Jewish War Veterans, Vietnam Veterans of America and their Color Guard.

Volunteers came from Queens, Nassau and Suffolk and put American flags on 240,000 graves. It took about 2 1/2 hours to put flags on all the graves.

Hicksville held its annual Memorial Day parade and services on Monday, May 25. It was one of the most impressive parades in the Hicksville tradition. The Henry Biel Post No. 46 Masonic War Veterans deserved every compliment they received for hosting one of the finest Memorial Day parade services. Congratulations to Commander Ernest Krumm and Chairman Tore Plantin. They, and all other Memorial Day committee members, did a superb job. It was gratifying to see so many people lined up on the parade route. From Sears Broadway to Old Country Road then on Jerusalem Avenue where the reviewing stand was. The weather was without a doubt in our favor. A beautiful cool day. The Hicksville VFW and its Auxiliary are proud to report that people have not forgotten the Veterans in all the wars.

The following organizations and Vets groups marched in the Memorial on May 25: (1st Division) Nassau County Police Escort, Henry Biel Post No. 46 Color Guard, Masonic War Veterans and its members, Hicksville H.S. Band, Free & Accepted Masons of State of New York, Manetto Lodge John Bergin Master, Meadowbrooks Lodge Louis Kudrena Master, Order of the Eastern Star, Emera Chapter No. 676 Hicksville, Elizabeth J. Martron, K of C J. Barry Council No. 2520, Hicksville Elks Lodge No 1931 and Gold Star Mother Kozma. Followed by honored guests Honorable Daniel Frisa, NY State Assemblyman; Thomas S. Gullotta, NC Executive; Thomas L. Clark, T.O.B. Councilman; Salvatore Mugavero, Superintendent of Schools; (2nd Division) Our Lady of Mercy Twirlers & Cheerleaders Middle School Band, Greier-Levitt Post 655, Jewish War Veterans, Boy Scouts of America Troop 64, Troop 293, Troop 381, Troop 382, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ladies Auxiliary Post 3211, Trinity Lutheran Baton and Marching Band, Hicksville Athletic Association, CYO Baseball, Hicksville Baseball Assn, (3rd Division) Am-Legion Post 421 and its Ladies Auxiliary, VFW Poppy Queen Nicole Entler, Hicksville Fire Department Color Guard, Ladies Auxiliary, Oceanside Maritime Band, Grand Marshall Richard Hochbrueckhner (A.L. Post 421), Honorary Grand Marshall Florence Ruhe (A.L. Auxiliary Post 421), Frances Ferrara Ladies Auxiliary VFW Post 3211, and Leroy Whitelaw WWI JWV.

The grounds keepers and the crew in the Hicksville School District deserve our thanks for keeping the grounds in good shape.

The parade and service was organized by the Veterans Organization of Hicksville. Our apologies to any organization we have left out.

Student speakers from Hicksville High School were John Christ and Liz Jugensen. Principal Speaker Daniel Frisa, State Assemblyman. Our thanks goes to William Frohnhoefer, Al Vitello, Charles and Art who distributed American flags to residents along the parade route and selling VFW Buddy Poppy. The donation from these poppy will go to help veterans who have been hospitalized.

10th Anniversary Of MADD/LI

Three leading citizens will be honored by MADD/LI at the MADD 10th Anniversary reception and dinner on June 23rd at the Huntington Hilton beginning at 5:30 pm. The three citizens, New York State Senator Norman Levy, Nassau County Assistant District Attorney Dennis Lavalle and Attorney Peter Kramer have made significant personal contributions helping MADD in its efforts to stop drunk driving on Long Island.

Senator Levy is Chairman of the Senate Task force on Drunk Driving. He is a nationally recognized leader in the field of transportation and has sponsored many of the state's anti-DWI, school bus and highway safety laws, including the "first in the nation" mandatory seatbelt law. Dennis Lavalle, a prosecutor for Nassau County District Attorney's office for over 18 years, is the STOP-DWI Coordinator. In that role, he has supervisory authority over both misdemeanor and felony DWI prosecutions. Peter Kramer is a partner in the law firm of Lysaght, Lysaght & Kramer. Mr. Kramer has served as pro bono counsel to Long Island MADD for the past several years and has continuously supported the organization and its membership in a variety of related activities. Mr. Kramer has assisted MADD in many of its legislative initiatives.

