Pine Ave School Arbor Day

The planting of a tree climaxed the Arbor Day exercises at the Pine Ave. School on May 1, 1963. The entire school participated in the exercises, and representatives from each class helped with the planting of the tree. Songs and dances highlighted the program.

The tree, a red maple, was donated by the Pine

Ave. PTA. This has been one of the yearly projects of the organization. In order to increase the youngsters' familiarity with a large variety of trees, a different kind of a tree is donated each year. The trees are an aesthetic and practical addition to the school and the playground as they improve its general appearance and supply much needed shade.

Electronic P.O. Machines Coming

The Hicksville-Plainview-Old Bethpage area has been selected for postal zoning by the Post Office Department, in preparation for a revolutionary electronic mail processing system to commence July 1, Hicksville Postmaster Irene L. Murphy announced today.

Postmaster Murphy stressed the urgency of each mail user learning the zone within which he lives, as soon as the zone boundaries are announced, and using the number in his return address. Publishers, in particular, should be advised of the patron's ZIP Code Number.

The new postal zone numbers, when coupled with a three-digit number to be given the post office, will form our ZIP-Code -- a system by which some out-of-town mail deliveries will be sped by as much as 24 hours.

"Use of local postal zone numbers will not only speed your mail, through the national ZIP-Code program," Postmaster Murphy noted, "but will virtually eliminate the possibility of misdirected mail. For example, in our community, many residents use the address Old Bethpage or Bethpage although they are within the Plainview delivery area. These residents understandably identify with the communities named. If they use their ZIP Zone Number there can be no delay in delivery, as has occurred in the past."

Postmaster Murphy revealed that her own local mail experts, with representatives of the N.Y. Regional Office and the Post Office Department headquarters in Washington, have been hard at work mapping out the city from the standpoint of fast and efficient mail delivery, and assigning zone numbers to substations and neighborhoods.

The zone numbers and boundaries for Hicksville will be announced within the next few weeks, Postmaster Murphy assured. These will be published in local newspapers and posted in the Post Office.

Bethpage Legion News

Arobie McCord Post #86 participated in the "Loyalty Day" parade that was held in Farmingdale on Sunday, April 28. The Post's Color Guard and Hicksville realtor Edward H. Werner points to sign outside his real estate office on Old Country Road demanding the impeachment of Earl Warren, Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court. A similar sign put by Werner a block away was knocked down, he said, by the "exponents of free speech."

Why does Werner want Warren impeached? He accuses the Chief Justice of "amending the Constitution by judicial fiat instead of using the means outlined in the Constitution." He also charges that Warren used as the "authority for a decision" a "sociological book written by Gunnar Myrdal, a Swedish socialist."

Werner says Myrdal calls the U. S. Constitution "a crime on the American people" in the book titled, "An American Dilemma."

The Hicksville businessman also charges that in handing down decisions, Warren has "voted 62 out of 65 times in favor of the position advocated by the Communist Party."

Werner admits that no U. S. Supreme Court justice has ever been impeached. He says that under the impeachment procedure outlined in the U. S. Constitution an "indictment" would be handed down in the House and then the justice would be tried in the U. S. Senate.

As a candidate for the Farmingdale Library Board, Werner has been the center of a raging controversy because he wants to ban from the Farmingdale library a book entitled, "The Last Temptation of Christ." He calls the book "anti-Christian, blasphemous, sacrilegious, and obscene."

Last week when Werner sought to have a passage from the book depicting Christ as having relations with Mary Magdalene read over the WABC television station, a moderator questioned the propriety of reading the passage over the air.

According to a Federal Communications Commission spokesman, it is a breach of the Federal Criminal Code for any person within the jurisdiction of the U. S. to "utter any obscene, indecent, or profane language by means of radio communication, showing that the U. S. Government in effect censors what may be read over the airwaves."

Werner lives in North Massapequa. His real estate office is at 160 Old Country Road, Hicksville.

Thinking It Over

by Robert L. Morgan

The voters of Hicksville have made their choices. The budget was approved and one new member has been elected to the school board.

One of the largest turnouts of voters in the history of school elections in Hicksville came to the polls. We were not surprised that a new board member was elected, we had thought that possibly more than one would be elected because there has been a wave of sentiment against the present board.

We were somewhat surprised that the school budget was not defeated. There could have been some cuts made in the one that went through without any problems to the district. At any rate the voters, most of whom are taxpayers, have made their choice and until next year the district will have to go along with this decision.

