Letters

I would like to publicly thank your newspaper and Mr. Edward Van Allen, one of your reporters for all of your efforts in my son's behalf. The wonderful articles Mr. Van Allen put in the paper about my handicapped child were most helpful in my obtaining schooling for Tommie.

Tommie will be going to the Institute of Logopedics in Wichita, Kansas, Sept. 1, 1965. Without your help and Mr. Van Allen's, unfortunately Tommie would be one of society's rejects. C.P. and A.H.R.C. did nothing for this youngster; only tried to deny him his birthright, a right to be educated. However, you two men opened many doors for Tommie. I say God Bless both of you.

Respectfully,
Elizabeth Larsen

Schwartz Talks To Teen GOP

Mr. Julius Schwartz, the Republican designee for Assemblyman from the 10th A.D., speaking before the August meeting of the Hicksville Teen-Age Republican Club, (TARS) blasted his opponents, both Republican and Democratic. Mr. Schwartz drew loud applause when he attacked this year's unstable Democratic controlled Legislature. He also reminded his youthful audience that all three Democratic legislators from Nassau voted in favor of extending city taxes to Long Island residents working in New York City. Schwartz said it was his belief that "this is not in the best interests of Nassau commuters."

Then Mr. Schwartz turned his attention to his opponent in the Sept. 14 primary and declared, "Mr. Bruno represents himself as a Republican and at the same time heads an organization which is presumably political and is known as 'Nassau Conservatives, Inc.'" Presiding officer Andrew Rosenblatt commented that "nobody takes Mr. Bruno seriously."

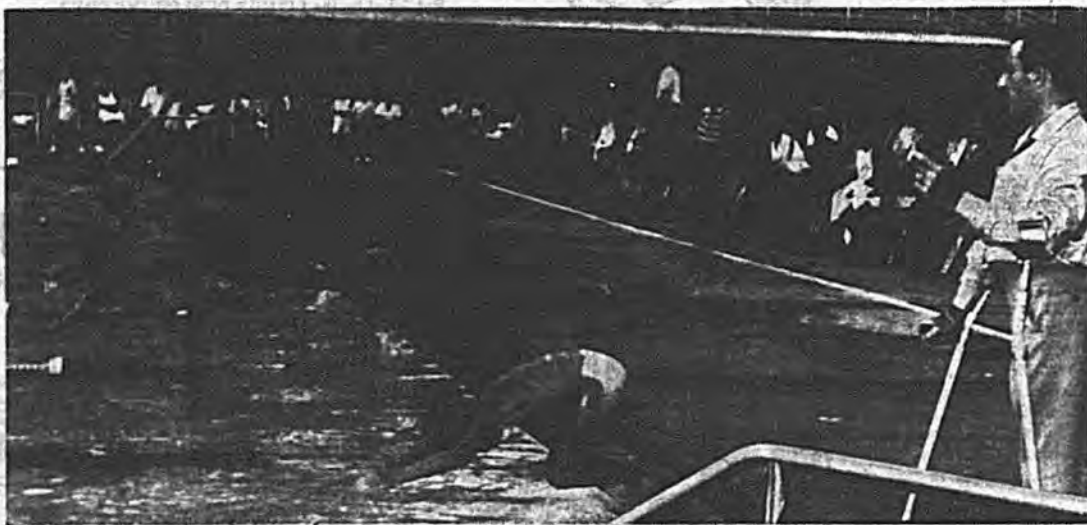

After his speech Mr. Schwartz, answered numerous questions from the Teen Republicans. The topics discussed ranged from off-track betting and state control of the Long Island Railroad to the new sales tax.

Jay Schwartz spoke to the Teen-age Republicans, Friday evening. After the talk he was kept busy answering their question. Left to right officers of The Teen-age Republicans. Sitting Fred Sachs, Andy Rosenblatt, standing Tom Flannery and Guest speaker Jay Schwartz.

THINKING IT OVER

By Robert L. Morgan

While the "war on poverty" creeps along and defense spending picks up some of the slack in industry, government officials still seem to be pathetically in the dark about what this country really needs.

What it really needs is not more political talk and hookum about the government spending people back into prosperity. It needs simply more employment for everyone who wants it. Now generally no one will argue with that statement, but the means of arriving at more employment always seem mysterious when the government leaders set about it.

