Allen Hears Bruno Suppression Case

The long-awaited hearing of charges of suppressing school information by Supt. of schools Donald F. Abt from School Board Trustee William Bruno Jr. came off in a hearing which lasted one hour and a half Tuesday. No decision was made by Education Commissioner James E. Allen who asked both sides to take two weeks to submit briefs. The essence of the case is that Trustee Bruno claims that Supt. Abt will not give him information on school matters and completely ignores requests. Mr. Abt who answered through school attorney Joseph Catalano said that some of the requests were unreasonable and part of a plan of harrassment.

Bruno, who did not speak at the hearing was represented by Attorney Harry Goebel who said that there are two types of board members: One who takes everything fed to him and the other who searches out things and that Bruno belongs to the latter group. Goebel further pointed out that one of Bruno's searching parties had uncovered piles of paper stored in the district since 1958-59 while new supplies were ordered and that this was the benefit in being the second type of board member.

Other Board members George Jackson and Cornelius McCormack were present at the hearing but on several occasions Commissioner Allen asked them to stick to the subject and cut off some testimony. It is expected that a decision will be handed down in about two months.

Town Bd. Suspends Park Supt. For Conflict

Town Board Majority Leader Edward J. Poulos has announced the immediate suspension from duty of Park Superintendent Peter S. Hussey and the issuance of a request to the Nassau County District Attorney to take over the investigation of Mr. Hussey's close association with the Park and Estates Maintenance Corp. Inc. in what appears to be a conflict of interest and irregularities.

The Majority Leader also announced the issuance of a directive to Park and Estates Maintenance Corp. Inc. calling on them to suspend all contractual park maintenance in effect between The Town and the Corporation pending a determination by the Town Board and the outcome of the District Attorney's investigation and findings.

The Board voted unanimously to approve Majority Leader Poulos' recommendations which were based on an investigation by the Town Comptroller Joseph Macdonlo and Chief Deputy Town Attorney Bernard McCatirey commencing in February at Poulos' request.

According to the Town Board the investigation disclosed a relationship between the Park Superintendent and the Park and Estates Maintenance Corp. Inc. which showed not only improvident judgment on the part of Mr. Hussey but also the

Composes Own Choral Selection

Lance Petrarca, a student at the Hicksville Junior High School, and a member of the 9th Grade Mixed Chorus, directed by Miss Florence Bowman, composed a choral selection which was sung by the chorus on May 8, during Music Week. Lance has been a member of selective vocal groups all through his junior high school career. He is now a member of the Augmented Ninths, a selective 9th grade ensemble. He also was one of the students chosen to represent the school in the NMEA County Chorus which performed in Merriok, L.I., in March 1964 and at the World's Fair on May 19, 1964.

Although Lance has never taken lessons in theory and very few lessons on the piano, he shows great musical ability and great promise for future endeavors in the music world.

Senior Citizens Make Plans

The Senior Citizens' Club of Bethpage held its regular meeting, Thursday, May 21 in The American Legion Hall on Washington Street. It was the usual Birthday Party for all members born in this month. It was made especially festive in honor of Mrs. Zadi Bridges, by her daughter's contribution of lovely pink plates, napkins and cups, and a big birthday cake. Another members whose birthday followed soon, bought also delicious filled cookies, made by her daughter. This member was Mrs. Tille Spector.

A large table was well filled with articles made by the club members, to be put on display at the Hobby Show at Roosevelt Field, on Saturday, the 23rd. These ranged from large oil paintings and aprons beautifully made to small crocheted articles of unusually fine work. After this show it is planned to hold an Open House to exhibit these things to the residents of Bethpage.

The next meeting will be Thursday, the 28th as a luncheon at the new Chinese Restaurant, Tung Hing, in the Bohack Shopping Center on Stewart Ave., Bethpage.

Several new members have joined recently and more will be welcome. Call Eileen McLoughlin, QE 3-4694.

