Petito Against O. Bay Bridge Across Sound

"We are unalterably opposed to the construction of the proposed bridge across Long Island Sound from Bayville and Oyster Bay to Port Chester and Rye, N.Y. We see construction of this bridge as the forerunner of the complete destruction of the suburban beauty of the North Shore. The Town Board has been seriously concerned about this proposal for several years and has continually warned the home-owners of the Town and the North Shore Villages of the disastrous consequences to the natural beauty of this area of the Town of Oyster Bay, should this proposal ever become a reality.

"We will use all possible means to prevent the bulldozers of the Triboro Bridge Authority from transforming the beautiful North Shore communities into canyons of concrete. At best, this proposal is nothing more than a rape of Oyster Bay.

"We will instruct our legal staff to undertake a complete legal review to determine the most effective course of action to halt the steam-roller of the Triboro Bridge Authority before they sink one bit of concrete in any of our North Shore Communities."

Councilman Peter B. Allsopp, a resident of Mill Neck, has volunteered to act as liaison officer between the Board and Village officials in the organization and pursuit of plans to fight the bridge proposal.

Civics Holding Meeting Wed.

The Midland Civic Association will hold their next meeting at the Willet Ave. School, Hicksville, at 8:30 on Wednesday evening, February 24th. An interesting film by the New York Telephone Co., "Long Island - Dawn to Dusk" will be shown after the meeting.

Refreshments will also be served.

P.O. Will Be Closed Mon.

Washington's birthday, February 22, which falls on a Monday this year, will be observed as a legal holiday in the Hicksville Post Office and its Plainview and Old Bethpage branches, according to Acting Postmaster Irene L. Murphy.

School Board Censures Bruno Again

The Hicksville School Board has been seeing things in black and white color lately, but the color always seems to be red or Red. one said "Me too." Each

A hastily called meeting of the mice bore school board trustees' names. The circular printing grew and white, when the group, out of the recent banning of the book "None Dare Call It Treason" by John Stormer from the Hicksville School Library.

Bruno was not present at the meeting Tuesday and has not been available for comment on the censure.

but it was also incensed over a flyer sent out by a group called The Hicksville Educational League of Parents. The flyer depicted four school board members as being "four blind mice." Three of them wore tags "soft on Communism" and the last

Modern Math Second Semester

Parent interest in Modern Math continued for the second semester in Bethpage with 157 enrolling in a service course which emphasizes "how to do it." Meeting on Monday, February 15: 92 enrolled in Modern Math K-6 (for beginners); 49 enrolled in K-6 (for advanced); and 16 in a course in School Math Study Group materials offered in the 7th and 8th grades.

Following the first semester enrollment of 572, this reflects the continuing strong interest on the part of parents in the Modern Math program and in the desire to understand John and Jane when they come home with the new terminology and the new way for "figuring out" arithmetic problems.

The courses, open to both resident parents of the public and parochial school youngsters, will continue for a minimum of five evening sessions of two hours each.

Charles A. Holman, manager, said the award is presented annually to the agency member who has made the most outstanding contribution to his clients, the life insurance industry, and his community during the past year.

Mr. Zuckerman is a member of President's Club, top prestige group for Connecticut General agents, and of Honor Table, highest award the company gives its field representatives. To be eligible for Honor Table an agent must have outstanding records of service to clients and place in force $1 million of new life insurance in a single year.

Last year he appeared in a company-sponsored advertisement in "Sports Illustrated." Mr. Zuckerman was selected for the honor on the basis of service to policyholders and clients and sales performance.

JEROME J. ZUCKERMAN, a resident of Hicksville, has been selected "Man of the Year" by his associates at the Charles A. Holman Associates, Long Island

He attended the City College of New York and is married to the former Sylvia Daniels of New York City. They have two children and live at 27 Pewter Lane.

THINKING IT OVER

By Robert L. Morgan

The Hicksville School Board as usual is the focal point of a great debate. It all started a month or so ago when a resident tried to donate a book "None Dare Call It Treason" by John Stormer to the school library. As can always be counted on, the Hicksville School Board made a mess of the whole issue.

