Earned Jujitsu Belts

On December 13, Hicksville resident Greg Nayoy and his son Ian took part in a promotional test in Jujitsu. The exam, held at the Martial Science Academy located here in Hicksville, was an eventful and memorable occasion for both father and son. Greg earned his black belt and Ian received his blue belt from their instructor Graham Lewis. Afterward all the students and their families attended a Christmas Party held next door to the school at the Stack O'Barley.

Young Performers

Once again, it's that time of the year and Maura Dantuono danced in The Nutcracker, with the Eglevsky Ballet Company at the Tilles Center, CW Post College in Brookville, on Dec. 27. Maura has been dancing with the company for several years, in the metropolitan area, and joining her, in this year's ballet, is her younger sister, Michelle. The girls are the granddaughters of Mary and Mike Dantuono and Jean and Jack Mulhol- land, all of Hicksville.

A black and white photograph of two young girls dressed in costumes. The girl on the left wears a large, wide-brimmed sombrero and has dark makeup on her face. The girl on the right wears a cowboy-style hat with a bandana and also has dark makeup on her face. They are both smiling and appear to be at a party or event.

Making Hicksville A Better Place To Live

As part of our year end issue, the Hicksville Illustrated News, thought it would be a nice idea to spotlight some people from our community that make it a better place to live. These are not necessarily our people of the year, rather people who have gone out of their way to help others, merchants who have done more than offer ordinary service, or people who have done more than what their job requires.

Hicksville is filled with many of these fine people. The people we chose for this issue are highly visible in our community. Some have already been honored for their contributions, but have not slowed down in any way. We picked these people not because they contribute so generously in so many ways (in fact we could not list all the activities that each was involved in), but because of that one special thing that they do that really makes a difference.

Ellie and Ed Draycott

Ellie and Ed Draycott can often be found together at the Hicksville Community Council or helping with some charitable event. When they are not together, you can bet that one if not both are helping with some worthwhile cause.

Anyone who attends the Hicksville Community Council meetings will recognize Ellie. She regularly greets members and guests at the table at the entrance to the Kenneth Barnes Community Room. She makes newcomers as well as regular attendees feel right at home. Ed is also there to lend a hand greeting members. Both Ellie and Ed are trustees. Ed has served as a first vice-president and Ellie is co-chairperson of the annual dinner.

One of Ed's special contributions to the community is his caretaking of the flag at Kennedy Park in downtown Hicksville across from the Hicksville Memorial Fountain. Ed, as part of the Kiwanis, hoists and takes the flag down. Ed can also be found at the Hicksville Kiwanis Club meetings. He is their treasurer and volunteers for many committees and special projects. Ellie, who has been active in community organizations and has served on many special committees, got Ed involved with the community six or seven years ago. He is retired for five years now and keeps taking on responsibilities.

Ellie has served on committees and organizations too numerous to list. Some have been temporary, like the Park Task Force Committee and the Fountain Rededication Committee, and some she continues to be involved with, such as the Community Council and the Midland Civic Association. One of Ellie's special associations is with Madonna Heights Ladies Auxiliary. She loves children and finds her work with them rewarding.

John J. Flynn

A senior at Hicksville High School, John was chosen because of his extensive involvement in extra-curricular activities and community service projects.

A member of the National Honor Society and senior class president, John tutors local students on a volunteer basis and is a member of the Teen Advisory Board of Careers and Colleges Magazine. John's days and nights are kept busy lending a hand with the many projects in which the clubs and the senior class are involved in.

He is also extensively involved with the school music program. He is a member of the High School Marching Band, Concert Band, Symphonic Orchestra, and Percussion Ensemble; holding leader positions in all four. He also in the Jazz Ensemble and is the secretary of the Modern Music Masters.

John acknowledges that he is a good manager of time. His activities are numerous and each school year he seems to take more on.

Tony Previte

Twice a year, Tony Previte organizes the Knights of Columbus Blood Drive. Tony is aware of the constant need for blood by area hospitals. His time and effort has produced many successful blood drives and has secured many gallons of blood. Typical of Tony, he volunteered to be chairperson of the Knights Blood Drive Committee when the position became vacant. He had previous experience running blood drives with the Sons of Italy.

