Schools Open: Teachers And Students Ready

The first day of classes starts on Wednesday, Sept. 9 in all Hicksville Schools.

Orientation days for new teachers was held on Sept. 3 and a teacher's conference day was held on Sept. 8. The ninth grade orientation and middle school orientation took place on Sept. 2.

The school hours in the district vary according to grade. The elementary schools begin at 9 a.m. and let out at 3:30 p.m. The Middle School day starts at 8:11 a.m. and runs until 2:41 p.m. The High School begins at 7:51 a.m. and ends at 2:17 p.m.

Hicksville Public School calendars and parents guides were mailed out and all residents should have received one. It contains important district telephone numbers and the names of the building principals and administrators. The calendar part also lists many of the meeting dates and times of school organizations and programs.

Important dates not on the calendar are special meeting dates of the board of education. On Sept. 10 there will be a work meeting. Committee meetings will be held on Sept. 15; and on Sept. 16 a public forum on school closing.

Brigandi Voted To Water Post

By John W. Garger

Nicholas J. Brigandi was elected to serve another three year term as a water commissioner of the Hicksville Water District.

The election took place on Monday, Aug. 31 at the Hicksville Fire Department's main fire house. Brigandi, who ran uncontested, received 191 votes.

Brigandi, an active member of the American Water Works Association and the Long Island Water Conference, will be serving his fifth term as water commissioner. Brigandi has been a member of the Fire Department for 33 years, and is also a member of the Hicksville Community Council and the Knights of Columbus.

Brigandi counts as his accomplishments as water commissioner fighting to maintain homerule, lobbying to defeat the water tax, and pushing for required testing of bottled water and water vending machines.

Brigandi remains on a team of water commissioners, Gilbert E. Cusick and Richard A. Humann being the others, that have followed state and federal legislation that would affect the Hicksville district. They review legislation, form a position on the issue, and contact legislators with their input. In recent years they have been mailing district residents the Water Gram which keeps them up to date with local water issues.

The Hicksville Water District was established in 1921, by area residents who felt that the private water company was not adequately servicing their needs. Since then the district has prospered. The Hicksville Water District has set up water treatment facilities without either federal or state aid, and without bonded indebtedness.

Brigandi commented that he will continue to be available to answer residents' questions about their water supply.

Redistricting Changes Hicksville's Lines

By John W. Garger

Come voting time, many Hicksville residents will find that they are in a new assembly, senatorial, and congressional district. Although people's districts have changed, the result should be less confusion.

Congressional District

Hicksville was previously in the fourth congressional district. By reapportionment the fourth district became the third, which entirely encompasses Hicksville. Currently serving in what was the fourth is Congressman Norman F. Lent, who had announced his retirement earlier this year. Nassau County Comptroller Peter T. King has been nominated by the Republicans to run for his seat. King, the comptroller for 11 years, was a Hempstead Town Councilman previously. He has also been endorsed by the Nassau Conservative Party.

On the democratic ticket Steve Orlins will run. Orlins, a Manhasset resident, is the senior vice president of Shearson Lehman Brothers. A Harvard graduate, Orlins believes his policies can make a difference. "The number of people I met in Hicksville who tell me about unemployment is shocking. When the federal government adopts the policies I am proposing, we'll regain our international competitiveness and return jobs to Hicksville, Bethpage, and the rest of Long Island."

Assembly District

As the lines were redrawn for the assembly districts, Hicksville was put completely into the 14th assembly district. Previously, northern and western parts of Hicksville were included in the 13th assembly district.

Looking to hold on to his seat in the 14th is Assemblyman Frederick E. Parola. A member of the assembly since 1978, Parola presently serves on the following committees: education, environmental conservation, election law, and the legislative commission on water resource needs of Long Island. He is also the leader of the Nassau County Republican Assembly Delegation and the Assistant Minority Leader.

Running to unseat Parola is Carol Reden. She will be running on the democratic line. Reden is a lifelong Hicksville resident. As an attorney she believes, "It is time for a change, I can bring a new, healthy perspective to the assembly."

Senatorial Districts

The senatorial district reapportionment has had the greatest effect on Hicksville. Senate Majority leader Ralph J. Marino's district loses part of Hicksville. Marino, a Republican, represents the 5th senatorial district. He is the first Long Islander in the history of New York State to achieve the position of majority leader. He lists among his accomplishments his lead in the fight to preserve state aid to Long Island school districts, prevent a Long Island commuter tax from being imposed, and to ensure health insurance availability throughout the state.

Running against Marino is Suffolk County Legislator James Gaughan, a Democrat from Huntington. Gaughan declared that his candidacy for state senator will be a referendum against the failed economic and environmental problems of the state. "Our state legislature has lost touch with the problems of Long Island," said Gaughan.

The 6th senatorial district encompasses the most southern section of Hicksville, bordering on Levittown. It is currently represented by Senator Kemp Hannon. Hannon will be opposed by Democratic candidate Barbara Amster.

In the 7th senatorial district Senator Michael Tully will oppose the winner of the Democratic primary between John Handler and Michael Siris. The 7th includes the southwest portion of Hicksville, with a general cutoff of Route 107.

Residents should refer to their voter registration card which is mailed to all registered voters. It will list on the front the assembly district, election district, senatorial district, and congressional district, and your local polling place.

For residents who are registered and have not received their card or for those who would like a voter registration form, they can call the Board of Elections at 535-2411. The last day of registration is Friday, Oct. 9 if hand delivered or Saturday, Oct. 10 if mailed and postmarked by Oct. 9.

Looking At Government Spending And Waste

Economic Times Opens Government Wallets And Course Of Spending

In an era where taxpayers are being asked to stretch the dollar in order to accommodate rising costs, they are becoming more and more frustrated with higher property, school, and sales tax. With the nation's population cutting from their lifestyles, how freely is the government opening its wallet in this time of restraint?

But an Economic Times inside look into wasteful government spending will answer your questions on local, state, and federal levels. What is being done about wasteful spending; what is not being done and should.

In this upcoming issue the Economic Times will introduce readers to Ray Keating, executive director of Citizens for a Sound Economy. An in-depth interview will provide a sense of the group's efforts in creating a strong economy.

And while some businesses are feeling the full extent of a recession by closing its doors and declaring bankruptcy, there are others who are able to overcome financial difficulties and continue to conduct "business as usual." This issue continues the Economic Times' new feature: "Success Stories." This week discover the secrets of Nationwide

Cellular of Valley Stream

There will also be an article on LI Tax Pacts and nonprofit organizations. We often hear about them and their causes, but what influence do they really have when a controversial decision must be made? The Economic Times attempts to find out.

In addition, its pages will carry items such as small business strategies, focus on a plan for organic waste plants, a market analysis, legal affairs, letters to the editor, and a look at how Long Island tourism was over the summer.

And while the market is not as productive in the States, Economic Times will bring its readers to Latin America to try and discover the reason for Latin America's emerging market.

If you are interested in making a point about an article read or issue that needs to be covered, letters are welcomed by the Economic Times. Correspondence to the business publication should be sent to 135 Liberty Avenue, Mineola, NY, 11501.

NEWSBRIEFS

Planning Advisory Board Hicksville Sites On Agenda

The Town of Oyster Bay Planning Advisory Board has scheduled a meeting for Wednesday, Sept. 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the hearing room of Town Hall East on Audrey Ave. in Oyster Bay.

On the agenda are two Hicksville sites: Grand Prix Auto Leasing, Ltd., Old Country Rd. and Railroad Ln. in the G-1 central business district for proposed auto sales building; and Trade and Salvage, 45 West John Street, G-1 central business district for a proposed two-story commercial addition.

Library Board To Meet

The Hicksville Library Board of trustees will hold a special meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 22 at 8 p.m. in the Local History Room of the library.