Instead of accepting the books as a gift and putting them in the library without comment, the school board decided that the book should be critically evaluated. So they came up with a list of so-called errors in the book and said that for this reason it should not be in the school.

And then all hell broke loose.

Anti-communists saw Red everywhere (generally where it was only ineptness) and there has been a sea of controversy raging ever since. If the school trustees reviewed all books given to the library it would find many mistakes in them and in fact it might even find that on that basis that only empty shelves should be in the library. The board says 20 errors are too many and it will allow books with only one or two errors to be in the library. The Board will look as incompetent as it actually is if the error turns out to be a basic truth. The problem is that the School Board is in over its academic head and is once again in trouble.

We don't go along with the panic circulars that have been distributed recently either. There is no point in calling everyone and anyone a Communist. We somehow doubt that there are many active Communists in the area. But what we do have are "misnomers." We have people who call themselves "liberals" who have an open minded attitude only about opinions with which they agree and we have "conservatives" who do things in anything but a conservative way.

Increased Thirst Is Symptom Of Diabetes

By C. A. Dean, M.D.

(Q) "For the past five days I have had a terrific thirst. I even have it at night so that I have to get up for water. What could cause this? Is it serious? I am 55.

Mrs. V.V.F.

(A) Increased thirst is one of the early symptoms of diabetes, so you should be checked for this disease. Other diabetic symptoms are: weight loss; increased appetite; increased frequency of urination and weakness.

MEDITORIAL: Everyone is aware, I think of the importance of viruses in causing disease. All the common ailments (colds, flu, childhood diseases, polio and maybe even cancers) are due to them. You can see why a drug, effective against viruses, is needed.

Since the search for a viral antibiotic has not been successful, thus far, any protection against virus has been through vaccination. This is a good approach, of course, but it isn't possible to get everyone vaccinated and without complete vaccination, complete control of a disease isn't possible. As long as someone is susceptible to a given virus, the virus will always find him to produce illness.

The need for a specific medication against viruses is magnified by the fact that no effective vaccine is available for the common cold, whose very name points out its importance.

—Virus researchers have come up with some leads which may eventually bear fruit. They have found a product, produced by certain types of viruses, which is capable of killing viruses, just like antibiotics kill bacteria. This is a good start towards the goal of supplying us with a good drug for viruses.

Cleverness Vs. Moral Worth

by Russell Kirk

More than 100 cadets have been dismissed from the Air Force Academy, for cheating on an examination. Although this scandal is dismaying enough, no one who has been a college professor seems particularly surprised. According to a recent survey by Mr. William J. Bowers, indeed, about 55 per cent, at least, of college undergraduates are exam-cheaters.

What is wrong with the minds and consciences of such students? This, primarily: they prefer cleverness to moral worth. They do not aspire to be decent and worthy people; they seek, rather, to be materially successful people. They no longer emulate the saint in his godly virtue nor the knight in his manly virtue; they want neither salvation nor honor; they fancy they will be made happy by a creature-comfort triumph achieved, if necessary, through fraud.

In the days when I used to deal, as a college teacher, with masses of undergraduates, I detected a great many cheating students -- though not, probably, so many as flourish today, per head of student population. Many of the frauds were detected with the greatest ease: young people too dull or too indolent to do their own work also, often, are too dull or too indolent even to cheat skillfully. They are as incompetent as confidence-men as they would be in some reputable pursuit.

When I taxed cheating students with their detected fraud, few were ashamed. They were sorry enough to have been caught, but apparently counted the endeavor no disgrace. When, however, I told them that they had been remarkably "stupid" to think they could hoodwink an instructor by such transparent plays, they were hurt and angry. To be accused of falsehood was nothing; but to be called fools was a deadly insult.

Their standards of human character, in fine, were inverted. "Be clever, young man, and let who will be good," was their aphorism. If they choose wives on such a principle -- why, they will get precisely what they deserve; or if they choose mere friends so. For the most admirable quality in frail humanity is strong moral worth. A really honest human being, whose word is his bond, will outweigh in the eternal scales ten slippery practitioners of the art of wordly wisdom.