Let us hope that the new board when it reorganizes will remember that more than 2,000 voters in Hicksville felt that this year's budget was too high and that future decisions to spend money should be tempered with this fact.

Opinions In This Column Are Those Of Writer And Not Necessarily Those Of This Newspaper

My Opinion

By William A. Bruno, Jr., member Hicksville School Board

As I write these words on the eve of another Hicksville budget and School Board election, I cannot, of course, predict the precise outcome. But no matter which way the election goes, of one thing I am absolutely certain: The people of Hicksville will have entered the polling booths this year far better informed than has been the case in many, many years past.

It has always been my impression that a well-informed, wide-awake electorate is an intelligent electorate.

I wish especially to thank Mr. Robert Morgan, editor of the LITMOR Publications, including the Mid-Island Times, for his splendid editorial coverage of the Hicksville School Board campaign this year.

A number of the issues presented in this campaign, aside from the one pitting economy against extravagance, are so disturbing in their implications that they merit further investigation.

Among those calling for further probing, no matter which way this election goes, are:

1. The summer school setup. Inquiry should be made into how come parents are notified that their children are "recommended" for summer school months before the final marks are in.

2. The drop-out rate. Here inquiry should be directed at what can be done to lower the rate and to help potential drop-outs.

In connection with these two matters, the "economy" slate has demanded more help, after regular school hours, for poor or failing students. Perhaps an eight-hour day for teachers is the answer.

On the other hand, can a summer school student learn in six weeks that which he was not apparently able to learn in nine months? And if extra help were provided during the regular school year, would summer school in many cases be necessary at all? Those are questions which should be answered by some Hicksville educator or group of educators, responsible enough to face up to these problems and answer questions like these responsibly.

Many other issues have been raised in this campaign.

There has been a direct abuse of the "privileged and confidential" stamping device.

There is a need for "gripe sessions" at which parents can air complaints freely without fear of rebuff or reprisal.

There is need for rewarding exceptional teachers with extra pay.

There is a need to look into the guidance setup in this district to find out whether it is doing the job it is supposed to do.

There is absolutely no need for secret executive sessions on matters not privileged and confidential as a matter of law. The abuse of this stratagem must be stopped.

Many other matters too numerous to be spelled out here bear investigation in this district. I pledge to do my utmost, within the limits of one man's ability, to look into these matters regardless of who shall have won the Hicksville school election by the time this column gets into print.

Meantime, I sincerely thank all the people of Hicksville for the tremendous interest they have shown in the Hicksville school face this year, as evidenced by the huge group of new registrants.

Deafness From Hardened Bone Requires Operation

By C. A. Dean, M.D.

(Q) "You recently answered a question about head noises possibly being due to otosclerosis. About 12 years ago, I had an intermittent thumping in one ear for several months. I did nothing about it and now I'm almost completely deaf in that ear. Could it possibly be otosclerosis? If so, would an operation help?" Mrs. A.R.

(A) In otosclerosis, the small bones in the ear become hardened and incapable of transmitting sound to the nerve of hearing. The exact cause is unknown, although heredity is suspected. Women appear more susceptible to it. The process usually starts in the 20's or 30's and progresses slowly, starting first in one ear, then spreading to the other. In many cases it seems to progress just so far, then stops. In others, it may progress to complete deafness, if nothing is done for it.

An operation for this disease was devised several years ago. Ever since, refinements in technique have improved results. Plastic replacements for the small bones are now being used, and have been very successful in some cases. The operation is the specific treatment for otosclerosis, so that it should help you if your deafness is due to this. Sometimes, for various reasons, an operation can't be done. In these cases, hearing aids are prescribed but generally are not as effective as the operation.

(Q) "Could you give me some information on glomerulonephritis?" D.D.M.

(A) This is an inflammation of the kidneys, which usually follows as a complication of a streptococcus infection. This is the same thing many people call Bright's disease. It occurs mainly in children and if treated early and properly, recovery is the rule.

American Legion Auxiliary News

By Cynthia Hochbruecker

On Friday, May 17, the Charles Wagner Post #421, American Legion Auxiliary will open their annual Poppy Drive. If you are asked to "wear a Poppy" don't be annoyed but think of some of the following facts:

Poppy Day as a memorial to American war dead and a tribute to disabled servicemen originated after the first World War. The red crepe paper memorial poppies worn throughout the nation on Poppy Day are made by veterans in hospitals and work shops in 40 states. These disabled service men are paid for each hand-made poppy they make and the materials are furnished free by the American Legion Auxiliary in the states where the hospitals are located.

