Lower Taxes Predicted For Town Of O.B. Homeowners

Supervisor Thomas R. Pynchon today predicted that the overall tax levy for homeowners and taxpayers of the Town of Oyster Bay will be lower in 1964 than in the previous year.

Pynchon's forecast of lower tax bills for the homeowners came as a result of the budgetary review now being conducted by the Town Board and the Town Financial Director, Comptroller Joseph Macedonio.

"While it is too early to develop exactly the precise amount of the overall tax reduction," Pynchon said, "I can at this time assure homeowners and taxpayers of the Town, based on our preliminary budget evaluations, that (1) careful fiscal programming over the past 8 months will enable us to reduce taxes, and (2) that there will be no increase in the general Town administrative tax of 19 1/2 cents per hundred dollars assessed

ERIC D. HOKENBERG, of 181 Floral Ave., Plainview, who was graduated from Norwich University here in June, has been named to the Dean's list for his academic standing in the second semester of his senior year.

Eric, who was a 1959 graduate of Ft. Hamilton high school, was a liberal arts major in history at the military college. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hokenberg.

	Sept. 7, 1962	Sept. 7, 1963
Elementary	7,430	7,099

GOP Regulars Easily Fend Off Insurgents

The insurgent drive to unseat the three incumbent Town Councilmen in the Township of Oyster Bay GOP primaries fizzled badly last week. As election returns came in the trend was an 8 to one margin for the three incumbents, Ed Ocker, Carl Grunewald and Ed Poulos. They won out over insurgents Musso, Levy and Bailey. Totals were as follows: Ocker 9630, Poulos 9,250, Grunewald 8453; Musso 2131, Levy 984, Bally 1427.

Former Hicksville leader Philip Robinson lost his committeeman post in the 39th District along with Bailey to Flannery and Croucley. The vote was 92-162 in the Robinson, Flannery fight and 149 to 89 in the Bailey-Croucley race.

In the 80th Dist. William Bruno lost his committee post to Wesnofske and Bello and Truhan lost to Spadaro.

In the 90th Dist. of Syosset, Lee beat Jordan and Senluk topped Howard in close committee races.

SUPERVISOR THOMAS R. PYNCHON (l.) and Town Financial Director, Comptroller Joseph Macedonio review the Town's 1964 budgetary requirements. Pynchon predicted that the overall Town tax bills will be lower in 1964 and that the line will be held on the Town administrative tax rate. Pynchon assured homeowners and taxpayers that a lower tax levy would not result in curtailment of essential services.

FIRST IN LINE for the sale of the new Girl Scout Handbooks at the Girl Scout Shop in Farmingdale's New Children's Shop was 10 year old Patricia Reism of Troop 157. Patricia had the honor of being waited on by Mrs. Helen Yustin, manager of the New Children's Shop, and Mrs. Alphons Westee, Jr., Program Chairman of Mid-Island Council Girl Scouts. Mrs. Westee will affix a special book plate which signifies that Patricia has bought her handbook during the first week of sale. The new Girl Scout Handbooks correspond to the four newly established age levels of Girl Scouting - Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior.

SPECIAL

Hidden Persuaders Out Of Hiding

By Paul Harvey

How about that? Radio-television editorializing is not going to be "investigated" by Congress. There will be "no legislation at all this year," according to the Chairman of the committee involved.

But his reason is what's significant: "We just don't have the time."

In other words, as soon as our pre-occupied Congressmen get "the time," they are going to investigate whether broadcasters are "fairly presenting all sides of controversial issues."

So the word's gone through the industry that "the heat's off."

When word first came down from Capitol Hill that Congress was concerning itself with this subject, I thought I noticed a conspicuous effort by many broadcasters to "cover themselves" with at least a smidgin of conservative comment.

Like a sprinkling of parsley garnish to disguise the smell of bad eggs.

Anyway, now, as I say, the heat's off. The vast communications industry again may "tilt" without trepidation.

Infinitely more ominous than the acknowledged editorializing on TV and radio is the "slanting" of non-news programs.

The TV courtroom dramas have imitated Hollywood's penchant for giving every production some "social significance."

Whodunits, which heretofore concerned themselves with the detection and apprehension of criminals, now openly mobilize the viewers' emotions for or against controversial issues.