Distribution Systems Moves To Hicksville

In a major expansion move, Distribution Systems of America, a division of Newsday, has leased the entire 25,850 square foot building at 500 West John St. in Hicksville that was developed by Spiegel Associates.

Distribution Systems, which distributes newspapers and circulars, is using its new facility at 500 West John Street for office, warehouse, and distribution space. The company was previously housed in 12,000 square feet of space in Garden City Park.

For over 40 years, Spiegel Associates has built and maintained a diversified portfolio of shopping centers, freestanding retail buildings, apartments, office buildings, and research and development facilities, and manufacturing and warehouse properties.

Chamber Installation

The Hicksville Chamber of Commerce will hold its Installation Dinner on Tuesday, Sept. 15, starting at 6:30 p.m. at Anton's. All members are encouraged to attend. The evening will consist of the regular monthly meeting for September and exciting entertainment and fine food. The "New Orleans Jazz Band" will perform authentic early American jazz music in full costume. A professional DJ/MC will alternate and play everybody's favorite dance music.

For information or tickets call the Chamber office at 931-7170 (noon to 2 p.m. Monday through Thursday) or Ivan Czippott at 433-1380 (9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays).

Check List Is Available For Choosing Child Care

For employed parents, finding good child care is a formidable task. They wonder if child care is good or bad for children and worry about the quality of care in different settings.

Choosing child care is a very personal decision and will reflect your needs and values. Still, there are certain characteristics that distinguish quality care from poor care.

To help parents understand the features of quality care in day care centers and family day care homes, Cornell Cooperative Extension of Nassau County put together an informational packet which includes check lists for evaluating child care in different settings.

To receive your packet, send a check, payable to Cornell Cooperative Extension of NC, for $2 to: Choosing Quality Child Care Bulletins, 1425 Old Country Rd., Building J, Plainview, NY 11803-5015.

Behind The Scenes Of The Band

By Marcia Gunnigle

As I write this article I am watching the Hicksville High School Marching Band practicing their music and drill work for the upcoming band season. It is the first clear Saturday in many weeks, but rather than being at the beach or pools, these dedicated young people are putting in a five hour practice so they will be ready for their first show on Sept. 20, at Copiague High School.

But wait, let's go back several weeks to the morning of Aug. 16. That is when three buses, loaded with students, staff, and chaperones, left for Band Clinic at East Stroudsburg University in Pennsylvania. When asked why he thought Band Clinic was important, Drum Major John Flynn said, "Band Clinic helps students and staff better appreciate each other. It is the time when everything comes together." Lauren Giacopino, also a drum major, added that "the students feel lucky to have such a dedicated staff. Band Clinic affords the opportunity to bring the band and the staff together. It also bridges the gap between the upper and lower classmen."

Catie Giannikis, a freshman, said, "I was prepared for the hard work at Band Clinic and the long hours of practice, because my sister Becky, who has been in the guard for the last two years told me all about it, but I was surprised at how nice the older band members were to me." Diana DePalma, Band Parents Association president, explained how fortunate we are to be able to hold Band Clinic at East Stroudsburg University. They have many practice fields and indoor facilities that the band is allowed to use. Even though six other bands were in attendance and there were several days of rain, the university was able to accommodate all of the bands in their indoor practice fields as well as the many outdoor fields.

Tom Carolyn, senior and clarinet section leader, told me that this was the best and most productive year ever. He said the food was great and the staff and the students were positive.

Everyone agreed that the music and drills are difficult, and the hours of practice are long, but the final result of exciting and inspiring performances will make it all worth while. Lauren and John related to me that a rehearsal was held in early August for the freshman students only. They were taught marching skills and were helped with the music so that they wouldn't be overwhelmed when they arrived at Band Clinic. Practices at Band Clinic were 8½ hours long. Of course there were breaks for water, lunch, dinner, and a little rest and relaxation. This was my daughter Vickie's fourth year at Band Clinic, and she said that this year's music is the best they have played, especially since it was familiar to everyone and was music that the audience will be able to really get into. She agrees with Lauren that the "drills are more challenging than difficult." Everyone I spoke to agreed that with the support they feel from the parents, the excellent drill work (written by Mark Sylvester, one of the best in the country), a hard working and dedicated staff, and the hours of practice on Tuesday and at Band Clinic, that this year's program will be the best Long Island has ever seen.

Lauren Giacopino explained that the Marching Band is important to her because the long hours of practice and the performances during competition give the students an overall sense of identity. It teaches responsibility, commitment, concentration, and

Hicksville's Day In The Spotlight

By John W. Garger

On Superbowl Sunday at least one block in Hicksville will be paying more attention to the commercials than to the football game. That is because two houses on Lee Ave. were recently used for the filming of a car commercial.

The Menig's house on Lee Ave. and their neighbor's house were used by a production company to shoot a Chevy Camaro commercial that will air during the super bowl.

John Menig still does not understand why they picked his house, a brown cedar shingled cape with a bay window and impeccably kept lawns and bushes. "Why they picked my house I don't know. I guess they were looking for a certain look, evidently my house had it," said Menig. The shooting took one whole day and the actors and staff were all very considerate according to Menig. It was an experience he will not forget.

It started out with a letter that was mailed to Lee Ave. homes. But Menig did not believe the letter was for real. Thinking it was a hoax he threw it away. About a week later he was approached by two women who asked why he did not respond to the letter. They said that they narrowed their search to a few houses and his was one they were considering. They toured his yard and a few days later called him with an offer.

Menig, a retired New York City Police Officer, had seen many commercial shoots in the city and decided that it would be interesting to see it up close. The production company asked if they could make his house their headquarters, since they were also using his neighbor's front lawn for part of the commercial. They used his garage as a wardrobe closet, his bathroom and basement as changing rooms, part of his backyard as the makeup area, and the rest of it as a lounge and eating area. They also used Menig's phone and electricity.

Menig didn't mind all the activity and 28 strangers using his property. He and his wife,

Hicksvilleite Brings Home The Bronze

Hicksville's own "toughest cop" Chris Karrmann competed in the International Law Enforcement Olympics at the FBI training headquarters outside Washington DC on Aug. 7.

Competitors came from all around the United States and Canada, and as far away as Sweden.

The competition consisted of eight grueling events taking place in one day. The events included the 5K run, shot put, 100 yard swim, pull ups, bench press, rope climb, and the "killer" obstacle course. Chris made his family and friends very proud, coming home with the bronze medal.

Present at the event were Chris's wife Muriel and daughter's Jen and Beth. They along with his neighbor's the Scully's were there to cheer him along. Be sure to wave to Chris as you see him jogging through the streets of Hicksville preparing for next year's competition in Colorado Springs.

CHILDREN ENTERING kindergarten were taught school bus safety at East Street School on Sept. 1. They also took their first school bus ride.

Children Learn That Safety Comes First

On Tuesday, Sept. 1, 1992 East Street Elementary School held its Kindergarten Bus Orientation. All children entering Kindergarten for the 1992-93 school year were invited along with their parents to see a film on bus transportation safety and to listen to the head of Hicksville Public School's transportation department, Ms. Doris Carter. They also had an opportunity to ask her questions on bus safety.

Before the end of the day all of the new students took their first school bus ride.

POLICE REPORT

Teens Arrested

Three teens were arrested for using a "B-B" gun to shoot out windows of cars travelling on the Northern State Parkway.

New York State Troopers arrested three 14-year-old Hicksville youths on criminal mischief 4th degree charges on Sept. 1 after three motorists travelling westbound on the Northern State Parkway, east of the North Broadway exit, had windows in their vehicles shot out during a period from about 1:40 to 2:15 p.m. The third vehicle struck, a 1992 Jeep owned by a construction company and operated by company employees, was enroute to a construction site trailer on Rt. 107.