Legion Fetes Memorial Day

By Archie McCord Post No. 86

Americans across the nation will pay reverent homage on May 30 to those men and women who, having served their Country in time of war, now lie in restful sleep in cemeteries all over the world.

On this Memorial Day we will again pause to remember and honor them. It should be not just a day of remembrance however, but one in which we rededicate ourselves to those high ideals upon which our Nation was founded.

Our Country has been defended with the valor and determination of those gallant fighting men who endured the hardships and privation of bloody conflict in order that it may stand as a bulwark of freedom and democracy.

Today, the very foundations upon which our Nation was founded continue to be endangered.

Let us remember, then, on this Memorial Day, that the struggle in which our soldiers died has not yet been won and we must by concentrated devotion, endeavor to uphold and defend those high ideals for which they gave their lives.

Archie McCord Post #86 The American Legion urges all readers and their families to renew this endeavor by joining in the Memorial Day ceremonies to be held in Bethpage.

At 8:30 a.m. Memorial Service to be held at the Plainedge Baptist Church located on Stewart Ave., south of Hempstead Tpke. At 9:30 a.m. Assembly for parade, vicinity Stewart Avenue and Old Motor Pkway., proceeding north to the John F. Kennedy Jr. High School on Broadway where a Memorial Service will be held. Many veterans organizations, civic and religious groups will participate in the parade and the Memorial Service.

"Please Fly An American Flag on This Memorial Day"

MRS. JOAN R. SULLIVAN, a Levittown housewife, has been chosen by the National Goldwater for President Committee to seek election as an alternate delegate to the Republican National Convention.

She hopes to be elected in the Republican primary on June 2 as one of the representatives of the 4th Congressional District at the convention, which is scheduled for July in San Francisco. Her running mates, also pledged to support Senator Goldwater, are Vincent J. Walsh of Garden City and James P. Healy of Wantagh, both of whom are running as delegates, and Daniel F. O'Hara of Floral Park, who also seeks election as an alternate.

AN AREA CANDIDATE for the degree of Bachelor of Arts is: Miss Joanne C. Boglioli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Boglioli, 376 Newbridge Road, Hicksville. Miss Boglioli was active in Dormitory Orientation, Sports Club, Glee Club and was in a number of student productions.

strong possibility of a conflict of interest.

In addition, the investigation disclosed that G.A.R. Specialists, Inc., a firm headed by Mr. Hussey, installed playground and gymnasium equipment for companies who have been successful bidders for the supplying of equipment to the Town of Oyster Bay and its various Park Districts. Between August 1963 and March 1964 G.A.R. Specialists, Inc., (Hussey's firm) submitted ten invoices, billing E. Parker Yutzler, Inc., a playground distributor company, and successful bidder for work performed installing playground equipment. The G.A.R. billing to Yutzler covering these ten invoices approximates $2,100.00.

It is the Board's feeling that any further investigation of these associations and relationships between Mr. Hussey and Park and Estates Maintenance Corp. Inc. and E. Parker Yutzler, Inc. are a proper matter for the District Attorney. The Board has decided to immediately turn over all records to the District Attorney and stands ready to assist him in every way possible to reach a determination of this matter that will be in the best interests of the Town.

THINKING IT OVER

By Robert L. Morgan

In this great country of ours Memorial Day year by year takes on a change in meaning.

Memorial Day is now turning into a gay holiday, a long weekend for enjoyment. It is a time for the pacifists to sprinkle in thoughts that we need never have more Memorial Days because by making peace concessions to our enemies we will in turn attain peace.

Memorial Day cannot mean much to the students in Wheatley High School who did not feel inclined to even honor the flag which so many other boys not much older than they are died for. But the changing fad in the country is now to dishonor the military, down with armament and hail to those who preach peaceful surrender.

