Levittown School Bd. Accepts 'Treason' Book

Unlike the Hicksville School District, Levittown School Board voted unanimously to accept gift copies of the book "None Dare Call It Treason" by John Stormer for the school library.

The book has been the subject of stormy debates in Hicksville, with one faction of Board supporters calling the other "soft on Communism" and "book burners" for not allowing the book in the public school libraries.

Levittown became the first Long Island School District to accept the book. Hicksville trustees rejected gift copies of the book on the ground that it contained many inaccuracies. In Farmingdale, where an avowed Bircher called for purchase of the book, the school librarian countered that it would be a waste of the district's money.

Levittown school superintendent Louis Blumberg recommended that the board accept copies of the book. He claimed it has merit for teenagers interested in the current political scene, and he argued that educators must present more than "a single point of view." Those with whom I disagree have the same privilege as those with whom I agree," he concluded.

Ed. Group Presents Progr.

Bethpage Council of Parents and Teachers Association in cooperation with the Board of Education presented the following program as a public service to commemorate "Light on for Education", a program of straight talk on: 1. Procedures to date on the proposed high school addition. 2. The fire-safety referendum. 3. The school budget. 4. The new voting procedures for May, the board in a question answer period.

Those participating were Sept. Charles H. Bryan, Asst. Supt. James Lawson, Acting High School Principal, Walter Yannett and the Board of Education President March Lepine, Vice Pres. Anthony Lo Faso and members Lee Hilton, Hugh Coyle and Richard Tilley.

The meeting which took place at Bethpage High School, on Monday, March 1, 1955 was well attended and enthusiastically received.

Junior High PTA Meets

The Hicksville Junior High School P.T.A. will meet at 8:15 on Monday, March 8th. Dr. Ness, Dean on Sociology, will speak on "Patterns of Family Living in Education."

The Lee Avenue P.T.A. is having a Shamrock Fair on Saturday, March 13, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. There will be prizes to be won at all the game booths; a delicious assortment of home-baked goods will be available for your choosing; and a gift booth displaying many delightful items will be on sale. In addition, chances will be sold for a splendid prize. A maximum amount of pleasure, fun and refreshments is planned for all.

Bond Award To Meadowbrook

The Meadow Brook National Bank has been awarded $4,620.00 school district serial bonds issued by Central School District No. 4 of the Town of Oyster Bay on its bid of 100.307 for a 3.40 per cent coupon, setting a net interest cost of 3.38 per cent.

The bonds will be used to finance the cost of acquiring a parcel of land in Plainview at an estimated cost of $16,500.00 and for the construction of a senior high school at an estimated cost of $4,603,500.

Honor Roll Tabulations

At the end of the second marking period, the following numbers of students appeared on the various Honor Rolls at the Hicksville Junior High School: Principals List (Average of at least 95 percent or over) - 19. Honor Roll (Average of at least 90 percent) (Average of at least 85 percent or over) - 434. Total 694

Letters

To the Editor:

A public school library can endure almost any indignity save the banning of truth from its shelves. The irrational departure from national experience on the part of the Hicksville School Board in banning "None Dare Call It Treason" from the public school library, uproots the bond of concord and friendship and has forcibly injected bitter antagonisms into our community.

Mr. William Bruno, the only member of the School Board who voted against the ban, has been censured by his colleagues on the board. He should consider this reprimand, not a source of discouragement, but, rather a fresh stimulus. Personal consideration did not dissuade this gentleman from performing a public duty.

Books were the "martyrs" which Hitler "burned at the stake." Mr. Bruno can take heart some defeats more triumphant than victories.

Sincerely,
Vincent A. Joy, M.D.

Raiders Upset Comets

The Bethpage Raiders pulled a big upset by walking away from the Comets 29 to 9 in a Connie Meade Bantam game. The Raiders had lost three straight to the Comets.

Jimmy Stiffa was high for both teams with 21 points. Ronnie Dix with seven was high for the Comets.

Weldon Endorf To Be Principal

Weldon Endorf, a teacher at Trinity Lutheran School, Hicksville, for the past ten years, has accepted the call to become principal of Trinity as of July 1. In the interim period, Mr. Endorf will be working in close harmony with Dr. Richard Enggebrecht, principal, and will gradually take the reigns of leadership from him. Dr. Enggebrecht will serve the church-at-large as the assistant to the executive Secretary of the Board of Parish Education of the Atlantic District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. Mr. Endorf, a native of Tobias, Nebraska, received his B. S. in education from the Lutheran Teacher Training College in Seward, Nebraska. In 1961, he received his M.S. in elementary education from Queens College. Always interested in athletics, he earned eight college letters while at Seward for participation in basketball, football and track. He has served on the Hicksville Recreation Committee for eight years, is currently Publicity Chairman for the Nassau-Suffolk Lutheran Basketball League and organized the Lutheran Elementary School Basketball League.

Mr. Endorf and his wife Jackie live in Hicksville with their three children, Deborah age 8, David 7 and Douglas 3½.

Business Helps Students Learn

To afford realistic practice in developing knowledge and skills acquired at Syosset High School, the Cooperative Work Study Program, which was initiated eight years ago under the leadership of Mrs. Jeanette Schur, Business Education Department chairman, is once again offering students an opportunity to learn, earn, and receive graduation credit.

Some of the organizations participating in this program include: Abalone Oil Company, Syosset, The Coach Real Estate Agency, Syosset, Friden, Inc., Syosset, Franklin National Bank, Jericho, Security National Bank of Long Island, Melville, Allstate Insurance Company, Huntington, Franklin National Bank, Westbury, Security National Bank of Long Island, Huntington.

By means of careful selection of applicants and with special permission granted by school authorities, students spend a half-day in school in their regular classes. After lunch, they are on their way to their work-study assignment.

Each student receives one full credit toward graduation and compensation for time spent at business. The students are treated exactly as any other part-time employee, are required to be present and punctual and to take constructive criticism and suggestions from supervisors.

This bridges the transition from school to job and makes their job adjustment more effective.

