Opinions In This Column Are Those Of Writer And Not Necessarily Those Of This Newspaper

My Opinion

By William A. Bruno, Jr., member Hicksville School Board

It is interesting to note the paid advertisement being currently run in the two-county-wide circulated newspapers and presumably also in our local community papers, by the Hicksville Classroom Teachers Association. Of course we may comment that the teachers always complain they are being underpaid. But, they have enough somehow to pay the high rates for advertising in the county-wide papers, at quarter-page size not to speak of the charges in the local press.

In substance, the argument of the teacher group, boils down to this: that 1) as teachers, they are dedicated to "quality" education; 2) the taxpayer is entitled to full value for money spent on education; and 3) therefore, it is essential to have a school board which respects the professional integrity of the teachers and trusts their judgment in all educational matters. From this premise they conclude that the residents of Hicksville should follow their advise and vote for candidates for the School Board who:

- 1) Believe in classes of reasonable size.
- 2) Will supply them with whatever materials and equipment as are required to permit them to do a good job.
- 3) Will allow educators freely to choose textbooks for their own worth.
- 4) Will provide them with conditions which do not detract them from their ability to teach.

'Candle Ball' Sat. May 4

A Candlelight Ball, highlight of the social season of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Elohim, will be held on Saturday, May 4th, 8:30 PM, at the elegant Renaissance Country Club, Roslyn, L.I.

The cocktail hour, from 8:30 to 9:30 PM, will offer an open bar and hot hors d'oeuvres, and will be followed by dinner and dancing. The subscription is $18.00 per couple and includes gratuities. For information and a wonderful evening call Mrs. Joyce Feil, OW 1-3544, or Mrs. Shirley Lewenthal, CH 9-3671.

Students Take Part In Festival

On Saturday evening, April 6, in the Hicksville Junior High School Auditorium, the Hicksville Music Department, under the supervision of Charles F. Gouse and William R. Goleeke, presented an All Hicksville Music Festival.

This Music Festival featured students selected from eight of the elementary schools in Hicksville. Approximately 250 children performed before a capacity audience. For the past month, these student musicians worked with their individual school music teachers on the Festival music. On March 30 and April 6, they met for group rehearsals with the Festival conductors.

The Festival Orchestra was under the direction of Charles F. Gouse; the Festival Chorus, William R. Goleeke; and the Festival Band, Valerian Laguerre.

HICKSVILLE CLASSROOM TEACHERS ASSOCIATION SPEAKS

Residents
Union Free School District #17

April 5, 1963

Dear Parents and Voters:

The message of School Superintendent Donald Abt in the current edition of "BulletinBoard" has placed the educational needs of our community squarely in perspective. The crucial issue in Hicksville today revolves around the question of who shall control education in Union Free School District #17. We are faced with the choice of being free to continue to try to meet the individual needs of all the children or being forced to knuckle under to the dictates of a clique whose only educational philosophy is the dollar sign. As teachers, dedicated to the welfare of our charges, our responsibility is clear. We must do everything in our power to ensure the perpetuation of quality education as our contribution to the American goal of a free world.

It is not an exaggeration to say that no school system can be any better than the people who staff and operate it. But it is equally true that school personnel can not function adequately without the permission of, and support from, their Board of Education. Given the kind of administrative leadership we have in our schools, it is essential that we also have a Board which permits them to lead without harassment; which respects their professional integrity and trusts their judgment in educational matters. It is imperative, therefore, that all the issues be brought to the community for full and fair discussion so that it can choose wisely in determining the kind of education it wants for its children.

We believe that education in a democracy is the responsibility of all the people. We are convinced that professional educators are the ones best equipped to make recommendations of educational policy. We subscribe whole-heartedly to the thesis that the taxpayer is entitled to full value for every dollar spent on education. We are opposed to gaudy frills, or fancy buildings, or "featherbedding," or incidental luxuries. What we want are classes of reasonable size, sufficient room in which to teach them, whatever materials and equipment are required to do a good job, textbooks reviewed and chosen for their worth by qualified professional educators, conditions of work which do not detract from our ability to teach, and fair recompense for our academic preparation and time and effort.

We urge all of you to register (April 27 - May 1) and vote (May 8) in the coming election for school board trustees. We hope that you will support only those candidates whose records and statements indicate that they will place the welfare of the children of Hicksville above any other consideration. We trust that you will elect a school board who will spend your money wisely and well to obtain for your children the best education you can truly afford.

Respectfully,
James Curran, President
Hicksville Classroom Teachers Assoc.

