THE WILLET AVENUE SCHOOL SECOND GRADE CLASSES of Mrs. Renee Raymond and Mrs. Roslyn Katz performed an original musical review for the students of the Dutch Lane School, Hicksville, Wednesday, January 13. The review titled "Everybody Has a Job" was based upon the second grade curriculum social studies unit: Community Helpers.

In all, fifty seven students sang or danced to the delight of the young audience. (Photo by Gardiner Gregory)

THE ANNUAL CHAMBER RECITAL is the showcase for those Hicksville High students who have achieved mastery in their performance field. Shown above with Mr. Pellerin, their instructor, are members of the advanced saxophone quartet: John Barcellona, soprano, Helen Polcek, alto, James Kleiner, tenor, Michael Lips, baritone, all from the Modern Music Honor Society. The community is cordially invited to attend Feb. 5 at 8:30 in the High School Auditorium. No admission will be charged.

Appointed To Magazine Bd.

Eulalie J. Hatch, 68 Jerusalem Ave., Hicksville, has been appointed member of Mademoiselle Magazine's 1965 College Board. The Board is composed of winners of the magazine's annual College Board Competition.

Burglars Get $4,000

The stamp and ceramic studio of William Alter, 70 Jerusalem Ave., Hicksville, was burglarized over the weekend and a collection of stamps worth over $4,000 was stolen, according to Mr. Alter. Entry to the studio was gained through breaking the stained glass front door. The theft was not discovered by Mr. Alter until Monday. Second Precinct is conducting an investigation.

Mr. Alter is carrying on business as usual in the same location.

Study Is Set For Blighted Local Areas

A resolution calling on the Town Housing Authority to conduct a town-wide survey to pinpoint areas of the town that are potential sub-standard or blighted areas was introduced Tuesday by Town Board Majority Leader Councilman Edward J. Poulos. The Board acted favorably on the resolution and set up offices in the Hicksville annex of Town Hall.

The five-member Housing Authority was appointed by the Board in 1963 and is chaired by Mr. Mac Singer of Old Bethpage. The other members include: Frank J. Swit, Massapequa; John N. Dyer, Oyster Bay Cove; George C. Karlson, Hicksville and Jesse H. Harmon, Oyster Bay.

"This is a preventive measure," Poulos said, "to pinpoint any areas in the Town that appear to be on the verge of becoming blighted or sub-standard. I see this as a cooperative effort between government and residents to prevent blight and run-down neighborhoods before they get a foothold."

Bruno Charges 'Big School Drinking Spree'

By Edward J. Van Allen

Hicksville School Superintendent Donald F. Abt has confirmed some of the charges made recently by Trustee William A. Bruno, Jr., who reported that children, both boys and girls, had been caught drinking in both the Junior and Senior High Schools of the district.

In a letter to Bruno dated January 21, Abt admitted that a student in the Senior High School was "suspended" for "carrying around a bottle of Sake and a sample bottle of Southern Comfort." On the same day, Abt continued, a student dismissed for "talking loudly in the corridors" had an "unopened beer can in his back pocket."

A memorandum released by Bruno, this one from Principal Bernard H. Braun of the Junior High School to Abt, showed that one student had brought wine into school in a Tupperware container, another had brought in whiskey in a similar container, and another even allegedly had eaten candy containing "scotch." The memorandum quoted some of the students as saying they drank liquor for "kicks." Two of the boys, the memorandum said, are 15, while another is only 14.

In a letter to Bruno dated January 19, Abt had denied that beer and liquor cans and bottles had been found in a girls' lavatory and that a Junior High School girl had been sent home "intoxicated." But this reporter learned from other sources that students saw a whole batch of empty beer cans and bottles in a litter basket in a girls' lavatory. The sources said a number of students, both boys and girls, had been "suspended or expelled" for drinking in the schools.

Bruno charged also that it is an "open secret" in the district that there was a "big drinking party" among Sr. High School students' just prior to Christmas.

