Merry Christmas To All!

AND HAPPY HOLIDAYS TO ALL... Even though Santa has been very busy, as has everyone else, preparing for Christmas, he has managed to make a few local appearances to hear our children's wishes. Here's hoping all your wishes come true and the holidays find you and your loved ones happy and healthy. A very Merry Christmas to all. Photo by Kathy Gerber

'Tis The Season For Holiday Gatherings

By John W. Garger

The holidays are in full swing, so what are our seniors doing to celebrate. The Hicksville Illustrated News asked a group from the St. Ignatius Senior Citizens and four high school seniors what the holidays mean to them. Here is what we found out.

Helen Judd, president of the St. Ignatius Seniors, invited us to talk to the seniors at their Christmas celebration. They enjoyed a home-cooked meal with apple pie for dessert and a special punch that the members could not get enough of. The room was festively decorated and everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves. The St. Ignatius seniors all came from Christian backgrounds. They grew up celebrating Christmas as a sacred holy day. All agreed that Christmas has become too commercialized, but they do things to bring out the real meaning.

Silvia Kozik survives for the real meaning of Christmas. "I think of the Christ child during Christmas time." She is a first generation American. Her family comes from the Basque region of Spain. Most of her family is still in Europe. But the ones that are in America get together.

Her one son is flying in from San Diego to be with the family. They will sing Christmas carols, and eat good food. Silvia prepares special dishes from the Basque region.

Mary McKeon feels that gradually the religious part of Christmas is being lost. It has become too commercialized and there is too much false identifying with Christmas. She tries to keep the day holy by going to church and spending quality time with her family.

Frances Thomas finds it hard to get out shopping for Christmas presents. If you can't go shopping you have to give money, which definitely takes away from the spirit. She celebrates with her family. Years ago it was a big gathering. Today, all the kids want are presents, she said.

Gertrude Soper's family has lived in Hicksville since 1896. She will spend her Christmas with her son-in-law and grandchild. She also believes that children are far more demanding today, when it comes to getting presents. She attributes that to television, which she feels influences what they want.

Local Student

Attends Environmental Program

Carney Anne Brewer, a resident of Hicksville, and in the eighth grade, recently attended the 1992 CTY (Center for Talented Youth) Environmental Days program at Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, NJ.

Students and their parents listened to discussions of current environmental problems and participated in workshops. Dr. Ajay Bose, a George Meade Bond Professor of Chemistry at Stevens, talked about the possibility of reaping pharmaceuticals from the ocean, while other industry and scholastic leaders discussed the links between government, universities, industry, and the environment.

The program, sponsored by Johns Hopkins University in cooperation with six nationwide universities, was established in 1979 to offer exceptionally gifted young people accelerated and individualized academic programs. Students who have scored in the top 3 percent of their peers in the nation can qualify for the CTY's Talent Search, and subsequently attend programs such as the one at Stevens.

Off To College

Bryant College, Smithfield, RI, reports that Hicksville resident Christine Theis, is attending Bryant for the current academic year. She is a freshman majoring in applied actuarial math.

Bryant College is one of the leading colleges of business administration in the region. It enrolls more than 4,600 undergraduate and graduate students at its suburban campus near Providence, RI.

Returns From Patrol

Navy Petty Officer Second Class Richard R. Wascher, a 1983 graduate of Hicksville High School, recently returned aboard the ballistic missile submarine USS Stonewall Jackson, homeported in Charleston, SC from a strategic deterrent patrol. The patrol was the 77th for the James Madison Class Fleet Ballistic Missile Submarine which was commissioned in 1964.

Wascher also participated in exercises designed to enhance the readiness of the ship and its crew. He joined the Navy in May 1991.

Lionizing The Holidays

As they have done for the past five years, the Hicksville Lions roared into Central Island Nursing Home in Plainview for the holidays, bringing with them the local Boy Scouts, jingle bells, and the essence of community goodwill. Andrew Corley, from troop 293, joined the Lions. He is a sophomore at Hicksville High School. He is shown greeting Central Island Nursing Home resident Joe Mulligan.

The Hicksville Illustrated News welcomes photos sent in to be included in our community news. If you would like to have a photo returned to you, please include a self addressed, stamped envelope and we'll get it right back to you.

Seniors Christmas Party

ST. IGNATIUS Senior Citizens enjoy a Christmas Party during their December 9 meeting. During their party the East Street School Choir Serenaded the seniors. A good time was had by all.

Looking Forward To Vacation

HICKSVILLE HIGH School seniors Linda Thomas, Kathlyn Knauer, Amy Hojnowski, and Mathew Gold are looking forward to their week off. They shared with us how they were going to spend the holidays, see page one.

Christmas Tree-Telephone Book Recycling Collection Program

Aiming to generate a seasonal boost in recycling levels, Oyster Bay Town Councilman Douglas J. Hynes has announced that the town will again conduct special post-holiday collections of discarded Christmas trees and outdated telephone books from households in the S.O.R.T. program.

"Since its inception in 1988, our curbside Christmas tree recycling program has grown more successful each year," said Hynes. "Last year, we added old phone books to the tree collections and the results were excellent. Over 30 tons of old telephone books were picked up curbside and recycled by NYNEX and more than 10,000 discarded Christmas trees were used to stabilize the dune line at Tobay Beach. We expect to collect and recycle even more phone books and Christmas trees this year."

"The curbside collection of phone books and trees won't be taking place until January, so we are asking residents to set their old telephone books aside until then," Hynes said. "Because of their weight, phone books are an important component in our ever increasing recycling program. Every ton removed from our solid waste stream saves tax dollars as well as the environment."

The Christmas tree/telephone book collection dates are as follows:

If your S.O.R.T. day is:
Your special holiday collection will be:

Tuesday : Saturday, Jan. 9
Wednesday : Monday, Jan. 11
Thursday : Sunday, Jan. 10
Friday : Monday, Jan. 4

Residents who miss the curbside pickup dates, may drop their trees and phone books off at Roosevelt Park, Syosset-Woodbury Park, Burns Park and Bethpage Park until January 11th. The trees brought to those sites will be delivered to Tobay Beach for 'planting' on Jan. 16th.

Councilman Hynes added that all Town of Oyster Bay residents are invited to attend the fifth annual Christmas tree dune restoration project at Tobay Beach, Saturday, Jan. 16, 10 a.m. For further information about either the collection program or the Tobay Beach project, please call the Environmental Control Division at 921-7347 ext. 5626.

Geraldine Schacter Paintings On Exhibit

Geraldine Schacter, the multi-honored, multi-faceted Westbury artist, will have a one-woman show of her paintings (mainly oils) in the Kenneth S. Barnes Community Room at the Hicksville Public Library throughout the month of January.

Enthusiasm and vitality beam from each painting, perfectly expressing Mrs. Schacter's credo of "constantly creating new piquancy."

A student of H.W. Kurlander, Stanley Twardewitz, Stanley Kaplan, and Robert Carter, she holds a BS degree in fine arts from Hofstra University and has also studied at the Art Student's League.

Hicksville FD Assists In Bayville

The storm that devastated the south and north shores of Long Island Friday, Dec. 11 kept the Hicksville Fire Department busy at home and assisting a neighbor to the north.

