Kiwanis Club Begins 56th Year

By John W. Garger

The Hicksville Kiwanis Club held its 55th Annual Charter Night on Friday, Oct. 2 honoring outgoing president Marc Ramirez; and ushering in the president for 1992-93 Patricia LeCompte.

Also honored during the evening were several longtime Kiwanians who all together have logged over 465 years of service to the Hicksville Kiwanis Club.

The Long Island North Division Lieutenant Governor, Richard Forte, presided over the induction of new officers and board of directors for the new year. The new officers are Patricia A. LeCompte, president; Marcos Ramirez, immediate past president; Edward Kamber, president elect; Donald Johnston, vice president; Maryann Caputo, secretary; Edward Draycott, treasurer; and Constance Clark, assistant treasurer.

Serving on the board of directors are Mary Ann Esposito, John Fitzpatrick, Marc Herbst, Douglas Lake, Charles Montana, Jr., Donnanjean Schroeder, and Siegfried Widder.

Patricia LeCompte becomes the first female Kiwanis president in the history of the Hicksville club. In her first message as president she reminded the club that, "For 55 years, the Hicksville Kiwanians have been here to answer the call of the needy, elderly, and children of our town - and this coming year will be no exception." She praised Ramirez for his untiring work that he has

Fire Department Plans Festive 100th Year

Next year marks the 100th anniversary of the Hicksville Fire Department. The department chiefs and members have been busy for the past year and continue to organize events to celebrate this milestone year.

The HFD 100th Anniversary Executive Committee, including Assistant Chief Karl Schweitzer, ex-chief Tony Wigdzinski, and ex-chief Bill Schuckman have recently announced the celebration activities being planned for the Centennial year in 1993.

Chief Patrick Scanlon will kick off the centennial events when he chairs the monthly department meeting at Peppercorns Restaurant (the department's first firehouse) on Feb. 15, just as Chief Arnold Heitz did 100 years ago.

The main event of the celebration will take place from June 9 through 13 as the HFD hosts the 98th Annual Southern New York Volunteer Firemen's Association (SNYVFA) Convention, Firematic Drill, and Parade. The Hicksville Fire Department was host to this organization back in 1908 (13th Annual SNYVFA) under the chief's term of William Duffy.

The festivities will begin on June 9, with a five day long carnival at fire department headquarters on East Marie St. The committee has been considering hosting a "community night" on June 11, with a pay one price entry fee for Hicksville residents only. Ex-chief Gerard O'Brien and ex-captain Spike Thunnell are chairing that committee. They are looking into having hot dogs and sodas available at very low prices, live entertainment, and fireworks or a laser light show.

Commercial vendors are usually contracted to provide refreshments at fire department events, but for the carnival the committee is considering letting local organizations set up booths and selling food of their choice at no charge to them, other than their own expenses. All interested organizations should contact commissioner Bill Foley at 933-6444.

The SNYVFA convention will be held at fire department headquarters on Friday, June 11, and is expected to attract firefighters from all over the southern New York area. In conjunction with the convention a motorized drill will take place in Merrick, at the Four Towns Tournament Course with over 60 teams competing for top honors. Ex-captains Gene Pietzak and Bob Chiz are chairing this event that begins at 8 a.m.

The SNYVFA parade will be held in conjunction with the 100th Anniversary parade on Saturday, June 12, beginning at 5 p.m. Over 70 departments and 5,000 participants, both fire related and locally associated, will march in the largest parade ever to be held on the streets of Hicksville. The tentative parade route has it beginning at Station Two, Briggs St., proceeding down Woodbury Rd. to the fire headquarters where the festivities will end with a huge block party, according to parade co-chairmen Lieutenants Chris Moskos and Patrick McGeough.

Finally, the department is in the process of publishing a commemorative history journal depicting the early fire protection back to 1868 until the present day. The journal is written and edited by Assistant Chief Karl Schweitzer and fireman Edward Korona, Jr.; who have spent the last two years researching and compiling information from old time members and from archival records held by historians. The books, which are being pre-ordered from the publisher will only be available on a limited basis, according to journal committee chairman Edward Korona, Jr. Therefore, people interested in purchasing a piece of Hicksville's history should watch for order forms at the Hicksville Public Library and other locations throughout the town.

Anyone with memorabilia to donate or loan the fire department should contact Assistant Chief Karl Schweitzer at fire headquarters. He said that any material donated will be displayed during the anniversary celebrations. Material can be dropped off at fire headquarters with the dispatcher. All items should include your name, address, and phone number, and marked to Chief Karl Schweitzer's attention.

Watch for additional information concerning the Hicksville Fire Department Centennial Celebration in future editions.

Town Budget Hearing Date Set For Oct. 20

A public hearing will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 20 at 10 a.m. and at 8 p.m. to review the proposed budget for the Town of Oyster Bay in 1993, submitted by Supervisor Lewis Yevoli.

The 1993 Oyster Bay budget proposed by Yevoli was created by Mr. Colleluori, director of finance, and his assistant Mr. Epstein. "We see a decrease of about $60 per household," said Epstein. "Each area is different reflecting costs of parks departments and fire districts, etc."

Mr. Epstein did not agree with a recent statement from Town Councilman Douglas Hynes which states that the Yevoli budget calls for an increase of almost $2 million in the General Fund, Highway Fund and the Part-town Fund.

"I don't know where he gets those figures," said Mr. Epstein.

He said the General Fund did not increase. There are however increases in solid waste, sanitation and a little in parks. The parks, pools and skating rinks don't generate enough revenue, he said.

At the Oct. 5 town board meeting in which the board was to have heard public comment on the budget, the board voted to set a Tuesday, Oct. 20 day and night public hearing on the 1993 budget proposed by Supervisor Lewis Yevoli. The hearings are scheduled for 10 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Councilman Douglas Hynes said the town board members had neither the time nor access to needed information to allow them to review and analyze the Supervisor's budget as a complete document by Oct. 5.

Mr. Hynes said "We have grave reservations about the fiscal integrity of the Supervisor's proposed spending plan. The board is also concerned that some of the budget allotments proposed by the Supervisor appear to spell disaster for the 1994 budget."

He said the board is pledged to streamline local government and dramatically reduce spending and taxes but, he said "Not by following a course today that will lead to municipal deficits and future tax hikes and service cuts."

Residents Oppose Group Home

Cite Oversaturation In Hicksville Area

By John W. Garger

Approximately 200 Hicksville residents filled the Woodland School auditorium on Monday, Oct. 5 to voice their concerns about a proposed residence facility for people with mental retardation and developmental disabilities on Ketcham Rd.

The proposed site, a ranch style house at One Ketcham Rd., was purchased by the Long Island Developmental Disabilities Services Office (LIDDSO) to provide housing for four people with mental retardation and developmental disabilities and who are also visually impaired.

One of the residents' major complaints was the oversaturation of such group homes in the Hicksville area. Representatives from the Office of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities (OMRDD) of New York State were presented with a map that had 29 such group homes marked off, all within a five mile radius. There are presently four group homes in Hicksville, and a total of 51 in the Town of Oyster Bay. But according to residents at the meeting the state OMRDD representatives could not define what oversaturation was. Another concern that the residents presented was the proximity of the house to the dangerous Woodbury Rd. intersection, the site of numerous accidents. According to Mr. Lane, who lives on Ketcham Rd., the representatives "did not answer a question" and provided the community residents with no "say-so" in the matter.

According to Robert Lopez, assistant director for program development with the LIDDSO, the office would not select a house for a group home if there was a case of over concentration. He commented that it would be a waste of time.

The residents in the Ketcham Rd. home would be under 24 hour supervision. They would attend a day program on weekdays and perform necessary chores and recreational activities on weekends. The state has been in the process of developing such residence facilities for the last 15 to 20 years. They are now in the final phase of closing the Long Island Developmental Center in Melville. A mass institutional approach used to be the standard policy, but the state and the LIDDSO has identified community homes as having a more beneficial effect for people with mental retardation and developmental disabilities.

Town of Oyster Bay Supervisor Lewis Yevoli attended the meeting, but admitted that the town had little to no say in the matter. He said that the town has claimed that Oyster Bay has been oversaturated with group homes, but the state has ultimate authority in such matters and does not have to follow the zoning rules of local municipalities.

According to figures submitted to the supervisor's office by the state there are 51 group homes in Oyster Bay, including four in Hicksville, five in Plainview, two in Jericho, four in Syosset, four in Woodbury, and three in the Bethpage-Old Bethpage area. Lopez said that his office would be willing to consider an alternate site if they are presented to his office. The state had extended the deadline for finding an alternate site to Oct. 26. Assemblyman Fred Parola attended the Oct. 5 meeting and offered his counsel to the residents if requested.

Conduct Of Election Questioned

By John W. Garger

The New York State Commissioner of Education recently dismissed an election appeal contesting the results of the April library board of trustees election.

Doretta Pavacic contested the results of the trustee election on April 8, citing irregularities in the election process. Mrs. Clara Bennett won the election, obtaining 479 votes to Pavacic's 279; in the largest voter turnout for a library election in years.

Pavacic said the appeal was filed with the commissioner of education in response to a letter sent by Bennett to the State Education Department claiming misconduct by Pavacic. The letter was also sent to the Nassau County Board of Elections and the school district clerk, Alice Wider. According to Pavacic, although she felt that the election was unfair, she was not going to file a petition, knowing it would probably not change anything. In her petition, Pavacic claims that incorrect counsel was presented to her and that there were several instances of improper electioneering.

The commissioner of education dismissed the appeal on the grounds that Pavacic did not follow proper procedure, therefore forfeiting her due process rights. But he further commented on some of the allegations saying that they were not substantiated.

Doretta Pavacic and her husband Robert realize now that they did not follow proper procedure, but say that they filed the petition on their own, following a handbook on procedures, without the help of a lawyer.

The Pavacis still claim, however, that Bennett violated some of the election laws.

On the night of the election, when candidates are supposed to be at least 100 feet from the entrance of the polling place, except to cast their own votes, the Pavacic's claim that Clara Bennett was soliciting votes in the building. Bennett commented that she was merely stopping to say hello to old friends. The Pavacic's also claim that it was improper for the board to hold a meeting the night of the election, instead of on the normal third Wednesday of the month, which gave Bennett unfair access to be on the grounds of the library before the election was over. According to Board President Marc Herbst, it is normal policy to hold a meeting the night of

The Real Estate Report

By Jim Burke

Going once, going twice... Have you heard about the real estate auction scheduled Oct. 25 at the Dune Deck Hotel in Westhampton Beach. This will be a unique opportunity to bid on waterfront homes, newly built homes, vacant land, foreclosures and resales. Minimum bids start as low as $49,000 and admission is restricted, so call me today if you want to get in on the action!

The Multiple Listing Service reports that 21 Hicksville homes went "under contract" in the past month. Another 158 remain "available" and 17 of those are priced between $129,000 and $150,000. It is interesting to note that, at this time last year, the lowest priced home in Hicksville was $138,500 and there were only 11 homes under $150,000. The median price remains unchanged at $179,000.

Gold Sail mortgage rep. Joni Furey (HHS '80) says 30 year-mortgages are still available under 8%. It's a great time to look into "adjustables" (ARMs) and "STEP" loans. STEP loans are hybrids, fixed rate loans that start out low then step up to a market rate after the first few years. This allows buyers to become homeowners at today's low rates and have the long-term security of a fixed rate. Call Joni at 547-9290 for more information.

I will be repeating the popular "Selling Your Home" seminars this Fall. Register at Wantagh Adult Ed. for the Thursday, 10/29 class or Westbury Adult Ed. for the Thursday 11/15 class. Both start at 7:30 pm. This program will probably not be presented in Hicksville again until early 1993.

People often ask me for the names of good real estate lawyers, mortgage lenders, carpenters, painters, exterminators, etc. If you need the services of any of the above, call my office and we will send you our list.

Congratulations to Hicksville's Mary and Richard Mahoney for being the first agents to join the new Re/Max office in East Meadow. At a time when many realty offices are closing, Re/Max now has 8 Long Island locations.

The Re/Max parking lot will be the scene of a Garage Sale/Fund Raiser on Sat. 10/17 for the fight against Cystinosis, a rare disease which affects several Hicksville children. Special thanks to Mr. Ivan Capiro and the Kiwanis Club for their support.

The Real Estate Report will appear on a monthly basis. Jim Burke invites you to send your questions and inquiries to him at Re/Max Central Real Estate, 88 Broadway, Hicksville, or call his direct line - 938-7188

Fire Department Battles House Blazes

Hicksville firefighters were called to respond to two separate fires recently that caused considerable house damage and injuries to two firemen.

A house fire on Fairview Ct. was called in by numerous neighbors on Sunday, Sept. 27 at 5:49 p.m. Ten units (70 firefighters) responded under the direction of Captain Uss. The fire was confined to the second floor. Minor water damage occurred on the first floor, but the fire department used salvage tarps to protect the first floor furniture.

One firefighter, ex-captain Joseph DiFronzo, received second degree burns on his back when embers fell inside his protective coat collar. Damage was estimated at $15,000. The probable cause was listed as electrical. Occupants of the house escaped unharmed. The County Fire Marshall Investigators are completing the investigation.