The minority trustee has also been probing reports of an assault in which a student was allegedly knocked unconscious in

BEAUTY SECRETS

By Victor of Vilu

Be Yourself

"So many of my patrons, both young and old, come to me with pictures cut out of the fashion magazines or the newspaper and say to me, 'Victor this is what I want you to do for me.' More often than not, I look at the picture, take a good look at my customer and reply, 'are you sure?' This is about as diplomatic as I can be under the circumstances, because it's hard to tell a young lady that she won't look as good as Ladybird, once she's got her mind set on copying her hair style.

Nature has a wonderful way of making each of us individuals, endowed in a special way with certain facial characteristics and personality traits that make us different from the next person. If this were not so, we would all wear the same clothes, the same hair styles, spout the same ideas and look like everybody else without having a distinguishing characteristic of our own.

It's good to get ideas from people who set the pace in the world of fashion. But these ideas should be the beginning and not the end of our search for our own individuality. When you see something you like, make certain first of all, that it was meant for you. Next, decide how you can change it or adapt it to your own particular style. Finally, armed with this information, visit your favorite salon and let the specialist you find there decide how it will look best on you. Not only must the hair style be right for your face, it must conform as well to the little world in which you live. I hate to use the word "conform" because this is a word that makes fashion-conscious women shudder. But we must all take into consideration that a hair style that is right for Washington, D.C. society, may be out of place in Plainview, Leyittown or Hicksville.

We at Vilu don't know all the answers. But profit by our experience in working with thousands of women, each of whom has a special beauty problem to work out. We have the "know how" to make you as beautiful as you can be -- and you may turn out 100% prettier than you would have had you copied Mrs. Johnson's coiffure. Adapt but don't adopt a hair style, if you want to look your very best! For questions or consultation call or see Mr. Victor at Vilu, OV 1-8760, 534 So. Broadway, Hicksville.

zoom upwards (County, State & Federal are also increasing). Don't blame me I told you so.

The question is asked - who do your opponents win and your friends loose - It's easy: T.E.A.C.H. extremists and friends champion indiscriminate salary increase - year in year out. So approx - mately 1500 teachers and friends vote for their own personal gain -- at your expense. Why don't they place ceilings on the Teachers & Administrators salaries!

The complacent people, at least 15,000 of them, had better do something about this. Stop electing, in my opinion "Abt" Administration ves men.

You read I'm sure the "T.E.A.C.H." ad for Robots in last weeks paper.

Remember last years famous cry "I'll cost you less than a pizza pie." Famous last words.

Respectfully,
William A. Bruno, Jr.
Member of Board of Education.

Letters

Dear Taxpayer:

For two years, especially during the Budget hearings I kept my campaign pledge to you. Lord knows I tried to keep the budget down. I failed not because I was wrong but because "Spenders" were elected, in my opinion, traitors to the taxpayer. I told you what would happen if you elected that "10th Street" gang of T.E.A.C.H. extremists (Lawrence, Jackson & Hornbostel). Then you elected T.E.A.C.H. sympathizers (Johnson & McCormick & Kunz).

So far this year, I haven't attended a single Budget hearing -- they are a waste of time and determined to drive you to the poor house. I informed you last year what would happen if "ABT'S" boys were elected.

Now stand by -- your P.T.A. as a rule are controlled by "T.E.A.C.H. extremists" so expect them to endorse this budget -- sight unseen, as done every year.

What is the new taxable increase - Almost $1,100,000; without another New salary scale increase. It could round off to a $1,500,000 increase -- your taxes will ed. Superintendent Abt must insure that our schools provide materials that present both sides of an issue. There is no other way to insure the continuation of a democratic society. "Indoctrination" must not replace "Education".

5. After much caucusing the school board trustees decided upon a ruse that would absolve them of the title of "censor". They would accept the books, but would not place them in the school libraries. Supt. Abt joined in the game by staffing he would place the books in a teacher's reference library, which has not yet been established. Other ruses were suggested and defeated. At one point the book could have been admitted on its educational value, but Mr. Lawrence declared for the school board that the book had no educational value. He could quote no educational institution that had previously taken a similar stand. (His statement is in direct opposition to the national revival of interest in all conservative political theories and theorists. Nor can anyone ignore the fact that this book sold eight million copies, and established itself as the most controversial book of 1964.)