THINKING IT OVER

By Robert L. Morgan

A few weeks ago the Merkel meat packing co. was accused of misbranding horse meat as beef and the result was that the company finally went bankrupt.

If the same thing were to hold true in politics then we would have a lot less politicians around. The way to get elected now days appears to be to run as the candidate from one party with the basic philosophy of the other party. A great deal has been said about this by the Conservative party in regard to Sen. Javits, but there are many other office holders who do the same thing.

Take the situation right here in the Township of Oyster Bay. You have Mike Pettit, the first Democrat to hold the Supervisor job in years. He gives the nod to the liberal liberals for jobs, but when he speaks he sounds like he is rewriting the GOP platform of the past. Just this week Mike went on record as opposing the bridge between Oyster Bay and Conn. In the past whenever any new project was mentioned the Republicans were accused of being obstructionists and "stick in the muds" for not favoring it. The Democrats always brought forward the "Well that's progress tune".

Now for County Executive Eugene Nickerson for many months has sounded more Republican than Democratic. His big theme was a tax cut and keeping expenses down and he is opposed to the sales tax a Democratic gimmick of long-standing in the heart of that Democrat land New York City.

And then how about Congressman Otis Pike? He is more conservative than Stuyvesant Wainright ever was and he gets more GOP votes than Wainright did.

You could go all the way to the top with this theme. Think of the plight of LBJ. The Democratic party labeled Goldwater as trigger happy for saying that we ought to expand the war in Viet Nam. So now if LBJ could find a way to defoliate the trees in Viet Nam without calling it that we believe he would have completed the campaign promises of Goldwater 100% in Viet Nam. But shouldn't the politicians have to call horse meat horse meat and how do they get by for so long with misbranding?

Nerve Injury Is Slowest To Heal

By C.A. Dean, M.D.

(Q) "My son had an accident last year. His left leg was severely injured and his hip badly fractured and dislocated. He has had intense pain ever since, even after an operation was done in May. The doctor said that the sciatic nerve was injured. Is this pain a normal thing after such an accident?"

M.H.R.

(A) Nerves happen to be the slowest healing tissue in the body so it is not unusual for pain to persist for some time after a nerve injury. However, I do think it should start showing some improvement after several months and, if it doesn't, another cause for the pain should be sought.

(Q) "Would you explain what pulmonary fibrosis is? Thank you."

(A) This is a condition of increased scarring within the lungs. As a result, the lungs lose their normal elasticity so that they no longer can expand and contract normally. This leads to shortness of breath, if it is severe enough. Pulmonary fibrosis may be due to several things, with emphysema and chronic lung infections being two of the commonest causes.

(Q) "After going to a prominent colon specialist I was advised to take charcoal tablet or pills. At first they did not agree with me. Can you tell me just why charcoal is prescribed and can it be harmful?"

(A) Charcoal is used to absorb excess intestinal gas in cases of spastic colon and other intestinal diseases. I presume, then, that you are bothered with gas. Charcoal is inert and entirely harmless.

Ronald Reagan, Master Politician?

By RUSSELL KIRK

The heads of many promising Republican candidates have been lopped off last November. Republicans are looking about for new faces. Among these, one of the handsomest is the countenance of Mr. Ronald Reagan, former movie star, in recent years political lecturer.

To this commentator's wonder, some ardent Republicans in two normally Republican states, Indiana and Illinois, have been trying to persuade Mr. Reagan to accept the Republican nomination for United States senator from their respective states! (He is, of course, a Californian.) The "carpetbagging" success of Mr. Robert Kennedy in his New York senatorial candidacy doubtless has much to do with this sudden enthusiasm for Mr. Reagan in the Middle West. Perhaps the enthusiasts forgot that another eminent "carpetbagger" candidate, Mr. Salinger, went down to humiliating defeat in California.

The victor in the California senatorial contest, as all the world knows, was Mr. George Murphy, whom the television people incessantly called "the former song-and-dance man." If Mr. Murphy's background as film celebrity stood him in good stead, some Republicans reckon, would not Mr. Reagan's star ascend proportionately?

This is fairly plausible reasoning. But Illinois and Indiana are not California; movie names mean somewhat less in Indianapolis or Chicago than they do in Los Angeles, especially when a former-star candidate has dwelt all the years of his fame in Southern California.

Even if the conservative and eloquent Mr. Reagan could be nominated in Illinois or Indiana, this columnist doubts very much whether he could win in either state, in 1966, against a Democratic senatorial incumbent. His prospects are better far — as Mr. Reagan seems to know — in California, that year, when Governor Brown (if he survives the Democratic primary) will be up for re-election. For Pat Brown is distinctly unpopular in California just now.

Several other aspirants may dispute the Republican gubernatorial nomination with Mr. Reagan, however. Senator Kuchel — whose nomination would be gall and wormwood to Republican conservatives in California — is said to be thinking of such an endeavor; polls show him much more popular than Governor Brown. Mr. Joseph Schell, who did fairly well in competing for the 1962 Republican gubernatorial nomination with Mr. Nixon, is ready to leap into the saddle again. And a good many Republicans would like to persuade Dr. Max Rafferty, California's superintendent of public instruction, to try for the governorship. (Mr. Rafferty was elected to his present office, against powerful opposition, in 1962, by a margin of victory as large as Mr. Nixon's margin of defeat.)

If three conservatively inclined Republican aspirants competed in the primary against each other and against one Republican liberal (Senator Kuchel), presumably the Republican liberal would win the nomination. So the Republican conservatives in California probably will have to unite on one of their three possible contestants.

Mr. Reagan's present popularity is in large part produced by his hard-hitting television address, during the last week of November's presidential contest, in support of Senator Goldwater. Can he speak out as effectively in his own behalf?

PAID ADV.

DON'T BUY A FIRE ALARM (READ TWICE)

UNLESS YOU ANALYZE THESE IMPORTANT THINGS FIRST

1. Do you feel you have a 4 legged fire alarm? Man's best friend sleeps while he sleeps and unless you train your dog to bark if he sees a fire he will usually cover-a dog is afraid of fire-he's smarter than you. You don't seem a bit afraid to us.

