Gun Wielder Apprehended

At approximately 3:16 a.m. February 1, Second Precinct Police Officers responded to a suspicious person call, at 22 Old Country Road, Hicksville, a barber shop on the ground floor with an apartment on the second floor.

Police Officer James Rockford attempted to talk to the occupant of the apartment, Allan Stippell, 34, while Officers Marklin, Charles and Stewinski checked the area.

Stippell, from his second story window, pointed a loaded 12 gauge pump shotgun at Officer Rockford. The officer drew his weapon and ordered the man to put the gun down. Stippell dropped the shotgun onto the sidewalk causing it to discharge one shot. The ricochet struck one of the police vehicles but did not injure anyone.

Upon going to the apartment to apprehend the subject officers observed that he had earlier fired the weapon inside his apartment. He was arrested and charged with Reckless Endangerment and Prohibited use of a weapon. Stippell was arraigned on the charges at First District Court in Mineola.

SADD Group Speaks To Kiwanis

(Phot by Sleg Widder)

Two Hicksville High School students, Frank Daguanno and James Marino, representing the Hicksville chapter of S.A.D.D., along with Mr. Barry Boriss, a social worker at Hicksville High School were the guests of the Hicksville Kiwanis Club on Feb. 1.

S.A.D.D. stands for Students Against Driving Drunk. The students have organized the following: To help save their own lives and the lives of others; To educate students concerning the problem of drinking and driving; To develop peer counseling among students about alcohol use; To increase public awareness and prevention of this problem everywhere.

The S.A.D.D. movement began in Massachusetts in 1981 and has since spread out to Florida, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Connecticut, Maine, New Hampshire, Utah, Iowa, California, New Jersey and New York by high school students who wanted to do something constructive about the destructive practise of drinking and driving. Because of the frightening nationwide statistics of personal injury and fatalities as a result of driving and drinking, in addition to the tremendous cost of property destruction, the S.A.D.D. program was organized to both educate students about the problem and to provide some procedures to reduce the effects. For instance, a contract has been drawn up between the teenagers and parent, where the teenager agrees to call the parent for advice and/or transportation at any hour if he or she needs a safe ride home, and the parent agrees to come and get the teenager or pay for a taxi to bring him or her home safely. The parent also agrees to seek safe sober transportation home if in a similar situation.

Frank and Jim also discussed a proposal whereby student members of S.A.D.D. would carry a special I.D. card which would entitle them to a free taxi ride home if they had been drinking and needed safe transportation. This, they said, would require some type of funding, as well as some arrangements with a taxi company.

HBA Baseball Regis. Saturday

This Saturday, February 11, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., is the last day HBA is holding open registration at Levittown Hall. To register your child after this date, contact Mr. Neil Mezeul at 822-9385.

Remember, there is a late fee of $10 for all registrations received after February 15.

Important: Adult volunteers are desperately needed to insure the continued operation of the concession stand (shed) this year. If you can volunteer any time, please contact Mr. Mezeul, or Betty Zagajski at 822-0964.

Two Gunmen Rob Jericho House

The Second Squad is investigating a house robbery that occurred at the Sachs residence, 5 Herkimer Avenue, Jericho at 11:10 a.m. on Feb. 3.

Sharyn Sachs, 33 answered a knock at the door and was confronted by a white man and a black man, one of them armed with a silver revolver. They took $45 from her purse and then ransacked the bedroom where they took an undetermined amount of cash and jewelry.

She was then handcuffed to a kitchen chair, the robbers placing the key in the freezer. The men then left the house. The complainant managed to reach the telephone and push the "0" button for the operator, who summoned help. Mrs. Sachs was not injured in the robbery.

The robbers are described as male, white, 30 years, 5'9", 150 lbs., lt. brown hair, medium complexion, wearing a green shirt and blue jeans; and male black, 30 years, 5'7", 170 lbs., medium complexion and medium length hair, wearing blue jeans, and armed with a silver automatic.

The subjects possibly fled the scene in a brown Corvette.

Library Announces Holiday Schedule

The Hicksville Public Library will be open Sunday, February 12 (Lincoln's Birthday). Monday, February 13, the library will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Hicksville Public Library will be closed all day Monday, February 20th in observance of Washington's Birthday.

Salvation Army Thanks Burns Ave.

The following is a letter from the Salvation Army which was sent to Mrs. Wade's fourth grade class at Burns Avenue School. The class sponsored a "White Elephant Sale" in December and donated whatever was not sold to the Salvation Army. We are very proud of our donations and the letter we received thanking us for our generosity and we would like to share this with our community, said a spokesman at the school. Dear Mrs. Wade & Class,

"Now that the busy holiday season is over, we want to thank you for your lovely toys and clothing. An organization like The Salvation Army can only be successful because of many people just like you. People who are willing to donate toys and clothing, time and money, etc. Most of all, people who show love and understanding to others by their gifts.

"You have shown the real meaning of Christmas by your gifts to others who are less fortunate than you. You have made someone, somewhere, very happy by your gift. Thank you for your thoughtfulness. I know your Christmas was much happier because you shared it with someone else.

"May you have a very happy 1984. As you learn together in your class we trust you will always remember the fourth grade as a joyous experience of sharing. Thank you for thinking of The Salvation Army. We have enjoyed making someone happy by your gifts.

"God bless you each one."
Sincerely yours,
Lawrence Shaffer
Captain

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

When my children were in Hicksville High School, the daily prayer was taken away. Now my grandchildren are in Hicksville High School and they are taking away the moment of silence. I shudder to think what the Board will take away when my great-grandchildren are in high school.

R. Kiernan

To the Editor:

The response by the community in support of our silent prayer/meditation policy has been tremendous - this outpouring of support has renewed our spirit as a united community.

Some twenty-two years ago (1962) this community exhibited this same kind of support, when your school board at the time enacted a battle cry from our National Anthem:

"Blest with victory and peace,
may the heav'n rescued land

Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation!
Then conquer we must, when our cause is just,

And this be our motto, 'In God is our trust,'"

We must try to instill that same spirit in our present Board of Education.

We must have faith, for the people of Massachusetts, on September 1, 1976, had faith in our Judicial System, and they won on the very same issue as we have in Hicksville.

A three-judge, U.S. District Court, held that Framingham's policy on silent meditation or prayer, "was not unconstitutional under the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution." It has not to this day been appealed to the United States Supreme Court. Why?