At this point, I would like to acknowledge my sincere thanks to those members of the board, who defeated Mr. Lawrence's resolution, which if passed, would have admitted Communist authored books to our school libraries. Mr. Lawrence expressed the concern, that if a Soviet Astronaut went to the moon, and later wrote a book about his experience, we could not under present policy place that book in our school libraries.

To the Editor:

To date, four newspapers have printed their versions of what supposedly transpired at the Hicksville School Board meeting of Jan. 8th. Not one version was totally accurate.

Working on the general principle that that which is discussed openly will not recur, I want to discuss some of the unpublished events, which contributed to the banning of "None Dare Call It Treason."

1. The book was an outright gift, it is not a textbook, nor was it intended as mandatory reading.

2. The Hicksville Board of Education did accept the books, and sent the donor a letter acknowledging her thoughtfulness.

3. It was Superintendent Abt, who insisted that the book be reviewed by the same standards established for the review of textbooks. (This is a complete turnabout for Supt. Abt, who wrote in the May 1963 Bulletin Board, I quote, "It is one thing to express honest criticism of some school text, or teaching program, and raise public question about it. It is quite another thing to use group pressure to have certain materials BANNED because they do not conform to some special group's ideas about Americanism, minority group interest, or what not.") This "lip-service" was obviously introduced to lend support to the accusations which were being leveled against Mr. Bruno, who was being labeled a "censor and book burner" by T.E.A.C.H. sponsored school board candidate Irving Lawrence.

4. The information (microfilmed clippings from newsprint) which was introduced to judge the book was neither fair in treatment of controversial material, or objective. In truth, it can be stated that leftwing newsprint was used to ban a rightwing publication. The Supervisor of Social Studies relied heavily upon an Ohio newspaper article, which had been read into the Congressional Record on Sept. 10, 1964 by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, Ohio Democrat.

(After viewing this unbelievable farce, I could not erase the question from my mind as to how our text-books are actually chosen. Do our supervisors personally examine a text-book before recommending it for school use, or do they rely on someone else's opinion? Can our supervisors be expected to exercise their knowledge and ability as the scope of education broadens, or is their first duty to their superintendent? Your child's democratic heritage must be safeguard-

Thus the school children would be denied an educational tool. The majority of the board dissented (5-2). Evidently these men could foresee the danger in establishing such a resolution.

I ask Mr. Lawrence, who would bear the burden of determining what is educational matter, and what is Communist propaganda? If Mr. Lawrence is truly concerned with the district's book evaluation policy, he should work to establish a resolution guaranteeing that book evaluations be kept free from political interference, and the promotion of prejudice.

Frank W. Cyr, Prof. of Education Teachers College, Columbia University has stated, "the local school board is one of the strongholds of democracy in a rapidly changing world. It must continue to function with increasing effectiveness, if democracy is to be preserved."

The community must now decide whether the school board is to continue to serve democracy or whether it will become an instrument of tyranny? Florence Infantino

THINKING IT OVER

By Robert L. Morgan

Last year about this time drives called "Lights on for Education" were being organized to try to stimulate more state aid for local school districts. But after seeing Rockefeller's budget we doubt that there will be any such drive this year. After the new taxes there may not be enough money left to pay the regular electric light bill, let alone a display for the governor.

The point should come sharply in focus for all of those proponents of state aid and those who echo the chorus sometimes without even knowing what they are talking about, that state aid costs tax money the same as local aid.

And in the case of the wealthier areas of the state such as Long Island, the local share won't be more, but less of the state tax dollar for education. It is true that the school districts will get more money in total, but the local people will pay nearly double the amount received in new taxes.

For instance, if Governor Rockefeller's sales tax goes into effect it will take an estimated $50 million from Nassau and Suffolk counties. The school districts in these counties will receive about $25 million in state aid under his proposals. It is correct that Gov. Rockefeller's budget includes many other things besides education, but if you go over the items one by one you will find that very few of them have any direct meaning for Long Island, except education. So in order to get the education dole we must fork out for all of the other pet projects that fill the pork barrel and this makes us pay two dollars for every one we get back.