Another house fire occurred on Cantiague La. in Westbury on Oct. 6 at 2:21 p.m. The Hicksville Fire Department protects that area of Westbury. The fire caused $10,000 worth of damage to the first floor and basement. The fire originated in the basement near a heating unit and spread upwards. Seven units, 35 members, responded under the direction of Chief Patrick Scalco. One firefighter was treated for exhaustion and transported to Syosset Hospital. The Plainview Fire Department provided one engine company for stand-by while the Hicksville fire units were busy. Occupants of the home escaped unharmed.

The Hicksville Fire Department Haz Mat Unit was called to assist the Bethpage Fire Department with a leaking 1,000 gallon propane tank alongside a house on Clark St. in Bethpage on Saturday, Oct. 3. Bethpage firefighters, under the direction of Chief A. Mancini, dispersed the fumes and as a precaution evacuated nearby homes. The County Haz Mat unit responded to the scene and requested the assistance of the Hicksville Haz Mat for their large burn-off unit. While preparations were being made to burn off the propane, ex-captain Richard Magee of Hicksville Company 7 managed to free the stuck valve and stop the leak. Magee works full-time with the County Fire Marshall's Industrial/Haz Mat Division. After the scene was under control the cylinder was removed by the Conservative Gas Co. and the residents were allowed to return.

The HFD also responded to a car fire on Oct. 1 around 3:15 p.m. on West John Street. Following an accident a brown Toyota caught fire as it was about to be towed. The tow truck operator quickly released the car and firefighters extinguished the flames.

9 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; or Sunday, noon to 5 p.m.

Registration appointments for the immunizations will be available for 400 individuals. Once the pre-registration period has been completed, remaining appointments will be opened to eligible senior citizens outside of the Hicksville School District.

Registrants will be asked to select an appointment time for Nov. 10, as well as to complete a consent form. Consent forms may be completed and left at the registration site. Individuals wishing to complete the forms at home may do so; however, they must be brought on the day of the immunization.

This valuable program is the result of the voluntary efforts of many dedicated individuals throughout the community. In order to insure a successful and efficient program, it is requested that individuals arrive punctually for their appointment, but not early, as space is limited.

an election in order to vote and accept the results of the election.

A mixup in the election law occurred when the law firm, representing the library at the time of the election Van Nostrand and Martin, issued a letter to both candidates stating that neither candidate was allowed to campaign within 100 feet of the library during the whole campaign and election process. According to the commissioner, the advice was incorrect but since both candidates followed the same advice there was no conflict.

The Pavacics claim that the release of the letter from the law firm was another attempt by the library board to prevent the Pavacics from getting involved with the library. Doretta Pavacic said she decided to run for library board trustee because she felt not enough was being done for the children as well as the homebound. She also questioned the library's fiscal management. Herbst replied that the library board did not make any request to their attorneys to send the letter, rather there were outside complaints and the attorneys acted when a question of policy arose.

The release of Van Nostrand and Martin, four weeks after the election, was not due to their error in interpreting the election law, ac-ording to Herbst. The library board had been in the process of searching for a new law firm that would offer the library the support and resources that it needed. The new firm: Jaspan, Ginsberg, Schlesinger, Silverman, and Hoffman is a larger firm that has a greater basis and offers more support.

In a release from the library, Herbst said that because of the appeal the library incurred a cost of $10,454.04. The legal budget for the fiscal year is $20,540. Herbst said that additional funds would have to be added to the legal budget.

Pavacic claimed in her election bid that the budget needed to be closely examined. She pointed out that the library has in excess of $600,000 in funds that are not part of the annual budget. Herbst responded that the money accumulated is part of a perpetual account that helps maintain the stability of the library. He added that the library hires an independent accounting firm and has a treasurer.

The Pavacics still plan on becoming involved with the library, in hopes of helping improve some of the services that they feel need improving. Herbst commented that he and the board welcomes intelligent and expert scrutiny.

Library Adds Computer Classes

Due to the increasing popularity of the library computer classes, the Hicksville Public Library will schedule additional computer classes in the new year. Information regarding the new classes will be provided in an upcoming library newsletter that is mailed to all houses in the district.

Turned Down For A Bank Loan? Here Are Some 'Next Steps'

■ With banks showing unprecedented restraint in granting loans, increasing numbers of prospective borrowers are facing turn-downs from conventional institutional loan officers.

What to do?

For many homeowners and business owners looking for a loan, independent brokers are often the last—and best—resource for funding they need.

"Brokers can be more flexible than banks," says Stephen Mogelesky, president of Discount Funding Associates, Inc. "The reason is they have access to funding sources with different requirements."

Mogelesky says a broker usually has programs "for poor or fair credit risks, as well as for good or very good risks."

"Your previous credit history or income status doesn't predetermine your consideration for credit approval," he says. "Unlike a bank, a broker is more interested in finding reasons to lend you money than he is in finding reasons not to lend you money!"

Mogelesky, whose firm has been arranging loans for homeowners and businesses since 1979, cautions prospective clients against falling into all-too-common "traps":

"Make sure the broker is registered with the State Banking Department and licensed by the State; beware of any broker who wants to charge you an up-front fee for finding you a loan; or of a broker who says he'll get you a loan no matter how risky the loan is."

"Also, you should be realistic about how much money you need and how much interest you're willing to pay. The less risky the loan, the lower the interest. In these hard-pressed times, banks may not even seriously consider a prospective loan with any risk whatsoever. Brokers and independent funding sources are likely to be more receptive, but the interest rate will vary depending on the risk."

Mogelesky says he is able to prequalify loan applicants over the phone.

To determine whether funding is available for the loan you require, Mogelesky invites applicants to contact him for further information at Discount Funding Associates, Inc., 110 Washington Drive, P.O. Box 199, Centerport, NY 11721-0199 (516) 385-0202 Fax: (516) 385-4708

Monday Morning Quarterbacks

There was lots of Monday morning quarterbacking this week following Sunday's first installment of the Bush-Clinton-Perot show. In fact, many didn't wait until Monday morning to start second-guessing and analyzing the players. Most of the major networks had immediate polls depicting the views of the Average American, before, they said, "the Spin Doctors" had their chance to muddy the waters.

Spin Doctors are those political professionals who say things like: "Perot did well because he hasn't been before the people and the press before and he sounded fresh. He was entertaining, but not presidential." Or, "Bush didn't do what he had to do. Sunday's debate was make-or-break time for the president and he didn't score the points he needed to pull ahead." And, "Clinton played it too safe, he appeared too packaged and added nothing new to the discussion. And, that anniversary message was unnecessary." They say these things in an effort to help Average Americans interpret their reactions, so they don't go forming any crazy opinions of their own.

What seemed to surprise—and perhaps disappoint—the Spin Doctors was that the first debate didn't finish anyone off.

It also cast a glaring spotlight on the vice presidential debate, which was held after this was written. Those intrigued by Perot's performance now wanted to get to know the independent's vice presidential choice.

No, there were no bombshells and little blood was drawn. But, the first debate did serve to open up the dialogue. Even if the candidates said little that was new and even if the debate was less a debate than an opportunity to repeat previous campaign rhetoric, it opened up a dialogue among voters. Average Americans were talking this week about their choices.

Forget the Spin Doctors. They're too predictable. Listen to your own instincts. They're usually much more on the money.

A Letter from Lulabelle...

...I left the house today, punched in the code for the burglar alarm, locked the door and then relocked it with the dead bolt—and then I thought of the days gone by when we never locked the door at all—and even if we did, everyone knew that the key was under the mat...how sad it is that times have changed so much...Many of us remember working late at jobs in New York and riding the subway back to Penn Station with never a worry in the world...Remember how the milk man and the ice man put their merchandise in the ice box through the back door, always left open for them...and all the downstairs windows with the screens were wide open on sweet-smelling summer nights and no intruders came in?...Even though some houses were set far apart with empty lots between, no one feared lurking evil in the high grasses separating them...We walked home from the evening basketball games at the high school and no one beat us up or tried to give us a ride for an unsavory purpose...Not that there wasn't some evil in the world—remember how the mothers of the girls told them not to sit next to strangers in the movies who might prick them with a needle and when they awoke, they would be white slaves in a harem in Morocco?...But, I do know that there's lots more good than evil in the world today as yesterday, and I am comforted—but I do set the burglar alarm!!!

Yours, Lulabelle

Think About It

The redistricting issue has been a painful process, dividing us into seven separate communities. Each little group against the others, in order to keep their neighborhood school open. We are very fortunate in Hicksville because we have seven good schools, with seven good principals and faculties, each with a dedicated PTA. The parents and children in each attendance area are happy with their neighborhood school, and the majority of children do very well. The property owners of our town can be assured that their school tax dollars are well spent. Many people have said that if there was a good reason why their school should be the one to be closed they would accept it. The problem is, that there is no good reason to choose one school over another. No matter which school is closed, we will not achieve "parity." The only goal that will be met is the elimination of singleton classes. Although the benefit of closing a school is hardly worth the effort, the unfortunate fact of the matter is that a school is going to close, and the present school board has been given the task of deciding which one it will be. I don't envy them.

I have been at the board meetings, and listened as parent after parent explained to the board why their school should be spared and another one closed. Although the speeches have been repetitive and sometimes nasty, with people accusing board members, past and present, of having special interests, no one has ever made this a racial issue until now. At the last two meetings of the board of education, Mrs. Lafferty stated that "someone" was threatening to bring a lawsuit against the district if the "minority situation" was not addressed. Mrs. Lafferty made it clear that this threat was not being made by a Burns Ave. parent, and that the person's name must be kept confidential. At the Sept. 23 meeting, Carole Wolf presented a scenario for the closing of Burns Ave. School under the pretext of solving the "minority situation" and thereby avoiding a lawsuit.

Whoever that "someone" is should be thinking about the harm that this threatened lawsuit would cause, not only to the children, but the entire town of Hicksville. Hicksville does not have a racial problem, but I am sure if this suit becomes a reality, we will. It has always been said that the children would be redistricted for sound educational reasons. Discrimination is not an educational reason. According to the board's criteria, a student will not pass an open school to get to his new school. If Carole Wolf's proposal is accepted, the children from Westbury Gardens will have to pass the Old Country attendance area to get to Dutch Lane. Mrs. Lafferty has said that the commissioner of education could make us redistrict if the threatened lawsuit goes to court. If the commissioner of education were to look at the map of Hicksville he would see that there is no reasonable way to balance minority populations in our schools through redistricting.

We must remember that all the children will be affected by redistricting. If the board chooses the school to be closed based on educational reasons, our children will learn that the adults in our community care about them. If it is done because we have a "minority situation" our children will learn what "different" means. The children in our elementary schools don't seem to know this yet, do they really need to know? We must also remember that at one time each of us would have been considered a minority because of our ethnic backgrounds. How would we have felt if our school was closed because it had too many Irish, Italians, or Germans? How would we have felt if we had to leave our neighborhood school to make room for an Irishman, Italian, or German? Think about it. Think about whether it is more important to do what is right or to prove that "someone" has the power to keep his or her chosen school open. The redistricting issue is not a power struggle where the group who shouts the loudest or fights the dirtiest wins. Think about it, please.

Eileen Vogler

Water District Writes

The US Environmental Protection Agency as mandated by congress, who were pressured by enviro-maniacs (who would bankrupt the country in their rush toward purity beyond reason), recently came up with another shopping list of constituents that water utilities must test for at each source during four consecutive quarters in a three year period.

We can understand the four consecutive quarter requirement for surface water where variations in stream flows, variations in stream temperatures, and potential variations in seasonal pollution from upland water shed areas might require such testing. However, on Long Island with the slow movement in feet per day of groundwater and the close proximity of deep wells on

PLASTICS RECYCLING

...it's the Law.

It used to be that there were two primary reasons for businesses to recycle... to save money and to save the environment. Now, there's another reason. Recycling is the law in New York State.

"A local effort with global significance."

Businesses that recycle conserve natural resources, reduce carting fees and, with some recyclables, generate income.

Join the Town of Oyster Bay commercial recycling team. Our local effort can, and will, have resounding global significance.

A Stop At A Country House

Charm, Atmosphere, Classic Cuisine

If you decide to take a ride out to Eastern Long Island to enjoy the pleasures of autumn, consider a stop at Stony Brook's Country House.

A drive to the picturesque village, with its turn-of-the-century shops and museums, is worth a day.

Of course, all that sightseeing will work up an appetite and the best way we can think of to end the day is with a meal at Country House.

The restaurant is located on Route 25A near the museums. The historic mini estate dates back to 1710 and retains much of its character, accounting for a good deal of this restaurant's charm.

Country House has five dining sections, and with two fireplaces, many tables offer the warmth of the blazing hearth. The restaurant has a garden-like appeal, with flowers, trees and naturalistic artwork on the walls combining to provide a light, comfortable setting.

When you can peel your eyes away from the charming surroundings, take a long look at the menu. Handwritten in a copperplate script and featuring a variety of creative American fare, the menu invites browsing and makes choosing between the selections a bit difficult.