Although he had suffered some setbacks in his health and was cautioned to slow down, Tony continues to become involved any way that he can. He has also served on many committees and is an active member of service organizations. Just a few of his memberships include VFW Post 3211, Hicksville Historical Society, Interfaith Nutrition Network, Ernest F. Francke Republican Club, Catholic Golden Age, and Hicksville Community Council. He is a founder of Galileo Lodge Sons of Italy and one of its past venerables. He currently serves as a trustee for the Hicksville Public Library.

A Hicksville resident for 22 years, Tony has served the community for each of those years.

Richard Evers

Whenever a rare historical photo or background on the history of Hicksville is needed for this newspaper, we turn to Dick Evers. The "unofficial Hicksville historian" Dick contributes an invaluable service to the community through the recording and promotion of the proud history of Hicksville.

Dick is the founder of the Hicksville Historical Society and has been the historical chairman of the Hicksville Gregory Museum since it was moved to the Old Courthouse on Heitz Place. Dick can also be found most weekdays at the local history room of the Hicksville Public Library continually updating the extensive historical collection. He has served as its archivist for the last four years.

Dick fills an important role in keeping the community aware of its roots; and has also been recognized for his efforts in a larger arena. He introduced New York State and Long Island History at Adelphi University, where he taught it for 10 years. "Long Island and our community reflects a great deal of the ongoing history of the United States," said Dick. "I am trying to help young and old people see and appreciate their community's roots. This is a solid way to build pride in a community," he added.

Although many of his contributions are in the form of volunteer hours to various community groups, a tangible contribution can be found in the form of a three (soon to be four) volume economic history of Hicksville that he and his wife, Anne have co-authored. Dick gives a lot of credit to his wife. "She epitomizes the woman behind the man," he said.

Boos Flowers By Phyllis

Boos Flowers By Phyllis provides a vital link between the community and the Hicksville Illustrated News. Phyllis has allowed our drop-box to be located in her flower shop, where residents can drop off articles for publication in our paper. For this special service to the community, kudos to Phyllis and her staff.

Boos Flowers By Phyllis is located in the West Village Green on Newbridge Rd., just south of Holy Trinity High School.

HOSED DOWN... Firefighters had to be hosed down as a precautionary measure following a fire at Rucco Polymer Corporation. The fire was quickly extinguished by department personnel and no serious contamination occurred.

Hicksville Fire Department Summary

A week after many Hicksville firefighters waded through waist high water helping stranded residents in Bayville, they got to dry off battling hot fires.

Minor Fire At Chemical Plant

There was a car fire on Wednesday, Dec. 16 just south of Old Country Rd. in a parking lot on Jerusalem Ave. The car was completely destroyed.

On Sunday, Dec. 20 a general alarm was transmitted for an oil fed fire in a small building on the property of Rucco Polymer Corporation on New South Rd.

Because of the possibility of danger, 80 firefighters, using every Hicksville fire unit, responded under Chief Scanlon. The fire was knocked down by automatic sprinklers and extinguished by the firefighters.

There was concern that some of the chemical containers were damaged by water. Hicksville Haz-Mat team members, in consulting with plant managers, determined that the containers were safe. The County Fire Marshals Haz-Mat Unit was also at the scene.

There were no reported injuries, damage was slight, and there was no significant pollution as a result of the fire.

House Fire - No Smoke Detectors

Several days after a fire in Suffolk County took the life of a baby - no smoke detectors were present - an early morning fire at a Liberty Ave. residence brought Hicksville volunteers out. The fire was contained to an attic crawl space, causing moderate damage. An alarm at 6:12 a.m. on Dec. 22 brought four units and 35 members responding under Chief Scanlon.

A faulty flue pipe, which had been separated for an undetermined amount of time, dried out wood beams in the attic, eventually causing them to catch fire. When the firefighters arrived the occupants were still inside the house - no smoke detectors were present.

The incident was reported to the Town Building Department for investigation and correction of violations - New York State law says that at least one working smoke detector must be present in every building, including residential dwellings. Serious charges can be fined if the lack of detectors results in the serious injury or death of occupants or firefighters rescuing occupants. Such charges are rarely acted upon by state and local officials.

