Many Salute Henry Eisemann At Final Rites

HENRY EISEMANN

Hicksville paid homage Wednesday to one of its most well known and beloved citizens, Henry G. Eisemann. More than 600 joined in the funeral rites at Trinity Lutheran Church. Contingents from the American Legion, VFW, Hicksville Firemen, Elks and Masons were on hand for the ceremony. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Edward Stammel, pastor of Trinity Lutheran.

Mr. Eisemann, a real estate and insurance executive active in the civic, business and community life of Hicksville for 43 years, died at home of a heart attack yesterday. He was 68.

Eisemann, who also was an amateur gourmet cook, was owner of Seaman and Eisemann, a real estate and insurance firm in Hicksville that he joined in 1921. For the last 10 years, he was a director of the Long Island Lighting Co. and also was a board member of the Nassau Hospital and Chamber of Commerce.

Eisemann was one of the first members of the Nassau County planning board. He was president of the Bank of Hicksville for several years before it merged with Meadow Brook National Bank in 1954. He was a member of the Exempt Firemen's Association, the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Elks and Masons. In 1962, he was honorary chairman of the Nassau County chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Eisemann lived at 36 Field Ave. for 40 years. His house had two kitchens, one 30 feet square, which he used exclusively for gourmet cooking. Standing five feet seven inches tall, Eisemann weighed 220 pounds and claimed to have personally tested 4,000 recipes, which he kept in an elaborate filing system. To keep in health, he fished for trout in Montana for two months each year.

Interment was in Plain Lawn Cemetery, Hicksville.

WHITEY FORD, ACE PITCHER of the New York Yankees, greets Monsignor George M. Bitterman, V.F. Pastor of St. Ignatius, as Santa smiles in approval at the 15th annual Christmas party for the Little Flower Home of Wading River, Long Island. The affair held last Sunday at the Knights of Columbus was a happy scene for more than 160 children from the home. L. to r. Father Rev. R. Bruno, Chaplain of the Home, Mark Madden, chairman of the event, Jim Cummings, Monsignor Bitterman, Whitey Ford, Santa (Freddy you know who) and Rev. John Fagan, director of the Little Flower Home.

BEAUTY SECRETS

By Victor of Vilu

What Structural Type Are You?

There are 7 basic face shapes. You fall into one of them. Why is it important to know which one? Because if you know, you can best select a hair style that will do the most for you. Here they are:

1. OVAL -- The perfect shape because every hairdresser tries to achieve an "oval" look. Many well-designed coiffures will suit you if you are fortunate in having an oval shaped face. You can draw your hair back or use a center part, ask for a bang over the forehead or not. One word to the mature woman. Direct your hair waves off your face to provide a soft look. A wisp of hair over the forehead is a softening touch.

2. ROUND -- Avoid drooping hair behind the ears, low side parts, flat tops and repetitious lines. If your neck is short have your hair cut to show a dividing line between head and shoulders in back.

3. SQUARE -- Have your hair arranged in soft, irregular lines, a high side part in front with the hair lifted away from the center will unsquare your face. No low side parts, flat tops, or regular wave lines.

4. OBLONG -- A long angled side part will give you a more oval outline. Bouffant waves, moderate front height and curls will accomplish wonders.

5. PEARL SHAPE -- Try to create an illusion of greater width. At the top with waves directed to the sides and soft, irregular curled bangs. Avoid covering the forehead and low side parts.

6. HEART SHAPE -- Ask for a slight lift on the front top from a high side part. Keep the hair close to the head. Reveal the shape of the head by keeping the crown contour close. Avoid a top-heavy look.

7. DIAMOND SHAPE -- You can achieve an oval look if the hair is kept close to the head at its widest point. Soften the narrow areas of the face with waves, flares and curls. Avoid center parts, hair brushed high at the sides and close, tight effects.

PUZZLED? Don't be! Leave it to your Vilu trained specialist to mould your hair to best suit your needs and your facial characteristics. For questions or consultation call or see Mr. Victor at Vilu. OV 1-8760, 534 So. Broadway, Hicksville.