Letters

To the Editor:

I am tired of reading in the local papers that I am against the teaching of "Americanism" in the Hicksville public schools. Most boys have the best years of their lives between the ages of 18 to 21; I spent those years in the Army of the United States during the most ferocious war in history, WW II, and I take a back seat to no one with respect to patriotism and the patriotic education of American children.

I am being misquoted in this respect. My criticism of Mr. Bruno is for his abuse of Americanism by making it a club to attack United Nations education in the schools. I agree completely with His Holiness, Pope John XXIII, as set forth in his recent encyclical, that the U.S. presents the world's best hope of survival in the present state of international tensions.

Mr. Bruno's attacks on the U.N., his public stand against the education of our children concerning the U.S., and his use of Americanism as a weapon against the U.N., was the subject of my criticism of Mr. Bruno.

I assure you that if I am quoted out of context to make it appear that I am against Mr. Bruno for the reason that he supports the teaching of Americanism, I shall consider and take appropriate legal action against those who so misquote me.

Sincerely,
/s/ Dr. Herbert Malamud
To The Editor:

As one who is in a position to comment somewhat knowledgeably on the question of the Americanism taught in our public schools, may a local teacher and the Americanism Chairman of the Charles Wagner Post of the American Legion make a few points?

In five years of implementing the Legion's Americanism activities a very vital part of our great organization's program, I have received nothing but the greatest of cooperation from the Superintendent of Schools, his aides, principals and the teachers of public and parochial schools. I cite the following as evidence of the high interest of our school personnel in furthering patriotism, loyalty to community and appreciation of our American way of life:

One: the High School's principal, Mr. Leon Gallaway and his predecessor, Miss Mabel Farley, and their faculties have repeatedly shown much interest in conducting the oratorical training of student speakers for the Legion's annual Oratorical Contest on the subject of the U.S. Constitution. Five years ago, a young orator from Hicksville, Gene Nye, reached the State's finals with a splendid discourse on the Constitution.

Two: the High School has regularly furnished the American Legion with fine representatives of the Junior Class who attend Boys' State at Colgate University and who return to their school for their senior year with an outstanding practical knowledge of and experience in the American political procedure.

Three: each spring, the Legion's school awards are given an important place of presentation in our elementary school graduation and moving-up exercises. These awards medals and certificates are given to pupils who have shown excellence in the study of U.S. History and who also have shown high degrees of school citizenship. Our elementary school principals - many of whom are veterans of World War II or Korea - are enthusiastic in their willingness to see that worthy graduates are honored for their Americanism. Often it is a hard job for the principals to reach a choice among numerous worthy boys and girls, and the Legion is happy to present multiple awards.

Four: in our community's patriotic and memorial celebrations and parades, our school bands and their band masters cooperate most wholeheartedly with various veterans organizations in arranging and making these functions memorable.

Five: when the three-track curriculum for the public schools was prepared under Mr. Abt's direct supervision, about five years ago, the writer then already a Legionnaire for many years and a Social Studies teacher in Hicksville since 1953, was assigned a position among the faculty members preparing the Social Studies curriculum. As a teacher and parent primarily and as a Legionnaire and taxpayer, secondarily, I was particularly interested in seeing that the American history units to be taught in our schools were sound in ideas and date. It was my good fortune to work on the secondary school committee which included such well known life-long residents and graduates of Hicksville's schools as Miss Gertrude Wetterauer and Mr. Patrick Nasco, both highly experienced teachers. The overall Social Studies program drawn up for our schools embodied a great deal of the ideals and knowledge that progressive conservatives and sound liberals held and it included the principles of Americanism continuously extolled by our country's foremost veterans and patriotic organizations... A few years later, a community history of Hicksville was prepared for use in our local schools. The writer was again privileged to work on this history, and as Social Studies teacher, a newer resident of Hicksville and a veteran interested in promoting American ideals and an attachment to community, I tried to call attention to the community's wholesome past, its sacrifices in two World Wars and its resolution to face the problems of post-war growth with democratic activity, sound educational values and economic energy.

Six: it is not widely known - except to parents of the students involved - but Hicksville has the distinction of being about the first school district on Long Island to offer an intensive course in Communism's ideas and their threat to the Free World. Anticipating a trend now setting in throughout the nation, the Junior and Senior High Schools have been teaching about the insidious nature and evils of Communism, these last five years. Again, as a representative of one of America's strongest anti-Communistic organizations, the American Legion, it was the writer's great privilege to help create the program.

Seven: it is reassuring to me as a parent and taxpayer that in almost all aspects of its public education, Hicksville's schools are supervised by administrators who have served their country in its armed forces or are long residents of the community with sound educational backgrounds and active participation in community life. Among our teachers are a great number of men who have served their country and who know something of patriotism, and there is, too, a sizable core of mature women who are long-time resident teachers. Very many of our younger teachers are graduates of colleges and universities known for their sound philosophies of life and theories of education. This is obvious to anyone who regularly deals with them.