In Hicksville, firefighters responded to 27 calls for assistance in a 12-hour period. Most of the calls were about burning wires. During the height of the storm, the Hicksville volunteers assisted LILCO in trying to secure a transmission line pole which was leaning over Old Country Rd. at Railroad Ave. The leaning pole caused Old Country Rd. to be closed in both directions for several hours. Ground conditions prevented the department's tower ladder from getting close enough to help. A crane had to be called in to secure the pole.

The bulk of the Hicksville Fire Department's work during the storm and the couple of days after involved rescue efforts in Bayville. The community of 9,000, which is nestled between the Long Island Sound and Oyster Bay, had severe flooding. The flooding made most of the roads impassable and trapped many people inside their dwellings.

Nassau County firefighters closed ranks and with their mutual aid system provided shelter, evacuation and rescue services in addition to responding to fires, medical calls, downed wires, and fallen trees.

Robert Dwyer, Town of Oyster Bay supervisor for Roosevelt Beach and a fire commissioner for Hicksville, was working in Oyster Bay when he heard of the serious situation in Bayville.

Dwyer gathered all available employees and proceeded to Bayville in a town rubbish truck specially equipped with oversized tires. The truck, which is used for beach work, has an open space in the back where Dwyer put plywood to serve as benches. Driving into the flooded areas of Bayville, Dwyer with the help of marine officers, rescued 80 or more stranded residents.

Dwyer took note of how busy the Bayville Fire Department was. He also noted that that neighboring north shore community fire departments were busy with their own hard hit communities. He therefore called on the Hicksville Fire Department to send assistance to Bayville.

Hicksville sent a personnel evacuation bus, two engines, a utility truck, and their new communications van, as well as 30 firefighters. The personnel and equipment worked through the night evacuating stranded residents and pets.

The communications van personnel remained on the scene until Sunday night when they were relieved by the Nassau County Fire Service Communications Unit. The Locust Valley Fire Department had committed all of its equipment and resources to assist Bayville. Other departments that responded at various times were Oyster Bay Fire Company One, Oyster Bay Atlantic Steamer Company, Westbury, Sea Cliff, Glen Cove, Glenwood, Plainview, Bethpage, and Roslyn.

Extra Security For High School

By John W. Garger

The Hicksville Board of Education passed a motion at the Dec. 16 board meeting to hire personnel to help with security at the high school and to form a task force that will address recent security problems.

Parents and students addressed the board during the second public comment session expressing concern about the fear that some students have when walking the halls of the high school. One student was so obviously upset that he told the board that, "You don't know how bad I want to get out of this high school."

The mother of one student complained to the board that her son was both verbally and physically attacked because he befriends students of other racial backgrounds. In one incident, her son missed six periods because he was staying with an administrative assistant in fear of being attacked by a group of students that has continually haunted him. Although no other incidents were specifically addressed the superintendent of schools said that he held a suspension hearing the day before and that he has had 17 suspension hearings in the last six months.

Security at the high school has been a topic of discussion before. The district has taken steps to increase security without hiring guards from BOCES, but parents and students are not satisfied with the results. There are currently monitors that are hired by the district to patrol the outside back parking lot and the inside of the building. The district has also increased the number of aides working in the building. But the number is not enough. Superintendent of Schools Salvatore Mugaero said that he does not like the idea of having uniformed guards hired from outside the district patrolling our schools, but hiring our own monitors takes too much time. Each person hired has to go through a civil service screening that can take up to a few months. In that time many applicants find another job. The quickest way to hire security personnel is to contract through BOCES. The Board of Education passed a motion to hire guards through BOCES, so that they will be in place the first day after the holiday recess.

Plans for added security had previously included having bathroom monitors, but they too have to be screened by civil service. Other steps taken include requiring teachers to stand outside their classrooms in between periods and equipping the administration with walkie talkies. Neither of which seems to be working.

The superintendent defended the high school administration saying they have done a tremendous job. Most parents agreed that High School Principal Richard Hogan and his staff are doing a good job, but that they cannot do it alone.

Several students said that an adult presence in the hallways would deter malicious acts. The added security personnel is only a short term solution, though. It is believed that a security presence would only suppress any problems, which might resurface outside the school and in the community. A long term solution is also being studied. The Board of Education also decided to form a task force made up of parents, students, teachers, administration, community members, merchants, and a representative from the Nassau County Police Department. The task force will be in place by Jan. 13. The task force will study the situation to come up with medium range and long term solutions including a curriculum infusion dealing with race relations.

In addition to the plans made at the school board meeting, the high school has sponsored sensitivity workshops and seminars that are mandatory for all students. The high school administration has also held meetings between groups of students to address the situation.

Hicksville Nursery School Open House

The Hicksville Nursery School is holding an Open House for fall registration on Thursday, Jan. 21 from 10 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. for parents of 2, 2 1/2, 3, and 4 year-olds in the school classrooms at West Cherry St. and Nelson Ave.

The Hicksville Nursery School is a non-profit, non-sectarian cooperative located in the back of the United Methodist Church. Founded in 1967, it has offered twenty-five years of quality education to hundreds of preschool children as well as serving as a field training center for students from SUNY Farmingdale, Nassau Community College, and Adelphi University.

The school seeks to offer the young child an environment in which he can grow emotionally, socially, intellectually, and physically under the careful supervision of a fully trained staff. The program provides an abundance of materials and opportunities for free creative expression under the guidance of skilled NY State Early Childhood certified teachers.

Art, media, woodworking, music and rhythmic movement, language arts, storytelling, dramatics, puzzles, doll corner, books, and manipulative toys are all part of the daily program.

A huge indoor playground permits daily large muscle activity even in the worst weather. A mid-session snack of milk or juice and crackers or fruit and vegetables is provided.

Field trips are included to broaden the child's understanding of the world he lives in.

All parents who wish to, can share in the administration of the school. Monthly business meetings give parents the opportunity to make decisions on administrative needs. There are lectures, films, and "rap groups" to help parents learn more about parenting. Fundraising projects are most often social events helping young families meet other adults who are at the same stage in life.

We invite all parents of pre-school children to join us for a chance to play and learn together in our spacious, well-equipped rooms. For more information call 681-8246.

Recycling Made Fun

The third-grade students at Holy Family School combined art and environmental concerns when they made sculptures from "junk" found around the house or neighborhood. The sculptures, many of which were quite fanciful, were admired by Holy Family principal Sister Eileen and many of the other classes. Shown holding up his creation is Mathew Lablma. The work of art was originally a Clorox bottle.

Hicksville Kiwanis Club Happenings

The Hicksville Kiwanis Club, in an effort to improve the Thanksgiving holiday for some of the less fortunate individuals in Hicksville, was instrumental in delivering hot cooked meals and turkey baskets to deserving families.

In all 44 turkeys were distributed to local residents, including 21 turkey baskets to families of children in the Hicksville School district (three families in each of the seven elementary schools). Names of needy families were gathered from the local churches and school district.

Turkey baskets distributed contained a turkey, a supermarket gift certificate, and canned and dry goods. The baskets were prepared by Phyllis Caggiano of Boo's Flowers by Phyllis. She was assisted by the Hicksville High School Key Club, under the direction of its president Sonia Enriquez. The Key Club collected the canned and dry foods for the baskets. After the baskets were prepared, they were distributed through the schools, churches, and some were delivered directly to the families.

The program was chaired by Kiwanian Mary Ann Esposito. She was assisted by fellow Kiwanians, including Phyllis Caggiano, Marc Ramirez, Charlie Montana Jr., Roco Reda, Michael Mauranga, and John Fitzpatrick.

