Help Pours In For Brain-Injured Child Retraining Program

By Edward J. Van Allen

A mother's appeal for help for her brain-injured child, printed last week in the Litmor chain of newspapers, has drawn heart-warming response from such diverse places as Hicksville, Woodbury, Syosset and Jericho.

Among the volunteers offering their services, according to Mrs. Jack Goldmacher, mother of 11-year-old Shelley, the brain-injured child, was a mother who knows more poignantly than most people the anguish of having a sometimes unhelpable brain-injured child. Her own child, so afflicted, died some time ago.

Another mother, whose baby daughter has leukemia, told this reporter she too plans to call the Goldmachers and offer to help.

As of early this week, when this story was written, the Goldmachers had about 55 offers of aid in carrying out the unique program of brain-revitalizing exercises aimed at returning to Shelley the heritage of normalcy that was hers at birth. Some of the offers include teams of four persons each. Many are from teenagers, including candy strippers.

Elated by the number of volunteers thus far, Mrs. Goldmacher planned to begin the brain-reconditioning exercises this week. Once the program is begun, it must be on an unbroken, seven-day-a-week basis.

The exercises consist of manipulating Shelley's arms, legs, and head to simulate a baby's actions in creeping and crawling. In effect, the child will be returned to babyhood, again going through the creeping and crawling stages a baby goes through, on the theory that as the body "regrows" literally almost from birth up, the brain too will "regrow" and develop as a normal brain develops. Thus, Shelley will spend a good deal of her time on the floor, just as a baby does, though she will be taken outdoors for walks and fresh air. All told, five persons, one for each appendage, are needed for each manipulation. The exercises, though only of about five minutes duration each time, must be gone through at least four times a day.

The unusual program of physical and mental therapy was developed by the Institutes for the Achievement of Human Potential at Philadelphia, to whom the Goldmachers turned when they learned there is some hope for their young daughter.

The Institutes' studies have shown that putting a child through the creeping and crawling stages again revitalizes live brain cells causing them to take over the function of the dead ones and making the child "well" again in the sense that she will function normally.

What success have the Institutes had with the treatment? Sixty-six out of 76 children were helped by it in 1960, improvements being noted in speech, in hearing, in vision, and in manual dexterity. Here on Long Island, the Goldmachers know of a couple of children who have been helped by following the Institutes' program. One child brain-injured at birth, is now six. The program was started when she was about 14 months old. At that time she could hardly move. Today, she can sit up, take a few steps, and can talk and read on a fourth-grade level.

Eleven-year-old Shelley Goldmacher has a twin sister, Roslyn, who is normal. Shelly too was perfectly normal until at six months of age a cerebral hemorrhage and a five-hour convulsion destroyed part of the left side of her brain. Now her eyes don't focus properly, and she's a bit confused. To date, she has been attending a special class in the Hicksville School District. But during the two-year brain-revitalizing program, she will have to leave school.

Shelley's parents will have to return her to the Institutes every two months so that her progress can be checked

Hicksville Residents Vote For Lottery

Hicksville residents, voting in Meadow Brook National Bank's Community Opinion Poll, voted overwhelmingly in favor of a State operated sweepstakes for education similar to the one in New Hampshire, according to J.rah D. Cole, manager of the Bank's Hicksville office.

The October results in Hicksville were 85.9% in favor, with 14.1% against, compared with the overall vote which was 84.8% for and 13.3% against with 1.9% undecided.

More industry and business was favored 76.5% to 19.7% against with 3.8% undecided. Other results indicated that Hicksville residents believe in capital punishment 62.9% with 33.8% against and 3.3% undecided and are against legislation prohibiting the serving of liquor to minors in the home by a vote of 56.3% to 40.8% against with 2.9% undecided. These results were in line with the thinking of residents voting in all of Meadow Brook's offices.

The Poll is one in a continuing series of month-long, pulse taking efforts by Meadow Brook through its 66 offices on Long Island and in New York City to reflect community thinking on topical issues.

BEAUTY SECRETS

By Victor of Vilu.

It may sound strange to you that I, as the owner of a beauty salon specializing in scientific care of the hair, should give you tips and pointers for treatment of your hair and scalp at home. But let us face the facts. Unless your visits to Vilu or other beauty salons are supplemented by proper home care, it is more difficult for a hair specialist to achieve the kind of results both you and she are looking for.