Why should we in Hicksville give up to the American Civil Liberties Union, like other school districts in our state have? No one can presume how a State or Federal Court will decide. Let's fight it in the courts, if need be for our cause is just, and our motto is "In God is our trust".

Please come on Wednesday, February 29 to our Board meeting when a final vote will be taken on this important issue. Without your help and support, "our silent meditation hasn't got a prayer".

Sincerely,

Bill Bennett, Member
Board of Education

To the Editor:

I read, last week, that the Hicksville School District is going to eliminate the "moment of silent meditation". The complainant in the case against silent meditation stated that any meditation is prayer, an untruth if I ever heard one. People today want to do away with anything that threatens their right to choose for themselves. I'm not saying that I am against that but, in this year of 1984, when everyone is particularly conscious of Big Brother watching us, perhaps these people should stop and think that maybe they are the ones who are not giving others the space they need.

I know that, at least we haven't reached the point yet where thoughts can be prohibited and a student may take a moment of silent meditation if they'd like, but I feel that collectively spending a moment to think about the day which lies ahead (e.g. Am I prepared for each class?) or to simply take a few deep breaths before starting out is really beneficial.

Lastly, the school board stated that nothing would be done to fight removal of the moment of silent meditation because they see no point in spending taxpayers' money when they know they would lose the case. I suppose there are those who appreciate their honesty and concern for our money...I see it as just one more blow to idealism.

Mrs. Diane Otten

To the Editor:

The issue facing Hicksville schools isn't prayer. The real issue is "Shall the school board appropriate one or more millions of dollars to fight windmills?"

Just as the "right-to-lifers" use the words "killing" and "murder" as euphemisms for abortion, the "religion-in-schoolers" use "silent meditation" and "moment of silence" as euphemisms for prayer in schools. And that issue was settled years ago by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Democrat Presidents Kennedy and Johnson waged a no-win war in Vietnam. Now Republican President Reagan wants to wage a no-win war against the decision of the Supreme Court. And many of our misguided residents want our school district to fire the first shot. What nonsense. They would turn our schools into mosques, churches and synagogues and our teachers into ayatollahs, priests, pastors and rabbis. Well I don't want my hard-earned tax dollars used for religion but for education - and I don't want to fight windmills in the courts.

Residents who want their kids to pray everyday should have them do it in their house of worship or at home. Therefore may I suggest that those who want to fight this no-win war do it with money from their own pockets - not from mine.

Sincerely yours,
Frank H. Willard

Dear Dr. Fenton,

The Board of Directors of the Hicksville High Alumni Association requests your good offices to convey to the Board of Education the following resolution:

"Be it Resolved that the Hicksville High School Alumni Association expresses its dismay at the proposal advanced to pave the front of the Hicksville Junior High School for additional parking spaces.

It is earnestly requested that the Board of Education, in exercising its judgement and prerogatives, reflects on the proud Sixty Year community pride in the grace and beauty of the building and enhancing grounds.

Be it also resolved that all Alumni Members be informed of the organizations vigorous objection."

By direction of the Alumni Board, in session, January 10, 1984. Eleven affirmative votes, one abstention.

LI to LA: The Olympic Torch Relay

■ When the last of several thousand runners brings the flame to the XXIIIrd Olympiad in Los Angeles this summer, it will mark the longest Olympic Torch Relay in history—and Long Island will be part of this record-breaking moment.

Through the sponsorship of the Nassau Farmers Market in Bethpage, a LI youth between the ages of 8 and 17 will run one kilometer in the 15,000-kilometer Olympic Torch Relay which starts in New York City on May 8.

The LI youngster, either a boy or girl, will be chosen from a pool of qualified runners who complete a course measuring one kilometer (3/5 mile) around the Nassau Farmers Market in less than 7 minutes. Qualifying participants will then be entered in a drawing to be held at the Farmers Market on Sunday, March 4.

Registration to participate in the qualifying runs will take place on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 17 and 18, and again on Friday and Saturday, February 24 and 25, from 11 AM to 8 PM at the "Olympic Booth" (Number 313, Aisle B) in the Farmers Market. The registration fee is $1 and parental consent is required.

The races will be sanctioned by The Athletics Congress and administered by the LI Road Runners Club, under the direction of Jack Dowling.

The winning runner will receive a $100 gift certificate toward purchases from any of the 200 merchants at the Nassau Farmers Market. In addition, he Market will make a $500 contribution to the winning youngster's school to help support athletic activities. Second and third-place runners (also selected from the drawing) will receive $50 gift certificates for purchases at the Farmers Market.

Jerry Spiegel, owner of the Nassau Farmers Market, said that the event was in keeping with "the spirit of the Market as a focus of community activity." The sponsorship of a kilometer in the Torch Relay is one of several activities planned this year in celebration of the Farmers Market's 30th birthday, he said.

Besides receiving a $100 gift certificate, the winning LI runner will be officially designated a "Youth Legacy Kilometer" torchbearer. The youngster will receive a limited-edition 1984 Olympic Torch with the bearer's name engraved, a Relay uniform, and a commemorative certificate.

Arthur Sanders, President of Spiegel Associates, said that he hoped the Torch Relay would "help young people generate within themselves the kind of enthusiasm and commitment that the Olympic Games symbolize."

Woodland Ave. Studies Egypt

At the Woodland Avenue School, in Hicksville, sixth graders met with Art Teacher, Marie Schneider, to wind-up their unit on Egypt. The discussion centered on King Tut's treasures found in his tomb.

Through use of slides, books, sculpture, jewelry and artifacts, they were able to go back into time and recreate life during his reign.

We would like to thank Ruth Gloger, Rosemary Barrow, Mary Calio and the Jericho Public Library for allowing the use of their Tut "treasures".

Alumni Honor Smyth, DeMarco

All-American High School soccer player Dave Smyth and his runner-up teammate, James DeMarco, will be honored by the Hicksville Alumni for selection as the most valuable players in Nassau County.

A dinner tendered by the Alumni Board of Directors, to express the community's admiration to both players, will be held at Wickers Restaurant next Wednesday, February 15, at 7 p.m.

Tickets, which are very limited, are $16.50 each. They may be obtained from District Athletic Director Richard Hogan at Hicksville High, telephone 733-2085.

a733-2085 or from Alumni President Howard Finnegan at 938-1695.

Smyth recently toured Russia, Germany and France as a member of the Junior Olympic Team. He was elected Captain of the U.S. team by his fellow players.

Berkeley Students Off To Bermuda

Students from the six Berkeley schools are planning to transform their annual Bermuda College Week participation into a charitable endeavor.