The cooked hot meals were delivered to homebound elderly families unable to prepare their own meals. Central Nassau Guidance and Counseling Services, through the efforts of Kiwanian Donna-Jean Schroder, was the recipient of extra meals that they used at their community homes.

As a result of the efforts of the many Kiwanians who participated, a happier Thanksgiving was had by many.

HS Student Wins Leadership Award

Susan Welter, a junior at Hicksville High School and a first-year Cosmetology student at BOCES Nassau Tech, earned a Statesman Award at the recent New York State VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) Leadership Conference. VICA is a national student organization that promotes professionalism and leadership skills.

Approximately 600 students from all over New York attended the conference, which was held in Albany in early November.

To earn the award, Susan had to attend a leadership training institute, take a test on parliamentary procedure and demonstrate understanding of various aspects of VICA.

Nassau Tech is part of the public school system. It is operated by the Board of Cooperative Educational Services of Nassau County and offers training in more than 30 career fields. Nassau Tech centers are located in Bethpage, Carle Place, Old Brookville, and Westbury. Teenagers attend a Nassau Tech Center for part of each school day and spend the remaining time at their home high schools. They are able to graduate with a Regents or a regular high school diploma, plus a marketable set of skills, which helps them compete for jobs or get a head start in college.

Students Of The Month

Congratulations to the following students from Our Lady of Mercy School for being named Students of the Month for November. The following students have been selected by their classmates because they show kindness, respect, and are polite: Robert King, Lauren McDonough, Richard Whitcomb, Elizabeth Filardi, Amanda Heilman, Christina Shanahan, Craig Marinaro, Jenna Preuss, Kristen Hugger, Kristen Pisani, Kim Marturani, Devin Smacha, Rachel Cheng, Jillian Vassallo, Kristen Freitag, Ann Maloney, Christina Saracogli, Laura Russo, and Suthe Pereira.

Student Poetry

The following poem was written by high school student Stephanie Mirro.

Racism

Most of us were taught to get along,

Its people like you who refer to it as wrong.

With your racial pride, so deep inside,

Your dominant skin, you live in such sin.

Your twisted mind, are your own rules combined.

You can't deny, your sense of feelings

Between what you want, and don't want to be,

Your way or no way, is the only way you see.

Feelings that are so far away, in their own oscillate way,

Leave me alone,

Don't criticize a word I say,

Just keep your opinions to yourself,

And maybe someday in this world to be,

The attitudes like you,
Will be the minority.

SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

Election Projects At East Street

During the month before the presidential election in November, the fifth-grade students in Mr. Tomaini's and Dr. Kanawada's classes at East Street School engaged in a project designed to bring the election of 1992 into their lives and into their school.

Divided into six groups, with a student leader, each group chose one of the six presidential or vice presidential candidates. They then conducted research into their backgrounds; their political, economic, and social beliefs and programs; and their foreign policy positions. Each group constructed a bulletin board display in the hallways of the school and exhibited their research.

After the student body had the opportunity to view the displays, the fifth-grade students conducted a survey and mock election on all grade levels. President George Bush was re-elected by the students. The award for best display was given to Jackie Valencia, student leader; Tiffany Terranova; Aylin Odar; and Michelle Piscitelli.

BEST DISPLAY for the East Street Election 1992 project was created by Jackie Valencia, Tiffany Terranova, Aylin Odar, and Michelle Piscitelli. The project was designed to bring the election of 1992 into the school children's lives.

St. Ignatius Students Keep Busy

Book Fair

The St. Ignatius Loyola Book Fair, held during the week of November 2, was quite a success. All the children had the opportunity to buy books from the hundreds of available selections. Thanks to the hard work of Mrs. Thoma, school librarian, and her parent assistants, Mrs. Ampio, Mrs. Sattler, and Mrs. Smith, the school was able to add hundreds of dollars worth of new books to our school library. The children were happy to have the chance to acquire copies of good literature for their home libraries.

Field Trip To Science Museum

The fifth and sixth-grade classes of St. Ignatius School visited the NY Hall of Science in Flushing Meadow Park. The museum offered the children the opportunity to actively become involved in conducting many varied science experiments. The students learned about optical illusions, the parts of the eye, uses of lasers, and much more.

SAINT IGNATIUS students in the first grade, Madeline Bailey, Jennifer Interlandi, and Mathew Whittaker, browse through books at the St. Ignatius book fair. Many students were able to buy many interesting books to add to their home libraries.

TO YOUR HEALTH

By RICHARD H. BLAU, M.D.

Rheumatoid Arthritis Affects All Body Organs

Rheumatoid arthritis strikes three out of every ten people with arthritis. Most people believe arthritis is a disease of the joints, but rheumatoid arthritis affects almost every organ in the body. A patient with this form of arthritis can have problems with the skin, lungs, heart, nerves, kidneys, spleen, eyes, muscles, blood vessels, as well as the tendons and bursa.

People affected with rheumatoid arthritis may initially suffer from early morning pain and stiffness. The joints may become swollen, hot, or reddened. These symptoms are the result of an inflammation occurring in the body. This inflammation is the body's way of fighting the arthritis. Unfortunately, after long periods of uncontrolled inflammation, fatigue and joint damage may occur. If you have any of these symptoms you should consult your physician. Early diagnosis and treatment may prevent many of the problems associated with longstanding arthritis.

The diagnosis is only made after a careful study of the symptoms, a comprehensive physical examination, blood tests and occasionally x-rays. Fortunately, physicians can successfully control the inflammation and are capable of reducing the pain, discomfort, and possibly prevent the deformity associated with rheumatoid arthritis.

Your rheumatologist (a specialist in arthritis) may use anti-inflammatory medications, prescribe personalized exercises, advise you on techniques of reduction of emotional stress, and begin you on a proper diet. All play a major role in the treatment of arthritis.

Arthritis strikes one out of seven people. Learn the facts. Call for your complimentary copy of "The Joint Approach - An Arthritis Overview."

GETTING READY for their Thanksgiving feast are Brittany Capel, Katelyn Heidelberger, and Christopher Reed. The students enjoyed learning about Thanksgiving and incorporating the holiday into their class work.

Dutch Lane's Thanksgiving

November 25 was an important day for some of the students at Dutch Lane School. They had practiced long and hard to learn all about Thanksgiving and how it all came about.

The kindergarten students from Mrs. Napolitano's class all memorized the parts about Squanto, the Indian friend of the pilgrims. They put on a play for their families after they had a pancake breakfast and some of their homemade apple-sauce.

In the second grade, Mrs. Sauls and Mr. Donohue's classes made their own costumes to be Indians and pilgrims and everyone gathered together to have a full course turkey dinner prepared by some class moms. After eating, they put on a play, which was all about the history of Thanksgiving Day.

Many classes throughout the district held special events to celebrate Thanksgiving. Many made placemats and decorations depicting the pilgrims and Indians celebrating the first Thanksgiving. Some classes even made their own foods. Other went on trips before the holiday to pick out pumpkins, that they could bring home to make pumpkin pie with. Whatever the students did, they had fun while learning about Thanksgiving and the history of the holiday.