How to buy an electric shaver for Christmas

1. Make up your mind to break the uncomfortable shave habit. No man should put up with a shave that's irritating or unpleasant day after day. Shaving should be convenient and comfortable. And today it is — with the Norelco comfort shave.

2. Talk to your dealer about electric shavers. He'll show you several brands. Most of them have blades which go back and forth. He'll point out that only Norelco Speedshavers have self-sharpening rotary blades which go round and round.

3. Take a good look at those rotary blades. They're the secret behind the comfort shave. They whirr continuously never "grab" the way ordinary shavers do, never cut or nick the way blades do — give a pinch-free, scrape-free shave year in, year out.

4. Ask about speed and closeness. Today's electric shavers all shave fast and with about the same degree of closeness. The most important difference is in the comfort they give. Norelco rotary blades can easily make the difference between enjoying your morning shave or enduring it.

5. P.S. for the women. Did you know that women buy over half the electric shavers sold in this country to give to their menfolk, mostly at Christmas? It's a fact. Another fact: Norelco "Flip-Top" Speedshaver® 20 — easy "flip-top" cleaning. New Norelco Cordless Speedshaver 20C — shaves anywhere. All have rotary blades. All give the comfort shave.

6. Select your Norelco. New Norelco "Floating-Head" Speedshaver 30 — self-cleaning blades, heads swivel to fit your face. New Norelco "Flip-Top" Speedshaver® 20 — easy "flip-top" cleaning. New Norelco Cordless Speedshaver 20C — shaves anywhere. All have rotary blades. All give the comfort shave.

NATURAL CURIOSITY AND KEEN POWERS of observation make fourth grade children enthusiastic and perceptive "people pups". They are tireless collectors, and eagerly scrub, scratch, streak, taste, and smell to identify their specimens.

Our Dutch Lane classes were fortunate in taking a field trip to Appleby Beach in Glen Cove, where the children were dazzled by marcasite shining in the water, and intrigued by the Indian rattles and paint pots which they found. Appleby Beach has been made into a park and is now known as Garvey's Preserve.

During their visits to mineral shops, private collections, and local museums, hidden secrets of the mineral world were revealed by the black light, and geiger counter. Best of all, it was easy for each child to acquire his own stock of these treasures because of the availability of free samples, and inexpensive but attractive minerals.

"THE SOUND OF CHRISTMAS MUSIC", holiday entertainment for everyone, will be presented on Sunday, December 20, at 2:30 P.M. by members of the Our Lady of Mercy Rosary Altar Society at the Our Lady of Mercy School Auditorium, South Oyster Bay Road, Hicksville. This musical will appeal to young and old alike. It offers Broadway type variety in sophisticated style, something for the Beattle-loving set, and the ever-present magical fantasy of toyland that comes with Christmas time and the Holiday Season. A traditional Nativity Scene Pageant will also be included in the program. "The Sound of Christmas Music" was produced and directed by Mrs. Arthur Giovannelli; assisted by Mrs. Victor Guarneri. Admission will be 24¢ per child, 50¢ per adult. In the photo a scene from "The Sound of Christmas Music", l to r Mrs. Frank Funk and Mrs. Alvin Grossman.

THINKING IT OVER

By Robert L. Morgan

The death of Henry Eisemann will leave a void in civic responsibility in the Hicksville area.

Eisemann, even until his final days, was a leader who could be called upon to push along a community project at any time. Although he would necessarily be classed as "old Hicksville" his ideas were far from that limited sphere. He saw the progress of Hicksville as being a necessary evolution even to the point of merging the old Bank of Hicksville with the giant Meadowbrook Bank as in 1956. As a director of Long Island Lighting Co. (and a large stock holder) he was influential in getting the large L.I.L.C.O. operating plant to base itself in Hicksville.

We do not see how the void left by the death of Mr. Eisemann can be filled but perhaps his civic minded spirit will inspire the new generation to go forward and Hicksville will continue to benefit by the work of Mr. Eisemann.