2. Did the company you intend doing business with have a fire in a house with everyone asleep to prove their system works when you really need it. After all, do you want your family to be guinea pigs for some new company?

3. Is the company established a good while (10 years or more)? The mortality rate of fire alarm companies is almost 100% because it's a very hard product to get people to buy. Everyone says it's a good thing, but they wait-and wait-and wait-and wait.

4. Does the price you're paying include service-permanently? Yes, permanently. Even the best company selling other products only has to guarantee their products for a few years at most - a fire alarm is so different. You may not need it until 1984 - then some night - need it more than you ever needed anything. And it's not like a television set. It's like a parachute - you may only need it once but it has to work the first time. You can call up and have a television fixed, only losing the use for a day or so, and when the man comes to fix it he just opens the back and goes to work. What if your fire alarm breaks? It's in the ceilings - it can take an expert all day! If the company or man you bought it from is out of business, you may have to have a new one put in - 2 people in your area did this year. A fire alarm is hard to pay for once.

5. Is the system as close to perfect as engineering of today can offer? Watch out here - you are no expert and your uneducated opinion may prove wrong 16 years later.

6. Is the company listed with Underwriters Laboratories? This doesn't mean you can't get a good product from a company that isn't, but why take the chance?

7. Have hundreds of people in your town bought from the company this year? No? Why not? If they say yes, check - call from their list of installed jobs, spot checking.

8. Are you buying the salesman? You better hope not. It's the peace of mind and safety you should be after for you and your loved ones. The salesman is going to pick up the check and forget you - you'll see. Call back almost any salesman you bought something from 5 years ago. He won't remember you and you probably won't remember him either.

9. Are you looking for value, or safety? You can have both but again - look out - for less money than you should pay you are losing one. Cheap is cheap, except in the long run.

10. Is the company making false claims or intentionally misleading you in any way? No? Are you absolutely sure? If they'll mislead you on one thing, why not on many? Everything? Don't you want the real value of a fire alarm (when there's no fire)? Peace of mind? Has this made sense so far? If not, reread. You were "scumming." Let's continue.

SAVE FOR FUTURE REFERENCE

11. Consider this the most important decision you ever made, it might be - - - true? One of your neighbors on Edward Lane bought a fire alarm from us last April. He had his fire January 5. His boy was home alone asleep - the alarm alerted him and he got out of the burning house with ample time to spare. It was just one of 3 fires that took place in a home protected by a Life Saver Fire Alarm in your area this year alone. Our alarm proved to be an important decision in these homes almost immediately. This happened in Baldwin Harbor on Jeffrey Street within 2 weeks of installation and in Franklin Square and in Plainview - all this year! Oh yes, in Cedarhurst too. (Call us if you want proof.)

12. Are you waiting because you "want to pay cash"? This is the biggest fib you ever told yourself. Isn't it true you'd never be without fire insurance? Not even for 2 weeks? It cost the same price as a fire alarm but you have to pay every 3 years not just once. If you wouldn't be without fire insurance, how can you be without a fire alarm? It protects the only thing in the home that the fire insurance doesn't protect - and the only thing in the house that's irreplaceable - Human Life. And to collect fire insurance you have to get out six bucks and change a month for 3 years won't kill you. Neither will the Down Payment.

13. There is no 13. It's unlucky

14. Are you waiting till you find a reliable company? If you don't use us, we'll feel sorry for you. So when you need us, we'll come and fix it - at a charge that's fair. Two people had us "fix" their system - we put in ours - at full price - Names given upon request.

15. Are you in the process of "checking"? What are you checking? Are you checking? Did you check us? Why Not? (How long have you been checking?) Stop "checking" - write a check!

16. Are you (usually the husband) not sure yet they're effective? Fire Commissioner Cawenagh said and we quote, "almost all lives could have been saved in a recent survey on fire deaths in the city of New York by dependable systems of warning." Well? Nassau Fire Marshall George Clough said, "The delayed discoveries of fires are the primary reason for the large loss in most fires. Fire alarm systems sold by reputable companies are invaluable in guarding against such fires." The city of Quincy, Massachusetts passed a law making it mandatory for new homes to have fire alarms way back in '58. "Check" with the Quincy Fire Department on the amazing record since the law was passed. Philadelphia just passed the same law - the 6th largest city in the United States. Do you think all the fire experts in the United States are lying?

17. If you knew you were going to have a night fire (the real killer fire). What would you do? Check soon, and get the protection, that's what! You just don't believe it could be your house next. (Nobody does.) There are almost 1,000,000 home fires every year. None of these people thought they would have their fire. For many it was their first and last fire. Isn't the killer in fire, "defective planning?"

18. Are you wondering about the odds? (Maybe it's worth the gamble.) Fire is the #1 accidental killer in the home. Fire is the #2 accidental killer in the country. Fire kills more children than any single disease! For the price of an alarm is this gamble worth it?

19. Are you looking for 100% safety? Good but "Meanwhile" get the protection while you're looking for perfection. We can always add anything "new and improved." (We offer a free system to anyone who can improve our system gladly.)

20. The price stopping you? To get our low, low, low estimate for your home, call IV 9-2537 - You can dial 2 words on the telephone dial to get us. "IT WAKES" (a fire alarm's sole and only purpose). So be real brave and allow us to chat with you for a few minutes. Our literature used to say Fire is deadly, it kills - Dial "IT KILLS" on your telephone dial. But believe it or not, people called that a "scare tactic." So we changed it to "IT WAKES". Better? For those of you who have our alarm - remember - throw the test switch once a month, keep giving those Fire Drills to the kids and call us anytime for Free Service - even if you bought it in 1954. Battery changes are being made in your area now so expect our yearly call to remind you. Help your friends have the peace of mind you now have by calling us and giving us their name and phone number. They may intend to call but not get around to it. It's our job to stay with it until they get the protection too. Your fire alarm won't do them any good if they have a fire some night when they're all asleep.

