Fire Safety For Christmas

Anthony C. Ocker and George Kunz, Chairmen of the Fire Safety Committee of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, urged all businessmen and home owners of the Plainview area to make this Christmas a "fire safe" Christmas. In making this request, Mr. Ocker and Mr. Kunz stated that home is not the only place where dangerous Christmas fire hazards need attention. In schools, churches, hospitals and other public buildings the only safe trees and decorations are those that are completely non-combustible. It was advised that in school and church plays residents avoid using flimsy costume materials unless they have been treated to make them fire retardant. In children's plays and church processions, it was urged that safe battery operated electric candles be used instead of hazardous lighted wax candles. The committee also urged those responsible for public buildings to keep exit passages and doors unblocked, and clearly marked, and enforce any smoking regulations.

In the private home the Committee urges that the bases of all Christmas trees be kept in water, the trees be kept away from heat, and that frayed wires, broken switches and loose connections should be avoided at all times. All holiday lights should be turned off before retiring or leaving the house, and only flame proof material should be used in decorations and wrappings. The fire place is not a safe place to burn such materials.

In the purchase of toys and gifts the committee urged that electrical toys should be checked to see that they have met shock and fire standards, and that toys operated by gasoline, alcohol or kerosene should be avoided. All children playing near Christmas trees should be carefully supervised, and matches, lighters and candles should be kept out of their reach. The Committee also urged that every home owner have a fire emergency plan where escape routes and alternate escape routes out of every room have been planned and discussed ahead of time.

Messrs. Ocker and Kunz stated: "Christmas is a time for happiness and no time to be heedless of fire dangers ... a combination of active children and preoccupied parents allows the one moment of carelessness which is all that fire needs to cause disaster." The Committee wishes all the residents of Plainview a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

OYSTER BAY TOWN SUPERVISOR-ELECT MICHAEL N. PETITO today (Monday, Dec. 23) announced his selection of George V. O'Haire, 37-year-old assistant United States attorney, for the key position of executive assistant in his incoming town administration.

O'Haire, a Hicksville resident, has served since October 1961 as chief of the Civil Division of the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Eastern District, supervising a staff of 15 federal attorneys. He will resign to accept the town appointment.

"We are fortunate in obtaining someone of George O'Haire's background and ability to serve the people of the Town of Oyster Bay," said Petito, who will make the appointment to the $14,000-a-year post after he takes office Jan. 1.

Petito indicated he intends to assign O'Haire the job of deputy supervisor to fill in on the Town Board in the event of his absence.

O'Haire received his law degree from Georgetown University Law School in 1951 and a master of laws from New York University in 1958. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy appointed him to the federal post on recommendation of U.S. Attorney Joseph P. Hoey.

O'Haire, his wife, Mary, and three children -- Brian, 6; Stacey, 4, and Gregory, 10 months -- live at 16 Marylin Lane.

A Bronx native, he attended Christopher Columbus High School and, at 18, enlisted in the Marines. Wounded in the bloody Iwo Jima campaign, he was awarded a Purple Heart. After World War II, he attended Iona College, New Rochelle, graduating in 1949. He is Long Island Chapter president of the Iona Alumni Association.

From 1952 until joining the U.S. Attorney's staff, O'Haire was engaged in private law practice, first with the Wall Street firm of Kirkin, Campbell and Keating, then with William S. O'Connor in New York, then by himself in Jamaica.

He is a member of the Nassau County Bar Association, Metropolitan Trial Lawyers Association and Catholic Lawyers Guild. He is Hicksville chairman of both the Friends of Mercy Hospital and Nassau Committee for the Emerald Association of Long Island and chairman of the Catholic Activities Committee of the Diocesan Union of Holy Name Societies of Nassau-Suffolk.

Before becoming a federal attorney, O'Haire served as a Democratic committeeman and member of the Oyster Bay Town Affairs Committee.

Doubt Broiler Rays Will Hurt Eyesight

By C. A. Dean, M.D.

(Q) "After reading about the sun eclipse with the infrared rays hurting the eyes, I would like to know if looking at an infrared table broiler would hurt my eyes." Mrs. P.P.