While there was necessarily a serious side to Mr. Eisemann and his work, he was still a good natured man who liked to eat and to cook. We can well remember his stopping an important assignment to discuss the culinary short-comings of a recipe upon proper prompting only to resume the work after an hour of gourmet talk.

We say good bye this week to Mr. Eisemann. May his civic minded spirit and good humor continue to inspire Hicksville.

Club Wants Okay On Fitness Program

By C. A. Dean, M.D.

(Q) "I belong to a club of young people; we would like to know if body building by weight-lifting, proper diet and rest would have any harmful effects on the body in our early age? Would it cause harm later? Thank You." T.H.

(A) Your outline for body building is a good one and isn't harmful. In effect it should prove very beneficial to you and the other club members. Others should follow your lead. I would add only one word of caution: don't try lifting anything too heavy. You should use light weights at first, gradually working up to the heavier ones. I think, also, that some calisthenics should be included in your program.

I am glad to hear from a young organization, such as yours, with a constructive outlook. Keep up the good work.

(Q) "Are there any benefits from a varicose vein operation? I have 'tired' legs and a heavy feeling in them. I weigh 154 pounds. Do you think varicose veins could be the cause of my symptoms? I have small ones on the surface of both legs but they don't look too bad." Mrs. H.B.

(A) The symptoms you describe could be due to varicosities. If they are, then such things as elastic stockings, proper rest and elevation of the legs, when possible, should give relief. An operation would depend on the severity of the case and if one were indicated, a good result should be expected.

(Q) "I have had my thyroid gland removed. I wonder if you could tell me what reaction this will have on me?" Mrs. B.

(A) If just a portion of the gland is left in, no reaction or changes are expected. However, if the entire gland is removed a low thyroid condition (hypothyroidism) might result. This can be avoided by taking thyroid extract.

(Q) "Will a few plants in my room harm me, a person in good health?" M.R.K.

(A) Assuming you have no allergies to them, the answer is no. They may be beneficial since plants use carbon dioxide, one of our waste products, and give off oxygen which we need.

Bill Buckley's Birthday Party

By Russell Kirk

How the years fit by! The other day, one of my columnar colleagues enjoyed his thirty-ninth birthday -- which still leaves him, I think, the youngest influential syndicated columnist. I refer to Mr. William Buckley, who has been much in the news for the past dozen years.

To celebrate this anniversary, six of us sat at table in Mr. Buckley's big house in Stamford, Connecticut. Mr. Buckley's handsomeness and wit increase with the years. Some people are utterly devoted to him, and others turn livid with rage when they hear his name: no neutrality for Bill Buckley.

His first book, 'God and Man at Yale,' made him famous -- or, in the eyes of 'ritualistic' liberals, notorious. Since then he has published two other successful books, and is working on a fourth, 'The Revolt against the Masses.' His television-debates with everyone under the sun -- for he is a born debater -- have made his mobile face and his quick, humorous tongue known to millions.

But Mr. Buckley's principal achievement is "National Review", the conservative weekly journal of opinion, which he conceived and has edited from the first, and into which he has poured much of his own money. With a present circulation of a hundred thousand -- very big, for a serious weekly -- "National Review" exercises the sort of seminal influence that "The Nation" and "The New Republic" once enjoyed. Those rival journals have tried to turn this country upside down and inside out; while Mr. Buckley's magazine champions the cause of American traditions. It is immensely readable, almost never dull, and in rebellion against current fad and foible.

People often ask me whether Bill Buckley means to enter practical politics, as a candidate for high office. I fancy not. Though an inimitable public speaker, and passionately addicted to political questions, Mr. Buckley knows that the long-run influence of a review such as his will be more enduring than the endeavors of any senator or representative. Also he lacks a suitable political base, with his offices in Manhattan but his home in Connecticut, and his roots in neither state. In South Carolina or Texas, he would go straight to the top, if he ran for office -- but not in liberal Manhattan.

In France, the mixture of literary and political talents that is Buckley's would make him premier, or even president. But in the United States, literary men have not taken the helm of government since the days of Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson. (Mr. Henry Wallace was editor, temporarily, of the "New Republic", at the time he entertained Presidential aspirations; but he was sent back to his hybrid corn.)