In recent years even the veterans groups have been ridiculed and berated, not for the highjinks, which might well rate a slap on the wrist or for the fakery who sometimes find their way into the organizations, but for the idea that these groups stand for respect and honor to the symbols of a nation that has prospered and existed through the sacrifices of those who responded to patriotism.

Let us hope that the outward manifestations of a decaying patriotism -- not built on flag waving -- are false. Let's hope that if the time comes that the country must defend again that the present apathy will give way to patriotism. Most veterans do not advocate war or hostility, but they know from history it can more easily come through displaying weakness to those who are our enemies than in displaying strength.

Those who can recall the beginnings of the Second World War recall only too vividly the high hopes of appeasement of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain and the impetus his seemingly weak approach gave the German commanders. The war and the road to victory were not made easier by these peace overtures. It was harder.

So speak of peace, and disarmament on Memorial Day and enjoy the holiday but let's not think that veterans groups and people who call for patriotism and love of country are relics of the past. The country might not have had a past if others had believed this.

Whatever Happened To Nelson Rockefeller?

By Russell Kirk

IN CALIFORNIA, A PROFESSIONAL campaign worker for Governor Rockefeller has been charged with a series of armed robberies. This small incident may suggest something that is vitally wrong with Mr. Rockefeller's drive for the Presidential nomination.

The Governor of New York has not lacked for money, pouring more than $500,000 into the Oregon primary, and over $2,000,000 into California (this last figure being more than quadruple the Goldwater expenditure). But he has lacked woefully for volunteers, and so has had to hire, or ally himself with, some most peculiar characters. And the public seems to be judging Mr. Rockefeller by the company he keeps.

In New Hampshire and Michigan, Rockefeller's most conspicuous backer was none other than Jimmie Hoffa, convicted of attempting to suborn a jury, and accused by a government witness of conspiring to murder Attorney-General Kennedy. This curious alliance of the labor racketeer with the billionaire won few votes. At Governor Rockefeller's last appearance in Detroit, Hoffa ordered his Teamsters to turn out in squadrons to applaud the New Yorker; but few of them obeyed, and not many other citizens were interested.

In California, before Senator Kuchel assumed management of the Rockefeller campaign, Mr. Fred Hall, former Governor of Kansas, led the Rockefeller forces. Mr. Hall is now running for the Republican senatorial nomination in California, aligned with the Rockefeller Presidential candidacy.

Mr. Hall's political record is unattractive. While Governor of Kansas, he was threatened with impeachment by Republican legislators, in consequence of scandals concerning contracts for painting the line down the middle of highways. He was overwhelmingly defeated in the 1956 primary, when he tried for renomination. On shaking the dust of Kansas from his feet and departing for the green pastures of California, Hall is said to have declared that he would return as President of the United States. Since then, he has been in boiling water with the Internal Revenue Service, which challenged his income-tax returns; and a "bagman," in a Kansas trial, testified under oath last year that he collected bribe-money to secure the release of imprisoned criminals, in the expectation of making a deal with the Hall administration.

Closer to home, Mr. Judson Morehouse, former Republican chairman of New York (selected for that office by Mr. Rockefeller) resigned his chairmanship and his state jobs when charged with corruption. And the related state liquor commission scandals continue to plague Mr. Rockefeller.

So there's much that money can't buy -- good repute, for instance. Governor Rockefeller himself is far above the temptations that are said to have assailed Hall and Morehouse; and he doesn't employ the drastic tactics of the Teamsters' boss. But the public naturally raises its eyebrows at such adherents.

In Texas, Mr. Rockefeller won only a few hundred more votes than did Mr. Harold Stassen. He, too, seems to be sliding into the limbo of forgotten candidates. One big reason for this descent has been Rockefeller's inability to obtain the endorsement of many men of integrity.

for the Hicksville schools was a featured speaker of the recent education conference held at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn. Dr. Rouse addressed the alumni of the Master of Arts in Teaching program. He spoke on new advances in the teaching of literature and composition.