If you neglect your hair, the seeds of this neglect will be multiplied many times over, so that when a skilled beauty operator takes over, her biggest job is first to correct the damage. Neglect is like an epidemic; let it get started and it soon rages out of control and is difficult to repair. The longer it runs wild, the more damage it causes. Neglect your hair and scalp and you are asking for trouble.

Home hair care is simple and painless. The normal scalp requires washing once every week to ten days. You need more frequent shampooing in the summer than in the winter. Use the right soap depending on the condition of your hair. Pat your hair dry with a warm turkish towel. If you use an electric drier, do not overdo it. Dry the few remaining hair particles with your towel to prevent scalp dehydration.

When combing, choose a wide-tooth comb with oval spaces between the teeth. This will prevent the hair from getting caught, pulled out or torn. Avoid sharp edges -- they can scratch your scalp. Wash your comb often. Use a brush with moderately stiff bristles. Stimulation is good for the scalp, but too much massage and brushing is like too much of anything and should be avoided. When thorough brushing, wash the brush in soap and warm

Diabetes Tests In Hicksville

Each year Diabetes Detection Week is observed throughout this country in the attempt to find some of the estimated 1 1/2 million people who are undetected diabetics.

In Nassau County, free urine tests will be available again from local co-operating pharmacies and once again free blood tests can be arranged with a co-operating clinical laboratory by calling ED 3-3301 from 9 A.M. to 9 P.M., November 15-21 during Diabetes Week.

But this year, for the first time ever in this part of the U.S., a mass-screening program utilizing Dextrostix, a brand new one-minute blood testing material, will be used in Nassau County. Test centers set up in American Legion Halls in 9 communities will provide a quick, simple and accurate test which requires only a single drop of blood. From 9 A.M. to 12 Noon on Sunday, November 15th, all who wish to avail themselves of this new free test (not for known diabetics) should eat a full breakfast one to two hours before appearing at the American Legion Hall in Hicksville.

water a few times a week. Rinse well in cold water and give the brush a good chance to dry. bristles down.

Supplement home care with a periodic visit to Vilu for proper cutting, setting and permanent waving. You need a skilled technician to do these jobs right. If you have taken care of your hair with regularity and good sense, your beauty operator will spend all her time making your hair as beautiful as it should be, instead of investing her time and your money in correcting your neglect.

For questions or consultation call or see Mr. Victor at Vilu, OV 1-8760, 534 S. Broadway, Hicksville.

periodically. They look forward to the visits eagerly now that new hope for Shelley has come into their lives.

Do the Goldmachers need more volunteers? They do. Although Mrs. Goldmacher has enough help now to get the program underway, she originally had hoped to get as many as 100 volunteers plus a few alternates. Under her plan, no group of volunteers would be needed for more than five minutes a week each. So far, though, most people have proffered help during the week, necessitating another appeal for volunteers on weekends when so many people are preoccupied with their own affairs.

The Goldmachers belong to Temple Elohim of Old Bethpage. Its Rabbi Louis Stein, has appealed to other re-

Curran Still Awaits Officialdom

"It's not official yet and won't be until maybe as late as Monday of next week," State Senator Henry Curran said today of his turnabout election victory. The oddity in the whole thing is that as yet only the Democrats have officially said that Republican Henry Curran has whipped their boy Albert Kimball. Curran had already conceded the election on the basis of Election eve tallies that showed he lost to Kimball by 973 votes but another unofficial check by the Democratic party turned up nearly 1,400 more votes for Curran giving him a 456 vote victory.

Apparently the GOP hadn't known a thing about it until Kimball phoned Curran on Saturday to tell him the news. Curran already having reconciled himself to the loss is slow to accept the new found victory and doesn't want to make an announcement until the official Board of Elections results come in.

ligious leaders for help in recruiting volunteers. To date, four temples have offered a helping hand.

The Goldmachers are effusively thankful for the fine public response to their appeal on behalf of their brain-injured child. "I can't thank people enough," Mrs. Goldmacher said. Said her husband: "We've had people calling and calling and calling offering to help." Especially grateful for the help of the Litmor newspapers, he said: "You've done a fantastic thing for us. If you gave us a million dollars, you couldn't help us more than you did here."