Never corny, Mr. Buckley ploughs the waves, rather than the fields: his avocation is yachting, and also he skis. (His serious writing is done chiefly in Swiss ski-resorts, where he can escape briefly from editorial labors.) College students hang on his every word, but he has had to give up his lecture-tours, what with the weight of magazine and newspaper column on his shoulders.

We ate his birthday cake, and drank his health. A gallant fighter for causes seemingly lost, Bill Buckley knows that -- in Mr. T. S. Eliot's phrase -- there are no lost causes, because there are no gained causes; every generation fights the battle afresh. In the political and intellectual struggle of modern America, Mr. Buckley brandishes a field-marshall's baton.

Pipeline of Life

Under Discussion

For the December 17 meeting, the feature will be a panel discussion on "Problems of Teenagers". The moderator will be Mr. Shepard Millians, chairman of the Board of Education and a Vice-President of Midway Jewish Center, and an assistant principal in the New York City School system. Parents and teenagers are invited to attend, submit questions and participate in the discussion.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

NEWS ITEM: Robbery victim arrested in New York City for killing robbers. Police commissioner wants more policemen.

Of course. How many more victims of crime are running around loose?

NEWS ITEM: Anti-mugger weapon, a pen that squirts tear gas, held illegal in New York City.

With that bit of intelligence in mind, kindly picture this court scene:

POLICEMAN: Your Honor, I caught this woman trying to spray tear gas into the eyes of a mugger attacking her. I immediately placed her under arrest for possession of an illegal and dangerous weapon.

THE COURT: What happened to the mugger?

POLICEMAN: He got away while I was arresting the lady, your Honor.

THE COURT: Too bad. What was the alleged mugger doing?

POLICEMAN: He stole up behind the woman and threw his arms around her.

THE COURT: Aha! Obviously a mugger-mugger. They're harmless.

The judge studied the bruised face of the woman before him, then looked at the policeman, and said:

Did this woman have any other dangerous weapons in her possession?

POLICEMAN: Yes, your Honor. She had a four-inch-long hatpin and a small lead pipe in her purse.

THE COURT: We must ask the legislature to outlaw heinous weapons like those. If we let women go around armed, this country will deteriorate into a matriarchy. That's all right on Mother's Day, but think of what this country would be like if every day was Mother's Day.

Madam, what do you have to say for yourself?

THE PRISONER: Your Honor, I now know what the badge is for. It's a symbol of courage, a kind of badge of honor, awarded to the policeman for showing heroism beyond the call of duty by arresting a mugger victim while he lets the mugger get away.

THE COURT: (Scowling at the prisoner) The police can't get them all. What would you have had him do, catch the mugger and let YOU get away?

THE PRISONER: If the policeman hadn't interfered, I would have squirted tear gas in the mugger's eyes, hit him with my weighted purse, jabbed him with the hatpin for good measure, and made a citizen's arrest.

THE COURT: Brilliant! You'd add assault to the other charges against you and possibly a suit or false arrest if the mugger knew anything at all about the law.

I'm afraid I'll have to hold you for the grand jury. There are no women on it this month, so sisterly sentiment shouldn't becloud the jurors' judgment.

Next case.

SOCIAL SECURITY ITEM: Husband dies. Widow, who had been getting $59 and change a month, "social security" before husband's death, now gets $62 and change a month.

Obviously, this widow is presently rolling in the lap of luxury. The extra $3 a month the government magnificently returns to her (she as well as her husband paid into the "social security fund for years) would keep her chewing gum except for one minor fact: She has no teeth, mainly because her "social security" check pays two-thirds of her monthly rent, leaving nothing for incidental luxuries like food and teeth with which to chew it.

QUIRK: Senator Goldwater belted by opponents in recent election campaign for being against Social Security -- an intellectually fraudulent term used to describe a system which actually doesn't exist!

REMEDY: Let's call "social security" what it is: Social Insecurity, a system by which government helps oldsters die more readily in abject poverty than they could accomplish that end by themselves. After all, isn't the purpose of government to do for the people what they can't do for themselves?