(The selections vary depending on market and season, so all that follows may not be available when you visit.)

Appetizers are listed as "first dishes" and one of our favorites is a salad of mozzarella with tomato and onion served with basil and remoulade dressing.

Samplers will want to order the taster's plate, an international combination of baked Irish meat cakes, Chinese dumplings and stuffed baked shrimp. Chilled fresh poached salmon is served with a caper and dill sauce.

On to the main dishes. The half-dozen or so offerings will satisfy every taste. Fish lovers will be pleased by the sauteed filet of sole or the bay scallops sauteed with garlic and herbs.

Prime pork tenderloin highlights tender pork with a delightful and creative saute of garlic, gin and plums. Poached chicken truffles feature tender chicken stuffed with spinach and shrimp.

Pasta fans will wish every chef had the creative flair of Country House's after trying penne pasta with mozzarella and a vodka cream sauce.

An extensive wine list features domestic and imported varieties as well as the expected best from Long Island vintners. A red and white wine special can be found on the menu and generally offers an excellent value at a reasonable price.

Desserts are all made on the premises by the Country House's pastry chef. Chocolate chestnut mousse bombe is deservedly described as "a most celebrated dessert" and one well worth the calories.

Country House is open daily from 11:30 a.m. except Saturday (no lunch). On premise catering is available for parties large and small and the perfect intimate wedding.

Call 751-3332 for reservations and don't forget to tell them Cuisine Connection sent you.

Celebrate Oyster Festival October 17, 18

The Ninth Annual Oyster Festival, Long Island's largest annual street festival featuring oysters galore, will be held in the Village of Oyster Bay on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 17-18.

This popular two-day celebration sponsored by the Oyster Bay Chamber of Commerce will again feature a variety of family oriented activities including an acclaimed food fest, a juried arts and crafts show, entertainment, a 5K run, a cycling race and a historic boat display in the harbor. More than 200,000 persons are again expected to attend during the two-days.

Admission and parking at the Oyster Festival is free. Festival hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day. A free shuttle bus service is available from various Festival designated parking areas along Rte. 106 and including the Long Island Rail Road Syosset station parking field.

For the thousands who attend each year it is the oysters that provide the main attraction. More than 28,000 servings of oysters, raw on the half-shell were served in 1991 with thousands more being consumed as oyster stew and oyster fritters or fried oysters. All oysters are fresh from local waters and supplied by the Frank M. Flower and Sons Company of Bayville and Oyster Bay.

More traditional foods are also available and all tastes can be satisfied at this most noteworthy annual Long Island attraction. Scores of community non-profit organizations will serve an abundance of food including fried chicken, clam chowder, baked clams, bratwurst, sausage and pepper heros, shrimp, funnel cake, apple pie a la mode and more.

The proceeds from all food sales benefit the respective organizations and in 1991 more than $250,000 were raised making the Oyster Festival the region's most significant annual fund-raising event.

The Oyster Festival is more than food. It is a fun-filled day of family fare that includes something for everyone.

An expanded juried arts and crafts show will feature more than 125 exhibitors presenting works in various media including watercolor, lithography, sculpture, photography, wood craft, leather, quilting, stained glass, jewelry and more. The arts and crafts exhibit has been relocated to West Main Street to provide additional space for participants.

The historic boat exhibit, added to the Festival in 1991, will feature a larger display of historic oyster sloops and tours of Oyster Bay Harbor will be available for a nominal fee aboard the paddle steamer Thomas Jefferson. Head toward the Theodore Roosevelt Park and follow the crowd to the Oyster Bay Marine Center.

The Oyster Festival would not be complete without the traditional oyster eating and shucking contests. Competitors will again attempt to break the existing world and Festival records when the contests begin on Saturday, Oct. 17, at 2:30 p.m.

The oyster eaters have to "gulp" 288 raw oysters in 2 minutes and 44 seconds, and the shuckers have 4 minutes to open 100 oysters. The current Festival eating record is 200 devoured by Mark Fried of Huntington in 1988.

Throughout the two-day event free family entertainment will be offered at two locations, the Family Hospitality Tent located in the Festival food area and on the Showmobile stage in the Town Hall Parking lot.

Sports enthusiasts have two events to choose from. The Town of Oyster Bay's Supervisor's 5K run, sponsored by the State Bank of Long Island, will help open the Festival on Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Runners will vie for trophies in various age and gender categories as they run a course from Theodore Roosevelt Memorial Park to Planting Fields Arboretum and back to Oyster Bay.

The Oyster Festival Cycling Classic is a criterium bicycle race that will be held on Sunday starting at 11:15 a.m.

The bicycle race program is sanctioned by the United States Cycling Federation and is open to licensed riders only. The events include races for juniors (boys 12-17) senior men (18-35) in categories IV, III, and Pro, I and II, and women. Competitors will be pursuing about $5,000 prize money in this event.

Oyster Festival supporting sponsors include Vacation Break Resorts, Pepsi-Cola, New York Telephone, Newsday, Old Bay Seasoning, National Westminster Bank, Hoffman Chiropractic and Associates, LILCO, and Marine Midland Bank.

Donor sponsors include Omega Windows, Mill-Max, Inc., Acclaim Entertainment, the Crescent Club and Fleet Bank.

For more Oyster Festival information call or write to the Oyster Bay Chamber of Commerce at P.O. Box 61, Oyster Bay, NY, 11771 or call the Festival information line at (516) 624-8082.

Sea Cliff Chamber Players Offer More

At a time when most organizations are cutting back in response to slashes in government funding and shrinking corporate dollars, the Sea Cliff Chamber Players are expanding their 23rd season to include concerts in Rockville Centre and at the Staller Center in Stony Brook.

Don't get it wrong. The SCCP have not remained unscathed in the current economic downturn, but they have reason to be cautiously optimistic: last season proved the Chamber Players most successful ever and, in December, they became one of two chamber groups in the country to be accepted into the prestigious National Endowment for the Arts "Advancement Program."

In addition to the chamber music series which will present 14 concerts in Sea Cliff, Northport and Rockville Centre, the Chamber Players also present chamber orchestra concerts at the Tilles Center on the CW Post Campus, the Staller Center in SUNY Stony Brook, as well as the annual Long Island Mozart Festival at Planting Fields Arboretum in Oyster Bay.

The expanded season is only the beginning of a five-year plan the Chamber Players are developing with an NEA consultant. It includes an education initiative, an expanded Mozart Festival and a possible late-summer festival on the East End. The ensemble will commission and record new works for the group's 25th anniversary and a series of regular concert broadcasts is planned, which will be heard in Long Island, Westchester and Connecticut.

The programming for the upcoming season will feature a broad range of works from the classical concertos of Beethoven, Haydn and Mozart and the complete Bach Brandenburg Concertos to works written for jazz bands by Leonard Bernstein and Igor Stravinsky.

A special concert for all ages will feature actress Claire Bloom narrating Saint-Saens Carnival of the Animals and another will present rags by Scott Joplin along with the mix of jazz and Eastern-European music called Klezmer. There will be anniversary tributes for Luigi Boccherini, his 250th, and John Cage, who just died before his 80th birthday this year.

"Chamber music embraces an astonishingly wide variety of styles," said Chamber Players Director Barbara Speer. "This season our programming aims to reach an even wider and younger audience with a diversity of exciting and unusual repertoire."

Highlighting the chamber series at the Tilles and Staller Centers will be harpist Nancy Allen, hornplayer David Jolley, HARPIST NANCY ALLEN will appear with the Sea Cliff Chamber Players at their Nov. 14 and 15 performances at the Sea Cliff Theatre and South Side Middle School, Rockville Centre, respectively. Tickets are available.

violinist Ani Kavafian, harpsichordist Kenneth Cooper, clarinetist Charles Neidich and flutist Carol Wincenc.

The chamber music series features Ruth Laredo, Nathaniel Rosen, Erick Freidman, Toby Hoffman, Sidney Harth, Barbara Speer, Jiang Wang and others.

While the Chamber Players' star is on the rise, their ticket prices have remained down to earth. For example, single tickets for the Tilles Center concerts run a reasonable $15-$25 and the seven-concert Sea Cliff series can be had for a modest $95. There are also options available for patrons to design their own combination subscriptions and mini-subscription samplers.

Subscriptions to all series are currently available at discount prices. Single tickets for all concerts are also available.

For a free brochure and ticket information, call or write Sea Cliff Chamber Players, P.O. Box 311, Sea Cliff, NY 11579 (671-6263). You may also visit the Chamber Players' office at 100 Roslyn Avenue in Sea Cliff. Major credit cards are accepted on all telephone orders.

Upcoming performances include Oct. 16, 8 p.m., Northport High School; Oct. 17, 8 p.m., Sea Cliff Theatre; Nov. 14, 8 p.m., Sea Cliff Theatre; Nov. 15, 7:30 p.m., South Side Middle School (Rockville Centre); Dec. 11, 8 p.m., Northport High School; Dec. 12, 8 p.m., Sea Cliff Theatre; and Dec. 19, 8 p.m., Tilles Center. The last performance will be the Holiday Bachfest, featuring the complete Brandenburgs.

Christmas Comes Early To Fortunoffs

Before we get too caught up in the commercialism of the coming holiday season, remember the artistry that goes into making the myriad of decorations. Fortunoffs will open its Holiday Store Oct. 23 and the beauty and quality of years past will fill the store's shelves. The Rockettes will perform at the grand opening at 7:30 p.m.

RECOMMENDED...

The Glen Players will present their October production of the Broadway smash mystery "Deathtrap" Oct. 16, 17, 23, 24, 30 and 31 at 8:15 p.m. and Oct. 25 at 3 p.m. Tickets are available by calling 671-0518 or 759-1992. The theater is located in the Glenwood Landing School. . . The Congregational Church of Manhasset will present a variety show at the church, 1845 Northern Boulevard, Folk, gospel, Broadway and jazz numbers will be featured with special appearance by John and Naomi Anthony. Pepsi Freund, a charter member of the "Thirty" artists, winner of awards in oil and watercolor, will do a surprise painting at the Suburban Art League at 8 p.m. Nov. 2. Letters (continued from page 10)

even the same plant site, it is really an overkill of costly testing. Consider the financial burden on 47,810 population of the Hicksville Water District by testing 17 wells four times -- as compared to New York City with a seven million population possibly testing only two sources (Catskill Aqueduct and Delaware Aqueduct).

The federal government has given New York State the flexibility in determining who tests when in the 1993-1995 three year period. The New York State Department of Health has decided that all community water supplies serving more than 3,300 persons, which includes the Hicksville Water District, will have to complete the initial four consecutive quarter base sampling for pesticides and SOC's by 12/31/93 (even though the federal government allows until 12/31/95). At $6,200 per group of tests per well--the cost to the Hicksville Water District for 1993 will be $105,400 (17 x $6,200)--which will leave a lot of red ink on our 1993 budget.

Since the federal government has allowed for completion by the end of 1995--and allowed New York State the option to establish the time frame of testing--can't the State Department of Health set more reasonable criteria--to consider the budgets of water utilities.

Proposed First Option

Require at least 1/3 of the water sources to be tested in four quarters in the first two years with the balance in the third year. In the case of the Hicksville Water District, this would spread out the cost over three years as follows: 1993, six wells: $37,200 testing cost; 1994, six wells: $37,200 testing cost; 1995, five wells: $31,000 testing cost. Total: 17 wells: $105,400.

Proposed Alternate Second Option

Require the commencement of testing in the third quarter of 1993 with the completion in the second quarter of 1994. This slight change in the time frame would at least provide some relief by costing $52,700 in 1993 and delaying the second $52,700 until 1994.

We recently wrote to New York State Department of Health Commissioner Mark Chassin, MD, MPP, MPH in Albany to be reasonable in this matter which will affect your pocketbook and to implement one of our options which will still comply with new federal regulations. We also wrote to Senators Ralph J. Marino, Kemp Hannon, and Michael J. Tully (Chairman of the State Health Committee); plus Assemblyman Frederick E. Parola, Jr. and Richard N. Gottfried (Chairman of the Assembly Health Committee) to intercede with the new health commissioner on your behalf.

If, as a consumer of the Hicksville Water District, you agree with us--please help us to help you! Use your political clout prior to election day by either writing, telephoning or talking to any or all of the above elected legislators.

Thank you in advance for joining us in this effort.

Enormous Success

On Oct. 3, 1992, the Concerned Citizens of Hicksville, Inc (CCH), in conjunction with BPOE 1931 Elks Lodge, co-sponsored the Baby Margaret Cancer Fund Dinner-Dance. The proceeds of this event will be used to defray the burgeoning medical expenses of Margaret Delaney, a 10-month old, who was diagnosed at birth with cancer.

The fund raiser was an enormous success with attendance exceeding 225 people. In addition, monetary contributions have poured in from not just local residents but from individuals throughout Nassau and Suffolk.