Good Movies For Education

Mr. Rodney T. Schabel, Principal of Good Shepherd Lutheran School, Plainview, gave his students a glimpse of film making last week. A group of twelve students selected by lot from a double cast, presented the play "Heidi" for a third time last Saturday morning. With two zoom lens, 8 mm. cameras borrowed from Mr. Dalton and Mr. Hansson of Plainview, Mr. Schabel filmed the play "Heidi" and recorded it with the aid of Mr. J. Rothfuss, teacher of grade five at Good Shepherd, Miss Patricia Witthoft, who directed the play, also applied make-up to the neophyte screen stars. The film, which took approximately two and one-half hours to make, will run a little over an hour when shown. Using a stereophonic tape recorder, Mr. Schabel hopes to synchronize sound and action and thus create the first sound movie made by Lutheran students on Long Island.

The purpose Mr. Schabel gave for making a movie, was related as follows: "During my 14 years of teaching, I have participated in the presentation of numerous plays and operettas memorized and performed by children, directed and selflessly worked on by teachers and parents, and appreciated for a moment by a limited audience. Having recorded the sound of such presentations in the past, I am just beginning to appreciate their value as a tool to motivate and educate children. I believe that children who see the possibility of having their own voices and actions recorded for all time, will be highly motivated to improve their enunciation and pronunciation of words, as well as their posture."

"There are other educational benefits also. The cast to whom the lot fell rejoiced at the prospect of being in a film; but few students, at that moment realized the work involved. Acting is work, and acting before a critical camera and sound man is not only more difficult than acting before a live audience but also less satisfying at the moment; and if not done well, it holds the threat of disappointment when viewed in the future."

"It has been said, if we could only see ourselves as others see us. As an educator, interested in improving people, I feel that a sound movie is another means of taking a step in that direction. I can explain to a child the benefits of proper posture to his health and appearance, but the lesson is seldom learned for long. Through the experience of a sound movie I need not say a word about posture or voice and the lesson is learned and long remembered.

Last year the children presented the operetta "The Emperor's Nightingale" and "Hansel and Gretel" the year before that. The children made an excellent presentation both times. Many of them have graduated from our school but on occasion, have returned to hear their performance on our tape recorder. I can't help but feel that this year's cast will hear and view themselves more often and with more pleasure than the casts of the past - and perhaps become a bit better person because of it."

The play "Heidi" was presented to live audiences on May 14 and 15 in the auditorium of Good Shepherd Lutheran School Plainview. The cast for the movie was selected by lot. The children so chosen were as follows: Heidi, Bonnie Dressler; The Alm Uncle, Raymond Andersen; Goat Peter, Rudy Pekarek; Dete, Robin Snow; Mrs. Seseman, Janet Bischoff; Mrs. Rottemeier, Diane Hansson; Klara, Karen Riley; Dr. Classen, Douglas Cornwell; The Professor, Paul Hirsch; Tonette, Barbara Sandgren; Sebastian, Chris Kopf; Brigitte, Elin Larson; Barbel, Diane Tappen; The Grandmother, Carla Haushchildt.

Twin Brothers Spark Air Force

Two rookie ballplayers from Nassau County represent vital bench support on the powerful Air Force Academy baseball team, as it enters the NCAA playoffs that culminate in the 'college World Series'. They are twin brothers Dick and Bob Guido, who learned their baseball in the Plainedge Little League, and were members of the freshman ball team at Plainedge High School.

Playing with a team rated one of the strongest college squads in the nation, the cadet brothers have added strength 'down the middle', as auxiliary pitcher and catcher respectively. Air Force sports a 20-3 record in regular season play, with a team batting average of .344. Last year, the Air Force Falcons won the national intercollegiate team batting title with a .328 mark.