The driver and passenger in the Jeep pulled onto the parkway shoulder immediately after the Jeeps windshield was struck and cracked. Upon exiting their vehicle they saw three teenagers jump from a tree and run. The men gave chase and caught the youths on Morris Dr. in Locust Grove, just south of the parkway. Recovered at the scene by the Nassau County Police was a Daisy Model 93 BB Gun, a case of bb's and four CO<sub>2</sub> gas cartridges. One youth was additionally charged with unlawful possession of a weapon having been observed discarding the BB gun while being chased.

The three juveniles were released to relatives and are to appear later this month in Nassau County Family Court.

Arson Arrest

A Plainview man was arrested by Nassau County Police on Aug. 21 for 3rd degree arson. He allegedly set a 1986 Chevrolet automobile on fire.

Hicksville GOP Completes Petition Drive

Hicksville. Certain areas currently represented by Mr. Marino will become parts of the 6th and 7th senatorial districts, now represented by Senators Kemp Hannon and Michael Tully. Senator Tully's 7th district will include the southwest portion of Hicksville, generally south of Old Country Rd. Senator Hannon's 6th district will straddle the Levittown border in the neighborhood south of Holy Trinity High School. The remaining areas of Hicksville will stay in Senator Marino's district.

The United States Congressional 4th District from New York will become the 3rd district. The district will continue to encompass Hicksville. With the announced retirement of Congressman Norman F. Lent, petitions were circulated to place Nassau County Comptroller Peter T. King on the ballot to become your next congressman.

During the summer, the Hicksville

Republican Committee circulated nominating petitions for candidates seeking elective office in November. The committee wishes to express its thanks and appreciation to the nearly three thousand Hicksville registered Republicans who signed the petitions.

Due to the reapportionment of legislative districts statewide many constituents may find different lawmakers as their representatives. This fact holds true in Hicksville. The names of candidates listed on the circulated petitions reflect the changes.

New York State Assemblyman Frederick Parola has had his 14th assembly district moved northward and, with your support, will now represent the entire 11801 postal area.

New York Senate majority Leader Ralph J. Marino will have the 5th senatorial district, which he represents, less a portion of self-respect. John Flynn explained that the seniors in this year's band are very close knit and feel a special bond. When they came into the band, four years ago, they brought 47 musicians into the program, changing status of the band from a group III to a group IV band, thus enabling them to do a more difficult and elaborate program.

There are 125 students in this year's Marching Band. Twenty-four make up the color guard. Mike Marchena, guard captain, said that this year's guard is the best ever. He feels the freshmen are terrific, the drills are exotic, the new flags are amazing, and he expects to have the best season ever. Karen Nilsen, guard instructor, said that "between the music drill and guard work, the band as a whole will combine to achieve the level of excellence they have in the past." Mark Nilsen, drum line instructor, who is new to this year's staff, said, "The drum line is swiftly becoming a top rate line even though the drill is more challenging than in years before."

It is now 3:15 p.m. The rehearsal is ending and Mr. McRoy, band director, is giving the students his usual wrap-up of the day's achievements. He is telling them of all upcoming events. He thanks them for their hard work, but reminds them of the work that still remains.

So much is written about the crime and drug use of the nation's youth. I have been involved with the Hicksville High School for four years now, and I am so proud to know that right here in Hicksville, we have dedicated, hard-working, and talented young people; who will be contributing to the country and the world their sense of self-worth, pride, and dedication.

Local Honored By Children's House

John Buran of Hicksville and Joan Cable have been selected as co-honorees for the Eighth Annual Children's House Thanksgiving/Holiday Ball at the Garden City Hotel on Dec. 3, 1992.

Buran is vice president and retail banking director of the suburban market for Citibank. He was the fund-raising chairman of the Suffolk County Vietnam Veterans Memorial Commission and was recently appointed to the Private Industry Council of Suffolk County. Buran also is a member of the CW Post Council of Overseers and serves on the board of directors of Children's House.

Cable is president of Lemon Tree, Inc. After purchasing an ailing beauty salon with $2,000 she borrowed from a friend, Cable has built an empire of 70 Lemon Tree hair-cutting franchises with annual sales of $8 million and 1,000 employees. She is the recipient of numerous national, state, and local awards, including the 1991 New York State Small Business Person of the Year. Both honorees were selected because of their support of Children's House and their commitment to helping disadvantaged young people.

Children's House has been helping homeless and abused children for over 100 years, giving them the skills and encouragement they need to develop into productive adults. Last year, nearly 800 youngsters received the care they needed in one of eleven specialized Children's House programs, seven of which are residential. Many of these young people had nowhere else to turn for help.

This year, so that Children's House can reach even more children in need, it is hoped that the 1992 Ball will be the best yet. Tickets are priced at $200 per person and tables of ten sell for $2,000. For further information call 746-0350.

THE LEISURE LINE

Our Wacky World Of Work

By Ed Walsh

There are many ways to make a living. Some, though, you wouldn't want to touch with a 14-foot pole.

For example, how would you like to supervise the new night watchman at the Skansen Zoo aquarium? After $2,000 was stolen in a series of break-ins, an official hired a 14-foot king cobra named "Moonlight." If you get a bite in a sensitive place," reports Jonas Wahlstrom, the cobra's keeper, "you're dead within 15 minutes."

Vacuuming up ants sounds like a saner way to earn your daily bread. That's just what Louise and Sheila Gidney of La Mirinda, California, do. They harvest thousands of red harvester ants daily, sucking them out of ant hills with their vacuum cleaner; they then sell them to companies that sell ant farms. Red ants survive best in captivity.

Frog psychologist Bill Steed would rather talk to his "students" than run panting after red ants. Steed runs Croaker College in Sacramento, California, the only institution of higher learning for frogs. As founder-president and sole faculty, he trains his graduates to be the top competitors in the nation's frog jumping contests. Steed uses hypnosis, plain talk, weightlifting and bubble baths to shape up his athletes. In its seven-year history, Croaker College claimed 200 high-stepping graduates.

Some people, it seems, would wait forever for the right job to open up. Not David Alwidash. He got tired of playing the waiting game, so he created Services Unlimited and hired himself to wait for others. David's customers pay him to wait on lines at the motor vehicle bureau and other businesses to process routine applications. Thanks to people's impatience, business is booming, and Dave plans to expand his services.

Ann Shalla of Hollywood, California, was also in a booming business. TV entertainers hired her to sit in an audience and laugh out loud. Her giggles, chuckles, and guffaws start others laughing too. Ann, who holds the world's record for the longest laugh, (four hours and six minutes), got her job when she auditioned for a show. The director asked her to laugh. She did it so well he paid her to start warming up audiences. "I cracked up one audience so much they didn't know what they were laughing about," said Ann in one of her rare non-giggling moments.

Ever since Fran Griffin of Orlando, Florida, started her shopping service, her financial worries have been over. This mother who turned professional shopper sure doesn't have to shop around for customers. She's been swamped with orders from folks who hate the hassle. One client handed her a list of 18 names and $5,000 to buy Christmas presents. Another had her purchase a pony for her daughter. Fran's fee starts at $30. "The business is going so well that I've had to employ two full-time helpers," she said.

Shoppers looking for a far-out gift are going to keep Nick Nawicki, Jr. of Smithtown, busy shelling out clams. Nick's Pet Clam novelty comes complete with a styrofoam-mattress bed, a leather leash and two plastic eyes. The former clam bar owner says he finally found a use for all those shells.

Michael Chelle helps Hollywood tourists find the resting places of deceased celebrities. The part-time actor hawks maps to guide visitors to the gravesites of film stars. Chelle decided to compile his guide when one day he got lost while seeking the resting place of Marilyn Monroe. No one could help him, so he set about helping himself as well as other lost visitors.

Richard Senac, of New Orleans, set up a service to help those who have a job to keep it. His wake-up business gets workers to their jobs on time. To rouse deep sleepers, Senac will try whatever works: the sound of a 21 gun salute, a subway train roaring through a station, an ocean liner's whistle. One woman wished to be awakened by the sound of her barking dogs.

