THINKING IT OVER

by ROBERT L. MORGAN

The Hicksville School Board is trying a desperate, but foolish attempt, to correct through a public relations drive the poor image it has in the community.

We say it is a foolish attempt because the Board is trying to disregard the basic reason it has a poor image which is that it is a poor board, and until this basic defect is corrected the image won't change one iota.

So where a public relations drive elsewhere can help to clear up an image for a group that has been misrepresented, we are afraid that the image of the Hicksville School Board must await an internal change.

The Board could do something about changing itself and thereby changing its image.

One place to start would be in its attitude towards the public. Presently the Board considers the public (the taxpayer that is) an intruder, someone they have to put up with. People attempting to be heard by the Board are kept waiting for hours while the Board bumbles on with all types of nonsense work. The Board should immediately change its agenda scheduling to allow the public to be heard early in the evening. It should moreover invite questions from the public, even going so far as to have an open night for a gripe and suggestion meeting with the public.

Another place the Board should stop doing wrong and start doing right is in its attitude towards the teachers. They should be invited to at least one Board meeting a year to give open suggestions on what might be improved or changed in the district, and the public once again should be tuned in on the session.

Then too, the Board must be made up of members who can understand criticism. Members must not be so immature that they answer criticism with censorship, or attempted censorship, and if this happens the rest of the Board should set the offending member straight.

These are just a few ways the Board can better its image, by changing the facts, but we doubt that the present project of a public relations campaign aimed at changing black into white will fool many people in Hicksville.

Careful Planning Aids Bed-Wetter

By C. A. Dean, M.D.

MEDITORIAL: Every manner and form of treatment for bed-wetting has been tried, some with, some without scientific basis. Regardless, I'm sure, both sufferers and parents would welcome any effective form of treatment. Presently there is no one satisfactory treatment, but there are some principles which are important and may help.

During infancy, voiding is an automatic function. About age 1 or 2, a child becomes capable of holding the urine at least for brief periods. At this time the child learns how to start and stop urination. The bladder, small at first, then begins to enlarge so that by age 3 to 5 it can, or should hold, 10 to 12 ounces. If capacity is less than this the child won't be able to hold urine overnight. Also, if the final and hardest step in urinary control -- the ability to start urination -- isn't mastered, bed-wetting will result.

Thus, increasing bladder capacity should stop or cure bed-wetting. This has been tried and shown effective in some cases. Restricting fluid intake, waking the child at night, rewards and punishments do not enlarge the bladder and so have no place in treatment.

If a child is mature enough to cooperate and the parents are interested, simple training may eliminate the bed-wetting problem. At first, for a few days, a chart of fluid intake, time and amount of urination is kept. If the average amount of urine is less than 8 ounces, capacity is insufficient. The child is then told to increase fluids and hold the urine as long as possible before urination. In this fashion bladder capacity can be increased to satisfactory levels within 3 to 6 months.

In Defense Of America's Holy Places

By Russell Kirk

According to Soviet propagandists, Americans worship only the dollar. Too often, we seem bent on proving the Communists correct. Any culture worthy of the name recognizes certain places as holy, or almost holy, and protects them from desecration -- except, apparently, the American culture, along with the Soviet culture.

American history has known little of true sanctity; still, we have been one people under God, and ought to venerate and preserve certain spots and buildings and even communities where events of some spiritual meaning have occurred. In its place, the profit-motive is a very good thing -- but not in sacred places. God is no real-estate promoter, though real-estate agents may be religious men.

I am told that the only papally-recognized miracle to have occurred in these United States took place in Memphis, in 1903, at the Convent of the Good Shepherd. There, Mary Hodges, suffering from apparently incurable cancer and the brink of death, amazingly recovered after intense prayer by the nuns, and lived 25 years longer. In 1933, Pope Pius XI pronounced this even to have been a miracle.