The CCH would like to thank everyone who contributed so generously to this altruistic endeavor. Their numbers preclude us from mentioning each by name. However, several individuals deserve special recognition. Among them are Diane Brousseau and Nancy Callari, of the CCH, who planned, organized, and directed this event from its earliest stages to its conclusion. They were ably assisted by Ed Delaney, Baby Margaret's grandfather and Agnes and Harry Peck, of the Hicksville Elks Club.

The CCH would also like to express our gratitude to the following organizations and establishments for their support and largesse: BPOE 1931 Elks Lodge, Champion Limousine, Copy Shoppe, Doctors of Pathology, Fantasia Flower Garden Shop, Gatsby's Hair Salon, Hicksville Community Council, Hicksville Republican Committee, Knights of Columbus, Lotus Tree (Syosset), Peppercorns, Peter Kenny Florist, Roy Rogers, Staples, Town Crier, and Trunz Supermarkets.

Ed Hebron
Secretary of CCH

New Medicare Plan Topic At Seniors Club

A new health plan recently introduced for Medicare-eligible senior citizens will be the topic of discussion at the upcoming Oct. 20 meeting of the Forever 55 Club.

Representatives from SANUS Health Plan of Greater New York/New Jersey will be on-hand to talk about the new SANUS65 plan. This Medicare coordinated health care program, approved by the federal government, is an alternative Medicare program that features comprehensive health care and 100 percent hospital, surgical, and physician coverage with no premiums or deductibles.

The Forever 55 Club meets at the Trinity Lutheran Church, 40 West Nicholas St. in Hicksville, beginning at 1 p.m. For additional information about the October 20 program with SANUS, call 1-800-231-9555.

Parents Association, the Hicksville Athletic Booster Club, and various student clubs that will be participating in this community event.

All PTA profits will be used to fund the Homecoming Fair Scholarship for our high school seniors. Nine $400 scholarships were given to students this past June from last year's Homecoming Fair.

Come out and have a great day, while supporting your town, your team, your school, and scholarships!

The team was also powered by strong defensive play from Jim Magner, eight flags; Tom Sellito, three sacks; Pat Iannone, seven flags; Kenny Higgins, five interceptions, and Keith Irving added to his league leading 24 sacks. Mike Magee had a second half interception that set up Ebbet's third score.

Leading the team offensively are Kenny Higgins, with four touchdowns; Joe Macalese, four touchdowns; and Terrance Tall, three touchdowns.

The team is hoping that Chip Skupinsky can find his schedule and make it to the next game.

Theoretically, if both sides in a team of four match play well, most hands should end in a dead tie. But theory and practice are two entirely different animals, and relatively few deals produce identical results at the two tables.

For a good example of what can sometimes happen, consider this deal from the 1976 World Team Olympiad match between Poland and Denmark. The Poles bid and made six spades doubled at one table for a score of 1,660 points, while their teammates defeated six diamonds doubled one trick at the other table to score an additional 800 points.

The bidding at the first table went as shown (North's notrump bid indicated a two-suited hand) and South wound up as declarer at six spades doubled. With South playing the hand, the slam could not be defeated. Had North become declarer at six spades, the slam could have been defeated with a diamond lead from East. Obviously, the sun shone brightly on the South Pole that day!

The bidding at the second table, with a Danish pair now holding the North-South cards, went:

West	North	East	South
4♥	4NT	Pass	5♥
Dble	6♦	Pass	Pass
Dble

East led a heart, ruffed by declarer, and North would have made the slam had he led the nine of diamonds and played the seven from dummy after East followed low — not all that farfetched, considering the bidding.

But the Danish North cashed the king of diamonds at trick two, and this play proved fatal. He now could not avoid losing a trump trick as well as the ace of clubs, and so went down one.

After the East Rockaway team was introduced along with their coach Tony Urbano, the Hicksville team was presented along with their coaches. The coaches are Jim Gilmor, Brian Kelly, Rodger Kay, and Larry Soper. The players and their position are: David Barnard, safety; Jason Basso, center; Mathew Bennardo, tackle; Josh Bergen, defensive end; Brian Boyle, tight end; Gary Bretton, corner back; Daniel Ciaccio, full back; Michael Donohue, guard; Sherief Elbedewe, safety; Keith Engelhardt, quarterback; Paolo Fumagalli, halfback; Adam Geslak, linebacker; Daniel Gilmor, defensive guard; Brian Kelly, line backer; Marc Parante, defensive guard; Justin Rostenberg, guard; Ryan Pound, tackle; Nicholas Schmidt, wide receiver; Adam Smith, cornerback; Kevin Soper, halfback; and Jared Stanton, defensive end.

The team cheerleaders and their coaches were also introduced. The coaches are Nora Elbedewe and Sarah Rosolino, and team mother is Jenny Anderson. The cheerleaders are Terri Anderson, Lauren Ciaccio, Jennifer Cox, Kristin Cox, Tracy Gusz, Erin Kelly, Stephanie Kietz, Michele Maier, Lisa Montabano, Jenna Parente, Antoinette Rosolino, Deanna Valente, Jenny Zollo, and Rosie Zollo.

The Hicksville Boy Scout Troop 381 supplied an impressive color guard. Scouts Steven Kane, Bill Reif, Kevin Chester, and Bill Froehlich did the honors. The national anthem was sung by the talented Carol Rasmussen.

Immediately following the opening ceremonies Hicksville Fire Football kicked-off against the East Rockaway Raiders for what proved to be an exciting game. All the Hicksville players were very impressive and did a fine job. Some of the players were outstanding during the game. Paolo Fumagalli, halfback, gained the most yardage for his team with his electrifying runs. Keith Engelhardt was commanding as quarterback, executing nice plays. Jason Basso was strong as center and Kevin Soper, halfback, was instrumental in several key plays. Adam Geslak, line backer, made some nice plays on defense.

During the game and at halftime the audience enjoyed the beautifully executed routines by the cheerleaders.

Finally, the team would like to extend its gratitude to Al Ciaccio. Without him this football program would not have been possible. It is only through his sheer determination and genuine concern for the youth of Hicksville that Fire Football and its cheerleading squad has become a reality.

Ebbets Field Flag Football Unbeaten At Midseason

The Ebbets Field cafe flag football team remains undefeated midway through the season with a 6-0 record.

Quarterback Bobby Heller (his brother Ron plays for the Philadelphia Eagles) hit Kenny Higgins with 47 seconds left in the last game to defeat a previously unbeaten Hempstead team 28-21. Keith Irving's fumble recovery set up the comeback win. Joe Luperela scored right before halftime, just after getting leveled, to tie the game. After the hit coach Irving said, "When Joe was well enough to remember the plays he would put him back in." Bob Heller had plenty of time to find his receivers with super blocking by Scott Irving and Phil Brady.

Fire Football Kicks Off Season

Hicksville's midget football team, Fire Football, had their opening day ceremony on Sunday, Oct. 4. Al Ciaccio, the head coach and founder of Fire Football, officiated at the proceedings. Father Ronald Robahdo of Our Lady of Mercy Parish offered an inspirational opening prayer.

Al started the program by introducing Joe Bentrewicz, who has been the president of PAL for 20 years - his wife Elenore has been secretary of PAL for those 20 years. Police Officer Bill Toelstedt, who has been in charge of running the PAL for the last 19 years was also present.

Al then proceeded to introduce supporters who were involved in helping Hicksville Fire Football become a reality. George LaMond, president, and George Ruggierio, director, both of the North Shore Athletic Alliance, were instrumental in allowing Fire Football to become league members. Al also thanked Ron Quartrini, varsity coach from Hicksville High School, who has been in full support of the team from day one.

Members from the business community who lent their support were also introduced and plaques showing the team's appreciation were presented them. Pete Kalogridis of Peter Kal Texaco on Plainview Rd., Marcos Ramirez of Mr. Electric on Broadway, and Vicky Passaro of Photomat in Delco Plaza were formally thanked.

Three men who have recently devoted much of their time and talent to help the coach and boys were also recognized at the ceremony. They are Dave Engelhardt, Hicksville High School graduate and former football player; Gary Marangi, former football star at Boston College and four year quarterback for the Buffalo Bills in the NFL; and Dennis Sheehan, Hicksville High School graduate and former defensive-end for St. John's University. Their help has been most welcome and greatly appreciated.

Several community members who helped start the program were also introduced. Jerry Manna, Harvey Fried, and Gary Bretton Sr., are true friends of all Hicksville youth and their support is appreciated. Pete Rostenberg was also introduced. He played a vital role in the formation of the team. He came through with incredible financial support, an expensive doctor's scale, and a cooler for the boys. He has been voted "Honorary Team Father" by the players. Their most sincere gratitude goes out to him.

New York Senator Ralph Marino, who was the only one from all the government agencies who answered the youths call for help, was introduced next. He saw to it that the team will receive a grant for 1993.

Next, several team parents who helped get the team started were introduced. They are: Mindy Bergman, secretary; Hala Elbedewe, team coordinator; Pam Geslak, director of publicity; Denise Kelly, director of fundraising; and Jenny Anderson, cheerleading team mother.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

What was the single most important issue in the Presidential campaign?

George, George, George of the jungle, watch out for that tree...

Cautious Optimism For L.I. Pro Ball

Most callers to Input were cautious but seemed to favor a professional baseball team for Long Island in answer to this question: "Do you think Long Island would need a good team to support professional baseball?"

I believe that the fans are here for a professional baseball team, but the fans will not support a poor one for very long. They are not very enthused with the record of the Mets this year, but a baseball team on Long Island would not be the major leagues, even if it is a good minor league though the people on L.I. will support a team. RALLYING POINT

The idea of professional baseball on L.I. sounds good to me. It will be a rallying point for our Island just like the Islanders. People here love sports. They may rebel against high price tickets but the owners will have only themselves to blame if they overcharge. I am waiting for a team. I want to root for the home team so let's get one. G.S.

SATURATION POINT

We already have more sports in this area than most anything else. I think we are at a saturation point. After all, the reason the Raceway is gone is because very few people went to it. When the people who promote sports teams talk about things they always paint a rosey picture and then before you know it they want some type of subsidy from the government in building a field that is to their specifications. Generally the taxpayer kicks in far more than he gets back and the players are paid astronomical salaries. The owners get their big wad too. But the taxpayer is left holding the bill. Forget a pro team for L.I. M.F.

WHAT IS NEEDED

I think if everything worked right that a professional baseball team would be just what is needed for Long Island. It would tie the Island together and give us something to bring us together. In addition it would bring in money and activity that would help business in these hard times. My only complaint is that it seems that the team will not be located in Nassau County if it comes and that Suffolk will be the winner. M.K.

BASEBALL DOWN

There is some talk that baseball is going down and may be in a hopeless position with all of the high player salaries and the fragmented market of TV that will not pay much for rights anymore. But aside from that I would like to see a good pro team representing Long Island. The talk though has been for minor league teams. I think we could get a major league franchise and really get somewhere. T.G.

NO MONEY

In spite of all the big talk I doubt that we will get a professional baseball team on Long Island. The reason is that the money is beginning to go away from baseball. Right now the youngsters love soccer more than baseball so I think a team might be too late to get anywhere on Long Island. I wish that it would be successful, though, because we do need some type of stimulus right now. B.V.

TIME IS RIGHT

Yes I am for a pro team on Long Island. I think the time is right and there is still some room for a team to find a stadium. I would hope that it would be in Nassau County perhaps where Roosevelt Field is now just standing idly. There are plenty of fans on Long Island to keep a team going. J.F.

GET GOOD TEAM

I favor a professional baseball team for Long Island but I am not sure if it will be a financial success. So much depends on whether the team will be a winner or not that it is hard to predict financial success. The fans will not support mediocre or poor ball so if owners want to make out they had better get a good team. L.H.

EXPENSIVE STARS

Judging by the performance of the New York Mets, I would say that the "Question" almost answers itself. The salaries and independent attitude of the star players have reached such astronomical levels as to make it virtually impossible to earn a profit without raising ticket prices to an unaffordable level. Our racetrack at Roosevelt Field certainly didn't respond to fan fever and I don't believe that professional baseball would fare any better. The star players are quite used to exorbitant salaries and I can't visualize a Long Island site bringing about a change in that area. I want to only one game at the beginning of the Shea season and despite all the "hoop-la" with newly acquired expensive stars, the visiting team managed to establish many runs in the first inning with a lackadaisical performance on the part of our "stars." There are a number of economic and tax problems also facing us as well and I just don't believe that Long Island enthusiasm could possible match the expense of introducing professional baseball to these shores. P.G.S.

Discovery!

Campaign '92

By Mollie Gussow

As the world turns and changes, I often think back when I voted for the first time. I felt so important, when I reached my 21st birthday and was able to vote. That was 62 years ago. Nothing could have stopped me from not voting. Everything seem so civilized and simple. We felt sure whoever became president would work for the people, and represent us honestly and favorably. We really wanted to believe it.

There was no television in those days for us to watch what Congress or the White House were doing. What they agreed on, or disagreed on: We only knew the final decisions made, and we hoped for the best and accepted it.

I wonder, if we were naive, and better off then. Are we smarter today or more curious and want to know too much? We had bad times then too, but we still had peace of mind, and felt our dignitaries were representing us properly.