Several years ago, the Hicksville Fire Department issued a public warning to residents in the area bounded by the LIRR, Bethpage Rd., Willet Ave., and Boblee La., that certain style homes - with no basements and oil burners installed in closets - should have the entire heating system checked, in particular the flue and chimney. A serious hidden fire hazard could result from loose joints in the flue pipes. Fire officials warn that danger can still exist above the ceiling level.

NEWSBRIEFS

Public Hearing

A request for a special use permit in Hicksville will be the subject of a Tuesday, Jan. 5, public hearing of the Oyster Bay Town Board.

"The applicant, South Broadway Hicksville Associates, Inc., is seeking a special use permit to maintain outdoor storage of construction equipment, including cranes and crane parts, in an 'H' industrial (light industry) district," according to Councilman Thomas Clark. The property is located at the intersection of the east side of Bloomingdale Rd. and the west side of Broadway in Hicksville.

The meeting will be held in the hearing room of Town Hall East, Audrey Ave., Oyster Bay, beginning at 7 p.m. The first hour of the meeting will be devoted to general public comment on any subject. Starting at 8 p.m., the regular Town Calendar, including the above mentioned hearing, will be called.

Youth Council Directory

The Hicksville Youth Council is now in the process of compiling a Hicksville Resource Directory for teenagers in the Hicksville area.

Pat Schussler, ACSW, is coordinating this project for the Youth Council. She sent out over 45 questionnaires to various counseling agencies, churches, synagogues, clubs, organizations, schools, and sporting groups in the Hicksville area. Unfortunately she received only a 50 percent return.

The completed questionnaires are now being reviewed and will be compiled into a directory for distribution to Hicksville teens and their parents. The purpose of the directory is to let families know what programs are available for teens in their own community.

Pat Schussler would like to thank those groups who took the time to complete the questionnaires that were mailed in October.

If anyone would like more information about this project, or would like to be included in the directory, please call Pat at the Youth Council, 822-KIDS.

Collaboration On Childrens' Book

Dorothy Reitberg Brown, author of the Good Old Hicksville series, has written a children's book entitled The "Busy Bee" Tree. Collaborating with her on the short story is Thomas Freda, a 16 year old Hicksville resident. Brown wrote the story and Freda illustrated it. The book and illustrations tell the story of a tree and its communications with its various parts (roots, leaves, etc.) and with nature.

The book can be purchased by sending a check for $3 plus 75 cents postage to PO Box 942 Melville, NY 11747 or call 423-7398.

New Principals For Middle School

Mrs. Marie Marshall has been named the principal for the Hicksville Middle School by the Hicksville board of education. Joining Mrs. Marshall will be Mr. Stephen Aronowitz, who will become assistant principal. The appointments were made official at the Dec. 16 board meeting.

The two positions became available by the retirements of Mr. Gerald Klein and Mr. Joseph Giambalvo, respectively the Middle School principal and assistant principal.

Mrs. Marshall has served as assistant principal at the Middle School since 1987. Prior to her appointment as assistant principal, she was the chairperson of the Junior High School Science Department. She has also held the position of Supervisor of Academic Programs. Superintendent of Schools Salvatore Mugavero said he was "most proud to announce Mrs. Marshall's appointment. She is an individual who truly cares for children. We look forward to her greatest success."

Mr. Stephen Aronowitz came to the district in 1987 as Language Arts Chairperson for the secondary schools. He also served as director of the International Baccalaureate Program. Most recently he was the district supervisor of Liberal Arts and director of the Adult and Continuing Education programs. Mugavero expressed his confidence in Aronowitz' abilities and concern for the children and wished him well in his new position.

Effects Of The Great Nor'easter Of '92

THE EFFECTS of the powerful storm that devastated most of Long Island can be seen all around the town. This photo shows several trees that were uprooted in Abe Levitt Field. Many private fences were also affected, but overall Hicksville got off easy.

For The New Year

As we prepare to ring in the new year, we reflect on 1992 and what it brought to us. Yes, there was plenty that wasn't wonderful — a lingering recession, some horrific natural disasters, increased unrest worldwide — but then again, there is always the bright side.