True, one may not "get ahead" through mere practice of moral worth. "The race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor yet riches to men of understanding, nor yet favor to men of skill." Yet there is this great compensation a man with moral worth can live with himself; while the slippery-clever man lives a lie, and knows it. Not being able to trust himself, he can trust no one; therefore he is loveless, and success is dust and ashes.

Examinations are not primarily a social hurdle, but rather a measure of personal performance for the information of the student himself. By cheating on tests, the slippery student defrauds himself, really, both because he has failed to do the academic work being tested (and therefore has wasted his time and money in college) and because he cannot tell how well he might have done if he had refrained from fraud.

The cheat, then, actually is what he detests, being called -- a fool. But this world is full of clever fools, knowing the price of everything and the value of nothing.

Why one million additional homes are heated by Modern Gas each year!

Over 1 million modern-thinking, comfort-seeking Americans go to MODERN GAS HEAT annually. They specify Gas in new homes. They convert to Gas in older homes. Because Gas is the cleanest, quietest, most economical and dependable.

Gas burns completely. It leaves no sooty residue... keeps redecorating costs low. Whisper-quiet. It's virtually trouble free, because Gas units have fewer moving parts. Gas is piped into the home. No truck deliveries to bog down. And home owners pay only for what they use, after they use it.

On Long Island there are 2 big extras with Modern Gas Heat.

LILCO's "Letter of Estimate," displayed in all quality-built L. I. homes, gives home buyers their Gas heating costs in advance. And when they buy, LILCO gives them a free service contract... backed by LILCO's large fleet of radio-equipped trucks and experienced service personnel who are ready to roll 24 hours a day.

BEAUTY SECRETS

By Victor of Vilu

The Importance of a Good Haircut

Your hair dresser has only one goal to achieve -- to make you more beautiful. From time immemorial, hair dressing and styling has been considered one of the arts. Witness the skilled hair designs we find in museums on kings and queens, gods and goddesses -- these could only have been achieved by artists. Then, as now, men and women recognized that beauty and good appearance begins with the hair, and only a skilled artisan can produce the desired effect.

I have said many times, and I repeat, that a hair dresser is an artist in every interpretation of the word. She is an artist because she is a creator who begins by examining the material with which she has to work, and ends by molding a hair cut or a hair style that will best bring out and develop the inherent beauty that exists in every one of us. A good hair dresser, and the only kind we make it our business to employ, is original and creative in her work. This skill is developed by training. But the flair has to be in the operator to begin with.

A good hair cut begins with a good design - a design that conforms to the lines, the shape, the textures and the colors the hair specialist has to work with. Hair has to be cut with care and skill in order to bring out the full potential of the style that will best conform to your coiffure, individual requirements, and personality.

A good hair cut achieves harmony, balance, good design and correct proportions. Perhaps you are not aware of this as your operator goes to work on you. But she has been trained to utilize her skill as a designer in planning your haircut and to apply her technique in achieving the right result - right for you and right for your hair.

Next time you visit VILU, watch how deftly our operator goes to work on your hair. She takes a moment to plan then applies scissor and comb with all the agility and purpose that any artist would apply to her work. Good grooming must of necessity begin with a good hair cut, if we are to achieve the many breath-taking effects that is the trade-mark of our salon.

For questions or consultations call or see Mr. Victor at Vilu, OV 1-6760, 534 So. Broadway, Hicksville. Specializing in wigs and wiglets.

sonal opinion of the book might have been, his resolution was an attempt to eliminate censorship altogether.

I can't help but be a bit tickled that Mr. Bruno has been caught in his own little web of prejudice. His term on the School Board has resulted in all kinds of bad publicity for Hicksville. Even his recent exposure of drinking in the schools shows how very little he is interested in our community when he chastizes the Superintendent for not making a public spectacle of a very serious matter. Mr. Bruno seems to have been born 300 years too late. He would have gone over real big in Salem. The only thing he has done in his three year term as a School Board Trustee is to create havoc. I wonder if he's aware that Communism (of which he is supposedly so educated a foe) is advanced when there is utter confusion. Instead of trying to combat Communism, he's acting as if he's its best agent.