The students, who have been working on behalf of muscular dystrophy fund raising throughout this academic year, have arranged for a raffle that will offer one member of the student body on each campus a free trip to Bermuda during Bermuda College Week.

The Berkeley students will be guest at the Elbow Beach Surf Club from March 21 to 31.

Participating campuses are located in New York City; White Plains and Hicksville, N.Y., and Ridgewood, Garret Mountain and Woodbridge, N.J.

Gloria Farrell-Ross, vice president, special projects, The Berkeley Schools, is directing the project.

French Film Library Presentation

The Hicksville Public Library will show the film, "Les Enfants Terribles", on Friday, February 10 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, February 12 at 2 p.m.

"Les Enfants Terribles" is based on the extraordinary novel by Jean Cocteau. It was the first released in the U.S. in 1952 when it became an instant classic, particularly with young audiences. "Les Enfants Terribles" is the story of a brother and sister, (Edouard Dermihe and Nicole Stephene), born into such extreme wealth that they are immune to the confines and limits of the real world. It is their very innocence that leads them to self-destruction and to crime when the purity of the soul is pushed to the extreme. French, with English subtitles, it is filmed in black and white and runs about 1 hour and 45 minutes. This film is on the Adult program. Any children attending must be accompanied by a parent. All library programs are held in the Community Room and everyone is invited.

Car, School Bus Accident

The Eighth Precinct reports an auto accident at the intersection of Jerusalem Avenue at Heather Lane, Hicksville, which sent a mother and daughter to the hospital on February 1.

Jeanne Milazzo, 31, and her mother Pat, 53, of 6 Eagle Lane, Levittown, were crossing Jerusalem Avenue westbound in their 1983 Dodge when they were in collision with a large school bus, operated by Matilda Petersen, 54, of Wantagh and owned by We-Transport of Hicksville, which was northbound on Jerusalem Avenue.

Jeanne suffered multiple injuries to her body and was admitted to Nassau County Medical Center in serious condition. Pat Milazzo suffered a laceration to her head and was held at the hospital for observation. The bus driver was not injured.

Both vehicles were impounded for testing. No charges have been filed. Det. Richard Thomson of the Eighth Squad is investigating the accident.

Budget Comm. Meets Tuesday

The next meeting of the Hicksville Board of Education's Budget Advisory Committee will be held on Tuesday evening, February 14 at 8:15 p.m. in the conference room of the Administration Building on Division Avenue. All committee members and interested members of the public are encouraged to attend and learn about the 1984-85 school budget under consideration.

Hicksville window clerk Sue Lappano displays the new "Overnighter" Express Mail Shipping carton to Mae Magg. The carton is available upon request at the Hicksville Post Office.

A new shipping carton called the "Overnighter", designed exclusively for Express Mail shipments over two pounds is available at the Hicksville Post Office.

The "Overnighter" is a sturdy, corrugated container featuring the colorful Express Mail design - an American bald eagle in front of the moon. It is reusable, measures 15 1/4 inches long, 12 1/2 inches wide and 3 1/4 inches deep, and holds shipments weighing approximately three to 10 pounds.

"The 'Overnighter' not only protects the contents," said Anthony M. Murello, Hicksville Sectional Center Manager/Postmaster, "it gives greater visibility to the shipment while in the mail stream and when it is delivered."

The Postal Service also offers a two pound pak for lighter shipments. Murello added that customers may send letters and packages weighing up to 70 pounds by Express Mail. The Hicksville Post Office Express Mail Acceptance Window is open Monday to Friday till 8 p.m. For more information contact the Hicksville Express Mail Office at 433-7300 Ext. 89.

A September wedding is planned.

Local Doctor Attends Seminar

Dr. David A. Levitsky, of Plainview, has just returned from the Annual Podiatric Seminar held in New York City.

Approximately 1200 foot doctors attended the conference with Dr. Levitsky. The conference sponsored by the Podiatry Society of the State of New York, included lectures and discussions on clinical considerations of sports medicine, surgery and emergency procedures.

"With the phenomenal growth rate in athletic injuries, as well as new minimal traumatic surgical techniques, practicing Podiatrists must stay informed to keep up and to give patients the best care possible. Meetings like this one are important, because we learn new ideas and exchange views with our colleagues," said Dr. Levitsky.

Dr. Levitsky is an alumnus of the New York College of Podiatric Medicine and has an office in Plainview.

Quality Or Quantity?

When you advertise in a subscription newspaper you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.

When you buy quantity the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.

With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Do not waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.

Our (not so secret) ingredient is the reason we are preferred over the largest metropolitan newspapers and the many throwaways.
Readers = Results

Girl Scouts Visit Restoration

"Hot cider tastes great on a cold winter day", said the girls of Brownie Troop #3023.

Junior Troop #3155 having hoop races.

Last Fall, as an incentive to boost Girl Scout membership, Nassau Council of Girl Scouts offered a day at Old Bethpage Restoration Village to troops that fulfilled certain requirements. This incentive, known as "one-two-three-free spree", was a major success especially for Hicksville girls. Two hundred and six troops in all of Nassau Council qualified. Hicksville Community very proudly had the greatest number of qualified troops of all the communities of Nassau Council. There were ten Brownie Troops and four Junior Troops.

BROWNIE TROOPS

#3023 - Koreen Castoro and Dorothy Hyde, #3129 Nancy Hoosack and Fran Abarno, #3181 Joyce Wagner and Eileen Sarric, #3548 Theresa DiConza and Laura Heyer, #3116 Donna Probst and Wilma Hill, #3180 Catherine Pearsall and Joann Radicella, #3368 Catherine Corrado and Martha Mueller, #3433 Carol Gross and Debbie Brown, #3611 Lola Myron and Toni Vaccola, #3682 Janice DeFillipio and Grace Barucheri.

JUNIOR TROOPS

#3003 Ronnie Evans, Donna Ventruella and Mary Higgins, #3550 Richard Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Fitzpatrick #3155 Gina Diana and Louise Loomis, #3515 Fran Wojyniak and Carleen Murphy.

Spending a day at Bethpage

Restoration Village is a wonderful experience any time of year. Spending a day there in the middle of winter gives the visitor a view of what life in the 1850's was really about. The bitter cold discourages the usual summer crowds and punctuates the silence. This gives the winter visitor a sense of reality that is lost in other seasons. Girl Scouts that spent the day there got to see and feel a not so idyllic life. The Village is a living museum which taught the girls not only a lesson in history but to appreciate their own life style even more.

