YOU CAN HELP LOCAL CHILD REGAIN LIFE

Democrats Sweep Local Elections

President Lyndon B. Johnson and many Democrats swept into office Tuesday and the results generally weren't even close.

Hicksville went to Johnson 12,261 to 8,995 and the County Executive Eugene Nickerson beat out John Burns in home territory 11,759 to 9,318. In Plainview the Democratic margins were much bigger, Johnson got 9,008 to 3,409 for Goldwater. In the County Executive race Burns lost there 8,370 to 3,765.

But an even bigger defeat for Hicksville was the defeat of Francis Anderson of Hicksville in the County Clerk post by Franklin Ornstein of Long Beach, 299,334 to 294,001. Other upsets included the defeat of Judge Michael D'Auria and Harold Spitzer, and the Republican loss of Henry Curran in the state senate to Kimball.

Local Republicans had few things to cheer about, but one thing was the victory of Ed Fehrenbach of Bethpage, to remain in the Assembly. He beat his opponent Tom Lavan 72,982 to 61,533, but even this was only a small victory because with reapportionment as things now stand Fehrenbach will have to run again next year.

By Edward J. Van Allen

Although they are not the look-alikes identical twins usually are, Shelley and Roslyn Goldmacher, now 11, were normal in every way at birth.

They were normal, that is, until the grim, dark, disastrous day when a virus of indeterminate nature convulsed Shelley's body and destroyed part of her brain. The twins were then only six months old.

Today, because of the damage to the left side of her brain caused by a cerebral hemorrhage and a five hour convulsion, Shelley has been denied the gift of normalcy. Her gait is a trifle awkward; her eyes don't focus properly; and she is, understandably, a bit confused. As a result, she attends a special class in the Hicksville School District.

For long years the cerebral hemorrhage that destroyed probably millions of cells in Shelley's brain also virtually killed off any hope that Mr. and Mrs. Jack Goldmacher, of 5 Edgewood Drive, Hicksville, Shelley's parents, might have had that the child would ever achieve the status of a normal child again. Then they heard that the Institutes for the Achievement of Human Potential at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, were working wonders with many brain-injured children. The Goldmachers promptly hied themselves to Philadelphia where the Institute rekindled the spark of hope that seems a concomitant of the spark of life itself.

The Institutes' verdict after a days-long series of examinations: Though part of Shelley's brain has been irretrievably destroyed, she can still be a well child, a normal child, in possibly only two years, if the parents will have their child undergo the same kind of treatment devised by the Institutes that has performed minor miracles for so many brain-injured children.

What does that treatment consist of in effect, the child reverts to babyhood as she's placed on a table and has her arms, legs and head manipulated to simulate the movements of an infant in the crawling and creeping stage. These "patterning movements," as the Institutes call them, so activate uninjured brain cells as to cause them to take over functions formerly performed by the dead cells in the damaged portion of the brain. Gradually, through this means, the child learns to carry out the patterning movements under her own power.

The Institutes tested their theory and treatment on 76 brain-injured children. In 1960 the results of that test were printed in the Journal of the American Medical Association. They showed that the treatment helped 66 children. There were improvements in walking ability, in hearing, in vision, in manual dexterity. And, despite not having had any speech therapy, 59 percent of the youngsters had begun to learn to talk.

Besides "starting from scratch" by learning to crawl and creep all over again through the body manipulations, Shelley will undergo other treatment supervised by her mother right in her own home. She will wear a mask causing her to breathe in her own carbon dioxide to expand her breathing capacity and to send more oxygen into the brain via the bloodstream. She will undergo word-recognition exercises through the use of flash cards and her sense of touch will be sharpened through tactile exercises by which she will be taught to identify objects merely by feeling them with her hands.