Catcher Bob Guido, who can pitch strikes to second base, finished his first varsity season with a .500 batting average. This has made the youngster the butt of jibes from the veterans - many of whom have hit in the .400's throughout the season. Pitcher Dick Guido, a hard throwing right hander who won his only start this season, has been used mainly in relief.

Colonel Connie Sparks, Air Force baseball coach, has indicated that the twin battery will see frequent action next season. In addition to playing varsity ball, the two brothers score well in the classroom, where both have been named to the Deans List.

East Is East And Vest Is Vest

Recently when I was strolling through Mineola's halls of justice, just as I always do, a witness (I could tell he was a witness by the "I swear to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but" cast to his eye) sauntered up to me and said: "Do you mean to say you're actually ALLOWED to wear that red vest in the court house?"

I glanced down at my pectoral region. I had quite forgotten that my scrawny chest was bedecked by the crimson vest that I had ever laid a sartorially hungry eye on.

"What's wrong with wearing a red vest in the court house?" I asked. "Is it your contention that only vestrymen may wear red vests?"

"Come to think of it," I continued, as my interrogator appeared slightly taken aback by the effrontery of my counterquestion, "have you ever seen a red-vested vestryman? They're very rare birds, you know; only two or three in captivity."

This particular citizen wasn't in the mood for tomfoolery. "It seems to me," he said a bit huffily, "that you public servants should dress more conservatively, especially in a court room. 'You're right,' I said disarmingly, "but court room attire is always a problem."

To bolster that observation, I told him about the court officer who booted a youngster wearing a bright red-and-white sweater out of court, only to find it was the judge's son. Next I regaled him with the tale of the woman who came to court in shorts. "Ordinarily a woman in such outrageous disrobement would have been ejected immediately," I said. "But this particular woman happened to have dimpled knees. They saved her. Dimpled knees will do it every time."

"I still think," my inquisitor persisted, "that the clothing of court people should complement, rather than clash, with that worn by the court."

"Don't let those black robes fool you," I said. "One judge I know used to wear a bright blue tie with orange polka dots underneath his robe. It was a Christmas gift, and in wearing it he was actually obeying a mandate of his wife. She overruled him more often than the Appellate Division."

"Another judge wore a gorgeous lavender tie under his black robe. He justified it by saying it made him feel more comfortable when spouting purple prose."

My hearer seemed more attentive than the average juror, so I told him about the witness who took the stand in overalls, all splashed with paint. He was sworn in, gave his name and address, and then the judge asked him why he came to the court dressed so sloppily.

"I can't help it, Judge," the man answered. "I was up on a ladder painting a house two stories high when this fellow climbs up behind me, hands me a subpoena, and says, 'You've got to come to court right away. You're our next witness.'"

"I guess people do sometimes have problems in dressing tastefully before appearing in court," my critic conceded.

"Sure they do," I said. "One day I walked into a court stenographer's room and found him to be totally unaware of the fact that he was wearing a black sock on one foot and a white sock on the other."

"I see you're integrating your socks lately," I said. "Good thinking, what with all these intergration troubles going on."

"'Holy cow,' he said, sheepishly, 'I dressed in the dark this morning so as not to wake the wife and didn't realize the socks were different colors!'"

"So you see," I continued, "it isn't really fair to dress down anyone for his court room attire until all the evidence is in."

As a clincher, I told him about the time only a skeleton staff was called in because of a holiday. "One fellow didn't show up. Instead, he sent a telegram which read: 'Absolutely can't be part of skeleton staff today. Reason: I'd catch cold walking around in my bones.'"

The member of the public gave me a queer look. "Some very odd people work in the courts," he said. "No wonder they wear red vests!"

Letters

To the Editor:

Students in the Hicksville High School have shown they want God back in our schools. They feel He deserves more than the silent treatment. They've shown it in the only way they could to let everyone know how they feel. They've also shown that they have a conscience about what happened in Wheatley Hills High School and have told us in no uncertain terms that they DO NOT want that to happen here. They've taken it upon themselves to teach others younger and OLDER than they are, that what is slowly happening in many Long Island communities DOES affect them. Our young people are concerned. Our young people want something done. They have spoken. How about the rest of us; parents, taxpayers and citizens of Hicksville? We have been led to that which far surpasses silly emotionalism.. we have been led by youngsters to the moment of truth.