21. One last thing - There's a special discount price if you buy now in your area because of the volume. If you call too late don't say we didn't warn you. Offer subject to end without notice. Probably a few more days - at the most a week or two - depending on you. Brooklyn, Westchester, Suffolk and South Jersey installations are being done, so have your friends call on us. Tune in to 92.7 F.M. to hear our radio advertising from 9 A.M. thru 11 P.M. every day, all day, 6 days a week.

Letters

To the Editor:

In response to a letter addressed to me in your February 25th edition, I would like to cite the following:

Point No. 1: I could naively ponder the writer's choice of the adjective, slimy, in describing the P.T.A. as "the educational organization" which I "serve so well." However, I will not feign innocence as to her specific intent.

She was, of course, referring to TEACH which has become one of the focal points of abuse presently being carried on by William Bruno. The people who are associated with TEACH are dedicated to the improvement of education and educational facilities for the children of Hicksville. I am proud to be numbered among its members. Contrary to what Mr. Bruno would have the populace believe, meetings are not taken up by members spouting excerpts from "Das Kapital" or veneration of the hammer and sickle. TEACH meetings are stimulating discussions of the various facets of the local education, and constructive suggestions as to what might be done to solve specific and general problems that arise.

I am not the spokesman for TEACH and I have not taken a census in this regard, but I venture to say that the majority of TEACH members regretted the Board's decision to ban the book

"None Dare Call It Treason." TEACH has all along been against censorship - in any way, shape or form. However, they are also aware that it is present school board policy which precluded its admission.

Point No. 2: I have been invited to join "the men and women who love freedom," and who, "have taken a stand to fight and tell to defend it."

If the intent of this invitation involves slandering men who devote their time and energy to Board Trustees, I decline.

If it is an invitation to feel a thrill when the Star Spangled Banner is played; to believe in and love my country and the things for which it stands; to fight all the mongers who are trying to spread their hate ideologies by methods of confusion and suspicion - I do not accept as a neophyte, but as a participant of long time standing.

Point No. 3: I resent Hicksville, the community in which my children are being raised, being used as some kind of a national soap box. The last School Board meeting, wherein Mr. Bruno read for four hours and hampered the regular activities on the agenda, was attended by many persons, who, not only did not live in Hicksville, but came from out of state. Why? Is some disabolical scheme underway? An interesting point to bring out here is the amount and type of propaganda which is being circulated in Hicksville. Anyone who has belonged to an organization will be aware that one of the most expensive items on the budget is literature to be distributed to the public. Most of it has to be mimeographed because this is the cheapest method, but even that, when turned out in the volume which has been reaching Hicksville homes, costs a pretty penny. Then there is untold amounts of printed material which to most local organizations is a prohibitive expense. Where is the money coming from? Perhaps it is time we investigate the investigators.

Point No. 4: It has been charged that our school books do not include references to the patriots who have died so that this country could be born. My Third Grader's Cit. Ed. books tells the story of Nathan Hale. This seems to be in direct contradiction to Mr. Bruno's accusations. Again, my Third Grader can sing two stanzas of The Star Spangled Banner; America, The Beautiful; and My Country Tis of Thee. My Kindergartner is advancing quite nicely too on these hymns. Would this be the case if the school administration was fostering communistic doctrine?

In closing, let me espouse my belief that Communism is a thing which we must fight with all our vigor. If Kruschev fulfills his promise to bury us, it will be with the help of an apathetic citizenry. But it will also serve his purpose to instigate brother to fight brother, neighbor to fight neighbor. We cannot let this happen. Neither can we permit the other side of the spectrum, Fascism, to show its ugly head and confuse us into believing that it's the only way to combat the enemy.

We should all be aware of both dangers and intelligently strive to retain the freedoms for which our forefathers so diligently fought.

Very truly yours,
Virginia M. Chepak

shortchanged and milked LIRR's lucrative passenger division to compensate for losses in freight traffic, the plan would take the LIRR off its hands for a "reasonable" price, without making provisions for any adjustments, including the millions it owes the LIR in maintenance costs of tracks it has used for years. If the LIR were persuaded to take legal action to recover payments due it, Pennsylvania's equity in the LIRR would fade into nothing.

Continuity of management and full employment are assured since Rockefeller's new "authority" would hire the Pennsylvania or the LIR to operate the facility (on a contractual basis of course) while it introduces automatic ticket collections.

Instead of a phoney paper transaction that is going to cost the people money and headaches, the Port of New York Authority, a bi-state public organization, with funds and know-how, should acquire the LIRR, link it up with its successful operation of the Hudson-Manhattan Railroad, as a first step toward bringing the suburbs and city closer to a consolidated area-wide rapid transit system so necessary to keep pace with our population explosion and economic development.

IRVING GOLD, Board Member

EDUCATIONAL EXPERIMENT AT W. HEMPSTEAD

The Cornwall Avenue elementary school at West Hempstead is currently operating one of the most unique educational experiments in the nation. Labeled "enrichment-acceleration" two classes, with almost 60 energetic students, are being taught the standard fourth, fifth and sixth grade curricula which have been "spiced" with more thought-provoking problems. The classes, made up of students of four elementary schools of the district, were instituted in April 1963 for competent students identified through intelligence scores. (Graphic News Photos.)

Conscience of a Conservative

By PAUL HARVEY

Alabama bravely swam upstream last November.

Whatever your political persuasion, however prejudice may influence your preference -- whether it is black-white prejudice or equally unjust North-South prejudice -- any man of conscience must concede this fact:

Alabamians, who ripped out of their hearts by the roots two centuries of allegiance to one party, did indeed practice the conservatism they've been preaching -- however painfully.

I knew in advance when I returned recently, for the third time in five years to Birmingham, Alabama -- this time to address the Executives' Club -- that they were still licking last November's wounds.

I knew that they wanted to be told that their gallantry under fire was significant.

That in some however obtuse way they had won the election.

And I had to tell them they lost. My conscience will not allow me to carp, criticize and condemn the yet unexplored horizon which our President calls "The Great Society."