On the question of teachers emphasizing the value of the United Nations, this should not be surprising if so eminent a progressive voice as Pope John should ask nations to work more earnestly to make the U.N. more effectively an instrument of worldwide peace. To my knowledge, the United Nations has not been overemphasized in general, certainly not at the expense of Americanism. American history and ideals are brought before our students extensively during at least six years of their schooling and are an essential part of every grade's education. The overall school program for teaching American ideals is good, and with plans now underway, its effectiveness should be increased, as time passes.

In conclusion, it appears to one directly conversant with the development of American ideals in our schools, that the issue of a weak Americanism program is unfounded. The charge has been made without a prior careful study of the actual situation and is, therefore, un-American.

ADL Honors Bethpage Man

Nathan Kronen, 58 Miller Road, Bethpage, a member of the sales staff for the past 25 years of Heinenfeld Glass Works, Hicksville, will be guest of honor at a breakfast sponsored by the Levittown Division of the Anti-Defamation League Appeal. The breakfast is set for Sunday morning, April 21st at Levittown Hall, Levittown. It was announced by Ben Siefel and Arthur Bloom, co-chairmen of the division.

Mr. Kronen is being honored for his "outstanding service to the cause of human rights." Frederick W. Kanter, ADL Appeal chairman of the Metropolitan Council of B'nai B'rith will make a major address at the breakfast which launches the Levittown Division's effort on behalf of the ADL's Appeal for $3,940,000.

DRIVE SAFELY

Thinking It Over

by Robert L. Morgan

More people now work in Nassau County than work outside of it according to a report issued by the Nassau County Planning Commission. The report shows that 53% of workers hold jobs within the county.

While this information was only released last week it is based on the 1960 census. It might be further assumed that since that time the percentage has increased and that it now stands at better than 53% because each year there has been an increase in the number of people who live and work in their own county.

In terms of thousands there were 202,579 workers who commuted to work in N.Y.C. when the census was taken. While there is no definite meaning to these figures, there is a trend that is showing up. This trend is against working in New York City and contrary to the great push going on in some quarters for rapid transit to the city, the bigger problems to be solved in the future of transportation might be in the county and these would be centered around more roads, parking and possibly better bus transportation, if enough people want the latter. So maybe ideas about spending $800 million for a monorail to the city are not keeping up to the statistics.

Boy Suddenly Becomes Deaf

By C. A. Dean, M.D.

(Q) "I read your article recently about sudden deafness. Now I beg you to consider our case. We have an 8-year-old boy who went deaf 13 months ago after having the mumps and measles. We took him to quite a few doctors and hospitals. All they ever did was check his ears and give him an audiogram. They all arrived at the same conclusion -- that he has a nerve deafness and there is nothing more that can be done for him. But my wife and I are taking it hard. We even took him to a non-medical practitioner who didn't help him. We have tried hearing aids but he can only hear gross sounds. The boy sits, at times, and gazes and our heart bleeds for him. We have spent thousands and can dig up more by putting a mortgage on our house. Can you recommend where to go or what should be done to help him?"

Mr. and Mrs. J.D. (A) I think you must first realize that with a nerve type deafness, which your son apparently has, no amount of treatment will restore the hearing that is already lost. Therefore, you must concentrate on using, to advantage, the little bit that he may have left. The fact that he hears gross sounds with the hearing aid shows that he has some residual hearing. I think your boy should be learning how to lip read and use his hearing aid properly. In fact an aid in each ear may be in order. Obviously, he needs specialized help for this and you can get it through the ear specialist you consulted. If you will try to concentrate and improve what hearing he has rather than hoping for a return of his lost hearing I think both you and your boy will be better for it. I know this will be hard for you to accept but you must, otherwise your boy will lose a golden opportunity for conquering his handicap.

Do you have a medical question? Write Dr. C. A. Dean in care of this newspaper.

Plan Ahead For Summer Vacation

By Richmond Barbour, Ph.D.
Guidance Counselor

Whee, summer vacation is almost here! It's been a long winter, hasn't it, friends? But now it's time to forget the snow shoveling, and start planning for a summer of fun.

Will your family be taking its vacation together this year? I hope so. But only if you all enjoy it. A vacation is no good if daddy is tired and crabby from driving all day, and mother is a nervous wreck from riding hard in a car full of little hellions.

