Mahrer (left) of 172 Brittle Lane, Hicksville, president of the Roosevelt Field Lions Club. The plaque was for four years of faithful service as treasurer of the club. He served from 1959 to 1963. Mr. Ashfield is assistant vice president of the Franklin National Bank at 600 Old Country Road, Garden City, in the Franklin Bldg. (where Ben Franklin holds forth on the lawn in bronze). Mr. Mahrer is a lawyer with Leonard W. Hall's law firm at 600 Old Country Road. The Roosevelt Field Lions Club meets twice a month at the Sky Club at Roosevelt field.

Holy Family Over Goal

Holy Family, Hicksville, the Right Reverend Monsignor Martin O'Dea, Pastor, is the second parish in the local region and the seventeenth parish in the Diocese to surpass its parish quota for the Diocese of Rockville Centre High School Building Fund Campaign.

The parish topped its $325,000 goal with a report of $326,110 in pledges. Mr. Julius P. Taubman is general chairman of the parish campaign committee. His associate chairmen are Mr. Roger Hallenbeck and Mr. Robert Foget.

Mrs. Ann Beliveau and Mrs. Elizabeth Breen are serving as executive secretaries for the campaign.

First parish in the local region to achieve victory was St. Killian, Farmingdale.

Local Fortune Given To Finder

The $89,000 that bulldozer operator Stephen Fox, 43, turned up more than three years ago when he was clearing a tract of land in Hicksville, was finally whacked up by Nassau Supreme Court Justice Paul Widlitz yesterday.

The court gave a two-thirds share, $59,333 and change, to Fox, who lives in Ronkonkoma with his wife and two children.

American Mill Works, which owned the land later built a plant on it, got half of the remaining $29,666, along with Fred Gouse of Hicksville who sold the land to AMW.

Johnnie Lee Macfadden, widow of publisher Bernarr Macfadden wandered into the case somewhere along the line and claimed the money on the ground that Macfadden used to take long walks, when they lived in nearby Jericho, and bury money in odd places.

The fortune in 10,20,50 and 100-dollar bills was wrapped in brown paper and placed in plastic bundles in a .50 caliber ammunition box measuring 18x20x10 inches. The money was not old, but an intensive investigation by police was unable to determine ownership.

Clothing Drive For Needy

The Mid Island Plaza Merchants Association is sponsoring a drive for the clothing for needy families in cooperation with the Hicksville Kiwanis Club and the Hicksville High School Key Club. The store opposite the "Santa House" on the Center Mall next to Malcolm-Smith, Ltd. will be open for deposit of new and used clothing and toys in good condition. Members of the Kiwanis Club and the Key Club will man the store after school hours daily until Christmas. Friday and Saturday the store will be open all day. Won't you check your closets now and deposit any of this clothing to provide needy families in the true expression of the Christmas spirit?

Orphans Get Local Treat

On Sunday, December 22, Holiday Manor in Bethpage will play host to over 400 underprivileged and orphaned children. The catering establishment has arranged with the Massapequa Elks, the Mid-Island Knights of Pythias, and the Knights of Columbus to bring the children to the gala Christmas party.

Warren Spellman, president of Holiday Manor, said that the children will all have the opportunity to meet Santa Claus and enjoy a day of fun and entertainment. Gifts will be distributed and the children will be treated to candy, cake, ice cream and milk.

The festivities begin at two o'clock and will continue until five p.m. Mr. Spellman has promised many surprises including guest celebrities and carol singers. He said "It is our wish to make this Holiday Season just a little happier for those less fortunate than ourselves. Being the father of eleven children, I am well aware of the importance of sustaining the faith of the young ones. It is vitally necessary that we show them we do care."

New Dates

The regular monthly meeting of the Bethpage Board of Education for December has been scheduled for Monday, December 30, 1963 instead of December 31, due to the holidays.

The regular monthly meeting for January will be held on the usual last Tuesday of the month.

Thinking It Over

by Robert L. Morgan

While the death of President Kennedy has been stretched and bulged in every direction to fit everyone's motives—from pressing to push-through-legislation to an unbelievable attack on anyone who dares to disagree with the present administration, the most obvious lesson to be learned from the assassination is being overlooked.

The shot that killed Pres. Kennedy was no sudden and so surprising that it caught everyone off guard including the FBI, the Secret Service and the police. It was like the day Pearl Harbor was bombed. No one could believe it because they had been lulled into a false sense of security. In Dallas the President and his protectors were off guard—the bubble top was down and in Pearl Harbor our military men were out on passes.

