YM-YWHA Building Plans Announced

An organizing committee has been formed to bring about the erection of a YM - YWCA in this area it was learned today by this newspaper. According to the committee the desire and need for an outlet for the vast amount of youthful, pent-up energy in our young people, is being met by the formation of a YM-YWHA in the Eastern Nassau region. While the exact location is still being sought, the area is intended to include, but is not limited to, Plainview, Woodbury, Jericho, Syosset, and Farmingdale.

It has been stated that "The need for social and cultural activities on a multiple community basis is the motivating force behind this movement. In order to meet the situation head on and as responsible parents, we feel we must provide a place where young people from all parts of Eastern Nassau, can meet in a proper atmosphere and in an effort to encourage harmonious relationships. This is our obligation if we do not wish to have our young people meeting on the streets."

It is the hope of the organizing committee, which presently numbers fifty, to present a program, which will initially be directed toward teenagers and then expand to include younger children as well as adults, encompassing social, athletic and cultural activities.

Music Dept. Annual Concert

The Bethpage High School Music Department will present its annual concert for the scholarship fund on Friday, April 2 at 8 P.M. in the Senior High School auditorium.

The Band, Orchestra and Chorus, consisting of 286 instrumental and vocal students, will perform compositions of the masters as well as contemporary composers. An art display representing student art projects developed throughout the current school year may be viewed in the main lobby during intermission.

Tickets will be available at the box office on the night of the concert. Admission is $1.00.

All persons interested in lending their assistance and or membership, are cordially invited to attend a public meeting which will take place on April 14, at 8 p.m. at the Plainview Public Library Building on Old Country Road in Plainview.

Dad's Club Increases Awards

At the March meeting of the Bethpage Schools Dad's Club, it was decided to increase each of the two Dad's Club 1965 scholarships by $100, to a total of $300 each. Dad's Club President Charles Leek expressed the hope that funds will be available to do the same in future years.

Dad's Club scholarships are given annually, one to a girl and one to a boy, each of whom has extra-curricular activities, in addition to being a fine student, at Bethpage High School.

An interesting point regarding these scholarships is that, since the inception of the award, each recipient has either completed, or is still attending college. The award has been given ever since Bethpage High School's first graduating class.

A Gala Jamboree is being held at the Bethpage Jewish Community Center, 600 Broadway, Bethpage, on Monday April 5, at 8:30 p.m. Fee is 15.00, refreshments and prizes for all. A good time is in store for all.

Guest speaker will be Anthony Bongiorno, Superintendent of the Catholic Charities Family Service Division, Commack, N.Y. His subject will be "Problems of Teenagers and Dating."

Announce Members Youth Comm.

Herbert Pomerantz, President of the Levittown Democratic Club, announced the appointment of Mrs. Georgette Segal to the Chairmanship of the Youth Activities Committee of the Club.

Mrs. Segal immediately announced the formation and re-organization of the Young Democratic Organization in Levittown stating that the fine work the teenage Democrats did in the last election helped immeasurably in assuring the eventual victory.

Mrs. Segal called upon every teenager interested in participating to attend a re-organization meeting information can be obtained by calling Miss Nanci Segal at PE 1-2120 or Miss Lolly Ranslow at PE 1-4821. The first meeting will be held on Sat., April 3, 1965 at 1:30 P.M. - place to be announced later. Refreshments will be served. All teachers at the various schools in Levittown are urged to bring this new group to the attention of students.

This will be a vital, active group working along with the senior Democratic organization in Levittown to bring politics, in the flesh, to the teenager willing to work for a better community.

Seeking grassroots opinion on Governor Rockefeller's proposal to reorganize the Long Island Rail Road, Assemblyman Edwin J.J. Fehrenbach conducts his own poll at the Bethpage railroad station. Fehrenbach passed out "commuter ballots" to LIRR riders, asking them to complete the questionnaire and return it to him at the State Legislature in Albany.

Two Vacancies On School Bd.

Two vacancies on the Board of Education of Hicksville will be up for election on May 5 at the annual election. The trustee position now held by William A. Bruno, Jr. and George W. Kunz, will be the seats to be voted upon.

Mr. Kunz has notified the public that he will not seek re-election. As yet Mr. Bruno has not announced his decision whether he will seek re-election.

Candidates for the vacancies on the Board have until April 21 to file a petition of 25 names of eligible voters in the district in order to be contenders for the positions. Petitions are available at the official office of the clerk of the school district.