In probably any other Christian country -- or, for that matter, in Moslem or Buddhist lands -- believers in the faith would zealously preserve the site of a miracle in perpetuity. But what has happened to the Convent of the Good Shepherd? Why, it was demolished late this June -- to make way for a shopping center! A new convent will be completed on another site, and I trust that the nuns received a decent price for their land. Yet this commentator remains astounded that the place where a miracle happened -- a site unique in the whole country -- has been converted to commercial uses, and every sign of it effaced, without furious protest.

Also there is a sort of holiness to be discerned in unspoilt natural beauty, displaying the glory of divine creation. We Americans have a remarkable talent for making scarce such places, where the sacred seems to have peculiar claims.

One spot which, until now we have protected from commercializers and reckless motorists is Mackinac Island, between the lower and upper peninsulas of Michigan: both because of its historical associations and monuments, and because of its silent and brooding wild loveliness. We have kept out the cars, yet; but now we are about to bring in the big planes, and hideously scar the forest -- almost cutting the little island in two -- by a vast enlargement of the airport.

Mackinac Island has been a real sanctuary for those who love quiet and natural harmony. The big new airport would amount to the beginning of the end of this rare sanctuary. Who would profit from desecration? Why, chiefly that equivocal movement called Moral Rearmament, which has its American headquarters at Mackinac. For thus the MRA agents could fly into Mackinac Island, with greater ease, in commercial planes, the rich old ladies who furnish the sinews of war -- cash, chum -- for this braggart "ideology." The quasi-religious peace of Mackinac Island would be sacrificed to the ambition of a clique of pseudo-religious promoters -- and the profit of contractors. Some island residents are making a last-ditch fight in the federal courts against this folly, but without much hope.

In the fullness of time, a people who submit to the profanation of their holy places will find themselves in the hands of an angry God. When no place remains sacred, our dollars and our creature comforts soon prove to be dust and ashes.

Charges Fly As Abt Wins Raise

By Edward J. Van Allen

Despite charges of "collusion" and of the "wining and dining" and "wooing" of some Board members at an upstate motel owned by Superintendent of Schools Donald F. Abt, the six-to-one majority of the Hicksville School Board last Friday night pushed through a new five-year employment contract for Abt which will give him an escalating pay scale of $23,000 to $26,000 a year in the first four years.

with the last year of the contract open to renegotiation, presumably upward. Abt's old five-year contract would have expired June 30, 1966. His new contract expires June 30, 1969, but is retroactive to July 1, 1964.

Some of the Board members affected an attitude of open defiance in face of charges that they have been "wined and dined."

at Abt's motel, in Beekman, New York. For all that, it sounded a bit like true-confession night at the Hicksville School Board as Trustees Irving Lawrence and Herbert Johnson answered the charges.

Said Lawrence: "My recollection is that about a year ago all the Board members got invitations to go to -- I don't know whether you call it a motel -- sometime after Labor Day, as guests of Mr. Abt." He went on to say he was there, and Trustees George Kunz and Johnsen were there.

He said he couldn't recall whether Trustee Neil McCormack was there, but that Trustees George Jackson and William A. Bruno, Jr. were not there. Later, Lawrence, said: "I would like to touch before getting to the other point a point that one of the chief assassins of education just made."

When Bruno demanded that Lawrence identify the person he was talking about, Board President Kunz ruled out the statement and said: "The statement is withdrawn."

Lawrence then went on to say he had given "dishes" to the superintendent of schools "because we felt that they might be able to use them up there."

When taxpayer Harry Wagner asked, "Is that because he (Abt) is so underpaid?", Lawrence said: "I don't know what you're saying, Harry."

In response to demands by Bruno that the school attorney rule on the legality of the gift-giving, school attorney Joseph Catalano said he didn't see anything up to that point that "would indicate any possible conflict of interest."

Trustee Johnsen said: "I have enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Abt at his country home. I hope he invites me again. Every time I have gone up there, I have brought a gift for Mr. and Mrs. Abt and their children, and I hope he doesn't ever stop asking me to go because I intend to accept every one of them." Johnsen went on to admit that he has "cut grass--lots of times" at the motel.