I'm thinking of our campaign season now, in comparison. We are promised whatever the candidates know we want and need, and with the same breath we are told we have no budget to work with. Now we are in a deep recession. We are promised jobs for everyone who wants to work. Where? Hired by whom? Most of the small and large firms are out of business, or have moved out of town, or in another country.

There are so many questions to ask, but whom do we ask, and are there any answers? The right hand may not know what the left hand is doing. If this is going on for a long time, why did Congress quietly vote themselves a raise in salary last year? These are the people we voted in, to represent us.

I feel very sad about this situation. It has to be a government for the people, so we can have peace of mind too.

Now we have a third candidate who's in a world of his own. How can he feel for the person in need? He has enough to buy his presidency. The world is turning too fast, and changing as it turns.

We all got used to a better way of life, and nobody wants to go backwards. Our right foot is always forward to go ahead, and we are waiting and hoping, and praying for the right direction.

The saying "Those were the good old days." What made them so good? We really had very little, and were satisfied with less, to a degree, and life continued with an easier mind, because we never gave up hope. The world today is so much more confusing and complicated. It's hard to plan ahead.

It was simple to vote when I was 21. Today we don't make our minds up how to vote. It's getting close to voting time, and there are many people, besides myself still juggling the thoughts around.

So far the candidates are busy belittling each other, and the third candidate is confusing the situation altogether.

We can't even go to sleep and have pleasant dreams anymore, like it used to be. We worry whether our children are safe wherever they are. We worry about our jobs. If we lose it, will we ever find another one. We worry what the future has in store for us. A good sleep becomes a nightmare.

Being 83 years old, and depending on Social Security, I keep dreaming the Social Security Trust Fund is empty, and at the same time, I've lived my life, but I would like to be around yet when things change back to a quieter time. I know what that feels like. I would like to see people smiling again and enjoying life. I hope our young men don't become marching men again, with all the unrest around the world. Their youth is an important time of their life. A time of fun, and excitement of reaching adulthood and you relive it many times during your life.

Am I now back again to our voting. Will the third candidate whose in and out be a spoiler, and confuse us even more? There's a lot of negative campaigning. So far its only promises, promises, and promises, and time is running out. I know campaign '92 is on everyone's mind.

Maybe I'm asking for too much, but its nice to dream at any age. I do remember better times, even though I've been in the big depression once myself.

I'm trying so hard to understand it all, but my time is running out too. We live longer today and at this age, its difficult to watch the world go by so fast, and we are getting slower all the time. At this moment our world is unclear and uncertain. I wish I was 21 again and be excited again during voting time, but 21 happens only once in a lifetime.

May the best man win, for everybody's sake.

Wine Talk

By Richard Nalley

I've seen too many wine experts confuse French and American wines in blind tastings for too many years not to realize that American wines hold their own in major league company.

But just how superb America's top wines have become can still be a surprise. After putting together a series of tastings over the past week, I came away very impressed with the pleasure potential of California's Bordeaux-style proprietary reds.

These high-end wines are blended mainly from the familiar Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot grapes, but they have chosen to call themselves by proprietary trade names like Opus One, Rubicon and Meritage instead of by grape name.

Sometimes this is because, like many fine Bordeaux reds, the blends don't contain the U.S. regulation minimum 75 percent of any one grape. More often it's just because they want the proprietary name to gain its own cachet. After all, Chateau Margaux's label doesn't say what grapes it contains.

Figuring — rightly — that these proprietary names might confuse American consumers, a group of California producers got together in 1988 to devise a name to describe the whole new category of Bordeaux-style blends. After holding a contest they settled on "Meritage," a made-up word that rhymes with "heritage."

Though much-derided at the time, Meritage seems to be creeping into the wine vocabulary. The Meritage Association sent me a list an arm long of restaurants that have a "Meritage" section on their wine lists, and several prominent Association members, such as Franciscan and Dry Creek Vineyards, actually call their blended wines "Meritage."

Though the name supposedly applies only to wineries that actually belong to the Meritage Association, perhaps the surest sign that Meritage is becoming accepted is that you now hear waiters and wine shop people call wines "Meritage-type" whether they belong to the group or not.

For the most part, these red wine blends ain't cheap. Since most of the wineries who make them consider them "reserve" quality wines, they tend to price them accordingly.

At between $18 and $55 these are not everyday wines, but the best of them definitely provide special occasion satisfaction and cellaring potential.

A selection of the best, in ascending order of price:

Dry Creek Vineyards 1987 Meritage, Dry Creek Valley ($25). From an excellent red wine vintage Dave Stare has produced a wine that neatly balances refinement with Californian rich, ripe berry and chocolate flavors.

Fish hasn't proven to be the "brain food" proclaimed by folklore, but it's a smart person who chooses seafood for healthful meals. Both finfish and shellfish are outstanding choices with plenty of appeal for both the palate and the heart.

One of seafood's health benefits lies in its minimal fat content. Even oilier fish such as pompano, herring and salmon can be considered low-fat; many of the fattier varieties contain less than 10 percent fat by weight.

Seafood also offers advantages in the type of fat it contains. What little fat there is in seafood tends to be polyunsaturated.

Other tips to help you enjoy heart-wise finfish and shellfish:

READER RATINGS

Q. When dining out with a group of ten or twelve people is it necessary to wait until everyone at the table is served before starting to eat?

A. No; at a large table such as you describe it is usual to begin eating when three or four people have been served. It would be thoughtful for the host or hostess, if there is any, to urge guests to begin eating so their food will not get cold.

Q. If an expert loaf of bread is served to a couple in a restaurant, who should cut and serve it?

A. It would be gracious for the man to cut several slices from the bread for his woman companion, and himself. Then he would offer the bread to her before taking his own portion.

The votes are in — A great party

It all comes down to this. After months, nay, years of electioneering, by the time we go to bed Nov. 3, a president will most likely have been elected. George Bush? Bill Clinton? No more guessing; now it's just a waiting game.

Festivities will be taking place in party headquarters all over the country. Half of them will fold their tents quietly, but the other half will have a real ball.

All across the country interested citizens will be watching results throughout the evening. Since debate and discussion are an integral part of the political scene, seize this quadrennial opportunity to host a very special kind of party.

If by some chance you don't have a television set, then you don't have a party unless you rent one — now! In fact, it's better to have two or three sets, depending on how many concerned citizens you are expecting.

If possible, set up the television sets in different rooms so that people can watch the commentator of their choice or can gather together according to their political alliances.

You may not have to rent extra sets. Check with friends who are coming and inquire if they have a portable model that you could borrow for the evening. If so, pick it up ahead of time instead of having them bring it over. This does not push a favor too far and also eliminates last-minute scurrying around for extension cords.

Make up your own invitation and have it copied. As much as possible, make it look like a ballot. Draw a vertical format and title it "Election Party Ballot." Draw horizontal lines across the page, plus one narrow one at the right-hand edge of the sheet.

In each block print or type in one piece of information: Tom and Suzy Brown, address, Election Night Party, time, buffet supper. In the small squares on the right hand, put in X's to give a real ballot look.

Have a larger grid at the bottom and head it "Conditions." Then write in "No electioneering" and "You must have voted." Anyone who refrains from voting should not be involved in arguing about who did or did not get in.

It's best not to call the party for a precise time. Better to say 8 p.m. on, 9 p.m. on, etc. For anyone on the West Coast it will be a late night unless the results are a landslide, which is not what the experts are expecting.

Newspapers will be printing charts with the all-important Electoral College votes. Make a number of copies of this critical list and pass them out for keeping your score, though it's pretty hard to get ahead of those television commentators.

Since this may be a long evening, don't serve spirits. With animated conversation and intense feelings, one tends to drink a bit more. It is much wiser to serve beer, wine, flavored waters, pitchers of iced tea, coffee and a non-alcoholic fruit punch.

Have an All-American buffet table including ham, sliced turkey, barbecued chicken wings, sliced roast beef, and beef or chicken salad. Coleslaw is everyone's favorite, and it doesn't wilt, which keeps the table looking fresher. Try a hot corn pudding as a vegetable. Pretty hard to get more American than that. Forget dessert; just have a selection of cookies. By the time your guests arrive at that part of the evening, they will either have tasted bitter defeat or indulged in sweet victory.

CORN PUDDING

- 3 eggs
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- Large pinch nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon allspice
- 1 cup milk
- 1 (1-pound) can cream-style corn
- 2 tablespoons melted butter
- 2 teaspoons butter
- Yields 6 servings.

Preheat oven to 350 F. Break eggs into mixing bowl. Sprinkle on cornstarch, sugar, nutmeg and allspice and beat mixture with wire whisk until it is quite smooth. Stir in milk, corn and melted butter.

Grease 1-quart souffle dish with butter and pour in pudding mixture. Put souffle dish in pan containing hot water that reaches a third of the height of the dish.

Bake until pudding is set — about 1 hour or until knife plunged into center comes out clean. Serve directly from souffle dish.

Note: Pudding mixture can be prepared and poured into souffle dish in advance, and refrigerated for 3 to 4 hours, but the baking must be done when needed.

Extra souffles can be prepared and poured into the souffle dish and baked after the first one has baked for a half-hour, or after it has been served, depending on how many other food choices there are on the buffet table.

READER RATINGS

Q. In a good restaurant that we attended recently an accordion player came around to each table and asked whether we had any requests. My wife made a request and the musician played it. Is this music provided by the restaurant or should I have tipped? J.B.

A. Generally the musicians are paid by the restaurant to entertain all of the diners. But when you make a special request it is expected that a small tip will accompany the request. In this case $1 would have been a fair amount.

Q. I have noticed that Chinese restaurants do not provide knives when serving meals. Can you tell me the reason for this practice? A. In the orient food is cut into small pieces before it is cooked. This has the advantage of reducing cooking time and also minimizing any loss of nutrients. In China it is considered bad manners to cut food at the table.

Q. Recently while dining in a Portuguese restaurant, my friend and I were served a sweet white wine with our dessert. Would you have any idea what the name of this wine would be? It was delicious.

A. You may have been served one of Portugal's sweet white ports. They come from the area of Oporto and I agree with you that they are very good and surprisingly little known by Americans.

Q. When dining out I have often seen women wearing their coats to the table, then depositing them on the back of their chairs. However, I have never seen a man do the same thing with his overcoat. Is there really a difference in etiquette for men and women in regard to checking coats?

A. Yes, a man always checks his coat in a restaurant. But a woman has the option of checking her coat or bringing it to the table.

Speedy skillet suppers celebrate fall's arrival

When I was a child, skillet suppers were my mom's best bet for speedy eats — steaming, satisfying concoctions of rice or pasta, vegetables and meat that simply simmered on the stove top to become complete, one-dish meals.

The method holds up for today's hurried households as well.

Just toss all recipe ingredients into a single skillet, then simmer your way to a quick dinner that also has minimal cleanup — one-dish cooking, after all, means one-dish washing as well.

Aside from easy preparation, there's another reason skillet suppers are a favorite this time of year.

Appetites beaten down by the summer's heat begin to flourish with the first few bursts of autumn's chilly air, and there's nothing quite so satisfying to a hearty hunger as some down-home cooking being simmered on the stove and then served up in steaming, heaping portions.

One all-time favorite is Creamy Green Bean Skillet, a mouth-watering mixture of hamburger, cream of mushroom soup, green beans, onions and fettuccini noodles.

Another fun-meat-and-macaroni idea is Turkey-and-Tomato Twist, which laces canned stewed tomatoes with sliced carrots, ground turkey and curly rotini pasta — and then tops it all off with grated Cheddar.

Of course, pasta isn't the only starch of skillet choice. Rice is perhaps even more favored fare and you can't go wrong with a skillet classic such as Stovetop Jambalaya, with its striking combination of shrimp, sausage and slightly spicy seasonings. Be certain to purchase the shrimp already peeled and deveined for the fastest fixings.

If even the 35 to 40 minutes required to prepare these recipes is too much time for your dinner-time rush hour, consider skillet suppers based on flavored rice mixes — they take only 15 minutes to prepare.

Just select any of the myriad rice mixes on the market — from broccoli-Cheddar to creamy mushroom — prepare according to package directions and then add your choices of frozen or fresh vegetables, canned beans and pre-cooked meats during the simmering stage.

Two favorites: Spanish rice packed with shredded roast beef slices, freshly sliced zucchini and kernels of corn, broccoli-Cheddar rice faced with broccoli florets and drained black beans.

- rooms
- 1 bell pepper, chopped
 - 1 stalk celery, chopped
 - 1 cup milk
 - 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
 - 4 ounces uncooked fettuccini
- Yields 4 to 6 servings.
Preparation time: 35 minutes.
Cook and stir hamburger and onion in large skillet; drain.
Stir in green beans with liquid and remaining ingredients. Heat to boiling, reduce heat. Cover and simmer, stirring occasionally, until fettuccini is tender, about 25 minutes.