In 1992, the people spoke. They demanded that the elections stay issue-oriented, and the candidates responded. A new president will be sworn into office in a few weeks and we hope along with all of you that he will respond to the needs of the country's people and make the future brighter for everyone.

In 1992, Long Island survived. It was rough going, and there still will be bumps in the road, but our region and its residents have proven that Long Island will continue to be one of the finest places to live and work in the world.

And, in 1992, we saw people come together. We happily reported on the efforts of adults and children, corporations and private individuals, as they reached out to the victims of Hurricane Andrew, the 100-Year Storm and the tragedy in Somalia. While we pray we shall never see such devastation again, we are heartened by the overwhelming kindness and the ability of mankind to overcome adversity.

Before we close the book on 1992, we would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who has helped make it a successful year for our newspaper. We thank our advertisers for their continuous support, without which we could not publish this newspaper. We'd like to thank our contributors for sharing with us their news and for taking an active role in their community. And, we'd like to thank all of our subscribers for their interest, praise, criticism and support and for proving that — despite reports to the contrary — people still care and people still read.

A very happy, healthy and prosperous new year to everyone.

A Letter from Lulabelle...

When I was a little girl all of the holidays had a wonder that is missing now and I have been thinking about why that should be — and I have decided that it's because they are not on the day on which they should be but are on some made up day to make a three day weekend... Now I have nothing against three day weekends — they are great — but I am very unhappy that Lincoln's birthday which, as everyone knows, should be February 12th, and Washington's birthday which would be on February 22nd have melded into some strange "Presidents' day" — and what do you do to celebrate that? — build a Lincoln Log cabin to decorate your table and serve a cherry pie for dessert???. You can see that there's no glamour in that!... And Armistice day, the day on which I was baptised — the real armistice that is — it's now Veterans day and floats around anywhere in early November and I like to think that the end of a war was very important to all of our veterans... And speaking of veterans, I also liked Memorial Day to be on May 30th — I don't know why, but I liked it and I would walk in the parade in my Girl Scout uniform and feel so proud... I am so relieved that they can't change the Fourth of July and Christmas and New Year's day... and, of course there are lots of holidays that don't actually have a date but are set by "the first Tuesday after the first Monday" and such criteria and I have no quarrel with those — but, although no one will ever listen to me, I would really like to have my old holidays back... What do you think???

Yours, Lulabelle

BON VOYAGE

By Edythe Shepard

The best advice on the could-be dangerous sport of skiing, according to experts is "Be Aware; Ski With Care." A good part of that care is to observe the color safety code. Read and heed the road signs on the slopes. They indicate the relative difficulty of various runs at ski areas.

The three basic signs: Easiest - a green circle, More Difficult - a blue square, and Most Difficult - a black diamond. Double black diamonds mean Extremely Difficult-Experts Only. Each slope is rated only as it compares to others at the same ski area. The skier must remember that snow conditions can render a normally easy trail far more difficult than the last time it was skied.

Experienced, knowledgeable ski instructors set the following rules as mandatory for all skiers: 1) Don't ski in any area not designated for skiing. 2) Don't ski beyond your limits or ability. 3) Pay attention to directions of the ski area operator. 4) Stay in constant control of speed and course at all times. Avoid contact with clearly marked obstacles, other skiers and lift passengers. 5) Read posted information before skiing. 6) Only cross the uphill tracks at places marked by the ski area. 7) Don't ski on slopes or trails marked "Closed." 8) Remain at the scene of any accident resulting in personal injury to another party until the ski area operator arrives. Only leave to summon help. 9) Don't come in contact when overtaking another skier, yield right-of-way to the skier being overtaken. 10) Don't stop on any slope or trail causing a collision with other skiers or vehicles. 11) Yield to other skiers when entering a trail or starting downhill. 12) Report any personal injury to the ski area operator before leaving the ski area. 13) Don't remove, deface, alter or damage signs or warning devices. 14) Always let others know where you're headed and never ski alone. Skiers should eat heat-producing fats and sugar.