The six-man majority beat down several attempts by Bruno to have action deferred on the new five-year contract, effective for two years befor the expiration of the old agreement. Once Bruno asked that the new contract be postponed until Abt becomes a doctor of education. Many of Bruno's motions were not seconded, so it was unnecessary for the Board to vote on them.

A letter was read from an attorney representing Florence Infantino of the Parents and Residents for Better Education. The letter asked for a deferral of action on the contract until the Commissioner of Education could be asked to rule on its legality.

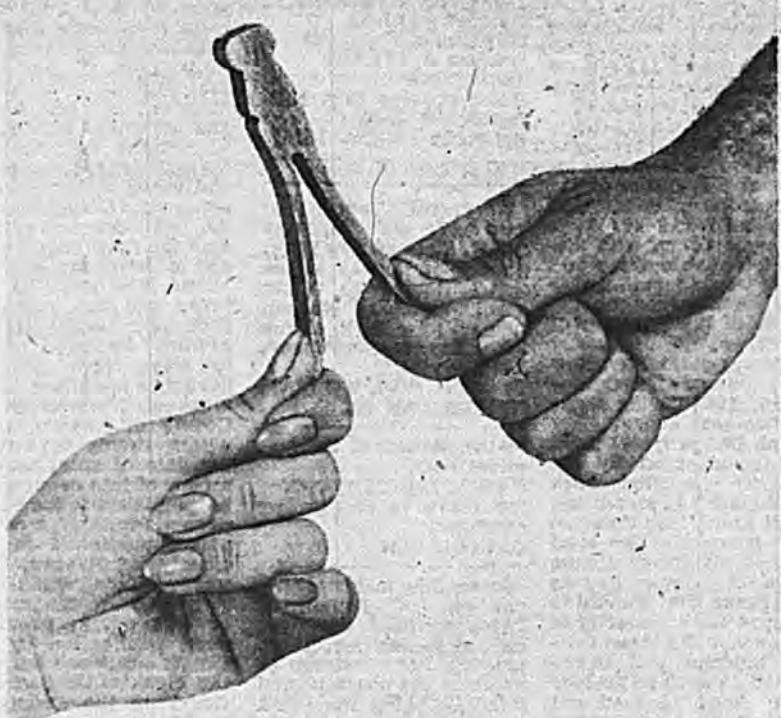

At one point Bruno called for a "public investigation of every member of this present Board of Education" and everyone on the district payroll to see if they were wined and dined and wooed at Mr. Abt's motel."

Later, Abt told Bruno that he should "bring a formal charge against the superintendent pertaining to a conflict of interest" in court and "let the chips fall where they may." He added that Mrs. Infantino could likewise bring such a charge if she chose.

Mrs. Infantino was the one who had made the charge that a Board member had given Abt a set of dishes. Lawrence had prefaced his explanation of the dish-giving charge with the words "one of the chief assassins of education."

Toward the end of the meeting, Mrs. Infantino asked Lawrence if the words were directed towards me." Kunz said the statement had been stricken and withdrawn by Mr. Lawrence. Mrs. Infantino then said: "I don't want to hear any words like that uttered towards me unless you want to stand in court and answer for them."

Significantly, although the motel "wining and dining" and gift-giving charges were pooh-poohed, in effect, by at least some of the participants, neither the majority members of the Board; the man who has won a large salary hike, Superintendent of Schools Donald Abt; nor the school Attorney, for that matter addressed himself or themselves to the larger question: the moral propriety of a public employee's giving and of a public employer's accepting gifts or entertainment from such public employee.

Business Urged To Hold Dec. Mail

Business mailers are urged by Hicksville Postmaster, Irene L. Murphy, to withhold large bulk mailings during the month of December. It is also suggested that heavy mailings of catalogues, calendars and similar Christmas material be scheduled for mailing early in the month of Dec. to avoid delays to Christmas greeting cards and gift parcels. Use of the ZIP Code during the Christmas period will be extremely helpful since the larger offices will be separating by ZIP Code number as well as by post office address.

All patrons are reminded that in order to insure delivery by Christmas time the following schedule should be maintained:

All Christmas mail for Armed Forces overseas - Oct. 21 to Nov. 10.