High School Theatre Party

Hicksville Senior High School is having a theatre party to raise money for its scholarship fund.

It will be held at the Twin Theatre-North in the Mid-Island Plaza, April 4 through April 8, at which time "Quick Before It Melts" will be shown and April 11 through the 15th when "Mary Poppins" will be the feature.

Tickets can be purchased at the High School at box office prices or call Joy Binger, WE 1-2311.

Letters

To the Editor:

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers make the following statements about extremists and extremist groups, and about "What most of us believe." 1.) Extremist groups try to stifle free expression of views opposed to their own. 2.) Extremist groups make irresponsible, venomous and near libelous attacks on individuals, institutions and organizations that disagree with them. 3.) Extremist groups label any opposition as disloyal. 4.) Extremist groups have high sounding patriotic names. 5.) Extremist groups provide speakers to spread their propaganda. 6.) Extremist groups infiltrate democratic organizations like the PTA and try to capture key positions. 7.) Extremist groups try to create distrust of the leadership of National Organizations.

8.) Extremist groups create fear and insecurity by highly emotional, inflammatory charges. 9.) Extremist groups use social ostracism and economic pressure to silence opposition and impose their views on the community. 10.) Extremist groups make false charges and distribute smear literature usually imported from outside the community. 11.) Most of us believe that free access to information and a diversity of opinion are essential in a democracy. 12.) Public schools should not indoctrinate students in the political, social, or economic or religious views of any group. 13.) Most of us believe that criticism of public institutions is healthy.

All over our nation the PTA has a move on to inform the public about the evils of "extremist groups." The above statements were taken from a brochure distributed by the Woodland Avenue PTA and which was used in conjunction with a talk by Dr. Mary Anne Raywid on "Extremism and the Public Schools." The brochure was published by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, 700 North Rush Street, Chicago, Ill.

The National Congress of PTAs states as one of its final criteria that when an attack comes that we should: "Bring it into the open; insist that the charges be specific, written, documented, and signed."

Let us apply the PTAs' criteria for the recognition of "Extremists" directly to the Woodland Avenue PTA and to the speaker, Dr. Raywid, while we recall the Biblical quotation, "Let he who is without sin cast the first stone."

In my opinion the following is true, the Woodland Avenue PTA has consistently stilled a free expression of views, and prevented a diversity of opinion by suppressing opposition through the simple expedient of never allowing an opposition speaker to be heard from its platform. It specializes in "one man panel discussions."

Apparently Dr. Raywid, and the PTA do not believe it is healthy to criticize public institutions (i.e. public schools) unless you are a member of the family, their family. Shades of the Cosa Nostra! The professor's reference was made to the "loyal opposition" with the inference being that if you are not on their team that this is disloyal opposition and you are now an extremist.

It was stated that extremist groups have high sounding, patriotic names. In connection with our schools what political action group has a higher sounding, more patriotic name than TEACH? By the above criteria TEACH is an extremist group.

Has a democratic organization such as the Woodland Avenue PTA been infiltrated? Have key positions been captured? Has distrust been created? Have highly emotional and inflammatory charges been made? Have propaganda (i.e., one side of an issue) speakers been brought in? Has social ostracism been employed? Has economic pressure - such as a lost job - been brought to bear? Has smear literature - imported from outside the community - been used? To all these questions there can be no doubt but that the answer is a resounding YES!

At the end of her talk on the specific problem of extremism in Hicksville, Dr. Raywid was asked to identify the extremist individual or individuals, organization or organizations, of the left or the right" and to further show exactly how he or they have acted in an illegal or an undemocratic way". This was the most pertinent question of the evening since it dealt specifically with her talk, and the primary criteria of the PTA that "when an attack comes bring it into the open; insist that the charges be SPECIFIC." Did not these same rules apply to one of our school board members just recently? Or do a different set of rules, laws, and regulations apply to the PTA and Dr. Raywid? Needless to say she did not answer the question.

Who is Hicksville's biggest extremist? The answer is obvious. George M. Martin

THINKING IT OVER

By Robert L. Morgan

The marches in Selma appear to have everyone in the Northern States happy. Through these marches they are able to point a finger at someone and deplore the situation. And through the marches they are able to overlook the fact that the Negroes in Harlem, New York City, have never been denied the right to vote, but still live no better than the Southern Negroes.

Can one help but say that perhaps the groups marching in Harmom against what is going on in Selma, Alabama are guilty of hypocrisy?

Shouldn't the Deputy Mayor of New York and the city officials stay home from marches of protest until they have their own house in order.