Remember too, skiers, to wear layers of loose-fitting clothing. Be aware that the stronger the wind, the greater the chilling effect of cold temperatures. Become familiar with symptoms of frostbite, which occurs with prolonged exposure to sub-freezing temperature. The most obvious signs of frostbite are progressive: painful loss of feeling leading to numbness, a white or blue appearance of the skin and loss of function. Don't rub or massage the frostbitten area (particularly with snow, so often touted in home remedies). Rubbing increases the danger of tissue damage and snow adds to the freezing. By the same token, frostbitten skin should not be exposed to intense heat. Immerse frostbitten parts in warm water up to an hour. This leads to return of function, color and sensation. Hot beverages (not alcohol) are beneficial. Skiing goes back over 5000 years (with a pair of skis that old on exhibit in a Stockholm museum). Skiers were used extensively as scouts by the Norwegians back in 1200 in battles with Sweden. In 1521, Sweden employed ski troops against Denmark. Our army used ski troops in World War II (when my brother, who had never been on skis, plowed his way as part of the 10th Mountain Division in the Italian Alps). Ski patrols are still used to reach crash victims in otherwise inaccessible snowy sites. But today, skiing is the ultimate sport for its many "breathe, eat and ski" fans. We read that Pope John Paul II used to be an avid skier and the most distinguished patron of Terminillo, the ski resort 50 miles outside of Rome.

It is only recently that the Pope has been advised to replace skiing with tamer pursuits of swimming and walking. New, more spectacular feats are being added for the skier who is bored with ordinary slaloms. In addition to perilous skiing, there is heliskiing, an ultimate "high" in skiing experience, so popular with the daring. A helicopter drops skiers off on isolated peaks for downhill skiing on virgin snow. And for greater kicks, parachute ski jumping, hang gliding and glacier skiing are available. Newest on the ski scene (I shudder to report) is bungee jumping from five-story-high snowy slopes, wherein skiers (sans skis) are fastened to elastic cords with a harness, and then free-fall at 60 miles per hour. I'm told that on the way up, the escort keeps looking into the jumper's eyes because if the jumper is allowed to look down, he might get cold feet (No pun!).

The skiing industry is Big Business today, with a myriad of industries involved, from resorts and all they entail, to manufacturers of equipment and clothing, to magazines, newsletters and buyers' guides.

To erase the idea that the sport is for the affluent, and to attract more middle class skiers, the industry is concentrating on reducing the cost of pursuing the sport. Many resorts are pushing mid-week lowered rates, novice days, family ski deals and special student and senior prices. Skiers can find better values today in ski equipment than ever before, with "list" prices more fiction than fact. With manufacturers finally recognizing that there is a market for value-priced equipment that the average-pocketed skier can afford, the likelihood of finding good deals on ski gear is excellent.

Bartlett's Familiar Quotations, 16th Edition, Justin Kaplan, Ed., Little, Brown and Company, 1405 pp., $40.

If, like this reviewer, you were the recipient of Bartlett's Familiar Quotations, 16th ed. you already know how lucky you are. If you didn't receive it as a Christmas present and you are either crossword puzzle worker, a student, writer or just love the language, you'll just have to go out and buy it for yourself.

First published in 1855 Bartlett's Familiar Quotations soon became a reference work second only in importance to the dictionary for many writers. Perhaps because of extensive quotations from Shakespeare and other English writers, many readers imagine John Bartlett to be an Englishman. In fact he was born in 1820 in Cambridge, Mass. where, starting at the age of 16, he worked himself up from apprentice bookbinder to bookstore clerk to bookstore owner. He read widely, took notes on his reading and became an "information bank" for the local academic and literary community. The so-called "commonplace books" he kept over the years became the basis for the first edition of Familiar Quotations. In his first book, John Bartlett wrote "The object of this work is to show, to some extent, the obligations our language owes to various authors for numerous familiar quotations which have become 'household words.'

Later editions included, in addition to household words, quotations chosen for their literary power, historical significance, originality, timeliness and, often, humor. The 16th edition, while retaining all that was important in earlier editions, has drawn on radio and television, stage and screen as well as the literature of today and the words of political leaders and newspaper writers. As mentioned above, Bartlett's Quotations is an essential component of the library of a student, writer and crossword puzzle solver. It has another function, that of peacemaker. If you've ever, unsuccessfully, tried to convince anyone that it wasn't Oscar Wilde who referred to "the love that dares not speak its name," you would do well to arm yourself with Bartlett. (It was Lord Alfred Bruce Douglas. See page 609.) Many an argument has been sealed by reference to these pages.