(A) I don't know exactly what rays this type of broiler puts out, but my guess is that there is little or no danger. I suggest you check the literature that came with the unit. The light waves that come from ultraviolet lamps (used for tanning) are damaging to the eyes and goggles must be worn. I don't believe that ultraviolet light is used in broilers.

MEDITORIAL: New information reveals that excess weight is harmful to the liver. This effect was noted because of the increased number of liver cirrhosis cases in the obese.

It has been found that extra weight increases the risk of liver damage two to three times. The added burden placed on the liver is apparently too much. The liver not only has more work to do, but it also has more fat among its cells. This added fat deposit in the liver makes it less efficient and less able to take care of metabolism properly. Another factor, probably, is the lower protein intake of these individuals. Most fat persons tend to eat more carbohydrates and fats, which are harder for the liver to handle. Protein protects the liver cells and keeps them healthy. If there is enough protein in the diet, liver damage may be avoided.

The treatment and prevention of liver damage in the obese is basically simple. The patient must reduce and maintain normal weight. Also, the diet should have a better balance of protein, fat and carbohydrate.

As simple as it is to outline this treatment, dieting by the obese person is hard. To reap the benefits of normal weight, obese patients need to realize that dieting will have to continue the rest of their lives. Any other objective will cause failure.

MEDITORIAL: Cancer of the breast is still the most common cancer women should be concerned about. Early detection along with surgical removal is still our best means of curing breast cancer. I have discussed breast self-examination in previous columns. This has done wonders in getting women to their doctor sooner, and more cures result.

In recent years the technique of breast X-rays has been developed. Its purpose is to increase the chances of detecting breast cancer as early as possible. Even when no lump is felt but the suspicion of cancer is present, the X-ray can find these early tumors.

In one study of 500 breast cancers, 90 per cent of these were correctly diagnosed, before operation, by means of X-ray.

Have all suspicious lumps found in self-examination checked by your doctor and if indicated, removed as soon as possible.

Do you have a medical question? Write Dr. C. A. Dean in care of this newspaper.

The Dreary Secularized School

By Russell Kirk

WHAT IS THE MOST SCANDALOUS ACT your child can commit in school? Smash the windows? Curse the teacher? Oh, no — such little diversions are taken for granted, in a good many school districts. The really shocking act is to pray.

Since Chief Justice Warren and his colleagues decided that it was unlawful to pray and read the Bible in public schools, widespread defiance or evasion of these curious decisions has arisen, all across the country. Many schoolboard officers feel that if children were entitled to pray in school from the election of President Washington until the election of President Kennedy, it is scarcely logical that piety should become unconstitutional, without legislative act or Constitutional amendment, all of a sudden.

Other school boards and school administrators, however, have outdone the Supreme Court in abrupt secularizing of schools. At Red Wing, Minnesota, in November, the school authorities swept every vestige of religious observance out of the school calendar. Even the holiday of Christmas no longer is recognized in the Red Wing schools; it has become "the winter comfort," and that sort of thing.

This is a silly and harmful business. Even Thomas Jefferson, who was the author (in a private letter) of that celebrated phrase "a wall of separation between church and state," probably would have been astonished and disturbed at the Supreme Court's decisions and their consequences. For in the plan of public schooling which Jefferson drew up for his state of Virginia, both prayer and Bible-reading were mandatory.

If schools cannot even mention God and the moral order, what of importance can they teach? Perhaps this business of court interference in the school curriculum has only begun. Do public schools have a right to teach biology, for instance?

To certain sizeable denominations, the evolutionary doctrines of Charles Darwin are anti-religious, as contrary to the literal meaning of the Bible. Now suppose some fundamentalist Baptist parents should bring suit against a school board, to enjoin them from teaching doctrines of evolution. Such teaching, the parents might say, runs counter to the deepest religious convictions of themselves and their children, and so violates liberty of conscience. Their children, they might argue, have a constitutional right not to have their faith broken down or insulted by the Darwinians.