This letter is not meant as a blanket endorsement of all school policies. We certainly are faced with many problems which must be solved, if we want our children to benefit. What are we to do about our overcrowded schools? Is the track system beneficial? How can we attract the best teachers? Are we concentrating enough on the non-college student? How can we maintain good schools without taxing ourselves out of suburbia? These are school problems. Let's face them and find the solutions!

Very truly yours,

I can't help but wonder if Mrs. Infantino is cognizant of the facts which involve the School Board's decision to refuse the book, "None Dare Call It Treason."

Present policy of the School Board requires materials to be used in our schools to meet these standards: accuracy, objectivity, fairness in treating controversial material, that it not be written by a Communist or Communist sympathizer, and that a controversial author's work be treated under the first three standards.

This policy was brought about by Mr. Bruno's attempts at censorship a few years back. It is ironic that the seeds which he planted have reaped a decision which makes him and his followers very unhappy. In other words, they want censorship only of other people's viewpoint, not their own.

Although Mrs. Infantino condemned him for his action, the motion which Irving Lawrence raised would have permitted the Board to accept "None Dare Call It Treason." Whatever his per-

Conditions are in a deplorable state when six high school students can buy beer at a local deli and come into my backyard to have a beer drinking party.

Conditions become worse when they can throw the empties all over the yard, knock over a slide, twist the chains off a swing, move two benches from the back of the house, cut the clothes line on the clothes dryer, tear the clothes dryer out of the ground and demolish it.

Where do the parents of these boys think they were when they come home after 11:00 p.m. with muddy shoes and chewing fresh sticks of gum to hide the beer smell?

Are these the same boys who were sniffing glue two years ago? Will they be pep-pill eaters two years from now; lose their sense of direction and be easily incited to demonstrate against police and/or school authority?

By George, it's a good day to go shopping for a new Pontiac.

It's not everyday that the Father of Our Country intervenes in our behalf—just February 22. Through his wisdom and foresight he's seen to it that some of you get the day off so you can get down to your Pontiac dealer's and look over the brilliant array of Bonneville, Grand Prix, Star Chief, Catalina, 2+2, GTO, Le Mans and Tempest models. To be truthful (may lightning strike us down) you'll probably find some more appealing than others. Performance lovers will gravitate toward the GTO and 2+2. Those who lean to luxury will probably be leaning up against a Bonneville or Grand Prix. The value-conscious you'll find clustered around the Catalina, Le Mans or Tempest. Why not drop in at your Pontiac dealer's Washington's Birthday Open House. Drive a Pontiac. Ask a few questions. On this of all days you can expect straightforward answers. That's the way George would have wanted it.

That Anti-School Snoop Legislation

The campaign against wholesale invasions of family privacy by using children as captive psychological guinea pigs has triggered two bills in the New York State Legislature so far.

One, introduced by Staten Island Assemblyman Lucio Russo, would make parental consent, in writing, mandatory before any student is subjected to a psychological test or examination. It further provides for making the results and evaluation based on the tests available to parents or guardians on request.

Print No. 1065, introduced by Assemblyman John J. S. Mead of Westchester County (companion bill, print 526, introduced by State Senator Bernard G. Gordon of Peekskill) would require the school to notify the parent or guardian in advance of the school's intention to subject the child to psychological testing. It would further bar "psychological probing" or the use of projective-technique tests on children unless the parent is "made aware" of the proposed test and materials used, gives his consent in writing, and is afforded the opportunity to see "official evaluations" based on the tests.

Unfortunately, this bill also provides that the school board may order the tests given anyhow if the parent doesn't "respond" to the notification or "resists all efforts to secure his cooperation," etc.

The very last paragraph of this bill would require "all data and records" pertaining to "psychological referrals and psychological probing or projective testing" to be kept in the "confidential locked files of the school psychologist..." and "not be incorporated on the student's permanent records."

Although at first blush, the latter bill, which appears to have been inspired by my book, 'The Branded Child,' appears to guard the rights of children and parents in this sensitive field, close study indicates otherwise. To begin with, any notification by the school of an intention to subject a school child to psychological probing should be IN WRITING. Secondly, the abstract word "cooperation" is objectionable in that it could be interpreted in any way a schoolman saw fit. Thus, if a parent objected to the school's subjecting his child to psychological testing on legal or even on religious grounds, some domineering schoolman might interpret that objection as a refusal to "cooperate."

