Girl Scout News Notes

Fourteen girls of Mid-Island Council Girl Scouts Inc., and their leader, Mrs. June Catalano spent a wonderful and exciting three days at 'Rocking Horse Ranch', located in Highland, N. Y.

The girls are a mounted group from Bethpage's Senior Girl Scout troop #411, and this was an activity long looked forward to and planned by the girls.

They earned the money for the trip by conducting a series of car washes in various locations; profits from G.S. Calendar and cookie sales; baby sitting; and even 'animal sitting' in order to acquire the necessary funds.

The trip was one which the girls will never forget. They boarded a Long Island Railroad Train at Bethpage Station and from New York City they traveled by Trailway Bus to 'New Paltz' where they were met and taken on to the Ranch. They talked, rode, and lived 'Horses', which is this groups consuming interest. They had their choice of English or Western saddles and each girl quickly developed a particular liking for one horse.

The trails led horse and riders over rocks, across streams, over logs and in mud. The rides were always fast and exciting and something different occurred on each one. Jumping proved to be a challenge which the girls eagerly accepted and looked forward to doing.

The Ranch and its superior staff did everything to fulfill these girls fondest dreams, and they certainly succeeded in their efforts. There was friendly hospitality, plenty of good food and accommodations, well-trained horses and congenial companions with which to share magic moments and experiences. The whole informal atmosphere was that of a warm, friendly spirit.

To these fourteen girls, each moment of happy events at 'Rocking Horse Ranch' is relived whenever the group is together. The exciting rides over the trails and wide open spaces. The out-of-the-way places explored, and the tales the wranglers told. These will be cherished memories for: Jane Caldwell, Bonnie Campbell, Joanne Casey, Donna Encke, Joyce Geller, Jane Heilig, Carol Lindeman, Joanne Mazara, Ellen O'Rourke, Judi Rothstein, Linda Smith, Patricia Wayte, Jeanne Catalano, and Dale Wicks. These equestrienne's now look forward to corralling a heard of funds in order to return to 'Rocking Horse', and its pleasurable activities.

Several of these horsewomen are members of Mid-Island Council's Girl Scouts Equestrienne Drill Team and will be appearing at the New York World's Fair as well as participating in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade.

Freedom In Education Hears Bruno's Speech

The Freedom in Education group presented School Trustee William A. Bruno Jr. Wednesday night. He spoke about the following subjects:

1. The unfair dismissal of about 50% of the English Dept. of Hicksville High School teachers after they filed grievances.
2. Why the school board president and the Board majority did nothing to help the teachers involved or to get an explanation for their dismissal.
3. Why did the TEACH organization do nothing to protect the right of the teachers to protest, even though two board members, one the Board president were sponsored by TEACH and TEACH was supposed to protect teachers.
4. How the Board president protects the school superintendent at the expense of the district residents.
5. The top secret administration building plans. Why have they been kept secret?
6. Why the New York State audit and control report has been long suppressed.
7. Why your taxes are zooming upwards, approximately $600,000 a year.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Morgan

The recent mock convention by high school students of Nassau County has been the subject of diverse opinions. They range from cries of glee that so many high school students have been inculcated with super liberal ideas to cries of anguish that the students are only a step from communism.

We do not subscribe to either belief, but we are not throwing any accolades to the youngsters either. What seems to be happening to high school students and college students also these days is too early an acceptance of party loyalties and in this area it is the complete espousal of Democratic and liberal philosophies with only a sneer for anything of a middle of the road or conservative nature. Yet some of the greatest brains in the country are of a moderate and conservative mind.

What is happening is that so many of the thinking high school students are becoming active party workers that their ideas are being completely clouded by party loyalties in the years when they should simply be thinking and listening and studying what is going on in the country. The fact is the more you study the political picture the more you realize that no one party and no completely liberal or conservative philosophy will always prove right. The students who represented their schools at the mock convention were undoubtedly influenced by their many liberal teachers and they believe sometimes with an air of contempt that anyone who is not of an extreme liberal philosophy is backward and so the pupil follows the teacher and denies himself the opportunity to search for the answers. He went find them through contempt for the established religions or some of the established political ideas but only through an untangled mind uncommitted to political party machinery until he has had a chance to know the facts.