Children's Weight Management Program

Children who are overweight often have a poor self-image and are embarrassed about the way they look. If your child is mildly or moderately overweight, you can find help at Schneider Children's Hospital of Long Island Jewish Medical Center. The Weight Management Program for children 8-18 years old now offers a behavioral approach to weight loss and healthy eating, with a focus on family involvement. Research has proven it to be more effective than traditional approaches.

The Weight Management Program includes medical evaluation and follow-up and provides nutrition education, skills training and behavior modification. For more information, call Lisa Altschuler, PhD. at (718) 470-3535.

Step-Parent Support Group To Begin

Step-parents with concerns about parenting expectations, discipline, their relationship with their spouse and children can join a support group being started by Family Service Association of Nassau County beginning at the end of January. Two experienced therapists will conduct eight sessions at the FSA offices at 397 Willis Avenue, Williston Park (two blocks south of Hillside Avenue) on Thursday, from 8-9:30 p.m. A sliding fee scale will be available. For more information about the program or to reserve a space call Norma Cohen or Lynne Dinner at 485-4600.

Senior Dance

The RVC Leonard Sandel Senior Center invites all seniors to the first Sunday dance of the New Year on Jan. 17 (2-5 p.m.) at the senior center located at 50 South Park Avenue.

Refreshments will be served, plus music by "Alex," a free dance lesson, door prize and more!

Admission is $3 per person. For further information, please call (516) 678-9245.

Volunteers Needed At Hotline

Middle Earth Crisis Center needs volunteers to staff its 24 hour/seven day free and confidential crisis hotline. No previous experience is necessary - the agency provides all necessary training to become a crisis intervention counselor. The next orientation date is Thursday, Jan. 14. Call (516) 826-0244 for more information.

Specialty Certifications

Three psychiatric nurses at Winthrop-University Hospital in Mineola recently received nursing specialty certifications, and one earned a masters degree. Patricia Grace of Hicksville has been certified in addictions. Stephanie Consoli of Levittown and Helen Lau of Port Washington have been certified in psychiatric/mental health nursing. Frances Moskowitz of New Hyde Park has earned her masters degree in counseling from C.W. Post Campus of Long Island University.

Health Professionals Wanted

The American Cancer Society needs YOU to teach women proper breast healthcare! They will teach you to teach others: how to do breast self-examination, the importance of a physical breast exam, and the life saving facts about mammography. Join in the fight against cancer! Your choice of two training sessions will be held for health professionals who are interested in teaching breast self-examination on a voluntary basis. You can choose from Monday, Jan. 25, from 7-9 p.m. at our Nassau office at 400 Post Avenue in Westbury, or Wednesday, Jan. 27, from 7-9 p.m. at our Division Office at 75 Davids Drive in Hauppauge. Once trained, volunteers will teach breast self-examination for the American Cancer Society in schools, businesses, hospitals and other organizations. If you have any questions or would like to register, please call the American Cancer Society at 436-7070 ext. 315.

Seven Artists In A New Light

WATERPAINT by George Grosz entitled 'Street, 1912' is one of the pieces to be displayed in the museum's "In A New Light" show, tickets available upon request. Call 242-3111.

Works by artists represented in the Heckscher Museum's permanent in the collection are the basis for In A New Light: Seven Artists from the Heckscher Collection, opening on Jan. 16. Collection works by artists Isabel Bishop, George Constant, Thomas Eakins, George Grosz, Marsden Hartley, Roy Nicholson and Jerome H. Zimmerman will be joined by more than 50 related objects drawn from public and private collections. Anne Cohen DePietro, guest curator for In A New Light, said she has chosen this group "because in each instance the Heckscher's piece belongs to a related larger body of work." According to Ms. DePietro, the Heckscher work is "literally viewed in a new context," once placed alongside the related objects.

Isabel Bishop's 1930 self-portrait caricature, joined by a haunting late self-portrait and a large oil of a class at the Art Students League which includes Bishop's own image, reveals the artist's lifelong self-scrutiny.

George Constant's watercolors of seagulls and marine subjects are represented in the Heckscher's permanent collection by several works, two of which have been selected to demonstrate the artist's close affinity with nature.

Thomas Eakins' The Cello Player, a gift to his student Samuel Murray, is shown with painted and sculpted likenesses that the two artists made of each other, such as Eakins' 1889 portrait of Murray and Murray's 1907 sculpture of Eakins, seated. The two artists were close friends, professional colleagues and shared a studio for many years.

The Street, a 1912 ink and watercolor by George Grosz, is the focal point for a selection of urban subjects from the artist's student days. These works reveal the sense of keen observation that characterized Grosz's work, but lack the biting satire of his later years.

Marsden Hartley's Garmisch-Partenkirchen #1, a depiction of the spectacular scenery of the Bavarian Alps, is joined by two related oils, Alpine Vista and Garmisch-Partenkirchen, a pastel and various drawings in silverpoint, pencil and charcoal. All were executed while Hartley lived in Bavaria in 1933-34.

Sag Harbor artist Roy Nicholson's Goldfish (4911) is a work which explores the visual fragmentation of surfaces. His Goldfish series was inspired by disjointed forms as seen through the translucent surface of water.

Jerome H. Zimmerman is represented by August 2, 1990. Zimmerman is a sculptor steeped in the abstract expressionist idiom. In A New Light features his drawings, in which recognizable forms lose their associative qualities and become simply marks for gestures that are used time and time and again.

The exhibit continues at the Heckscher Museum through April 11. Located at 2 Prime Ave., Huppington, the museum is open Tues.-Fri. from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sat. and Sun. 1 to 5 p.m. Admission is a voluntary donation of $2/adults and $1/children.

Holiday Performances For The Family

Palatable Political Potpourri, A Paragon Publication, 148 pp., $12.95.

Palatable Political Potpourri is a collection of recipes garnered from United States Senators, Representatives and Governors.

According to the publishers, a substantial portion of the proceeds from the sale of the cookbook will be donated to World Hunger Year, an organization dedicated to ending hunger worldwide. The book is dedicated to folksinger, songwriter, storyteller and co-founder of World Hunger Year, Harry Chapin. In 1981, Chapin was killed in an automobile accident. Chapin repeatedly said, "There's enough food to feed everybody on this planet twice over...why, why, why are they going hungry?"

Apart from its serious objective, the publishers of the book have shown a sense of humor. The sub-title says, "Sure, they can lead our country, but can they cook?" Based upon the contributions to the cookbook, the answer is a qualified yes. Qualified because some of the contributors frankly acknowledge that the recipe comes from and is cooked by the governor's cook, the senator's mother, the congressman's wife. New York's two United States Senators make contributions.

Senator Alphonse D'Amato offers "Mama's Lasagna," a hearty version of the popular dish. Mama's lasagna includes a pound of Italian sausage along with a pound of ground beef, a pound of ricotta cheese, romano cheese, mozzarella cheese, parsley and homemade tomato sauce. It's a tribute to national stereotypes that we expect the Italian Senator D'Amato to submit a recipe but we're surprised when the Irish Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan does so. Senator Moynihan's recipe for potato dill soup sounds delicious, and if someone else might call it "vichyssoise," remember that potatoes are a staple of the Irish diet. Senator Moynihan's soup calls for potatoes, onions, scallions, fresh dill, heavy cream, sour cream and parsley. New York's Governor Mario Cuomo sent in a recipe for veal spiedini termini, which sounds delicious, but sounds as if it would take a while to prepare.