On Poppy Day each year more than 25 million poppies made by disabled veterans are distributed throughout the country under supervision of the American Legion Auxiliary. Approximately 125 thousand volunteer workers from the Auxiliary and other organizations take part in this annual program.

Through the American Legion Auxiliary poppy program more than $300,000 is paid annually to needy and disabled service men and women who make the memorial flowers. All contributions received from Poppy Day go directly to aid disabled war veterans or members of their families.

Poppy Day, an annual memorial to the war dead and disabled veteran, is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. By "wearing a poppy" on Poppy Day each American can honor the sacrifice made by our service men while assisting the living.

40th Anniversary of Bethpage Church

St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Bethpage, N.Y., the Rev. James F. Taylor, Pastor, is completing plans marking the 40th Anniversary of its founding on May 26, 1923. The Rev. August F. Brunn, Pastor of St. Andrew's Lutheran Church, Pittsburg, Pa., has accepted the invitation to preach at the Services on May 26th, on which date he will also address members of the parish at a fellowship supper. Special recognition will be given to the founders and early members of St. Paul's, as well as to the Dorcas Aid, the oldest ladies organization of the Church.

In March 1923 a group of Lutherans met with the late Rev. William Rusch, then Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church of Hicksville, to discuss the establishment of a Lutheran Church in what was then Central Park, L.I., now Bethpage. Since that first meeting, services have been conducted and sessions of Sunday School have been held. By Nov. 25, 1923 the Cornerstone of the present Church was laid, at which Pastor Rusch officiated and at which also the Rev. H. Burgdorf preached. May 31, 1923 the ladies organized themselves as the Dorcas Aid Society of St. Paul's and have served the Church since that time. The Rev. Rusch conducted services and preached along with his duties as Pastor of Trinity until 1928 when The Rev. August F. Brunn came and served as Pastor of St. Paul's from 1928 to 1933. Mr. Henry Schaaf served as the first President of the Congregation and Mr. Edward Sengstacken as first Treasurer, both of whom are still active. Mr. Sengstacken served as Treasurer for 23 years excepting a few years when Mr. George Seitz served.

At the fellowship evening on May 26th, it is planned to have reminiscences of the early days of the history of St. Paul's. All members of the parish have been invited and also former members who have moved elsewhere.

In succeeding months of 1963 recognition will be given to the women, to the men and to the children and youth of St. Paul's. Anniversary celebrations are culminating with a Congregational Dinner on Nov. 3, 1963 at which the President of the Atlantic District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, the Rev. Karl Graesser will speak.

The Anniversary Committee is headed by Messrs. Carl Peller, Charles Auer and Edward Ferguson; assisted by Edward Schaaf and Mesdames: Lola Andreassen, Doris Auer, Evelyn Auer, Edna Kaufman, Charlotte Leonhard, Ellnore Munch and Marilyn Sorensen.

SPORTS

by HOWARD FINNEGAN

Hicksville High baseball got a good shot in the arm from Jim Erwin, Monday, when he pitched a no-hit 4-1 win over Plainedge.

Erwin is the top pitcher on Coach Rich Hogan's staff and has moved the Comets into striking contention for the hard fought Section One pennant.

After a slow start the Orange and Black now rests in first place all but deadlocked with potent MacArthur. The Comets have a three game set with Plainview this coming week and finish with a climatic three game series with MacArthur starting the week of May 20th.

It will wind up the league campaign. It is strictly a toss up who will win the honors.

A 2-1 victory over Bethpage, engineered in a brief span of 30 seconds by Richie Medina, has the buttons popping at HHS.

For a first season team Coach Bill Meyer's Lacrosse team has turned in an excellent record. It has taken some sound thrashing from the major powers, Manhasset and Mincola, both of whom have had the sport for 20 years, but has more than held its own against the field.

In fact the 5 and 3 record has the club in third place. A meeting with Mincola this week could gain a second place finish but the odds were heavily in favor of the County Seat Maroon.

The HHS Golf team came out of a tallspin last week to defeat Sewhanaka 3-2 and Division Ave. 5-4. Previous to that the mark had been 1-5 on the season.