A FAREWELL TO HARMS: Sixty-three-year-old Morris Hendrickson, a grandfather of five, of Cedarhurst, turns over his roller skates to Dr. James Collins, superintendent of Nassau County's Meadow Brook Hospital, East Meadow, L.I., where the retired aircraft worker is being treated for a broken leg suffered in a fall at a skating rink while wheeling around with his wife, Irene, 60. He has been skating most of his life, and this was his first mishap, and last, as far as he is concerned. (Graphic News Photos.)

WHY THE BULLPUP MISSILE POINTS DOWN: For the benefit of motorists, and his own children, who have been wondering why the model of a Bullpup missile in front of Maxson Electronics plant in Great River, points down, William L. Maxson, president of the Long Island firm, which received the sole U.S. Navy contract ($23,500,000) to produce Bullpup missiles, explains that the weapon, an air to surface missile, is launched from aircraft and aimed at ground targets such as tanks, bridges, boat basins and supply depots. The young Maxsons are l. to r.: Mary Leslie, Holly, Caryl Ann and William, Jr. (Graphic News Photos.)

NEW COAST GUARD TENDER TO AID'L.I. BOATMEN

The first of three new 157-foot Coast Guard Buoy Tenders, capable of doing 12.8 knots an hour, with a reinforced hull for ice-breaking, has been put on service on Long Island Sound, Peconic Bay, Shelter Island Sound, and other local waters, to come to the aid of boaters in distress. Among their duties are patrolling the waterways and maintenance of buoys. Greenport will be their home port. The Red Wood (W-685) at right, replaces the Hawthorne which was the oldest active vessel of its kind in service on Long Island waterways. Tender has modern air conditioned quarters for its 32 officers and men. (Graphic News Photos.)

PUBLIC TOURS WALDEMAR CANCER CENTER IN WOODBURY

Flag-raising ceremonies in front of the newly-built Waldemar Cancer Research Foundation building, in Woodbury, preceded the first Open House public tour of the modern cancer detection facilities on Veterans Day. Veterans of Foreign Wars Post of Plainview provided color guard and donated flag and flagpole. Established in 1948 in a Brooklyn loft, the cancer-detection organization moved into its $1,200,000 facility early this year and has already examined close to 2,000 Long Islanders for early cancer signs. The non-profit center, supported by public donations makes a nominal charge of $35 for a complete examination which takes close to three hours. Long Islanders can make appointments for examinations through their family physicians or by applying to Waldemar, directly. (Graphic News Photos.)

WELCOME: Fred Scott, of Syosset, TV personality, greets tots visiting Waldemar at first "Open House."

Winter Arts Festival Dec. 21

On December 21, at 8:30 p.m., the music and art departments of Hicksville High School will join forces in their annual Winter Arts Festival.

Each high school group will present a few selections, highlights of which follows: Chorus - "Holly and the Ivy" and "Barbara Allen". Orchestra - Berger's "Short Overture". Sophomore Band - Waltzes from "Der Rosenkav-aller". Junior - Senior Band - Dream Pantomime from "Hansel and Gretel".

The art classes of Miss Jonassen, Mr. Holmes and Mr. Ericson have been amassing a collection of student works to be viewed by the audience in the lobby gallery. One of the artists, Roger Rooman, has painted his impressions of the "Nutcracker Suite", one of the numbers on the program.

As a finale, all five choruses and the two orchestras tras augmented by the winds and percussions from the bands will combine in the traditional "Hallelujah Chorus" by Frederick Handel. Over 300 students will participate.

Tickets may be purchased from Hicksville students involved in the production or at the box office December 21.

by HOWARD FINNEGAN

Hicksville High clamped down on Westbury in the fourth period of the season basketball opener and won going away 42-30.

It was an impressive debut for the Orange and Black. Coach Ed Petro's boys made all the right moves and responded with precision when he signaled the victory drive.

Petro is assisted this year by Ron Alfieri. He has been a member of the Hicksville faculty for the past five years. He is a graduate of St. John's University and led the Redmen to the National Invitation in his senior year.