The high school mock convention was the result of immature minds tackling mature problems.

Fungus Responds To Medication

By C. A. Dean, M.D.

(Q) "I read about the new fungus drug, griseofulvin, in your column. I have fungus in my toenails as well as athletes' feet. Would this drug help me?"

Mr. V. C.

(A) Griseofulvin has been used successfully in both of these conditions. However, whether it would help you or not, I don't know. It would depend a great deal on the type of fungus and the severity of your infection.

MEDITORIAL: I was examining a patient recently and he told me, "Doc if you find anything wrong with me don't tell me about it because I won't do anything about it, anyhow."

This type of statement isn't surprising to me, even though it is quite foolish, since I hear it all too often. Despite what they say, I know such patients don't always mean it since they must have some good intentions or they wouldn't have come for the examination in the first place. Nevertheless, when an abnormality is found it is hard to convince some patients that follow-up studies are needed. If they aren't completed, of course, the whole purpose of the physical check-up is defeated.

There are many physical findings that can mean serious disease, and one of the commonest is a lump. Even though only a few prove to be cancerous, all deserve an investigation. Chances are clearly in the patient's favor but, even so, it is foolhardy to ignore such a thing as a lump or any other finding. It is much better to investigate, examine and treat an abnormality, thereby avoiding a lot of trouble and discomfort.

Some patients react by saying nothing can be done and feel it not worth the time, trouble and expense. This may be true in some cases but the course of action should be determined by the doctor. Although the outlook may be bleak, don't give up hope and under no circumstance should you give disease the satisfaction of giving up without a fight.

Will Negro Organizations Be Duped By Communists?

By Russell Kirk

ORGANIZED OR UNORGANIZED, American colored people generally are little affected by Communist maneuvers. A few well-known Negroes -- Mr. Paul Robeson, Professors Du Bois and Aptheker -- have been attracted to Communist causes; but a combination of Christian belief, ideological indifference, and interest in practical matters has kept the great mass of Negroes free from Marxist seductions.

Yet the American Communists continue to hope, and work, to attract colored people to their fanatic party. Recently such an operation achieved a minor success in New York -- and this straw in the wind ought to alert responsible Negro leaders to the danger.

The event, on April 5, was a "gala concert" at Town Hall, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the birth of the Ukrainian poet Shevchenko. It was a characteristic Communist-front undertaking; and this columnist knows whereof he speaks, because he was there. Mostly it consisted of harmless and pleasant Ukrainian dances and songs. But also there were pro-Soviet speeches by Mr. Luka Klzya, Soviet Ukrainian delegate to the United Nations; Mr. Richard Morford, executive director of the National Council for America-Soviet Friendship; and lesser Marxist lights. The usual fulsome praise of Soviet "peace," progress, and power was uttered -- the audience being informed, for instance, that the Soviet Ukraine now is an industrial power equal to Britain and France -- and the usual canards against "reactionaries" and "imperialists" in the United States were repeated. Ho-hum.

But the ominous feature of this "gala," which clearly had plenty of pro-Soviet money behind it, was the insertion of American Negro organizations into the program, incongruous though they seemed in a ceremony honoring a nineteenth-century Ukrainian man of letters. Were these colored people duped into participation -- mistaking the Communist-front operation for a mere innocent cultural gathering -- or did they actually believe the Communists desired to promote their "civil rights" cause?

On the printed program appeared the name of Mr. Robert Gore, assistant community-relations director of the Congress of Racial Equality; and he actually was introduced. But when he did not come forward to speak, a functionary announced that Mr. Gore had sent a telegram saying he could not attend. Had his name been taken in vain, or did Mr. Gore get cold feet at the last moment?