This is enough to blow anyone's fuse on the lights on for education circuit.

Record Rise In Breast Feeding

By C.A. Dean, M.D.

MEDITORIAL: Over the last several years there has been a gradual decline in breast feeding. Recently, however, reports indicate what appears to be a revival of interest in this way of feeding the newborn infant.

Experts in the field of mental health have long felt that a greater percentage of unstable and insecure children will result from the departure from feeding infants "nature's way." Allergy to cow's milk can sometimes be avoided by not giving it to a newborn baby right away. It has been shown that infantile eczema is less common in breast-fed babies. Also, infants, who are most susceptible to disease at this age, are able to take in through their mother's milk various immune substances which offer added protection against disease.

The reports show that the less-educated and lower-income groups have a lower incidence of breast-fed babies than the more educated and higher income groups. It is apparent that cost isn't a factor since bottle feeding is much more expensive. In breast feeding there is nothing to buy; the milk is sterile and at the proper temperature.

A mother has a tremendous sense of satisfaction when she breast feeds her child. Some women can't seem to feed their children this way for physical reasons, but by and large if a mother truly wants to breast feed, she will be able to do so.

(Q) "I am in the change (menopause). My menstrual periods occur every three or four months. Am I still able to conceive?"

Mrs. M.I.

(A) As long as you have menstrual periods you may be still ovulating (releasing eggs from the ovaries). During menopause, however, ovulation is not common. Conception is very unlikely if six months have occurred since the last menstruation.

The Church Endures

By Russell Kirk

An eighth-century church has just been consecrated at Acomb, a new suburb of York, in England. Yes, eighth century; for the stones of this church originally stood some miles distant, in the heart of the walled city of York. That old church was called St. Mary Bishophill Senior, and anyone interested may read about it in my book "Beyond the Dreams of Avarice."

When I saw St. Mary Bishophill Senior some years ago, it was derelict and forlorn. A pair of beggars slept every night in the desecrated nave, and teen-age boys and girls were engaged in stoning out the panes of the east window, while I was present. The streets round about the church were either "cleared" or had become howling slum; no congregation remained.

Now St. Mary's has been demolished, except for the venerable tower of white stone. This was probably the oldest church in York, part of it certainly eighth or ninth century in its fabric, and its foundation probably going back to Roman times. The great stones of the medieval south wall have been transferred, along with eighth and ninth-century work, to Acomb -- and there rise again in the new church of the Holy Redeemer, surrounded by new housing projects.

The death and resurrection of St. Mary Bishophill Senior is symbolic of the long -- and often precarious -- continuity of the Christian church generally. Lord Acton, writing about the papacy, said once that the best proof of the papacy's divine ordination is this: no institution purely human could have survived so many crimes and blunders. This mordant remark may be applied to Christianity in general. Christianity has not failed, says G. K. Chesterton -- it merely has never been tried. Be that as it may, the Christian church has survived many centuries of human bigotry, greed, violence and neglect. Some eminent rationalists predicted less than a century ago that soon organized Christianity would dissolve altogether.

But that has not come to pass in our time, despite the virtual obliteration of Christian observance in Communist lands. In its darkest hours, somehow, the church is saved by the remnant still faithful. Dr. Paul Carlson, murdered in Stanleyville, said once that more men and women have died for the Christian faith in this country than in the time of the primitive church.

In much of the West, the church is more menaced by contempt and indifference than by persecution. In England, only some 15 per cent of the population retains any regular church connection. In Sweden and Denmark, the percentage of church attendance is much smaller. Popular interest in the church is at a low ebb in Germany and the low countries. In Latin America, it is very difficult to recruit enough priests to maintain even a skeletal parish structure. Much of North American Christianity is simply what Dr. Will Herberg calls "the ethos of sociability" -- a complacent church-going which little affects the daily lives of nominal church members.