The patterning must be done at least four times a day, five minutes at a time, preferably with a half hour or more between patternings. With an infant, only three persons, two volunteers and the mother, are needed for the manipulations. But with a child of Shelley's size, five persons are needed,

Atomic Energy By 6th Graders

During a discussion in Social Studies, conducted by Mr. Harry Smith, 6th grade teacher at the Dutch Lane School, Hicksville, the topic dealing with the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes was brought before the group. Student Laurence Mottoll became more interested after reading a novel, "Nautilus, Atomic Submarine". This led him to further research into the events leading to the tragedy of U.S.N. to the tragedy of U.S.N.S. submarine. After digestion of the information written in the National Geographic magazine, the following letter was sent by Laurence to the U.S. Department of the Navy.

"My name is Laurence Mottoll and I am 11 years old. Last week when I was looking at the pictures of the wreckage of the Thresher, I got an idea on how to raise the wreckage. An electro magnet or group of electro magnets, suspended on cables and controlled by individual ships could be a possible way to recover the wreckage."

Laurence was further delighted when he received this reply from the Navy Department. "Your interest in the Navy is appreciated. However, your idea is not new to the Navy. Since the Thresher disaster, the Navy has received hundreds of suggestions for raising the submarine.

Only a few suggestions have been useable because of the depth and weight involved. Thank you very much for your interest."

College Notes

Two Hicksville students are members of the Ithaca College Marching Band which performed at three home football games this season. More than 3,000 persons saw the band perform at the Bridgeport game (Oct. 31) when Parents Weekend was observed. Besides giving a program for the spectators between the halves, the band serves as a training unit for the future high school music teachers and band directors.

The Ithaca band members include: NANCY E. GATES, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Gates, 6 Mill Rd., and GREGG SOININEN, 51 1/2 St., Hicksville. Both are enrolled in the School of Music at Ithaca College.

one for each arm and leg and one for the head.

Thus, if Mrs. Goldmacher is to carry out the strict regimen of physical reconditioning called for under the Institutes' brain-revitalizing program, she needs volunteer help on a seven day-a week basis. Shelley must be rethought literally from the ground up by activating or reactivating live brain cells which would otherwise lie dormant.

MRS. SELMA GOLDMACHER, (back to camera) demonstrates how limbs of her daughter Shelley, a brain-injured child, must be manipulated to simulate creeping and crawling in an attempt to have live brain cells take over the functions of dead ones, thereby making the child well again. Roslyn, Shelley's twin, holds her sister's head, while William Semenschin, also of Hicksville, assists.

So far, Mrs. Goldmacher has had many offers of help. She has appealed to the Hicksville Girl Scouts who have promised help; to the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Avoda; they too have promised help; and to Rabbi Louis Stein of Temple Elohim of Old Bethpage, the Temple to which the Goldmachers belong. Rabbi Stein has made a direct letter appeal to other religious leaders for help. A heartening total of 40 to 45 persons have responded to date to all these appeals. But Mrs. Goldmacher says she needs about 100 volunteers plus a few alternates a week. She reasons that if enough volunteers come forward, each person will only have to spend a mere five minutes a week in helping a brain-injured child return to normalcy. Mrs. Goldmacher says she can teach volunteers the body manipulations in a few minutes. The exercises themselves are easy; the time spent on each series, slight.

Those who volunteer have a splendid chance to reap a rich reward: By giving so little of their time each week they will be endeavoring to bring a brain-injured child out of the shadows of abnormality into the bright, sunny world that all normal people know and enjoy.

Mr. and Mrs. Goldmacher can be reached at We 1-5207.

THINKING IT OVER

by ROBERT L. MORGAN

There isn't a great deal to be said about the election results. Some analysts blame it all on Barry. Others attribute it to a strong Presidency. We tend to discount either theory because the voting totals were so diverse that in some cases there was little consistency except in one possible point. The voters believe they are dissatisfied with the Republican Party as it now stands and are reaching for the better things promised by the Democratic candidates. And it was seldom that a Democratic candidate ran for office that he missed a chance to hitch his wagon to the stars promised from Washington.

As for us, rather than be disappointed in the outcome, we are hopeful that we are wrong. We hope that President Johnson will be able to do away with poverty as he promised. We hope that he will give us Medicare that does away with older people being hard pressed for paying doctor bills and we hope he can do it without increasing the tax burden to such an extent that it will put a heavy and needless burden on everyone else. And we hope that he can cut down the victories of Communists in Viet Nam and other places. Apparently most Americans believe President Johnson can do all of these things. We sincerely hope they will not be disillusioned in the next four years.