What all of this points out is that we always want the other guy to share his wealth or gifts or what have you and we can always see how other people should be unselfish until we must give something ourselves. This writer is not suggesting that human nature will change. Selfishness seems to be as much a part of living as breathing and maybe there is in some cases a reason for it. But why the hypocrisy?

Most people in the North are not against the Negro because of his skin color as may be the prejudice in the South. They are against him cutting in on their employment, their real estate values and their schools. But have they the right to denounce other people?

Answer To Many Medical Problems

By C.A. Dean, M.D.

(Q) "Does an antacid help someone with intestinal gas? If not, what do you suggest? How does a person get distressed intestinally without any stomach discomfort?" R.R.

(A) Antacids only help neutralize stomach acid and are of no help to intestinal problems. Excess intestinal gas is related to colitis and is helped mostly by avoiding certain foods (onions, beans, spices, etc.). Any one part of the body can become diseased, such as the intestine, without involvement of other areas (stomach), as they all have different blood and nerve supplies.

(Q) "Back in early February I had a severe head cold. At this time a ringing began in my left ear which has never stopped. My ear feels as if it has pressure inside. I have been treated by several doctors including dentist and an ear, nose and throat specialist, but the ringing persists and is very annoying." Mr. R.A.M.

(A) It sounds as if the severe head cold caused the tubes of your ears (the ones that you open when you yawn and try to "pop" or "crack" your ears) to be plugged up. Following this, fluid collected in the middle part of your ear causing your symptoms. The treatment consists of trying to remove the fluid. Since your trouble most of the fluid has dried up and a slight scarring may be left. My advice is for you to return to the ear, nose and throat specialist for further treatment.

(Q) "What is glaucoma? Is it inherited?" Mrs. G.B.

(A) Glaucoma is an eye disease in which the fluid in the front part of the eye builds up too much pressure. Heredity plays a part in some cases. It should be suspected in anyone over 40 who requires frequent changes of glasses, has mild headaches, sees halos around lights, has decreased vision at the sides and who has difficulty getting accustomed to a darkened room.

Words About Malcolm X

Russell Kirk

On Mr. Irving Kupcinet's Chicago television program, Malcolm X and this commentator participated in a discussion of public affairs, a few months ago. Now Malcolm Little, as he was born — has been murdered before hundreds of people. Revolutions do, indeed, devour their own children.

Somewhat to my surprise, I found Malcolm X to be a man of considerable intellectual powers, certainly no conventional demagogue, dignified, and rather winning in manner. He was a strange being, but no fool or madman. He had just returned from a pilgrimage to Mecca, caping his formal conversion to the Mohammedan faith.

He rose out of violence and crime in the urban jungles, and he died by violence and crime. Yet the convicted burglar who made himself a minor power in the land did not appear to be a natural fanatic or incendiary. In part, his talk of violence was a means of ensuring the continued support of his followers, in a time when the man who rides the tiger dare not dismount. He was unquestionably courageous; and having taken the sword, he was prepared to perish by the sword.

Inconsistent and erratic though many of his remarks were in recent months, Malcolm X may have been working his way toward some program less crazy than that of the Black Muslims he had left — and who seem to have wreaked their vengeance upon him. He despised the sentimental American liberal of the sort that patronizes the Negro, and his first principle was that the Negro must work out his own improvement. In time, his talents for leadership, and the fact that his very notoriety compelled him to think about what he said, might have converted him gradually from fanatic utterance to reasonable courses. The man had more in him than simple hatred.

Had Malcolm X been born in the modern black Africa with which he proposed American Negro solidarity, in this time of troubles might have gone straight to the top; for he had the intelligence and the zeal and the self-confidence which give men power in revolutionary eras. He might then have risen to the dignity of president or premier; but then, too, he might have died at the hands of assassins, as still more African politicians will die before this year is out. In America, he was a freak; in "emergent" Africa, he would have been a statesman. In Africa, after all, "separation" of the races is a possibility; but the separate Negro commonwealth in which Malcolm X professed to believe never could be realized in America.

Our Chicago meeting was not ominous, and I should have liked to talk to Malcolm X longer, to ascertain if truly there was forever a great gulf fixed between us. But that unquiet spirit will not be heard again.

Letters

To the Editor:

I must protest the irresponsible actions of the Hicksville School Board trustees, who evidently have no respect for the deep religious heritage, which has been handed down to us from our founding fathers.