The simple thing that can be learned from the death of Pres. Kennedy is the need to be prepared. This nation is still in a false sense of security. The extremely liberal editorial writers and the parrot like radio and TV commentators look for all other places to put the blame than on the simple fact that the assassin was a psychopath who had been fed Communist propaganda. A witch hunting expedition of Communists and others who preach forceful overthrow of the government is not needed, but let us not be so cock sure that no danger exists that we will let our defenses down.

The President of the U.S. had a false sense of security on Nov. 22 when he rode through the streets of Dallas. There was a Communist lurking in a building. In Pearl Harbor there was an aggressor nation. Let us remember these two catastrophes. Our defenses need constant surveillance.

Squeaking Neck, Creaking Knees Aren't Dangerous

By C. A. Dean, M.D.

(Q) "About one year ago I developed a squeak-like noise which occurs when I move my head and neck. It worries me even though I feel well otherwise. What does it mean?" Mrs. L.N.

(A) Noises in and around joints, especially the neck, are not serious and can be ignored. This is not a sign of arthritis, bursitis or other bone diseases. It is similar to the creaks some have when they bend their knees or move their joints in a certain way.

MEDITORIAL: The pinworm is a small white worm, about half an inch in length, which inhabits the intestinal tract of man. Infestation of the pinworm is very common in the United States, especially in our rather clean cities.

No matter how meticulous we seem, to be, or how many times our children are dewormed, the pinworm stubbornly hangs on. Formerly, worms were thought prevalent only in the warmer climates, but it has been noted that Alaskans frequently have this infection.

It has been found that the incidence of pinworm infection averages around 35 per cent of the general population, yet most persons assume that they are free of this disease. Pinworms are most common in children of grade-school age, but adults are frequently infected, especially if the worms are present in their children. Infants in diapers are less often bothered with pinworms.

The eggs of the pinworm begin their life cycle by hatching in the first part of the colon. Later the adult female moves along the colon, finally exiting at the rectal opening to deposit her eggs. Each female worm lays over 10,000 eggs which can live for weeks, especially if it is cool and humid. The eggs can be found in dust (any place in the household), or in clothes, so one can see how easy it is for reinfection to occur. The eggs are swallowed, usually directly from fingers (placed in the mouth) contaminated from scratching the rectal area or touching infected clothing.

Tomorrow I will discuss diagnosis and treatment.

What's The Purpose Of Foreign Aid

By Russell Kirk

Apparently, Congress is going to appropriate only half the sum for foreign aid that the Administration had requested. The foreign-aid program is unpopular with both Congress and the general public — and with reason. For the past decade, both Republican and Democratic administrations have done little to make the foreign aid undertaking more efficient or less costly; on the contrary, they simply asked for more money.

Interestingly, the most vehement opposition in the Senate to the foreign aid requests comes from liberal Democrats, notably Senators Gruening, Morse and Proxmire. They have pared away the sums demanded, and a Senate-House conference committee will pare away more. They and other senators have endeavored to prevent any aid from going to the dictatorships of Soekarno in Indonesia, Nasser in Egypt, and Tito in Yugoslavia — though probably the President may circumvent, if he wishes, such restrictions.

What, after all, is the program all about? Vast sums of money and materials, it now is clear, have been wasted utterly in South America, Africa and Asia. The program has not succeeded in raising standards of living or production in "underdeveloped" countries. Virulently nationalist leaders have built their armies upon foreign-aid funds, and used them to break the peace. We continue to aid Western Europe — although those countries are booming. Certain American economic interests, and the entrenched bureaucracy of foreign-aid administrators, are the principal enthusiasts for continuing these schemes. And the Administration finds a principal Congressional ally in the leader of Senate Republicans, Senator Dirksen — confusion worse confounded!

One writer on this subject who makes sense is Professor Hans Morganthau, of the University of Chicago. He has an essay called "Preface to a Political Theory of Foreign Aid," in a slim volume got up by the Public Affairs Conference Center of the University of Chicago, Why Foreign Aid?

"As it has developed in recent years, our policy of foreign aid is fundamentally weak," Dr. Morganthau says. "It has been conceived as a self-sufficient technical enterprise, covering a multitude of disparate objectives and activities, responding haphazardly to all kinds of demands, sound and unsound, unrelated or only by accident related to the political purposes of our foreign policy. The United States has been in the business of foreign aid for more than a decade, but it has yet to develop an intelligible theory of foreign aid that could provide standards of judgment for both the supporters and opponents of a particular measure."

The proper aim of foreign aid, Professor Morganthau argues, is to advance the political interests of the United States — to be a weapon of sorts. If we keep this object in view, we may accomplish some good; if we ignore it, foreign-aid expenditure is down the drain. Here Dr. Morganthau's views coincide with those of Senator Goldwater.