Deadlocked 26-26 after three periods Hicksville moved quickly in the fourth period. Bill Corrigan cut into the bucket and put the ball on the rim. Guy Van Wagenen tapped it in. Corrigan was back a short while later with a cut through the bucket and this time the ball dropped.

Sophomore Jim Bergholtz shot a quick pass to Glen Olsen in the Key who turned and gave off to Van Wagenen under the nets for another score.

Corrigan came back again and Van Wagenen tipped it in as the sellout crowd at Old Westbury sat in stunned silence.

Any chance the Green Wave had of mounting a counter attack was ruined by Bergholtz. Twice he challenged at the in bounds line so thoroughly confusing the guard that he induced a step over the line and gained Hicksville possession.

The final blow was an out of bounds play from Olsen to Bergholtz to John Walker.

Presently undefeated Lutheran High of Brookville will provide Hicksville with a test of major proportions this Tuesday night at Hicksville. A capacity house is expected with more of the seats going to Lutheran supporters than to the Hicksville fans. Hicksville had its poorest home football attendance in years this fall and the lack of student interest was reflected in the small turnout at nearby Westbury for the basketball opener.

Coach Petro is pepping a team that is worth watching and it won't be long before the hometown fans find it out.

The Alumni-Faculty game is Friday night at 7:45 with tickets at the door at $5.50 each. All funds go to the Athletic Dinner held each spring.

Christmas Party For Democrats

The Bethpage Democratic Club will hold its annual Christmas Party on Friday evening, at 9 p.m. at the American Legion Hall in Bethpage.

This year's party will be larger than the other parties the club has had, because the club is growing in Bethpage.

Professional talent will entertain at the party in addition to a spread of food that will be provided.

Mrs. Mary Motta the club's president has arranged to have the newly elected candidates present.

College Notes

Gregg Soinen of Hicksville is a member of the Jazz Laboratory Orchestra which assisted the Ithaca College Concert Choir in a program presented recently in the new Music Building auditorium.

Mr. Soinen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Soinen, 51 Eleventh St., Hicksville. He is a junior in the School of Music at Ithaca College.

Citizenship, Honor Roll

Mr. Anthony P. Mattaliano, Principal of the John F. Kennedy Junior High School, Bethpage, is pleased to announce the results of the current Honor Roll and Citizenship Roll. A total of 277 students have earned this distinction. This is an increase of 74 over the previous period that ended June 20, 1964.

The 82 students who achieved a grade of 85% or above in all major subjects and 74% or above in minor subjects are on the Gold Honor Roll. The 115 students who had a grade no lower than 80% in all major subjects and 74% or above in minor subjects are on the Blue Honor Roll. Major subjects are English, mathematics, science, social studies, and foreign languages which include German, French, Latin, Spanish and Russian. Minor subjects are art, home economics, industrial arts, music and physical education.

The 177 students who are on the Citizenship Roll have an effort grade of B or higher in every subject, major and minor. One hundred and sixteen students on the Citizenship Roll are also on the Honor Roll.

ADELPHI SUFFOLK COLLEGE UNDERGRADUATE DAY PROGRAM

a Liberal Arts curriculum at a small private college offering scholarships & financial aid to qualified students

Interested students are invited to inquire about available scholarships, grants-in-aid, and student loans. Awards are determined on the basis of financial need to those students who demonstrate academic achievement, competence in a particular field, or distinctive contributions to some phase of total life of the college. The New York State Scholar Incentive Program plus N.Y. State Higher Education Assistance Plan may be applied at ASC towards college tuition and fees. Requirements for eligibility and full information is available from the Director of Admissions. Write now.

This Romanesque Urn
is typical of the statuary on the ASC 23-acre campus
— the former estate of the late Wm. K. Vanderbilt.

THE CURRICULUM OF THE COLLEGE consists of four divisions: I. Arts; II. Humanities; III. Natural Sciences and Mathematics; IV. Social Sciences.

Every student must take a certain number of courses in each of the four divisions, for sound instruction in the liberal arts. No later than the end of the sophomore year, he may choose a concentration in either the humanities, natural sciences and mathematics, or social sciences.