Former military men suggest the sound of a bugler tooting reveille, while some horse players prefer a trumpeter playing "Post Time." Senac's firm—which he labeled Roosters, Inc.—has gotten many odd requests. One of the oddest came from a husband who wanted a tape recording of his wife telling him to get out of bed. He got the message.

In this topsy-turvy world of wacky work, Richard Senac has one of the oddest jobs on record.

left for the day they cleaned up everything, leaving the place spotless.

They shot the commercial until about 4 p.m., paying special attention to every detail. After each take of people on the lawn, a member of the crew would rake the grass to bring it back up. And the wardrobe person was called in to fix outfits a few times.

One thing Menig thought was strange was that throughout the shooting he didn't see one Camaro, and he doesn't know exactly how the commercial will run from beginning to end. So he, along with the rest of Lee Ave. and Hicksville, will have to watch on Superbowl Sunday to see how it all turned out.

Grandparents' Day, Sept. 13

For those who haven't visited a greeting card store recently, Sunday, Sept. 13 is Grandparents' Day.

As one reader explained: "It is the one day out of the year that grandparents are treated with extra-special care, kindness and love. Yet, it is unfortunate that many of our elderly citizens are not thought about on this special day. This is especially true of those who reside in nursing homes."

The staffs and residents of nursing homes throughout Long Island are making sure that Grandparents' Day is extra-special.

Grandparents' Day is a good time for all of us to reflect on the role of grandparents, the elderly and frail and the healthy and vigorous.

Concerning the latter category, we ought to re-evaluate the role assigned them. Recent attention to the problems associated with childrearing in single-parent families and families where both parents work, should also draw attention to grandparents as a vital resource.

Societies that are successful with children invariably are structured in a way that recognizes that it takes more than one or even two adults to raise a child. Several adult figures, especially grandparents, are needed as role models and should play a crucial role in bringing up children.

But for grandparents to be respected as role-models, society has to respect them also. That is why our society should very carefully evaluate the role it has assigned to its healthy elderly population. We would like to see more of our senior citizens being utilized in governmental and non-profit agencies that could benefit from their wisdom and experience.

We'd love to hear more grandchildren exclaim, "Grandpa, grandma, we saw your picture in the newspaper!"

A Letter from Lulubelle...

...Have you seen a report card lately? . . . There are as many kinds of report cards as there are schools-and each one is trying to give to the parents a picture of the child's progress in school . . . but it's all soooooo different. . . . Do you remember your report card-and if you are from my era, your card was a white form with the subjects-arithmetic, history, writing, reading, and many others, including surprisingly, deportment-and each five or six weeks, depending on your school's schedule, the teacher wrote a number-hopefully 90 or 95 (and if it happened to be below 75 it was written, shamefully, in red!!!) and this was the average of all your work for that period. . . . And on the back there was a place for your parent to sign that he had seen the card-and woe unto you if you did not get it back to school on time! . . . Such is not the case today-the card is most often a computer printout. . . . Marks are never numbers or even letters-they are now something like "average" or "does not work up to his ability" or some such kind of mark and then the teachers have parent conferences to explain what the cards mean-Believe me, I'm not criticizing either cards or conferences, just commenting. . . . It is said that these cards are not as "ego-shattering" to kids who are not performing well and I certainly believe in helping kids to adjust to their world. . . . It's just that, as a grandma, when I ask the kids, "How was your report card?", and they say, "Oh, I got three averages and one above", it's hard to know how they're doing.

Yours, Lulubelle

The Decision Making Process

To the Members of the Hicksville School Board:

After attending the Aug. 19 board meeting, I remain concerned with the methods you appear to be using to arrive at a resolution of the Elementary School Redistricting (aka school closing) issue. By eliminating certain schools from consideration and by placing restrictions on the redistricting of others you have effectively removed any impartiality from your decision making process. Only by evaluating all seven elementary schools against a standard set of criteria will you be able to render a decision on this issue which both you and the community can and will accept.

The view of the board's deliberations to date is that you appear to be making a difficult decision all the more difficult by your apparent haphazard approach to the decision making process. On Aug. 5 you each listed criteria, on Aug. 19 those criteria were barely discussed and were listed in what amounts to a tally of how they were presented on Aug. 5. On Aug. 5 you each listed schools you would not close (a mistake). On Aug. 19 (some of) you listed the pros and cons of closing Dutch, OCR, Fork, and East (in effect another set of criteria). Somehow we get the impression that you are trying very hard to justify a decision already made.

I would like to suggest that you revise your approach and adopt a procedure similar to the following:

1. Before discussing specific school buildings, establish the criteria to be applied in evaluating each school with regard to the removal of the K-5 program (closing).

2. Instead of evaluating each building separately, evaluate each criterion individually as it applies to each of the seven elementary school buildings. For example, don't look at one school with regard to all of the criteria, then another school, etc., instead look at criterion number one for each school, then criterion number two for each school and so on. Decide on a rating system, 1-10 or whatever, agree on what the numbers mean, and give each building a rating for each criterion.

3. If there are any special considerations to be made with regard to one building, then those considerations should become part of the criteria for evaluating all of the buildings.

4. When all criteria have been evaluated with regard to all seven schools, the sum of the ratings for all of the criteria for each school will become the overall rating for that school.

Such a procedure will produce a "rating" of each of the seven buildings which will clearly indicate which is the best choice for closing. If such a procedure is correctly followed it is likely that your decision will be more widely accepted by the community, and it will be much easier for you as board members to defend as being the right choice.

The concept of maintaining an even distribution of schools north and south of Old Country Road was mentioned at the Aug. 19 meeting. This concept is based on the assumption that Hicksville's population is uniformly distributed north and south of Old Country Road. In fact, the population distribution of Hicksville is closer to 40 percent north and 60 percent south of Old Country Road. An even distribution of buildings is therefore not representative of the community.

I find the board's continued failure to recognize the danger of moving the K-5 program out of Dutch Lane to be particularly disturbing. Many of us in the community feel that once closed to K-5, the next step (in a few years) will be a proposal to sell the property. With 18.5 acres of land, access from four directions, only one abutting residential property, and potential future access to Wantagh Parkway at Stewart Avenue, the sale of the Dutch Lane site could prove quite attractive to a commercial developer and a disaster to southwest Hicksville. In the past you have expressed concern with regard to potential commercial development of the Old Country Road and the Burns Avenue school sites, why don't you show the same concern for the Dutch Lane site and its surrounding community?

Your pre-occupation with the Special Ed Pre-K program—its costs, its needs, and its potential "profit" leads this community to feel that you are more concerned with that program than you are with the educational needs of the K-5 program. At the Aug. 19 meeting, the board's response to a question regarding the Special-Ed Pre-K program gave the impression that Hicksville was required by the state to maintain such a program. It is my understanding that if Hicksville had no such program, then Hicksville's SEPK students would attend a program elsewhere with all costs still borne by the state and county. Is it not true that providing an in-house Special Ed Pre-K program is essentially optional? Please get your priorities in order.

Also at the Aug. 19 board meeting I made the point that the cost of moving the SEPK program would be more than offset by the savings of closing a school building. I was told that if the program was moved that the new site would have to be re-certified and the funding could be "different." How "different"? Does the funding pay for the program or doesn't it?

The alternate uses proposed for the closed school building (Special Ed Pre-K, second half day kindergarten, pre-school/day care, etc.) are intended to serve the entire Hicksville community. Does it make sense to house such programs in a corner of the community? Look where our library, middle school, and high school are all located—all very near the center of Hicksville.

North Shore Hospital

Opens New Childbirth Suite

Beginning this Labor Day, pregnant women who are considered low-risk can choose to deliver their babies in one of two new LDRP (Labor-Delivery-Recovery-Postpartum) suites at North Shore University Hospital at Glen Cove. The LDRP, a unique new concept in childbirth, allows the mother to spend her entire hospital stay in a comfortably furnished, brightly decorated suite. In traditional childbirth, the woman is moved to separate rooms for each phase of the process — labor, delivery, recovery, and the postpartum hospital stay.