Can auto trips with children really be enjoyable? Of course they can. But it pays to plan ahead. That's why I'm suggesting now that you map out your route early. Don't try to take in too much territory. Save some sightseeing for the next trip. Limit your driving to about 300 miles a day, stopping in midmorning and midafternoon for romping breaks. Look for shady parks and playgrounds. Let the kids run. Play tag with them yourself if you want to get rid of driving cramps.

Plan picnic lunches. You'll save money and tempers, too. It's pure misery for a child to sit still at noon in a crowded, noisy restaurant. In the car take turns calling out games to play. One of our family favorites is "Password," based on the television show. Don't make the words too hard. Let the youngsters set the pace.

By all means, stop early. You can take your choice of "vacancy" signs, perhaps have a swim before dinner. If it's still light, a slow walk a few blocks around your motel may turn up interesting side lights to the trip.

In any case, take it easy. This is a vacation. Make it one you'll look back on with pleasure.

READER'S FORUM

(Q) "We've been saving for a long vacation trip to Washington, D.C. for five years. In the meantime my husband keeps working, and we haven't had any trips at all. Shouldn't we give up the big plans and start doing things together now while the children are young?" Mrs. I.K.

(A) Probably short vacations each year would be of more benefit, but you can continue to set aside a portion of your savings for the longer trip. The Capitol will mean more to your children when they are in high school.

American Legion Auxiliary News

By Cynthia Hochbrueckner

On Saturday, April 20, the Charles Wagner Post #421 American Legion Auxiliary will hold a cake sale at Braun's Market, 77 Broadway, Hicksville. A delicious variety of homemade cakes, cookies, pies and breads have been promised by the members. Stop in and pick up a treat for the family. Our thanks go to the proprietors of Braun's Market for the use of their store.

At the April meeting the Auxiliary entertained the Nassau County Chairman, Anne Knapp and her staff. We were very happy to see so many past County Chairman present. Our President, William Bosch, her staff and committee chairman were complimented on their fine progress so far this year.

Poppy Day is drawing closer and this year the unit will again make wreaths and corsages. Anyone wishing to order a wreath please contact Cynthia Hochbrueckner, WE 5-3546 as soon as possible as we plan to make them only on order. More on this program will follow at a later date.

Bowling Supper Party For Hadassah

The Center Island Chapter of Hadassah will hold a Bowling and Supper Party on Saturday evening, April 27 at 9 p.m., at the Farmingdale Lanes, 999 Conklin St., Farmingdale. A buffet supper will be served.

Trophies and prizes will be awarded. A donation of $6.50 per couple covers the entire evening of enjoyment.

For further information call Mrs. B. Alexander of 5 Chapin Road, Farmingdale at CH 9-4133.

'Tulip Time' Is Party Theme

"Tulip Time" will be theme for the annual card and bunco party to be given by the Rosary Altar Society of Our Lady of Mercy Church in Hicksville. Marge Carr and Natalie Heath, chairmen for this event promise a wonderful array of prizes and fun for all who attend on Thursday, April 25 at 8:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. Tickets are $1.25. A donation of 25¢ per chance will bring the lucky winner of the raffle a beautiful Cashmere sweater with a Mink collar. Heading the sale of tickets and raffles respectively are Ann Ramistella and Agatha Cialdella. Refreshments chairmen are Liz Daepner and Eileen Nalepa. The decorations committee is under the direction of Rose Giovannelli.

Music Festival Big Success

Hicksville Junior High students who participated in the recent Nassau County Junior High Festival Chorus held at Oyster Bay, were: Robert De Jongh, Steven Goldstein, Lance Petrarca, Gary Chalmers, James Genovese, Robert Hendrickson, Gregg Miller, Jancie Hawkins, Jean Summers, Julie Thompson, Mary Masterson, Elaine O'Connor and Janice Rogger. The conductor, Arpad Barazas of the well known St. Kilian's Boys' Choir, singled out the boys from Hicksville, as an example to others of the County, for their excellent choral technique. Participants in the Festival received their training from Miss Florence Bowmar, Richard Been and Gerald Barker of the Jr. High Music Department.

Investing Series At Local Library

A second series of lectures on Securities and Investing has been scheduled by the Hicksville Public Library. Given under the auspices of the New York Stock Exchange, these programs are designed to acquaint the public with the various techniques for investing and to analyze certain industrial groups of stocks. While this series is a continuation of the preceding nine lectures, the library would like to stress that the lectures are open to the public, and anyone who is interested is welcome. The first series was very well received by those who attended.

Following is a digest of the subjects to be covered in this series:

I. Economic Indicators - Signposts for Investors: What they show....Where you find them...The significance, for example, of production, retail sales, inventories, new orders and disposable personal income.

II. Selection of Securities: What are your investment goals?...Income, safety, growth, or trading profits?...Some things financial experts look for. Price/earnings ratios and other measuring sticks.. Leverage and dilution.