At the Hicksville School Board meeting on Friday, March 26, Mr. William Bruno, moved that a pennant bearing the words "One nation under God" be flown under our gallant stars and stripes, as is now done in other towns and cities throughout America.

Would you believe it! Not one of the present School Board members would second the motion, so that the issue could be discussed openly. I assume the motion would not have passed, but the disdain displayed by the School Board trustees as regards this motion, is without equal.

Would it be wrong to fly the word God high above our community so that our children might see the word God, and be aware that they are privileged to live in this great country that He blessed so abundantly?

At the present time we are flying a flag: White background with a red Cross — the symbol of mercy — the world over.

Is God less worthy?

Disgusted Citizen
John G. Murray

To the People of Hicksville:

Although deeply grateful for the confidence expressed by many friends and associates who urged me to seek reelection, I am unable to respond affirmatively.

It is a distinct honor to serve on the Board. However, circumstances that are not entirely personal prevent me from serving beyond my present term.

To my fellow Board members and the Administrators with whom I have worked many long and arduous hours, I would like to express my sincere appreciation. My compliments also go to those people in the community who devote so much time and effort to educational affairs. It is, after all, the active concord of all people that makes our system function as it should.

I will continue to maintain an interest and concern for the education of our children and hope the coming election will result in a moderation of influences that Our community has much to be proud of and it is disheartening to see it torn asunder by special interest groups.

In the forthcoming election I sincerely hope our candidates will, first and foremost, have pride in the community. If they do, we will not have to worry about their devotion to do the best they can to enrich and enhance the education of our children.

Respectfully,
George W. Kunz

Education TV At St. Ignatius

During the March meeting, Sister M. Venard, O.P., was happy to announce to the St. Ignatius Mother's Auxiliary that the parochial school is now completely equipped with educational T. V. sets. She congratulated Kevin Clancy on his success in the Spelling Contest. Sister also expressed pride in the fact that a 1962 graduate of St. Ignatius School, Maureen Hanifan, represented Nassau County in a public speaking contest. It was the first time that Hicksville High ever had a first place winner to represent them. Brian McGuire, an eighth grade student at St. Ignatius is the proud winner of a $1,000 scholarship from the Volunteer Firemen of Nassau County. The Nassau County Science Fair will be held on April 3, at Our Lady of Mercy School.

Registration for the third annual summer session of the Remedial Reading course will be held on April 10, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon in the St. Ignatius School office. The summer session, which will be conducted by a staff of 18 Sisters, all specialists in this field, is open to all children, regardless of creed. It will run from June 28, through July 31. Classes will be held every morning for one hour and forty-five minutes. Tuition will be $30 plus a $5 fee for testing and registration. Full cooperation was shown with the public schools by announcing their remedial programs for the summer. Testing and registration for these courses will be held at St. Ignatius school office. Please contact local public schools for further information.

Mrs. Milford expressed appreciation to all who helped make the Carnival Ball such a complete success, particularly the kitchen committee.

The mothers greeted Father J. Hessian with a fond ovation when he was introduced by President, Madelyn Gough. He chose to speak on the Causes of Loss of Faith among Catholics. It was an extremely interesting discussion on a subject which puzzles us all at one time or another. In his position as professor at St. Joseph's College for Women, Brooklyn, Fr. shows a keen understanding of the student of college age, his problems, and his search for truth. Judging from the interest shown in his talk, the mothers would be delighted to see Father Hessian at some future meeting.

The dark horse prize of $5 was won by Betty Milford. Mrs. Weidenaar won the serving silver. Sister Mary Dennis won a gift certificate.

Father Cizek, a prisoner of the Communists for twenty-five years, will be the guest speaker at the Mothers' Auxiliary meeting on April 26. Father Cizek is the author of "With God in Russia."

Letters

To the Editor:

To discuss whether a salary for a public relations man for the school board should be $1200 or will be raised to $5000, is to assume that such a position is necessary. I am not trying to be dense or funny but I cannot honestly see such a need.

The gentlemen on the school board are dedicated men who give unsparingly of their time. Surely there must be at least one more dedicated resident who is willing to see that the results of their labors reach the press and public.

I have volunteered but perhaps they would like a selection to choose from. Please volunteer so that they will know they are not alone in their efforts to help Hicksville.

Another point I would like to

When I attended the PTA meeting at which Dr. Mary Anne Raywid spoke, I did not realize I was watching history being made. Since that time, I have seen so many references to the speech I feel I was there when another "Gettysburg Address" was delivered.