The Goldmachers may be reached at WE 1-5207. The family lives at 5 Edgewood Drive, Hicksville.

THINKING IT OVER

By Robert L. Morgan

The response of people in this area to the appeal of a mother who is in hope of helping her brain-injured child to regain a normal life was good last week. Help came from many sources, some was available directly to the family from synagogue connections and some through the article which appeared in this newspaper last week. The article, which was written by Edward Van Allen, asked for help from local people in performing the many physical tasks needed to make another portion of the child's brain take over for the part that was injured by a virus in infancy.

The work will consume some time of the volunteers, not a great deal of time, but it will have to be on a regular scheduled basis. The mother, Mrs. Goldmacher, has received many calls but there is still need for additional help. The main requirement is to have a little time that can be donated on a regular schedule and to be dependable.

The treatment has worked in other cases and we join the Goldmacher family in hoping that it will be successful in this case. If you can volunteer phone WELLS 1-5207.

Cancer Is Common Disease In Children

By C.A. Dean, M.D.

MEDITORIAL: Asked to name one disease that children do not get, I would think the most common answer would be cancer. The fact is that cancer does occur in children and, in fact, ranks as the second most common cause of death in persons aged one to fourteen. (Accidents are first).

Of 38,967 children admitted to a large city hospital, 404 or over 1 per cent were found to have cancer of one type or another. The cancers were found in every part of the body and age seemed to determine where. For example, in those of less than one year, kidney cancers predominated. Thereafter, leukemia was most common until age eight and over this age cancer of the nervous system and eye were most frequent.

The symptom which prompted medical attention the most was the discovery of a lump, mass or tumor. A lump is one of the cancer danger signals -- this is a true in children as it is in adults. Other important symptoms noted were: headache; vomiting; disturbance in gait; loss of appetite and weight; listlessness; pallor and bleeding tendencies. The symptoms vary, of course, with the type and location of the tumor.

Treatment, to be successful, must be started early, so early diagnosis is most important. This is best accomplished by continued periodic examination for children. Frequently, I find parents neglecting to bring their children in for routine examination after age four or five. It is important to continue this practice for only in this way can we hope to uncover hidden cancers and other diseases.

Dems Holding Club Nominations

The next meeting of the Hicksville Regular Democratic Club will be held Thursday, November 19 at 8:30 p.m., at Old Country Manor, Old Country Road, Hicksville. The nominating committee will submit their slate of officers for the coming year at this meeting. Election of officers will take place at the December meeting.

As this is the first meeting since our resounding victory on November 3, we expect a great deal of analyzing of our election returns. Hope everyone will be on hand to share in the "happy-talk."

Reflections At The Spanish Pavilion

By Russell Kirk

Justly, the Spanish Pavilion has been one of the most popular spots at the New York World's Fair. With its charming patios and tiles, its courteous staff, its admirable restaurants (probably the best at the Fair), its tasteful displays of Spanish handicrafts and manufactures, its gallery of great Spanish paintings, and its startling exhibition of the wonderful jewels created by Salvador Dali, it seems the most civilized accomplishment in the whole vast exposition.

Where the Spanish Pavilion stands, originally the Soviet Union intended to erect its building. The Fair is the better for Russia's withdrawal. What will seem odd to many Americans, the Spaniards at the Fair seem remarkably efficient, as well as traditional.

Probably this Pavilion, last season and next, will open the eyes of a good many visitors to the character of Spain today. For severe misrepresentation of Spain since the Civil War lingers in this country, even though the American government is in alliance with the government of General Franco. Spain in 1964 really is a prosperous, reasonably tranquil land, where property is secure and a far higher degree of civil liberty prevails than in most of the world. As the Caudillo says, Spain is a monarchy -- and he is the monarch, for the time being. Whatever deficiencies the present government may have, Spain has not known so good a one since the troubles began that resulted in the overthrow of King Alfonso.

In a lively new volume of memoirs by that veteran journalist Mr. Constantine Brown, 'The Coming of the Whirlwind, 1914 -- 1952', I find some most interesting observations on Spain during the late 'Forties. Even that shrewd observer Mr. Brown, and his journalist wife Elizabeth, arrived in Spain, in 1947, under the illusion that they were entering a totalitarian state. (They had been told, falsely, that the jails were crowded with innocent adversaries of the Franco regime -- when, in fact, at that time there were only some 2,000 to 3,000 political prisoners, since diminished to a handful.)