As I understand today's semantics, my own convictions are more conservative than otherwise.

Both scripture and history have convinced me that big government is dangerous, that hard work is honorable and freeloading is not, that spoon feeding makes us fat and lazy and easy prey for the lean and hungry enemy, and that no nation has ever spent itself rich though many have spent themselves poor.

The Johnson Administration, however, has received an incontrovertible mandate from a majority of Americans to try to contradict history and to explore again the possibility that Big Government can manage our affairs better than We, The People can.

This is not to say the loyal opposition should surrender its convictions, that the only alternative to whipping them is joining them....

But it does seem to me that while The Great Society philosophy remains untried...

And while there is no election upcoming, no outlet for aroused emotions...

That the critics, without something specific to criticize might well stand by...

That the loyal opposition owes the President -- whomever -- loyalty first.

Former Senator Goldwater says he expects to be kept busy these four years saying, "I told you so," that before four more years in our hearts we will know he was right. Perhaps.

But -- and this is not an easy admission -- there is at least the remote possibility that conservatives are, as their critics say, too tied to the past, too unwilling to experiment.

Furthermore, those conservatives who for years have been so gamely swimming upstream, never quite keeping up with the current going in the other direction, had best not dissipate their remaining strength just thrashing and splashing about.

I suspect there may come a time when The Great Society will need the sobering influence of a loyal opposition.

We may one day have to return to the crossroads and try the right road instead of the left. Maybe The Great Society is really "thataway" instead of "thisaway." But if we just stand at the crossroads and stamp our feet we'll never find it anyway.

Who buys more Savings Bonds?

As statistical-minded as we are today, the Treasury Department can't answer that question.

The Treasury does know that U.S. Savings Bonds are owned by tens of millions of families. So it might be safe to assume that people in every walk of life belong to this "savings club."

This is a happy fact for the United States, and for the free peoples of the earth. For Savings Bond dollars are playing an important role today in the making of history.

This $46 billion reserve in the government's hands is working vigorously today to help our country in the major struggle to defend freedom.

At the same time, Savings Bonds help build your personal purchasing power by paying good interest and providing a method of saving that's unconditionally safe and readily cashable. And the higher your purchasing power, the better it speaks for our system.

It all adds up to one of the best ways you can save money and at the same time help your country. Start buying Bonds next payday -- through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or from any bank -- and see if you don't feel pretty good about it.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, stolen or destroyed
- You can get your money anytime
- You can save automatically on Payroll Savings

Girl Scout News Notes

Girl Scout Sunday, March 7th, traditionally opens Girl Scout Week, and offers the best opportunity to demonstrate a Girl Scout's commitment to do her duty to God. Our Scouts will be attending the church of their faith, in uniform, on that day, for various recognition services.

The theme for this year's Girl Scout Week is - "Girl Scouting A Bridge to the Future." Scouting is one continuous Program for girls 7 through 17. It bridges from one age level to the next. Senior Scouting, with its many opportunities for special experiences, is the goal to which girls in the three younger age levels aspire as they cross the bridges from Brownie to Junior to Cadette Girl Scouting.

Neighborhood Programs and Troop Programs will help make this year's celebration of Girl Scout Week, a truly meaningful one for our girls, Leaders, and community.

To celebrate the 25th Anniversary of Mid-Island Council Girl Scouting, an International Luncheon will be held on Thursday, March 11th, at the Huntington Town House in Huntington, from 12:30 to 3:30 P.M. Plan to attend. It should be an exciting program.

A Fund Raiser Card Party will be held on Monday, March 8th, at 8:00 P.M. at the PBC Hall, Bethpage.

The affair is being sponsored by Senior Girl Scout Mounted Troop No. 411, Bethpage-Plainedge, Neighborhood VI of the Mid-Island Council.

These girls all participated in the Horse-back Riding Program of Mid-Island Council, and a number of the girls are members of the Council's Drill Team. The Mounted Troop has arranged for their second trip to Rocking Horse Ranch, Highland, N.Y. during Easter Week. They hope to further assist their financial assets along by holding this Card Party on March 8th.

Refreshments will be served, and Door Prizes awarded. Contact the Leader: Mrs. L.M. Catalano, WE 5-4934; or Jane Heilig, WE 5-1311; or Carol Lindeman for your tickets. Donation is $1.50.

Mid-Island Council's Annual Cookie Sale is now in progress. The sale began on February 13 and will continue through the month of March. The Cookie Sale offers many opportunities for the fun and learning that go into good program. This is the girls' opportunity to share in the support of their camp and program activities, so they are eager to receive your orders. While the girls are earning more money for their troops and their Council, they are also developing their initiative, resourcefulness and tact in meeting the public, and growing in maturity and responsibility.

There are five varieties of cookies available, priced at $4.40 per box: Assorted Sandwich, Mint, Butter Flavored Shorties, Peanut Butter and Fudge Creme sandwich. No money will be accepted at order time; only upon your cookie delivery on March 15 and April 10. Be sure and order your cookies NOW from your local Girl Scouts so they may continue to widen their horizons.

The Membership Opportunities Committee of Mid-Island Council is happy to announce that the following girls have been selected to attend the 1965 Roundup at Farraut Wildlife Management Area, Lake Pend Oreille, Idaho in July: Kathy Acker, Joan Barberis, Anna Barry, Patricia Bartholomew, Sharon Biegan, Regina Brandenberger, Betsy Eaton, Gail Ehrhardt, Nancy Evans, Peggy Fort, Jane Ferri, Barbara Harris, Lynn Kachner, Virginia Kieran, Lynn Kinsel, Carol Larson, Nancy Lessin, Diane Marks, Vera Mingovits, Jayne Nelson, Bette Parker, Helen Polcek, Linda Quinn, Vicki Schlosser, Deborah Shuman, Barbara Solenick, Christine Stewart, Kathy Van Tassel, Faithanne Tietjen, Elizabeth Warner, Gail Wichser, Christine Wuerslin.