It would seem that the real need in seeking more employment in the country is to find more employers. But this segment of the thinking has long been relegated to the ash heap.

Rather than looking to get more employers in the country many of the same people who claim to be seeking ways to end unemployment also find ways to end the livelihood of employers, particularly small employers.

Government thinking about employers all goes back to the nineteenth century. This phrase is now often recited by union leaders when the membership gets restless. "Do you want a return to the seven day week?" This scare propaganda puts labor on its toes but it also puts government leaders in a backward frame of mind. If there is to be a new tax to finance anything from medical care for the aged to taking care of the unemployed, that old ogre, the employer is singled out to be taxed and to work for free as the tax collector.

But while the government hasn't always been successful in all its other projects, it has been successful in cutting down the number of employers. Recent statistics show that out of every ten new businesses that start seven are doomed to failure. This isn't all the fault of the government but the government is doing its part.

The answer is not for the government to subsidize business (nor for that matter labor) but it must realize that the attitude that things like medical care for the aged are not the prime concern of employers but are just as much the concern of the entire country. If the Medicare program had been thought out instead of rammed through Congress it would have been fairer to everyone if it had been a general tax plan. It would have, though, embarrassed the politicians who continually promise something for nothing in return for a vote.

As it now stands we have the government in its war on poverty acting as an employer, simply because there is a shortage of employers. But rather than stimulate the beginning of more employers the government has once again started a program to further restrain them. This coupled with the idiotic New York State Sales tax once again harnessing business makes it look as though government is the true enemy of business and employment under free enterprise.

Diabetes Is Usually More Serious In Children

By C. A. Dean, M. D.

(Q) "Please discuss diabetes in children. Will diet help? Have pills they now use for diabetes been proved successful? Is there any hope of replacing injections of insulin with these pills?" Mrs. B.S.

(A) Diabetes in children is essentially the same as in adults, except that frequently it is more serious. Diet is an important part of diabetes treatment. It should be well-balanced except that rapidly absorbed carbohydrates (starches and sugars) must be eaten sparingly.

The amount of calories varies a great deal with each patient, depending upon whether he should increase, maintain or decrease his weight. Vitamin supplements are not necessary with a proper diet.

Patients taking large amounts of insulin should divide the total daily food intake into four to six feedings instead of the usual two or three, instead of the usual two or three.

The diabetic "pills" are able to control some mild cases of diabetes but they are not successful with most children. However, they may be tried if the case is not severe.

(Q) "My feet and hands are peeling and I don't know the cause. Could my shoes be the source of this trouble? I have worn the same brand for 25 years." Mr. O.D.

(A) Shoes don't have anything to do with your difficulty. You may have a mild fungus infection if the peeling is worse on the feet. If there is any doubt as to the diagnosis and it is getting worse, see your family doctor.

(Q) "Can eating rare meat from beef with cancer cause cancer in humans?" Mrs. R.M.

(A) There is no evidence that cancer can be transmitted from animals to humans in any way.

Do you have a medical question? Write Dr. C. A. Dean in care of this newspaper.

The Revolution In Watts

By RUSSELL KIRK

Though nearly everybody expected racial rioting during the "long, hot summer," almost no one predicted that the worst trouble would occur in Los Angeles. Yet in the district of Watts broke out the fiercest urban disorders since the Civil War draft riots in New York, more than a century ago.

This commentator knows Watts fairly well. The district's only previous claim to celebrity is a masterpiece of fantastic home made architecture, the Watts Towers, constructed by the late Simon Rodia in his leisure hours - a complex of strange, charming, purely ornamental pinnacles, built of fragments of tile and pottery on a steel framework. About the Watts Towers sprawl, somewhat grubbily, the little houses of Watts, inhabited by Negroes.

But Watts is no Harlem. Some civic spirit survives, and life there under the Californian sun is by no means intolerable. Los Angeles is spared, for the most part, the horrid colored slums of Northern cities; most Negro areas are fairly well built and well kept, with a high rate of private ownership. The city has experienced less racial antagonism than have New York, Chicago and many smaller cities.

Why, then, this abrupt outburst of terror, this insurrection of the violent and the criminal, in Watts? According to police and reporters, the Watts rising is no organized protest against anything, or demonstration in favor of anything, but simply a meaningless rebellion against all authority.