When Constantine Brown went to interview General Franco at the Prado, and did not return so soon as expected, his wife Liz actually feared he might have been arrested, along with the nobleman, acting as interpreter, and thrown into some dungeon: she contemplated standing in the middle of a Madrid street, crying "Where is my husband, Constantine Brown?" to provoke diplomatic inquiries that might lead to her spouse's release.

Constantine and Liz Brown chuckle nowadays over their misapprehension of the Spanish situation. They soon learned that in Spain "there was none of the furtiveness and evasion that one encounters in countries where almost anyone may be a police spy or provocateur."

Yes, Spain today is a safe and highly cultured land -- and a monarchy. Just as the republican form of government is natural to the United States, so monarchy seems natural to Spain. General Franco must settle upon some means of regular succession; but we are never going to see American-style democracy in Iberia. As Constantine Brown puts it, "No one in Spain longs for a return to the wild and violent days of the Republic or to hear again the passionate shouts of 'Viva la muerte!' and 'Viva la dinamita!'"

Marital Problems Discussed By Corso

At the regular monthly meeting of the Plainview Auxiliary of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Nassau County, the guest speaker was Frank Mitchell Corso, a prominent Nassau attorney. His speech was "Marital Problems in Suburbia."

Mr. Corso charged that the divorce laws of New York State are archaic, antiquated and are the seeds of hypocrisy. He charged that the State Legislature, due to certain powerful lobbies, has been unable to liberalize the Laws of the State in this particular regard.

"When the first citizen of the State, the Governor, must have his wife leave their home state to secure a divorce, this act," he said, "speaks more than words for the condition of our matrimonial laws."

The speaker outlined the various grounds for divorce, separation and annulment in the State of New York and then discussed the unique problems of marital strife in suburban living. Mr. Corso stated that aside from the usual and customary problems affecting married life, such as financial, cultural background, sexual, general incompatibility and psychiatric complications, there are certain problems which are unique to suburbia. "These are," he said "1) The problem of the 'commuting husband'; 2) The 'keeping up with the Jones' financial problem; and 3) The wife in a vacuum."

As to the commuting husband this creates a problem when a husband must spend 15 to 20 hours per week more time than is customary travelling from his home to his place of business. This not only creates a strain upon the husband, both physical and mental, which in turn causes him to be more irritable and less congenial, but it also creates a balancing strain upon the family in not having the presence of the Father.

"It is the more prevalent in suburban living that the Jones' be kept up with," stated Mr. Corso. The very nature of suburban living where people reside in similar homes in a large development and where there is a greater social interchange has required of many families that as far as dress, automobiles and interiors of homes that they at least maintain an equal standing with those in close proximity to them. This is frequently done although one family may have an income appreciably higher or lower than the surrounding neighbors.

The frequent use of charge accounts with no immediate cash outlay is widely used, particularly in suburbia in order to keep up with the Jones'. The day of reckoning invariably comes with charge accounts having to be paid and cash running low and the financial strain then has its effect upon the personal relationship of husband and wife. This is all the more a cause of marital problem when the wife has a personality requiring that she maintain in relation to the other women a sense of not only keeping up with them but a "see how successful my husband is" attitude.

Mr. Corso then referred to the wife in a vacuum. "The situation" he said "is an offshoot of the commuting husband." The wife, being left in her suburban home, particularly after first moving from her previous place of abode, is very susceptible to boredom and stagnation due to the lack of contacts she has as compared to her previous apartment door home. The re-establishing of centers of interest for the wife such as shopping in store locations, the substitution of the frequent or almost daily contacts with family and friends creates a burden and strain upon the wife which frequently leads to an irritation of the husband and wife relationship. In some extreme cases, it can lead to the wife being very susceptible to extra-marital relationships.

Mr. Corso concluded with a request that the 60 women present exert some pressure upon their State Legislature to effectuate more realistic Laws in relation to divorces in the State of New York.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. David Stein, President of the Auxiliary. Mrs. Stein urged the membership to continue their activities on behalf of Cerebral Palsy and encouraged them to bring new members to the next monthly meeting to be held Monday evening, November 16th, at the Plainview Public Library, Old Country Rd., Plainview, at 8:30 P.M.