The theme was "extremism." It was a generalization about the upsurge of extremism in the schools in Nassau and Suffolk Counties. Intently as I listened, I did not hear one specific instance of coercion or any other extreme action.

We have had our differences in Hicksville but nothing like the reports of near revolution that have been appearing in local papers. Certainly not enough to warrant the formation of a committee such as Dr. Raywid suggests. Because we do not live in a cabbage patch and are not cabbage heads, we think enough to have differences. If I am wrong, and I claim no divine wisdom, I would rather my neighbor from Hicksville be the one to correct me and not my neighbors in Commack, Levittown, or East Meadow or where have you.

Let's all remember that to be extremely interested does not make us "extremists."

Sincerely yours,
Theresa Tisdell

Dear Sir:

ADDING INSULT TO INJURY:
The A.B.C. representative, at the

THE MID-ISLAND TIMES

March 16th school P.T.A. meeting, stated aloud, "That we (Hicksville) better get used to seeing T.V. cameras around, as they had been requested to attend future meetings, which were still in the planning stages."

As a resident, who is sickened by the obvious efforts of diversifications, bent on destroying this town, I deplore the inference that we, of Hicksville, are to be threatened with nation-wide T.V. coverage in airing our own local problems. As residents willing to clean our own house, we have no need of additional distorted publicity.

The admittance of A.B.C. to move its cameras into the Woodland Ave. meeting was a violation, in direct opposition to the School Board's ruling. Before any further flagrant affronts occur, a referendum is necessary, that this town's citizens may voice their opinions on the matter.

Disregarding the need for a referendum would only prove "extremism" has taken over in Hicksville. Just who are these people involved in the "Future planning stages" of T.V. coverage of this town? It is high time we find out, as this disgruntled citizen would like to know...

Mrs. William D. Miller

May God in His holiness bless you and crown your efforts with success (Amen).

Thanks in advance.

Yours sincerely,
Munmun A. Fabolando

By Edward J. Van Allen
These Twins Scaled Shorthand's Mount Olympus

I have known many colorful court reporters in the United States, but none quite so colorful or so full of derring-do, so to speak, as the brothers Cohen of the Mineola, New York, Supreme Court.

The Cohens, William and Arnold by given name, are identical twins whose pea-in-the-pod sameness has often caused "confusion," as a rattled witness once protested after a lawyers rapid-fire questions sent his senses reeling.

Take the time an attorney appeared in the special term part of the Supreme Court in Jamaica, noted William Cohen at the court reporter's desk, argued a motion, and then hurriedly sped off in his car for the Riverhead Supreme Court, some 80 miles away. By now late for his appearance at the Riverhead court, the attorney admitted later he broke all speed records in racing to that court.

Puffing from his exertions as he reached his destination, the lawyer rushed into the Riverhead court house and told the clerk of the special term part there that he was ready to argue a motion in the particular case in which he was appearing.

Suddenly the attorney stopped in the middle of a sentence as he saw Cohen, ostensibly the same stenographer he had seen less than two hours before in the Jamaica court house, sitting bold as all get out at the court Reporter's desk in Riverhead.

Pointing to Cohen, he said to the clerk: "I just came from Jamaica at top speed. Now, how the devil did he get here before I did? Did he fly?"

Actually, although both twins are dashing personalities, neither dashed — or flew — from Jamaica to Riverhead that day. It was simply that identical twin Arnold was working in the latter court while brother Bill was disporting himself stenographically in Jamaica.

The Cohens enjoy the fact that their identically frequently confounds and confuses those who haven't studied the twins' phys-ognomies sufficiently to tell them apart. Arnold, for instance will be reporting a case in, say Part X of the Mineola Supreme Court, while Bill is in another part. One of the attorneys trying the case in Arnold's part will subsequently meet Bill on the street and say: "How do you think I'm doing? Is my case going in all right?"

Instantly realizing the attorney is mistaking him for Arnold, Bill will say something like this — tongue-in-cheek, of course: "Counsel, you're trying a masterful case. Your cross examination is absolutely superb." Flattered by the floral tribute, the lawyer will later than Arnold profusely for Bills kind words!

The bubbling sense of humor of the brothers Cohen sometimes even gushes to the surface during court trials, as Mineola Supreme Court Justice Mario Pittoni found one day.