III. Public Utilities: Federal, state and local government regulation of electric power, natural gas, telephone and telegraph industries. The importance of service rate decisions to shareowners. Income and growth feature of utility stocks.

IV. Chemicals and Drugs: How profits are made with "Building blocks"...Expanding markets through plastics, synthetic fibers, exotic fuels and miracle drugs...Research and development costs relative to profits and dividends.

V. Electrical and Electronic equipment: Semiconductors, ultrasonics, microwaves and other technological development bring sweeping changes upon industry, defense and home life...A frequent dilemma for investors: growth potential - and substantial risk.

VI. Investing Theories and Techniques: What is meant by the Value approach, Chart Reading, Dow Theory, Tape Watching, Odd-Lot Theory, Dollar Cost Averaging, Theory of Contrary Opinion and Formula Plan Timing...Some views of professionals on these methods...Tax advantages of stock gifts to minors.

this week, with most of which I wholeheartedly agree, particularly that the taxpayer is entitled to full value for every dollar spent on education.

Conversely, our teachers are entitled to fair recompense for their devoted efforts. And not merely for the pragmatic reason that we must pay a competitive salary, but primarily because of the requirements of justice.

However, there is one part of the advertisement which deserves public discussion. The Teachers ask for the election of school board candidates who "will allow professional educators to choose textbooks for their own worth."

The State Education Law (section 701) requires that the Board of Education shall designate the textbooks to be used in the district.

Obviously a good board will take into consideration the recommendations of the teachers, but a good board will not abrogate its responsibilities in this matter.

We need a Board of Education that will work with the administration and teachers, but we do not need nor want a board that will be merely a rubber stamp.

Children's Program At Burns Ave.

The second effort in a "children-to-children" program -- with youngsters providing a cultural experience for others -- will be made Tuesday, April 14, when the Burns Ave. Elementary School Band of Hicksville, performs for children of the Human Resources Foundation School located in Albertson, New York. Last spring the band presented a concert at the Lake and Watts Home in Yonkers, New York.

The Hicksville children, ranging in age from 9 to 11, will give a concert for the school's youngsters.

The Human Resources Foundation School is for the physically handicapped. The program is jointly run by the Foundation and the Vocational Education and Extension Board. At present there are 19 physically handicapped children attending the school. They are from 14 Nassau County school districts and commute each day from their homes via special school buses. The grade range is from 1-8 and the children range in age from 6 to 14 years. The students receive a full academic program including adapted physical education. Previously most of these children were homebound and received home tutoring.

Before performing, the Hicksville band members will be taken on a tour which includes the school, the Human Resources Foundation, and Abilities, Inc. Abilities Inc., is a private industry employing disabled people.

The performance, and others like it to follow, are the result of a program developed by Frank E. Burke, Principal of the Burns Ave. Elementary School, and Gerald Burakoff, the school's Band Director.

"This is a plan," explains Mr. Burke, through which children attending one public institution will give of themselves and their talents to others, their age, who ordinarily lack similar opportunities."

"All the youngsters involved will benefit. Those performing will learn to work together to help others, and those in the audience will be entertained and pointedly remembered," says the band director.

"It is our hope that other public institutions and communities will participate in and support programs like the one we have undertaken," says Mr. Burke.

Opening their school's program, the Hicksville youngsters' band concert will feature Marches, a Spanish selection and a "Trumpeter's Salute," presenting a trumpet trio from the band. Guest soloist will be Charles F. Gouse, Supervisor of Instrumental Music in the Hicksville Public Schools. The concert is scheduled to begin at 12:15 p.m.

Program Problems To Be Solved

Knowing the problems that beset program chairmen to devise interesting and stimulating programs for a full year, the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith is ready to fill this need.

On Thursday evening, 9:00 PM, on May 9th we will present a special PROGRAM PREVIEW at which Mrs. Paula Witheller will demonstrate special condensed versions of some of the types of programs that are available to all organizations on a non-sectarian basis. The program for the evening will be as follows:

1. "Sing a Song of Friendship" - color cartoons of delightful Irving Caesar songs presenting basic concepts of democracy

2. "Dolls for Democracy" - Songs and stories of famous people dramatized by the use of costumed dolls.

3. "The High Wall" - A film showing prejudice as a contagious disease which spreads from adult to child.

4. "Rumor Clinic" - An entertainment show with a message: Don't be a spreader of rumors; get the facts.

This presentation will be shown at the Central Park Road School in Plainview and all are invited to attend for a stimulating evening which they can use in turn for their organizations.

5) Will pay them for their academic preparation, and time, and effort.