The Long Island Chapter of MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Driving) was established in 1982 by Celia and Marvin Strow following the loss of their daughter in a drunk driving crash. Drunk driving accounts for over 22,000 deaths annually in the U.S. and maims 360,000 more. Through the efforts of MADD and its supporters, over 1,200 new drunk driving laws have been put into effect since 1981. Nationally, MADD has more than 2.8 million members and supporters with 400 U.S. chapters and affiliates in Canada, Australia, England and New Zealand.

The MADD 10th Anniversary reception and dinner is open to MADD volunteers, supporters and the general public. For further information, contact MADD at 547-MADD.

Scholarship Fund

Nassau County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta today announced that a scholarship fund to help Nassau County foster children with college expenses has been established by the employees of the Nassau County Department of Social Services and the Social Service Volunteers of Nassau, Inc. in memory of Joseph A. D'Elia, the County's social services commissioner who died May 12.

"During his 18 years at the helm of the Department of Social Services, Commissioner D'Elia took a special interest in the needs of the County's foster children," Gulotta said. "Many events, including his annual children's holiday party, focused attention on the Department's efforts to recruit foster and adoptive families. This is an appropriate means to honor the memory of this dedicated public servant."

Contributions to the scholarship fund may be sent to the Social Service Volunteers of Nassau, Inc. Social Services Administration Building, 101 County Seat Drive, Mineola, N.Y. 11501. Checks should be made payable to the Social Service Volunteers.

Youth Programs

The Nassau County Chapter of the American Red Cross is involving teenagers in a ground breaking program that aims to combat the deadliest of youthful indiscretions: complacency.

The program spreads the facts about AIDS, and involves teens who talk to their peers about the dangers of behavior that puts sexually active youth at risk of contracting the virus that causes AIDS. Straight talk that could save their lives.

Studies conducted in the school system and at colleges show that teenagers are not ignorant about AIDS. The topic is covered in schools, churches and youth organizations. It's on television, on billboards, in newspapers and magazines. Although most teenagers know how you get AIDS, it doesn't change their behavior. Presentations to community organizations put a face on the cold statistics associated with AIDS. Teens listen to others teens.

Currently the Red Cross has the only peer HIV-AIDS education group in Nassau County and there are 10 teenagers available to come to schools or groups in the County. For further information on the program, which is funded by an HIV Adolescent Resource Network Grant from the AIDS Institute of New York, contact Nassau County Chapter of the American Red Cross at 747-3500 extension 227 or write to 264 Old Country Road, Mineola, N.Y. 11501.

A most blessed gift, William Gary Heuser, entered our world Sunday, March 8 at 3:25 p.m. weighing 7 lbs. 2 1/4 ozs. and 20 inches long. He was born at North Shore Hospital, where his mother works. William was welcomed by his big sister, Katelyn, who turned two just two days before William was born. We (Nancy) and Gary Heuser, his parents live in Hicksville. William is the adored grandson of Jean Blyman and the late William Blyman and Peter Heuser and the late Agnes Heuser of Old Bethpage. We named our son after my dear father, Bill. The christening took place at Our Lady of Mercy Church, where I attended school. Proud godparents are Robert Blyman and Doris Reynolds.

LILCO's Workshop Of Cost Savings

HICKSVILLE residents Ruben Aviles and his wife Grace Merrick learn about the cost saving benefits of using a fluorescent lightbulb by Pete Manger, an instructor at LILCO's Hicksville Customer Relations Office. Energy experts demonstrated low-cost, do-it-yourself conservation and weatherization measures which maximize energy efficiency and lower energy bills. Customers who attended received a free weatherization kit to get them started. For more information on other conservation programs call LILCO's toll-free Energy Hotline at 1-800-692-2626.

Canine Companions Sponsor DogFest '92

By Nan Connors

The Canine Companions for Independence, sponsoring their first DogFest, have appealed to the community for assistance.

DogFest is a one-day event to celebrate the qualities and charms of man's best friend.