Junior-Sr. Band Travel

An important event in the history of the Hicksville High School took place last week when the Junior-Senior Band, augmented by nine advanced players from the Sophomore Band, embarked on a two-day trip to Rochester. It was the first time a Hicksville band stayed overnight and traveled this far. Previous record was established last year when the band was invited to Fallsburg.

The purpose of the trip was to perform at the N. Y. State Music Directors' Conference. This honor was awarded to two other school bands among the state's 500. The Hicksville group was chosen on the basis of a taped audition containing portions of an NBC program and a N. Y. Coliseum concert. The band demonstrated what results can be achieved in public school with contemporary music. Composers presented were Morton Gould, Leonard Bernstein, William Schuman, Robert Russell Bennett, and William Strickland.

Scene of the performance was the Eastman Theatre, home of the Rochester Symphony. The audience ranged from elementary to college students and teachers of music. All parts of the state were represented as well as were officials of the state Department of Education.

The following students participated: E. Kist, D. Lance, D. Weinstein, C. Dejullo, R. Schoemmel, J. Barcellona, R. Jonassen, A. Fox, J. Maler, V. Olsen, L. Waxberg, A. Gould, R. Gutowski, M. Lejbowitz, M. Melogy, J. BIG CHANGE IN FORD!

Fords have changed...changed big!

Not a line here...a piece of chrome there...

they're new clear through! Don't buy any '64 car until you test-drive the only cars that look, act and feel like 1964... the sweet, hot hardtops in the Ford line!

Other cars talk changes, but Ford has really made 'em!

STYLING HAS CHANGED! While other '64s look like warmed-over '63s, Ford gives you a full line of cars that are really new. Want hardtops? There are four different Super Torque Ford hardtops alone (2-door and 4-door models have their own distinctive rooflines). And both Fairlane and Falcon offer a range of completely restyled hardtop V-8's. (The Falcon Futura V-8 Hardtop is the lowest-priced you can buy.)

FEATURES HAVE CHANGED! You can add a spectacular range of luxury and convenience features to the '64s from Ford. There's a twin-range 3-speed automatic shift (smoothest you've driven). Ford's exclusive Swing-Away steering wheel. Deep-foam bucket seats. Wonderfully convenient lights in ash tray, trunk, glove compartment and doors. Some of these luxuries are standard features on Super Torque Ford XL models. Even Falcon offers bucket seats and a fully synchronized 4-speed floor shift.

PERFORMANCE HAS CHANGED! The '64s from Ford were bred in open competition, built for total performance. Big, tough Super Torque Fords won every single 500-mile stock car race this year. Falcon's rugged "260" V-8 helped carry Ford Motor Company to the Manufacturer's World Rally Championship. The Fairlane's engine supplied the basic power that made Cobra the sports car winner of the year. These competition cars were modified for the special demands of the track, of course, but lessons learned from them have helped us build a new kind of toughness and agility into the Ford, Falcon or Fairlane you buy. The new cars from Ford hurry, handle, and hold up as cars have never done before.

DRIVE THE BIG CHANGE! You'll never understand what all the changes add up to... until you drive one of the '64s from Ford. Did you say "Show me?" How about today?

If You Please

By Peter Pettibone

BEFORE A DINNER in his North Shore home for fellow gourmets, John M. Weyer gave his maid specific instructions in serving the dishes. "I want the fish served whole, with tail and head," he said, "and serve it with lemon in mouth." The maid protested, "That's silly, lemon in mouth." Her employer insisted, "That's the way it's done at the best dinners in Europe." So, she served the fish complete with tail and head. And she carried a lemon in her mouth... "Brother Bruce," as he is affectionately known to Port Washington pals, had just passed his 70th birthday. "Brother Bruce," asked a fellow bar fly commiseratingly, "don't you hate to get old?" Snapped Brother Bruce: "Hell, no! If I weren' old, I'd be dead!"...Overheard in a Hicksville Super Market; "oleomargine is something you have to take for butter or worse."... (Please pass the puns)... I like darling Dorothy Ford's line: "A joke is the shortest distance between two points of view."... Dory and Rip Strong living it up happily at Dick McKee's wonderful Club House... Top singer, Lee Jordan, told us of a New Hyde Park couple who sent a friend a playpen upon the arrival of her fourth child. The new mother's thank you note left them somewhat astonished. "The playpen is a perfect godsend," she wrote. "I sit in it every afternoon and read, the children can't get near me. Thanks Sincerely. "Incidentally, Lee, who in private life is Leonora Grissler, is dickering with the idea of buying a beautiful restaurant near Garden City Park. If she does it'll be called "Barten's 2000 Club," because it was originally built by actor James Barton and is at 2000 Jericho Turnpike. Prime food, music, and Lee's singing (we hope), should jam the place... A furrier friend tells us that one of his wealthy women customers made the following requests: "Could you possibly have my new $5000 coat delivered with the price tag still on it to my neighbor, Mrs. X, by mistake," (kinda catty)... Odd note from Syosset: "We never used to be able to find Grandma's glasses, but now she leaves them right where she empties them."... The Dick Eschman-Eddie Stone combo's playing a recent reception at Country Club Restaurant, Lake Success, still the talk of all who heard them—terrific!!! They'll be there this week-end too... My son Chuckie: "Look Dad, at the snow, now we all live in a White House."... At St. Francis Hospital a nurse beckoned to one of a group of expectant fathers and announced, "You have a fine son." Immediately another man rushed up and complained, "What's the leda? I was here before he was."... Homesickness notes: We're being measured for a bungalow... I'm wondering where my next landlord is coming from... To women who wear slacks: "Does your end justify your jeans?"... If You Please, Nol...