Before analyzing the nature of the argument allegedly being made on behalf of all teachers, the following observations should be noted:

1) That while the Association makes reference to classroom size, and that it should be "reasonable", they do not define the yardstick nor state whether the size should be 15 or 30, neither do they state whether the size may vary from time to time. Classroom size is relative and must depend upon enrollment as well as existing facilities. This they do not even acknowledge as a possible qualifying exception to any prescription of size.

2) and 3) Materials and equipment, "whatever they may be", do not make up for deficiencies in a teacher or "make" an individual a teacher who never should have chosen such calling. Materials and equipment are merely supporting aids, and supplemental to the native ability of the teacher to teach. They are not the substitute for the teacher.

Every experimental project requires new and different approaches, and in many instances, new and different materials and equipment. Whether these experimental projects should be entered upon, or entertained, with their new and expanded additional materials and equipment, and additional costs, is a matter for determination not only of the School Administrator, but also of the Board itself. The cost is incidental, and immaterial. The principle is not. The teachers, as an organized group, by raising the cry of "anti-education", have cowed the Board majority into an abject surrender of its obligation, and right, to be consulted, and to be made aware of these projects BEFORE they are entered into. The Board's right and obligation are spelled out and prescribed in the State Education Law. It expressly provides:

"Section 1709. POWERS AND DUTIES OF BOARDS OF EDUCATION: The said board of education of every union free school district, shall have the power, and it shall be its duty:

3. To prescribe the course of study to which the pupils of the schools shall be graded and classified, and to regulate the admissions of pupils..

4. To prescribe the text-books to be used in the schools,....and to furnish the same to pupils out of any moneys provided for that purpose.

5. To make provision for the instruction of pupils in all subjects in which such instruction is required to be given under the provisionsof this chapter."

Now, this does not mean, nor is it taken to mean that every type of instruction, to be inaugurated by the School Administration, must be subject to review and re-examination by the Board. But they do mean that these provisions of law do not give carte blanche to educators to give vent to every educational theory, nor do they authorize the inauguration of educational theories without prior review of the Board. These provisions require the mulling over of proposed new plans, as well as the review, from time to time, of the old.

We need not be awed by the perpetual and persistently reiterated cry of "interference". The discharge of his duty by the individual Board Member, may from time to time, require review. If the law is wrong, or ill-advised, let the law be changed.

While the law is in existence, let the teaching lobby respect the law as the law of the State. Let the members of the teaching profession by their own example of respect for the law, let it's members teach the pupils in their charge that our laws are to be respected. Perhaps thereby, they may make their greatest contribution to the training of our youth and thereby help to curtail juvenile delinquency, at least in part.

The ad is a poor reflection on what teaching in America stands for. The ad is a perfect example of "scare" technique and tactics. It is neither sound in logic nor sound in its inferences. It does not follow that because the teachers claim they are dedicated to "quality" education, they are necessarily dedicated to education. It does not follow that their conception of "dedication" is either sufficient, or that is in fact, "dedication". The term "dedication" is something which used to mean something. It used to mean more than money. It used to mean the opportunity afforded to the true teacher

...more, and to be an inspiration to the youth of America. What is happening of late, is this: The moment the more volatile teachers read about, or hear, some individual attempting to "hold the line" on taxes, they immediately see fit to raise the hue and cry that the individual is "anti-education". It is as if a red flag is held out to them. (I do not know whether the flag constitutes a rallying point for them, or whether they constitute the incensed "bull").

When the effort is made to contain, or restrict, the ability to tax, so that it conforms with the ability to pay, we demonstrate a sound Americanism. That effort to live within our means is a reflection of sound fiscal policy. It is one of the attributes which have made our country strong. The desire to keep our expenditures within bounds is commendable. It is to be encouraged as a symbol of prudence to our youth, if not to their parents. It is not to be condemned as if it were the plague.

Holding the line on taxes is not "anti-education". It, in fact, preserves and assures our system of free education for the future. The posture of the so-called educator is not sacred, nor sacrosanct. We have no sacred cows in America. At least, we should not.

We must be wary of smoke screens which bellow forth "anti-education", which seek to hide the efforts of the volatile teachers who seek to get "MORE, MORE, MORE" for themselves without regard for the cost to the taxpayer, or to his ability to pay, or, and not the least, the individual merit of the individual teacher to warrant the demanded constant increases.

Getting back to the ad: Because the teachers accept the proposition that the taxpayer is "entitled to full value", it does not mean that the taxpayer is necessarily getting, or will get, "full value" for his tax dollar. It certainly does not mean that if economies are sought to be brought about the individuals seeking to accomplish this end, are "anti-education".