The girls learned about school life in 1850. They saw how farm women spent their time and they saw the houses and furnishings of that period. They played games that children of 1850 played (not anything like video games of today). The girls got to ride in a horse drawn wagon. They sawed wood and made butter. Each girl had hot cider, which was much needed, candy, pretzels and birch beer. The girls all seemed to enjoy this special trip even though they were cold and tired. The Village is an ever changing experience and they would all like to go back again. Congratulations to Hicksville Girl Scouts for having the most troops to qualify.

Thank you to the troops that donated food to the Westbury Day Care Center. Their service was greatly appreciated. Junior Troop #3515 Fran Wojyniak and Carleen Murphy, Brownie Troop #3429 Barbara Linnehan and Barbara Tufano, Junior Troop #3155 Gina Diana, Cadette Troop #3337 Ralph Diana.

Alumni Assn. Names Fyfe

James Fyfe has been recalled to guide the Hicksville Alumni Association as its president for the 1984-85 fiscal year.

His name was advanced by the nominating committee, chaired by Dorothy French Brengel, for election at the annual meeting in March.

Fyfe is an officer of the Long Island Trust, had two previous terms, and has a long list of Hicksville community service.

He will replace Howard Finnegan who asked withdrawal of his name for consideration of a courtesy second term.

Other designations for officer positions were Dolores Crawford, Karin Weyer, Janice Bruden Manack, Gwen McCue Schaaf and Henry C. Brengel, Jr.

Harold Holden, Richard Hogan and Howard Finnegan were proposed for three year director terms. The latter was signaled for Publicity Director Appointment.

Janice Manack was requested to merge the Scholarship Fund with membership duties.

The 1983 drive, chaired by Finnegan raised $1,560. The generous response of Alumni and friends replenished the Scholarship Funds.

Two Arrested From Snowprints

A snowfall January 31 proved the undoing of two 16 year old Hicksville burglars.

The pair allegedly entered the Beach Russ Repair Shop, through a window, at 304 West John Street, Hicksville, and took an assortment of various tools.

Officers Bergamini and Marklin, Second Precinct, on patrol, spotted two sets of footprints leading up to the window of the burglarized premises. The officers then followed the footprints leading from the business to a house at West John Street, Hicksville. The officers said they apprehended the two inside the home, with the full proceeds of the burglary, after a woman resident let them into the home.

Two Listed In Honor Volume

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Women of America awards program announced today that Mary E. Carton and Theresa M. Smith of Hicksville have been selected for inclusion in the 1983 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America.

The Outstanding Young Women of America program is designed to honor and encourage exceptional young women between the ages of 21 and 36 who have distinguished themselves in their homes, their professions and their communities. Accomplishments such as these are the result of dedication, service and leadership - qualities which deserve to be recognized and remembered.

In An Instant . . . Life Changes

When a loved one dies, your life changes. And every task may be an enormous effort. Of course, funeral arrangements are never easy, but pre-planning can help.

For years, people have bought cemetery lots in advance of need, but they represent only a part of funeral cost*

Today, many people are making advance funeral arrangements and paying for them. Then, even if the hospital bills mount up or Social Security benefits change, the funeral expenses are completely covered.

Clip and mail this coupon today, for more information on funeral preplanning.

News From Bethpage Library

Help decorate the Bethpage Public Library Valentine Mobile. Valentine fun galore - leave a message on our bright, over-sized library mobile for a special person or your favorite storybook character!

On Saturday, February 11, youngsters are invited to help decorate the attractive Valentine mobile at the Bethpage Public Library, adorn the rest of the Children's Room, and make some cards to take home too!

Conducted by Dee Agrillo, experienced crafts teacher, the gala valentine work shop will take place from 2-3:30 p.m. for youngsters in grades 3-6 who reside in District #21. Refreshments will be served and participants are requested to bring magic markers, scrap trims, bits of colored felt, a bottle of glue, and a pencil.

Register now at the library. For information please call 931-3907.

One-Man Circus

On Wednesday, February 22, the Bethpage Public Library will present the amazing Jean-Paul Jenack, the "One Man Circus", in an exciting program of juggling, unicycling, acrobatics, and circus magic for young people.

An outstanding circus arts and education specialist, Mr. Jenack has made his way into circus history and his feats have won him a place in "The Guinness Book of World Records". He has also served as director for the National Endowment for the Arts Circus Arts Project and has taught circus arts at Nassau Community College and at other schools on Long Island. In addition, he has appeared at many metropolitan area libraries, parks and fairs.

Showtime is 2 p.m. and youngsters of all ages residing in District #21 are invited to attend. Tickets are now available in the Bethpage Children's Room. For information call 931-3907.

Winter-Spring Storytime

Children's librarians at the Bethpage Public Library are now registering additional youngsters for Pre-School Storytime. Those already in the program may remain with us until the end of our storytime sessions in May. Registration is also being taken for Tiny Tots Time.

Weekly Pre-School Storytime sessions are held on Thursday and Friday mornings from 10:30 to 11:15 a.m. for youngsters aged 3½ to 5 years who are not yet in kindergarten and who have had their third birthday before August 30, 1983. The programs include stories, songs, puppets, films and games.

Registration is also being taken for Tiny Tots Time, a series of four Wednesday morning programs per month for the very young (ages 2½ to 3½). Tiny Tots is held from 10:30 to 11 a.m. and includes stories, finger plays, puppets, songs, films and discussion of materials for the youngest. Children should have had their second birthday before August 30, 1983 and a parent must be in attendance at all times.

Saturday Storytime for youngsters in grades K through 3 will continue each Saturday morning through May from 10:30 to 11:15 a.m. This program includes stories, songs, puppets, magic, films, games and lots of fun. No registration is required.

Participation in all of the storytime programs is limited to residents of District #21. For further information call 931-3907.

The Black Stallion

On Saturday, February 18, the Bethpage Public Library will show the classic film hit "The Black Stallion" (color 118 min.) for young people.

Hailed as the most famous horse story of the century, "The Black Stallion" is the enduring, heart catching saga of a boy's love for a fiery Arabian stallion, of their shipwreck, and heroic Robinson Crusoe-like survival. Adapted from Walter Farley's stirring adventure, here is the celebrated motion picture produced by Francis Ford Coppola, including Mickey Rooney and other stars.

Showtime is 2 p.m. and all school-age young people residing in District #21 are invited to attend. Tickets are now available in the Bethpage Children's Room. For information call 931-3907.