Competing on the golf squad are Bill Anderson, Len Erich, Robert Griffin, Wade Laremore, Shelding Mensin, Robert Mittendorf, Ray Nelson, John Manlec and James Carlson.

1963 Hicksville High Football slate contains regular six league foes plus Island Trees and Division Ave. There will not be a Thanksgiving Day contest this year since HHS Director Chet Jaworski has ruled it falls too late in the month. Last meeting between Division, which is loaded this year and Comets ended 26-25. Comets up.

Tobay School Fashion Show

Tobay Day School will be holding a luncheon and fashion show Wednesday, May 15, 12:30 PM, at B. Altmann's, Manhasset. Chairmanship of the fashion show, which has become an annual event, rests this year with the Tobay Board who are: Mrs. Sheldon Prager, president; Mrs. John Gilliar, vice president; Mrs. Jerome Greenberg, secretary; Mrs. Herbert Koppelman, treasurer; and Mrs. Sid Davis, Mrs. Bernard Driscoll, Mrs. Douglas Lloyd, Mrs. Seymour Howard, Mrs. Lawrence Schaffel, and Mrs. Harold Wagner, committee chairmen. Membership of the board represents, as does the membership of the school, Syosset, East Norwich, Jericho, and Oyster Bay.

Models for the show will be Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Gilliar, Mrs. Eugene Steinberg, Mrs. Warren Ward, and Mrs. Lawrence Silver. Tickets are available from Mrs. Davis at WA 2-5849.

Tobay is a non-profit, cooperative nursery school located at 83 Muttontown Road, Syosset. Registration for 1963-64 is open. For information call Mrs. Praeger, WA 1-1079.

Why I'm Not Talking Lately.
By Edward J. Van Allen

Some people dread walking under ladders, cringe at the mere sight of black cats, or blanch at the very thought of being abroad on Friday the 13th.

Not me. Such minor superstitions don't shake me one wit. I still have my own pet phobia, though, which you won't find in any of the medical dictionaries listing the various kinds to which man falls heir. It's a malady sometimes known as "hoof-in-mouth disease."

I don't know what it is, but everytime I open my big fat maw to emit what I think are pearls of wisdom, I tempt the very fates to play havoc with the entire family.

Take last winter. Everything was serene. Sickness had delayed its seasonal onslaught. The snows hadn't come. The weather was, in fact, extremely cooperative.

Was I satisfied with that idyllic state of affairs? Oh, no. I had to bray about it.

"I think this suburban life with its oceans of fresh air is beginning to agree with us," said I to the wife. "We're probably among the healthiest people in suburbia."

"You always say that and then something happens," she answered with a frown.

She was right, too. Flu, pneumonia, flu, tonsillitis, and more flu struck in that order.

Family finances are another one of my bugaboos. All I have to do is remark how affluent we are at one particular period of the year, and then we're sure to be "taken to the cleaners" by foul circumstance, if not fell fate.

Well do I recollect the time I smiled practically from ear to ear before announcing gleefully: "We're not only in the black right now; we have a tidy sum saved."

Next day the washing machine gasped for one electrifying moment and then threw in the towel altogether. Later, when I fought valiantly if unsuccessfully to fix it, I blew a fuse and so did the electrical circuit.

Another time when I had waxed exultant over family finances, the car conked out and the dryer dried up my propensity for bragging about money matters by short circuiting itself and starting a very smoky, if unflamy fire.

"Do me a favor," said the wife. "Don't boast about our good fortune when we happen to hit a period of momentary financial stability. You're the greatest jinx I've seen."

"All right, dear," I said glumly. "Mum's the word from now on."

True to my promise, I was mummy than a mummy with laryngitis for weeks on end. Until the day, that is, when a little reflection on the meagerness of our repair bills on the house we have lived in for 15 years caused my spirits to pyramid.

"You know," I said elatedly, "we've spent next to nothing in 15 years on this old domicile. Pretty good, I say."

Maybe the bugs that eat houses overheard that remark and didn't like it. At any rate, we found some weeks later that they were trying to chew us out -- of house and home, that is.

Now the exterminator is on an annual retainer.

Chastened by that experience, I refused to be euphoric for months afterward. But when income tax time rolled around and I determined that the revenuers owed me money, I couldn't keep my ebullient spirits in check.

Strutting about the living room like a peacock, I proudly proclaimed: "Wife of my heart, not only do we not have to pay more tax this year; the government actually owes us $13.91. Imagine getting all that money back to squander on luxuries!"