A School Board should respect the judgment of school teachers, and of the School Superintendent - in their field. But this respect does not require that the Board must blindly trust such judgment, without question, and as if they were oracles of ancient Greece. They are made of flesh and blood. They are but human. They are subject to the common human frailties, and to the insufficiencies of common human experience. There is a great contribution which lay members of School Boards can contribute to the autonomous local school system, and which the law, as set up, anticipates. This contribution, which embraces their combined experiences, can be of value and material benefit to the entire district.

The State Education Law authorizes the continued existence of School Districts as a unit of self-government. It affirms the right of the community to continue to select the members of their own local school boards. This is intended to reserve to the local community autonomy in its own school affairs. If the opinions of the "educator", only, are to be accepted, without question, at all times and without criticism and without comment and if all that there is left is for "papa" to pay the bill, then there is and will be no further need for school elections and for the continuance of the principal of local autonomy. Some teachers, if they had their way, would have salaries raised to all kind of fantastic figures, and would have classroom sizes reduced to 15 pupils per classroom, or less. Not so long ago, at one of the annual state School Board Association Meetings, the principal speaker was so bold as to assert that the salary of teachers should be $20,000 per year. That is the projection of the professional educator. YOU, THE PUBLIC, must decide if you are ready for payments of this kind in the near future. Remember, the District budget has been increasing at roughly $1,000,000. per year. It can increase to even greater heights

THERE IS A LIMIT. The taxpayers have been pushed far enough. It is time to call a halt. There will be neither an austerity budget nor an exodus of teachers from Hicksville. It is always darkest before the dawn of a new day. LET THERE BE LIGHT. THERE WILL BE LIGHT

ARE DEMS OUT TO ELECT REPUBS?

-- Some active Democrats have been very actively working for the three incumbents who are standing for reelection to the Hicksville School Board. Interestingly enough, Board President Jerome Zettler and Trustee Herbert Johnson, two of the incumbents are, according to an informed source, listed as enrolled Republicans, while the third incumbent, Cornelius J. McCormack, is a Democrat.

Could it be that these Democrats will work for Eugene Nickerson's opponent when the County Executive reruns next year?

The Zettler-Johnson-McCormack triumvirate is part of the six-man majority that has obstinately, steadfastly, and obdurately refused to expend the slightest effort in cutting Hicksville's prospective $10,900,000 budget which the majority has upped by about $600,000 for next year, whacking the taxpayers with another 58-cent tax increase.

That puts these active Democrats on the side of the Republicans who are out to raise the Hicksville school tax no matter what the taxpayers may want or can afford.

As my pappy always put it: "When a politician gets hold of your buck, you might as well kiss it goodbye."

Oddments and Endments

PRO - Senator Goldwater and anti-

Rockefeller petitions are being circulated locally. Some came from Florida.

The petitions provide special spaces for Democrats who want to get on the Goldwater bandwagon.

THAT "resign-or-be-fired" ultimatum which William ... Bruno, Jr. has received as head of a Hicksville insurance agency is no surprise to this reporter.

More than three weeks ago I got word, from a distant source, that Bruno was about to get the axe. Unexplained to day is just what part, if any, politics had to do with it.

SOME OF MY READERS probably thought that a couple expose-type stories I wrote during the last three years or so about conditions at the East Meadow jail were slightly exaggerated.

The two latest jail riots show just how accurate some of my assessments were.

If the taint of the political spoils system were removed from the jailhouse, conditions might be vastly improved. All personnel, with the possible exception of the sheriff, should be appointed through competitive Civil Service examinations. And it might be desirable to set up a "jail school" to train jailers in security techniques and how properly to handle prisoners.

As it is, the East Meadow Jail is a sloppily run bastille. As a matter of fact, one wonders what would happen if the people sponsored a contest between the East Meadow Jail and the Nassau County District Attorney's office to see which commits more flubs in the course of a year.

Just last week, the case of a 17-year-old inmate of the East Meadow Jail under court order to be psychiatrically examined came to light.

Asked why it takes so long for the obviously rusty and badly corroded wheels of justice to roll in Nassau County, the DA's office professed ignorance, although an assistant DA said the slowness of psychiatrists at Pilgrim State Hospital who handle such matters was partly to blame.

Maybe if the charges against a few defendants were dismissed for lack of prosecution (The Constitution mandates a speedy trial, but that's one big joke in this county), the minions of law enforcement in Nassau would start doing the job for which they were either appointed by politicians or elected through the good offices of politicians.

Conditions at the jailhouse and charges of mistreatment of senior citizens at the old-age home in Oyster Bay Town may cause some to speculate on what would happen if a politically uncontrollable grand jury were to take off its gloves and do a first-class job of investigating in this county.