Los Angeles police chief William H. Parker, one of the ablest police administrators in the country, says forthrightly, "The trouble is, people have lost respect for the law...when you keep telling them (Negroes) they are being badly treated and abused, they're going to react."

As Edmund Burke put it, some 180 years ago, men do evil if they incessantly tell poor and obscure people that they are the victims of injustice. Demagogic appeals to vague resentments ordinarily delay or undo the work of genuine reform.

Minorities - ethnic, religious, or political - depend for their safety and their very survival upon the rule of law. Minorities cannot claim to be immune from the ordinary means of law - enforcement, and still benefit from the law's protection. Being "culturally disadvantaged" is no defense in court or in moral philosophy.

The time has come when the colored "civil rights" leaders must employ the curb, not the spur. Dick Gregory, Negro comedian and civil - rights activist, was shot in Watts while trying to pour oil on those wild waters. Revolutions do indeed devour their children.

As this commentator has written repeatedly, abstract declarations of "civil rights" accomplish almost nothing toward improving the real condition of American people. Only the restoration of genuine community in districts like Watts can diminish public and personal anarchy. There are no instant remedies. Patient work will be required - and most of that work must be done by Negroes themselves. In this hour, the colored demagogue is the worst enemy of the people he professes to lead.

Summer Recreation Ends

The Hicksville School District Recreation Department announces that the Summer Program ended on Friday, August 13. In terms of attendance figures, as well as variety, the activities have been most successful.

The Fall Program will begin on October 9. This gives the participants an opportunity to establish their study habits. Watch for announcements since we expect to develop many new activities.

As usual community organizations have also worked hard through the season. Little League, the Police Boys Club as well as the various church groups have been most notable for their endeavors. Most of them curtail activities until after Labor Day. While closed down the Recreation Office will be processing applications for community use of school facilities so that all may get under way again in October.

The school grounds are open for free play during the daylight hours. You are invited to use the tennis courts, baseball diamonds, hand ball courts, basketball courts and other areas. Please observe the regulations and be considerate of immediate neighbors of school grounds. Remember, if you find vandalism or infractions or regulations taking place you may call WELLS 5-3436 on evenings and weekends. At other times the school custodian should be notified.

Physician Brings Broadway Plays, Concerts, To Long Islanders

When Dr. Frank A. Calderone, of Old Brookville, was entering NYU Medical School in 1921, his father, Salvatore, built in Hempstead the first Long Island theatre east of New York City. As a father-son team the Calderones brought the first movies, plays, operas, musicals and vaudeville shows to Long Islanders. Now, Dr. Calderone, an esteemed physician, is emulating the foresight of his father by presenting year-round Broadway (and pre-Broadway) productions, concerts and children's shows at the newly-glamorized Mineola Playhouse. (Graphic News Photos.)

DOCTOR IN HOUSE: Dr. Calderone keeps a finger on the theatre's pulse, by attending rehearsals and checking with directors, such as Joseph Anthony, above. A good organizer (he helped build World Health Organization) he coordinates the shows' activities.

PHYSICAL CHECKUP of scenery and props is often given by Dr. Calderone. On recent Arlene Francis set of "Mrs. Dally Has A Lover" Karen Braverman of Mineola, stage hand, explains cold-water-fat scene. (Graphic News Photos.)

ACTORS like Menasha Skulnik, above, discuss their roles with Dr. Calderone, an old friend of the many theatre stars.

Football News

By Milt Pryor

The five teams in our association are really starting to jell. Some lofty kicks and long passes are now in evidence at each practice session but the league has been having at Cantiague Park and at Dutch Lane School field, both in Hicksville.

We wish to thank the Wagner Funeral Home for their generous donation to our Football League. It is quite gratifying to see so many townspeople and industry behind this new football program. Additional contributions have come in from Gertz Department Store, McCaffrey Insurance Agency, Gentle Oil Service Co. and from George Malvese & Sons from Hicksville. As other donations come in we will endeavor to keep you informed of their generosity.

Our first movie program which is to take place September 23 at 10 a.m. is now all set. We will have a complete movie, a rock & roll show as well as a magician who will perform all kinds of prestidigitational feats. Tickets are now on sale both at the theatre and by the members of the Hicksville Football League. When our member rings your doorbell please help him out. Not only will you see a wonderful program, but will help us pay for our football equipment which has already been ordered.