Bladder Discomfort Requires Examination

By C. A. Dean, M.D.

(Q) "I have had bladder trouble (a burning sensation) for years and medication has not helped. Does it come from constipation, cold feet or spicy foods?"
Mrs. X

(A) Cystitis is the medical term for inflammation of the bladder. Frequency of urination together with varying degrees of distress are the usual symptoms. None of the above mentioned possibilities is the cause of cystitis. Women are more susceptible to cystitis because of stretching of the tissues from childbirth. In all chronic cases, such as yours, examination and treatment by a specialist (urologist) is advised.

MEDITORIAL: Do you smoke rather heavily? Are you nervous more than you should be? Does your stomach bother you at times? If you watch the television commercials you will notice many answers to these questions -- from taking pill A, to drinking beer B or changing over to menthol C.

I have my own solution and I hope a few of you will follow this advice. A surprisingly large number of aches, pains and ills could be cured. I read a statement recently about what to do when you are trying to give up cigarettes and the nicotine fit hits you.

The answer was, "Don't light up, light out -- for a walk." The article went on to advise, "To step out smartly with your head held high." There's no question that to be outdoors a great deal and to enjoy nature is the opposite of smoking. Contrary to the cigarette ads which try to promote smoking with outdoor freshness, inhaling tobacco smoke deeply into the lungs, no matter how much menthol is used as a disguise, is an irritant and not soothing to any delicate membranes.

All those who give up smoking for walking will notice a wake-up feeling far greater than they could have imagined. When your lungs begin to open up after a few weeks of no smoking, your "wind" will improve and your walk will be brisker and longer. Try it and you will see what I mean.

This Big, Mad Country

By Russell Kirk

Is America Real? Sometimes I doubt it. Whizzing from state to state, region to region, one speculates on whether it is true, as Calderon wrote, that "life is a dream, and dreams are dreams."

The other day, I woke up in Oklahoma City, ate a breakfast of ried cornmeal mush, and was transported many miles across farmland to another part of the city (Oklahoma City seems, in area, to be the biggest metropolis of the world, what with having annexed the surrounding countryside), where I lectured on the politics of Edmund Burke to a class at Oklahoma Christian College.

Then I scurried to the airport, whence a jet bore me magically over the enormous deserts and mountains of the Southwest. By 2:15 that afternoon, I was in a taxi heading for a gigantic hotel in Beverly Hills. Reunited there with the beautiful Annette, I toured the astounding campus of the University of California at Los Angeles, where everything is perpetually torn up, and tremendous new educational hives rise up every month.

Before dinner, we dropped in at a rally (Shrine auditorium) of Project Prayer, in support of the Becker Amendment to the Constitution. Thousands of people had gathered to hear Ephram Zimballist Jr., and other Hollywood stars, empty the vials of their wrath upon the Supreme Court for its strange decisions against religious instructions in schools.

With Annette and my California advance-man, Mr. William Christian Longstreth, I dined at El Paseo, in Olvera Street, the last remnant of old Spanish Los Angeles. Stuffed with Mexican food in that old picturesque building, and pleased by the Spanish dancers, we wandered out to buy a Guatemalan skirt and blouse for my wife.

Thence we proceeded by complex nocturnal ways amid the frantic traffic of Los Angeles, to The Fez, where Levantine musicians and dancers made me think I was in Morocco once more. Then back to the sprawling splendors of our hotel, where I set to work, in the wee hours, at Californian lectures on "The Recovery of Norms," "The Future of American Conservatism," "Ghostly Tales," and Lord knows what.

From Oklahoma Christian College to The Fez is an immense way, in space and culture; yet both are of the fabric of America, and enter one's bewildered consciousness in a single day. Old George Santayana, then living in the Convent of the Blue Nuns in Rome; was visited a few years ago by a young writer who told Santayana that he could not abide America, where everything perpetually crumbles and changes. "But if it were not forever changing, I suppose America would be intolerable," Santayana replied.