It is not likely a happenstance that "everything must have a message" these days.

"Somebody's philosophy," says AP critic Cynthia Lowry, "is buried somewhere in almost every drama."

Evaluating one such program, "The Defenders," she says, "On subjects ranging from illegal operations to academic freedom there is a regrettable tendency to get preachy."

The producer of that particular program replied that "drama must say something" and that his will continue to deal with "themes of significance."

Another such program recently dealt with the issues of "book burning" and "pornography" as if they were the same.

The telecast succeeded in thoroughly discrediting an "anti-pornography committee" of citizens as "book burners," citing such examples as "Gulliver's Travels," thus thoroughly confusing the two issues. "Sam Benedict" ended up defending pornography!

Even the so-called "adult westerns" are sometimes similarly inclined to involve themselves in selling some "cause."

If Congress concerns itself with whether there is a balance of editorial emphasis in news programs, what of the more subtle influence of these fiction writers who disguise propaganda as entertainment?

They may use all the emotionalism of a totally imaginary situation to influence your opinions.

Actually, I have detected an increased degree of intellectual integrity around our newsrooms recent years. But some of these literary inventions which presume to influence feelings with fiction place a dangerous device in potentially irresponsible hands.

The Bonds you own are better than ever, too

The new 3½% rate means your savings grow faster than before with U.S. Savings Bonds. $3 becomes $4, or $3,000 becomes $4,000 in just seven years, nine months. This applies to all Series E Bonds bought since June 1, 1959.

Then, all older Bonds, both Series E and H, pay more now—an extra ½% from June 1 on, when held to maturity.

And, all Series E Bonds carry a new 10-year extension privilege. This means your Bonds will keep earning liberal interest automatically after maturity.

These three new cash benefits make today's U.S. Savings Bonds the finest in history. They make the ones you own now better, too.

More advantages of U.S. Savings Bonds

You can save automatically. Just tell your company how much to deduct every payday for Bonds, and your Bonds will be delivered to you. This way you can't forget to save. And, remember, the money you don't touch can't slip through your fingers.

You can get your money, with interest, when you need it. Your Bonds are a ready reserve to use anytime you wish. But, it pays well to hold them.

Your savings can't be lost or stolen. The U.S. Government guarantees to replace your Bonds, free, if anything ever happens to them.

You save more than money. The Bonds you buy help keep the peace because peace costs money. Money for better education, new scientific research, greater military strength. And the money you save helps strengthen our nation's economy which depends on the financial strength of individuals to keep it sound.

Start saving with U.S. Savings Bonds today. You'll save more than money.

VICTORY CANDIDATES and party leaders are shown getting the word from the enrolled voters on Primary night. Left to right are the three incumbent Oyster Bay Town Councilmen candidates for re-election, A. Carl Grunewald of Hicksville, Edward J. Poulos of Syosset and Edmund A. Ocker of Plainview; Supervisor Thomas R. Pynchon, all for re-election on November 5; Hicksville Republican Leader Francis J. Anderson and Oyster Bay Town Leader C. Bruce Pearsall, all pleased at the overwhelming vote in their favor.

Thinking It Over

by Robert L. Morgan

The local GOP came through in flying colors last week when three insurgents tried to get the nominations for the Town Board. The Republicans look as though they are headed for some tough action this year and their machine is in good working order, particularly in Hicksville. More than 2500 votes were cast in Hicksville in this election and most of them went to the party's regular nominees. The fight was a small test for County Clerk Francis Anderson of Hicksville who is now the mainstay in the local organization. Up until this time it had always been Anderson and someone else as the leader, but this time it was just Anderson and he came through big.

William Levitt of local Levittown fame is going to gain some fame in Puerto Rico with a Levittown development in San Juan. On a visit to Puerto Rico a few days ago we were surprised to see the models for the development. Unlike the Cape Cods of Long Island, the houses are in Moorish and Spanish designs. They don't feature wide picture windows but large shutter doors leading to balconies. And tops among colors available are red, pink and light green. The price range is close to the original Levittown here between $8,000 and $15,000. There is at last a growing middle class in Puerto Rico and it is expected that Bill Levitt will once again have a big success on his hands.

Liver Cirrhosis Patients Should Avoid Alcohol

By C. A. Dean, M.D.