So it is that ancient church buildings like St. Mary Bishophill Senior fall desolate. Yet even in ruin, they are not totally forgotten. This commentator ventures to predict that even as St. Mary's rises transformed, so the submerged Christian communities of Communist China and other oppressed lands, in the fullness of time, will win through to the day when they may profess their faith openly and manfully once more.

SPORTS

by HOWARD FINNEGAN

Hicksville High lost a droll afternoon game at MacArthur by five points after blowing a seven point halftime advantage. The contest was witnessed by less than 200 persons.

A few years back the then existing school board ordered a new roof for the high school gym. The original one kept falling down bit by bit and represented a real hazard.

The replacement is a dreary metal construction which also make the Hicksville gym the worst lit in Nassau County.

At that time this column was unduly impressed and referred to the tin lid as the tin cave.

We should have understood. A tin lid is needed for a garbage can and that is exactly what the gym is. It is the dirtiest in Nassau. It was absolutely filthy for the Plainedge game and only an attempt was made for the Plainview contest.

It must be difficult to instruct in Health and Hygiene and Physical Education in a school where penny pinching results in cesspool economics.

Hicksville plays at Clarke this Friday night with the Comets favored by 11 points here.

Big on the schedule is the wrestling match at Hicksville with Syosset for the championship of Division One. It starts at 4:00 p.m.

Hicksville High reeled to its third straight defeat on the home court, Tuesday night, as Plainview utilized a clawing zone press to come from behind, 67-66 in a thriller.

It was the battle for second place and the last division playoff berth. Coach Ed Petro was able to call upon 6 foot 6 inch Guy Van Wagenen and he topped in 19 points.

However, he joined four other Hicksville starters on the bench in the last three minutes with five personals and the toll was too much for the Orange.

Hicksville worked to a 28-22 halftime lead and in a nip and tuck third period held on 42-39 after three periods. Plainview stepped into the lead 45-43 but long, quick passes from Jim Bergholtz to Bob Fink and Van Wagenen restored the Comets to an 8 point lead with four minutes remaining.

The turning point came here. John Walker was dribbling and got siccored from the sides by two Gulls and was called for charging by the trailing umpire. The crowd howled in astonishment but the trend was evident.

With 27 seconds to play Plainview intercepted an eleventh Hicksville pass for the night and covered the winning basket. The Comets immediately lost the ball, got it back with 12 seconds left on a Bergholtz steal but would not put up a shot as the ball was passed back and forth under the boards.

Bergholtz got the Comets a jump ball with 7 seconds left but Plainview won the tap and the game was over.

Athletic Director Lou Millevolte ordered heavy-rubber mats hung under the Hicksville baskets to protect the players. The close proximity of the walls and doors have always represented a danger to the players but the tragic accident fortunately has never happened.

The mats were up for the first time in the Plainview game and did save a very bad situation and injury. Jim Bergholtz stole the ball and went in for a fast layup. After the shot he was slammed into the wall by a vicious football block from behind. The mats saved him.

So hard was the play that the officials stopped the game and disqualified the Plainview player from the game.

At the mid-way point in the campaign here are the facts and figures on the Comet varsity:

The Bulova Watchmakers will clash with the New Jersey Wheelers on Sat., Feb. 6, in an official National Wheelchair Basketball Association game.

Mrs. William Atchison won a dark horse prize of $10.

Father Goggin urged all the ladies to remind their friends and neighbors that all mothers of Parochial School children have an obligation to attend auxiliary meetings.

The next meeting will be held in the school auditorium on Feb. 22, at 8:15 p.m. Father John Hessian will be the guest at the February meeting. Father Hessian is well known and loved by St. Ignatius parishoners for his eloquent sermons at Sunday Masses here. He is a member of the faculty of St. Joseph's College for Women in Brooklyn.

NASSAU PROMOTES 21 COPS; THREE TO INSPECTORS

STEP UP IN RANK: In a mass promotion ceremony, Nassau's Acting Police Commissioner Francis B. Looney elevated 21 policemen, including three to inspectors, seven to deputy inspectors, one to captain, two to lieutenants and eight to sergeants. Below, right, Looney pins an Inspector's badge on James R. Ketcham, of Farmingdale, as County Executive Eugene H. Nickerson reads the promotion certificate. Ketcham, a law school graduate, was later named to fill the post left vacant by the death of Sheriff Thomas Dugan. (Graphic News Photo.)