Best of all is the opportunity to browse. In fact, one look at: "There is something about a Martini Ere the dining and dancing begin And to tell you the truth, It is not the vermouth, I think that perhaps it's the gin" and you may be compelled to dig out your old Collected Works of Ogden Nash.

People Partners

How often have you heard the expression, They fight like cats and dogs? The truth is that cats and dogs who live in the same house rarely actually fight. Early on, after becoming aware that they will be sharing the same turf, the animals form an alliance. Some adjustments have to be made, especially in matters of feeding, because for some reason, Sam can't understand what the words Kitty's Dinner on the beige bowl on the floor mean. He thinks it's just gourmet pate, and helps himself to it. That problem was resolved by putting Bandit's food on the counter, which Sam can't reach. On the other hand, Bandit took one whiff of the stuff Sam eats, and decided that Puppy Chow just wasn't for him. Talk about finicky cats! Sam gets walked; Bandit goes on his own, so there's one less problem. But there are only so many "good" spots in the house, especially on a cold winter day.

This comfy chair is both near a window—for light—and a radiator—for heat—so it's the perfect spot for Bandit to use for some serious snoozing. Only problem is, Sam also got cold, and that chair looked oh, so inviting. Watching Sam make his move was interesting. The retriever walked quietly up to where the cat was sleeping, put his snout near Bandit, and went Sniff, none too quietly. Bandit ignored the sound. Sam, not to be outdone, poked Bandit with a cold nose.

Did that bring a reaction, one caught by the camera. Bandit jumped up, told Sam off, backed the dog—which weighs about 15 times more than the cat—and then went quietly back to sleep, alone and unencumbered, on that comfy chair.

And the parameters of the relationship thus established, the two have gotten along famously since.

Did You Ever Wonder...

The Yellow Sea, The Red Sea, The Black Sea — Are they truly yellow, red, and black?

This is the nautical rainbow coalition. But does each of these seas get its name for very specific color reasons?

Well, two out of three do. The Yellow Sea, or Hwang Hai, lies between mainland China and Korea and gets its characteristic color from the rich yellow silt, called loess, deposited by the Yellow (Hwang Ho) and other rivers.

The narrow body of water separating northeastern Africa from the Arabian Peninsula, the Red Sea gets its name from the masses of reddish seaweed found in its waters. The Red Sea was created when the Great Rift running the length of Africa opened up and waters from the Indian Ocean rushed in. As the Great Rift continues its slow geologic widening, the Red Sea will become larger. But don't wait around for it to happen. Before Europeans figured out how to sail around Africa to get to the East, the Red Sea was a major trade connection between the Eastern Mediterranean and the Orient. Its importance was restored when the Suez Canal was opened in 1869, giving it direct access to the Mediterranean. Ships using the Suez-Red Sea route avoided thousands of miles of difficult sailing around Africa. However, the significance of the Red Sea has once again been diminished as most modern supertankers are too large to navigate the Suez Canal.

Why Seas Are Named After Colors?

The Black Sea, much-disputed through history, is a tideless inland sea between Europe and Asia, once called the Pontos Axeinos or "inhospitable sea" by the Greeks and Marea Neagra by the Romanians. In Greek myth, it was the sea Jason sailed across in his search for the legendary Golden Fleece. Together with the Caspian and Aral Seas, it was once part of a much larger inland sea millions of years ago. Although its waters are quite dark, its name is believed to be derived from its stormy character rather than any particular color scheme.

The Black Sea is fed by some of Eastern Europe's major rivers, including the Dniester, the Dnieper, and the Danube. The large influx of fresh water creates two levels within the lake. Below a certain depth, little life exists.

The composer Johann Strauss, who wrote the famous "Blue Danube Waltz," would be hard-pressed to recognize his inspiration today. The fabled Danube River originates in southern Germany, then drifts lazily, touching eight countries along the way, before it empties into the Black Sea. But as it moves through Central Europe's industrial heartland, the Danube is continually fed by befouled tributaries, and in turn is a major polluter of the Black Sea.