Will the speed of travel, the centralizing power of government, the unifying influence of big business and big labor, and the standardization of television and radio, soon put an end to the enormous diversity of this land? I fervently hope not. There are many Americas, all the way from my old-fangled little village of Mecosta to the tall glitter of Miami; and, far from being "divisive," our proliferating variety makes our life worth living.

Drainage TOB, On Morgan St.

The town has directed the contractor installing drainage in Morgan St.,

Hickville, to proceed so that the job can be finished on or about December 12. It was announced by Councilman Edward J. Poulos, Board Majority Leader.

Highway Superintendent Norman T. Wolf will supervise the project. It will bring storm water relief to West Nicholas Street, Morgan Street and Underhill Avenue. The project was sponsored on the Board by Councilman A. Carl Grunewald. The contractor is Ralph Jannotta of Roslyn, low bid.

Who buys more Savings Bonds?

As statistical-minded as we are today, the Treasury Department can't answer that question.

The Treasury does know that U.S. Savings Bonds are owned by tens of millions of families. So it might be safe to assume that people in every walk of life belong to this "savings club."

This is a happy fact for the United States, and for the free peoples of the earth. For Savings Bond dollars are playing an important role today in the making of history.

This $46 billion reserve in the government's hands is working vigorously today to help our country in the major struggle to defend freedom.

At the same time, Savings Bonds help build your personal purchasing power by paying good interest and providing a method of saving that's unconditionally safe and readily cashable. And the higher your purchasing power, the better it speaks for our system.

It all adds up to one of the best ways you can save money and at the same time help your country. Start buying Bonds next payday—through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or from any bank—and see if you don't feel pretty good about it.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

Baseball Assn. To Elect Officers

The Bethpage Baseball Association will hold a General Meeting on Thursday, Nov. 12, for the purpose of electing officers to fill expired terms. The parents of children who participate in any of the eight baseball leagues sponsored by the Association are invited to attend and take active participation in organizing the program for the 1965 season.

The membership will vote to fill the office of Vice-President, presently vacant. Treasurer, where Bill Walner is the incumbent, and five Board members, whose terms expire and are currently unopposed. They include, Stan Krieg, Sponsor Chairman; George Gajewski, Publicity Chairman; Al Beck, Frank Vollrath and Al Seigmeier, League Representatives.

The meeting will be held at the John F. Kennedy Memorial Jr. High School Cafeteria on Broadway at 8:00 p.m.

The entire membership is expected to attend if another successful baseball program for the youth of Bethpage is to be anticipated. Your attendance and constructive criticism is vital in this endeavor.

Students Get French Breakfast

Friday morning, October 23rd bright and early, saw the Sixth Grade French students of the Dutch Lane School in Hicksville and their Teacher, Mrs. Jean Haydu, enjoying a breakfast in the French manner. Among their guests the students were pleased to have Mr. Donald Abt, Superintendent of Schools in Hicksville and his Administrative Assistant Mr. William McCarthy, Mr. Harold Robbins, Principal of Dutch Lane School, Mr. Fred Bergmann, Assistant Principal and Mrs. Vera Galante, the Foreign Language Supervisor of the District. Everyone munched on buttered croissants and brioches and sipped hot chocolate.

For a week before the children worked diligently to produce carefully written French invitations accompanied by charming drawings. They planned the menu, set the table and practiced their French small-talk to assure the comfort of their guests.

It was a delightful experience which everyone enjoyed thoroughly.

Games remaining - Plainview at MacArthur, Plainedge at Hicksville, Hicksville at Farmingdale, Plainview at Plainedge.

There are the cold hard facts brought about by Plainview's 20-13 upset of Hicksville. Despite the score the decision was absolute. Hicksville only generated one scoring drive and picked up another tally on a fumble.

3,000 fans watched Gull Quarterback Dennis Naughton put on a dazzling show. Hicksville intercepted him three times but that could not diver the Plainview attack. When in trouble Naughton simply stormed around the ends on the rollout and picked up huge yardage.

The Orange and Black were not at full strength for the contest. Five Comets were suspended from the team for violation of training rules and they were important in coach Jim Grantham's plans.