A number of local businesses, including the Roslyn Savings Bank, have already agreed to sponsor the DogFest, which will be held Saturday, June 20, at the campus of SUNY-Farmingdale.

The event will include a Dog WalkATHon with prizes.

Canine Companions for Independence (CCI) pioneered the concept of the service dog in 1975. Since then, more than 600 certified canine companions have been placed. CCI utilizes its own breeding program in which puppies are placed in volunteer "foster homes" for 16 months to be socialized and receive initial obedience training. Next comes six months of advanced training, and by the age of two years, each dog has learned 89 commands and is ready to be matched with a participant from CCI's waiting list.

In an intensive two-week training course, appropriately called Boot Camp, participants learn the techniques to command and control their new companions, and must demonstrate their ability to provide for the dog's care before graduating.

The canine companion provides physical assistance, companionship and love, under the motto Exceptional Dogs for Exceptional People.

Although the actual cost of breeding, raising and training each dog costs more than $10,000, the non-profit CCI charges only a nominal $125, including supplies, to each applicant. CCI is funded by donations and service club contributions. Any person with a disability may apply for a canine companion.

CCI uses in its program selectively bred Golden and Labrador retrievers, border collies and Pembroke Welsh Corgis.

In the Dog WalkATHon, hundreds of people will walk to raise money for CCI. The dog walk course is three miles long; a minimum pledge of $20 is required to participate. The minimum may come from one or a number of persons.

Further information about the event is available by calling 694-2320. Volunteers are also needed to set up booths and register contestants. Persons interested should call 694 6938.

In the event of rain, the DogFest will be held June 21.

Contract Bridge By Steve Becker

Test Your Dummy Play

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Diamonds and North leads the six of trumps. How would you play the hand?

- | WEST | | EAST | |
|------------|--------|----------|-------|
| ♦ AQ | ♦ J93 | ♥ AQ1082 | ♦ KQ |
| ♥ — | ♥ — | ♦ KQ | ♦ 653 |
| ♦ AJ109742 | ♦ AK98 | | |

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Hearts. North leads the king of clubs, which you win with the ace. You play a diamond to dummy's king, both opponents following low, and finesse the queen of hearts, South playing the three and North the nine. How would you now proceed?

|---------|-----|----------|-----|
| ♦ KJ94 | ♦ — | ♥ 8642 | ♦ — |
| ♥ AQJ75 | ♥ — | ♦ AK8763 | ♦ — |
| ♦ J2 | ♦ — | ♦ 1065 | ♦ — |
| ♦ A3 | ♦ — | | |

1. Win the trump with the queen, lead the spade three to the ace and return the queen of spades. This virtually assures the contract, since it enables you to dispose of the 9-8 of clubs on the ace of hearts and jack of spades.

It would be a serious mistake to attempt a spade finesse at trick two. If the queen lost to the king and North led another trump, you'd eventually go down one, losing a club trick as well as the spade trick. The temptation to try a spade finesse should be firmly resisted.

2. By far the best plan is to play the ace of hearts at this point. If the trumps divide 2-2, the slam is certain even if the diamonds break 4-1. You would continue with a diamond to the ace, ruff a diamond, ruff a spade, and then ruff another diamond, establishing dummy's last two diamonds as tricks. At worst, you wind up losing one trick.

Now let's suppose North shows out when you cash the ace of hearts at trick four. In that case you can still make the contract if the diamonds are divided normally, that is, 3-2. Lead a diamond to the ace, ruff a diamond, ruff a spade, and then start running dummy's established diamonds. You lose a trump trick sooner or later to South's king, but that is the only trick you lose.

It would be wrong to attempt a second heart finesse after the first one succeeds, since in the process you would waste a precious entry to dummy which you desperately need to establish the diamond suit. The contract would become unmanageable if it turned out that South started with three hearts to the king, and you would ultimately find yourself going down in a slam you could have made.

Leo's: It's Now Twice As Nice

These days, it's rare to see a restaurant stay "hot" for too long. The competition's too great, the dining public's tastes too fickle, the economy too unsure.

That's why, the story of Leo's is one of impressive success.

Leo's of Garden City has been in business since 1942 and the Faulk brothers, James and Philip, have been its stewards for 20 years this summer. And, they've taken their record of success to West Hempstead with the opening of Leo's II, 1 1/2 years ago.