- ### TURKEY-AND-TOMATO TWIST
- 1 pound ground turkey
 - 1 tablespoon minced onion
 - 1 (15½-ounce) can stewed tomatoes
 - 1 (16-ounce) bag frozen sliced carrots, thawed
 - 4 stalks celery, sliced
 - ½ teaspoon cumin
 - 1 teaspoon coriander
 - 1 cup water
 - 4 ounces uncooked rotini
 - 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
- Yields 4 to 6 servings.
Preparation time: 35 minutes.
Cook and stir ground turkey and onion in large skillet; drain.
Stir in remaining ingredients. Heat to boiling, reduce heat. Cover and simmer, stirring occasionally, until pasta is tender, about 25 minutes. Sprinkle on grated Cheddar just prior to serving.

- ### STOVETOP JAMBALAYA
- 1 pound medium shrimp, peeled and deveined
 - 1 tablespoon olive oil
 - 4 ounces thinly sliced smoked sausage
 - 1 bell pepper, cut into ½-inch cubes
 - 2 teaspoons minced garlic
 - 1 cup long-grain rice
 - 1 (15½-ounce) can tomatoes with juice, coarsely chopped
 - 2 cups chicken broth
 - 1 teaspoon dried basil
 - ½ teaspoon dried tarragon
 - ½ teaspoon paprika
 - ¼ teaspoon red pepper
- Yields 4 to 6 servings.
Preparation time: 40 minutes.
Split shrimp lengthwise; set aside.

In large skillet, heat oil and sauté sausage, pepper and garlic 4 minutes or until sausage begins to brown. Add rice, tomatoes, chicken broth, basil, tarragon, paprika and red pepper; bring to boil. Lower heat and simmer 20 minutes or until rice is almost tender.

Stir in shrimp and cook, covered, until shrimp turn pink, about 5 minutes.

QUICK TIP

For a speedy fruit sauce, simply heat raspberry jam in a small pan, adding a bit of water or juice to thin. Then, drizzle the sauce on pear halves, ice cream or pound cake for a special treat.

- ### CREAMY GREEN BEAN SKILLET
- 1 pound hamburger
 - 1 tablespoon minced onion
 - 1 (16-ounce) can green beans
 - 1 (10½-ounce) can condensed cream of mushroom soup
 - 1 (4 ounce) can chopped mush-

Recipes from the cabbage patch

Cabbage may be pretty mundane fare, but it's well loved the world over: in German sauerkraut, Scandinavian stuffed cabbage rolls, Korean kimchi, British "bubble and squeak" (a potato and cabbage dish), and in our own New England boiled dinner (corned beef and cabbage) and coleslaw.

Belonging to the same family as broccoli, cauliflower, brussels sprouts and kale, cabbage is plentiful and cheap all year around: young cabbage, regardless of season, may be referred to as "spring" cabbage.

Choose heads that are firm and heavy for their size. Outer leaves should look crisp, not wilted. Wrap in plastic and refrigerate; cabbage will stay fresh two weeks or more. In fact, because cabbage has such a long cellar life, it has long been a staple in winter diets in areas where other green vegetables are unavailable.

Cabbage comes in two main varieties: smooth-leaf (like red and green cabbage) and with curled leaves (like Savoy and Napa cabbage).

Shredded red cabbage is ideal in salads, where it adds color as well as crunch, and in sweet and sour dishes where it is often combined with apples. Add a little lemon juice or vinegar to cooking water — this will keep red cabbage from going purple when cooked.

Green (also called white) cabbage is the most widely used all-purpose cabbage in this country, while Savoy cabbage is a lesser-known deep green wrinkled-leaf head cabbage.

To cut perfect cabbage wedges, halve and then quarter a whole cabbage. (For larger cabbages, halve each wedge again, if desired.) Place wedges flat on a cutting board. Use a sharp knife to trim off core, leaving about 1/4 inch to hold leaves together as they cook.

To microwave cabbage wedges (from a 1 1/2-pound head), arrange wedges spoke-fashion in a 10-inch microwave-safe casserole, with points toward corners. Add 1/4 cup water. Cover and microwave at HIGH (100 percent power) setting 10 to 16 minutes. Let stand, covered, 3 minutes before draining and serving with cheese sauce, hollandaise sauce or butter. Yields 4 to 6 servings.

Or microwave cabbage leaves shredded: Shredding exposes more surface area so cabbage steams quickly for a crisp-tender texture. Combine 1 (1-pound) head shredded cabbage with 1/4 cup water in a 2-quart microwave-safe casserole. Cover tightly and microwave at HIGH (100 percent power) setting 4 to 6 minutes, stirring every

3 minutes. Let stand, covered, 3 minutes. Drain well and serve with butter and salt or vinegar. Yields 4 servings. (A 1-pound head yields 3 1/4 to 4 1/4 cups shredded cabbage.)

Chinese (otherwise known as Napa or "celery" cabbage) has long stalks with pale green crinkled leafy edges. When shopping, look for firm, crisp, fresh-looking leaves. Use in salads, slaws, stir-fry dishes — or microwave and serve as a side dish.

To microwave, rinse 1 pound of Chinese cabbage well; cut off and discard root ends. Shred and microwave as above for 4 to 7 minutes, stirring every 3 minutes. Let stand, covered, several minutes before serving. Yields 3 to 4 servings.

Be careful not to overcook cabbage, or it will give off an unappetizing sulphurous odor. Microwave for shortest time given and check for desired degree of doneness. Remember that cabbage will continue to cook during standing time.

Recipes in this column are tested in 625- to 700-watt microwave ovens.

COTTAGE CABBAGE CASSEROLE

1 (1 1/2 pound) green cabbage
1/4 cup water
6 strips bacon
1 (10 3/4-ounce) can condensed Cheddar cheese soup
1/2 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 (3-ounce) can french fried onion rings
Paprika

Yields: 6 servings.
Preparation time: 10 minutes.
Cooking time: 20 to 27 minutes.
Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power).

Wash and core cabbage. Chop into bite-size chunks and combine in 2-quart microwave-safe casserole with water. Cover and microwave 10 to 13 minutes, or until cabbage is crisp-tender, stirring every 5 minutes. Drain well and return to casserole.

Place bacon strips between double thicknesses of paper towel. Place on a microwave-safe plate and microwave for 4 to 6 minutes. Set aside.

In small mixing bowl stir together cheese soup, milk and pepper. Pour over cabbage. Crumble bacon over all and toss to combine. Cover and microwave 5 to 6 minutes, or until cabbage is tender.

Garnish with onions and dust lightly with paprika. Cover and microwave 1 to 2 minutes longer. Serve hot.

Dr. Abraham: I am a 16-year-old in love with this guy. I have been for close to a year, but I now have a problem.

I moved to Wyoming with my mother and now live far away from this special guy. We were really good friends and semi-involved, but not real serious. You know, kissing and hugging, and maybe a little deeper, but not too much. I think I can tell this guy really cares for me. But how can I be sure? Guys do love to see us girls for tricks.

I will see this guy next summer when I go back to my hometown, but I don't want it to be a summer affair. I want it to last longer. I have a choice in July about moving back to my hometown.

Do you think this guy will wait for me? What should I do? — All Thumbs,

All Thumbs: I hope you'll think about writing to me again and giving me more details. When you talk about moving back, would it be temporary or permanent? Are you in school? If so, would a permanent move be difficult for you to adjust to? Has he actually told you how he feels about you? Do you think you can believe what he says about his feelings for you? How does he act toward you? Does he write or telephone, and if he does, are those contacts warm and sincere?

Answers to questions such as some of those may help you figure out whether he will wait for you. Such answers may also help me be of some assistance to you.

Dr. Abraham: I'm a responsible 15-year-old girl who gets better-than-average grades. My problem is that my parents say I'm not allowed to date guys who are two years ahead of me in school. I think that this is very unfair.

I get asked out by a lot of upper classmen who are also responsible. I try to explain to my parents that I would never go out with a drug addict or anyone like that.

The thing that really upsets me is that my parents get to meet all the guys I go out with — matter of fact, they insist on it. Also, I have never given my parents any reason not to trust me.

Your comments please! — No Name.

No Name: If your parents continue to meet the guys you go out with (which seems to mean that they may not be totally against some of the ones you know), they will probably come around in time to your point of view.

It will take a while and some patience on your part though. The fact that you and the guys you want to date are responsible people will help your case, so try to go on with possible involvements with people of that type.

Although your parents' attitude is hard for you to understand, it is no doubt based on their concern and love for you. I know so well how that sounds to you, but it is usually true.

Dr. Abraham: My parents are worried because I've decided what kind of work I want to do when I'm all the way through with my education. Because I'm not even out of high school, they think it's just too early for me to make such decisions.

I don't feel my job choice is cast in stone, as they say, so I'm not even putting it into writing here. But for now I'm comfortable with it.

My folks aren't, though. They like to talk about "options," "opportunities," "new products" and things like that.

How can I get them to quiet down and take it easy? I'd appreciate your help. — Mac.

Mac: Here are two thoughts that may help put your and your parents' minds at ease: There is research that indicates that most people switch jobs and even occupational areas in their adult lives from two to seven or more times; some well-known show business names are among those who studied in areas that are totally unrelated to their present careers.

The show-biz people (and their college majors) were listed in the August 1989 issue of YM magazine: Katharine Hepburn (history), Dustin Hoffman (music), William Hurt (theology), Mick Jagger (economics), Joan Rivers (English literature), Tom Selleck (business), James Stewart (architecture). And how about Stewart's recent "occupation," a book of poetry?

So you're in pretty interesting company in selecting a field but still recognizing that goal changes can occur.

Your parents are also on the right track by discouraging you from making too strong a commitment. If one considers how many new job areas opened up in the past few years, just think of the probability that numerous occupations unknown now may be available when you complete your education.

Robin Leach visits celebrity kitchens

By Molly Woolfe

The rich and famous aren't so different from you and me. Except they're rich. And famous.

"And they consume more champagne and caviar than we'll ever be able to afford," said Robin Leach, host of ABC's "Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous." "And the help does the washing up."

Details, details. Nevertheless, even luminaries share the secret joy of retiring to the kitchen to baste, chop, saute, simmer and taste. They relish compliments from guests served a delightful meal and are flattered when pressed for a recipe.

The proof is not in the pudding but in "The Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous Cookbook" (Viking Studio Books), compiled by Leach and cookbook author Diane Rozas to toast "Lifestyle's" 10th anniversary.

The lush, oversize book, suitable for the coffee table, features almost 200 recipes from 55 trendsetters buttonholed by Leach over the last decade. Readers are whisked right into upper-crust kitchens, favorite haunts and even galas like a party for Robert De Niro at the Cannes Film Festival.

The well-heeled contributors, who range from Ivana Trump to Randy Travis, also offer entertaining tips. The Donald's ex, for instance, recommends being organized. Poor Ivana needs notebooks to keep track of place settings since she has 30 sets of dishes in her Palm Beach home alone. Travis, like a true Southern gentleman, insists that drop-in friends stay for dinner.

So that wedding invitation from Liz and Larry never arrived? No matter. Leach includes the entire reception menu so overlooked guests can feast on smoked salmon, lobster salad on artichokes, fettuccine with seafood, roast chicken with morel sauce and chocolate tulips.

Lavish color plates depict the tempting glory of Martha Stewart's Old-Fashioned Bottom-Crust Apple Pie, Gregory Peck's Spaghettini With Seafood and Prince and Princess Michael of Kent's adored pralines.

The British-born Leach, who admits his refrigerator is stocked with caviar and champagne these days, contributed his own recipes for rich-and-famous chicken, rice pilaf and asparagus with hazelnut vinaigrette.

Not one star refused to share a recipe, and many volunteered their favorites upon learning he was cooking up the 280-page collection, Leach said. Roger Moore even dashed off a letter vowing his recipe would be the best.

"Roger is a great chef and lives in the South of France along the hills above the Riviera, so he can give you incredible recipes. I thought we were going to get this incredible seven-course lavish meal," Leach guffawed. "Instead, he sent me a recipe for English eggs!"

"But as it so happens, these are great eggs. It's the best egg recipe I've ever seen in my life."

Here are some of the simpler recipes for cooks with a taste for the rich-and-famous lifestyle, and middle-class wallets. Bon appetit!

ROGER MOORE'S ENGLISH EGGS

- 2 tablespoons (1/4 stick) unsalted butter
 - 1 medium tomato, peeled, seeded and chopped
 - 2 scallions, trimmed and thinly sliced
 - 4 eggs
 - Salt and freshly ground pepper
 - 1/4 pound (about 3/4 cup) freshly grated sharp Cheddar cheese
- Yields 2 servings.

In small saute pan, melt 1 tablespoon of butter over high heat. Add tomatoes and scallions and cook until scallions have softened, about 3 minutes. Transfer to bowl. Melt remaining tablespoon of butter in pan.

Meanwhile, beat eggs until well blended in small mixing bowl. Add salt and pepper to taste. Pour eggs into saute pan, reduce heat to moderate, and scramble by folding gently — not stirring — until eggs have set, about 3 minutes. Gently fold in scallion-tomato mixture.

Transfer to serving platter and sprinkle with Cheddar. Serve immediately.