The attorney for the school board might offer a compromise: Baptist children might be excused from the biology class. (Just so, various schools have offered to excuse dissenting children from school prayers and Bible-readings.)

"Oh, no," the fundamentalist parents might reply. "Our children would be humiliated by being excluded from one class. Besides, they have a right to take the same subjects as do other children."

And if the federal courts were consistent, it seems to me, they would have to rule that modern biology, like prayer and Bible-reading, must be excluded from the curriculum — because it offends the religious susceptibilities of a minority. Or is it all right for schools to recognize an "establishment" of anti-religion?

Recently a Congressman recommended that the words "In God we trust" be graven upon the frieze of the Supreme Court Building. Chief Justice Warren vetoed that. The Court, it seems, does not intend to acknowledge any vexations rival authority. God would be a nuisance in any progressive classroom or courtroom.

BIG CHANGE IN FORD!

When you come to Ford for a '64, that's what you get... no simple "face-lift" like other cars—but a car that's changed...clear through! The Solid, Silent Super Torque Ford is now hundreds of pounds stronger, smoother, steadier than any other car in its class. You'll feel the difference this makes when you test-drive a total performance Ford.

Super Torque Ford Galaxie 500/XL 2-Door Hardtop passing by the new Verrazano Bridge.

ENGINES HAVE CHANGED! Item . . . the big, tough 427 V-8's that won every 500-mile race on the NASCAR circuit this year. Item . . . the Fairlane engine that was adapted to power the Cobra, America's sports car champion. Item . . . Falcon's rugged "260" V-8 that helped Ford Motor Company win the Manufacturer's World Rally championship. Street versions of these special competition engines are available as options in the 1964 Fords. The big change in Ford-built cars was bred in open competition—and their total performance proves it.

FEATURES HAVE CHANGED! Ford offers America's first fully synchronized 3-speed manual transmission (it takes the "crunch" out of first gear). Then there's the built-in, road-hugging weight advantage that every Super Torque Ford enjoys over other cars in its class. And, of course, you can add many other luxuries if you choose . . . Ford's own exclusive Swing-Away steering wheel, new twin-range 3-speed automatic shift, deep-foam bucket seats, to name a few.

STYLING HAS CHANGED! Ford leads its class in hardtop styling. offers more variety—even offers a choice of distinctive rooflines in 2-door and 4-door models. And if you want totally new hardtop styling with V-8 vigor in a compact, there's only one place to go—that's Ford's completely restyled Falcon.

DRIVE THE BIG CHANGE! No words can tell you as much about the new Fords as you will learn in ten minutes behind the wheel. Try total performance at your Ford Dealer's—where the Year of the Test Drive is now going on!

LIBRARY NOTES

By Virginia Stanton

Many New Year's resolutions look to the solution of old problems. National problems for which we have been seeking solutions include the "farm problem," the "urban problem" and the "economic problem." Your library has books which survey the past history of these "problems" and look towards their future allinement.

Your Library's New Book Rack holds material on the "urban problem" and the "economic problem." "Sick Cities" by Mitchell Gordon brings to our attention problems which arise when former farm areas become urban. Bethpage does not have all of these problems, but anyone caught in our local rush hours should want to know which solutions to the traffic problem have been tried and failed, and which have succeeded, at least partially. Any taxpayer who finds rising education costs to be creating a "school problem" will need to understand how urbanized areas have tried to obtain the best schools at the lowest cost. Whoever has been the victim of vandalism or petty theft will want to know how urban centers have tried to improve police protection, and which measures have helped or hindered law enforcement. Every citizen should be familiar with the forces which create SICK CITIES so that his own town can learn to remain healthy.

Some people think that all problems are part of a general "economic problem." Two books, both recently received by the Bethpage Public Library deal with America's current economic problems. "Challenge to Affluence" by the Swedish Professor Gunnar Myrdal is an outsider's look at the United States as a wealthy nation which has economic limitations that must be overcome if it is to retain a position of world leadership. If you want to know some of our major faults in foreign eyes you will find Myrdal's analysis both interesting and thought provoking. "Modern American Capitalism Ideologies and Issues" by R. Joseph Monsen, Jr. is an American's description of the basic strengths of our economic system, and an American's attempt to show how and why foreigner's misunderstand and criticize capitalism. Persons interested in the long range outlook of our free enterprise system will want to read and compare these two treatments of our "economic problems."

