Post Office Seeks Ideas

Inspector Henry E. Platt, Postal Inspector in Charge of the Hicksville Post Office and its branch, announced today that all Hicksville Post Office employees will be asked to take part in the new Postal Efficiency Plan announced Wednesday, July 22, by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski.

"The Postal Efficiency Plan includes comprehensive programs for improving postal service and reducing costs," Inspector Platt said. "It is our way of helping President Johnson fulfill his pledge to provide more effective and economical government services."

In Washington, Postmaster General John A. Gronouski termed the plan twin objectives of economy and service betterment "a matter of highest priority" and called for total involvement of all employees through the Post Office suggestion program.

Semi-annual reports will be made to the President, Mr. Gronouski said, and realized savings will be reverted to the Treasury or applied to improving postal service.

A local committee will be organized to fulfill the two purposes of the plan: 1. Reduce Costs; 2. Improve services.

More Apartments Get Okay For Hicksville

The Town Board approved an application by Harry Speigel to construct a two story garden apartment in Hicksville at its meeting Tuesday. The apartment would be for senior citizens and include recreation and shopping facilities. The location of the apartments will be Broadway Hicksville and Bethpage Road near the Mid Island Shopping Plaza.

In other zoning matters over 100 persons from Plainview and Bethpage picketed the Town Board Tuesday (August 10) and appeared at public hearings to protest zoning change applications. In a lengthy hearing, Plainview residents offered a petition with over 400 names protesting against the application of Old Country Villas, Inc. for a zoning change which would permit them to construct a 176-unit two-story garden apartment house on 11 acres on the south side of Old Country Road near Bethpage Road.

The petitioners claimed that because of the complex sewer and drainage problem, the land was only suitable for an apartment type dwelling. Those protesting it included various civic associations, school and P.T.A. officials, indicating that such a structure would create a problem in the Manetto Hill School and likewise increase the tax burden.

In Bethpage, the petition of Aaron and Belle Siegel to change the zone so that they can construct a professional building on South Oyster Road and Rice Street in Bethpage was challenged from several sources, including a 200-name petition opposing it. They contend that such a move would change the character of the area, alter property values, create traffic problems and would be "spot zoning without justification."

Road Project Approved

The Town Board approved the resurfacing of Clarissa Drive and adjacent areas in Hicksville. It was announced by Councilman Edward J. Poulos, Board Majority Leader.

Storm water drainage was previously installed in the project area. Engineers estimate the cost at $20,323. Bids will be received at Town Hall on September 15.

Councilman A. Carl Grunewald advocated the project on the Board. It was recommended by Highway Superintendent Norman T. Wolf.

Summer Band Concerts presented during July and August at Mid-

Island Shopping Plaza were co-sponsored by the Hicksville Recreation Department and Plaza Merchants Association in the community interest. Mr. Peter Horvath, director pauses for this TIMES photo-to with members of the Summer Recreation Band.

Fall Lectures At Jewish Inst.

A complete and comprehensive program of Adult Jewish Studies for the fall, winter and spring of the 1965-66 year will be offered to the Jewish communities of Bethpage, Hicksville, Jericho, Plainview and Syosset. This was announced today by Leon Rosen, Chairman of the Institute for Adult Jewish Studies for the Mid-Island Area, and Rabbi Julius Goldberg, rabbinic dean of the Institute.

The theme for the fall lectures will be "The Bible Encounters the Modern World". Because of the awakened interest in the Bible generated by the Dead Sea Scrolls, the new Jewish Publication Society's translation of the Torah and the spirit of Ecumenism, the committee felt that a series of lectures on this theme would capture the interest of the thinking Jew and contribute towards the revitalization of the Scriptural basis of our faith. Each lecture will follow the evolution of Jewish thought in the Bible in accordance with current Biblical concepts and the revelations of archaeological discoveries. All lecturers are noted authorities in their field of endeavor. The fall lectures will be held at the Midway Jewish Center and will commence Monday evening, October 25th and continue for six successive Monday evenings.