"We are extremely excited to be able to offer women this option for the birth of their babies," said Arnold Fenton, M.D., Chairman of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology for the North Shore Hospital network. "At North Shore at Glen Cove, women can have the best of both worlds — a low-key, relaxed, and supportive atmosphere, backed up by sophisticated medical expertise and all the necessary technology to insure a safe childbirth experience."

Extra amenities have been included to make the suites more comfortable for both the new mother and her family. Emphasis has been placed on allowing childbirth to be a family-centered experience, therefore the mother may choose to invite members of her family, in addition to her husband or labor coach, to be present for the delivery if she chooses. After delivery, the infant is not transported to the nursery, but remains in the suite. The new father may spend the night on a convertible couch in the suite, sharing the first precious hours of new parenthood with his wife and baby.

Other amenities include a gourmet menu for every meal, as well as a complimentary champagne dinner to help the new parents celebrate. The morning newspaper is delivered each day with breakfast. Late night snacks are available in the fully stocked refrigerator that is provided for each suite.

North Shore University Hospital at Glen Cove's LDRP suites are staffed by Board-certified obstetricians, certified nurse-midwives, and experienced obstetrical nurses who have undergone additional training in caring for the newborn. Round-the-clock coverage by a Board-certified anesthesiologist is provided, and neonatologists, specialists in the care of sick or premature newborns, are also on staff.

Women who deliver in the LDRP may return home as soon as they are able, usually within 12-48 hours after their baby's delivery. The hospital's Labor and Delivery nurses are available to discuss the new suites, provide tours to interested women, and make referrals to obstetricians and certified nurse-midwives who can provide additional information about this option for childbirth. They can be reached at (516) 676-5000, extension 2510.

Brooks Pharmacy Offers A Sweet Deal

In an effort to help children with Muscular Dystrophy, Brooks Pharmacy is collecting M&M Mars candy wrappers. M&M Mars, one of the world's largest candy manufacturers, is currently running a promotion that gives consumers an opportunity to get five cents back via mail for each returned M&M Mars wrapper. Brooks Pharmacy, however, plans to collect the wrappers from customers, and then to match each donation, up to 100,000 wrappers. In monetary terms, this translates into a Brooks gift of up to $5,000, and a total gift of up to $10,000. The money will be given to the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon, where it will then be used to help children with the disease.

The idea to expand upon the M&M Mars promotion can be attributed to David Morocco, Brooks Pharmacy's Vice President of Marketing. Morocco feels that, "It is important for companies such as Brooks to become involved in community and civic affairs, and to make an effort to give something back to those who support us. Using a national promotion seemed to be an ideal way for us to contribute to a very worthy cause."

If you're a candy lover who would like to help, just bring all your M&M Mars wrappers to a Brooks store near you, and drop them off in the special donation bins. Bins have been set up at all Brooks locations, and donations will be accepted now through Sept. 26.

Ten Free Trees

Ten free trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during September 1992.

The free trees are part of the non profit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The 10 trees are the Sugar Maple, White Flowering Dogwood, Pin Oak, White Pine, Red Maple, Birch, American Redbud, Silver Maple, Red Oak, and Colorado Blue Spruce.

"These trees were selected to provide benefits every season of the year: lovely spring flowers, cool summer shade, spectacular autumn colors, and winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said.

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between Oct. 15 and Dec. 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's news magazine, Arbor Day, which includes regular features about tree planting and care.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to Ten Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by Sept. 30, 1992.

Macy's To Host Benefit Shopping Day

Macy's announced today that on Wednesday, Oct. 14, Macy's Roosevelt Field will host "Cause for Celebration" — a private day of fashion, fun and food, all for the benefit of local charities and civic organizations in the Nassau County area. This exciting and unique fund-raising opportunity continues Macy's century-long tradition of community involvement.

Macy's is working with 43 participating organizations to sell admission tickets for $5. All ticket proceeds, plus a Macy's donation of $3 for each ticket turned in by ticket holders that day, will go to the individual charities. In addition, Macy's will award bonus contributions of $5,000, $3,000 and $2,000 to the three groups that bring in the greatest number of ticket holders the day of the event.

In-store entertainment throughout the day will include celebrity personal appearances, musical and dance performances, costume characters, celebrity cooking demonstrations and more. Each guest will also receive discount coupons for purchases made the day of the event. In addition, shoppers will be eligible to win fabulous prizes, including an exciting holiday vacation.

Hours for "Cause for Celebration" at Macy's Roosevelt Field are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Tickets are available through the 43 participating organizations and at Macy's Roosevelt Field. For further information, please call (516) 746-2250.

| ADD                               |        |      |     |

Food Stamp/AFDC/ADC Households: Households currently receiving food stamps or "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" or "Aid to Dependent Children" only have to list their child's name and food stamp or AFDC or ADC case number, print their name and address and sign the application. Separate applications are required for children in the same household with different case numbers. If the family does not list a food stamp, AFDC or ADC case number for all the children they are applying for, then the application must contain all the information as required for "other households" as described below.

Other Households: Households: With incomes at or below the amount of money listed above for their family size may be eligible for and are urged to apply for free milk and lunch. They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home with a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year to the Building Principal.

If a family member becomes unemployed, if the family size decreases, or if your family income increases by more than $50 per month, or $600 per year, the family must contact the school to file a new application. The form requests information needed to determine economic need based on the income and number of persons in the family. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

The school district does have the right to verify at any time during the school year the information on the application. If a parent does not give the school this information, the child/children will no longer be able to receive free milk or lunch.

In certain cases, foster children may also be eligible for these benefits. A family may wish to apply for milk and lunch for them and should contact the school.

Under the provisions of the policy, the designated official will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the designated official, he/she may make a request either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision. The Assistant Superintendent for Business Management, whose address is Division Ave., Hicksville, NY 11801, has been designated as the Hearing Official. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy. However, prior to initiating the hearing procedure, the parent or School Food Authority may request a conference to provide an opportunity for the parent and school district to discuss the situation, present information, and obtain an explanation of the data submitted in the application or the decisions rendered. The request for a conference shall not in any way prejudice or diminish the right to a fair hearing.

All questions on the application must be answered completely for the application to be considered by the school district for approval. This includes complete and accurate information regarding: the Food Stamp/AFDC or ADC case number; the names of all household members; the social security numbers of all adult household members or an indication that an adult does not have one; and the amount and source of income received by each household member. In addition, the parent or guardian must sign the application form, certifying the information is true and correct.

In the operation of Child Nutrition Programs, no child shall be discriminated against because of his race, sex, color, national origin, age or handicap. If any members of a household believe they have been discriminated against, they should write to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, DC 20250.

A complete copy of this policy is on file in the Principal's Office in each of the schools and in the office of the School Food Authority District Administrator where it may be reviewed by any interested persons.

State Bank Of LI Helps Victims

By Margaret Whitley

State Bank of Long Island, under the direction of the chairman of the board Thomas Goldrick, will hold an intensive food and light clothing drive in each of its branches to aid the victims of the hurricane ravaged areas of south Florida.

The idea was conceived by the bank and its personnel because so many people on Long Island are personally touched by the storm, either with family members in the area, or by owning a home of their own in South Florida.

The bank contacted the Red Cross and has coordinated efforts with them as well as with a bank in Homestead, The Community Bank Of Homestead, so that they will have a contact point in the area.

The feeling of the bank is that they want to have a "community bank" helping another "community bank."

The drive will be held through Sept. 9 at each branch between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Anyone wishing to help out the many people in Florida who have been left homeless, are urged to bring canned goods to the bank; preferably fruit and anything that might be eaten without heating, since south Florida residents do not have any electricity or any water, and the prediction is that they will not have it back for at least three to four weeks.