(Q) "I am 47 years old. Two years ago I was hospitalized after an auto accident. I was told I had cirrhosis of the liver. Recently you mentioned that there are few if any early signs. I would like to know what are the late signs. Perhaps it's later than I think."

Mr. C.I.
(A) The later signs of liver cirrhosis are those of liver failure. They develop very gradually and are often vague in nature. Stomach complaints such as loss of appetite, gas, nausea, soreness and weight loss are early-late symptoms. In severe cirrhosis the symptoms are fever, extreme weight loss, yellow jaundice and fluid in the abdomen. It is possible you do not have a serious case of cirrhosis and also that it won't get worse. I would suggest a high protein diet and little or no alcoholic beverages.

(Q) "No matter what I eat or drink I get terrific heart burn, some vomiting, pain below my right ribs, a back ache and also a lot of gas. Many x-rays have been taken. A poor functioning gall bladder, sluggish colon and a healed stomach ulcer were all that was found. I am on ulcer treatment."

H.M.L.
(A) From your x-ray reports an operation may not be advised although this often depends upon the surgeon's opinion of the x-ray results. My advice for the present is for your doctor to try different ulcer medicines, those that will make the mouth a little dry.

MEDITORIAL FLASH -- Danger in using hair sprays: Some hair sprays are highly flammable and should not be used around flames or while smoking. The National Safety Council reported a case of a woman who died of burns suffered from the ignition of hair spray vapors.

The inhalation of hair spray may also be dangerous. The accumulation of chemicals in the lungs, known as thesaurosis, has resulted from repeated and prolonged exposure to hair spray fumes. Thus -- when you use hair sprays, don't inhale the mist.

Worldwide Decadence

By Russell Kirk

According to the statistics of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, rates of crime, vandalism, and juvenile delinquency have been rising steadily in this country since the Second World War. Never were our city streets so unsafe: Dodge City, or Abilene, or Tombstone, in the wild and woolly days of the West, were positively tranquil, compared with sections of many of our great cities today.

Yet it will not do to look upon this as a phenomenon wholly American. The same troubles occur in the prosperous countries of northern Europe -- in welfare-state Sweden, or in changing Britain. And it is especially interesting to find that Soviet Russia and her satellites are similarly embarrassed by criminals, rowdies, and lawless youth.

Soviet newspapers, for the past several years, have lamented the increase of violent crime, fraud, drunkenness, rape, and wanton destruction in the Soviet Union. Gangs of youths between 14 and 18 years of age are the most active offenders. Finding the regular police unable to cope with these afflictions, in many places the Soviet regime created volunteer auxiliary police forces, armed with clubs; but again and again these volunteer organizations proved to be vigilantes in the bad sense of the word, establishing local tyrannies and themselves forming criminal rings.

Some social maladies which transcend political boundaries and even political doctrines, apparently, are at work in our age. The late C.E.M. Joad defined "decadence" as "The loss of an object." When a man has lost any aim in life, he becomes decadent; and this is as true of great nations. The material prosperity of the United States, Soviet Russia, Great Britain and Sweden, for instance, never was equalled in any previous age of these nations; and yet men and women do not improve in their conduct. The Marxists and other radicals have contended that if only mankind would rid itself of private property, the profit motive, religion, and old political institutions, then crime and depravity would vanish; for, according to the Communists, these social ills are produced merely by "capitalism," "feudalism," and other social systems.

But the distressing experience of the Soviet states and of other socialistic and welfare-state regimes has given the lie to this theory. Collectivistic social systems are no more crime-free than are "capitalistic" states. One must look beyond ideology for the causes.

One serious cause of this decadence, very probably, is the increasing mechanization and standardization of production, in both "capitalistic" and "collectivistic" economies. Though modern industrial methods bring more goods and services, and increased leisure (or idleness), they also tend to make work routine, boring, and unsatisfying. It is worth noting that states little industrialized, like Ireland and Portugal, have not much suffered from an increase of crime and delinquency.

We need to restore purpose and pride of accomplishment to our methods of work. "We must find our happiness in work," said Irving Babbitt, "or not at all." The alternative is decadence.

Pipeline of Life

Keep your mind on the road, not on your troubles. Don't worry about business, the family, or what may happen tomorrow. Keep alert to what's happening now. Good driving's a full-time job requiring an alert mind and body. If you must worry, do it in your leisure time.