(This is an excerpt from Kenneth C. Davis' book entitled Don't Know Much About Geography, author of The New York Times Best Seller, Don't Know Much About History.)

Syracuse 32, Fordham 27 - Syracuse riding a four game winning streak met the undefeated Rams. Trailing 23-20 after three quarters, the Orangemen went on a 10-0 tear with Scott Bryan and Mark Zajkowski doing all the scoring. They held off a late Fordham surge to record the upset victory. Special mention to Brendan Siminic, Jimmy Montana and Vinnie Carroll for the job they did rebounding against the powerful front line of Fordham.

Steven Hernandez had twelve points, Danny Rogers with eight, and Jared Troise with three did the offensive damage for Fordham while Raymond Socha came up big on the glass.

Duke 27, Virginia 22 - The Blue Devils played an outstanding game as they won for the first time this season. Tommy Riccio exploded for 17 points, Jaime Callari scored three points, and Anthony DeMico added a free throw. Peter Sluka had five steals on defense. Stephen Clark scored four points for the Cavaliers. Joe Sanfillippo, Frank Pesale, and Ryan Christ excelled on defense.

Fordham 32, Virginia 25 - Steven Hernandez was high scorer for the Fordham Rams with 12 points. Danny "The Mailman" Rogers had eight points and Jared Troise added six points. Jonathan Young scored four points and Jonathan Maier had two points and eight rebounds. The Virginia Cavaliers were led by Brian "Hot Rod" Hebron with 16 points. Andrew "Thunder" Visconti had two points and Gary "Big Mac" McGuinness added a free throw. Michael Haley excelled on defense.

Syracuse 36, Duke 13 - Syracuse exploded out of the gate scoring a record 18 points in the first quarter while holding Duke to just four points. This was a tremendous effort both offensively and defensively resulting in a beautiful display of teamwork. Tough defense by Tony Fumagalli, Eric Smith, and Stephen Pelle helped maintain the lead throughout. Scott Bryan with 14 points and five assists, Matt Luyster with 10 points and eight rebounds, and Brendan Siminic with six points and nine rebounds were outstanding, playing their best game. For Duke, Tommy Riccio led the way scoring six while Chris Barbino, Matt Anglin, and Anthony DeMico chipped in two points each.

Syracuse 29, Virginia 23 - The game was hard fought and tightly contested, from start to finish. The offensive guns for Syracuse were Scott Bryan and Matt Luyster. Vinnie Carroll, Jimmy Montana, Marco Bruzzi, and Brendan Siminic combined for 19 rebounds and 10 points. Tony Fumagalli chipped in two points and had three assists. Leading the way for Virginia were Andy Visconti and Brian Hebron who threw in 18 points between them. Frank Pesale, Joey SanFillippo, Stephen Clark, and Ryan Christ excelled on defense.

Fordham 27, Duke 21 - Danny Rogers led all scorers with 10 points and eight assists. Jonathan Young had three points, Jared Troise had four points and Mike Fries and Jonathan Maier each scored a basket. Steven Hernandez added six points. Duke was led by Tom Foran with nine points, Chris Barbino with six points, and Steve Alvarez with four points. Jaime Callari had two blocked shots and five rebounds.

Fordham 36, Syracuse 24 - Steven Hernandez led the way for Fordham with 15 points and three blocked shots. Jonathan Maier had 12 points, four steals, and 10 rebounds. Danny Rogers tossed in seven points and had six assists. Jared Troise and Mike Albinski each played great defense. Syracuse was led by Matt Luyster with 12 points and Scott Bryan with 10 points. Brendan Siminic had two points and six rebounds. Stephen Pelle was outstanding on defense.

Fordham 24, Virginia 20 - Steven Hernandez was the big scorer with 16 points. Danny Rodgers had six and Mike Fries had two. Ray Socha excelled on defense. Virginia was led by Brian Hebron with 15 points. Gary McGuinness had two points and Andy Visconti and Michael Haley were outstanding on defense.