MY POP, THE COP!—Michael Thorne, 8, looks proudly at dad, Laurence J. Thorne, of Wantagh, promoted to Lieutenant, who lets son feel new badge.

CUMMINGS-UP IN WORLD: John J. Cummings, of Seaford, promoted to Inspector, poses with his family, including son-in-law Richard Hoening. A graduate of FBI National Academy, Cummings has spent 16 of his 18 years on the force in the Detective Division.

SPACEMAN'S VIEW: Three-year-old Daniel White watched through spaceman's headgear, as elated Ma gives kiss of congratulations to Pa, George D. White, of Glenwood Landing, promoted to Sergeant.

"ON-TRACK" GAMBLING: John Gambling, radio personality of Manhasset, starts on track towards funds for Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, by becoming acquainted with some of the victims of the disease, shown playing wheelchair baseball. Gambling was named Chairman of the MDAA Chapters on Long Island. Young ball players are on rigidly-controlled diet in metabolic unit tests, at a MDAA research center. (Graphic News Photos.)

DROP IN FOR "HELLO" TO CAROL "DOLLY" CHANNING

Carol Channing, star of the musical comedy hit "Hello Dolly" who promised to meet a winner of a Long Island doll-identification contest, conducted recently by the West Hempstead Branch of the Community Bank, is introduced to Dianne Heacock of Syosset by the Bank's president, William A. Kielman. Dianne, 12, who won choice "Hello Dolly" seats from Community Bank, was invited to the star's dressing room at the St. James Theatre where she told Miss Channing of the research she did to identify most of the 50 native dolls in the contest. (Graphic News Photos.)

SCHOOL FACILITIES: Private, non-profit, college preparatory schools on Long Island, such as the ten-year-old Henley School at Jamaica Estates, are helping to meet the increasing demand for modern school facilities. Shown breaking ground at Palo Alto Street, in Holliswood for one of the most modern schools in the nation, to be opened next September, are directors, teachers and some of the students of Henley. To ease school shortages, three public schools and one high school, at a cost of more than $10 million, were built in Queens County last year. Plans for the future call for five more elementary schools, two junior high schools and one senior high school for Queens. Private schools like Henley, draw their student bodies mostly from Queens, Nassau and Suffolk Counties. (Graphic News Photo.)

Empire Made One Of Top Ten

Empire Storage Warehouse, Inc., 80 Duffy Ave., Hicksville, has been designated one of the "Top Ten" North American Van Lines agents in the United States. The announcement was made this week by James Edgett, President of North American Van Lines, Inc., at the world-wide headquarters in Ft. Wayne, Indiana.

The "Top Ten" agents are chosen from the more than 900 NAVL agents in a carefully controlled system of calculations in the North American Quality Control program. The NAVL Control program includes a comprehensive breakdown of all facets of the long distance moving industry; estimating, packing, storage, hauling, claims, sales, destination services and overall agency efficiency. As one of the nation's "Top Ten" agents, Empire Storage will receive an all-expense paid trip for two to the North American Van Lines annual convention, scheduled for April in Vienna, Austria, and a plaque signifying the high honor, to be presented at a ceremony in Vienna.

Empire Storage Warehouse, Inc., in the moving and storage business for more than sixty years under the same family ownership, is under the direction of Henry C. Brengel, Sr., President, and Henry C. Brengel, Jr. Vice-President and General Manager. Being

Bruno has charged that Abt's administration "with the blessing of the majority members of the School Board," has covered up the "prodigious amount of vandalism in the district" and even failed to call in the police to investigate the assault. Abt replied by letter that "to the best of my knowledge the police department is called in in all cases of criminal activities that occur in the schools or on the grounds of this district."

Section 804 of the State Education Law mandates that the schools teach children the "nature of alcoholic drinks and their effects on the human system."