WHEN YOU DRIVE...

Think now, complain later. "Mad" at someone or something? Turn it off when you turn your ignition on. Anger, no matter who or what it's directed at, can color your whole driving attitude, making you a menace to other motorists on the road.

THINK

Think wise... think cagey... think careful, cautious, cheerful, courteous driving. Good driving is the responsibility of every motorist. A cheerful attitude toward others on the road will get you to your destination more relaxed than if you find fault with every driver along the way. Think careful driving when you're behind the wheel. And, when you think of protection against the hazards of other not-so-careful drivers, think of State Farm; the careful driver's insurance company.

Longer School Year Spells More $$ For Education

The public educationists are again talking up a longer school year to disrupt the lives of children and parents in the summertime.

Pretty soon a parent will have to apply to the schools for permission to take a vacation, if the educationists have their way.

The other side effects of a longer school year are bound to be numerous. Teachers constantly yelling for more dough, more dough, more dough will be screaming louder than ever if they have to work 11 or 12 months a year in stead of about nine, as at present.

Many schools are veritable hotboxes. So air-conditioning -- at astronomical cost, naturally -- will inevitably have to be installed in many schools.

It is nice to have the minions of government pre-plan citizens' lives from the cradle to the grave. That way, no citizen need bother to learn to think for himself.

Yet, somehow or other, there are some free and independent Americans who don't like to have the public buck gorgers plan every living, breathing, waking moment of their lives for them.

Thus, just as New York City became an undesirable place to live and rear children, causing tens of thousands to retreat to the suburbs, New York State, if the social planners of public education's hierarchy and others of the same stripe have their way, will likewise become an offensive place in which to live and rear children.

But why should we let the educationists, who look down their long noses at common folk like us, dictate not only when children, but their parents too shall have vacations?

It's time that Americans reared in what is supposed to be a democratic tradition asserted themselves. Write to your local legislators and demand not a longer school year, but a longer school day: six hours instead of five hours.

In that way, children will get the equivalent of 40 additional school days a year. And teachers who are always clamoring for more dough, more dough, more dough -- and usually winding up by getting it -- will have to work a little harder for their keep.

If you want to write a letter to your legislator, just clip this part of this column and mail it off to him. Your local legislators are State Senator Henry M. Curran, 41 Florence Street, Oyster Bay, and State Assemblyman, Edwin J. Fehrenbach, 14 Manchester Drive, Bethpage.

Oddments and Endments

It gives one a sense of vindication sometimes to see many of the ideas he has championed ultimately take hold.

I have long advocated, in print, the establishment of a county water system. And now Palmer Farrington, Hempstead Town Presiding Supervisor, has called for the county to take over six privately owned water companies whose service to the public has caused much public rancor as well as dissatisfaction.

Still, though I have plugged for a county water system, the idea is not completely without danger to the public welfare. For years ago, I showed that the Town of Hempstead was itself gouging the public by overcharging water users in the Bowling Green District of East Meadow for water the Town bought from the Westbury Water District. Through its little system of taxpayer-gouging, the Town had piled up a surplus from the sale of water to all Town-operated districts of $600,000.

I developed that under the State Constitution a municipality could return such overcharges to the public. But the political buck squeezers would have none of that. Instead, they lowered the Bowling Green water rate by ten cents a thousand gallons and lowered East Meadow's and Uniondale's water rates too, saving the people of those three districts probably about $100,000 a year.

If the county should finally equalize water rates in Nassau by establishing a county-wide water system -- and eventually it will have to, as even congenitally astigmatic politicians can now see -- the public should be wary that politicians don't start raking in huge profits at public expense. Water, a necessity of life, should be provided the public at cost.

The people of this county have been rooked long enough by being overcharged for water. They should demand nothing less than honest service by politicians honestly interested in the public welfare...

That decision by County Judge Albert Oppido that it was wrong for a policeman to ticket a woman whose car failed to yield the right of way when the cop's car was barreling along on an emergency call at a reported 75 miles an hour is a good one. (The resultant collision put both in the hospital.)

Many, many columns ago I pointed out that the operators of emergency vehicles on "errands of mercy" are under the same duty as is the ordinary citizen to use care and caution in driving motor vehicles.