Lastly, keeping data and records re psychological referrals and probing or projective testing locked up in the school psychologists' files might help keep misdiagnoses branding children as mentally ill out of cumulative files. But it would hardly eradicate the ethical question as to whether public facilities, time, and funds should be used to perpetuate "diagnoses" of mental illness which have no basis in medical fact.

Of course, since it is so fashionable, even among professionals, to break the law today, there is no proof that school psychologists would preserve the confidentiality of records placed in their custody. On the contrary, there is presently wholesale contravening of Section 7611 of the State Education Law which makes communications between the psychologists and his patient (or victim, as the case may be) privileged. Thus, although in the case of a school child only the parent can waive the privilege, we find the school stepping into the shoes of the parent and acting as a communicator with the psychologist. Both often act in concert to keep the parent as ignorant as possible of what the psychologist has done either for or to the child.

While it has many flaws in it, the proposed legislation has one redeeming quality: it is at least a move generally in the right direction.

Oddments and Endments

UNDERSCORING once again the need for protection and corrective legislation making school "psyche-snoops" responsible for their own acts is the case of a Plainville mother who has had to hire an attorney to get a look at her children's public school records.

Since the school district had no right to withhold these records from the mother in the first place, I think the school district should in justice, pay the legal fee incurred by the parents.

Now, lo and behold, the mother reports that the school is unable to find some medical records on her child that should be in the file and that some "psychological records" on another child have been "destroyed."

Interesting? Here's more...

I've received word that many cumulative files were changed recently in a Suffolk County school district after a school board member began scanning them for "invasions of privacy."

Did the district have lawful authority to change the records? I doubt it.

But haven't you heard? Laws don't apply to professional educationists. They're made for the common man, the hoi polloi, the ruck like you and me...

The Levittown-Hicksville Auxiliary of the Association for the Help of Retarded Children is campaigning against having a shared services board composed of representatives from public school districts take over the functions of the county Vocational Education and Extension Board in implementing the county's new vocational and handicapped children's educational program.

With county aid for the handicapped in the offing, the AHRC probably figures it can't stand the competition. On the other hand, if the school districts had been doing an adequate job in seeing to the educational needs of ALL children over the years, the county program undoubtedly wouldn't have been necessary.

Now we have the spectacle of the school districts in effect being rewarded for having done such a bum job! As a writer who has at times befriended the handicapped child, I'm for any program, public or private, that will adequately help the handicapped. To date, the record of Nassau County in that respect has been a sorry one indeed!

NEW LAMPS FOR OLD—An electrician of a Long Island firm, Broadway Maintenance Corp., turns on the first of the twin-mercury vapor lamps, atop an aluminum post on New York's Fifth Avenue in the City's program to replace the 50-year-old two-globe, cast-iron lamp-posts that line the famous street. Designed by Donald Deskey Associates of New York, and officials of the NYC Dept. of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, the posts can withstand winds up to 100 mph. Fondling and caressing the ball on the outside perimeter while Syosset was driving for the basket, in the first quarter, cost Hicksville any chance of upsetting the league unbeaten Braves. Before regrouping in the second period the Comets were down 19-7 and never could overcome the deficit. Syosset won 60-48.

Hicksville has four league games left with Plainview, MacArthur, Farmingdale and Plainedge. A 7 and 5 mark could get them a tournament berth. However the only good reason for a berth would be a hoped for improvement in play which has not been forthcoming.

Despite the return of Guy Van Wagenen the play has dropped and the brilliant effort at Syosset was not matched.

A comfortable sellout crowd of 1,400 at Hicksville watched as the Comets tried to come back in the second period with the injection of John Walker and Jim Bergholtz. The passing was brisk, but the shooting was horrid.

Once again the Comets had the same number of field goals -- 19 -- as the league leaders but gave up the margin at the foul line. Hicksville with a season percentage of a mere 56% from the free stripe as a team suffers badly.

The other team is always in the one and one process five minutes before Hicksville and that is where the damage was done. Hicksville is away this Friday night at Plainedge. Hicksville 63, Plainedge 59.

The figures tell the story after 13 games for the Orange and Black.