Senator Dan Coats of Indiana told the publishers, "I have submitted two Coats' family recipes, Swedish Meatballs and Fried Apples. My mother, Vera Swanlund Coats, was born in Sweden and has passed these recipes on to my wife, Marcia. These recipes are family favorites and traditional Christmas dishes." They both sound delicious and not difficult to make. Aside from ethnic associations, it is not surprising that a number of regional dishes are offered, such as Senator Sam Nunn's Georgia pecan pie. Palatable Political Potpourri is fun to read, it's a good cause, and many of the recipes sound interesting.

Look, There Really Is A Santa Claus

Who says there is no such thing as a Santa Claus-or reindeer for that matter? Pictured above is Long Island Game Farm's Santa feeding his reindeer getting ready for his world trip he and his twelve sleigh riders are taking tonight.

People Partners

Every year, just around now - holiday time, hesitant parents are promising their anxious children a puppy or kitten for Christmas (only if they're good of course...)

As well intended a gift as this may seem, all too often, it is usually more of a concession on the part of the parent, rather than a true yearning to share in the joy an animal may bring into the lives of the family...and here is where the trouble begins...

Just about a month after Christmas, all these "adorable" little creatures seem to loose their glitter and end up in the local town shelters. According to Susan Hassett, the dog control officer at the Town of North Hempstead Animal Shelter in Port Washington as the "newness" of the pet wanes with the children and the "impatience" with the pet grows with the parents, the shelters begin to fill up like crazy. People should realize a pet is at least a 10 year commitment! It is not a disposable item like a toy, not a car that you trade in...

So, if you have promised your child a pet, make sure you give it some serious thought. Don't impetuously buy that cute little "doggy-in-the-window" at the local pet store, but rather, visit one of Long Island's 12 shelters and Save a Life by adopting! The only way to eliminate the pet over population problem in which over 17,000,000 animals are destroyed in the US pounds annually, is to stop buying dogs! These dogs are supplied to the stores by the over 5,000 "horrific" puppy mills out west. If we stop buying dogs, these mills will eventually go the way of the covered wagon!

Although shelters contain many puppies and purebreds (estimates are up to 50 percent), don't be too quick to overlook a mixed breed or a slightly older dog. Older dogs are usually housebroken and provide the same love as a younger dog (without the mess!)

And remember, if you do adopt a dog or cat, spay or neuter. Besides being better for the health of your animal (ask your vet), every animal brought into this world is one less that would have been adopted at a pound. And lastly, don't make your dog or cat an outside pet. When temperatures drop, their little ears and paws are exposed and they are prone to frostbite.

Dogs and cats body temperatures are only 101 to 102 degrees. Even with their fur, on the coldest of days, it would be like us wearing a jacket. Dogs and Cats need a lot of love and attention. I believe there is nothing like the unconditional love an animal can bring into your life. We become the very center of their existence. With a little patience and understanding, almost any animal can become an exemplary pet.

Did You Ever Wonder...

Once a year, The Village of Northport becomes "The Great Cow Harbor." Celebrated in the month of September, Cow Harbor Day brings villagers and area residents alike to Main Street, to celebrate the historic occasion when the Indians sold this land [Northport] to Dutch settlers in 1656.

In essence it is a day where Northport residents set aside to celebrate the founding of their village. It is not known officially, but Northport historians believe the name "Cow Harbor" derived from the many cows that once pastured at the harbor's mouth.

Northport Historical Society has original documents of this transaction, which is known as the Eastern Purchase. According to these documents, "the Eastern Purchase was negotiated with the Matinecock Indians for '2 coats, fore shertes, seven quarts of licker and eleven ounces of powder.'"

Records show that the document was signed by original settlers, Thomas Wilkes and Jonas Wood, who concerned themselves with the layout of the property. The document states the "laying out" of various parcels of land "at the head of the cove hollow" and "on the hill on the north side of the hollow that leads from the cove."

As farmers moved in, the land was cleared for barns and houses. The area was still known as "The Great Cow Harbor" in 1700, but records show the name was changed to Northport in 1837.

Today, Cow Harbor Day is a remembrance of a chain of goals the village has achieved.

Northport records show that by 1894, Northport was the first incorporated village in Huntington Township and, in 1895, the Northport Electric Light Company installed lighting in the homes of Huntington residents.

In 1902, an electric trolley replaced the horse-drawn stage. Although the trolley track still remains on Main Street, the trolley has been taken off the roads for insurance purposes.

In 1922, the dusty roads of the village were paved, allowing browsers to get closer into the shops along the sidewalks.

Northport library records show that Northport's first Great Cow Harbor Day celebration took place on Sept. 23, 1972, and the idea of the "holiday" came from a group known as the Northport Cultural Activities Committee.

Cow Harbor Day is an festive day for all ages. Village officials close Northport's Main Street for the day as vendors, merchants and craft booths are open for browsing and items for purchase.

In addition, villagers arrange a Cow Harbor Day Parade where hundreds of residents line Main Street to observe all the groups that make Northport Village unique, including the Scouts, Brownies, High School Marching Band, Volunteer Firefighters, the Northport HS football team, and so much more.

Why Northport Celebrates Cow Harbor Day?

Give Your Children The Gift Of Reading

By Eileen Brennan
Despite the cries of gloom about television putting an end to reading for children, there are still wonderful books out there and children who love to read them or to be read to.

For the very youngest readers, there is one beautiful picture book with no text at all. It is called simply Tuesday and features beautiful paintings by David Wiesner of one day's skies and scenes. Clarion books, $15.95.

Veteran cartoonist William Steig has written and illustrated an imaginative book called Dr. DeSoto Goes to Africa. Dr. DeSoto is a mouse, but he is also "one humdinger of a dentist," and he is summoned to Africa to relieve the toothache (or tusk ache) of one of the largest elephants in the jungle. Even in the jungle there's a villain and when a band of monkeys kidnap Dr. DeSoto, it takes all the other animals to rescue him. Children should love this one. HarperCollins/di Capua, $15.

The story of the Three Little Pigs from the point of view of the wolf (in fact it's written by A. Wolf) as told to Jon Scieszka and illustrated by Lane Smith exonerates that old villain. You see, he didn't really mean to blow their houses down. He just had a terrible cold. Adults of our acquaintance recommend this one but some children don't want to see their traditional tales revised. Viking Kestrel, $13.95.

One of our favorite books for children is one that older children can read and younger ones have read to them. This is Talking Like The Rain, subtitled "A First Book of Poems." It is edited by X.J. and Dorothy M. Kennedy and beautifully illustrated by Jane Dyer. Here is a wonderful selection of the poems of Langston Hughes, Joh Ciardi, Robert Louis Stevenson, Christina Rossetti, A.A. Milne and lesser known poets who speak to children. The child who receives this book will, in all probability, hand it down to his/her own children.

If we were to recommend only one book for children this season, this would certainly be it. Little, Brown, $17.95. Another poetry book, I Saw Esau, renders the traditional rhyming games of children. Such old favorites, as "Patience, is a virtue,

*Virtue is a Grace,
Grace is a little girl
With a dirty face";
are here along with:
I asked my mother for 50 cents
To see the elephant jump the fence
He jumped so high I thought I'd die
And he didn't come back 'til the 4th of July."*

Parents who buy this one may find themselves taking a nostalgia trip on their own and forgetting to read it to the children. Edited by Iona and Peter Opie, illustrated by Maurice Sendak. Candlewick, $19.95.