Representatives of another Negro organization did participate most actively: the "Freedom Singers" of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, from Atlanta. This ensemble sang a whole series of ballads of protest, concluding the afternoon's "gala" with "We Shall Overcome." The Communist speakers praised their struggle for "freedom," and emphasized Shevchenko's admiration for an American Negro actor, Ira Aldridge.

Now did the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee people recognize the sinister nature of their hosts? Did they know they were being used to create Soviet propaganda in America? If so, the SNCC was doing a most baneful disservice to the cause of American colored people.

For the Communists have no real love for "minority groups;" when in power, Communists bully and crush all minorities in the name of Marxist unity. In America, the Communists aspire to stir up racial hatred whenever possible, so as to diminish American strength and to blacken the reputation of America abroad.

And if Negro organizations are silly enough to invite the embrace of the Marxists, the enemies of American order and justice and freedom in a very brief time those "civil rights" groups will lose the sympathy of 99 per cent of the American public. The Communists, in such circumstances, will infiltrate and abuse the Negro organizations -- and then abandon them, discredited, to their ruin. The harm that Communist support did to the political aspirations of Mr. Henry Wallace would be a love-pat, compared with the blow that such an alliance would deal to movements for the improvement of the condition of colored Americans.

Students Return From Wash.

On Friday evening, thirty-two tired but happy pupils of Good Shepherd Lutheran School, Plainville returned from an extensive two day educational tour of springtime Washington. Led by Mr. Schabel and Miss Gedrimas, their principal and teacher, the students enjoyed seeing the magnificent cherry blossoms which rimmed the Tidel Basin in splendid beauty. They also witnessed part of the procession in honor of the late General Douglas MacArthur.

Among the many sights seen in the springtime Capitol were the Capitol Building itself, the Smithsonian Institute, the Museum of Natural History the Washington, Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials. Visits were also made of the National Historical Wax Museum, Archives Building, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Freer Art Gallery, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Mount Vernon. In Arlington National Cemetery the students saw the change of guard at the Tomb of Unknowns, the Memorial to the men of the Battleship Maine and the grave of President Kennedy. A bus tour was made of Alexandria, Va., one of the most historical cities of America.

Among the many objects seen by the students there was the "Hope" diamond, the space capsule of John Glenn, the Spirit of St. Louis' and the Wright brothers airplane. In addition to the interior beauty of the Library of Congress, the pupils examined an exhibit of personal and very intimate photographs of President Kennedy, his family and friends as well as a copy of Gutenberg's Bible. Mrs. Virginia Brown of Old Bethpage and Mrs. Naomi Williams of Wyandanch accompanied Mr. Schabel and Miss Gedrimas and the children. This most memorable educational tour was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Plans are in progress to provide next year's sixth grade with a similar educational experience.

What's Happened to the Hash Factories?

By Edward J. Van Allen

Maybe I've been gorging in the wrong restaurants lately.

At any rate, I long for the good old days when you could sidle into an eatery delightfully and very accurately called, "The Greasy Spoon" or "Joe's Joint," and hear zesty hash-house lingo spoken with a fluency approaching the superb.

Remember when liling language like this would assail your ears as you walked through the door of a beanery, let's say: "Clean up the kitchen and give it bad breath"?

Any coffee-ander worth his salt knew right off that somebody had ordered hamburger with onions.

For a time, I myself grew rather proficient -- even boastfully so -- as a hash house linguist. Once I sat at a table in a gluthouse, looked the waitress smack in the eye, and said rather imperiously: "I'll have salt horse with cackel berries. If you don't have that, then toast two on a slice of squeal. For dessert, I'll have stewed socks; and since I'm an oddball, throw them in the mud."

"Golcha," said the waitress, who sany out my order in the very same terms.

In short order, I got corned beef and eggs (salt horse with cackel berries) and a dish of stewed apricots with chocolate syrup. It wasn't necessary to serve me the alternatives, ham and eggs (toast two on a slice of squeal).