Letters

To the Editor:

As a local resident who is also a member of the Nassau County Diabetes L.A.Y. Society, I should like to alert my neighbors to the fact that November 15 - 21 is Diabetes Detection Week.

Diabetes is a hereditary disease which ranks seventh in the list of causes of death by disease. The usual symptoms are: Increase in thirst, constant hunger, frequent urination, loss of weight, intense itching, easy tiring, pain in fingers and toes, changes in vision, and slow healing of cuts and bruises. However, diabetes may be present without any signs at all. It is, therefore, very important to have every member of the family tested so as to learn whether any might be among the estimated 1 1/2 million undetected diabetics in this country.

Fortunately such tests are available during Diabetes Detection Week entirely free of charge and very conveniently. They are simple and quick and may be obtained through your local co-operating pharmacy or by calling ED 3-3301 during Diabetes Week, Nov. 15 through the 21st, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Sincerely yours,
Robert E. Nitschke

SPORTS

by HOWARD FINNEGAN

Driving hard from the outset, St. Ignatius Yellow Jackets defeated St. Ann's of Garden City, 34-7, on the Sewanaka High field in Floral Park. It was a stunning end of a 17 game winning streak for the defending champions.

The sharply drilled Yellow Jackets need only to beat neighbor Holy Family this coming Sunday on the high school field to win the County C.Y.O. Grammar School championship. Game time is 2:00 p.m.

What was to be the golden season ended at home for Hicksville High on a flat note. Plainedge upset the Comets 20-13 before 1,000 disinterested fans. William Corrigan took two scoring passes from quarterback Dennis Yastras in the third period but it could not awaken a spark to keep Hicksville in the title race.

It was the third defeat of the campaign for the Orange and Black. The year will be completed at Farmingdale this Saturday. This is the oldest series for the O & B which leads in it with 22 wins against 9 losses. The commanding edge takes nothing from the Farmingdale fever and the Dalers will be up for the game.

It has never been difficult for Hicksville to solve coach Don Snyder's defense and on that basis HICKSVILLE 27 FARMINGDALE 20

Since the North Shore league was realigned under the heavy hand of coach Chet Jaworski there are many who point that Hicksville has built a sizeable won lost record playing in an inferior league.

We have never joined with them but this year it is hard to refute them. Hicksville got murdered 33 - 0 by Levittown which is buried in the standings of Section 2. The soon to be champion Plainview got routed by Oceanside and last week lost to Freeport. Neither of those is going anywhere in their own leagues.

Hempstead only shares a triple tie in its league but clouted second place Clarke 46 - 6. Syosset got what looked like an impressive 13 - 0 win over Garden City from Division 2 but Mineola took the Trojans 46 - 6. Plainedge split with undistinguished non-league foes.

Failure of North Shore Section One teams to win in games outside their division casts an unfortunate cloud of the overall ability of the members that comprise the loop.

And it won't be dispelled until they start winning.

Champions of Division One Hicksville's Comets concluded the very successful 1964 Soccer campaign by losing 2-0 to powerful Garden City in the play-offs. Veteran Bill Walker was out all week with an injury and could not go full steam for coach Henry Renn. It was another highly creditable year for the booters.

Plainedge went all out to end the Hicksville Junior Varsity's bid for an undefeated season but missed the goal. The game ended in a 6-6 tie which was not satisfying to coach Bill Meyer but was acceptable. Hicksville went 80 yards in the last 90 seconds and scored on the final play but a penalty killed the victory.

Hicksville finished second in the Nassau County Cross Country Championships Saturday as Tom Scanlon paced the North Shore champions in the splendid bid.

Letters

To the Editor:
The readers of your newspaper are wonderful. I simply cannot tell you how heartening it was to get the response of so many people who want to help our daughter Shelley as a result of your article in last weeks paper (11/5/64).

So very many people phoned us almost as soon as they read the paper. It seems. They want to help Shelley do her "Patterning" and we are delighted to get their cooperation.

We have never been so encouraged as we are today that Shelley will some day lead a normal life, despite her brain injured condition. And it will be with the help of good people, such as your readers, that Shelley will make her way back to living as all normal, happy and healthy children do.