LIZ & LARRY'S SMOKED SALMON

(Appetizer at their wedding feast)

- 8 ounces smoked salmon, sliced very thin
 - 4 tablespoons (1/2 stick) unsalted butter, softened
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
 - 4 to 6 thin slices dark bread
 - 1 small lemon
 - Several sprigs fresh dill
- Yields 4 servings.

Arrange salmon slices on 4 chilled individual serving plates. In small bowl, work softened butter and salt and pepper with fork until it is smooth and spreadable.

Transfer to small ramekin (baking dish) and smooth surface of butter with back of small knife. Place filled ramekin on serving tray.

Remove crusts from bread, halve bread slices and arrange attractively around ramekin. Cut lemon in half lengthwise and cut each half into quarters. Garnish each plate with lemon wedges and sprigs of dill. Pass tray of bread and butter on the side.

RANDY TRAVIS' FRIED CHICKEN

- 1 small chicken, 2 1/2 to 3 pounds, cut into 8 pieces
 - Vegetable shortening for frying
 - 1 cup all-purpose flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
- Yields 4 servings.

Pat chicken pieces dry, place on large plate or platter, cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate overnight.

In electric frying pan or skillet, add enough shortening to measure 1 1/4 to 2 inches deep. Heat to 375 F.

In brown paper bag, combine flour, salt and pepper. Close tightly and shake to mix. Add chicken pieces one at a time, and shake bag to coat completely. Remove chicken, shake off excess flour, and drop into shortening. Cover and fry for about 5 minutes.

Turn chicken over, cover again, and cook for about 5 more minutes. Reduce heat to 350 F, and cook until chicken is golden-brown and cooked through, about 20 to 25 minutes. Turn chicken only once during this time. Drain on paper towels and keep warm until ready to serve.

MARTHA STEWART'S OLD-FASHIONED BOTTOM-CRUST APPLE PIE

For the pastry:

- 8 tablespoons (1 stick) cold unsalted butter, cut into small pieces
 - 1 cup all-purpose flour
 - 1 teaspoon sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 3 to 4 tablespoons ice water
- For the filling:

- 4 tart apples, peeled, cored and thinly sliced
- 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 tablespoons (1/4 stick) unsalted butter

Pinch ground mace
Pinch grated nutmeg
Confectioners' sugar
1 1/4 cups heavy cream

Yields 1 8-inch pie.

To prepare pastry, combine butter, flour, sugar and salt in bowl of food processor. Process until mixture resembles coarse meal.

Add ice water bit by bit until dough pulls away from bowl and forms a solid mass. This process should take less than 1 minute.

Transfer dough to floured work surface. Gather dough into a ball, flatten it slightly, and roll into 12-inch circle. Fit pastry into 8-inch pie plate and chill for 20 minutes.

Preheat oven to 375 F. Fill chilled crust with apple slices, then sprinkle with 1/2 cup sugar and the cinnamon. Dot with butter. Sprinkle with mace and nutmeg and then fold overhanging pastry edges over the apples.

Bake for 45 minutes, or until apple filling is bubbly and the crust is golden. Cool slightly, then slide pie out of dish and onto serving plate. Sprinkle crust with the confectioners' sugar.

Just before serving, whip cream with remaining 2 tablespoons of sugar. Serve each slice with a dollop of whipped cream.

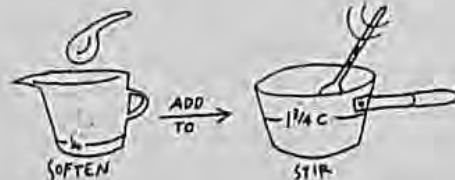

KITCHEN HINTS

Gelatin can jell almost any liquid

It must be handled correctly.

Here are the simple rules:

1. Pour 1/4-cup liquid in a cup, sprinkle on 1 tablespoon plain gelatin; put aside to soften the granules.
2. Heat 1 1/4 cups liquid over medium fire; scrape in softened gelatin. Stir until cloudy liquid turns clear as the gelatin dissolves.
3. Never boil gelatin. Excessive heat kills its protein and jelling power.

Garden Talk

For any gardener, the longest season is the one when the only color around is in the pages of the latest seed catalogs. A good way to combat those winter-season blues with some real-live color so that February and March don't have to be just shades of gray is to plant some early-spring-blooming bulbs now.

Early-blooming tulips, narcissus, crocuses and other minor bulbs will grace any garden with flowers even while surrounded by snow. These delightful, small flowers are subtle and delicate, so for greatest impact, plant them in large snowdrifts. Some specific bulbs you might consider are:

- Species crocus. Naturalizes well in full sun or shade. Blooms in February and grows 4 to 6 inches high. Plant 10 to 20 bulbs per square foot.

- Dwarf iris. Grows in sunny beds, borders, rock gardens and also containers. Blooms from February to March and grows 4 to 6 inches high. Plant 15 bulbs per square foot.

- Waterlily tulip. Will thrive in beds, borders or rock gardens. Blooms March to April and grows 6 to 10 inches high. Plant five bulbs per square foot.

- Glory of the snow. Grows easily in rich, well-drained soil. Good companion to forsythia. Blooms late February to early April and grows 4 to 8 inches high. Plant 20 bulbs per square foot.

- Siberian squill. Plant in a sunny rock garden or shaded woodland. Makes a good companion to snowdrops. Blooms March to April and grows 4 to 6 inches high. Plant 12 to 20 bulbs per square foot.

- Narcissus Cyclamineus hybrids. This includes tete-a-tete, February silver and February gold. All are at home in sun or semishade, rock gardens, beds or woodland. Blooms February to March and grows 6 to 10 inches high. Plant five to seven bulbs per square foot.

Caution: Buy only hybrids that have been professionally propagated — this species is endangered in the wild.

- Snowdrops. Plant in sun or partial shade and in fairly moist soil. Blooms late February to early March and grows 3 to 6 inches high. Plant 10 to 20 bulbs per square foot.

Q. As an avid admirer of the poinsettia plant, I would like to know if there are any seed companies that offer poinsettia seeds through their catalogs.

A. Unfortunately, poinsettias are only started from cuttings.

Our Children

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Books teach kids the mysteries of science

Dear Parents: Let's close in on your 8- to 12-year-olds with two fascinating series of books aimed at that age group. The target is to help make science and the environment attractive to them.

One reason why these subjects are so important is because our kids — in general, but maybe not your own child — are lagging behind those in other countries. The Educational Testing Service reported that while our 9-year-olds scored third in a worldwide survey of science and math, they fell to 13th place by the time they were 13 years old.

To be successful in the technological world, mastery in science areas has become more crucial than ever.

Reading and learning about the environment need not be drudgery and drill. These two series demonstrate that they can be looked at enjoyably, maybe even with a refreshing approach related to the sometimes overused word, "fun."

The first series, published by John Wiley and Sons Inc., includes three titles: "Looking at Insects," "Looking at Plants" and "Looking at the Environment." All were written by David Suzuki in an entertaining and friendly style based on inexpensive projects and other activities.

Astounding facts and a hands-on method that uses direct child involvement can provide exciting activities for 8- to 12-year-olds.

I was tantalized, as you may be, by enticing facts like these: Tropical rain forests provide 70 percent of plants used in medicine to treat cancer patients; the world's oldest living tree is 4,600 years old; bees make more than 80,000 trips to flowers to gather a jar's worth of honey; a tarantula's bite causes no more pain and swelling than a bee sting.

Among the activities are starting a garden in a jar, getting a cricket to tell what the outside temperature is, testing the air for pollution and many more.

Parents can also be caught up in a spirit of "I didn't know that" as they join their youngsters in a reading action experience.

The second series focuses on four titles and themes, "Light," "Water," "Action" and "Structure," also published by John Wiley and Sons Inc.

Colorful graphics and photographs, easy-to-read explanations and child-oriented projects are plentifully included in these books written and pictorially presented by Kim Taylor.

Here are just a few of the topics the author provides, with bright colors and childhood experiments to attract youngsters' active participation:

- Light: Unravel the mystery of why a glowworm glows, how the moon shines when it has no light of its own, and where rainbows come from.

- Water: What clouds are made of, how dams operate, and how plants drink.

- Action: Why cycling is easier than running, how a cat leaps, and what is really happening when a bird flaps its wings.

- Structure: What gives a shell its shape, what a rhinoceros' horn and a parrot's beak are made of, and how hollow structures like a bicycle tire can be strong.

Referred to as a "Flying Start Science" series, these books never forget the goal of having children "enjoy the process and the results" (a wise comment of educator Dr. Paul Witty).

Fitness Forum

By Susan Duerksen

Twenty years ago, a zealous young physician-researcher left Florida's tuberculosis and sickle cell wars and set up shop in a trailer in the middle of an upscale San Diego retirement community called Rancho Bernardo. She was looking for old folks willing to talk about their health.

Nearly the whole town signed up, and Dr. Elizabeth Barrett-Connor began tracking the habits, feelings, illnesses and general physical status of more than 5,000 adults. Over the years, as they got sick or died, she and her colleagues took note and drew conclusions.

The Rancho Bernardo Heart and Chronic Disease Study, now one of the longest-running and most respected observational health studies in the United States, with 3,000 residents still participating, has yielded significant findings on heart disease risks and has hoisted its founder to international prominence.

It was all an accident, she says.

"My whole life has been a surprise," said Barrett-Connor, who, at 57, chairs a medical-school department, teaches, lectures internationally and continues to write or co-write about 20 papers a year, most from the Rancho Bernardo study. "I really never expected to be doing anything I'm doing."

First of all, her original plan to lead the exotic and altruistic life of a missionary nurse derailed when she applied to medical schools at a friend's last-minute suggestion. Following a career path seldom taken by women of the day, she became a physician, specializing in tropical and infectious diseases.

She later stumbled into what would become her life's work, epidemiology, tracking disease patterns in populations in an effort to build an academic research career that involved no test tubes or test animals.

Her move to San Diego also was unplanned. She was happily researching infectious diseases at the University of Miami when her husband, pediatrician James Connor, was offered a job at the University of California at San Diego.

"They had to take me to get him," she said.

San Diego turned out to have very little sickle cell anemia, her research passion. But UCSD also was fortuitously short on epidemiologists for a new heart disease research project, so Barrett-Connor shifted career paths and took the job.

ACCIDENTAL ACHIEVEMENT

Finally, an accident of overachievement: She says she misunderstood the limited intent of the federal heart disease project and overshot her duty. Instructed only to find 5,000 people and measure the fats in their blood, she didn't realize the National Institutes of Health only wanted preliminary information for a later drug test.

"As long as I was going to spend all that time, I wanted to broaden it out" and make further use of the test population, she says now. "I didn't understand the focus, or I might not have done what I did."

What she did was add a blood-sugar test and some mimeographed questions about diabetes and smoking to the surveys she gave the Rancho Bernardo population she had chosen to study. When the national project ended, she got new grants and kept going on her own.

Through occasional medical tests and lengthy annual questionnaires, her study now tracks behavior and lifestyle along with details of physical and mental health, ranging from bereavement and satisfaction with life to arthritis and memory loss.

Most of the dozens of published findings from the study have dealt with heart-disease risks, many offering advisory information on nutrition, smoking and exercise. For instance, one study found that smokers were more likely to develop potbellies, and another concluded that eating potassium lowers the risk of stroke.

"Because I am a physician, I like to ask the 'so what?' questions about the data," Barrett-Connor said. "We like to focus our papers in a way that's relevant to people."

Sometimes the results don't behave as hoped. In 1984, Barrett-Connor and colleague Lucina Suarez set out to disprove a previous finding that men less educated than their wives had more-than-average chest pain. Instead, they found the men had higher death rates.

"We tried to suppress that paper for a long time," Barrett-Connor said with a wry smile. She theorized the deaths may be linked to the stress of societal expectations.

One major focus of the Rancho Bernardo study has been the hormone estrogen, its role in preventing heart disease and the use of estrogen replacement after menopause. Barrett-Connor now is sought-after internationally as a speaker on the topic.

"She's done very significant research in estrogen and heart disease, and very nicely crosses the bridge between epidemiology and clinical medicine," said Dr. Albert Oberman, director of preventive medicine at the University of Alabama-Birmingham and an American Heart Association official. "I think she has helped the cause of women's health considerably."

But it's not just women's health she's after, Barrett-Connor said.

"I'm interested in women, but I'm really interested in how women are different than men. I think that will give us insights into health and behavior in both sexes. One of the most interesting questions is why do women live longer than men."

THE HEALTHY GOURMET

New cookbook updates old favorites

In bookstores now, the new "Family Circle Cookbook: New Tastes for New Times," by editors of Family Circle and David Ricketts (Simon & Schuster), says everything you ever wanted to know about '90s eating. It is this decade's "Joy of Cooking." At least until the next definitive tome comes out.

Here are old favorites and new ones, trimmed of extra fat, salt and sugar, each with nutritional values. We no longer have to guess about which dishes are fat and which not. Everything is spelled out. Some 700 recipes, healthy and quick the buzzwords here, are the soul of "New Tastes for New Times."