Since I was in a hurry, I didn't have coffee with the meal. "Draw one in the dark," I told the waitress, "and I'll take it for a walk." Thus, a container of black coffee went with me when I left.

Nowadays, sad to say, hash-house lingo seems to be disappearing as a language-art form. Nevermore do I seem to hear in any restaurant such mellifluous orders as:

"Dough well done with cow to cover." (Buttered toast.)

"Sinkers and suds." (Coffee and doughnuts.)

"Mama on a raft." (Marmalade on toast.)

"A slab of bash." (A veal sandwich.)

"A slab of moo." (A beefsteak.)

Yet, if you should happen to be in a restaurant and hear a waitress sing out, "The gentleman will take a chance" you'll know that some courageous soul has ordered either hash or hamburger steak. "Sweep the kitchen" is, or course, another very effective term used in ordering hash.

I've had my troubles, though, with people who couldn't hold a candle to a real hash slinger. Once at the end of a meal I ordered some dining room lumber. The waitress looked baffled. "What's that?" she asked.

Felgning surprise, I said: "Do you mean to say that you who have undoubtedly given your life to the engorgement business, you who are an expert among experts as to the epicurean tastes and habits of the multitude, don't know what dining room lumber is?"

"I sure don't," she admitted.

At that, I stood up and whispered directly into her ear. "I don't want anyone in this hash factory to hear me using language like this," I said. "They're toothpicks, Madam, they're toothpicks."

In the old days, on Fridays I had my own pet way of submarining any waitress ready to palm off submarine turkey (fish) on me. I'd ankle into the eatery, sit down, and say: "Got any whale blubber?"

"Of course not," the waitress would answer.

"Well, God knows I tried." I'd say.

"Give me a slab of moo." I'd say.

"Oddsments and Endments"

This past week I told the Valley Stream Kiwanis Club that lay school psychologists who diagnose insanities in school children stand, in my judgment and in the judgment of my attorneys, in violation of the provisions of law prohibiting the practice of medicine by laymen.

During the speech, three or four lawyers in the audience nodded in assent as I raised various legal objections to what in effect is the practice of psychiatry -- the province of medicine -- in the schools.

Interestingly, one member of the audience, a Valley Stream clergyman who happens to be a member of one of the Valley Stream school boards, told me afterward that the first thing he was going to do next day was to see the local school psychologist and ask him whether he has a medical degree.

"Go further than that," I advised him. "Ask the psychologist whether he diagnoses mental illness in school children and places his diagnoses in children's school records to brand them on into adulthood, even if his diagnosis is cock-eyed wrong."

"Don't worry," said the clergyman. "You have whetted my interest, and as a father and a school board member, I'd like to know the answers to these questions."

I wish him Godspeed...

ANENT THIS SAME SUBJECT, this past week's news that the Nassau Neuropsychiatric Society is suing Adelphi University for conducting courses in psychotherapy and psychoanalysis, thereby "acting like a medical school," warmed the cockles of what psychologists probably regard as my rather villainous heart.

I have known for years that there has been a long-simmering feud between psychiatrists and psychologists because many psychologists apparently regard themselves on a par with (and some perhaps even superior to) psychiatrists in the diagnosis and treatment of mental illnesses.

The one big difference between a qualified psychiatrist and a certified psychologist in New York State is that the psychiatrist is and is required to be a medical doctor, while the average psychologist is neither a medical doctor, nor is he required to be one.

In my opinion, many psychologists in this state who have been winking at the law for years are about to get their comeuppance. It couldn't happen to a finer breed of men and women.

TEACH Supports Two Candidates

The Taxpayer's Educational Association for the Children of Hicksville (TEACH) announces its support of the candidacies of George Jackson and Caleb Hornbostel for the posts of trustee of the Hicksville Board of Education in the coming el-lection to be held on May 7. Mr. Jackson will seek re-election for the position he now holds. Mr. Hornbostel will seek election to the post vacated by the resignation of Mr. Sabatella.