Bus Trip to the Historic Queens County Farm Museum

What did colonial children do in winter? On Tuesday, February 21, the Bethpage Public Library has planned an exciting bus trip for youngsters to the historic Queens County Farm Museum, Floral Park.

During this visit to a Dutch farm house built in 1770, young people will step back two-hundred years to walk in the footsteps of Colonial children. They will bake bread in the original kitchen as settlers' children did, and they will make cornhusk dolls and begin needlework samplers, as well as visit an old-fashioned herb garden and help feed a variety of animals. Youngsters are requested to bring carrots and stale bread for the animals and will take home some delicious baked treats to eat.

The bus will leave promptly at 12:45 p.m. from in front of the library and will return approximately at 4:15 p.m. All young people in grades 3-6 in District #21 are invited to attend. Admission is $5.50 per child, which includes museum fees and bus fare, and registration is now being taken at the Bethpage Public Library for the limited number of places available on the bus. For information please call 931-3907.

Child Study At Adult Ed.

The Bethpage Board of Education at its meeting in early January voted for including a child study workshop in the curriculum of the Spring semester of the senior high school.

Applications for community participation in the Child Study Workshop are now being accepted by the Home Economics Department of Bethpage High School. Sixteen four-and-five year old children are invited to take part in one and a half hours of supervised activities on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from 12:45 to 2:15 for twelve weeks. There is no cost to parents. Parents are expected to provide transportation for the children. Children must be four by December 1, 1983 and be eligible to enter kindergarten in the fall of 1984.

Parents should call Sunny Mensch, chairperson of the Home Economics Department, at 931-2900 from 7:45 to 2:30 p.m.

Herbert R. Grinsell of Plainville recently celebrated 25 years with Grumman Aerospace Corp. Grinsell is Director of the ILS Administrative Operation Dept.

Glen Cove City Councilwoman Ann M. Gold has announced that she is seeking the Republican nomination for the New York State Assembly in the 13th Assembly District against incumbent Lewis Yevoll.

Now serving her third two-year term on the city council, Gold is the only Republican woman in Nassau County who holds a local legislative office.

You And Your Money

Student loans available to all

By Judith G. Rhoades

Q. I'd like to apply for a guaranteed student loan, but I'm not certain I qualify since both my parents work, and they are supporting me. How much will a loan cost me?

A. You didn't state what year you are in college, but federally sponsored student loans are available to all college students, regardless of income level. Qualifications and restrictions vary from program to program.

If your parents' adjusted gross income exceeds $30,000 annually, you might have limitations on the amount available for you to borrow. You should check that out with the financial aids counselor on your campus.

As an undergraduate, you can borrow up to $2,500 each school year to a maximum of $12,500. If you are a graduate student, you can get up to $5,000 annually to a total of $25,000. (That includes undergraduate loans, so your maximum is $25,000.)

You must begin to make repayment six months after graduation, or after you depart from college. The minimum payment is $50 and there is a loan fee of 5 percent which is deducted from your loan. You should pay 8 percent for this loan if you obtain it at the present time.

Q. What's the smallest Certificate of Deposit (CD) I can purchase?

A. You may be able to find one as low as $500; of course, interest rates will vary. My readers might be interested to know that since deregulation, the penalty is one month's interest, down from three month's interest. CDs with longer maturities will have a three-month interest penalty. That's substantially different than the previous penalty of six months.

Q. I don't pay very much income tax, and I would like to know if it's a good idea for me to buy a tax-exempt money fund.

A. You may be better off in taxable money market funds because your net yield (found by subtracting your marginal tax rate from the Fund's Rate of Return) is ahead of the return you would receive from a tax-exempt investment.

Communion Breakfast For Scouting

The Sixth Annual Communion Breakfast sponsored by the Nassau County Lutheran Committee on Scouting will be held on Saturday, March 17 at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, 99 Central Park Road, Plainview.

The Communion Service will be at 8:30 a.m. Pastor Toby Tobias of Good Shepherd will conduct the service assisted by other clergy from the area.

Breakfast will follow the service with keynote speaker William McCleary of the Relationship's Committee of the National Headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America.

All registered Scouts (Cub, Boy, Explorers and Girl Scouts), Scouters, Scouting Coordinators, Sponsors, and Clergy and their spouses and friends are invited. There will be a nominal charge of $3 per person for those who complete and return the reservation slip by March 7. Reservations beyond that date and at the door will be $3.50.

For any information call Bill Gropp 822-0981 after 7 p.m. or Jim Justus 541-7127.

Holy Trinity Plans St. Pat's Party

On Friday evening, March 9, the Holy Trinity Parents' Club is proud to present "A St. Patrick's Day Party" starring the Pat Roper band. The evening will go from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. A complete corned beef or turkey dinner with dessert will be served. Mixes and beer are included in the price of the ticket which is $15.00 per person. For any other alcoholic beverages, it is a strictly Bring Your Own Bottle affair. There will be entertainment and dancing and singing in a truly splendid Irish way led by the one and only Pat Roper, a performer well known to the devotees of Irish music. To make reservations, please contact Mrs. Pat Capone at 822-6080 or send your check to the school at 98 Cherry Lane, Hicksville, N.Y. 11801. (All checks should be made payable to Holy Trinity High School.) The school phone number is 433-2900. The proceeds of this event will go towards the continued development of the Computer expansion program.

Backyard Gardener

Indoor seed sowing season

By Patrick Denton

Depending upon where you garden, the indoor seed sowing season begins any time now to produce young plants for transplanting into our spring garden.

Just keep in mind that too early an indoor seeding of tender varieties is an invitation to failure. Cold, damp soils, overcrowding of the seedlings, poor air circulation and insufficient light are major enemies of your tiny plants.

Let's take a look at what will be needed to sow our first seeds indoors. Any number of containers may be used for starting seeds, provided they are at least 3 inches deep, have some provision for drainage of excess water and are squeaky clean. Any containers that have been used before to grow plants must be scrubbed clean, preferably in a bleach solution, and rinsed before being used again.

Probably the most commonly used containers for seeding are flats, which are shallow boxes of various dimensions. They can be made of wood, plastic or fiber. Shallow flowerpots may also be used, as can aluminum foil cake pans and seed trays in which plants were previously purchased.

Sour cream and cottage cheese containers are handy as well for small seedlings. Their tops can be used as drainage saucers underneath them. Where drainage holes are not present, punch several in the bottom of each container.