With a 6-0 lead and 18 seconds left in his final regular season match, Ralph Sonntag pursued his Plainedge opponent for a pin and in one staggering turn he himself was reversed and was pinned.

Thus Sonntag lost his undefeated season in a crushing defeat that staggered everyone even though he gave away some 60 pounds in the unlimited match.

Ralph is out to erase the defeat in the North Shore Tournament which will be staged this Friday and Saturday at Wheatley.

Hicksville as a team defeated Plainedge and won the championship of Division One.

VFW Holding Second Award

The William M. Gouse Jr. V.F.W. Post 3211 held their second "Annual Voice of Democracy" Awards Ceremony at the Hicksville Senior High School last Wednesday evening, February 10th. Student John Scarola who won first place in the contest at the school level and again in all of Nassau County received a twentieth five dollar savings bond from the local Post and a one hundred dollar bond from the Nassau County Council. The contest is sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars on a national basis.

Second place winner was Miss Adrian Dolgin with Miss Gail Danshig finishing third. The first three winners were awarded medals, citations and lapel pins. All three recited their winning script, whose theme was "The Challenge of Citizenship."

The remaining 13 contestants, faculty members and judges who participated in the contest were presented with Honorable Mention Awards.

Among the guests that evening were: The Honorable Michael N. Pettito, Supervisor of the Town of Oyster Bay; V.F.W. Nassau County Commander-in-Chief, Ole Andreassen, and Richard Keish Voice of Democracy chairman of Nassau County. Mr. Keish who made the award for the county advised those present that John Scarola finished fifth in the New York State competition. James Klueg, chairman for the Voice of Democracy at Post level and his committee, Frank Aug, Edward Klebing and Michael Znach expressed their appreciation to the faculty and students for their participation.

Vincent Price Art At Sears

Sears, Roebuck & Co., with the help of Spanish surrealist painter Salvador Dali, will bring over one thousand original art works to Greater New York this week. The art exhibit, part of the retailing firm's Vincent Price Collection, will go on display and sale Thursday morning, Feb. 25 at 9:30 in Sears new Hicksville store.

The store is located on Route 106, a half mile south from Exit 41 of the Long Island Expressway. The Collection will be open every day, except Sunday, the regular store hours through March 6th.

Dali will appear at the store, Thursday evening for the premiere Long Island showing of one of his works. The controversial artist will unveil a large oil painting he titles, "The Mystical Rose Madonna." The Dali painting was commissioned by Sears recently and will be on sale for $25,000.

Edward R. Telling, General Manager of Sears' New York stores, said his firm had been interested for some time in bringing a "truly comprehensive" presentation of the Price Collection

Schultz Addresses Teen Dems

Nassau County Deputy Attorney Louis Schultz of Hicksville will address the February meeting of the Hickville Teen Democratic Club (Teen Dems), it was announced this week by President Joseph F. Rohan.

Mr. Schultz is active in many civic, religious, and political organizations. He presently serves as the Democratic Leader for the Zone of South Hicksville.

In other Teen-Dem news, President Rohan announced the appointment of Charles R. Karish as Press Secretary to the President. Paul Bangels as Executive assistant to the President, and Sandra C. Wadler as Chairman of the Research and Information Committee.

The Teen Dems will meet at 8:00 P.M. Friday, February 19, at Democratic Headquarters, 3 West Nicholas Street. All interested persons and or prospective members will be most welcome.

Queen For Day At N.C.E.D.C.

"Queen for a Day" will be the regal program in the offering at a membership meeting of the Mid Island Chapter of The N.C.E.D.C., Inc., to be held on Monday, March 1, at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Sherr, 1 Roxton Road, Woodbury, L. I. Three contestants will be picked, all receiving prizes. The winning lady will join the ranks of royalty for a short span.

Women's Aux. Elects Officers

The Women's Auxiliary of the Hicksville Baseball Assoc., Inc. is proud to announce their new Board of Directors for the 1965-1966 season. The Executive Board: President, Joan Roach; Vice President, Rita Mangani; Recording Secretary, Rosemarie Lindblom, Corresponding Secretary, Mary Sacco; Treasurer, Sarah Malaby; Past President, member at large, Rita Mangani.