With this slate, TEACH is urging the taxpayers of Hicksville to vote for men well-qualified by direct experience in school affairs. Mr. George Jackson will be completing a full three years on the Board having served as its President for the past year. During his tenure in office, Mr. Jackson has come to know the Hicksville school system well and the duties and responsibilities of a Board member. He has also come to know firsthand those elements within the community which have no constructive contributions to make but whose sole purpose is disruption, if not destruction, of the orderly and intelligent improvement of education for the children of Hicksville. The people of Hicksville have come to rely on Mr. Jackson's continuing efforts to guide School Board meetings with dignity and a seriousness of purpose befitting the trust placed in Board trustees by the parents and taxpayers of the district.

Mr. Jackson resides at 61 Berkshire Road. An 3 year resident of Hicksville with three children in the public schools, Mr. Jackson is a graduate of Rutgers University and John Hopkins University. He is presently employed as Administrative Assistant to the Personnel Manager at the Brookhaven National Laboratory. Mr. Jackson will continue to bring to the Hicksville School Board proven qualities of leadership and a working knowledge of the Hicksville school system.

In the person of Mr. Caleb Hornbostel, the taxpayers of Hicksville have another candidate well-informed on many aspects of running local school affairs. A practicing architect heading his own architectural firm, Mr. Hornbostel is a businessman with direct experience in school construction. Working closely with four metropolitan school systems mostly on Long Island, Mr. Hornbostel has gained a great insight into the accomplishments and problems faced by local school boards and taxpayers. His work has not been limited to school construction but includes also private homes, institutional, industrial, and commercial building.

In addition, Mr. Hornbostel understands the professional side of the educational system having served in the capacities of instructor and lecturer at eight universities. The nature of his contact with local school systems has led Mr. Hornbostel to believe in the need and value of community participation in the educational program and activities of a district through the means of citizen advisory committees.

Mr. Hornbostel resides at 106 Dean Street. An 11-year resident of Hicksville, Mr. Hornbostel has a child attending the Dutch Lane School and another child attending the Trinity Lutheran School. He is a graduate of the Carnegie Institute of Technology and the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris.

A PROGRESS REPORT:

AN ATTEMPT BY A SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER TO CONTROL THE PRESS!

On Dec. 13 Mr. George W. Kunz, a trustee of the Hicksville Board of Education, attempted to control the editorial opinion of this newspaper. Mr. Kunz brought before the school board an editorial criticising it for having conducted a building expansion referendum on the Saturday of national mourning for the late President Kennedy. Because this editorial disagreed with the board, Mr. Kunz used his office to make a motion to deny any legal advertising to the Mid Island Times. . . . But he invited the editor to come and publicly apologize for the editorial at the Board meeting of January 10

This Was Our Answer

I have not come before this Board tonight to apologize for any opinions that I have written. I am here to demand the resignation of Mr. George W. Kunz from this School Board. Mr. Kunz has misused his office and committed an act which is in the nature of bribery. It is an act that cannot be condoned by anyone and will bring disgrace upon the Board of Education.

It was with shock and amazement that I read a letter from Board member Kunz suggesting that I might come to this Board meeting and apologize for editorial opinions I had written in the Mid Island Times. These opinions questioned the propriety of holding balloting on the school referendum on the Saturday after Pres. Kennedy was assassinated.

The shock was that I never suspected Mr. Kunz who has been elected to the Board of Education in Hicksville would take it upon himself to influence a newspaper and actually distort the contents of a newspaper editorial.

The shock was intensified when in listening to the recorded minutes of the meeting of December 13, that Mr. Kunz would dare to openly state that this was a reason for withdrawing legal advertising from the newspaper.

I want Mr. Kunz to know without reservation that it is not his place to direct the editorial policy of any newspaper and that if the position he was elected to on the School Board by a narrow margin, has so inflated his ego that he believes he has this power, he has much to learn. It is a breach of office for any member of a School Board to suggest that in addition to purchasing something—in this case advertising—that he is entitled to something extra. This is a misuse of public office. The School Board and Mr. Kunz have no reason to expect any special treatment by newspapers that they by law place advertising in. If this were the case there would be no criticism of any public office and no newspapers worth printing.