High school people aren't a bunch of babes.

They have good minds. They do have values. They know right from wrong. They know injustice when they see it and they can detect a threat to morality in their district. Give them credit. They are not asleep and satisfied with a way of life which is slowly stealing their individual God-given rights and duties which go along with those rights. The future taxpayers and citizens of this country have not been afraid to make their voice of conscience speak aloud. Let's not allow their voice to fade and die. They are justly concerned for their future and that of their children to come. We must not permit their expression of courage and truth to be in vain. With believing hearts they've demonstrated an integrity of life and this must not be lightly cast aside. Believing hearts and integrity of life is the stuff of which loyal Americans are made. God bless them all the days of their life! May He give us the courage He gave to them.

Margaret Sartor

Civic Assn. Helps Scholars

The Plainview - Old Bethpage Scholarship Fund has received a donation from the Plainview Civic Association. Mr. Crosby Collura, Treasurer of the Civic Association, which has recently been terminated, presented to Mrs. Julia Rothstein, President of the Scholarship Fund, a check representing the balance of funds in the Associations' treasury. This contribution will aid the community effort to continue to provide scholarships toward a college education for scholastically deserving Plainview-Old Bethpage High School graduates.

On Wednesday and Thursday evenings, June 3 and 4, at the Plainview - Old Bethpage High School, another contribution will be made; this one, an offering of time and talent by a number of parents, faculty members and students who will appear in an original revue "Sound Off!" Those in the cast, many of whom have appeared in previous scholarship plays, are well aware of the importance of providing financial tools to outstanding students who desire to continue their education. Educators, today, agree on the importance of the proper educational background in developing a young person's native abilities. A college education, in our highly technical society, is not a privilege, but a necessity in preparing one to make his fullest contribution to that society, and to meet all its challenges.

Even one scientist, educator or lawyer; one nurse or doctor, artist or musician, who may benefit from your contribution today, may through his contribution of work and ability, provide for you, a better tomorrow! Join the people of Plainview - Old Bethpage on June 3 and 4. While your senses enjoy the delightful presentation on stage, you will, along with every member of this production be translating faith into reality. For ticket information call Mrs. Julia Rothstein, OV 1 - 4515 Contribution $1.50.

JUDGE JOSEPH P. LEBKUECHER (right), former District Court Judge of Nassau County, passes on to his son-in-law, newly appointed County Court Judge Michael M. D'Auria, the judicial robes worn by Judge Lebkuecher prior to his retirement in 1955.

THANKS! Mrs. William G. Kane, wife of the retiring president (left) of the Oil Heat Institute of Long Island, receives the gratitude of the Institute's first president, Patrick F. Caputo, for sharing her spouse with the Institute during his two one-year terms as head of the 225 member Nassau-Suffolk group. Mr. & Mrs. Kane, who live at 27 Orlofe Way, Huntington Station, were presented with gifts at the OHILI Annual Installation Dinner last Saturday evening. Mr. Kane is vice president of Lewis Oil Co., Port Washington. He became Chairman of the OHILI Board, on retiring from the presidency. Mr. Caputo is president of Rite Fuel, Hicksville. OSENENKO UKRAINIAN FOLK DANCERS performed Tuesday at the New York State Pavilion at the Worlds Fair. The Group, sponsored by St. Vladimir's Ukrainian Church of Hempstead, performed to a capacity crowd and amazed everyone with their agility and precision. Local children who are members of the troupe and performed are: Susan Lates of Hicksville, Alexis Seredieck of Syosset, Chris and Barbara Gural of Jericho and Andrea Marcisevich of Levittown. The authentic colorful Ukrainian costumes all hand made, delighted and entranced the audience. The Group which has also appeared on television, performed first at 10:30 a.m. to a capacity crowd and by the second performance at 3 p.m. the word had spread through the fair and some viewers were turned away, since the pavilion was filled to capacity. ## Music Festival By Rec. Dept.