Gift parcels to distant points - Nov. 29 to Dec. 5; to local and nearby areas - no later than Dec. 14.

Greeting cards to distant States by Dec. 10 and for local delivery by Dec. 15.

As in the past, this Post Office will distribute information concerning Christmas mailing, including window service hours, to all residents in the near future.

Study Meets To Discuss P.R.

A meeting of all parents whose children are participating in the Hicksville foreign language program, will be held at the Hicksville High School cafeteria on Thursday, October 15 at 8 p.m. It was announced today by Blanche Tisman, president of Student Inc.

"The purpose of such meeting is to discuss the financial aspects of the 1965 Summer program for study abroad, and the role that parents and Study must assume in order to insure a successful program for the children", said Mrs. Tisman.

Approximately 75 students are eligible for summer study in Spain, France and Puerto Rico in 1965, according to Mrs. Vera Vilegas, head of Hicksville's foreign language department.

Study Inc., a tax exempt educational organization has undertaken the job of providing the finances to make such an experience possible for the students involved.

Mrs. Tisman called upon all parents to attend the meeting, whose children are studying foreign languages, whether or not they are slated for study abroad in 1965. "This is meant to be a continuing effort, and although your child is not ready for the 1965 program, he may be ready in 1966. We must be sure that Study will be there to aid him then".

SPORTS

by HOWARD FINNEGAN

Hicksville plays Clarke High of South Westbury Saturday, in its annual Homecoming Day game. There is not a single series in the whole forty year history of Hicksville on the gridiron that has wounded the pride of the orange and black more than this one.

For in the concept of the modern day organization this is the big one, and Hicksville has never won it.

The scores have been fingernail ripping, 14-13, 12-0 and 14-13.

Even in losing there has been a high degree of respectability. Clarke is an outstanding football school and in 1962 was the best undefeated team in Nassau County.

The Rams are skilled executioners and seize on each opening as it comes. In the past Hicksville has presented them with the chance -- fumbles inside the five, losing gambles on defensive interceptions and penalties.

Coach Jim Grantham has suffered through these miseries that have wrecked otherwise finely tuned pre-game plans.

This year's team has got to come alive to win this big game and the coach hopes that it is ready.

Hicksville 24, Clarke 13

Four intercepted passes, picked off by Mark Cerone, Lenny Casalimo, Charles Frazier, and Glen Olsen, were dominant in Hicksville's 14-6 victory over MacArthur of Levittown. It was the opening league game for the Orange-and-Black and left it in first place since all other clubs have either tied or lost once.

A small home crowd applauded the alertness of the defenders, but the sputtering attack did not cause much excitement.

In the second period Tom Cara broke into the MacArthur backfield and threw the runner for an 11-yard loss. The ensuing punt only came out to the 37. Quarter Dennis Yastras reeled off 9 yards and Larry Wesolko (15 for 76 yards on the day) picked up a first down with 4 yards.

Yastras pitched out to Steve Schuster and he circled right end for 28 yards and a score. Vince Hoosack plunged for the extra point.

Two passes for 20 and 21 yards sandwiched between a 15-yard piling on penalty against Hicksville got the visitors to within 7-6 at the halftime. It was after the Cerone enveloping of a MacArthur aerial late in the fourth period that Hicksville scored again. Insisting that it be Wesolko, Hicksville had him nudge the ball 27 yards in 8 cracks with the last big nine rattled over left guard and tackle.

Schuster was over for the ep and the Comets were home free.

Hicksville Junior High scored an impressive 21-14 victory over its most feared and respected foe on opening day. Coaches Stan Kellner and Mr. Kingsey had the team ready with a sparkling offense which stunned the tall and heavy Meadowbrook team (East Meadow School District).

All the players were commendable in the rough and sometimes stalking contest. The only regrettable aspect was a shoulder injury to Hicksville quarterback Jimmy Cara which may cost him the season. It happened in the third period while Hicksville was ahead 14-7. The only consoling point for the talented Cara is that he was in long enough to put his school over the top in the really big one.