As Family Circle's food editor, Jean Hewitt, says in the preface, "Home cooking has taken a turn for the better — with more variety, newer flavors and better nutrition than ever before. And that's what this book is all about."

Below — a '90s Chocolate Praline Pie and Pound Cake. Pralines are optional.

CHOCOLATE-PRALINE PIE

Pralines
½ cup sugar
¼ cup water
¼ cup blanched slivered almonds
Chocolate Cookie Crust:
28 chocolate wafer cookies
6 tablespoons unsalted butter, melted
Chocolate Filling:
3 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
4 squares (1 ounce each) semi-sweet chocolate, chopped
2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons unsalted butter
1½ teaspoons grated orange zest
½ cup heavy cream, lightly whipped

Yields 10 servings.
Each serving has about 400 calories, 27 grams fat, 90 grams cholesterol and 314 milligrams sodium.

For Pralines: Grease cookie sheet and metal spatula. Stir together sugar and water in small saucepan. Bring to simmer over medium heat, washing down sides of pan with brush dipped in cold water; simmer, without stirring, until mixture turns an amber color, about 20 minutes.

Watch carefully to make sure mixture does not turn dark. Stir in almonds. Quickly pour praline onto prepared cookie sheet. With metal spatula, spread almond praline into a thin sheet; set aside. May be done ahead. Crush and store in an airtight container at room temperature.

Chocolate Cookie Crust: Preheat oven to 375 F. Place chocolate wafer cookies in food processor or working in batches, in blender. Whirl until fine crumbs and melted butter in 9-inch pie plate. Press cookie crumbs evenly over bottom and up side of pie plate. Bake crust in preheated oven for 8 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool.

Chocolate Filling: Combine cornstarch, sugar and salt in heavy saucepan. Stir in milk and chocolate. Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat until mixture thickens and chocolate melts. Beat egg yolks lightly and stir in small amount of chocolate mixture. Pour yolk mixture back into chocolate mixture, stirring continuously to prevent lumps.

Return saucepan to heat; cook over low heat, stirring constantly about 2 minutes or until mixture is thick; do not let boil or overcook. Remove saucepan from heat. Stir in butter and grated orange zest.

Pour chocolate filling into metal bowl. Place plastic wrap directly on surface of filling. Refrigerate filling 2 hours or until chilled.

To assemble pie: About 1 hour before serving, crush half the praline. Spread crushed praline evenly over bottom of pie crust. Spoon chocolate filling into pie crust. Spoon whipped cream onto center of pie, spreading evenly. Break remaining praline into large pieces and use to garnish top of pie.

PECAN POUND CAKE

1¾ cups all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
1½ cups plus 2 tablespoons (3¼ sticks) unsalted butter, at room temperature
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
½ cup milk
1 cup chopped pecans
1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar

Yields 10 servings.
Each serving has about 400 calories, 25 grams fat, 88 milligrams cholesterol and 140 milligrams sodium.

Preheat oven to 350 F. Grease and flour 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon and ginger onto piece of wax paper. Beat butter in large bowl until smooth. Gradually beat in sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat in vanilla. Beat in flour mixture in three additions, alternating with milk. Begin and end with flour mixture. Stir in pecans.

Scrape batter into prepared pan. Bake in preheated oven for 55 to 60 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cover with aluminum foil if cake begins to brown too much. Cool cake in pan on wire rack 15 minutes. Invert pan and cool cake completely on rack. Serve dust top with confectioners' sugar.

Here's How

By Gene Gary.

Q. We have had a problem with silverfish. These are insidious little bugs that appear on our walls and ceilings. They are easy to catch and kill, but we want to know how to get rid of them and prevent them from reappearing.

We have tried numerous solutions and chemicals, none of which has been effective in ridding us of this problem. Do you have any suggestions?

A. Silverfish can enter the home in several ways. They often come into the home through infested secondhand books, cardboard boxes or old papers. If your home is new, they may have come with the wallboard and green lumber, and found a feast of wood shavings, sawdust and wallpaper paste. Humidity from newly poured cement gives them the dampness they need.

These long-lived nocturnal insects may be making their way inside from flowers near your home's foundation. Preventing and controlling begins outside. Close off any holes around pipes entering the walls. Relocate flowers growing around foundations some distance from the structure because these insects like the mulch in flower beds.

If you collect old books, check all new acquisitions carefully before setting them on your shelves.

Clean out bookcases periodically, shaking out the books for any signs of the insects. Repair any plumbing leaks. Check any lined draperies you have; silverfish often hide between the lining and the fabric.

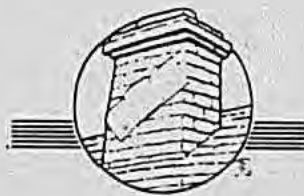

Once indoors, silverfish hide and lay eggs in wall cracks and behind baseboards. Usually, the first signs of the insect itself are damaged papers or books. They eat the sizing on paper and chew ragged holes in the paper itself. They also eat cereals, dead insects, linen, cotton, silk, paste and glue (as used in bookbindings).

One of the best non-toxic controls is technical boric acid. Technical boric acid is tinted blue for easy identification, and is treated electrostatically to cling to the insect's coat. The powder clings to the insect and the poison is carried back to its lair, where others pick it up. It's available at some hardware and builder's supply stores.

A commercial product that is similar (99 percent boric acid) is Roach Prufe, manufactured by Copper Brite Inc., 1482 E. Valley Road, Suite 29, Santa Barbara, CA 93108.

The powder should be blown with a bulb duster into any baseboard crevices and around door and window frames. Control may take several weeks.

Q. We're dying to have a whirlpool tub and are thinking of breaking through a wall in the present small master bath to take in a little bedroom next to it. That room is under the eaves, however, and the walls slant close to the floor.

How would it look to put the whirlpool tub in the center of the space? — L.M.

A. A centered tub is a logical solution. To take full advantage of its starring role, you might want to elevate the tub and sink it in a wide surround, which could also offer extra storage and shelf space.

A second thought: A window replacement might open up the headroom you need to put the tub close to the walls and save floor space if the room is small. At the same time you'd gain natural light, always nice in a bath.

That's what motivated the remodelers of the under-the-eaves bath in this photo. A new, large window breaks the ceiling line, freeing floor space for a luxurious tub set in an Avonite surround.

Discuss your ideas with your contractor or bath designer. There are endless varieties of sizes and styles in factory-made, less-costly window units that are ready to pop into your wall.

Q. There is a large bay window at the end of our living room. The windows come all the way to the floor, and I don't know how to arrange the furniture in there. Is it OK to put something like a love seat that would cover part of the window? — R.R.

A. If you don't mind losing a fraction of your view and the light ... and if it doesn't interfere with whatever curtains you have on the windows, go ahead. In fact, you can probably turn the bay into a cozy secondary seating area.

Add at least one more seating piece, plus a coffee table, lamp table, perhaps even an area rug to claim the space as separate.

Of course, the colors and patterns you choose for this little alcove should relate to what's going on in the main part of the living room.

WINDOW DRESSING — A classic window opens up attic eaves, making room for a deluxe tub set in an Avonite surround.

HOLY SPIRIT YOU WHO SOLVE all problems, who light all roads, so that I can obtain my goals. You who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget all evils against me and that in all instances of my life you are with me, I want in this short prayer to thank you for all things and to confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you ever in spite of all material illusions, I wish to be with you in eternal glory. Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. Say for 3 consecutive days after which the favor requested will be granted even if it appears difficult. This prayer must be published immediately. ANTIQUQUE OR JUNQUE

By James G. McCollam

It pays to restore a chair

Q. I have enclosed a picture of a Hunzinger chair we have purchased. I have removed most of the original red woven cloth that had worn through to the metal.

I also have enclosed a tracing of the Hunzinger marking on the back leg. Should I begin to refinish it? Or is it better left alone?

I would like to know the value of this chair.

A. George Hunzinger patented a variety of novel chairs from 1870 to the turn of the century.

Your chair should be worth $365 to $385 when completely restored. When an antique is in poor condition, it is better to restore it. There is nothing gained by not restoring this chair.

Q. I have a 7 1/2-inch compote with the enclosed mark. It is hand painted with delicate flowers and has what I think is called a reticulated border around the top.

What can you tell me about the origin of this compote and how much it might sell for?

A. This compote was made by the Carl Schumann Co. in Arzberg, Germany, around 1900. An antique dealer would probably have a price of $125 to $135 on this piece.

Q. I have a blue-and-white cup and saucer marked with a picture of a rabbit and "Dedham Pottery." Can you tell me something about their origin and value?

A. Your cup and saucer were made by the Dedham Pottery in Dedham, Mass., in the early 1900s. They would possibly sell for $225 to $235 in good condition.

Q. I have a Leebald penny gumball machine. It has a round glass container in a Victorian-style cast-aluminum base.

What would this machine be worth? It is in good condition.

A. Your gumball machine was made around 1920. There was a revival of Victorian style in the '20s. This machine is quite rare — a true classic.

I find one listed in the price guide "Coin Operated Machines" by Jerry Ayliff for $1,000 to $1,200.

Q. I bought a bowl at a flea market. It is 11 inches wide and 7 inches high, cream colored with pink roses on it.

It has a mark, "KT&K" with S-V below. Could you tell me approximately what it is worth?

A. Your bowl was made by The Knowles, Taylor & Knowles Co. in East Liverpool, Ohio. The S-V means semivitreous china. It was made in the early 20th century and would sell for around $35 to $45 in good condition.

Q. My husband and I were married in 1952, and as a wedding gift, we received a little dish.

I will describe the dish as best I can. It is porcelain with little blue flowers on four corners. The rim is painted blue and gold, the inside of it all white.

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. We recently purchased a male Pomeranian puppy from a pet store. It appears that the puppy has only one testicle. We are not interested in using this dog for breeding purposes. Therefore, should we be concerned about this problem?

A. The normal age at which the testicles descend into the scrotum in dogs varies between birth and 14 weeks of age.

Testicular descent rarely occurs after 3 months and almost never after 6 months of age.

The name of the condition in which the testicles do not descend at the normal time is cryptorchidism. Cryptorchidism is very common in dogs, having been reported in more than 68 breeds. Because most male dogs with only one testicle retained are fertile, the trait is very widely spread among the dog population.

Because of the genetic nature of this condition, and because of an increased risk of cancer, cryptorchid dogs should be neutered. You should take your new puppy to a veterinarian to confirm your diagnosis. You should also notify the pet store where you purchased the puppy of the problem.

JUNIOR EDITION

Aunt Tilly's Corner

At this time of year there is an abundance of Fairs to attend. Some celebrate the end of the year harvest or catch, such as the Oyster Festival. There are the Renaissance and Medieval Festival, which feature crafts games and customs of the Middle Ages. There you can see a jousting exhibition with men and horses in armor. You can eat the types of foods that were served in those days and are only allowed to eat with your fingers! That is quite different from the manners of today.

Some fairs feature different ethnic cultures. You can sample foods such as the Latin American Empanada or the Italian Zeppoli to Nuchom of Vietnam. All in all they are a great learning experience and fun too!

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

When retirement benefits are fully insured

By William M. Acosta

Q. A co-worker asked me if I was "fully insured" for Social Security retirement benefits, but I wasn't sure how to answer him. How can I find out if I am fully insured? — C.A.

A. You are fully insured for Social Security retirement benefits when you have earned credits for a certain amount of work under Social Security. To attain fully insured status for retirement benefits, one credit is required for each year since 1950, up to a maximum of 40 credits.

For individuals who will be age 62 in 1992 and on, they will need 40 credits, or 10 years of work to have fully insured status.

Q. I just found out that I have inherited some money from my father's estate. How will this affect my Supplemental Security Income check? — J.B.

A. Money that you receive as an inheritance is considered unearned income under the SSI program. If the inheritance is substantial, you may lose your eligibility for SSI. Check with your Social Security office to find out how this money will affect the SSI you are receiving.

Q. A number of my friends have had outpatient cosmetic surgery.

I've been considering it, too. Would my Medicare coverage pay the doctors for the surgery? — J.P.

A. Medicare can pay for cosmetic surgery only if it is needed because of accidental injury or to improve the function of a malformed part of the body. Medicare cannot pay for elective cosmetic surgery.

Q. My wife and I travel to Puerto Rico several times each year to visit our daughter. If we become ill while on one of these trips, would our Medicare coverage pay for medical services we would need? — B.C.

A. Generally, Medicare cannot pay for hospital or medical services outside of the United States. However, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa and the Northern Mariana Islands are considered part of the United States.

This means medical care you receive on a trip to Puerto Rico would be covered by Medicare.

The World's Most Beautiful Grandchildren

Michael is a beautiful boy both inside and out, and we are so fortunate to have him in our family. He is all boy and loves to play ball, wrestle and play with his cousins outdoors. As a proud grandmother, I am always thrilled at his awareness of everything and his wonderful disposition. He enjoys Sesame Street, and enjoys the things they teach. He's learning the alphabet and his numbers, he can sing along with all the nursery songs. His rendition of "Take Me Out To The Ball Game" is perfect. I'm sure he'll be a Little Leaguer someday, as he already has such good coordination.