The alternates are: Dorothy Astman, Catherine Kawecki, Pat Nichols, Doris Mill, Martha Ostrem, and Barbara Waterson. These Senior girls will represent Mid-Island Council at the Roundup, and have been actively demonstrating their skills before the Selection Committee for many months, and under all situations and conditions.

This is a wonderful opportunity offered to our older scouts and will be a never-to-be-forgotten experience.

The Senior Fair, to help send our girls to Roundup, will be held on April 10th at the Wantagh High School. This will be a good place to purchase gifts for Easter and Mother's Day as each one of Mid-Island Council's 486 troops are contributing saleable handmade articles to the Fair, to be held that day. Some 3,000 people are expected to visit the Fair. We hope you will be among them! Don't forget the date - April 10th, from 12:00 to 5:00 P.M.

Brownie Troop No. 725, at one of their regular meetings, worked on a Valentine project, consisting of small colored paper plates, with red and white heart shaped paper doilies and Valentine heart lollipops attached. Two Brownies in full uniform presented a variety of these in a red and white Valentine decorated box to Social Service, Meadowbrook Hospital Children's Ward.

Junior Troop No. 123 had seven girls complete tests for their skating badge at the Levittown Roller Rink. The troop is now working on planters and coasters for the Senior Fair.

Mrs. Alan Kawaters, former Leader of Jr. Troop No. 4, has moved to Somerset, New Jersey. South-Central Bethpage Girl Scout adults held a luncheon at the Steak Pub, in her honor, at which time she was presented with an Orchid corsage. Good Luck Ann. Miss Mary Share, Leader of Jr. Troop No. 563, Bethpage, made her debut at Carnegie Hall, at which time she sang five operatic selections. Miss Share also sang at the Luncheon and Fashion Show held by Neighborhood VI at the Holiday Manor, recently.

Junior Girl Scout troops 640 and 657 which meet at the Charles Campagne School joined forces for a trip to New York City. The first stop was at the United Nations where the girls were taken on a tour which was gauged to their level of understanding. Many of the girls purchased souvenirs which represented the crafts of other nations.

After lunch on the bus (with frozen cans of soda that never thawed - it was a cold day!), the two troops were taken to the RCA Building for a tour of NBC. Each girl had an opportunity to introduce herself before a television camera while the other members of the group witnessed the procedure in an adjoining room. It was a full, exciting day, enjoyed by all.

Cadette Troop No. 418 had a very late beginning, but has been making up for lost time. The girls presented a holiday party for 42 ladies at the Holly Patterson Home; making favors, singing and with the help of Mrs. Funk, who is directing dramatics, put on a skit which pleased the patients and made an enjoyable afternoon for all present.

Boxes of cookies were wrapped and brought to Meadowbrook Hospital for distribution to the children and will be a never-to-be-forgotten experience.

This is a wonderful opportunity offered to our older scouts and will be a never-to-be-forgotten experience.

East St. PTA Meets Mar. 11

PTA meeting March 11th at 8:15 P.M. Speaker: Mrs. Dorothy Waldo Phillips, will speak with the parents and reveal to them the interesting findings and pearls of wisdom gained through her visit with their children during the day. Everyone is urged to attend this most interesting meeting.

will help in their completing the completion of the requirements for the Player Producer Badge. One of the highlights of the trip was meeting and receiving autographs from Stanley Holloway and Maurice Chevalier.

Dr. Paul Witkin D.D.S. of Plainview presented an enjoyable and informative discussion on structure, hygiene and general care of the teeth. This will enable the girls to complete the requirements for the Good Grooming Badge.

The girls held a Valentine Social with their Dads as the guests. They planned and hosted the evening. Refreshments and entertainment made it a most enjoyable occasion for all.

Speakers and other programs are planned for the future in hopes of making this a busy and successful year.

SPORTS

by HOWARD FINNEGAN

Hicksville High used a weapon it had disparaged all season and with it roared in to the County Tournament with an 82-41 victory over MacArthur. The weapon was the return pass.

Pairings for the tourney will not be made until Friday of this week and sites for the opening round will be announced at that time.

The Generals were favored to repeat an earlier victory over the Comets and take the last qualifying berth from the North Shore's biggest loop. Hicksville stepped out fast before a howling hometown crowd and with Jim Bergoltz threading the needle Bill Corrigan and Guy Van Wagener did considerable damage from underneath.

It was never a contest after the first four minutes as the stunned visitors could not rebound.

Hicksville in the playoffs may prove an entertaining delima for North Shore foes. Since the return of Guy Van Wagener the Comets have been improving each week. There was not enough time for preparation to step red hot Syosset, but the remaining contests have been close.

Van Wagener was in the line up against highly respected Westbury in that first game back in December. Hicksville had a 25-point lead in the third period and won handily. After that contest Van Wagener broke his wrist and coach Ed Petro was out a six foot, six inch center.

Of the teams in the North Shore tournament - Westbury, Great Neck, Syosset, Manhasset, Plainview, Locust Valley - only Oyster Bay and Port Washington present fearsome problems for the Orange and Black.

As always it depends on the seedings and the draw - you do not finish third and get an easy draw - but Hicksville could go quite far in this year's affair.

A late report has it that the Tournament will start this Friday night with the second round scheduled for Tuesday.

Tickets for the first contest will be easy to come by but in the event of a Hicksville victory it would be important to contact the school for tickets for Tuesday's contest.

It was a record turnout for the PTA Founder's Day Dinner in honor of Lou Millevole at the Millbridge, last week. The only regrettable aspect was that the Dining rooms could not hold all the persons who wanted to attend and many, many were left without tickets.

Of all the affairs we have attended in Hicksville this was the most pleasing and deserving. However we agree with the guest of honor that the testimonial was not a conclusion but a beginning.

After 35 years of service to the schools and community it is refreshing and fortunate that such an individual will remain an active and useful force.

Post College upset Hofstra for one of its rare basketball victories at the Brookville gym, Saturday night, and it was ex-Hicksville High star Steve Dushnick who had the major hand in the win.