Syracuse 45, Duke 21 - A 15-0 second quarter propelled Syracuse to a 27-6 half-time lead. Scott Bryan had 12 of his game high 22 points in the second quarter. Superior defense and rebounding by Brendan Siminic, Jimmy Montana, and Vinnie Carroll was very instrumental to this attack. Duke maintained their fighting spirit, outscoring Syracuse 13-7 during the third quarter with Tommy Riccio leading the way with eight points. Mark Zajkowski played a fine all around game for the Orangemen.

Syracuse 38, Virginia 25 - Trailing 16-14, Syracuse exploded for 24 second half points. Scott "Flash" Bryan led the scoring surge pouring in nine third quarter points, while dishing off three assists. Vinnie Carroll added five points and grabbed seven of his game high 10 rebounds during the offensive eruption. Jimmy "Big Sky" Montana and Brendan Siminic hammered the glass throughout the game combining for 15 rebounds. Brendan and Matt Luyster chipped in six points each. Gary McGuinness scored six points to go along with some nifty passing to propel Virginia to an early 12-6 lead. Joey SanFillippo, Frank Pesale, and Ryan Christ played tough, hard-nosed defense and battled mightily off the boards.

Syracuse 31, Duke 16 - Duke came out playing spectacular defense to take a 12-10 lead at halftime. Leading the defensive effort were Anthony Inzerella, and Anthony D'Amico. Matt Luyster, Tony Fumagalli, and Scott Bryan struggled early on but were able to wake up in time to combine for 25 points. The key to the victory, however, was the defensive spark ignited by Stephen Pelle, Marco Bruzzi, and Mark Zajkowski in the second half that resulted in holding Duke to just four points. Jimmy "Big Sky" Montana was again magnificent on the backboards collecting 12 rebounds. Tommy Riccio led his team in scoring with 10 points.

Virginia 32, Duke 13 - The Virginia Cavaliers used a balanced scoring attack to earn the victory. Gary "Big Mac" McGuinness and Stevie "On the Mark" Clark shared scoring honors with 10 points each. Andy "Thunder" Visconti, and Frank "The Pistol" Pesale tossed in six points each. Michael "The Comet" Haley and "Flyin'" Ryan Christ played outstanding defense. The Duke Blue Devils were led by Chris Barbino's six points and Tom Foran's four points. Jaime Callari scored two points while Matt Anglin collected four steals.

Knights End Undefeated Season 9-0-0

The Knights finished the fall season for the Bantam Division of the Hicksville American Soccer Club with one of the strongest games of the season. After waiting for three weeks, the Knights beat the Eagles 6-0 to top off a great year.

The Knights finished with 53 goals for, seven goals against, and six shutouts. Coach Kevin Berg and assistant coach Pepe Alcantara are very pleased with each and every one of the Knight's players.

The players voted the following awards to the following players: most improved, Nick Mazzurco; most dedicated, Jimmy Cole; MVP-defense, Nick Mazzurco; MVP-midfield, Brian Kwas; MVP-offense, Tom Morillo; and Knights MVP, Pete Mazzurco.

The Knights salute the Demolition, Bull Dogs, and Eagles for their spirit, sportsmanship, and great competition. "It's been a great season, but next season is only 2 1/2 months away, and nobody knows what will happen then," said coach Kevin Berg.

Basketball Roundup

The December monthly meetings were cancelled due to the loss of the president's father. Meetings will resume soon. If anyone needs information they are asked to contact the basketball commissioners or any of the following board members: vice president, Fred Foran; baseball director, Bob Patterson; or softball director, Donna Martillo.

Baseball and softball registrations times will soon be announced. Registration will begin at the end of January. Special registrations will be held for the new Connie Mack Baseball team. Connie Mack is open to boys, ages 16-19. For further information contact Audrey Andrews at 933-0887.

5th/6th Grade Results

Knicks 30, Lakers 18 - It was the opening game for both teams, but you couldn't tell it by the play. The Knicks Paolo Fumagali, Peter Martin, and Michael Gleason were in mid-season form by scoring 13 points, eight and seven respectively. For the Lakers, Stratos Mitsopoulos, Steven Verde, and Brian Horvath led a balanced attack.