The extensive scouting plans of Plainview paid off. They knew which way Hicksville was coming at every turn.

The Comets play their final home game of the season this Saturday at 1:30 p.m. against Plainedge.

The spilt sessions has made student support less than enthusiastic and the overall morale is down.

Plainedge has not forgotten Hicksville's 13-7 victory last season which cost it the outright championship. It will be a good battle. Hicksville will win 19-7.

John Walker got two important goals as coach Henry Renn's Hicksville High Soccer team edged Plainedge 3-1 to win the Section One North Shore championship.

The league playoffs are scheduled this week but the pairings and sites were not available as we went to press.

St. Ignatius Yellow Jackets with a record of six straight victories square off with St. Agnes of Rockville Centre this Sunday for the championship of the CYO Grammer School League.

A check would be advisable in lieu of any last minute switch but as of now the contest will be on the Sewhanaka High field in Floral Park.

Many Hicksville fans plan to make the trip in support of the team. The road route is to take Stewart Avenue straight through Garden City and Stewart Manor. In Stewart Manor the road runs into a North South route. Make a left (South) turn and go two miles straight to the school.

One brilliant play in an otherwise all rugged game kept the Hicksville Junior Varsity undefeated at Plainview. Saturday morning.

Quarterback Jeff Doolittle tossed a 65-yard scorcher on the first turn from scrimmage and it stood up in a 7-0 victory.

Three Hicksville players are seeking berths on the powerful St. John's University basketball teams. Mike Clair is trying for a second year on the Varsity which is rated in pre-season polls as the fifth best club in the nation. Joe Lapchick's team is loaded with talent.

Bidding for a place on the freshman team is ex-Hicksville High star Paul Calasino and Bill Bruckner who played two outstanding seasons with St. Dominic's at Oyster Bay.

Mothers Auxiliary Discusses College

An extremely enlightening talk by Sister Frances Maureen, O.P., highlighted the October meeting of the Saint Ignatius Auxiliary of Christian Mothers. Sister spoke with authority on the advisability of sending children to college. In her position as Academic Dean of Molloy College, she deals with the many problems that arise when young people enter college unprepared. The successful college student should have a keen desire for education, above average intelligence and a willingness to work hard. The mothers were cautioned against pressuring their children to attend college as a higher education is not for 100% of the students.

Mrs. Gough, Sister Ve-nard and the two chair-ladies, Mrs. Weidenhafer and Mrs. Caesare, expressed their appreciation to all who helped make the Fashion Show such a huge success.

Father Goggin urged all the ladies to give serious attention to the coming national election. He urged all to acquaint themselves with each candidates position on the issues in order that they can vote intelligently.

The cake sale will be held on Sunday, November 8, in the parochial school basement after all the Masses. Volunteers are urgently needed. There will be a raffle of a large basket of groceries. Mrs. Hess is chairlady of the affair.

The dark horse prize of $3 was won by Mrs. John Hanifan. A gift certificate was won by Sister David Marie.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, November 23, at 8:15 P.M. in the parochial school auditorium. A talk on "Family Life" will be given by Father John Mariano of the Church of Sacred Heart and St. Stephen, Brooklyn.

Contract Awarded Hix Plant

A military contract for $172,800.00 has been awarded the General Instruments Corp., Radio Receptor Div., Andrews Road, Hicksville, for One Radar Set AN/PPS-6(XE)-Engineering & Test Models.

The contract, announced by the Fort Monmouth Procurement Div., U.S. Army Electronics Command, was one of six proposals received of ninety-four prospective contractors solicited.

TWO NEW YORK AREA girls are among seven finalists for 1964 honorary cadet colonel of Temple University's ROTC unit. The unit's ROTC cadets will vote for the winner who will reign at the annual ROTC Ball on Saturday, November 14, in Mitten Memorial Hall, Broad and Berks sts., on the University's Philadelphia campus. The six other finalists will make up the court.

Janis K. Smith (left) of 52 Rolling Hill rd., is a member of the Newman Club.