Standing Committees: Program, Rose Carrier; Refreshments, Esther Bistany; Publicity, Corinne Lech; Uniforms, Lilian Wagner; The next meeting will be held Wednesday, February 24, at 8:30 in Levittown Hall for a good new chance to meet the new officers and get acquainted. Refreshments will be served following the business meeting.

Member Drive For JWV

Levittown Post No. 640 is announcing that a massive and intensified Membership Drive will be conducted the latter part of the month under the supervision of its Jr. Vice Commander, Irving Jurist. Post members will endeavor to visit the home of every veteran of the Jewish faith who resides in the community. We are urgently requesting that interested parties call PE 1-9410 or mail a post card to Irving Jurist, 82 Balsam Lane, Levittown.

The Levittown Post has a fine record of community service for over 15 years. We would like to continue this good work since we have been one of the largest and most active veteran groups in the Levittown area.

Post meetings are held the third Monday of each month at Levittown Hall at 8:30 p.m.

Rovers, Lions Play To Tie

The Bethpage Rovers and Lions played a 28 to 28 tie in the Connie Meade Beginners Basketball League for boys 8 and 9 only. As these boys play a time limit, ties are accepted. This also set a new record for Connie Meade Basketball at 28 points. Kenny Price and Steve Ziegler led the Rovers with six points each. Steve Demestihias and Johnny Beach of the Lions were high with 10 points each. Bobby Filiphone of the Lions whose lone basket enabled the Lions to tie the score was the hero of the night.

In the second game ties proved to be the order of the night as the Bethpage Bears and Eagles played a 18 to 18 tie. Bobby Essig, Arthur Remsbecker, and Barry Pannell all had 2 baskets for the Bears. Howie Kotin and Brian Morgenstern each had two baskets for the Eagles.

Gold Runs For Assembly

Statement of Irving Gold, member of the Nassau County Democratic County Democratic Committee, which appears in his Feb.-March bi-monthly report to the voters of 8th and 124 E.D.S. - Because Nassau County Democratic leader John English stymied the state legislature in cahoots with defeated and discredited Boss Buckley of the Bronx, disregarding the interests and sentiments of the people of Nassau County, he should resign, so that a united Democratic Party can face the Republicans in 1965.

Time has come to make legislative appointments on the basis of merit and service. To eliminate 'Julus' and other payments for work not performed, and to make legislators account for all paid expenses. Above all, we must get independent candidates for assembly who are not beholden to anyone except the people.

God willing, I shall try again in

ADELPHI SUFFOLK COLLEGE UNDERGRADUATE DAY PROGRAM

a Liberal Arts curriculum with all the obvious benefits that flourish at a small, select college

The size of some college classes is often cause for astonishment and frequently cause for regret. Contemporary teachers struggle with the inevitable limitations of their art when exposed to huge enrollments; contemporary students struggle with the effacement of their individuality. No dedicated pedagogue would dispute the superiority of teaching to groups of reasonable proportions, where each student emerges as an individual, and a teacher has sufficient scope to realize his highest purposes. Adelphi-Suffolk is a small, select college with all the attendant advantages of its size. Inquire now.

THE CURRICULUM OF THE COLLEGE
consists of four divisions: I. Arts; II.
Humanities; III. Natural Sciences and Mathematics; IV. Social Sciences.
Every student must take a certain number of courses in each of the four divisions, for sound instruction in the liberal arts. No later than the end of the sophomore year, he may choose a concentration in either the humanities, natural sciences and mathematics, or social sciences.

THE TEACHER EDUCATION PRO-GRAM at Adelphi-Suffolk College qualifies and certifies both elementary and secondary school teachers.
All students must complete a basic liberal arts course of study.

Quality students can reap rich personal rewards in a full time 4 year program at this small private liberal arts college. Why not write or call now for information and catalog.

TRY THIS WITH TWIST

THERE are no weight limits in this unusual competitive pastime because it is primarily a test of balance. You either have it or you don't. Adventurous souls may wish to try it as a twist to the twist.

Contestants each place a book of matches (or a set of matchbox, etc.) on the back of a closed hand. They stand at a distance sufficiently great to enable them to touch the object held by the opponent. Object of the game is to unseat the opponent's matchbook. This must be done without unseating your own, of course.