This holiday season, you can give the priceless gift of love and laughter to a child who has a life-threatening illness. Your tax deductible donation, to the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Metro New York, made in honor of your clients or employees can help make a child's special wish come true.

Please help Make-A-Wish provide the magic to light up a critically ill child's smile this holiday season. With medicine and magic working together, miracles can happen.

Holiday Happenings

Christmas At Coe Hall

Friends of the Arts annual celebration, Christmas at Coe Hall, was another victim of the "storm of the century" when there was no power or heat in Coe Hall on Dec. 13. The program has been rescheduled and will take place on Sunday, Dec. 27, at 1:30 and 4 p.m. in Coe Hall in Planting Fields Arboretum in Oyster Bay. The Goliard Holiday Carolers will keep the holiday spirit alive with a concert recalling ancient traditions and contemporary carols from around the world. Tickets are available at $15. For further information, call Friends of the Arts at 922-0061.

The Nutcracker

Based on a story ETA Hoffman, with music by Peter Tchaikovsky, the Long Island Ballet Company will perform The Nutcracker at Broadhollow's Centre Stage, 1000 Hempstead Avenue, Rockville Centre, Dec. 26 and 27. Tickets are $18 each. Performances are 1 and 8 p.m. Dec. 26 and 1 p.m. Dec. 27. For more information, call 845-7529.

Chanukah Expo

North Shore Hebrew Academy, 26 Old Mill Road, Great Neck, will be the site of a Chanukah Expo Dec. 24 from 1:30 to 6 p.m. Event will feature concert with the Freeman Family, hands-on Chanukah workshop, olive oil press and wick making, computer picture spot, menorah making with genuine kiln, dreidel designing, dancing, raffles, dreidelrama and free balloons. For more information, contact Chabad Lubavitch of Great Neck at 487-4554.

Chanukah House

Chanukah House, located at 542 Fifth Avenue, New York City, will be open to the public through Dec. 27. Sponsored by the Jewish Children's Museum, Chanukah House features animated windows of Chanukah's past and present, candle-lighting by children from around the world, a "larger-than-life" Judah Maccabee and a large screen video of the Chanukah story. Visitors can craft their own dreidels, make olive oil and light Chanukah lamps. Admission is free. Chanukah kits, books and toys are available for sale. Chanukah House hours are Sunday 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday-Thursday, noon to 9 p.m.; Friday, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.; and Saturday, 8 p.m. to midnight. For information, call 212-CHILDREN.

Treasury Of Recipes

By Kathy O'Sullivan

It's hard to believe, but the holidays are almost here. My, the years do roll around fast. I used to think of what my little kids would eat at dinner; now I think of returning college students. My parents used to come give a hand. Now I have to make sure the food is soft enough for their dentures. Life does bring its changes.

Yet the traditions stay with us. There will be a lot of people who will pass this article by because they have a set menu for their holiday meal and would never be forgiven if they changed even one item. But there are those, like me, who like to dress up the old favorites with a new accent. Here's to us and to the holiday season, 1992.

Cheddar Biscuit Bites

30 small or 10 big

(Make these small, 1-inch, and serve with thin Smithfield ham or prosciutto as an appetizer or make them 3-inches across and serve with dinner.)

Mix together until crumbly (done very fast if you have a food processor): 2 cups flour; 1 tablespoon baking powder; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 3/4 stick margarine.

Turn into a bowl and stir in: 1/2 cup shredded cheddar; 1/2 cup sliced scallions; 2 tablespoons Dijon mustard stirred into 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons milk.

Knead until dough comes together. Roll out on floured board to thickness of 1/2 inch. Cut in 1-inch or 3-inch circles. Put close together on lightly buttered cookie sheet. (Can be done a week ahead to this point and frozen!) Bake at 425 degrees until light golden, about 15 minutes. (If you split and stuff these for hors d'oeuvres, you will need about 1/2 lb. of thinly sliced Smithfield ham or prosciutto.)

Almond Ginger Tart

Makes a 9-inch tart. Serves 8

This tastes almost like candy and is a change from pecan pie.

Dough: In a food processor, or with 2 knives, crumble together 1-1/3 cups flour, 1/3 cup sugar, 1 stick cold butter. When it looks like coarse meal, mix 5 tablespoons ice water into the mixture with a fork. Form into a ball. Chill 10 minutes. Roll out very thin and fit into a 9-inch tart tin, preferably one with a removable bottom. Trim edges, prick well. Bake crust in a 375-degree oven until barely golden. Keep an eye on it and prick dough if it bubbles up while baking.

Prepare filling. Cook gently, stirring, in a frying pan until the sugar melts (about 8 minutes): 1-1/2 cups light brown sugar (packed); 1/2 stick butter; 3 tablespoons heavy cream; 1 tablespoon flour; 1 tablespoon peeled, fresh, grated ginger. Remove from fire. Stir in 1-1/2 cups sliced almonds. Cool 5 minutes. Stir in 4 large egg yolks.

Turn mixture into tart tin and bake at 325 degrees for about 1/2 hour or until the mixture is set. Can be made the day ahead. Serve with whipped cream.

Roquefort Cheese Dip

Makes about 2 cups. Can be made 3 days ahead.

Mash together with a fork as you don't want it to be smooth: 1/2 lb Roquefort cheese, room temperature; 1/2 lb. cream cheese, room temperature; 1/2 stick soft margarine; 3 cloves minced garlic; 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco.

Sweet Potato And Squash Casserole

Serves 12 people

Bake 1 large butternut squash and 3 large sweet potatoes on a cookie sheet in a 350-degree oven until very soft when pricked with a knife (about one hour). Cool. Peel the vegetables, discarding the squash seeds and strings. Put together in a processor or mixer and blend until smooth. Add 1/4 cup frozen orange juice concentrate. This can be done a day ahead. Reheat in a buttered casserole at 350 degrees about 1/2 hour.

You can, if you like, add a crunchy topping. Cut together with 2 knives or crumble in a food processor: 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon; 1/2 stick butter. When crumbly, stir in 1/2 cup chopped walnuts. Spread over casserole just before warming in oven.

A CHRISTMAS STORY

(This is the last part of our Christmas story. Billy, our narrator, and his family have headed back from their summer vacation way up north with a special assignment from Santa Claus. Santa has asked Billy and his dad to deliver a message to all the world. If that message isn't delivered and everyone doesn't start treating everyone else a little nicer, there won't be a Christmas anymore.)

I convinced a very perplexed and confused Tyler, finally after a long, long talk that he alone had not made Santa angry. That his anger was directed at people who would not be kind gentle to one another all year long. Tyler replied, "Did I make him a little mad?"

"Well, maybe a little-but just a very little," I answered.

When we arrived home, Dad began the long and difficult task of showing everyone the video. His only problem was he could only show it at the house on weekends to a very small group of people.

He decided to call a newspaper for some advice and maybe some communication suggestions. They recommended that he should try to convey his message through advertising but cautioned that it would be very expensive. Within two days, he was called back and given a price and much to his sadness he just couldn't afford it.

He became very depressed and just about gave up hope. He had been home for four weeks and very few people (one hundred at most) had gotten Santa's message. There was only about ten and a half weeks till Christmas, he'd never be able to do it, he wouldn't get the message out on time and Christmas would be canceled. For two more weeks, Father got more and more depressed even though people were beginning to help and took the message to their families and friends. However, it still wasn't enough.