He scored 17 points, pulled down 14 rebounds and knocked home 3 straight baskets in the last desperate minutes as Hofstra closed the gap.

Steve was voted, without dissent, the Most Valuable Player of this major Long Island College contest. Beaming widely as the award was announced was Hicksville High principal, Leon J. Galloway from his seat in Section L. Since the HHS principal spends much of his spare time lauding the students and athletes of Hicksville to the officials of Post College, you could understand that he had a wedge in the award for more Hicksville considerations.

In one of the outstanding accomplishments of this or any other year, Barry Damm of Hicksville, went all the way to the championship match in the County Wrestling Tournament. He was bested on the final night but it was a great season for the 149-pounder.

Four Students Get Top Honors

It was announced by Mr. Patrick A. Carlo of the Nassau County Vocational Education and Extension Board that on Feb. 24, four Hicksville students had been awarded top honors in contest competition at the Sixth Annual Leadership Conference. The conference is held each year for high school students majoring in the field of business, marketing and distribution. The highlight of the conference is the contest program where students compete in areas of marketing such as advertising merchandise information, salesmanship, public speaking and studies in distribution.

The contestants from Hicksville were awarded four top prizes in four of the ten contests offered.

The Hicksville High School winners were: William Rogers, Advertising Layout; Maureen Han-fan, Public Speaking; Judy Goodman, Area of Distribution Manual; Lorraine Turrini, Merchandise Information Manual.

These students will represent Nassau County at the New York State Distributive Education Contest Competition in March of this year.

BEAUTY SECRETS

By Victor of Vilu

Many men and women consider their hair well washed and clean if they simply rub soap into it under a shower, then rinse it off. And yet, this casual care does not and cannot preserve the health of your scalp nor will it aid in the retention of your hair. Doctors point out that there is much to be learned in applying the soap to your hair and even in the kind of water you use. And unless you learn this simple lesson a simple home shampoo can do more damage than you could possibly imagine.

Take soap for example. If you use a soap that leaves an insoluble residue on your skin and scalp, you can cause surface skin and scalp irritation and even cause dandruff that can do you more harm than good. Doctors even blame baldness on this soap problem. As you know, soap is made of alkali and fatty acid combinations. It is the alkali that removes waste and dirt. The fatty acid comes from fats and oils. Many shampoos contain an abundance of coconut oil. Their only advantage is an abundant lather. Actually coconut oil is irritating to the scalp of most people.

What about water? Its function is to carry away the soap that has surrounded the dirt and other foreign particles. A hard water is not only difficult to lather, but in addition it leaves a film deposit that cannot be rinsed off your hair. Hard water actually does no cleaning. Only soft water should be used for soap in washing the hair. It is produced at home by prolonged boiling or by adding washing soda. If all of this sounds impractical for the average home shampooer - you're right, it really is! That is why so many beauty-conscious women insist on a professional shampoo at their beauty parlor. They know that only the right shampoo, using the correct soap that will lather and cleanse and water with the correct degree of softness, will leave their hair clean and their scalp healthy. At Vilu we have made shampooing the science it deserves to be. We know what kind of soap is best for your hair and skin, we use the proper water and we time your stay under the drier to prevent scalp dehydrating or over-drying.

A home shampoo, if done under controlled condition, can be handled successfully. But if you find it impossible to reproduce those conditions at home, why not rely on your beauty salon and be safe and sure! For questions or consultations call or see Mr. Victor at Vilu, Ov 1-8760, 534 So. Broadway, Hicksville.

April 29 in the Hall. Donations of prizes are asked for from the members and outside friends of the Club. Chances are being sold on a hand crocheted bed spread and four matching scarfs, to help swell the treasury. Tickets for the Card Party will be $1.00 each, which will include cards, games prizes and refreshments.

Another luncheon is being planned also, for March. Time and place to be arranged.

More men members are being welcomed at each meeting and any one interested is invited. The School Board provides buses to pickup and return any member living within this School District. For information call the Director, Mrs. Eileen McLoughlin at GE 3-4894, or the President, Mrs. Viola Weydener at WE 8-0185.

Mothers To Nominate

Times Christian

The February meeting of the St. Ignatius Auxiliary of Christian Mothers opened on a note of sadness. Father Goggin paid a well deserved tribute to the recently deceased Adelaide Lynch, past President of the Auxiliary and a tireless worker for St. Ignatius School. The Auxiliary is donating a new altar to the church in her memory.

Chairlady Betty Milford invited all to attend the Carnival Ball to be held on Saturday evening, February 28.

Three members of the auxiliary were chosen as part of the nominating committee for this year's election of officers. They are: Anne O'Shea, Evelyn Deihl, and Kay Roamer.

The President, Mrs. Gough, announced the annual Communion Mass will be held on May 29.

The membership voted to hold a Continental Breakfast in the cafeteria in conjunction with the affair.

Due to Father John Hessian's illness, Father Goggin replaced him as guest speaker. He gave a very enlightening discourse on the Mass Vestments from their origin to date.

The dark horse prize of $3 was won by Mrs. Elwen Rafuse, Sr. Thomas Noreen won the gift certificate.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, March 22, at 8:15 P.M. in the parochial school auditorium.

Hicksville Citizens League will hold its regular meeting, Monday, March 8, at 8:30 p.m. at Levittown Hall.

Ash Wed. Trinity Services

On Ash Wednesday, March 3, three morning services and three evening services will be offered at Trinity Lutheran Church, 40 W. Nicholai St., Hicksville, it has been announced by the Rev. Edward H. Stammel, pastor.

The morning services are at 9, 10 and 11 o'clock for the benefit of public school students and their parents. Holy Communion will be celebrated at each service and the unconfirmed children will receive a lapel cross.

The evening Communion services are at 6:15, 7:15 and 8:15 p.m.

The services will continue at 6:15, 7:15 and 8:15 on each Wednesday during the Lenten season.