Mr. Jim Cummings of the Mid Island Shopping Center and Mr. Frank, owner of the Mid Island Shopping Center are attempting to continue to run the Animal Land show now at the Mid Island Shopping Center for an additional three days, and all profits will be donated to our Football League. Lets hope these fine gentlemen can arrange this for our boys in Hicksville. In early October our First Annual football program will be held. This program, a Father & Son affair will consist of professional football players, movies of their game as well as a question and answer session. Some valuable prizes will be awarded to lucky winners, also. Our practice ses-

BEAUTY SECRETS

By Victor of Vilu

With the wind, humidity, sand and salt water... "What happened to my hair-do?" I can hear many ladies saying to their hairdressers. "My setting didn't last at all this week." This is an all too familiar tune. Let's be realistic, and approach our problem head on. If you're going to the beach, or...put the top of your convertible down...cover your hair.

Sun bleach is drying and damaging and most harmful to people who dye and bleach their hair. Hair that has been colored, should not receive too much exposure to the sun.

Bleached hair is particularly vulnerable. Wear scarf or other head covering near salt water. Salt is a bleaching agent. Also wear bathing cap in chlorinated water. If some seeps through, rinse it off with clear water at once.

There are various methods to counteract the dryness from summer sun, etc.

1. Shampoo your hair at least once a week.
2. Rub lanolin base hair conditioner into hair every three or four weeks. If done professionally a heat cap or steamer is used. If done at home, use a hot turkish towel or heating pad.

Observe these rules and your hair will be healthy and lustrous looking.

Question: I have extremely oily skin, and perspire very much. How can I keep face powder on my face?

Answer: Use a liquid tinted base containing lanolin. The oily base will absorb the perspiration.

For questions or consultations, call or see Mr. Victor at Vilu, OV 1-8760, 534 So. Broadway, Hicksville only.

sions will move over to Cantiague Park this Saturday, August 28 at 10 a.m. Mr. Daley of the Cantiague Park Department has informed me that the fields will be ready for our first home game on September 19. There will also be a Junior Field which will have lights, and we plan to have some night games at the park as well. Patrolman Darcy of the Police Boys Club in Hicksville, will also have his marching band at a few of our Home Games at Cantiague Park. Yes indeed, we seem to be getting down to the kickoff and I know we will go for 7. Watch for all new developments as they occur in the Mid Island Times, as this is our official newspaper and all pertinent information will be placed in this column. More next week.

Librarian

Forty school librarians have returned home after participating in a special six - week institute at State University of New York at Albany, sponsored by the university's School of Library Science.

Supported by National Defense Education Act funds, the institute was designed to explore administrative and persivory problems involved in developing and supervising instructional materials centers and to examine new media, equipment and techniques. Participants studied the application of electronic data processing and audio visual techniques, in library services, including educational television, among other subjects. Those attending were restricted to librarians who are now, or soon will be, directors or supervisors of school libraries.

Miss Mary McGuiness, librarian
at the Hicksville Senior High School, who attended the institute, is preparing a suggested policy for library services in the Hicksville school system which will combine the multi media with the present facilities; the NDEA institute is cultivating the idea of an instructional materials center which gradually will replace the traditional library program.

Mrs. Foster At Conference

Mrs. Marie Foster, home economics teacher in the Hicksville Sr. High School, was among the 225 teachers from all sections of New York State who participated in a Refresher Conference on July 7-9. This conference, sponsored by the Bureau of Home Economics Education, State Education Department, was held in the new Corcoran High School in Syracuse, N. Y., where teachers were able to study some innovations in school buildings, including windowless home economics rooms with equipment which can serve several purposes.

Conference members were given help in planning for teaching the revised State Home Economics program, which will be introduced in secondary schools throughout the State in September 1965. The conference program focused on some of the new aspects of the modernized home economics curriculum including up-to-date emphasis based on current concerns of youth and families and ways of teaching which will bring about learnings which can be utilized now and in the near future.

Speakers included Dr. Henrietta Fleck, Chairman of the Home Economics Department, New York University, whose topic was 'Teaching with Emphasis on Learning' and Dr. Sara Blackwell, Director of Teacher Education, College of Home Economics, Cornell University, who considered the topic,

'Are Pupils Learning.' Opportunity was provided for teachers to share ideas regarding successful teaching practices.