The clock kept ticking and although thousands of people, by now, had joined in to help it was still too big a task and there were only four weeks to go. After all, we are talking about contacting the whole world. The whole world needed to be informed of Santa's message or that horrible thing could happen — "SANTA WOULD CANCEL CHRISTMAS."

One morning Dad got a call from the man at the newspaper who heard of his problem and knowing that father could not afford advertising decided for such a good cause he would attempt to help. He said, "Good morning sir. I am from the newspaper and I recently heard of your predicament. Maybe I can help. Could you come to my office today so we can discuss how the newspaper might assist you in spreading this very important message?"

Dad replied that he had spoken to another gentleman but found out it was too expensive to advertise. The kindly man said "Let's see what we can do for you, sir, please come in today."

When Dad got home from the meeting he was ecstatic, he was bursting at the seams, he was jumping for joy. The man at the paper had a great plan. He was going to send out the message through his newspapers and was going to advise all his fellow newspaper friends to do the same. They would all advise everyone to view this video message from Santa before the Christmas deadline. They all promised to work night and day if they had to so they could prevent a Christmas disaster.

Once it hit all the different newspapers everyone got interested and wanted to help. SANTA'S MESSAGE, TO BE VIEWED BEFORE CHRISTMAS, appeared on buses, cars, billboards, TVs and anywhere a message could be placed. They were placed by anyone who could write from children to grandparents, even great grandparents got involved. What a wonderful sight, father thought, everyone working together for a common goal.

The rush was on. Even video companies got involved and mass produced the message on thousands and thousands of cassettes to help save Christmas for this and every year to come.

Father was very happy that not only had Santa's special message gotten out but he was mostly pleased that people were smiling at one another and giving each other a helping hand.

The deadline seemed within reach. Millions and millions of people had heard. The task of supporting one another and proving to Santa that mankind, cold as it could be to one another, could join together and show the spirit of Christmas more than just one day a year, had almost been completed.

His heart began to race as he thought of all the accomplishments achieved and how much nicer each day seemed when dreams and fantasies can be brought into our hearts and our everyday lives. How that little man with the red suit and enchanting white beard created an atmosphere of warmth for all the world to find.

It has always been here we just needed a nudge, father thought, and a really good scare. The doorbell rang and there was a small box on the step. On the tag it read "To my friends... from Mr. Below."

Inside the box it said: "A message from Santa I do send — the message does say 'There will certainly be a Christmas on Christmas Day. The love that you all have created will make this Christmas the best Christmas Day and to everyone I must say remember that this feeling can be given — each and every single day.'"

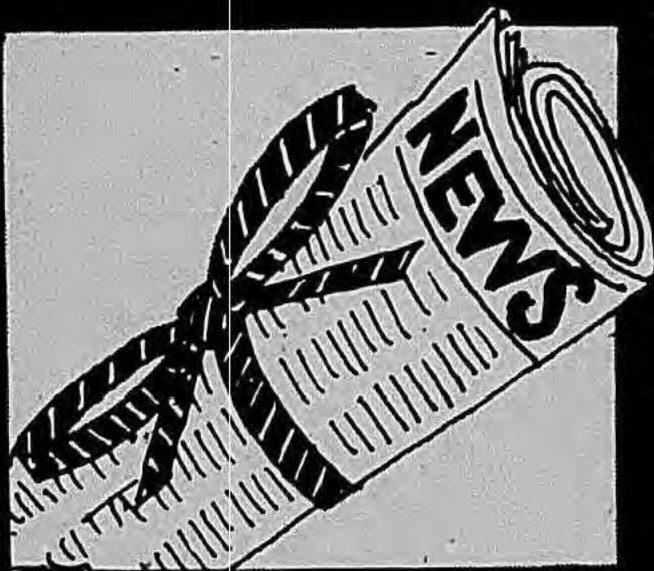

On the morning of December 24th Santa called Tyler and me to thank us for all our help. He asked us if we would like to assist him in delivering gifts to some of the orphans that evening providing, of course, it was all right with mom and dad. Mom said she thought we could miss our bedtime for such a wonderful treat and told Santa it would be fine and that she loved him for all the joy he brought to children and adults alike. Santa replied very modestly, "It is done from my heart — the love that I've shown — but if done alone even love can be lost."

GOD BLESS EVERYONE AND TO ALL A SWEET LIFE... SANTA AND MRS. CLAUS, Billy, Tyler and their parents, and a very special blessing from Mr. Below (who now lives on top at the North Pole)"

The End!

Hicksville Business News

Kimera Marks One Year

Friday, Dec. 11 marked one year since Kimera Salon - 878 S. Broadway, Hicksville - opened for business. The salon celebrated their anniversary through the week ending December 12 with sale prices on services and products, free giveaways, a raffle, and other special events.

Compared to the slow overall growth in the economy, "the salon has had a wonderful first year. This is due primarily to the fact that we deliver top quality products and professional services in a pleasant salon environment," said Tony Vozzolo, the salon's owner and a Hicksville resident.

He is glad that local residents helped to support the salon, and plans to be of service to the community for years to come. The salon caters evenly to men and women - offering haircuts, coloring, perms, manicures, facials, waxing, highlighting, and other services.

Tony encourages people to stop in for free consultations, or call 932-6372 for more information.

Spiegel Announces Lease For California Pet Food Chain In Hicksville

Petco, a major San Diego-based pet and pet supply superstore, will open its first Long Island store in 7,500 square feet of space at 308 North Broadway in Hicksville. The property is owned by Spiegel Associates, one of Long Island's leading development firms.

The leasing transaction, which has an aggregate rental valued in excess of $3.2 million, was negotiated by Michael Antikes Real Estate. Clifford Sondock, director of leasing for Spiegel Associates represented the owner.

Petco, which also operates stores in California, plans to open its Hicksville store in January 1993. It also plans to open a store in Carle Place.

Smoke Detector Alert : BRK Alert

Over the last three years, BRK Electronics has been conducting extensive field and laboratory testing of its 1839I and 2839I series smoke detectors manufactured from October 1987 through March 1990. A Consumer Test and Replacement Program was implemented for these same models.

This recall action is part of that program. Some of these detectors have a horn which may fail to sound in a fire. Therefore, as a precautionary measure BRK Electronics is conducting a voluntary recall of the 1839I and 2839I series smoke detectors in cooperation with the Consumer Product Safety Commission. No battery operated smoke detectors are affected by this recall.

The recalled smoke detectors were manufactured and installed in new homes, apartments, and mobile homes purchased in 1988, 1989, and 1990. Consumers can identify the recalled detectors by examining their User's Manual. If the User's Manual is not available, call BRK to request an identification kit before attempting to remove or replace the detector. The brand names and model numbers recalled are: BRK 1891, 189WI-12, 1839WI-M, 1839I12R, 2839WI, and 2839TH; Family Guard FG1839I and FG1839IHD; and First Alert SA1839WI and SA1839WI.

1839 and 2839 series detectors which have a yellow or orange label and an "N" after the model number are not affected by this recall.

For further information contact BRK at 1-800-228-2250.

"If we got a little toy, we were happy," said Irving Penzell. He grew up during the depression years and remembers when times were very tough. At Hicksville High School, we saw a cross section of students. Each celebrating the holidays a little differently.