That common-sense rule applies to fire trucks, police cars, and even ambulances, as well as other emergency vehicles.

It is at best a pure excuse to say, "We have a right to kill because we're on an emergency..."

Single Set Sponsors Dance

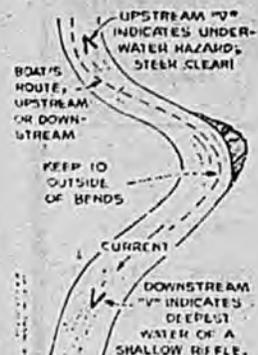

Young men and women are invited to a dance Sunday evening sponsored by The Single Set of the Israel Community Center, Levittown.

Open to unmarried adults ages 18 to 25, the dance will feature music by the Four Dimensions and begins at 9 p.m. Two dollars per person will be charged.

Dance chairman Linda Diamond, 24 Joseph Ave., Bethpage, hopes that those who come will join The Single Set, a social organization "for those of us who want a common meeting place for people in our age group. As the group grows we will begin to branch out from purely social activities to participation in community service projects."

Troop 378 Camp Weekend

The Boy Scouts of Troop 378, Hicksville, home based at Fork Lane School in Hicksville, will have a father and son week end at Camp Wauwanox on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 4, 5 and 6. This happy, uninhibited entourage will sail forth from home base on this exciting, daring adventure on Friday evening. This astounding exploit will earn a special badge for the father and one for his son, or adopted son for that week end. There will be a rip roaring social hour Saturday night at the Council House for the adults only. Father will sleep in a good, rugged he-man lean-to; son will sleep in a sturdy tent. The cost of all this never-to-be-forgotten mish-mash is $1.00 per couple. (registration fee) plus the cost of food for the week end. Reservations for this happy time must be received by Mr. Neal Gallo, Scoutmaster, 23 Pewter Lane, Hicksville, NY 6-9276, no later than Wednesday, September 11. Phone now!

Bruce Pearsall, Oyster Bay Town Republican Chairman, today said he considered the primary fight between local candidates "a healthy function of politics as it gave all Republicans an opportunity to examine the primary candidates' qualifications for office before casting their ballots.

"The voters have now made their selection," Pearsall said, "and have chosen the most experienced and qualified candidates to seek office as incumbents under the Republican Party banner, and to continue their fine work on the Town Board in behalf of the people of the Town of Oyster Bay.

"I wish to express my warm thanks to all those who participated in this primary and assure them that the Republican Party team, led by Supervisor Thomas R. Pynchon, will carry on a positive and progressive campaign that will result in a thorough defeat of the Democrats in November.

"The Democrat Leader of the Town of Oyster Bay has unwittingly revealed in his statements that his party is committed to the philosophy of citification of the suburbs. In my view and those of the members of the Town Board, this Democrat program would totally wreck our suburban life. I am confident that the Republicans, independents and many Democrats will reject this scheme to turn the Town of Oyster Bay into a city, complete with high rise apartments, and this will result in a resounding victory for Supervisor Pynchon and his running-mates in November."

Beverly Ann Dinkel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving F. Dinkel of Huntington, became engaged to John Edward Russi, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wm. Russi of Stamford, Conn. and East Quogue.

Both Miss Dinkel and Mr. Russi are graduates of Suffolk College. Mr. Russi is now attending the University of Bridgeport.

MRS. JANE STEAD, of 24 Corona Drive, Bethpage, an Oyster Bay Town Democratic Organization volunteer, takes information in the first of planned 14 telephone surveys on the people's reaction to legalized off track betting. Plainview, the first community polled indicated 78% of the families called favored the move as a method of easing the homeowner's tax burden.

Fall Workshops For Teenagers

Teenagers who want to paint, design costumes, dance, act, or sing folk songs can do so in workshops beginning the week of September 16, at Art Forms Unlimited, 111 Levittown Parkway, Hicksville.

For aspiring artists there will be such workshops as Portraiture in Oils, Oil Painting From Model, Figure Drawing From Life, Exploring Different Media, Basic Drawing and Composition, Layout and Lettering, and Poetry and Prose Illustration.

For young girls with a flair for fashion there is the class Costume Design. For those interested in woodcuts, lithographs, etching and silk screen printing, there is the workshop Basic Graphic Techniques, taught by the noted and gifted artist, Stanley Kaplan. And for those who want to learn sculpture, a workshop will be taught by the prize-winning artist, Bronka Stern.