There are the types of containers that are used to plant seeds indoors in the traditional manner, which involves two steps — seeding first, then transplanting into individual pots or flats. The transplanting is done when they are big enough to handle — usually when they have two sets of true leaves. The first leaves that appear are seedling leaves and don't count.

There is an alternative method that can be used for most seeds. It's the busy (or lazy) gardener's one-step, in which the seeds are sown two or three to an individual pot. Instead of transplanting, the best-looking seedling is selected to remain in each pot; the others are snipped off with scissors.

This method is a great time-saver, and can be used for all but the most fine, dustlike seed such as begonia. Very expensive seeds like geranium and some zinnias, marigold and impatiens I seed one to a pot.

If you choose to dance the one-step, as I do, here's how it is orchestrated:

I use various shallow waterproof containers in which to set the individual pots. Old dishpans, aluminum pie and cake tins, meat trays, shallow flats without drainage holes — these are some that can be used.

I place a shallow layer of coarse peat, well dampened, on the bottom of the waterproof containers before setting in the individual pots. These pots can be made of peat, plastic or clay. Very useful here too are disposable coffee cups of the sort used at public meetings. Punch drainage holes first.

The pots are filled to within about 3/4-inch of their tops with your favorite planting mixture, gently firmed down and well moistened. Two or three seeds are set on the surface and just covered with more planting mixture, firmed down gently.

As a general rule, seeds are covered with about twice their diameter of planting mixture. Some fine seeds need light to germinate and are not covered. Read the seed packet directions carefully.

Label each planting carefully, place the whole thing in a plastic bag and set it in a nice warm place out of sunlight. Only a few types are cool germinators, among them onions, lettuce, leeks, snapdragons and carnations.

After a few days begin checking daily for germination. Once sprouted, the seedlings should be brought to cooler temperatures and gradually to bright light.

Hearing Set Mar. 27

The Oyster Bay Town Board has scheduled a public hearing for Tuesday, March 27, on a request for a special use permit to erect a motor vehicle sales room and body shop in Hicksville, according to Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark.

Clark said that "the applicants, Field Realty Corp. and J.T. Motors, Ltd., are seeking the special use permit in order to erect, maintain and operate a truck sales room and body shop on property located at the intersection of Lauman Lane and Broadway (990 Broadway) in Hicksville." The property is located in an "H" Industrial (light industry) District.

The hearing has been scheduled for Tuesday, March 27 at 10 a.m. in the Town Hall East Hearing Room, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay.

Attends K. of C. Charity Kickoff

Louis Gaccione, Grand Knight of Rev. Michael J. Hartigan Council, Knights of Columbus recently attended a kick-off meeting for this year's Nassau-Suffolk Chapter, Knights of Columbus Charity Drive. The annual drive has its principle benefactor, the Cleary School for the Deaf, a non-sectarian school for the deaf and hard of hearing, located in Lake Ronkonkoma.

The meeting consisted of short talks by committee chairmen, outlining the work of their committee (Journal, Ball, Donations, etc.) and seeking the support of Councils throughout Nassau and Suffolk counties.

General Chairman of the 1984 Charity Drive, Vincent F. Carnagie of Garden City, called upon Knights, Columbiettes and Ladies Auxiliaries to put forth a maximum effort for a successful campaign.

Rev. Michael J. Hartigan Council will participate in this year's drive as it had in the past and seeks the support of the Community. Grand Knight Louis Gaccione said, "the main purpose of our organization is Charity, and this will be one of our major efforts for 1984."

The Charity Drive culminates at the Annual Ball to be held on April 13 at the Huntington Town House, Huntington.

Views Given On Nursery School

Did you know that children who attend quality pre-school programs statistically do better in elementary school? If you have a child who will be 3 or 4 years old before December 1, now is the time to think about enrolling him or her in a pre-school program for September.

When choosing a good pre-school program for your child the following points should be considered:

Is the school licensed by the State Education Department? Are the teachers certified? The length of time the school has served the community. Is class size limited? Is the curriculum enriched and creative (reading readiness, number readiness, music, games, puzzles, arts and crafts, wood working, animal care, dramatic play, story telling, block building, field trips, puppetry, painting, water and or sand play, baking and cooking)? Physical plan of the classroom (library corner, block area, housekeeping corner, music area with piano and rhythm instruments for the children, and desks, chairs, sinks and bathroom scaled down to children's size). Are parents permitted to share in the child's learning experience?

The Bethpage Co-operative Nursery School, located at 22 Lexington Avenue in Bethpage will be holding an Open House Saturday, February 11 from 1 to 3 p.m. All interested parents and their nursery school aged children are invited to visit the school on that day to see the fine facilities and program that the school offers. Registration for Sept. 1984 will be taken at that time. For more information call 931-0811.

Our Children

A case of divide and conquer

By Willard Abraham Ph.D.

Q. When my wife and I were married three years ago we each had a daughter about the same age (now both 13). My first wife died when our girl was a baby, and I raised her by myself — not easy, as you can guess, but she turned out just fine. She is sweet, considerate and quite pretty.

My wife had been divorced a year when we were married. Her daughter has none of the nice characteristics of mine, and I think that may be the reason my wife is so mean to my girl.

I never actually see that meanness, but my daughter describes it to me in great detail so I know it must be true. It involves favoritism when it comes to clothing, food and money, for example.

The two girls seem to get along quite well, but now my wife and I have begun to argue about them.

Things really are unpleasant, and I need some help.

A. It may be that elements of jealousy and "divide and conquer" have seeped into your family relationships. A stepdaughter-stepmother-stepfather combination can, and sometimes does, lead to complications that require professional help to unravel.

So maybe that's the way to go — a family counselor who will meet with all of you.

The perceptions you've shared plus others that may emerge through that kind of face-to-face contact could lead to all of you better understanding your reactions and feelings, and what you say to each other and why.

Q. How do you warn a young child about strangers so she won't be overly cautious?

She is 5 years old and a friendly little girl, and I do want her to continue being that way. I'm afraid that if I stress the need for being careful about strangers, she may become too concerned and start to freeze up in her relationships. I certainly wouldn't like that to happen.

What do you suggest?

A. The model you provide of speaking comfortably to people you know and a matter-of-fact approach in connection with others may be helpful. To make an issue by repeating strict rules to beware of strangers can be kind of scary to a young child.

Some parents feel the "scar route" is essential and worth the possible danger of excessive fear. I tend more toward assuming people generally are good and using some selective caution based on relationships with those a child, his or her friends and their families know and enjoy.