If a gladiator succeeds in dislodging his opponent's matchbook, but drops his own in the process, the opponent wins.

Measure Up?

A NUMBER of numerical designations peculiar to specific articles, materials, etc., are stated below. How many can you identify? (Example: 17-jewel — a watch; 67.8 — a hat; etc.)

- A. 10-gallon
- B. .45 caliber
- C. 3/4 ton
- D. 20-20
- E. 2" x 4"
- F. 86.8 proof
- G. 10-penny
- H. 98.9
- I. 51 gauge, 15 denier

Answers: A. Hat; B. Gun; C. Truck; D. Rifle; E. Plywood; F. Alcohol; G. Nail; H. Temperature; I. Women's stockings. Other answers are possible.

If You Please

By Peter Pettibone

To fit the crime: A Long Island schoolteacher was given a ticket recently for driving through a stop light, which called for her appearance in court the following Monday. She went at once to the judge (pal of mine) and explained that she had to teach on Monday, and asked immediate disposal of her case. "So you're a schoolteacher," said the judge. "Madam, your presence here fulfills a longstanding ambition of mine. You sit right down at that table and write "I went through a stop sign" 500 times...During a dinner party the other night at Carl Hoppl's Westbury Manor, guests were discussing whether women or men were the most trustworthy. "No woman can keep a secret," said one male scornfully. "I've kept my age a secret ever since I was 24," retorted a woman. "You'll let it out some day, though," replied the man. "I doubt it," she said. Adding: "When a woman has kept a secret for 20 years, she can keep it forever." (cope)...Similes from readers: Port Washington's Bruce Willis: "As easy as falling off a diet." Brooklyn's Richard Eschmann: "As unmolested as a guest towel."...Garden City's Helen Grespin describes a hick town: "One where, if you see a girl dining with a man old enough to be her father, he is."...My nine-year-old-unmarried son Chuckle, has a new hobby. He can actually fix things, beyond repair...Ex-President Eisenhower offers this definition of leadership: "The art of getting somebody else to do something you want done because he wants to do it." (I think he forgot to tell it to Barry)...Retired banker Jim Stafford, of Bayside, recently returned from a week at a de luxe Palm Beach hotel. He expected a large bill, but he wasn't prepared for a three page itemized account. He managed to identify every item but the very last, and smallest one, for a dollar. He was told it was for stationery. "But," Jim protested, "I didn't use any stationery." The cashier explained loftily: "The stationery referred to is the paper on which this bill is made out." So, my friend Stafford paid it and returned to heavenly and reasonable Long Island...Jericho's Len Wainick reports that he recently observed an elderly couple engrossed in a good-natured argument. At the moment the woman had the upper hand her husband listened patiently. Wainick guessed the old guy was only waiting for his well earned turn. Before the elderly gent could say a word, however, the little old lady concluded her argument, smiled graciously at her husband and defiantly withdrew the plug from her hearing aid...Have you been into one of those Hamburger Choo Choo diners? Well, they're not of American origin. A few years ago The Maharaja of Gwalior, India owned one of the costliest miniature railroad trains in existence. Made of silver and operated by electricity, it traveled slowly around the great dining table during meals with its dozens of cars loaded with fruits, meats, nuts, condiments and wines, automatically stopping before each plate... Man! that's service, fit for a kid...If You Please.. all aboard...

St. Paul's Holding Rededication

On Sunday, February 21, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 449 Stewart Ave., Bethpage, The Rev. James F. Taylor, Pastor, will rededicate its new and enlarged worship facilities. The rededication service will be held at 10 A.M. with the Rev. Karl Graesser,

President of the Atlantic District, Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, as guest preacher. A Vesper service will be held at 4 P.M. the same day to which all neighboring congregations and friends are invited. The Rev. R. Reasmeyer, Vice President of the Atlantic District, will be guest preacher, at the afternoon service which will be followed by a social hour and refreshments served by the Dorcas Aid Society of St. Paul's. Co-chairman Messrs. R. Pfeiffer, R. Stroup and C. Peller are to be contacted for further details.
