Local School Tax Increase Drops

Due to a substantial increase in the total rate determining assessed valuation of Hicksville School District, the tax rate for 1965 - 66 will be 17.7 cents per $100 less than was forecast by the Board of Education at the time of the budget vote last May. A rate of $6.53 was forecast and the rate set by the School Board on August 9 at a special meeting is $6.253.

Assessed valuation of the School District, as of Aug. 1, according to the County Assessment Dept. has increased $2,829,746. An increase in assessment of $289,000 has been projected last May.

The combined rate for school and library purposes in the new year is $6.60 per $100. It was $6.596 for 1964 - 65. The combined budgets for the school and library for the new year is $12,717,834.89 of which $6,602,719.39 is to be raised by tax on local real estate. The balance represents revenues Federal and state aid anticipated.

The School District may find the reduction between the forecast and adopted rates offset next fiscal year. A change in Federal legislation will mandate an increase of approximately $60,000 in district contributions to Social Security, effective Jan. 1, 1968. This amount will have to be included in the next budget for payment, plus the projected contributions for the year 1966 - 67, it was noted by a Board spokesman.

Fehrenbach Puts On Good Fight

The message is the same at each stop. "I am being opposed by three political parties - the Democrats, the Liberals, and the Conservatives. I must be doing something right." That's Assemblyman Edwin J. Fehrenbach's way of pointing to the "uphill battle" he sees ahead in his campaign for Supervisor in the Town of Oyster Bay.

As a result, he is taking to the hustings well in advance of the standard Post-Labor Day start of political campaigns. He explains, "There's only way I know how to win-to get out and fight for every vote in sight."

The formula has worked in the past. For eight years Fehrenbach has represented the Town of Oyster Bay in the New York State Assembly. While there he gained a reputation for his expertise on the problems of financing education, culminating recently in his being singled out for "outstanding efforts on behalf of education" by the Nassau Suffolk School Boards.

"But it is a different story this time around" Fehrenbach says.

"I'm running against an incumbent on the Democratic line who also has Liberal Party support. In many cases last year the Liberal Party vote was the determining factor," he remarks. Fehrenbach adds, "Then to top it off, I am being opposed by the Conservative Party."

Despite the gloomy outlook however, Fehrenbach believes he can win "if I have help from people of good will interested in good government."

To achieve that help, Fehrenbach is handing out a brochure which details his efforts on behalf of educational financing in Oyster Bay. It points out that through his efforts Oyster Bay School Districts have received $27 million in additional State aid to education.

Part of the brochure contains a return reply card on which local residents may indicate their willingness to help Fehrenbach in his campaign.

Fehrenbach says, "I have a record that can stand the closest scrutiny. I have running mates that are outstanding individuals. We have a number of issues to develop through the campaign. We have a number of positive programs to offer the Oyster Bay voters."

"But, on paper, we are behind.

When you're behind there is only one way to catch up and pull ahead-run faster. That's what we intend to do."

Firemen Prepare For Labor Day

Labor Day weekend will bring a double-barrelled volunteer firemen's drill to Hicksville. In addition to the 37th annual running of the Hicksville Fire Dept. invitation parade and drill on Monday, Sept. 6, the 9th Nassau County Fire Battalion will hold an old-fashioned, non-mechanical drill on Sunday afternoon.

Both events will take place on a racing course on the parking area of Mid Island Shopping Plaza off North Broadway, according to General Chairman Louis Ashley Mertz, ex-captain of Fire Co. No. 2.

Seating for 6500 will be installed by the volunteers just prior to Labor Day. The contests on Sunday, Sept. 5, limited to departments of the 9th battalion of Nassau County, will start at 2 p.m.

More than 50 fire departments from all sections of Long Island as well as upstate New York and New England will take part in the Labor Day parade which starts at 9 o'clock in the morning, rain or shine. Fast competition in seven high-speed events gets underway on the racing course at 12:30 P.M. John Larkin is co-chairman with "Red" Mertz for Labor Day. George Frey is recording secretary. Stanley Amelkin and Bud Immesberg are corresponding secretaries. Sherwood Heidel financial secretary; William Stahley, treasurer; and Assistant Chief Melvin Voorhies is chiefs representative on the committee.