Artists' Work On Exhibit

Tom Williams of Hicksville and Whit Brown of Plainview, are among 30 artists whose works will be featured in the Fourth Annual Outdoor Art and Craft Show this Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 17 and 18 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Gallery Beyond the Blue Door, 2307 Merrick Road, Merrick. Portrait painting will be demonstrated from 2 to 3 p.m., and art buffs and their children may pose for sketches from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days.

Half Time Shows Coming

For the Hicksville High School Band, Fall means a time of intense preparation for a particular type of performance -- the half-time show.

The problems involved in outdoor playing present many headaches which must be worked out in class and on the field. In order to make each performance an educational experience for the students, precision drilling has been adopted as a means of developing greater coordination, rhythm and teamwork -- three prime requisites for good playing both in and out of doors.

The shows must also have entertainment appeal for the spectators. A theme is chosen, arrangements are written and the combined Sophomore and Junior-Senior bands are drilled in the movements and maneuvers that illustrate the music chosen.

This year's theme is "Kings of Music". Royal musicians represented are Merle Evans (famous circus bandmaster), Benny Goodman (King of Swing), Ludwig von Beethoven (King of the Classics), and the Beatles (Kings of Rock and Roll).

The concert number is an innovation the band feels it is pioneering. Another is the switch to a male Drum Major, Jerry Baldwin, a Senior who plays Baritone Horn in the Concert Band.

The first Half-Time Show on the high school field will be October 10 followed by participation in the Long Island Marching Band Festival Oct. 16 at Hofstra Stadium. Tickets for the festival (adults $1.00, students 50¢) may be obtained from high school band members or by calling the High School Music office.

Little Leag. Meets Oct. 21

Art Hollestein, president of the Hicksville International Little League invites the parents and friends of the league to attend the organization's meeting on October 21 at the "Lion's Den." Refreshments, including beer, will be served without charge. The meeting will combine business with pleasure and it is open to old friends, as well as interested newcomers. The meeting begins promptly at 8:15 p.m.

On the Issues

WHERE I STAND, VS. MY OPPONENT:
THE LIBERAL PARTY - C.L.U. CANDIDATE

Mr OPPONENT is running on the Liberal and Democratic tickets, although he's not a member of either party. I've challenged him: unless he withdraws from the Liberal Party ticket, he must accept as his own the Liberal Party's platform. He has not withdrawn; in fact, he has now appointed as his campaign co-ordinator a Queens carpenter last enrolled as a Liberal. My opponent has made his choice.

LET'S LOOK AT SOME ISSUES. Here's how I stand on them, as opposed to the position of my adversary and his Liberal sponsors:

THE SCHOOL PRAYER AMENDMENT. I have offered a Constitutional amendment permitting recital of a non-compulsory, non-denominational prayer in schools and public places; Americans who wish to acknowledge their God in public as well as in private should have an absolute right to do so. My amendment would make that right a "Constitutional guarantee, without disturbing the rights of others, who may not wish to pray, to keep silent. My opponent (and his [Liberal] Party) are against my prayer amendment.

FORCED "BUSING" AND BREAKUP OF OUR NEIGHBORHOOD SCHOOL SYSTEM I oppose unconditionally, the forced "busing" of children to distant schools for any reason, as well as other efforts to upset our neighborhood school system. I voted for the Civil Rights Act, as well as previous civil rights proposals (some of them my own), but the planned destruction of our neighborhood school system would hurt, not help, the cause of Civil Rights. My opponent's Liberal Party favors "re zoning, district mergers, pairing, transportation and exchange of students"—in short, the breakup of the neighborhood school system.

FEDERAL AID TO EDUCATION: While I do not object to limited Federal construction aid to school systems in dire need, I do not favor massive U.S. grants because the more money you print, the more Federal control must go with it—and I strongly support our traditional local and State control of education.

He was reportedly a recent "goat at one of their rallies," according to the paper.