The Hicksville Recreation Department will present a Community Festival of Music during the second week of June. Featured will be the Hicksville Community Symphony Orchestra, the Hicksville Community Chorus and the Hicksville Folk Singers.

The Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Charles F. Gouse, will have as guest soloist, Morton Estrin, well-known teacher and concert pianist. He will play Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto No. 1 with the orchestra. Among other works to be performed will be the first movement of "Metamorphosis: Concerto for Orchestra" by the Long Island composer, Franz Roehman. This Concert will be presented on Sunday, June 7, at 3:00 PM in the auditorium of the Hicksville Senior High School.

William Goleeke will conduct the Hicksville Community Chorus in their annual Spring 'Pops' Concert on the following Tuesday evening, June 9, at 8:30. This program will be in the Hicksville Junior High School auditorium. Featured will be selections from the musical comedy "Guys and Dolls," with Albert Bevan narrating.

The last presentation of the Festival will be a Folk Music Concert, directed by Charles Arnold. The performers from the "Hootenannys" will give highlights from past shows on Saturday, June 13, at 8:30 PM, in the Hicksville Senior High School auditorium.

The entire Community is invited to attend these Concerts and, as usual, there will be no admission fees.

Set-ups will be available. A television set will be raffled off and a basket of cheer will be given as a door prize.

Senior Work At Library

The Mid-Island Plaza Art League is presenting an evening of theatre at the Hicksville Library on May 29, Thursday night. The classes are under the direction of Mrs. Beverly Bogen. Admission is free. Performance is at 8 p.m.

Kiwanis Team In Mack Leag.

Bethpage, charter member and one of the organizers of the Long Island Connie Mack League, will again field a team in the league's "A" Division. The L.I.C.M. operates both an "A" and "B" Division with each division divided into an Eastern and a Western Section. Bethpage has again been assigned to the Eastern Division along with Levittown, Massapequa Coast, Massapequa, Central Nassau, Garden City, Merrick, Farmingdale, Baldwin and Plainview.

The team, known as the Bethpage Eagles, will be sponsored by the Bethpage Kiwanis, and will be managed by Mike Verderosa for the 4th consecutive year.

The Eagles should do well in the hitting department with Pete Schaaf and Al Miranda, both long ball hitters who swing from the left side of the plate, and Jim Carollo, Rick Leek, Mike Miranda, George Dunn, Jerry Sardelli and Bill Nugent, all righty swingers who hit with authority last year.

The pitching staff appears to be well set with Charlie Caronia, Greg Hebert and Rick Leek returning from last year and Ron Hayden, a newcomer to the staff, up from last year's Metropolitan Area Colt League Champions. The catching department will be ably handled by Mike Miranda and Bill Nugent both holdovers from 1963.

Rounding out the team will be Ferd Amedola, Paul Stehen, Marty Tocci, Jimmie Smith and Charlie Kuckicki. Several other fine ballplayers have signified their intention to play but have not submitted birth certificates without which it is impossible to register them as members of the league.

The Schedule - Home (At Bethpage H.S.) June 7 Levittown 2 P.M., June 21 Merrick 1 P.M., July 12 Garden City 1 pm July 19 Baldwin 1 P.M., Aug. 2 Massapequa Coast 1 P.M., AWAY - June 14 Farmingdale at Bethpage State Park 1 P.M., June 28 at Plainview 1 P.M., July 5 at Levittown 2 P.M., July 26 at Massapequa 1 P.M., Aug. 9 Central Nassau at Salisbury Park 1 P.M.

All dates are double-headers except Levittown.