Mothers Hold Christmas Party

On Monday evening, Dec. 16th, the St. Ignatius Loyola Auxiliary of Christian Mothers held their annual Christmas party. The decor was beautifully arranged with the Christmas tree and inspiring creche as the focal point. Each table had three large red Christmas candles surrounded by pine cones and on the white clothes produced a startling effect. Mrs. George Dreher and Mrs. Vincent Spina are to be commended on the wonderful job they did in serving refreshments to such a large group with gracefulness and a minimum of apparent fuss on any one's part.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Rev. Leo J. Goggin, entertained. They sang "O Come All Ye Faithful", "The Holy City", "Missi Den", "Christmas Lullaby", & "O Holy Night" with Sr. James Andrew O.P. leading the voices.

Everyone received a gift which was distributed by Mr. & Mrs. Santa Claus with the help of ten or twelve willing little elves. The prize winners of October's Hat Show received their gifts appropriately enough at this Christmas party.

Mrs. Frederick Hess won the dark horse prize of $30.00 and Mr. J. Slard won the ice-bucket and bottle of Champagne.

Although there was no business meeting, Mrs. Ryan announced that the cake sale was highly successful and expressed sincere thanks to all the workers and especially the two chairmen, Mrs. Benjamin Beniamino and Mrs. Thomas Riley for the effort they put into it. Mrs. Mary Dannhauser won the lovely statue of the Infant of Prague.

The next regular meeting is scheduled for Jan. 27, 1964. Mrs. Patrick McGee announced that due to the cancellation of our November meeting because of the death of our beloved President Kennedy, Msgr. Michael J. McLaughlin will speak instead at the January meeting. Msgr. McLaughlin is the Diocesan Director of Vocations and he will speak on Integration.

The annual February Social will be held this year on February 7 and will be under the chairmanship of Mrs. Charles Brady.

Mrs. Ryan, in behalf of the Sisters and the lay teachers, expressed her sincere wishes to all for a happy and a blessed Christmas.

Keep your mind on the road, not on your troubles. Don't worry about business, the family, or what may happen tomorrow. Keep alert to what's happening now. Good driving's a full-time job requiring an alert mind and body. If you must worry, do it in your leisure time.

WHEN YOU DRIVE...

Think now, complain later. "Mad" at someone or something? Turn it off when you turn your ignition on. Anger, no matter who or what it's directed at, can color your whole driving attitude, making you a menace to other motorists on the road.

THINK

Think wise . . . think cagey . . . think careful, cautious, cheerful, courteous driving. Good driving is the responsibility of every motorist. A cheerful attitude toward others on the road will get you to your destination more relaxed than if you find fault with every driver along the way. Think careful driving when you're behind the wheel. And, when you think of protection against the hazards of other not-so-careful drivers, think of State Farm, the careful driver's insurance company.

Who buys more Savings Bonds?

As statistical-minded as we are today, the Treasury Department can't answer that question.

The Treasury does know that U.S. Savings Bonds are owned by tens of millions of families. So it might be safe to assume that people in every walk of life belong to this "savings club."

This is a happy fact for the United States, and for the free peoples of the earth. For Savings Bond dollars are playing an important role today in the making of history.

This $46 billion reserve in the government's hands is working ~~quietly~~ today to help our country in the major struggle to defend freedom.

At the same time, Savings Bonds help build your personal purchasing power by paying good interest and providing a method of saving that's unconditionally safe and readily cashable. And the higher your purchasing power, the better it speaks for our system.