If any readers have favorite practices or strong feelings on this subject, I hope they'll share them with me.

Q. I'm a stewardess and have a serious problem related to my job — but actually I think it should be shared with parents who travel on planes with their children.

It's a matter of lack of consideration of others, bad manners, absence of discipline and just plain poor examples of parents. Many of them feel it's my job to keep their youngsters occupied on long trips while they read, drink, sleep or talk. Others try the discipline route, but it is based on yelling and slapping.

Once in awhile there is a calm mother or father who reads to a young child, softly converses or plays games with him, but this is the exception.

Perhaps it has been my luck to run into more of the inconsiderate types.

Both the passengers and I would appreciate a little more preparation for a flight by bringing along books their children enjoy and some games that are manageable (not a lot of small pieces that tiny fingers can't handle). And a bit of parental patience also would be welcome.

What has been your air travel experience with parents of the type I've encountered?

A. I've done a lot of plane travel, but I'll have to admit that my experiences consist more of the type in which parents did prepare and are patient. There have been exceptions, of course, but most of those I've observed seem to have been ready for the short attention spans and normal activity of their young children.

The stewardesses and stewards I've noticed have almost all been helpful and understanding, reflecting the realization that it isn't easy to travel with little children.

But your suggestions to parents make sense. I hope some of the less-thoughtful ones take them seriously.

Bethpage Library Presents Grace

Grace Kelly's untimely death last year has resulted in an upsurge of interest in the talented actress and the films in which she appeared during the 1950's. Four of those films will be shown at the Bethpage Public Library on alternate Friday evenings, at 8 p.m. from February 10 through March 23.

The series opens, on Friday, February 10, with "Country Girl" the 1954 film version of Clifford Odets' poignant stage play, "Winter Journey". The film won two Oscars - one for Best Actress to Grace Kelly and one for Best Screenplay to George Seaton.

Bing Crosby is featured as Frank Elgin, a broken-down actor - weak willed, alcoholic and a heel - who lives on the strength of his wife, Georgie, played by Grace Kelly. William Holden is Bernie Dodd, the Broadway Director who misinterprets the relationship and tries to free the husband from the wife. When the tangled motivations and dependencies are out in the open, Dodd and Georgie join forces to help Frank succeed.

The prize winning element of "The Country Girl" was the excellent acting ensemble of Crosby, Holden and Kelly. Grace Kelly's role as Georgie Elgin turned out to be a personal triumph and won her the Academy Award, the New York Film Critics Award and the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures Award.

The other films to be screened in the Bethpage Public Library series are: February 24, "To Catch a Thief"; March 9, "High Society"; March 23, "The Swan". Admission is free, come early for best seating.

China Revisited Slide Presentation

"China Revisited", a slide presentation by Charlie Buxton, of Bethpage, will be held at the Bethpage Public Library on Wednesday, February 15, at 8 p.m. In September, 1979, Mr. Buxton presented a fascinating slide/talk at the library on the tour of the Northern Provinces of China, taken earlier that year, with his wife Marianna. This past October, the Buxtons, inveterate travellers, took a 25-day tour of the Southern Provinces, including a five-day cruise on the Yangtze River.

Hangzhou, described by Marco Polo as "Paradise"; Shanghai, China's largest and most populous city; Beijing, the capital Xi'an, with its 6,000 incredible life-size terra cotta figures; the industrial city of Chongqing; Guilin, with its lush plains and towering peaks; the ancestral temples of Guangzhou; and Hong Kong, are among the cities visited. The Yangtze River cruise included stops at the ancient city of Wanxian; the Baidi Temple at Baicheng; the breathtaking Qutang, Wushan and Xiling Gorges; Shashi, regarded as a cradle of Chinese civilization, dating back to 1200 B.C.; and the Museum at Wuhan, with its collection of the world's earliest known musical instruments.

Come along as Mr. Buxton recounts the highlights of that memorable trip and comments on people and places seen, via his collection of beautiful color slides. Admission is free - all are welcome.

Piano Recital At Bethpage Library

Beethoven, Ravel, Faure and Chopin will be represented on the recital program by pianist James Barbagallo at the Bethpage Public Library on Sunday, February 19 at 3 p.m. James Barbagallo thrilled audiences at last summer's Gina Bachauer International Competition at Brigham Young University, with his rendition of Rachmaninoff's Concerto No. 3. He was the only performer in the final night's competition to receive a standing ovation and was awarded second place in the elite competition.

The 24 year-old pianist is a graduate of the Julliard School of Music and California State University at Hayward. Barbagallo has performed with the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, the Buffalo Philharmonic and the Portland Symphony Orchestra.

Admission to the program, co-sponsored by the Town of Oyster Bay Cultural & Performing Arts Division (CAPA), is free. All are welcome - early arrival is suggested for best seating.

Your Social Security

Wife can apply for benefits later

Q. I will apply for Social Security in a few months when I am 65. My wife hasn't worked long enough to be eligible on her own account. However, she will be 63 when I file. Does she have to file for wife's benefits at that time? — F.K.

A. Your wife doesn't have to apply when you do. If she files prior to 65 her benefits will be paid at a reduced rate. You should get a detailed explanation of the different rates payable when you file your claim.

Q. Since my father's death a few months ago, my 70-year-old mother is having a hard time getting by on her Social Security checks. Do you think she can get SSI checks? — S.H.

A. If your mother's only income is a small Social Security check and she has limited resources, she may be eligible for SSI payments.

You can get more details on SSI eligibility from your local Social Security office.

Q. My employer just went out of business. How can I find out if they have reported my wages for the last five years? — L.E.

A. You can ask for a Request for Statement of Earnings postcard from your nearest Social Security office. You will be sent a statement of all but your most recent earnings.

Q. My father still was working when he died on the job at 67 recently. Can my mother now apply for widow's benefits? She is 61. — M.J.

A. Your mother has the option of applying for monthly widow's benefits now or waiting until 65. However, she should file for the $255 lump-sum death benefit now.

If she decides to file for monthly benefits, have her bring the birth certificates, Social Security numbers, death certificate, marriage certificate and your father's W-2 forms for the last two years.

Gleeb Paul Lowney

Nuclear war will extinguish life on this planet. That's a highly extravagant statement. Why is it?

We don't know if any initial exchange of warheads would ever escalate to that point; and besides, constantly repeating this grandiose verbiage does nothing to provide the necessary international arrangements to prevent such an event.