Amy Hohnowski's family celebrates Christmas with their cousins. To them, Christmas is a big deal, a lot of time is spent decorating. Some of the cousins have children, which means Amy has to buy presents for them. It is fun, she said, then jokingly mentioned that she is going into debt.

Mathew Gold's family celebrates Hanukkah. "It definitely is not as big a deal as Christmas," he said. He likes this time of year, though. His family used to do more to celebrate when his family was younger, but now everyone is grown. This past year his sister had a baby, so they will buy Hanukkah gifts for her. Each member of the family takes a turn each night of Hanukkah to exchange their gifts.

Christmas is a big deal for Kathlyn Knauer. She has a younger sister, who really gets into the day. But since her parents are divorced, she visits three different houses. She goes to her mother's, father's, and grandmother's houses. At her grandmother's house she sees her aunts and uncles. She said there is a lot of gift shopping.

Linda Thomas celebrates with her immediate family. They celebrate Christmas, but they belong to the Brethren religion, so they interpret the holiday differently than other Christian religions. But they do decorate, put up a Christmas Tree, and exchange presents.

The high school seniors are all looking forward to having the week off. They look at it as a time to relax, which is a good way to look at the holidays. Whether you are spending time with your family having big celebrations or are having a quiet holiday at home, enjoy.

The Children of Somalia Need Your Help Now

One out of every four children in Somalia may have already perished of starvation and hunger-related illnesses since the beginning of the civil war. These young victims are dying in silence.

At least 1.5 million people face the threat of starvation. US humanitarian agencies must deliver food and medical supplies now. Those brave relief workers who have been feeding and providing medical care to the starving have received little support to date. American private donations for relief to Somalia total less than 10% of the amount which went to Ethiopia in 1984/85.

The private voluntary agencies listed below must receive more support to pay for the transportation, relief personnel and medical supplies that are needed by the Somali people today. These voluntary agencies are essential to distributing the food being airlifted, and to providing medical care and supplemental feeding of infants and young children in Somalia, as well as in the refugee camps to which hundreds of thousands have fled. Your support is needed to help save lives.

We call on all Americans to give today, while there is still time. The following agencies pledge to see that your donations are used where they will do the most good.

The bidding:
West North East South
Pass Pass Pass 1 ♠
Pass 1 ♠ 2 ♥ 3 ♠
3 ♥ 4 ♠ Pass 5 ♠

Opening lead — queen of hearts.
Assume you're in five clubs and West leads the queen of hearts (followed by the jack. You ruff and, after cashing three rounds of trumps and four diamonds, lead a spade on which West plays the three.
You are now at the crucial point of the hand. If you think West has the queen you play the jack from dummy; if you think West has the ace you play the king from dummy.

Situations like this occur frequently, and, of course, there's no magic formula to solve them. However, there is practically always a clue of some sort to grasp at.
A declarer who takes the game seriously has to try to find this clue, and he might solve the problem here by applying the same principle as the village idiot who found a lost horse by asking himself: Where would
I go if I were a horse?
South asks himself what he would have bid after two passes had he been East and held five or six hearts headed by the A-K and the ace of spades. He would surely have opened the bidding third hand with a heart on such a hand rather than pass.
Accordingly, South should assume that East does not have the ace of spades, and he should play the king from dummy rather than the jack. It's not a matter of tossing a coin in the air, nor is it a matter of profound deduction. It's just plain horse sense!

Elks National Free Throw Contest

The Elks "Hoop Shoot" Free Throw Contest is the largest and most visible of the many youth activities sponsored by the Elk Lodges. Over three million boys and girls ages 8-13 will participate this year. The Elks "Hoop Shoot" highlights the Elks commitment to America's youth. From the millions of youngsters who participate, six national champions are named - one boy and one girl in each of three categories. Ages 8-9, 10-11 and 12-13. The winners each receive a trophy and their names are inscribed on a plaque at the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Ma. Families accompany contestants throughout the competition. The families of finalists at the state, regional and national levels attend the competition as guests of the Elks.

The Elks desire, through the "Hoop Shoot" program, to provide an interesting, character building, competitive program for all boys and girls in the contest regardless of their previous athletic competition or abilities. This nationwide, sanctioned program gives these youngsters an opportunity for spirited competition, fine relationships with their peers and travel statewide, regionally and nationally. There is no expense to their family or school. The participants are not only involved but parents, classmates, teachers and community are also included in this wholesome, individual effort program.

The Central Island District invites youngsters through local school districts, CYO, PAL and other such groups to hold their own local contests. The winners of these contests then advance to the lodge's contest to see who represents that lodge at the district level. Lodge contests should be completed by January 16th with the district contest being held on Jan. 30 in Long Beach. The Hicksville Lodge will be sending representatives to the district competition. Our district winners last year came from Lynbrook, Hicksville, Great Neck-Port Washington, Freeport-Baldwin and Glen Cove.

This program is totally sponsored by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the U.S.A. It is endorsed by hundreds of school systems around the country. The Elks fund this program primarily through their National Foundation and the support of its subordinate lodges and state associations. Travel and lodging expenses for the contestants and their parents are paid by the Elks. This year is the 21st anniversary of the "Elks National Hoop Shoot." Please feel free to contact Paul Ducasse, District Hoop Shoot Chairman at Great Neck-Port Washington Lodge (767-9598) or his assistant chairman, Artie Senior from Hicksville Lodge (931-9310 or at home after 7pm at 822-2499) for any assistance.

We as Brother Elks thank you for helping us support our country's greatest asset, our youth.

Fire Football Finishes Season

The Hicksville Fire Football team wound up their season with a tremendous effort against a hard hitting Bellmore team on Nov. 15.

The Bellmore Braves, a playoff team from a different conference, came to Hicksville heavily favored to win this crossover game.

Hicksville's team was outstanding during the first half, with some beautifully executed plays by Keith Engelhardt at quarterback. Kevin Soper, playing halfback, had a reception that went for 45 yards. Danny Ciaccio, fullback, and Nicky Schmidt, wide receiver, each carried the ball for touchdowns. Paulo Fumagalli, halfback, and Nicky Schmidt each succeeded in getting the extra points.

The defense was relentless with an outstanding job by Josh Bergen, defensive end; Justin Rostenberg, guard; Adam Smith, centerback; Jared Staton, defensive end; and several sacks by Jason Basso, middle linebacker, and Adam Geslak, linebacker. Kevin Soper and Adam Geslak each recovered fumbles. By the end of the first half, Hicksville was leading 14-0.

In the second half Bellmore came back with a vengeance. Hicksville fought gallantly, but by the last play of the game Bellmore managed to tie the score.

This game certainly gave credibility to the Hicksville Fire Football team. Head coach Al Ciaccio is very impressed with his first time players this season. He is confident that they all have long successful careers ahead.

The veteran players set a great example for the others and showed superior leadership.

Al has planned an Award's Night for the football team and cheerleaders. It will be held at the East Street School on January 20 at 7 p.m. Gary Manangi - former NFL quarterback for the Buffalo Bills - will be guest speaker.

Normally four players - two offense and two defense - would be chosen from the team as MVP's, but this our first year, the entire team will be inducted into the Hicksville Fire Football Hall of Fame. It's through hard work, dedication and perseverance that they have paved the way for Fire Football in Hicksville.

Finally, we would like to thank all those who have made this season possible. See you next fall!