As all seasoned court reporters know, witnesses often adopt quaint words or sounds to describe odd noises. Sometimes their ejaculations seem almost unrecordable since they bear little sound similarity to regular English words. On this particular day, Arnold was dutifully recording the words of a witness in an injunction proceeding in which the Town of North Hempstead was trying to stop a steel company from making so much neighbor-annoying noise in the operation of its business.

Testifying there was a "terrific racket" going on in the steel yard all the time, the witness said: "Every time the trucks come in and stop, their air brakes go whoosh. They start up and stop and start up again, and their brakes go whoosh, whoosh, whoosh."

At this point Justice Pittoni got an edge-word in. "Mr. Cohen" he asked, "did you put that 'whoosh' on the record?"

"Yes, Judge," stenotypist Cohen replied.

"How did you put it on the record?" the judge asked?

"Oh, I tore the paper," the court reporter answered nonchalantly.

Does the sound of tearing paper

"whoosh" in a steel yard? Hardly, but as Arnold said later, "The witness' slightest whoosh is my command!"

The Cohens' similarities manifest themselves in other ways. Both have scaled the heights to shorthand reporting greatness, having won, three years in a row, the speed contests (top speed: 280 words a minute) sponsored by the National Shorthand Reporters Association in the United States. In fact, each twin found his own brother was the fiercest competition during the contests, so while Bill retired the trophy by taking top honors three times in a row, Arnold forebore from competing and vice versa.

Only in the matter of matrimony have the brothers Cohen evidenced the remotest dissimilarity. Arnold, married, lives with his wife and two children in Westbury. Bill on the other hand, is still a successful fugitive from the state of matrimony.

Whether or not the alikeness of the twins has ended at the altar, both have done a prodigious job for the world of shorthand reporting. Each has held official positions with the National Shorthand Reporters Association and has worked hard to improve the professional image of the shorthand reporter in the United States.

Bill in fact, has taken a personal part in helping stem the march of the "mechanical mons" which has threatened to consign shorthand reporters to the human scrapheap in the United States. In recent man-against-machine tests in New York State courts, Bill personally competed against the machines, which were beaten, and beaten badly, in the tests. Thus did that mere composite of flesh and blood, bone and sinew known as man prove, in spectacular fashion, his superiority over a product of his own creation.

This article submitted to Short Hand Reading & Dictation Exercises' Magazine in New Delhi, India, to appear in the 1965 annual issue.

SPORTS

by HOWARD FINNEGAN

Hicksville challenged the absolute authority of Manhasset in La Crosse, on the home field, Saturday morning and in a heated contest established the rising power of the Orange and Black in the sport. Manhasset won 3-1 with two goals in the final period but the effort against the entrenched Town Hallers rose the stock of Hicksville for its divisional honors this season.

Hicksville went on a varsity basis two years ago and the North Shore school inflicted an 18-0 lacing on the Orange. Saturday's fine effort before 200 bitter cold fans represented a huge advance for coach Bill Meyer and his team in such a short span.

The Comets turned up for the Manhasset clash with a season opener at New Hyde Park. This area has been a hot bed of Lacrosse activity for more than a quarter of a century. The Hicksville attack was sharp and with four goals by Tom Cara and singles by Dennis Yatras and Bill Fyfe the Comets had an early lead and went on to a 7-3 victory.

A driving wind failed to stem the heat as Manhasset took an early lead in the first half. Just before the half Tom Cara cut in front of the net and slipped in a tying goal.

The 1-1 deadlock stood until the fourth period when the quicker attack of the Manhasset group sped two goals home.

Manhasset had 35 shots on goal and Hicksville had 25. Hicksville goalie Joe Sarno made 19 saves in laudable effort.

The Orange and Black plays at home on Tuesday, against Herricks and has a big assignment the following Saturday morning at Garden City. The Trojans are rated number one in league competition for Hicksville.

Providing Spring is actually here the Hicksville High baseball team swings into non-league action against Bethpage Friday, and Division Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. The Monday and Wednesday games are at home.

That big open date on the Hicksville football calendar will be filled by either Hempstead or Bethpage.

To the Editor:

"Without ground rules, either anarchy or chaos prevail, or a strong man steps in to take over..." so stated Dr. Mary Raywid at the March 16th Woodland Ave. P.T.A. meeting. Little did her audience realize how prophetic were her words.

At this point, I would like to call attention to an incident which took place the same evening and demands clarification. But it is important that everyone be aware that on Friday, March 12th the Hicksville Board of Education voted (4-2) to deny A.B.C.-T.V. access to the Woodland Ave. P.T.A. meeting in the best interest of the children and residents of this community.