The Acting Workshop is planned specifically to meet students' interests. Emphasis will also be placed on the fundamentals of acting including body movement, speech, and analysis of characters and situations. Dance for Teens offers a blend of modern, ballet and jazz techniques as well as movement, poise, and that all-important physical fitness.

With the recent cross-country interest in folk singing, the workshop Fundamentals of Folk Singing has become popular with teenagers. Words, tunes and interpretation are all a part of this bucolic art, and the basic cords played on guitars and ukeles will be taught those who want to learn to accompany themselves.

Registration is Monday through Saturday between the hours of 10:00 AM to 6:00 PM and continues through September 14. On Thursday and Friday registration will extend into the evening-until 9:00 PM.

For more information contact Emily Blenenfeld or Shirley Schumacher at GE 3-6230.

Who buys more Savings Bonds?

As statistical-minded as we are today, the Treasury Department can't answer that question.

The Treasury does know that U. S. Savings Bonds are owned by tens of millions of families. So it might be safe to assume that people in every walk of life belong to this "savings club."

This is a happy fact for the United States, and for the free peoples of the earth. For Savings Bond dollars are playing an important role today in the making of history.

This $16 billion reserve in the government's hands is working vigorously today to help our country in the major struggle to defend freedom.

At the same time, Savings Bonds help build your personal purchasing power by paying good interest and providing a method of saving that's unconditionally safe and readily cashable. And the higher your purchasing power, the better it speaks for our system.

It all adds up to one of the best ways you can save money and at the same time help your country. Start buying Bonds next payday—through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or from any bank—and see if you don't feel pretty good about it.

Quick facts about U. S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, stolen or destroyed
- You can get your money anytime
- You can save automatically on Payroll Savings

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

If You Please

By Peter Pettibone

Last winter a Princeton University student was very short of cash. Since it was only the third of the month, he didn't dare ask his parents for more money. The only solution was to sell something. So the next issue of the Princetonian Weekly carried the following ad: "For sale: One good-looking sport coat $25, size 41, a superior coat, and I need money. Apply J. H. G. 312 Walker Hall." Two days later a special delivery letter arrived from Garden City, containing the coat ad, a check for $25 and the terse comment: "I'll buy the dern coat, Love Mother."...A Nassau teacher annoyed with her clock watching students, covered the clock with cardboard on which was lettered: "Time Will Pass. Will You?"...Bet you didn't know that during the past eight years, double-ring weddings have increased from 15 to 80 percent of all weddings in this country. Vignette that's true: "One Saturday afternoon while shopping in a large Roosevelt field department store I noticed a young girl holding a piece of dress goods in front of her as she walked gracefully to and from. Sensing my interest, she asked, "Would you help me decide between these two materials? I'm not so much concerned with the appearance as with the SOUND it makes." "In that case, take the taffeta," I volunteered, wondering meanwhile why anyone would care about the sound a dress made. "You see," she explained softly in answer to my unspoken question, "it's for my wedding dress. My husband-to-be is blind and I want him to hear me when I come walking down the aisle." That's not all I learned of this wonderful girl. I checked it out to learn that the two fell in love while in college. He lost his sight in an auto accident, three days before graduation. SO THINGS COULD BE WORSE FOR YOU, couldn't they?.....A barber arrived at the shop very late, and his boss asked for an explanation. "I was shaving myself," said the barber, "and before I realized it I talked myself into a haircut and a shampoo."...In another weekly news story: "Federal authorities revealed that Staley had been married five times in the past ten years and has been in trouble several times before,"...& "The 5th grade chorus sang, 'Nobody knows the Trouble I've Been,'...&: "The Rev. Hammond was being congratulated on being able to get his parish plastered."...Church bulletin: "Come In and Have Your Faith Lifted."...Club House mixologists, Stanley says that aviation will not really be safe until they do away with the ride to the airport....At Country Club Restaurant, Lake Success, pianist Bob Eschmann said he ran into a doctor friend who was holding his head between his hands and groaning: "I've got to see a psychiatrist!" "But you're a psychiatrist, Doc," said Bob. "I know" was the retort, "but I change too much!"...Not again Bob...If You Please.....