Bethpage Scout In New Mexico

Peter Salsbury of 49 Farm Ranch Road West, is taking part in the National Junior Leader Instructor Training Camp at Philmont Scout Ranch. The ranch is located in the Sangre de Cristo range of the Rockies near Cimarron, New Mexico.

The Junior Leader Instructor Training program is designed to prepare junior leaders to assist in training junior leaders when they return home.

Salsbury, who is a Star Scout in Nassau County Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be qualified to train leaders on the council, district and troop level upon completion of the 12 - day camping session.

Living in tents, camping by patrols and practicing the skills of Scoutcraft are part of each day's activities. Outdoor skills are learned by doing. Night orientation, wilderness travel, fires, axes and camping are experiences that can be shared with other Scouts at Philmont.

The training session is at Rayado Camp on the 137,000 acre ranch. Surroundings are reminiscent of the early American trappers and pioneers which include Kit Carson and Lucien Bonaparte Maxwell. These rugged settlers fashioned their way along the Santa Fe Trail. Here the Philmont Scout Ranch Museum displays many relics of the Santa Fe heritage.

THINKING IT OVER

By Robert L. Morgan

Reapportionment which is turning out to be just another word to cover political opportunism, is spreading like wildfire throughout the state.

While the state is in the throes of holding special Assembly and Senatorial contests this year which will merely decide whether the gerrymandering of plan A will keep the status quo or give the Democrats an advantage, the county is ready to change its Supervisor system.

High and mighty platitudes are flying about one man one vote, but we believe the main factor in the scheme of things is to get more jobs and more patronage into the political arena on all sides.

The getting more patronage and political jobs started a couple of years ago with the judicial system. At that time the cry was to unclog the courts by making more judgeships and both political parties were behind this move. No one said (out loud at least) that more judges would have to come through the existing political systems and with each judgeship would come a politically appointed staff. So we all went for that one. More judges more justice. And today the courts are nearly as crowded as ever and the costs have nearly doubled.

Now comes the state Assembly. The cry is reapportionment, give every man a vote. So the answer is make more districts and more assemblymen. The result is a mass of hazy new districts that follow no discernible boundaries and confuse everyone. But there will be more assemblymen and State senators and more staffs once more politically appointed to help these new offices. The cost is on its way up and the one man who thought he was getting his one vote is going to find that nothing has changed except the cost of government.

Now the County of Nassau is set for reapportionment. The present six man Board should be increased to 15 men representing 15 nebulous areas of the county. Presently there is a weighted vote system so that and one from each Township and the two cities Glen Cove and Long Beach make up the Board.

This makeup may not be the best, inasmuch as it has always been a source of amazement to us that just because Glen Cove and Long Beach achieved city status years ago that they have county supervisors.

But is the answer to make 15 people do the work six used to do? Or is the answer just to revise the existing setup. The goal seems to be to have each supervisor represent 90,000 people. But does it really matter how many people he mythically represents if he is tied to one or the other political party. The Democratic family in a row of Republican houses still has no more say than before if the supervisor is Republican (or vice versa). What we have done is stumbled along on high sounding ideologies that will simply result in padding the government payrolls to get the same government we now have.

Too Much Beer Can Be Harmful

By C. A. Dean, M.D.

(Q) "Please reprint your editorial on the hazards of excessive beer drinking. How much is considered "all right," how much is "excessive," etc.? Mr. M.S.

(A) Beer drinking in North America is as common as wine drinking in Europe. Television and radio commercials plus magazine and newspaper ads picture beer as almost a daily necessity. It would seem that anyone who doesn't consume several bottles of beer each day is "just not with it."

I think beer is a tasty enjoyable beverage but I object to someone trying to keep us tanked up with it all the time.

Last week a patient of mine mentioned that he stopped the daily consumption of his favorite brew one year ago. He noticed a definite improvement in his general well being. He lost several pounds, mostly from his waist and his blood pressure improved.

I pass this case history along because I'm sure many might benefit from it. I don't advocate giving up beer entirely as this patient did, or even omitting one glass of brew with dinner each night. However, drinking several bottles a day means an intake of a fair amount of alcohol over a period of time. This can cause high blood pressure, overweight, liver cirrhosis and alcoholism.