Air Force Senior Test

Sergeant Charles Vouaux, the Air Force representative in Levittown, has announced that the Air Force is offering their aptitude examination to all high school seniors, both young men and women.

The U. S. Air Force shares with educators the aims of developing America's mental resources to the utmost, and helping young people to make the most of their natural abilities. This test has been developed following this line of thought. The test is divided into four primary categories including administration, mechanics, general and electronics. The results of this test, in each category, may help young people decide what field of training or employment to pursue, in college, civilian occupation or in the Air Force. The results of the test are furnished following the completion of the test, to the person administered the test and to their high school guidance counselor. The local Air Force representative or class guidance counselor can then assist in evaluating the results. The test is administered each afternoon Monday through Thursday and each Saturday morning. Special arrangements can be made for group testing.

For additional information call Sergeant Vouaux at PE 5-8228 or visit the Air Force Recruiting Office at Division Ave., and Bethpage Turnpike in Levittown. Office hours are 8:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. Monday through Friday and 9:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M. Saturdays.

Chiropractors Hear Law Explained

The American Bureau of Chiropractic will have two guest speakers at their next meeting Tuesday, April 23, 8:30 p.m. at the Hicksville Public Library. Dr. Frank L. Crystal, President of the Chiropractic Association of New York will explain the new chiropractic law and the philosophy of chiropractic. Dr. Robert Cerzen of Queens Village will discuss chiropractic and allergies.

BOB ESCHMANN'S doing a sensational job at the crystal-piano-bar in David Huschle's fashionable elegant and beautiful restaurant, Lakeville Road, overlooking Lake Success. This is the same Bob Eschmann that gave us many a delightful night at the late Bradley's in Port Washington. Bob's plays for dinner and supper at Huschle's Country Club Restaurant nightly. Seeing Bob and co-host Chic Farmer working together again allowed us to relax with many happy memories. David Huschle we congratulate you...A man says to himself before he goes out, "What shall I say?" A woman meditates, "What shall I wear?" A columnist, "What shall I write?"....Jacques (Jack) Mann's athletic staff at Woodbury Country Club, Syosset, will consist of several sports champs. He's adding another tennis court too....Mrs. Stan (WOR) Lomax to Bob Eschmann: "The popularity of the automatic dishwasher is due to the fact that most husbands would rather buy one than be one."....And, "The only exercise some people get is jumping at conclusions, running down their friends, side-stepping responsibility and pushing-up their luck." (I'm tired already)....A gourmets observation: "She wore her hair in the current tossed-salad mode."....I like beautiful Helen Applegate's remark, "It's all right to tell a little boy not to cry because crying won't help - but that's not really honest advice to give a little girl." (Read that line again)...Ad in another weekly newspaper: "Dear Sally: O.K., be stubborn, but how do you make the baby's formula? Joe."....(That Joe's having trouble again, poor thing)....News item: "Shah's bride signs contract of divorce if she bears no male child in 3 years." That's Shah Business, doll. The Shah must go on! I wouldn't credit Dick Eschmann with a pun like that even if Harold Applegate wrote it, as he does most of Richard's better material... The busiest medic in NYC on Saturday nights is a young doctor from India. He's at a Harlem hospital emergency ward. Has a stack of sutures, needles and other equipment to stitch up scads of stabbing victims, his colleagues call him "The Tailor" (ouch)....Zsa Zsa's dresses on TV seem more Cone than Gown...Memory Dept: The time I asked singer Doris Day what she thought of Jane Mansfield, she shut me up with, "Why don't you ask me about what I think of Gregory Peck?"....TV Jingle may employ more musicians than live TV shows... Reminder to week-end motorists: Beware of Autoholics... Sinatra plans to do a picture for Alfred Hitchcock. Good, they deserve each other...Noel Coward swears he's older than Marlene Dietrich. What's that got to do with Long Island? Well, he said it at Idlewild. Thanks for reading, I'm going to hear Bob Eschmann play again...If You Please....David H....

Northedge Holds Monthly Meeting

The Northedge School PTA will hold its monthly meeting on Tuesday April 23 at 8 p.m. The purpose of the meeting will be to highlight the school's Science Fair. Parents and visitors will be acquainted with the methods employed in teaching science in our schools in relation to present-day science. The program will be presented by Mr. Herbert Malamed, Mr. Phillip Allopenna and Mr. Lloyd.

Mr. Malamed, science coordinator and physical education director at the Northedge School, has prepared numerous displays of scientific projects made by the students, and has arranged for exhibits from many industrial concerns.

A portion of the student body will be present to demonstrate the student projects.