Dr. Arthur Hertzberg, rabbi of Temple Emanu-El of Englewood, N.J. and a member of the graduate faculty of Columbia University, will highlight the winter series and will deliver six lectures on "Famous Conflicts and Dialogues in Jewish History". Rabbi Hertzberg will discuss the significant clashes of ideas and personalities in Jewish history such as the Sadducees, Pharisees and Hasidism-up to present day confrontations. They will be held at the new synagogue building of Temple Or Elohim in Jericho Chapter Hadassah.

THINKING IT OVER

By Robert L. Morgan

Generally this column deals with sundry one-sided opinions on a variety of subjects, but seldom if ever has it been used to convey a personal feeling.

Today we must part from this and pause a moment in memory of a very personal friend, confidant and guiding help in the publication of these newspapers.

We learned with saddened heart that Mrs. Barbara Lensky died Thursday in Nassau Hospital after an illness, which although it stretched for many months, still seemed sudden and disheartening.

Barbara Lensky worked for this newspaper since 1960. She was a secretary, office manager and even, for a period of weeks, during an illness of the publisher, in complete charge of newspaper publications.

She was liked by the staff for her gentle and firm command of situations plus her singularly alert mind which grasped things of diverse proportions.

She was particularly liked by this writer as a person of sincerity and dependability who was a warm-hearted human being.

Born Barbara Wieder in Brooklyn in 1915, one of seven children, Mrs. Lensky was well known in Hicksville for work in Girl Scouting, PTA where she was president of both the Junior and Senior High School PTAs and PTA Council. She was also an organizing member of B'nai B'rith in New Hyde Park. She was the mother of Jean and Neil who were both honor graduates of Hicksville High School.

We join the family in mourning the loss of this fine person. She was a woman of character. She is gone, there is no going back. But all who have known her are better off for having had the privilege. This at least is some consolation in a world that has too few lasting loyalties and genuine values to offer.

Protein In The Diet Prevents Liver Damage

By C.A. Dean, M.D.

MEDITORIAL: No organ or body tissue escapes from the effects of obesity. Everyone is aware that obesity causes high blood pressure and speeds up arteriosclerosis. Few, however, are aware that the liver also is susceptible to damage caused by excess weight. This fact becomes more apparent after studying the liver of obese patients at autopsy.

Extra weight increases the risk of liver damage by two to three times. The liver is injured because its cells. The added fat deposits in of the added burden of fat amongst the liver make it less efficient and unable to care for proper metabolism.

The obese person tends to take less protein. Most eat more carbohydrate for the liver to handle.

Carbohydrates and fats, which are protein protects the liver cells and helps keep them healthy. If there is enough protein in the diet, liver damage may be avoided.

The treatment and prevention of liver damage in the obese person is basically simple. The patient must reduce and maintain normal weight. The diet should also have a proper balance of protein, fat and carbohydrate. Although it is easy to outline this treatment, it is difficult for the obese to diet. To reap the advantages of normal weight, obese patients need to realize that dieting will have to continue the rest of their lives. Any other objective will only lead to failure.

After Ben Bella, Who Next?

By RUSSELL KIRK

REVOLUTIONS CONTINUE to devour their children. New Ahmed Ben Bella, until this month considered the invincible master of Algeria, may be tried for high "treason" by his former friends. Two or three more eminent dictators of Africa may fall before the year is out.

In Egypt, Gamal Abdel Nasser has reason to quake. His ruinous campaign in Yemen, against fellow Moslems, with its dismal casualty-lists, has cost him his popularity with many officers of the Egyptian army; what the military did to Ben Bella in Algiers, the Egyptian military may think of doing to Nasser in Cairo.

In Ghana, President Nkrumah scarcely dares venture outside his palace, where he is protected by Russian guards. His murderous intrigues against the heads of other African states have rebounded against him, so that he is detested by every responsible leader in Africa. And the Ghanaian Army, which learned its potential power during participation in the U.N.-Congo "Peace Force", also may execute a coup.

Increasing poverty in these lands since they attained independence - suffering caused, in large part, by the grotesque financial mismanagement and the grandiose military designs of their dictators - the grotesque financial mismanagement and the grandiose military designs of their dictators - contrasts sharply with the predictions of peace, democracy, and prosperity for "emergent Africa" made by American optimists during the Kennedy Administration. Just conceivably, the overthrow of the present crop of dictators may bring to power men of more sensible views. But it seems improbable that Algeria, Egypt, Ghana, or other African states will find leaders as strong, talented, and pre-Western as Moise Tshombe in the Congo.