It all adds up to one of the best ways you can save money and at the same time help your country. Start buying Bonds next payday—through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or from any bank—and see if you don't feel pretty good about it.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, stolen or destroyed
- You can get your money anytime
- You can save automatically on Payroll Savings

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

Library Vote Set For Mar. 7

The Hicksville Public Library plans to hold a referendum proposing library expansion on March 7. Proposed is a $262,500 extension on the present building, making space available for 82 additional seats and 40,000 volumes. An unfinished basement area will be included for future development and a 20' x 50' extension will be added to the periodical room. A library spokesman explained the proposed extension will enable the library to adequately serve the large numbers of junior and senior high school students and college students that now use public libraries for reference and research purposes. At present the library has almost exhausted stack space and badly needs seating space during crowded afternoon hours, Saturdays and vacation periods. It is estimated about 2¢ will be added to the present tax rate of 24.9¢ per $100.00 of assessed valuation. The referendum in December 1962 which was defeated call for $298,500 and included a 185 seat community room which has been deleted. The land was purchased by the library in 1962 at a cost of $24,000. The spokesman for the library said the cost has been largely absorbed by fines and fees leaving only $6,000 which has been included in the cost of the referendum.

Many Ice Skating Rinks In Township

The Town Board today announced that, weather permitting, ice-skating will be available for residents at locations in parks across the Town. Town park crews have been engaged in sealing the ice-skating surfaces in the various parks and have begun flooding the areas. If present freezing temperatures continue, good skating should be available by the weekend.

Each of the rinks will be checked by inspectors for surface condition and reported to the Town Park office where skaters may call for information after 10 a.m. (FE 3-8020).

The following parks have ice-skating rinks:

Let's Take The Shopping Out of Christmas
By Edward J. Van Allen

Among the beneficial pieces of legislation that should be — but never will be — passed, there ought to be a law completely exempting husbands from those Christmas shopping jaunts that roll around year after husband-wearying year.

But the legislators, who are one and all, except for the mighty few bachelors among them, under the thumbs of their respective spouses, don't dare enact a pro-husband, anti-wife law like that. My own case, almost too tear-jerkingly sorrowful to mention, will amply illustrate what I mean.

I know from personal experience that around Christmastime shopping sprees or would-be husband harriers are at their subtlest best.

"You never stay home Saturdays to take me shopping," the wife will say, as the softening-up process begins. "And here it is only 23 shopping days till Christmas."

"That reminds me," I say. "I have a date at the local pool hall that I made weeks ago." (Bless the resurrections of the pool halls, now often euphoniously called billiard parlors!)

"No, you don't," the high command will say. "You, my dear, are taking me shopping today."

In the face of superior forces, my surrender is naturally abjectly unconditional.

We're soon off on another buying spree, that modern-day form of exquisite torture.

The first stop is Goldtaker's Department Store.

Wife Dorothy and daughter Karen, another branch of the family tree that money allegedly grows on, go their respective ways, while I gravitate to the sporting goods department.

The salesboys there think a Smiling Bill bucktail has something to do with hunting. "Sure, it's for hunting," I say, "hunting fish."

They don't have any anyhow, so I mosey through the store wondering which set of doors leads to the parking lot and the car. Suddenly I hear my name being trumpeted over the loud speaker.

As I get the story later, Dorothy had approached the manager of the store and asked him to have me paged.

"We'll not only do that," the manager says. "Service is a byword at Goldtaker's. We'll even broadcast a description. How tall is he?"

"Five feet eight inches," my wife says.

"Zowie, he's a pretty tall boy to get lost," the manager comments.

"He's no boy, he's my husband,"

Dorothy says. "And he always gets lost in department stores."

At any rate, they find me finally. As I near the manager's stall where Dorothy is waiting, she notices my newly acquired limp.

"What happened to you?" she asks.

"I was run over by a tricycle," I mutter darkly.

"A tricycle?"

"Yes, and upon interrogation, I developed that this three-year-old reckless driver doesn't even have a driver's license. He's a department store menace!"

It's then decided that I'm to wait in the car so as not to get lost or run over by any other free-wheeler on a three-wheeler.

Later — hours and hours later — when Dorothy and Karen reach the car laden to the axillaries with packages, I ask: "What did you buy?"