We still need people to help with Shelley's patterning and any additional readers who want to help can call us at WE 1-5207.

In the meantime, this is the only way we can express our gratitude to your paper and your warm hearted readers.

God Bless you all.
Sincerely,
Jerry & Selma Goldmach-

Postman Ready For Dog Attack

Hicksville and Plainview letter carriers are now provided with a repellent spraycan to ward off attacks by dogs. The repellent, which consists of a combination of mineral oil and cayenne pepper, is harmless but will cause an attacking dog to retreat at once.

According to Acting Postmaster Irene L. Murphy, several letter carriers in the Hicksville-Plainview Post Office have been bitten by dogs in the past year. The repellent was developed because of the excessive cost of such injuries nationwide to the taxpayer.

All dog owners are reminded that it is still their responsibility to keep their dogs tied. The regulation that mail may not be delivered where a dog creates a menace to the carrier is still in effect. The repellent has been tested in several areas and has the approval of humane societies throughout the United States.

Group Wants Track Evaluated

The membership of Parents and Residents for Better Education is in complete agreement with the resolution, submitted in a letter to the school board by Mr. D. Trableh, that a complete study be undertaken to determine a true evaluation of our present track system, Mrs. Florence Infantino, President of the organization reported today.

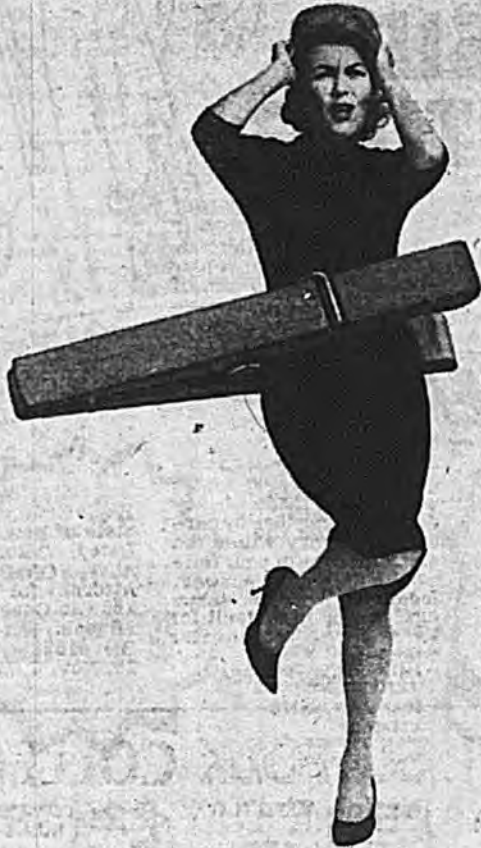

The track system, which came into being in 1957, has never been evaluated objectively. As Mrs. Infantino said, "It is time that a responsible non partisan agency be employed to determine whether the adoption of school reforms and new programs has truly advanced the cause of education. Or have they become a means of keeping up with the 'Educational Joneses?'"

"It is time to ask these questions", Mrs. Infantino continued.

"1. Are the same care and consideration given to teacher assignments, or curriculum content and techniques as are given to the grouping of pupils?"
 "2. Has the track system provided equal educational opportunity on all levels?"

"Mr. Abt raised a question about financing such a study. As of June 30, 1964 the district had an average of more than $200,000. This money had been temporarily transferred from the general fund into the construction fund, to meet the demands of bills incurred before the bond sale was completed. The sale has now been completed and Mr. Abt should have no need to seek further funds."

Woodland PTA Meets Nov. 17

On Tuesday evening November 17, the Woodland Avenue PTA will hold its next meeting in the all purpose room at the school.

This meeting will be one of particular importance and all parents are urged to attend. The guest speaker for the evening will be Mr. John Crenson, Supervisor of Mathematics in the Hicksville Public Schools. Mr. Crenson's speech will be based on the current math transition in our schools. Parents of school-age children should be aware of the new methods being introduced in our schools at the present time and understand why.

Mr. Crenson will detail this philosophy and explain the reasons for the changeover. He will show the application of the transition from kindergarten to the twelfth grade with emphasis on kindergarten thru sixth grade.

Remember November 17 is the time for all who have questions concerning this new approach to come down and listen, ask questions, and perhaps gain a more complete understanding of this important and timely topic.