THE TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAM at Adelphi Suffolk College qualifies and certifies both elementary and secondary school teachers. All students must complete a basic liberal arts course of study along with methods courses in education.

Quality students can reap rich personal rewards in a full time 4 year program at this small, private, liberal arts college. Why not write or call now for information and catalog?

HERE'S A GIFT...

that Keeps on Giving!

This year give a Savings Account for Christmas. They will appreciate this unique gift idea for years to come. Maybe it will help cover the cost of college; perhaps it will open the door of a new home someday, but whatever it is, you can be sure they'll remember your thoughtfulness. Make their Holiday a happy one this year by opening a Savings Account at Reliance Federal Savings.

"How did you know I needed a new broom?"

If You Please

By Peter Pettibone

I used to wonder at the power over men which such women as Peggy Joyce had. Then one night in the Casino at Cannes I saw her enter with a well known auto manufacturer, and I watched her closely. When they were seated, she turned and looked slowly, attentively around the room - a long, careful, thorough look satisfying her curiosity as to who was there, what the women were wearing, etc. Then she turned back to her escort, and for the rest of the evening I never once saw her take her eyes from him. She paid him the greatest compliment -- the compliment of her undivided attention. Incidentally, this same - auto maker gave Peggy nearly a million dollars worth of diamonds and rubles. (No wonder, she kept looking at him)... When a customer ordered the $3 dinner at a Jericho Turnpike diner the waiter asked, "Do you want it on white or rye, sir?"...The Princeton class of 1948 has gained 3700 pounds....Fashion note: As usual there will be little change in men's pockets next year....Song title from a Port Washington doll: "It Is Better To Break One's Heart Than To Do Nothing With It."...At Carl Hoppl's Westbury Manor: Beatrice Lillie commented, "You can have the newest look, I'll take the old gleam."...Freeport store ad: "New shipment of sweaters for teen-agers, and many other items too humorous to mention!"...I once knew a man who said his prayer was "Lord, give me this day my daily opinion, and forgive me for the one I had yesterday."...A Sands Point woman planning a cocktail party thought the invitations ought to read "From six to eight," but her husband objected that this would appear to be telling the guests when to go home. So the invitation merely stated "Cocktails at six," with the inevitable result. Long after midnight the party was still going strong. Shortly after one a.m., the police arrived. Seems somebody in the neighborhood had complained about all the racket going on. The host was outraged, said he couldn't imagine one of his neighbors making a complaint. But the cops were adamant. That broke up the party. After the last guest filed out, the hostess turned to her husband and murmured: "I wonder who called the police?" Replied her weary, know-it-all husband "I did." (That's a good tip for Christmas parties. But don't tell the cops I told you.)... Note to my Republican friends. What you really need is a good feud administrator...Overheard at Millbridge Inn: "She's the kind men look at twice--they don't believe it the first time."...Families should be closer dept.: I actually know a man who is so busy that he learned first in the sports pages that his son had won a scholarship for his football playing. He resides in Oyster Bay and his son is playing on an eastern team of note...Son Chuckie asked a pal, "Who is the President of the United States?" He answered: "Howard Johnson and he's 28 years old."...Modern note: One young doll to another: "While she's waiting for the right man to come along, she's having a wonderful time with the wrong ones."...If You Please, Kiddo....

Hornets Win Over Jets

The Bethpage Hornets locked horns with the Jets to win 12 to 10 in the Connie Mack Basketball League for boys 9, 10, 11, at Central Blvd. School. Tommy Campbell and Tony Cable each had two baskets for the Hornets. Steve Hiller and Mike Galowski led the Jets with 4 points each.

In the second game the powerful Knicks turned back the Lions 11 to 7. Richard Pietzak and Tom Rooney each had 4 points for the Knicks. Jim Callahan and Bill Cole led the Lions.

The Bethpage "Comets" turned back St. Ignatius "B" of Hicksville 29 to 18 as Don Martin of the "Comets" scored 8 points in the third quarter to wind up with a total of 18 points for the game.