"Nothing," the wife says. I look at the bulging packages and wonder whether she bought a vacuum cleaner minus the cleaning mechanism.

Eventually I realize that most of the packages are for me. So now I know what I'm getting for Christmas. Exactly "nothing."

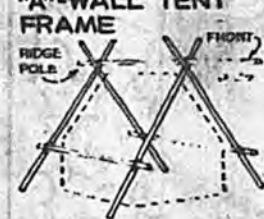

Still later, I find that the trip cost me a cool $98.37. That's a pretty high price to pay for "nothing" in fancy packages.

New Scouts Given Assignments

Seven new scouts of Troop 293, sponsored by the Hicksville Methodist Church were assigned to patrols. The Troop now numbers 70. The names of the new Scouts are, Charles Arnone, James Alexander, Robert Hawkins, Jeffrey McCausland William Rogoza, Steve Skrynecki and Steven Wilkenshoff. Hicksville Girl In Pageant

Miss Gall Breitfeller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Breitfeller, 30 Hemp Lane, Hicksville took part in the annual Christmas pageant and tableau that was presented by the Cathedral School of Mary on Tuesday evening, Dec. 17, to parents, alumnae and guests.

Miss Breitfeller played one of the Kings in "A Child is Born" by Stephen Vincent Benet. The pageant was directed by Miss Nancy Webber, dramatic coach. The school Glee Club of over 55 voices provided the background music for the tableau.

If You Please

By Peter Pettibone

Children can be nice too. Conspicuous amid the well-dressed crowd around the huge Christmas tree in one of the Miracle Mile's most exclusive stores was a neat but shabbily dressed woman and her four small children. The mother's face was plain but full of character and her eyes revealed that she was comparing her little brood's meager prospects with the Christmas fairytale at which they were gazing in awe. But I doubt if any of the shoppers, who like myself, were discreetly watching will receive a Christmas present comparable to the one given her that day. The eldest child, a well-scrubbed, frail little boy, tore his eyes from the glittering tree, looked up at her and said in a clear voice, "Mother, you are prettier than any Christmas tree!" — Caught in passing: New draftee: "I can't say much for Santa Claus - 15 years ago I asked him for a soldier suit and now I get it." — Sign in a North Shore jeweler's window: "Cuckoo Clocks Psychoanalyzed." — (Merry Christmas Everyone) — While waiting at Penn Station: "I don't have much confidence in a generation that gets electric blankets for wedding presents?" — (Happy New Year) — Traffic snarls: Too many people who have passed their driving tests think they can pass anything — The real Space Man is the one who can find a parking place — Note from a College Prof: "With so many married students in college these days, unusual situations are not infrequent. Still, I was a bit startled to read the following excuse for absence from my class recently: 'Please excuse my absence. I am in the hospital having a baby. Will be in class after Christmas.' — A Port Washington pal of mine took his 17-year-old daughter into Manhattan for a big night out. Came the floor show and the father gulped as the Latin Chorus girls were wearing just a dab of gold-and-black satin. He stole a couple of sidelong glances at his favorite daughter. Finally she leaned over and whispered. "Do you see what I see?" As the father gulped uneasily, she said very enthusiastically, "Look Dad, they're wearing my school colors!" — (Wow, Merry Christmas, Happy New York) — Proverb: Much happiness is overlooked because it doesn't cost anything. A neighbor's son Paul returned from his first Sunday school session. His mother asked him what he thought of it. "I sure don't think much of that Joseph they told us about," he answered. "Taking Mary on that long trip and not making any reservations for her." — Country Club Restaurant, Lake Success, will feature Dick Eschmann's sensational combo New Year's Eve, too! (Happy New Year, urp) — Christmas and New Year's slogan: "Drive Carefully, Don't Let Death Take Your Holiday." — Lee "Jordan" Grissler's plans for her new spot, to be called Barton's 2000 Club, Jericho Turnpike, include a cross between the Old Bradley's and Manhattan's Stork Club. It'll be veddy, veddy chic. Happy Everything Everyone...If You Please, Noel....