In the case of a Board of Education trying to establish this practice it is even worse. They are supposed to represent the highest goals of education which must of necessity be in accord with the Constitution of the United States. To blatantly attempt to control newspapers with tax money is incongruous.

The facts are clearcut in this case and beyond debate. Mr. Kunz even confirmed in letters to the newspaper that he was penalizing it for its editorial and that it would get what he calls "fair treatment"—that is the Board might buy the usual advertising space—if the editorials were friendly. There is no way that the Commissioner of Education can approve of this. It is wrong, disgraceful and a misuse of public office. If Mr. Kunz does not voluntarily resign, we are sure he will be ousted.

In order to divorce this issue from a monetary one, the Mid Island Times has decided not to accept any more legal advertising from the Hicksville School District for the remainder of this fiscal year, regardless of whether the action of the Board is reversed or not.

Bus Ride To World's Fair

The Franchise Bus Service Council of Nassau County today announced details of extensive bus service for Nassau County's riders to the New York World's Fair.

The Council pointed out that special rates would be offered to riders, on the new Fair routes. The Bus Council plan includes direct service to the Fair by Bee Line, Hempstead Bus and Schenck Transportation, with interconnecting service furnished by several local bus lines. In many instances the local companies are extending their routes to effect these new connections.

The Schenck Transportation Bus Company of Floral Park will furnish limited express service from the Mid-Island Plaza in Hicksville, via the service road of the Long Island Expressway, with stops at Glen Cove Road, Locust Lane, Roslyn Road, Willis Avenue and Lakeville Road.

The Star Bus Company will provide connecting service to Mid-Island from Plainview, Syosset, Jericho, Farmingdale, Massapequa and Bethpage. The Schenck World's Fair buses will also run from Glen Cove, via Sea Cliff, Glenwood Landing and Roslyn along Northern Blvd., serving several communities adjacent to that route. The World's Fair route interconnects with the regular Manorhaven and Port Washington routes served by Schenck. Schenck will also run to the Fair from Roosevelt Field via Mineola, Williston Park, New Hyde Park and Lake Success.

The Hempstead Bus Co. will run daily, non-stop service from the Hempstead Bus Terminal via Clinton Ave. and the Long Island Expressway into the Fair. This service will connect with Star Bus and Checker Bus service from the east into Hempstead.

Bee Line of Rockville Centre will run World's Fair service from Little Main Street, Hempstead, via Hempstead Turnpike, with limited express service into the World's Fair.

Jerusalem Ave. Bus Line is currently working out connecting schedules with the Bee Line and the Hempstead Bus service out of Hempstead to serve riders in the Seaford, Wantagh and Merrick areas.

Because of a Public Service ruling, Bee Line and Schenck Transportation serving the Fair are required to sell only round trip tickets. A Bus Council proposal to offer a free bus ride to riders using buses of the same line to the World's Fair terminal point was knocked out by the P.S.C.

Tops on the Hat Parade

ARTISTIC TOPPERS: Graphic Features Syndicate's art director, Joseph Simon of Woodbury, Long Island, chose the following hats, offered by the millinery industry for 1964, as the bonnets destined to get the most exposure this Spring and Summer.

The oversized breton in straw that is textured to give a tweed effect.

A fisherman profile brim, in stark white textured straw, accents its elegant simplicity of line.

Lightweight and airy, this hat emphasizes the elegance of its wearer.

Understated simplicity of line highlights the easy lines of the season's new clothes.

The shiny look, new in black patent leather, is draped in a chic turban style.

The oversized sailor hat complements bare little dresses for Summer wear.