I am paper to state what I stand. As above I'm for the School Prayer Amendment (C.I.U. opposes it) and for the neighborhood school system (C.I.U. would break it up). I believe the people of the States should decide whether to import (in-house) or their legislatures strictly, on the basis of population (C.I.U. supports the Supreme Court's decree that states must so import). I favor continuation of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, and their exposure of subversive activities of all kinds (C.I.U. would abolish the HUAA). I support the Smith and McCarran Acts to control Communist subversion in the U.S. (C.I.U. wants them repealed). Lastly, I favor restrictions on travel by U.S. Communists abroad, using American passports to pursue their stated goal of burying us (C.I.U. would give them U.S. passports).

IF FEDERAL AID is granted, it must benefit all children, and just those in public schools. Parents of youngsters in private and religious schools now help to pay for our public schools, too; to load them with ever-more-burdensome U. S. taxes, levied for public-school aid.

of our private and religious elementary and high schools. My opponent's Liberal Party favors not only "vast" U.S. aid to public schools only - but also "free" (i.e., tax-paid) public education.

PLEASE CALL ME at MA 7-8825, then MA 7-5532, then MA 7-6772, if you'd like to know my views on other issues. I'll be discussing different ones each week.

177 SOUTH OYSTER BAY ROAD, BETHPAGE

By Edward J. Van Allen
It's The Sir Walter In Me," Raleigh
It Is!

Some years ago, Long Island Rail Road personnel backed up a whole train for the express purpose of rescuing a lady's hat which had misadventurously fallen to the tracks beneath one of the forward cars whence a wayward wind had wafted it after plucking it from the lady's head as she alighted from the train in the Mineola station.

In no time at all the well-trained trainmen tracked down the hat down on the tracks and, in true chivalric fashion, placed it back in the hands of its owner, deliriously happy at having recovered her chapeau.

Some of the more skeptical members of the Fourth Estate (so called, presumably, because many have dead beats) refused to swallow the report until it was confirmed by the railroaders involved. Then the story of chivalry unheard of in the Twentieth Century swept the country, whose grateful citizens heaped praise upon the men who had Sir Walter Raleigh'd a train to retrieve so trifling a thing as a lady's headpiece.

Well, the Long Island Rail Road has nothing on me. I hate to be a braggart, but even my most vehement detractors will readily concur that I'm one of the superbest rescuers of fair maidens in distress who ever rode out of the West. (I've never been west of Brooklyn, but that phrase always SOUNDS good.)

At Random

Take the time I save a girl from a wasp which had settled, unceremoniously and without invitation, on the young lady's coat. I could tell from the malevolent gleam in its beetle-like eyes that it was up to no good. So, evincing the kind of storybook finger I whisked the wispy wasp away. I modestly avoided the maiden's eyes, fully expecting her to fling her arms about me and smother me with kisses for showing courage beyond normal call. While my gaze was thus averted, the wasp, mad as a hornet by now, turned in its flight and stung the rescued maid smack on the tip of the nose!

I don't know whether someone put a bee in that girl's bonnet about me or what. But ever since, she's been snooty as all get out, even waspish, toward me.

I've met with the same kind of unthankfulness at other times, though I don't expect more than mere worshipful adoration as a reward from the distressed maidens I courageously undress.

If Raleigh saved a queen from mud-caked tootsies, I too have done my part in keeping maidens from becoming mudders before their time, especially in the rainy season.

Well do I recall the day I was walking a fair-haired lass named Lillian home in the pouring rain. On an unpaved street, we approached a flood area utterly impossible to ford. I gripped Lillian by the arm. "Just a moment," I said, as the Sir Walter in me waded to the fore. I doffed my coat, laid it across the stream, and said gallantly: "Your humble servant begs you to kindly step across, Milady."

I still remember the look of total surprise as she, my coat, and all disappeared from sight in those muddy waters. But, since I had no fathometer with me, how was I to know the water was that deep? Moreover, to this day I don't know what she's so het up about. After all, didn't I rescue her from the murky waters of that apparently bottomless hole by grasping her long blonde hair before she went down for the third time.

With these two experiences behind me, I'm very selective as to which maidens in distress I'll help henceforth. The chances are if I helped a blind woman across a street, a child in a kiddy car would come along and run her over. Or she'd fall and break an ankle despite the viselike grip I had on her arm.