Other items needed are diapers, flashlights, batteries, paper goods (plates, cups, etc.) cold cereal and plastic cutlery and toothpaste. Plus, a message was just received, at this newspaper, from one of the victims that there is a dire need among the survivors for can openers. Many residents in the area who have lost their homes also have lost everything in it, including such simple items as a can opener.

The bank has also announced that canisters will be placed in each bank branch for anyone wishing to make a monetary donation to the hurricane victims. The bank has been assured, by the Red Cross, that any donations made will go toward cash vouchers, and they will keep the bank apprised of any other situations that may arise in the community through the Red Cross emergency office located in Dade County, Florida.

State Bank of Long Island has branch offices at the following addresses:

New Hyde Park, 699 Hillside Avenue, New Hyde Park, 437-1000.

Jericho, 501 North Broadway, Jericho, 822-4000.

Oyster Bay, 135 South Street, Oyster Bay, 922-0200.

Rockville Centre, 2 Lincoln Avenue, Rockville Centre, 678-6000.

Lake Success, 1981 Marcus Avenue, Lake Success, 437-8200.

AT THE LIBRARY

Breaking The Florida Syndrome

Senior citizens are invited to take a fascinating look at Arizona and hear about its wonders from Ceil and Jerry Siegel, who moved to Scottsdale from Plainview four years ago.

This entertaining discovery of Arizona will take place at the Hicksville Public Library on Monday, Sept. 14, at 2 p.m. All seniors are invited to attend.

Golden Years?

The Hicksville Public Library welcomes back Mrs. Katherine Agrillo on Wednesday, Sept. 23, at 7:30 p.m., as she presents "Will Your Golden Years Be Golden or Tarnished?"

This interesting seminar is designed for the near-retirement persons who have to make all the decisions regarding their finances, for example, which pension options to choose, how to handle money coming out of work retirement programs and what is taxable.

Further information can be obtained by calling the Hicksville Public Library's Public Relations Office at 931-1417.

Come Blow Your Horn

The Other Vic Theatre Co. returns to the Hicksville Public Library on Friday, Sept. 25, at 8 p.m. to perform the Neil Simon comedy Come Blow Your Horn.

The play is based around the hilarious complications that arise when an innocent younger brother moves in hot pursuit. Seating is limited and is done on a first come, first served basis.

Home Financing Seminar

Learn about mortgage affordability, refinancing, and other important home financing information at the Hicksville

Public Library on Tuesday, Sept. 29 at 7:30 p.m.

The guest speaker will be Neil Rouge of Emigrant Mortgage Company.

Local Named To Head GC Post Office

Charles Ferrara, a Hicksville resident, has recently been named the Officer-In-Charge of the Garden City Post Office.

Ferrara has served as Postmaster of Roslyn Heights, Sea Cliff, and Glenwood Landing Post Offices, and has worked in numerous positions throughout Long Island. Most recently, he has served as manager of Customer Satisfaction at the United States Postal Service division office in Hauppauge.

A native of Richmond Hill, Ferrara attended Our Lady of Cenacle parochial school and Christ the King High School. He attended New York Institute of Technology and is presently continuing his education at Empire State College. Ferrara has a wife, Karen, and two daughters, Laurie 22 and Kerith 18.

Long Island Heart Council Happenings

Love great food? Looking for new restaurants? The Long Island Heart Council has a wonderful evening planned for you. On Monday, Sept. 21, many of Long Island's best restaurants will be participating in a "Gourmet's Delight" at the Huntington Town House.

Guests will sample appetizers, entrees, desserts and Long Island wines supplied by top restaurants and wineries. All this plus dancing to the music of the Capri Orchestra for only $25 per person. As a special bonus, anyone selling ten (10) tickets will receive two tickets free.

For information or to order tickets, call the Long Island Heart Council at (516) 932-9360.

The Long Island Heart Council is sponsoring "Heart Research Day" on Saturday, Sept. 26, at LI Jewish Medical Center in New Hyde Park.

This is an opportunity for students to meet heart researchers from Long Island laboratories and learn about their work. The program will assist students in understanding principles of the scientific method.

Students interested in submitting a project to the Long Island Science Congress dealing with some aspect of the heart and circulatory system will have ample opportunity to discuss their own projects with the investigators.

If you're interested in attending this most informative day call the Long Island Heart Council at (516) 932-9360.

'A Laugh A Line' With North Shore Poetry

By Louise Law

Don't look now, Long Island—but some Manhattan poets are making inroads into the regional poetry reading scene.

First it was the Park Avenue Cafe in Long Beach. But now the invaders have begun a poetry reading series in Sea Cliff, the little North Shore village clinging to the hills overlooking the City of Glen Cove. Where, we may ask, will these urban interlopers strike next?

The group is called the New Press Literary Quarterly. And to be exact, they're from Flushing not Manhattan. But with an open reading series that has touched down in two Manhattan locations, one location each in Brooklyn and Staten Island, two in Queens and now two on Long Island, the group is making its presence known throughout the metropolitan area.

In Long Beach, the Park Avenue Cafe has been hosting readings upstairs now since the beginning of the summer. With emcee Richard Swiss, a mellifluous Scotsman, the former Long Beach library building has hosted the likes of hobpoet Willard Gellis, the sensuous work of Gina Bergamino and others.

Just last week Swiss introduced Sheldon Cholst to a small but appreciative audience. Upcoming on the Park Avenue's biweekly offerings: open reading, Sept. 16; and then Steve Ullann and open mike, Sept. 30. Show time is the first and third Wednesday of each month, 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. For more information call (718) 268-6313.

Willard Gellis is a Bay Shore resident who may be seen extensively on the cafe circuit in Manhattan and up and down the Northeast coast. He will be known to many familiar with Long Island writing scene for his colorful libretto-like material, which Gellis uses to good effect to depict the underside of American life.

Vietnam soldiers, jailbirds, hoboes, bikers, and bar room angels all jostle in and out of his scenarios to present a mix which is at once frightening and compelling in its intensity.

Not to be undone, the North Shore of Long Island now has its own New Press venue—at the Cafe Al Dente, to be exact, on Roslyn Avenue, in Sea Cliff.

Meeting every Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m., the readings are hosted by Steve Lansky, emcee. Upcoming at the Cafe Al Dente is Cathleen Chirico. (Call 759-4600 for details. The cafe is across the street from the Sea Cliff Fire Department.)

In Manhattan, New Press readings may be found at the Cornelia Street Cafe, near Bleeker and 7th Ave.; and Phebes, at the Bowery and East 4th St.

In Brooklyn, it's the Moroccan Star Restaurant, Atlantic Ave., near Court St. And in Queens, try the Status Quo European Restaurant and Bar, Forest Hills, or the Cozy Corner Bar & Restaurant, 70th Ave., in Ridgewood.

Phebes, for example, features poets of wit, satire and humor on Sept. 22, when Joseph Gourdej, Annette Finland, David Matthew and others try to prove that poetry can be "a laugh a line." And anyone who showed up at the Nuyirukan, at 230 East 3rd Street, between Avenues B and C, had a chance to see the New Press staff do their own thing for an evening.

The New Press staff includes Try Karron Haines, Vicki Figueredo, Marlene Thornton, Carol Blair, Joe Dross, Richard Swiss, Bob Abramson, Harry Ellison, Robert Dunn, and others.

The New Press Literary Quarterly also publishes chapbooks and a magazine. For more information about readings or other activities of the group, please call 718-229-6782.

gested, many of you and many community members expressed concern with regard to the long bus rides some of the (former) Lee Avenue children would have had to experience every day traveling to OCR. Won't you be creating the same situation here? Imagine the bus ride for a child attending afternoon kindergarten at Woodland and the second half day kindergarten in the morning at Dutch—first get picked up by bus at home, pick up other children at their homes, travel by bus across town to Dutch, then after morning class travel by bus back across town to, Woodland to attend class.