I should know better than to unzip my lip in that fashion. About a month later, I got a letter from the Collector of Internal Revenue advising me rather curtly that through an error in arithmetic on my part, not only was I not entitled to a refund; I actually owed the government an additional $130.91.

The letter didn't add that I should remit promptly to keep the government from imminent collapse. But somehow the implication was inescapable that without my $130.91, the nation couldn't possibly survive.

So I sent it off post-haste. And with it went all hope of the $13.91 spurge I had been girding myself for.

Even relatively speaking, my gloatings oftentimes get me in trouble. Last summer I remarked, "Boy, are we lucky! Uncle Joe hasn't been around for months."

Three days later, Uncle Joe moved in, bag and baggage, for a "one-day" stay that lasted six months.

I sometimes remind myself of the attorney who keeps on arguing after the judge has ruled in his favor. Those fruit trees that I have planted all around the yard over my wife's objections will give you a clue as to what I mean.

There have been years when my "orchard" has been the talk of the neighborhood because of the bumper crop of delectable peaches, apples, and pears it has yielded.

Yet, do I know enough to keep my tongue tied and my lips buttoned when Nature smiles at me? Absolutely not. Just last year I said cockily to my opposite number: "You might as well break out canning equipment, dear; We're going to need it again this year."

That was all I had to say. The June drop, hurricanic winds, and hordes and hordes of voracious insects taught me that a sometimes bounteous Nature can frown as well as smile upon her own handiwork.

Maybe I am; as my wife claims, a born Jonah who should never prognosticate about anything. But I still live in hope that my hoodoo qualities can be turned into an asset.

I could, for instance, become a weather man whose predictions, if taken completely in reverse, would be 100 percent right because I'm always dead wrong about the weather.

If I say it's going to rain, the sun shines brightly all day. But if I say, "Gee, it hasn't snowed in months," my hearers can bank on the fact that a snowfall of 24 inches or better will start drifting earthward within hours.

My prognostications in reverse could be used to advantage in other ways. Just last week, I was invited to address the local businessmen's association a month from now. Although I hate to break my self-imposed silence, perhaps I should, just this once.

I know the proper approach. If I should gloomily predict a devastating depression within months, the whole country would be thankful to me for the period of booming prosperity that would be sure to follow.

There aren't many men, you'll agree, who could single-handedly work wonders like that.

On the other hand, maybe golden silence is the best policy for a "silver-tongued" prattler like me who has brass enough to talk when he shouldn't. I often ask myself why I don't emulate a former classmate of mine who was adored by everybody simply because he rarely ever said a word for or against anybody or anything. He probably knew, even then, that a discreet silence adds up to money in the bank.

So now I'm even throwing away that literature from the school that teaches one to become an "accomplished conversationalist who can hold his own in any social gathering."

With my linguistic luck, a course like that would only plunge me into one quandry after another.

As a matter of fact, I'm just not talking to anybody nowadays. If you want to "converse" with me, you'll just have to sit down and write me a letter. Don't phone unless you happen to be a monologist.

I don't know about you, but I just can't afford any more costly conversation.

Communion Mass

The Catholic Daughters of America, Court Queen of Angels, #869 will hold a Communion Mass and Luncheon on Saturday, May 11th at St. Ignatius Church, Hicksville.

The Mass will be at 11 AM and the Luncheon will follow at the Viennese Coach. An interesting program is planned.

Kunz Meets In Denver

Some 5000 school board members from all sections of the nation, including George W. Kunz of Hicksville, are meeting in Denver for the 23rd Annual Convention of the National School Boards Association.

Theme of this year's meeting is: "School Boards In A Changing Society" and speakers are slated to cover the full range of school problems from keeping abreast of the latest developments in teaching techniques and school design to finding adequate financial resources to pay the skyrocketing bills for modern education.

The Convention opened last night with NSBA President Cyrus M. Higley of Norwich, N.Y., telling board members they live in a world dominated by change and growth. In describing the educational change that is taking place, Higley said: "The powerful force of national goals has already reshaped the curriculum of the 1960's so that it bears little resemblance to what we knew in the years immediately following World War II. And from all the evidence, it seems clear that the momentum of change has just begun to build. The latter years of this decade will show us a far different America, than we were familiar with just a few years ago. This will be reflected in our schools as much as in any other aspect of our society."

"Which comes first, the mortgage or the house?"