There's one bit of noblesse oblige I'd like to indulge in, though. My wife always wanted to be an oscar-winning actress. So I'm going to chivalrously change my name to Oscar Shivalree. Thenceforth she can forget about the movies since she will have already won her Oscar.

What chivalry from Shivalree! Methinks the neighbors will point to me and say: "Shivalree's not dead, but it won't be long now!"

DIG THEY MUST -- Volkswagen officials break ground for the new Walters-Donaldson, Inc., authorized VW sales, service and parts facility which will be erected in Plainview at the intersection of Oyster Bay and Woodbury Roads early next year. Front left to right are Richard Skog, the agency's service manager; R. W. Josenhans, director of sales and marketing for World-Wide Automobiles Corp., VW distributors in N.Y., N.J., and Conn.; William Strauss, the dealership's sales manager; co-owners Philip J. Walters and Jack W. Donaldson; and Mr. Walter's father, Fred Walters. Dealership will be one of Volkswagen's largest in Long Island. The firm is presently located at 277 Old Country Road in Hicksville.

Form Plans

The Bethpage Senior Citizen's Club, held its regular meeting Thursday, October 8 in The American Legion Hall, on Washington St. Refreshments were served at one o'clock, followed by a business meeting. Plans were completed for a luncheon trip by bus to the Three Village Tea Room in Stoney Brook, for Thursday, the 15th. There will be no meeting at the Hall. Another trip is being planned to New York for the Christmas show at the Radio City Music Hall.

NEARLY 6,000 FORD MOTOR COMPANY tractor dealers, invited to the largest worldwide dealer meeting ever held by the tractor and equipment industry, met this weekend in New York City to view Ford's completely new line of tractors. Among the dealers attending the meeting was J. C. Scheuer (right) of Malvaise Tractor Co., Inc., Hicksville, greeted by Northeastern District Manager Robert Early.

Final Meeting For Women's Aux.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Hicksville Baseball Assoc., Inc. announces that the final meeting of the 1964 season will be a toy demonstration, following the business meeting, Wednesday evening, Oct. 28 at 8:30 p.m. in Levittown Hall. In keeping with the Christmas season to come it will be a good opportunity to buy toys for the kiddies and avoid the crowds! The demonstration will be presented by Mrs. Terry Valentine. The prices of the toys will range from 98¢ to $5.00. A percentage of the proceeds from the sale of these toys will be given over to the organization.

As there is no meeting in November or December we especially encourage all members to attend and bring a friend. There are still a few openings on the Board that need to be filled. Refreshments will be served following the Toy Demonstration.

areas of educational development.

Letters

October 1, 1964
To the Editor

22 W. Nichols St.,
Hicksville, N.Y.

Dear Sir:

I want to call your attention to what seems to be the latest in a series of misleading releases from Republican candidates. Recently, Rep. Otis Pike had occasion to reveal that his opponent had issued false releases concerning his war record and testifying for the Fire Island bill.

We've all seen notices in the newspapers recently informing us that Rep. James Grover was named "Freshman Congressman of the Week" for the week of September 13. Now let's get to the truth about what it really meant to be chosen that week, or as a matter of fact for any week, by the "88th Club," which accorded him the honor.

It's strange how every single newspaper seems to have "made a mistake" in reporting that the 88th Club was made up of all the members of the 88th Congress. Actually it's just a club of Freshmen Republican Congressmen. Could it possibly be that they were all misinformed?

In Dick West's column in Roll Call, he notes that at least one other Congressman, another Freshman Republican, was appointed "Freshman Congressman of the Week" that same week by the same group. That was Rep. Bob Taft, Jr. of Ohio. I wonder how many more there were that same week?

Still another amusing sidelight is that in that particular week the House of Representatives was in session for a grand total of 136 minutes, in which they sent two bills to conference routinely, took no votes and did nothing else. This means that, sharing the honor with at least one other, Mr. Grover was top boy in Freshmen Republican House circles for a very inactive 68 minutes (and maybe much less.) Truly an event of negative significance, but in addition to the obvious humor of the thing, I resent Mr. Grover's leading his constituents and your readers astray.