How is this different than the Lee Avenue children riding across town to OCR last year? Consider also, the pre-school/day care program which was once suggested, would you as a parent want to travel across town every day to pick up your child at Dutch when there might be another such program much closer to home?

In my view there are more reasons for not closing Dutch Lane than there are in favor of such a decision.

William K. Norton-Taylor

Well Deserved Community Park

I am a longtime resident of Hicksville, the father of four children and a Nassau County Police Sergeant with 23 years of service. In addition I have been involved in Hicksville youth sports programs with HBA, PAL and CYO for the past 11 years. The town of Hicksville presently is experiencing an increase in juvenile delinquency, graffiti and has two street gangs.

One of our major problems is that many of our youth are not involved in supervised youth sports programs and doing positive things with their idle time. Hicksville has a number of reputable sports programs, but we don't have a community park where our sports programs can participate. If we had a community park like every other town in the Town of Oyster Bay has, our youth would have a central location where they could participate in many different year round activities and utilize their idle time in constructive programs, rather than destructive delinquent activities. For example, I presently coach the Hicksville Fire Midget Football and Cheerleading program and we are the only football program in the Town of Oyster Bay that does not have a lighted field to run our practices when it starts to get dark early in September. In addition, a community park would provide many supervised year round activities for all the members of our town. Most other towns in T.O.B. have had community parks for the past 20 or 30 years. Now is the time for Hicksville to get its long overdue park.

Councilman Tom Clark told me if the school board sells a school with a large parcel of land, the Town of Oyster Bay is willing to buy that school and build us a community park. As a school board member I urge you to take advantage of this opportunity and close such a school so our town can get our well deserved community park. Please make your decision on what is best for our whole town. With the closing of a centrally located school with a large parcel of land we will get our community park and our education process will carry on more than adequately with the remaining schools.

If Hicksville were to get its community park, that park would be servicing our community long after we are all gone.

Al Ciaccio

Put Faith In Officials

This is in response to the letter to the editor titled "Won't Be Fooled" in the Aug. 27 issue of the Illustrated. I was not at the Aug. 19 meeting of the board of education, therefore, I did not hear Mr. Black refer to Mr. Bishop and Mr. Evans as "egg heads" and I don't know the context of his remarks. The term "egg head" as I see it is neither unchristian nor revolting. To me an egg head is someone who is intelligent, so logically speaking, to be called an egg head is to be complimented rather than insulted.

Mrs. Martillo also needs to be reminded that in Hicksville, we still use the democratic process and elect members of the board of education, they are not picked. The people of Hicksville elected two new members of the school board because they were sick and tired of the special agendas of previous members of the board. We were hoping that we could get a school board who would do what had to be done, then get on with the business of education. I believe that this new board will look at all schools equally and try to choose the best school to close. To condemn them before they have had a chance to prove themselves is grossly unfair. Mrs. Martillo's inflammatory remarks are intended to create a smoke screen, so that the board will not vote to close East Street for fear of criticism. Mrs. Martillo, please stop dividing our community. Hicksville is one town and it is difficult if not impossible to accomplish anything when each segment of town is at war with the others.

It is time for all of us to put our faith in our elected officials, and pray that they will do what is right for the children of Hicksville.

Eileen Vogler

Supervisors Meet; Approve Small Funding

By A. Anthony Miller

In a move likened by some observers to using band-aids to staunch the flow of blood from a severed artery, the Nassau County Board of Supervisors called an emergency meeting to approve, with little comment before and much shouting after, an interim funding of only $675,000, a far cry from the $46 plus million the county needs to fund its employees through the end of the year.

Call it a battle of interpretations if you will, but some supervisors now believe that the county has adequate funds on hand to get to the end of the year. Other supervisors still maintain that short-term borrowing is the answer.

And the public, growing increasingly restive at the fractious fighting at supervisors' meetings, demonstrated its displeasure, long and loud, at an emergency meeting held in Mineola Aug. 25.

The Civil Service Employees' Association (CSEA) filed suit in state supreme court Aug. 18, naming as defendants the county and each of the supervisors. Sources within the CSEA indicated that the suit would be withdrawn if the county assured the union that there would be no "payless paydays." Both County Executive Thomas S. Gulotta and Oyster Bay Supervisor Lewis Yevoli gave CSEA President Rita Wallace, attending the emergency meeting, that assurance. "No one should have the fear of payless paydays," said Yevoli, "but we [referring to himself and Democratic Supervisors Ben Zwirn and Bruce Nyman] want to review every dollar that is being spent."

A source close to Gulotta said that the county executive is prepared to meet with the supervisors to trim a further $37 million from the county's payroll. At press time, however, no date has been set for that meeting.

The three Democrats had refused at an earlier board meeting to approve either the $46 million borrowing, or even a reduced $16 million temporary funding. With no regular meetings set until Sept. 14, and some departments reportedly running out of money by the end of August, the spectre of the payless paydays—and a diminished Moody's rating for the county—loomed.

Repeating a theme they have echoed since the beginning of the year, the Democrats called an Aug. 19 press conference to unveil a series of measures which they labeled a prerequisite to any agreement on funding by them. Yevoli described these as an end to the awarding of personal services contracts, board review of all personnel changes and hiring, a full accounting on a monthly basis by all departments of cash balances on hand, and an encumbrance on projected surplus funds.

In addition, the Democrats reminded Gulotta of his January plea to schedule night board meetings, and sought a measure to require the annual county budget to be unveiled before election day.

Given the tension between the Democrats and the Republicans, the announcement of an emergency meeting Aug. 25 seemed to reflect a melting of some tension, with the agenda item showing a recommendation for $4,675 million in budget notes. No sooner was the meeting called and the item read than Zwirn proposed an amendment of the amount down to $675,000.

That sum, he said, would fund the Office of Cultural Development to the end of the year, and supply sufficient monies to the county road maintenance staff to meet payrolls through the end of October.

No sooner was the board's unanimous vote on the amendment noted that the recriminations started, with Zwirn exchanging sharp barbs with first Joseph N. Mondello, the presiding supervisor, and then Glen Cove Mayor-Supervisor Donald DeRiggi and Hempstead Supervisor Gregory Peterson.

There was no immediate word on what action would be taken—or when—with regard to the county's other cash-strapped agencies.

program is only in its second summer, "we have a couple of kids who are playing on the Metropolitan Junior Tour. We have one girl who is breaking 90 after just one year."

Garry hopes to expand the program next year by offering morning sessions in addition to the ones already offered in the afternoons. He also hopes to get more funding from national and local golf associations, so that more equipment will be available for children who cannot afford it.

This year's program saw more than 100 kids from Farmingdale, Massapequa, Hicksville, Levittown, Bethpage, Plainview, and many other communities participate.

"Golf is a discipline," said volunteer Joe McMorrow of Hicksville whose two grandsons participated in the program in July. "It teaches them honesty. You don't have to be great to enjoy it. You can always improve. I'm really impressed with the whole program."

For more information about the Bethpage State Park Junior Golf Program, call the park at 249-0700.

Sports Shorts

only is the best all-around sport for children, but its fundamental skill training is applicable to all other sports.

Registration covers fall and spring seasons, trophies for each season, winter indoor tournament, fall uniform, opportunities for tournament teams and for traveling teams.

The new soccer directors pledge a program that is more in touch with the membership's needs.

For more information call: registration, Kevin Berg (931-2495); boy's commissioner, Gary Bretton (938-2359); girl's commissioner, George Bruno (735-7194); or travel teams, Dean Camarinos (931-8610).

Goulet, Camelot Heading For Music Fair

A "crown jewel" of Westbury Music Fair's fall events will come late next month, when Tony Award-winning actor Robert Goulet appears in Lerner and Loewe's Camelot from Tuesday, Sept. 29 to Sunday, Oct. 4. The Music Fair is located off Brush Hollow Road.