The overthrow of Ben Bella brings, at any rate, a halting of Algerian agitation and subversion in Morocco, on the borders of the Congo, and in other quarters. The fall of Nasser would end the war in Yemen, and probably reduce the likelihood of a war between Israel and the Arab states. All Central Africa would breathe easier if Nkrumah were removed from power.

One development which allows a little cheerfulness to break into the Dark Continent is the forming of a new association of the more moderate "emergent nations", some 18 of them - chiefly former French colonies, plus Nigeria and the Congo. These governments have refused to participate in the "Afro-Asian" conference, heavily influenced by Red China over which Ben Bella had planned to preside in Algiers. Already the combined power of the new "moderate" group is as great as that of the leftward-leaning Organization of African Unity.

In Kenya, the eclipse of Jomo Kenyatta, and the harsh words spoken by Jomo Kenyatta about Russia and China, also offer some prospect of order. Kenyatta declared that he means to prevent any revolution in Kenya. If only from a sense of self-preservation, the more able African leaders are beginning to eschew the inflammatory language of revolution, nationalism, and Marxism. It is true of revolutions generally that the fantastic, fanatic, and self-intoxicated figures who initially rise to power must be supplanted, before long, by men of comparative sobriety and practicality.

Football News Notes

By Milt Pryor

After a harried week of practice and skull sessions, our aspiring Matt Snells and Bob Timberlakes are really getting to look like a team.

In our 8 year to 12 year inter-mural division, director Gene Calabrese tells me that the boys are really getting to understand the basic fundamentals of the game and before too long a time will be start in the basic book plays. The coaches in the inter-mural division are Al Masters Hank West, Vinnie Vietan, John Maher, Frank Kendall, Dick DuBrull, Bill Grams, Jack Walsh and Joe Trapp. Gene tells us if a few more contributions start to roll in, we will soon be able to get the necessary equipment for these boys. In our senior division, that is 12 to 15 year old league our head coach Bill Roth of East Cabot Lane had the boys out for their first practice and tryouts last Saturday, and all the Directors were quite pleased with the way Bill handled the boys. Bill is a Hofstra graduate who has played varsity football there for 4 years. Saturday, August 21 at 10 A.M. the second tryouts and practice will be held. All 14 and 15 year old boys who weigh no more than 135 lbs. are urged to come out and try to make the team. Our schedule for the Senior Division begins September 19 at Levittown. September 26 we will play Valley Stream; October 3 we will meet Lindenhurst in Hicksville. This will be our first home date of the season and we hope we get a good turnout for this game.

Len Kaplan of the Twin Theatres in the Mid-Island Shopping Center of Hicksville has arranged for our Football League to present a gala movie and special show, Saturday morning, September 25 at 10 A.M. and lasting until noon. We expect a large response and therefore the shows will be going on in Twin North and South simultaneously. Many prizes and surprises are in store for the boys and girls who attend the Hicksville Football Association's first special function of the season. A donation of 75 cents will admit one child into the theatre. The money that we obtain will be used for the purchasing of football uniforms for the 5 teams that have already been signed.

We have not had any volunteers for our Cheer Leader Group. If you are interested, drop over to Dotch Lane School next Saturday at 10 A.M. or call Milt Pryor weekdays at 7 P.M. More to follow next week. This paper is to be our official newspaper, and we suggest that you read it every week to keep informed of all happenings, past present and future.

C.R.M.D. Opens Center

"Saturday Nights no longer be the loneliest night of the week for Nassau and Suffolk teenagers who have limited social capacity," said Mrs. Ida Rapaport, Executive Director of the Association for Children with Retarded Mental Development. The occasion was the inauguration and opening of the first CRMD recreation center in Nassau and Suffolk Counties, located in the Plainview Reform Church at 530 Old Bethpage Road, Plainview. For the first time, teenagers and young adults who live in Nassau and Suffolk Counties, and have difficulties in adjusting to social activities will have a place of their own each Saturday from 7 to 10 P.M. The program will offer understanding, supervision of dancing, fun and games, refreshments and companionship.

A nominal fee is made to defray expenses.