Although it all happened a month ago, it was the October 1st issue of Roll Call that carried the item and we received it the end of last week from Rep. Pike, which explains the time lapse.

Yours for the truth,

Edwyn Silberling
Democratic candidate for Congress opposing James Grover.

Alumni Votes

Class Gift

The Hicksville High School Alumni Association voted a $250 Homecoming gift to the Senior Class of 1965. At its monthly meeting, Tuesday night.

This will be the sixth straight presentation of the Board of Governors for the purpose of kicking off the Washington Trip fund. The gift will be presented by Homecoming Chairman, Joseph Naso, at the annual post game alumni reception in the cafeteria immediately after the Clarke football encounter.

At the same time the award for the outstanding player on Homecoming Day will be given under the direction of President John Marion. The football team, the band and the cheerleaders will be the guests of the Association at the reception.

Members of the Alumni will celebrate Homecoming Day at a dance in the Hicksville American Legion starting at 9 p.m. The dance already has the largest advance paid in the association's history.

School Bd.

Members At Conv.

Members of the Hicksville School Board will attend an in-service course for school board members this month when they attend the forty-fifth annual convention of the New York State School Boards in Syracuse on October 25-27.

The local school officials will be among the 4,000 men and women who will be learning how to do their own school board work better by hearing state and nationally known speakers, viewing a sizeable commercial exhibit, conferring with government officials, taking part in the association's business, and rubbing shoulders with the hundreds of other school board members who have been "through the mill" in solving all sorts of school board problems on the local level.

Representing over 800 school districts, these school officials come from all parts of the state annually to take part in the largest school meeting of its kind in the country. This year their activities will be directed toward the theme, "The American Dream Begins in the Classroom".

The following members of the board will attend the Syracuse meeting: George W. Kunz, Herbert H. Johnson, Cornelius J. McCormack and Caleb Hornbostel. In addition, Donald F. Abt, superintendent and Joseph Catalano, attorney will attend.

Burns Supporter

Is Over 89

Although Harry Levey has passed his 89th birthday, he has the interest and energy to take on new duties. His newest is the chairmanship of Citizens for Burns in the Bethpage area.

In the real estate and building business for over 50 years, Mr. Levey is active in Parkway Associates of which he is the owner. Even though his headquarters until 14 years ago was in Manhattan where he was active for many years in the building business including the Times Square area, he is responsible for development of many Long Island communities, among them Babylon, Wyandanch, Lindenhurst, Deer Park and Copiague.

Mr. Levey is a past president of the Bethpage Jewish Community Center and is a member of the Bethpage Chamber of Commerce.

Nick, Petito Dem Guests

The Bethpage Democratic Club is holding its monthly meeting Tues., Oct. 20, at the American Legion Hall on Washington st., Bethpage, at 8 p.m.

The meeting is known as "Meet Your Candidates". Mr. Eugene Nickerson & Michael Petito are the guests speakers.

The club is also holding a Halloween Costume dance on Sat. October 24, and will be held at the same place above mentioned meeting is being held.

Who buys more Savings Bonds?

As statistical-minded as we are today, the Treasury Department can't answer that question.

The Treasury does know that U.S. Savings Bonds are owned by tens of millions of families. So it might be safe to assume that people in every walk of life belong to this "savings club."

This is a happy fact for the United States, and for the free peoples of the earth. For Savings Bond dollars are playing an important role today in the making of history.

This $46 billion reserve in the government's hands is working vigorously to day to help our country in the major struggle to defend freedom.

At the same time, Savings Bonds help build your personal purchasing power by paying good interest and providing a method of saving that's unconditionally safe and readily cashable. And the higher your purchasing power, the better it speaks for our system.

It all adds up to one of the best ways you can save money and at the same time help your country. Start buying Bonds next payday—through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or from any bank—and feel you don't feel pretty good about it.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity.
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, stolen or destroyed.
- You can get your money anytime.
- You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.