One bottle of beer contains 170 "empty" calories; that is, calories with no nutritional benefit. The statement that beer is good for one is incorrect. The daily beer habit lessens the pleasure of enjoying it at special occasions.

"How much is excessive," is a difficult question to answer, but avoid a daily habit of more than one bottle for any length of time. An irregular consumption of beer is best.

Do you have a medical question? Write Dr. C.A. Dean in care of this newspaper.

Bureaucracy Vs. Charitable Hospitals

By RUSSELL KIRK

IS IT BETTER TO HAVE no hospital than to have a hospital not completely modern? Patients, particularly those of small means, naturally prefer an old hospital to going without care locally. But, state health authorities and often state hospital associations, increasingly favor big, centralized institutions — and tend, in effect, to push to the wall the smaller and older voluntary hospitals.

In the Bronx, St. Francis Hospital, precisely a century old, is being closed on the insistence of the Hospital Review and Planning Council of Southern New York. Operated by nuns, the Franciscan Sisters of the Poor, St. Francis has been serving chiefly low-income Puerto Ricans treating 75,000 people a year. It has 380 beds and a staff of 800 employees, also chiefly Puerto Ricans. Where are the patients and the employees supposed to go? Meanwhile, we talk grandiosely about a "war on poverty" — and close hospitals serving the poor.

Officials of the hospital declare that the Planning Council's adverse report on St. Francis is unjust. But they found themselves "in the position of a voluntary agency within the framework of a bureaucratic system, unable to gather support for the continued maintenance and improvement of our areas of endeavor."

One staff doctor, also serving on the staff of other hospitals, calls the closing of St. Francis a criminal act. "If St. Francis is shut down because of what the Council says," he continues, "then 75 per cent of the other hospitals in this city should be closed."

Big new hospitals, caring mostly for the well-to-do or for people with full health insurance can survive by charging high fees (particularly to the insurance companies) or by doing business on a mass scale. But in the beginning, nearly all hospitals were charitable foundations. What happens to people of low incomes, when low-cost, long-established, voluntary hospitals are pushed out of existence? Dr. Anthony Alteri, president of St. Francis' medical board, remarks that "the closing of this institution will be a tragedy, since interim plans to relocate medical and socially indigent patients to other voluntary and municipal institutions many miles away will constitute a hardship for the people in this area."

Being himself the fund-raising leader for his own charitable hospital Mecosta Memorial, this columnist seconds Dr. Alteri's objections. Too often state health authorities demand, from good small hospitals, programs for "modernization" and expansion far beyond their resources — programs, too, which bear small relation to genuine medical necessities. I know of several pleasant, much-needed smaller hospitals, in good buildings, which have had to build completely new "plant" — or else close their doors — to meet the requirements of an arbitrary and sometimes boondoggling hospital building-code.

In Michigan's legislature, this session a bill was introduced to confer arbitrary powers of granting and withdrawing hospital franchises to an official state body. Though happily this measure failed to pass, doubtless it will be re-introduced next session. Its enactment would mean that every Michigan hospital would be subject to the whim of a new layer of bureaucracy — and a bureaucracy which is prejudiced against small hospitals.

Local hospitals on a humane scale reasonable in their charges may be doomed. But if so, our society will have succumbed in one more respect to the depersonalized standardization of an affluent message.

Why We Say--

USE INITIALS: We now abbreviate projects with initials, but in the 17th century it was common merely to shorten words. That's how "mob" got started. It is a shortened form of the Latin "mobile vulgus," which meant the fickle throng. Vulgus also meant the common people, soon turning into our popular word vulgar.

Star-spangled gift idea

You can put $50 into someone's future with U.S. Savings Bonds—and the cost is only $37.50.

You can also be pretty sure your gift will be used for something pretty important. Because most people hang onto their Savings Bonds until something important comes up. Like college tuition, a new baby, and retirement day.

Something else. You give more than money with U. S. Savings Bonds. In a small—but vital—way you give freedom, too. Because Bond dollars do a lot to help Uncle Sam stand tall in this troubled world of ours.