"A great deal of thought and considerable planning has gone into the establishment of the Nassau Recreation Program," Mrs. Rapaport explained. "It is the outcome of repeated requests by parents for additional meaningful activities for slower but educable teenagers. We urge parents to make this new center an active and profitable program for their children."

Letters

To the Editor:

The members of the county board of supervisors have completed their county-wide hearings pertaining to the proposed majority recommendation by the Nassau County Commission on Governmental Revision to increase the number of county supervisors from six to fifteen members, each representing an equal population and voting on the basis of the Supreme Court's ruling of "one man, one vote - one vote, one value." Now, the board of supervisors, or to be more specific, the two supervisors representing the town of Hempstead (they control 57 percent of the weighted vote on the board and no bill can be passed over the opposition) will determine on August 23 whether or not the people will be given the opportunity to vote on this proposal at a referendum in November.

From all indications, it seems that Hempstead supervisors Caso and Purcell disapprove of a referendum being held on this most historic proposal. If their will prevails, the people will be denied the opportunity to determine whether they desire fair representative government, based on one man-one vote, or the present six-man board of supervisors, where the weighted voting system places the power of decision-making in county affairs in the hands of the Hempstead supervisors.

In the past decade and a half, our county has witnessed fantastic growth, not only in population and progress, but also in problems. To meet our problems and to plan for the needs of the future, we have had to make changes; changes that we hope will bring a better life for everyone. Likewise, to assure the people that they will have a voice in the future of Nassau County, a change is necessary in the structure of our county government: a change to fair and equal representative government.

For some, in this Age of the Sales Tax, the cost of this proposal for fair representative government becomes a serious question, and needless to say, a question that demands consideration and an answer. To face this problem of cost head-on for you, this writer has consulted with the County Bureau of Assessment and has studied the estimate county budget for fiscal 1965 in order to ascertain the approximate additional cost in taxes that the individual taxpayer would have had to pay if we had fifteen supervisors in 1965 instead of six. Here are the results for your careful consideration:

To meet the county's expenses in 1965, the individual taxpayer was taxed $2.15 on $100 of his assessed property value. For example: If the value of your property was assessed at $10,000 you paid $215; at $20,000 you paid $430. Therefore, $2.15 on $100 of assessed property value was the tax base rate.

Now, if we had 15 supervisors to support instead of 6 supervisors under the estimate county budget for fiscal 1965, the additional cost for salaries and staffs would have amounted to approximately $700,000. Although this figure may seem excessive, the additional cost for the taxpayer would have been minimal.

As previously mentioned, the tax base rate of $2.15 on $100 of assessed property value was levied on the taxpayer by the county to meet county expenses in 1965. Now, in order for the people of the county to have supported 15 supervisors in 1965 without curtailing any of the other county expenses, all that needed to be done was to have changed the tax base from $2.15 to $2.17 on $100 of assessed property value - an increase of 2 pennies. Therefore, at $2.17 per $100 of assessed property value, the taxpayer, whose property was valued at $10,000, would have been taxed $217; at $20,000, he would have been taxed $434. As you can see to have supported 15 supervisors and fair representative government in 1965 would have only cost you an additional $2.00 if your property was assessed at $10,000; an additional $4.00 if your property was assessed at $20,000. Such a minimal increase, I believe, is not too extravagant a price to pay for or to preserve and perpetuate the fundamental democratic principle of government. In war, we have spent millions to protect our country and our fundamental principles of American democracy. In peacetime, we should be just as vigilant, fight and sacrifice just as much, so that

Heart Throbs - Ruth Goodstein, six of Plainview welcomes Edward Helmrich, three, of Larchmont into the Long Island chapter of the Mended Hearts Inc., an organization for people who have undergone heart surgery. Eddie recently had a congenital hole in his heart repaired at The Long Island Jewish Hospital in New Hyde Park and is the youngest member of the local Mended Hearts group.

our American democratic way of life will survive.

But now, you may not have the opportunity to render a voice on this most significant issue of fair representative government; the two Hempstead supervisors, controlling a majority of the votes on the board, may not approve of a referendum being held in November. We should be heard, we have a right to be heard, but it is unfortunate, due to the present weighted voting system of the county board of supervisors, that we may not be able to exercise our right to be heard on this issue.