LIBRARY NOTES

By Vivian L. Robinson

Brr - rr - rr It's cold outside, Jack Frost is here to stay! Boys and Girls you had better button up your overcoats and sweaters, wrap your scarves close and pull on your mittens! You wouldn't want to catch a cold for Christmas, now would you? Now that you have finished shopping and making gifts for the holiday season, you had better get yourself Book Ready!

The Bethpage Public Library will be open during your Christmas vacation but suppose we have a snow storm or a blizzard and you are not able to come to the library! That would be rough, but you can avoid that by coming to the library now and checking out enough reading material for your holidays.

Finish the year in style by becoming a library borrower in good standing. First check to see if you owe a small fine. If so, pay it off! Have you lost your library card? If so, bring ten cents and buy a new one! Have you turned in your yellow library card yet? If not do so, then you can receive your new pink card and your new library number. Check out that classic for your book report due the middle of January! Begin now to look for books, pamphlets and magazines for your term report. Begin in 1964 to come on Monday nights to the library film programs.

The library has installed for your convenience a copying machine. If there is a page of pages in a book or magazine you would like to have reproduced it costs only a quarter a page. It might be just the answer for you if you need a map for a report that is only in a reference book.

For your reading pleasure the Bethpage Public Library, in cooperation with the Nassau Library System, has prepared a Christmas Book List. You may have one by inquiring at the charge out desk. This list may be used in many ways. One as a quick guide for a last minute gift selection and two, as an excellent reading guide for recently published good books. The list covers from pre-school through high school. You can use this list as a guide throughout your school year. The Library wishes you Seasons Greetings!

Keep your mind on the road, not on your troubles. Don't worry about business, the family, or what may happen tomorrow. Keep alert to what's happening now. Good driving's a full-time job requiring an alert mind and body. If you must worry, do it in your leisure time.

WHEN YOU DRIVE...

Think now, complain later. "Med" at someone or something? Turn it off when you turn your ignition on. Anger, no matter who or what it's directed at, can color your whole driving attitude, making you a menace to other motorists on the road.

THINK

Think wise... think cagey... think careful, cautious, cheerful, courteous driving. Good driving is the responsibility of every motorist. A cheerful attitude toward others on the road will get you to your destination more relaxed than if you find fault with every driver along the way. Think careful driving when you're behind the wheel. And, when you think of protection against the hazards of other not-so-careful drivers, think of State Farm, the careful driver's insurance company.

New Bus Route Given

Michael M. D'Auria, President of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, has announced that Mr. Edward Powers, Chairman of the Traffic and Transportation Committee of the Chamber has received notification that a new bus route has been instituted by the Star Bus Lines of Westbury giving direct bus service between Hicksville's Mid Island Plaza and the Walt Whitman Shopping Center in Huntington. Mr. Powers announced that a certificate has been issued by the New York State Public Service Commission to the bus lines allowing this new route.

The buses to the Walt Whitman Shopping Center, although they will run over four different routes, will originate and terminate in the Mid Island Shopping Plaza, and will serve Plainview as well as other communities. At the Walt Whitman Shopping Center these buses will connect with the bus lines that run to Huntington Station and Huntington. One of the routes will run from Hicksville east on Old Country Road to Plainview, down Washington Avenue to Jericho Turnpike. Another will go north on South Oyster Bay Road through Plainview, and then east on the Turnpike. The third line will proceed through Plainview, along Woodbury Road, to the Turnpike.

The first bus will leave the Mid Island Shopping Plaza at 8:35 in the morning, and the last bus will leave Walt Whitman Shopping Center at 9:35 P.M. No Sunday Service is contemplated at this time.

Mr. Powers announced that printed bus schedules are available by writing directly to the Star Bus Lines at 299 Main Street in Westbury.