A disappointed Mr. Cavanagh, Principal of the Woodland Ave. School explained that great effort had been made to secure the cooperation of the American Broadcasting Company. Principal Cavanagh further stated that he, the Woodland Ave. P.T.A. and guest, Dr. Mary Raywid had enthusiastically endorsed this bid for publicity. Dr. Raywid later stated, in her speech, that we were fast becoming the Long Island focus of National attention...and deservedly so.

We have had no national coverage of our recent community controversies; not by the press or any other news media. But it is apparent that certain factions are laboring to insure that our "family" problems are magnified, so that which began as a small fire will eventually be fanned into an uncontrolled holocaust.

It was shocking to discover that in spite of the boards rejection of this bid for national notoriety, A.B.C.-T.V. in a brazen exhibition of effrontery to the Hicksville School Board descended in full force, set up its cameras, and was ready in advance to film the "Extremists" marching in.

Who at the Woodland Ave. School has taken it upon himself to defy the school boards ruling? And now will the school board act to establish that it, and it alone, is responsible for implementing school district policies?

I ask, how did A.B.C. get this equipment into the building? Who arranged for the special outlets to supply the extra electricity needed by this heavy machinery?

From an unimpeachable source I learned that A.B.C. had refused to remove its staff and equipment, when it had been directed to do so by School District Attorney Joseph Catalano. An ABC school boards ruling, stating his presence had been requested, and further challenged Attorney Catalano to call the police to eject the A.B.C. staff and equipment. This too would have been recorded by A.B.C.'s cameras and a further distorted image of this community would have eventually been beamed across the nation. (Perhaps some Sunday afternoon A.B.C. will televise a film on Selma, Alabama, and follow it with "Extremism in Hicksville.")

Just who is it that wishes to see this community exploited and its many fine residents tagged "lunatics"?

Will our distorted image attract the kind of people all communities strive to attract? Will our real estate values be enhanced? Will businesses want to establish themselves in such an area? And how will it affect our children?

The School Board must bear responsibility for this latest outrage, since the trustees began negating their role in our school structure, when they began closing their eyes and ears to certain events that occurred in this school district.

At the October 9th Hicksville School Board Meeting, school board President George Kuhn informed Mr. Abt that certain teachers in one of our elementary schools had been distributing political literature to the children, in defiance of the New York State Educational Laws (The Hatch Act guarantees teachers the right to engage in politics, but not in the schools). The New York State Law demands that the school board suspend such teachers and hold a hearing. This did not happen. Instead it was swept under the rug. (Skeptics can check the tape of the Oct. 9th school board meeting - reel II - the last fifteen minutes.)

Since that time, a principal at a P.T.A. executive meeting attacked a board trustee labeling him in uncomplimentary terms when the trustee asked Supt. Abt what action could be taken against this principal. Mr. Abt replied that it was the trustee's personal problem. When the same trustee asked P.T.A. Liaison Trustee Jackson, if he could be allowed the privilege of defending himself against a one-sided attack, Mr. Jackson stated, "It's not within our jurisdiction."

At the March 4th school board meeting, residents standing in the halls were exposed to the rantings of another principal who was shouting that he and his followers were going to assure that a certain trustee be run out of this town.

Supt. Abt, in his May 1964 "Superintendent's Message", informed, "That public schools should develop in students an ethical behavior based on spiritual and moral values." Then why are educators incapable of proper ethical conduct to be found in our Hicksville Schools?

I could continue, but having made my point I urge that concerned citizens make their concern known to the school board trustees. The board must take steps to see that those involved in this most blatant nose-thumbing are not protected or encouraged.

The future welfare of our children is at stake.

Respectfully,

Florence Infantino

P.S. A copy of this letter and other pertinent data have been sent to the Commissioner of Education, so that he too may be aware that "Extremism" has indeed taken over in the Hicksville School System.

NEW YORK'S JUNIOR MISS ENJOYS PLANNING PARTIES

Miss Linda Kurzenberger of Horseheads, crowned New York's Junior Miss of 1965, is a topnotch hostess, besides being a very attractive young lady with an outstanding personality.

As a result of her superior poise, personality and scholarship, she was a finalist in the America's Junior Miss Pageant at Mobile, Alabama. The contest, which has college scholarships as its top prizes, is open only to high school seniors.

As part of their activities, the 50 state winners participated in a party-planning event sponsored by the Scott Paper Company. Linda scored points with her sense of taste and design. Linda likes to create a different setting at each of the many parties she gives each year, using modern disposable products. Scott Paper Placemats, paper napkins and plastic cups which are economical, smart and young.