Prices start at just $18.75 for the $25 size.

Why not give Bonds to all the special people on your list this year? Yourself included.

Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds

- You get back $4 for every $3 at maturity (7½ years)
- You pay no state or local income tax and can defer payment of federal tax until the Bonds are cashed
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- You can get your money when you need it

Letters

To the Editor:

As a housewife, I am very interested in Rep. Lester Wolff's recent attack on trading stamps as a factor contributing to the rising cost of food products. He posed a lot of questions about the stamps, then admitted he didn't know the answers and demanded (what else?) a Federal investigation.

I remember that Mr. Wolff campaigned for Congress as a very successful food marketing executive for the past twenty years. What are trading stamps but a marketing gimmick? Yet we now hear Mr. Wolff the food marketing expert, trying to tell us he doesn't know the facts about trading stamps and their effects on food prices. I don't believe it.

Furthermore, his demand for a Federal investigation of high food prices is a laugh. Only a month or so ago, he voted to kill the appropriation for the National Food Marketing Commission, which is making a continuing study of the reasons behind high food prices.

Now he wants an investigation? I don't believe that, either.

Could all this be Mr. Wolff's way of trying to divert our attention from something else involving food: the fact that LBJ is now sending wheat to Nasser's Egypt, thanks to Rep. Wolff's vote permitting him to do so?

Very truly yours,
Mary D. Weisser

Tales Behind The Ticker Tapes

by L.M.C.
Death of a Growth Stock
For some investors, there's something magical about real estate. Not for them an ordinary stock certificate showing part ownership of some giant corporation like Standard Oil of New Jersey, Sears Roebuck, or I.B.M. Land something, you can see and touch, something you can see and touch something real and of all land anywhere, Florida land is by all odds the most inviting.

But how does an ordinary investor go about acquiring choice property in distant areas? The problem seemed to have no practical solution until September 18, 1958. On that day, Arthur Vining Davis, one of America's richest men, (his fortune was estimated at 350 million dollars), invited Americans everywhere to join with him in ownership of Florida real estate.
A new company, to be named Arvida Corporation, would be formed. It would take over all of Mr.

Davis' huge Florida real estate holdings, well over 100,000 acres, including property in Dade County South of Miami and in Broward County west of Fort Lauderdale and Hollywood. Arvida would also get from Mr. Davis about ten operating or income producing properties, including the Boca Raton Hotel and Club, motels and yacht and beach clubs.

And finally the entire deal would be handled by two of Wall Street's most respected houses: Dominick and Dominick, and Carl M. Loeb, Rhoades & Co.

Was there ever a surer thing? After all, what was good enough for Arthur Vining Davis was certainly good enough for small investors anywhere. Florida land Florida sun, Florida growth, how could it miss? The public rushed to buy, at only $11 a share.

Arvida had hardly begun its corporate life when a cloud of suspicion settled over it that would never really lift. The Securities and Exchange Commission complained that investors hadn't received all the facts about Arvida before being invited to buy. Sure enough when a revised prospectus was issued, it revealed all kinds of details that might have given a careful investor second thoughts about buying in. Minor details such as: part of the properties were under flood danger levels, some properties were inaccessible to every form of transportation except helicopter, some properties were covered with 3 feet of fine sand covering hardpan clay to an undetermined depth. Minor details.

Even so, there was still that Florida was growing. It was simply a question of time until Arvida paid off - and big! A growth stock based on land, sun and population expansion. It was simply a question of time.

That was seven years ago and for a while the stock did line up to the optimist's expectations. It hit a high of $23 a share in 1959. Thereafter it began a slow, steady decline and the last few years its ranged between $4 and $6 a piece. Quite a comedown from the original offering price and without a cent paid in dividends the entire time.

Arvida made headlines again a few weeks ago. It seems the Pennsylvania Railroad, trying to diversify into non-rail operations bought a 51 percent interest in Arvida at $6 a share.

What about the other 49 percent of the shares, the shares held by the public? What can they look forward to with the Pennsylvania now in control?