REV. DOUGLAS MAC DONALD, Lawrence Fitzgerald and Robert McLaughlin (left to right) all of Hicksville, are among the 250 adult volunteers active in the current Y.M.C.A. Capital Fund Campaign to raise $3.6 million for "Y" facilities at seven key locations in Nassau and Suffolk Counties. Here, Rev. Douglas MacDonald points to a plan of the Central Headquarters "Y" building planned for Jericho, which will serve the Hicksville area. The Central Headquarters "Y" will have a swimming pool, a businessmen's health club, various activity rooms, and 50 residence rooms for young men coming into the area to work, to study and to teach.

Little League Plans For Yr.

On April 15, Mr. W. Becker, Supt. of Buildings and Grounds, Mr. J. Madden, Director of Recreation and members of their staff met with officials of the various Hicksville Baseball Leagues. Plans were discussed for the improvement and maintenance of the playing fields for the coming season. Mr. Eaton of the Hicksville American League, voiced the chief concern of all officials when he stated, "Last year the league experienced a 25% increase in accidents, due primarily to the poor conditions of the fields."

Mr. Walter Collins, head custodian, gave assurance that the fields would be in playing condition in time for opening games. Holes will be filled, the fields mowed and graded, and clay distributed around home plate and the pitcher's mound. Mr. Becker stated his department was handicapped by the lack of a power driven steam roller, which he hopes to purchase next year, budget permitting.

League officials asked that a bag of clay be made available at fields where games are scheduled, so that they could fill in obvious holes before game time, and thus reduce the accident hazard.

Rosemary Walsh, Recreation Assistant, presented the schedule regulating the use of the playing fields.

Mr. Madden requested league officials to help implement a campaign of child safety and community courtesy. He stated, "Parents are careless in observing good safety rules when they deliver and pick up their children, also our department receives many complaints concerning excessive car honking, and the unsightly condition of the playing fields after games."

Mr. Becker pledged more litter baskets and frequent waste removal, and league officials expressed their intention to cooperate fully.

Mitch Miller To Perform Here

One thousand Hicksville School children will "sing along with Mitch" Miller on Saturday, April 25 at the Hicksville High School, when the bearded TV star makes a special appearance to lead the student group in Spanish, French and Italian songs as part of an "International Fair" for the benefit of Study, Inc., a recently chartered community wide non-profit organization.

The spectacular choral group will climax the day-long "International Fair" which will also be highlighted by colorful, officially decorated booths, games, refreshments, food and specially imported goods from Spain, France, and Italy, available at bargain prices. The "Fair", which is being planned by Mrs. Vera Vellegas, head of the Foreign Language Dept. will begin at 10 a.m. and end at 5 p.m. 25¢ admission will be charged for children and $1 for adults.

Study, Inc., which is sponsoring the affair, was organized by Hicksville residents to aid students who are part of the foreign language program to study abroad and improve their knowledge of the language and culture of the various countries. This summer, Study, Inc. is planning to send approximately forty students to Spain and France for the month of July. While abroad, the students will be supervised by Hicksville teachers, who will also plan their out-of-school trips to museums, historical areas and national landmarks.

"All the proceeds of the 'Fair' will be used to help finance the considerable expenses involved for transportation and living costs for the students," said Mrs. Blanche Tisman, President of Study Inc. "We are indeed fortunate," she continued; "that we were able to interest Mr. Miller in our work, so that he has agreed to appear without compensation. Other community leaders and groups have been most cooperative, and have agreed to contribute goods and merchandise to the group."

Officers of Study, Inc., include, in addition to Mrs. Tisman, Abraham Fishman, Vice President; Amy Slaff, Treasurer; Marlon Coggoy and Doris Gottlieb, secretaries. Its Advisory Committee includes Donald F. Abt, Supt. of Hicksville schools; Marvin E. Gibson, Administrative Assistant, Hicks. schools; Joseph Catalano, Counsel to the Hicksville Board of Education; Vera Vellegas, Foreign Language Supervisor; Irwin Goldman, President, Hicksville Chamber of Commerce; Henry G. Elsemann, President, Seaman and Elsemann, Inc.;

and Franklin L. Frank and Robert W. Stackler of the Mid Island Shopping Plaza Associates.