Westbury is one of only 50 towns in which this production of Camelot will appear, in a tour that is already booked through the end of 1993. Produced by Shelly Gross for Music Fair Productions, Camelot will also feature Patricia Kies as Guinevere, Steve Blanchard as Sir Lancelot, Kenneth Boys as Mordred and James Valentine as both Merlin and Pellinore.

The production is directed and choreographed by Norb Joerder, who for the past eight years has been involved in every major revival of Camelot.

Goulet created the role of Sir Lancelot in the original 1960 production. He won a Tony Award for Best Actor in a Musical for the Kander and Ebb's Happy Time. He has won a Grammy as a recording artist, spanning more than 60 albums. Goulet also played Emile de Beque in South Pacific.

Younger fans also remember Goulet for his comedic turns, most recently as the "villain" in the police spoof The Naked Gun 2½: The Smell Of Fear, which starred Leslie Nielsen.

The Music Fair production of Camelot will grace the stage-in-the-round Sept. 29 to Oct. 4, with evening performances Tuesday through Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 7 p.m. Matinees will be held Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m.

Tickets are $25, $27.50 and $30 and are available at the box office and all Ticketmaster centers. For more information or to charge tickets on Visa and Mastercard, call 334-0800. For group sales, call 333-2101.

The bidding:
South West North East
2 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass
3 ♦ Pass 4 ♣ Pass
6 ♠ Opening lead — ten of diamonds.

Bridge is a game of percentages. The player who makes the best bid every time he calls must be considered a good bidder, even though the best bid may not always produce the best result.

In the same way, the player who makes the best play at every opportunity also winds up a winner because, over the long haul, the percentages will work in his favor.

Of course, the best percentage bid or play is sometimes strictly a matter of judgment, and the player who thinks he is making the right bid or play may, despite his good intentions, commit an error of judgment that runs counter to the percentages.

In the present case, it may be argued that South made the wrong percentage bid in undertaking a slam after North had merely expressed a preference for hearts over spades. But South had no way of determining whether his partner had the queen of hearts, which was all he needed for a slam.

When dummy appeared, South realized he had misjudged and bid a poor slam. But this did not stop him from making the contract. He won the diamond lead and returned the king of trumps! When East turned up with the singleton queen, declarer was home.

The king play was eminently correct. South had no chance for the slam if the trumps were divided 2-2 or 4-0, in which case he would lose two trump tricks whichever heart he led.

His only legitimate chance was to find the trumps divided 3-1, with the singleton the queen. The king play was right for the best of all reasons — it was the only play that could make the contract, and at the same time could not be the cause of losing it.

PAL Dream Team Finishes Season

The PAL junior division Cards finished their season this past week with a record of 12 wins and three losses.

Led by team MVP Jonathan Wong, this "Dream Team" as they came to be known always gave 110 percent in each and every game they played. With lead-off hitter Tom Moscato and number two hitter Jeff Mullaly constantly on the base path, the table was almost always set for a "murderer's row" even the '27 Yanks would be envious of.

Eric Pasquerelli, Jonathan Wong, Richie Vithum, Rob McCleary, and Amar Agar could always be counted on for that clutch hit or extra base hit with runners in scoring position to help pull out a win.

The pitching staff, led by "the Ace" Eric Pasquerelli, whose fastball would smoke in the catcher's glove, could always be counted on for that big strikeout. Sharing catching duties behind the plate were Richie "the Rifleman" Vithum, who gunned down many a runner attempting to steal and Rob McCleary, who "toughed out" a lot of innings behind the plate and dug many a pitch out of the dirt to keep the Cards in the game.

With the golden glove in field of third baseman Danny Smith, second baseman Danny Dunleavy, and first baseman Matt Dunleavy, it was a rare sight to see a ground ball make it through the infield.

Outfielders Brian Lewis, Mike Sloboda, and Kirk Graeppel could always be counted on to run down any fly ball hit to the out field and make the big play. They were indeed the "Dream Team" from the summer of '92.

High School Baseball Players Receive Honors

At the conclusion of baseball this past season two players received special honors. Brian Reardon and Dennis Cantalupo were named to the Nassau County All-Star team.

Brian led the team in batting and Dennis was awarded the team MVP.

Kids Get In Swing Of Things

By Michael J. Maloney

When one thinks of all the sports he or she played as a youngster, thoughts of baseball, basketball, or soccer probably come to mind for most. How many kids, however, got a chance to play golf while they were growing up? Most had to wait until they were older before they stepped onto a golf course for the first time.

Well, John Garry of Farmingdale wants to change all of that. That is why he established the Bethpage State Park Junior Golf Program last summer to teach youngsters that golf can be a very rewarding and fun activity, one that can be played for the rest of their lives. How many of those other sports can say that?

For a $28 state fee, children from seven to 17 years of age get a hat, a shirt and eight lessons that teach the fundamentals of golf: the grip, stance, set-up, aim. They are put through drills that give them an idea how the body is supposed to function in a golf swing. Students are even taken out onto the golf course and taught about tee shots, bunker play, and putting, as well as the rules and strategies of the game.

"Some kids are quick to pick it up and some are slower," said Kevin Huggard, apprentice PGA Professional at Bethpage State Park, one of many who volunteer their time to teach the game to the children. "It's the same thing with the adults that I teach."

The idea of a junior golf program stemmed from Garry wanting to bring the American Junior Golf Association Tournamen-ment to Bethpage last year. Park superintendent James Evans agreed to have the tournament on the condition that Garry implement a junior golf program to stimulate local interest in the sport.

So Garry called a few friends he has in the golf world, especially John Devine, the golf coach at St. John the Baptist High School, to help him with the endeavor. They recruited the services of the professional staff at Bethpage and private clubs across Long Island, as well as some local high school golf coaches to complete their volunteer staff.

"We are trying to do something for kids that has never been done before in this area," said Joe Rehor, Head Golf Professional at Bethpage. He indicated that although the

Rogers Inducted Into KP Hall

Receives USMMA Top Athletic Honor

On Friday, Oct. 16, 1992 Hicksville's Dan Rogers will join six former Kings Point student-athletes and one coach in receiving the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a US Merchant Marine Academy (Kings Point) athlete. On that night, he will be inducted into the USMMA's Athletic Hall of Fame.

Rogers, a 1975 graduate of the academy, was a four-year letter winner for the Kings Point basketball squad. He served as the captain of the team in 1974-75 and won the 1975 Adm. Giles C. Stedman Award as the academy's top senior athlete.

As a senior, Rogers set the Kings Point single season scoring record with 845 points, averaging over 22 points per game, and was named a First Team ECAC Division III All-Star and to the First Team of the Metropolitan Sportswriters Small College All-Stars. He accumulated 1,031 points in his career, good for 13th place on the all-time scoring list and graduated with the best free-throw percentage in school history.

After graduation, Rogers sailed for Lykes Lines as a third assistant engineer aboard the SS Ashley Lykes. He then returned shoreside and worked as a national account executive for Magnus Maritec. He currently serves as district sales engineer for Bussmann Fuse Manufacturing.

The Athletic Hall of Fame was established in 1990 to honor and recognize graduates of the academy who, during their cadet/midshipman careers, distinguished themselves and brought credit to the academy through outstanding achievement in intercollegiate athletics. These accomplishments, plus the significant efforts and guidance of coaches, faculty, alumni, and others, will be immortalized in the Athletic Hall of Fame in order to establish proud traditions which will inspire the regiment of midshipman to achieve the mission of the USMMA.

The United States Merchant Marine Academy or Kings Point as it is commonly referred to is a four-year undergraduate college and federal service training academy that trains young men and women to serve as officers on American merchant ships; and prepares them as United States Naval Reservists.

Rogers presently resides on Boulevard Dr. in Hicksville.