READYING THE BIG "B" FOR FALL OF '66

Belmont Park, in Elmont, scene of thoroughbred racing since 1905 is being readied for resumption of racing in the Fall of 1966. While stands (24,000 seats), trackside dining terraces (85 feet from track), etc. will be new, the tree-shaded paddock will give pristine look to the 6-decade-old racing Mecca. At right, Castle Forbes, 1963 filly champ, has tete-a-tete with newcomer to Belmont training stables, stretching head out of stall. (Graphic News Photos Feature)

SEMPER FIDELIS AND SEMPER PARATUS

Eighteen-year-old Drinda Figgis, of East Northport, follows an example of her father, Marine Corps Sgt. William Figgis (center) in joining U.S. Coast Guard. Swearing her into SPAR is CBM William Ledoux, Coast Guard Recruiter. Sporting 3½ rows of ribbons, Sgt. Figgis, who highlighted his 21-year-career in the marines with Drinda's enlistment, is ranking sergeant of the Inspector-Instructor Staff for Marine Corps Training Center in Huntington. Her 6-year-old brother will have choice, in 12 years, of whether it will be Semper Fidelis (Marine) or Semper Paratus (Coast Guard). (Graphic News Photos.)

"OPEN SEASON" ON MEASLES

SURE IT WON'T HURT DOC?—is asked by Michele Strub of Roslyn, as Dr. Samuel Karelitz launches drive, at Long Island Jewish Hospital, to immunize children against measles, during the current "measles season."

"YOU LIED TO ME" wails Michele, as a "shot" of attenuated measles vaccine, to assure her life-long immunity, is injected into her arm. Measles immunization has been added to schedule of Hospital's Well-Baby Clinic. (Graphic News Photos.)

If You Please

By Peter Pettibone

An Old Wives' Tale - brought up to date: "If a mother is adquited," wrote Robert Burton in "The Anatomy of Melancholy" in 1621, "or if by any casualty she be affrighted by some fearful object, she endangers her coming child. One Thomas Nickell went reeling and staggering all the days of his life because his mother, being great with child, saw a drunken man reeling in the street." Please remember mothers-to-be that was written in 1621. In his book "Ourselves Unborn", George Washington Corner, director of embryology at Carnegie Institute, laughed off Burtons catalogue of prenatal horrors with an "experience" of his own. He writes, "As an honest man of science, I have to admit that I myself know of a remarkable case. Recently a woman of my acquaintance had a craving to read David Copperfield while she was expecting and, upon my word, her child was full of the Dickens' addressed the ladies of the congregation on 'The Glory, the Beauty and the Sanctity of Motherhood.' Coming out of the church, Mrs. Riley, the mother of eight, said to Mrs. O'Hara, the mother of 13, "Marvelous sermon, wasn't it?" Mrs. O'Hara answered: "It was so, Mrs. Riley, a grand sermon, a moving address; and would to Heaven, Mrs. Riley, if I knew as little about the subject as the dear preacher himself." This ad didn't have a telephone number we could call: "We will oil your sewing machine and adjust the tension in your home for only $1.00." Many of the top singers and music publishers gather often at Werner Baers thriving restaurant, Cedarhurst. The other dinner we heard one publisher say to another "I've never heard such corny lyrics, such simpering sentimentality, such repetitious melody. Man we've got a hit on our hands." From a social column in my favorite weekly: "Penny is new attending a university at Kent, Ohio - bee drive out by her parents." And: "The Teen Club will hold a hayride tomorrow evening. Members are reminded to bring blankets as hay is not available." Also, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bomberg entertained Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flynn and their eight-year-old son, night. A good time was had by Thomas, Jr., at dinner Friday night. A good time was had by all, except Sidney, Jr., who stated that he did not have a good time. (Maybe Tom, Jr. didn't like his models, eh?) Like you, I hate to go into Manhattan. So, instead of going into town for a few pieces of furniture, we stopped in at Gordon Schlafer's Colonial Furniture store in Port Washington. He has one of the finest selections of colonial things anywhere. And I didn't have to go into NYC to save a couple of bucks. At a Westbury Manor dinner the party included several wealthy yachtsmen. They were discussing the big fish they'd caught off Montauk. A Texan spoke up, "You gentlemen have caught some big ones. In Texas the biggest fish we have is no longer than twelve inches. Of course in Texas we measure our fish eye-to-eye." What this country needs is more free speech worth listening too. If You Please

Happy Anniv. After 44 Yrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Foley, well known in Bethpage, celebrated their 44th wedding anniversary two weeks ago.

Mr. Foley is the owner of Central Nassau Fuel Co. in Bethpage and is a member of the Bethpage Rotary Club, the Elks, and the Anonymous Friends of Underprivileged Children.

He and his wife Kathleen have two daughters and seven grandchildren. According to Mr. Foley it is the couples 44th wedding anniversary and second marriage. The first marriage came during Lent and could not be celebrated in church. They were remarried after the Lenten restriction was lifted.

Letters

In my opinion, the 13-unit PTA "Lights on for Education" program certainly lived up to its title last Thursday night at Harry B. Thompson Jr. High School, Syosset.

The informative panel of Messrs Ornaur, McGurk, Redmond, Bronston and Fehrenbach presented several enlightened and refreshingly new views and proposals on financing public education in the State of New York.

A subject of the panelists - the Education Conference Boards suggestion for a graduated boost in per pupil support - $600 this year, $660 next year and $726 in 1967 - seemed to me a refreshing step in the right direction.

Plaudits to Mrs. Charles Karatzas, area PTA legislation chairman, Mrs. Sidney Schacter, PTA Council president and their unit presidents and legislative chairmen.

"What's so appealing about the MEENAN man?"

"He's there when I need him!"

Meenan really cares! I found that out the time we needed our oil burner adjusted. There I was with the three kids, the thermostat going down, down, down - and Harry away on a trip. Call Meenan, I said to myself. So call Meenan I did. And were they ever nice! 1-2-3 they had a man here - he said "Don't worry lady." And you know what? I knew he meant it. Said he'd fix it in no time and before long that heat was coming out of the radiators again. Was I ever relieved. That's why we depend on the Meenan man. He's there when you need him. We've been a Meenan family for the past 15 years.