Linda Jane Stein (right) of 69 Felice Crescent, Hicksville, is a 20-year-old junior in the University's School of Business Administration. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stein, and a 1962 graduate of Hicksville High School. At Temple University, she is head majorette with the band, a member of XYW, a service organization, and the Marketing Club. She lives at Peabody Hall, a University dormitory, where she is head junior counselor, a member of the executive committee and a member of the dormitory food committee. In addition to her University studies and campus activities, Miss Stein is a baton twirling teacher and contest judge.

Lutherans Discuss Ecumenical Council

The Reverend Edward H. Stammel, Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Hicksville, has announced that a short term course entitled "The Reformation, Rome and the Ecumenical Council," is being offered to the members of his congregation and to interested persons in the community. The purpose of the course is to briefly examine the stance of Rome and the reformers in the sixteenth century and to focus on its implications for today, particularly as seen in the activity of the Ecumenical Council. The course began on Oct. 27th, at 8:15 P.M. in the Youth Room of Trinity Lutheran School, 40 W. Nicholas St., Hicksville. The course is scheduled to run for four consecutive Tuesdays. There is a registration fee of one dollar.

The instructor will be Vicar Carl A. Voges. Vicar Voges graduated from Valparaiso University in 1962 and presently is a student at Concordia Theological Seminary, Springfield, Illinois.

Citizens League Meets Mon.

The monthly meeting of the Hicksville Citizens League will take place Monday, November 9 at Levittown Hall, Levittown Parkway, Hicksville, at 8:30 P.M.

If You Please

By Peter Pettibone

Situation in Hand: A delegation of North Shore society women went all the way to Washington to approach heads of the Marine Corps. "We have made investigations," said their chairman, "and we were distressed to find that, although many honors have been paid to the Unknown Soldier and to the Unknown Sailor, nothing has been done about the Unknown Marine. This committee has come all the way down here to rectify this deplorable situation, and we'd like to enlist your help." The general jumped to his feet, his face red with anger. "Ladies," he banged his fist on the desk, "THERE IS, no unknown marine." ...In a Long Island court, "Action by one Bologna against one Weiner to compel specific performance of contract," elicited this from the judge, "I never sausage a case." ...Here's Wendy Barrie again with, "You'll always stay young if you live honestly, eat slowly, get sufficient sleep, work, worship faithfully -- and lie about your age." Reminds us that medicine has advanced to the point where an ounce of prevention is now worth about $22.50.. Maestro Dick Eschmann: "My generation was lost and beat, as a matter of course; the difference was, we forgot to mention. And: "The politician's promise of yesterday are the taxes of today." And: "An ideal wife is one who remains faithful to you but tries to be just as charming as if she weren't." (That's enough Dick, but thanks.)...From Social Notes: "The brides sister, Eleanor Windsor, will be her only attendant and her bridegroom will either be Malcolm R. Pitt, Jr., of Stamford or Sewall Corcoran of Southampton." (Reminds us of whose in the finals at Forest Hills?) .Reno: The city of otherly love...A package delivered C.O.D. means Call on Daddy...He'll wonder how I found out: This Hicksville dad took his daughter to Broadway for a big night out. Came the floor show and the father gulped - the chorus girls were just a dab of gold-and-black satin. He stole a couple side-long glances at his daughter. Finally she leaned over and whispered, "Do you see what I see?" As the father swallowed uneasily, she said enthusiastically, "Look dad, they're wearing my school's colors!"... Wife to husband in cafe, "Gracious, if your're going to keep worrying about the prices, what was the point in getting the Diners' Club card?" On the critical side: From a book review: "It is not a book to be lightly thrown aside. It should be thrown with force...Of an exhibition of D. H. Lawrence's paintings, mostly nudes, Rebecca West noted: "Mr. Lawrence certainly has very pink friends." ...At Carl Hoppl's Westbury Manor, Arlene Francis told Tom, her conception of Charm: "I think charm is the ability to make somebody think both of you are pretty wonderful." And: "For a man to pretend to understand women is bad manners; for him to really understand them is bad morals." See Tom, you just can't win. So play, and forget it...If You Please....