The Faulks know what makes a restaurant a home away from home for its diners. They serve up the classics with hearty helpings, smiling service and good-to-your-wallet prices.

At Leo's, you'll find only the old-fashioned favorites, the entrees that you really like to eat, not those fad foods that nobody enjoys.

To begin your meal at Leo's, don't pass up Leo's Famous Chili. Served in a cup ($3) or bowl ($3.95), it's some of the best chili north of Texas. Other appetizers include French Onion Soup ($3.25), Buffalo Wings ($4.95) and the Nacho Grande Platter, served with chili, onions, tomato, lettuce, melted cheese, jalapeno peppers and black olives all for $5.95.

For your main course, choose from a mouth-watering selection of salads, sandwiches, burgers, grill options and house specials.

Sandwiches at Leo's are big and hearty and feature all your favorites. Hot open sandwiches with turkey or roast beef include mashed potato and the vegetable of the day for $5.95. Leo's club sandwiches are classics, too, at the same price.

Of course, you haven't really eaten at Leo's until you've had Leo's Famous Bacon Cheeseburger. The 6 ounce burger is char-broiled to your taste and topped with your choice of American, Swiss, cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese ($4.25). With french fries, the burger is still only $5.

Another specialty at Leo's is the Knockwurst Bratwurst Platter. You get both or just one of your choosing served with mashed potato and sauerkraut for $6.95.

Steak Tid Bits Mona Lisa Style are rapidly becoming an old favorite at Leo's, thanks to the tender steak on mozzarella smothered garlic bread and french fries ($7.95).

The house specials are a delightful mix. First, there's Calves Liver Sautéed With Fried Onions and Bacon ($7.95). Few can resist Leo's Shepherd's Pie ($6.50), prepared just like they do in the old country.

How about some Chicken Pot Pie ($5.95) from Chief Lewis' family recipe that stands the test of time or Cincinnati Chili Dogs ($6.50) served on a roll with chili, chopped onions and cheese?

Ready for the really good news? Lobsters are back at Leo's. A one-pound lobster, cooked to order and served with fries and coleslaw, is just $9.95.

Leo's is open for lunch and dinner as well as for Sunday brunch. Senior citizens enjoy discounts while lunching at Leo's.

Leo's is located at 190 Seventh Street in Garden City (742-0574). Leo's II is located at 141 Hempstead Turnpike, West Hempstead, in the Shoppers Village Complex (538-3102).

Make sure to visit one of the Leo's very soon.

Women To Run With It In July

Runners from Hicksville are invited to participate in the ninth annual Long Island Summer 5 Kilometer Women's Championship Run, to be held on the roads of the nearby communities of Jericho and Brookville on Saturday morning, July 4.

The run, which will be open to women of all ages and abilities, will be conducted by the Plainview-Old Bethpage Road Runners Club with the technical assistance of Finish Line Promotions of Port Washington. The start and finish will be at Jericho High School, and the starting gun will go off promptly at 9 a.m.

The accompanying 5 kilometer racewalk will start at 9:05 a.m. Both events will be preceded by a "Little Women's 1/4 mile Fun Run" for future Olympians under 12 years old, starting at 8:20 a.m.

"The first eight annual Women's Runs held were even bigger and better than we could possibly have hoped for," observed Plainview-Old Bethpage R.R.C.'s Barry Saltsberg, who will serve as director of the run once again this year. "It's obvious that there is a real demand for a major women's road race here on Long Island. We expect to stage another first class race this year, a race that will attract both top flight women racers and—more to the point—the average back-of-the-pack recreational runner. It should be good fun for every woman who competes, and a real boost for women's running and fitness on Long Island! We're especially pleased to have had such fine support from Hicksville runners in the past. Hicksville twin sisters Ellen and Laura Gluf were among the top Nassau County finishers in 1991 and we hope that these and other Hicksville speedsters will be back in 1992!"

The 1991 edition of the run was won by New Jersey speedster Ann Marie Letko, whose winning time of 15:40 established a new course—and Long Island—women's record for the 5 kilometer distance.