Linda enjoys inviting her friends over for a housewarming. Everyone who plays a guitar brings it along and the less musically inclined bring records. Bermuda shorts or slacks are "in" for this kind of party and refreshments are casual to suit the mood. Linda likes to serve pizza with hot chocolate during the cold winter months, and lemonade punch during the summer. She tries to limit the number of guests to 10 so that everyone can participate by playing an instrument or putting on a favorite folk-song record.

Look Ma, No Premiums; is the title of a notice printed on the cartons of a well known breakfast cereal: In this box you'll find no trading stamps, cards, space ships, fission gun. Nothing that rips, roars or rolls, goes shh-boom or even phft. No Venetian poison rings, slave bracelets, car jacks or pictures of Yosemite. If you want gadgets instead of gastronomics your local five-and-ten will gladly help you. Why should you be bribed to eat it? Never thought of it before, but they have something. (Hope my nine - year - old doesn't read this)....

Spring Is On The Way

With spring again life focuses
On rows of deep-blue irises
And one or two new viruses.

That picture up there was taken when I was much older. One thing worrying businessmen is the number of unemployed on the payroll. Out of the mouths of babes, too often, comes cereal. Syosset's violinist Tom Barone, is also a piano tuner. Recently when a fellow piano-tuner was ill, Tom took over the assignment of fixing a piano in a Long Island girls school. While he was at work, several of the girls strolled casually through the room in various states of undress. The climax came when a young lady in tartling deshabille appeared to pay the bill. As Tom was writing the receipt, she suddenly gave a bewildered look, then fled, screaming, "That's not our regular man!" - Their regular piano tuner is blind. Tongue twister: A phrase that gets your tang all tongued up... Wendy Barrie at Westbury Manor defines a modern pioneer: "The mother who managed to get through a snowy Saturday with the television set out of order, And: "Confusion is one woman plus one left turn; excitement is two women plus one secret; bedlam is three women plus one bargain; chaos is four women plus one luncheon check" (Yep, Wendy talks of TV as she does on, my little bunnies.) Richard Nixon, a great admirer of President Eisenhower, told us of Eisenhower's trepidation with female gathers. Once convinced that he had a group of women interested in his subject, he announced that he would answer questions. Immediately, a lady arose, "Mr. President," she asked, "will you kindly tell us why Mrs. Eisenhower wears bangs?" At Fred Cammaris restaurant, Locust Valley, we heard one dowager say to another, "But, my dear, their house is one of those early - American places where one has to go outdoors to the garage..." Hills super markets have merged with E. J. Korvettes grocery, vegetable and meat markets... Marble tycoon Richard Eschmann, Port Washington and Brooklyn, tells of the woman who went with the complaint, "I can't find my husband's grave I know he's buried here." The Mgr. asked, "What is the name?" She replied, "Thomas Jackson." Referring to his card index the custodian said "Madame we have no Thomas Jackson. We have an Elizabeth Jackson." She said, "That's him, everything is in my name..." If You Please...

Nineteen Get Student Prizes

When the nineteen students representing Hicksville returned to their High School last Wednesday, they brought a record-shattering number of trophies as evidence of their imprint on the Fifth Annual Conference.

Sixteen times the name of Hickville resounded in the auditorium of the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake, New York, where the Conference was held, as each student accepted the applause of the 900 people assembled there. Their individual achievements had been recognized for their various phases of retailing activities in which they had participated.

Particularly noteworthy was the selection of Edward Sullivan, a senior, as the Distributive Education Student of the Year. Sullivan also received first prize for his study in the Home Furnishing field.

Other first prize winners for competitions elsewhere during the Conference were Rita Anickey, Kern Gren, and Maureen Healey. Among the second prize winners were William Rogers and Margaret Montellor for Marketing Studies. Honorable mentions went to Jeanne Goodman, Judy Goodman, Lorraine Tursi, Maureen Hanifan, and Michael Cronin. The students also accepted a number of other trophies on behalf of their entire club's efforts.

The Conference climaxes a year round program of the Distributive Education Clubs of America, devoted to the development of future leaders in the retail field. Its success reflects in its continuous growth in the country and wide professional recognition. Officially chartered, it is run by duly elected officers. Here again, Hicksville claims its share of honors in the election of the local Decca Club president, William Rogers, to the office of Area Vice-President representing Nassau.