Nassau and Suffolk commuters painfully familiar with the merciless draining of the Long Island

Railroad's financial resources by its corporate parent, the Pennsylvania, will have no doubts as to the grim fate reserved for the Pennsylvania's fellow share holders in Arvida.
Mr. Saxon and Local Bank Stocks - Next week.

In Service

Chief Aviation Mechanic's Mate, ANTON S. EVANCHIK, 28 Amby Avenue, Plainview, a member of the Naval Air Reserve Squadron VS 837 has completed two weeks annual active duty aboard the U. S. Naval Base Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

While on cruise, he assisted squadron pilots and members in routine training missions. In addition to actual flights on his tour of duty, Chief Evanchik had a busy and rigorous schedule.

Now that Chief Evanchik's cruise is over, he will return to his home and civilian occupation. He is employed by the Kollsman Instrument Co., Syosset, as a machinist. Chief Evanchik is married to the former Elizabeth Montondo and they have four children. He will continue to drill with his squadron one week a month at the Naval Air Station New York in Brooklyn.

Airman VOLKERT FRUEDDEN USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Nickelsen of 68 Eighth St., Hicksville, graduated July 22 from the Aviation Machinist's Mate Reciprocating School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn.

During the nine-week course, he received instruction in reciprocating power plants and line operations. He was taught intermediate, major and special inspections of power plants and accessories.

Before attending this school, he was graduated from the two week Aviation Familiarization and the four-week Mechanical Fundamentals courses.

Seaman Recruit THOMAS G. BITTROLFF, USCG, son of Mrs. Emily A. Bittrolff of 14 Gerald Ave., Hicksville, enlisted in the U.S. Coast Guard for four years active duty at the Coast Guard Recruiting Office in New York.

He will report to the Coast Guard Recruit Training Center, Cape May, N. J. for 12 weeks basic training.

Upon completion of recruit training, if eligible, he may apply for training leading to a specialty rating in the field of his choice.

The primary mission of the U.S. Coast Guard is the protection of life and property at sea with long range aircraft and cutters.

Marine Private First Class GERARD FRANCO, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Franco of 49 Cliff Drive, Hicksville, graduated July 18 from a service and repair course for the F-4B "Phantom II" aircraft at Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N.C.

The "Phantom II" is a supersonic, all-weather, jet fighter, designed for intermediate and long range high altitude interceptions, using missiles as the main armament, and for intermediate or long range attack mission with special conventional weapons.

A graduate of Hicksville High School, Franco entered the service in August 1963.

Shipfitter Second Class WILLIAM J. BAUMAN, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Bauman of 69 Abbot Lane, Hicksville, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Bon Homme Richard, which has returned to the South China Sea to resume air strikes against installations in North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong in the South.

After spending 43 days in the South China Sea, operating with four other attack aircraft carriers and their escorting destroyers, which comprised Task Force Seventy-Seven, Bon Homme Richard visited the Philippine Islands for ten days before returning to sea.

Electronics Technician Seaman WILLIAM F. DYLEWSKI, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dylewski of 17 Edgewood Drive, Hicksville, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Oriskany, which recently departed Japan after a two-week visit.

Oriskany is presently operating in the South China Sea as a unit of the Seventh Fleet, supplying air support for American and South Vietnamese operations in both North and South Viet Nam.

The two week import period in Japan was used for needed repairs on the ship and rest and relaxation for the crew after prior operations in the South China Sea.

Hicksville Football News

by Milt Pryor

On Saturday, August 14, 10 A.M. at the Dutch Lane School in Hicksville the second team registration and team tryouts will take place. All team members are urged to attend and pick up their permission slip for the New York Mets baseball game to be played at Shea Stadium, August 21. Each member will be required to bring along 1 dollar for bus transportation. We are still in need of boys 14 years of age who are not heavier than 135 pounds. It is very important that all who are interested and willing to play midget football attend. Any adult interested in helping out with the team training and planning call Milt Pryor at WE 5-6194 after 7 p.m. weekdays. Our practice sessions are scheduled to begin August 23 and will continue until our first game the middle of September. We wish to thank John Powers of the Holy Family Football League for his wonderful help in enabling us to get our League off the ground. Remember August 14 at Dutch Lane School. See you all there.