The Jericho/Brookville course provides a dramatic combination of rolling countryside and level straightaways through some of the most pleasant and scenic roads on Long Island. The course is TAC certified and the race is TAC sanctioned, so that personal results may be used as qualifying times for TAC events throughout the country. The race will serve as the 1992 Metropolitan Athletics Congress Women's 5 Kilometer Championship. Time splits are given at every mile mark, and there are three water stations spread throughout the course.

Substantial cash prizes will be awarded to the top five finishers, including a $1000 first prize, plus a $1000 bonus if Ann Marie Letko's course record is broken; $150 will be awarded to the top finisher in each age group.

Both the Racewalk and the "Little Women's Fun Run" are new this year, and race director Saltsberg is excited by the prospect of these new facets to the event. "We certainly hope that women who don't run will walk the event, and we are anxious to get young girls started on the right path towards a lifetime of healthy exercise!"

Every competitor will take home a commemorative shirt especially designed for women, and other extras. There will be a giant post-race merchandise give-away.

There will be a team competition once again this year, with special awards to each of the top three teams of four women per team.

The entry fee has once again been set at $9 for those who pre-register and $10 for those who register the day of the race.

The 1992 edition of the run will be sponsored by the Chase Manhattan Bank, East Hills Chevrolet, and Chrysler-Plymouth, The Runners Edge of Farmingdale, Entenmann's and the Long Island Savings Bank.

For applications or more information, contact Race Director Barry Saltsberg at (212)264-7991 or POBRRR President Mike Polansky at (516)433-0919.

The pitching of Kyle Ryback, Dave Ruderfer, and Amar Agha shut down the Red Sox attack. Dave Ruderfer and Amar Agha supplied the key hits. Strong all around play by Marc Ferguson, Bryan Sarandrea, Jason Graf, Christian Serpico, Justin Roestenberg, Michael Weber, and Louie Pinto kept the Yankees undefeated.

The offense was led by Kyle, Amar Agha, Bryan Sarandrea, George Niesuchowski, and Justin Roestenberg. Doug Ruderfer, Jason Graf, Christian Serpico, Justin Galacz, Mike Weber, and Louie Pinto played well both offensively and defensively.

Boys Major Division

Wow! The Pirates, managed by Joe Koloski, just couldn't have been better on Saturday against the Cubs. Pitcher Andrew Coppola struck out 11 batters. He was also 3-3 at bat, hitting one single and two solid doubles. Adam Smith slammed a three run homer. Danny Koloski's double drove in two runs and then Danny crossed the plate when Jason Basso connected with the ball for a single. Rightfielder Troy Cabrea-Griffin made a nice catch on a pop that went deep. Shortstop Jamison Lee demonstrated some good fielding, stopping a line drive and throwing hard to first base for the out. A great catch by first baseman Adam Smith ended the fourth. Michael Delaney shot a line drive into the outfield for a double in the fifth inning. The final score was 7-0. A shutout for Andrew Coppola. Go Pirates!

16-17 Year Olds

The HBA 16-17 year old Babe Ruth Team is off to a great start going 4-0 after its last win over Long Beach. These four wins were really a team effort, said coach Mike Famiglietti.

They started the season off against a very strong Bethpage team, winning it by a score of 3-1. Greg Figlia had the win with seven strikeouts on the night. Jimmy Moeller had the game winning RBI with a double in the second scoring Chris Benes, who was two for two on the day. Josh Dansforth had a two out single in the fifth to score the insurance run.

After some bad weather the boys continued on to defeat Syoset in both games of a double header on June 7 at Wantagh Park. Pitchers Adam Grecco and Shennen Maceo each collected a win for the night with seven strikeouts for Grecco and eleven for Shennen. The great fielding performance of Michael Famiglietti, Richy Woodworth and Bob Jordon helped to bring about both wins. Coach Dan Rehman said that Steve DiGirolamo did a good job in left field and made a nice play backing up third.

The win over Long Beach was tough, but Mike Robinson did a fine job of pitching, a new position to him. Good hitting by Bob Wernon, who was two for three on the night and a strong double in the sixth by John Davidson helped cement the win.

Pitching coach Danny Rehman said that pitcher Scott Dorsey has figured in three of the four wins so far with three saves. Keep up the good work Scott.