Don't you think the H-bomb is a fearful concern? I figure if an H-bomb has your name on it, it will find you no matter where you are.

But shouldn't we continue to discuss the H-bomb with the Soviets?

We can keep discussing it, or we can drop it. Does it occur to you that we could blow up the entire world?

It occurs to me, but then I look at it like this: Earth is only a minor planet anyway.

Resolution No. 59-1984 Bond Resolution Dated January 3, 1984

A Resolution authorizing the issuance of $5,643,000 Serial Bonds and $297,000 Capital Notes of the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, to pay the cost of the construction of various improvements at refuse disposal plants and areas and landfills throughout and in and for said Town.

Be It Resolved, by the Town Board of the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, as follows:

Section 1. The class of objects or purposes to be financed pursuant to this resolution is the reconstruction by the Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, of various improvements at refuse disposal plants and areas and landfills throughout and in and for said Town.

Section 2. The maximum estimated cost of such class of objects or purposes or purpose is $5,940,000, and the plan for the financing thereof is as follows:

a) By the issuance of $5,643,000 serial bonds of said Town, hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to the Local Finance Law; and
b) By the issuance of $297,000 capital notes of said Town hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to the Local Finance Law. Such capital notes shall be sold at private sale and all further powers in connection with the details and the sale thereof are hereby delegated to the Supervisor, the chief fiscal officer, in accordance with the Local Finance Law. Pursuant to Section 107.00 of the Local Finance Law, the proceeds from the sale of such capital notes will be provided prior to the issuance of the bonds herein authorized or bond anticipation notes. Said capital notes shall constitute the down payment required by Section 107.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Section 3. It is hereby determined that the period of probable usefulness of the aforesaid class of objects or purposes or purpose is twenty years, pursuant to subdivision 6-a of paragraph a of Section 11.00 of the Local Finance Law. It is hereby further determined that the maximum maturity of the serial bonds herein authorized will exceed five years.

Section 4. Subject to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, the power to authorize the issuance of and to sell bond anticipation notes in anticipation of the issuance and sale of the serial bonds herein authorized, including renewals of such notes, is hereby delegated to the Supervisor, the chief fiscal officer. Such notes shall be of such terms, form and contents, and shall be sold in such manner, as may be prescribed by said Supervisor, consistent with the provisions of the Local Finance Law.

Section 5. The faith and credit of said Town of Oyster Bay, Nassau County, New York, are hereby irrevocably pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on such obligations as the same respectively become due and payable. An annual appropriation shall be made in each year sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on such obligations becoming due and payable in such year.

Section 6. The validity of such bonds, capital notes and bond anticipation notes may be contested only if:

- 1) Such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which said Town is not authorized to expend money, or
- 2) The provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of publication of this resolution are not substantially complied with, and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or
- 3) Such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the Constitution.

Section 7. Upon this resolution taking effect, the same shall be published in full in Massapequa Post, Mid Island Times, Syosset Tribune and Locust Valley Leader, together with a notice of the Town Clerk in substantially the form provided in Section 81.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Section 8. This resolution is adopted subject to permissive referendum in accordance with Section 35.00 of the Local Finance Law.

Term of Partnership: January 25, 1984 to December 31, 1997, unless sooner terminated by (a) the termination of all vehicle leases of the Partnership and the disposition by the Partnership of substantially all of its vehicles or (b) the retirement, dissolution, insolvency or bankruptcy of the General Partner where the Limited Partners do not elect to continue the business of the Partnership. The Limited Partners are to receive 99% of the profits or income in each year. It is agreed that, subject to the business needs of the Partnership, there shall be distributed to the Limited Partners, beginning within 90 days after the beginning of the 5th fiscal year of the Partnership, the lesser of (a) 50% of the income of the Partnership as reported for Federal income tax purposes and (b) all of the unreserved cash of the Partnership as of the last day of the prior fiscal year. There is no priority in distribution among Limited Partners; there is no right of a Limited Partner to substitute an assignee as contributor in its place and no Limited Partner has the right to demand or receive property other than cash in return for its contribution. No additional substitute Limited Partner will be admitted except with the prior consent of the General Partner and the execution of required documents. In the event of dissolution, retirement bankruptcy or insolvency of a General Partner, all of the Limited Partners may agree to continue the Partnership business.

Hicksville Council Wants Your Help

Are you a local business person or homeowner with some work to be done? There are local Hicksville young people who are eagerly searching for a job.

Hicksville Youth Council offers an employment program that is designed to provide employers in the community with a free placement and referral service to fill their job vacancies. When a job is listed with the Youth Council, Cynthia Sosa the employment counselor reviews the specific requirements of the position, prescreens youth applicants and refers young people to the employer for an interview. The program although not new, was briefly inactive for a few months this fall but is back in full operation. In addition to job placement, Cindy is also visiting local business establishments to develop job listing and get to know the needs of the local merchants.

The Rent-A-Kid program is designed for those young people who are too young to work in a regular part time job and matches local youth with community residents who need odd jobs performed. These jobs may be chores around the house that are one time only as well as regular on going services such as babysitting. Young people are matched according to previous job experience and geographic location so that the problem of transportation is minimized. These programs are particularly unique in that for many young people, it is their first introduction to the world of work and what it means to have a job. All applicants are prescreened with the employer or local homeowner doing the actual hiring. The youth applicants are given an orientation to the responsibilities of working and having a job. Follow-up is done to ascertain the outcome of the interview as well as to mediate any problems that may arise during employment. Youth applicants are encouraged to give thought to what their future career goals might be as it is vitally important for young people to begin to focus on the reality of working as soon as possible. Whenever possible, young people will be placed in a position that reflects their future goals. To list a job, please call Cindy at 822-7594.

The Hicksville Youth Council also sponsors programs in recreation and leisure time as well as Family Life Supportive Services. A Chapter of Big Brothers/Sisters is run by the Youth Council as well. Volunteers from the community are always needed to serve on the agency's Board of Directors as well as to participate in the various programs.

For additional information about the Youth Council or to get a speaker for your group meeting, please call Barbara Nelson, Executive Director at 822-7688. The Speakers Bureau at the Youth Council will speak to any group large or small about young people today. Also available is Utopia, an adolescent theatre group who write and perform skits about vandalism, peer pressure and the many issues affecting young people today. The group has performed at schools and other local groups throughout the community. Give Barbara or Cindy a call and get involved with young people - they are a terrific resource and the building blocks for our future.

Sure we'd like to shelter
$4,000 of last year's income
against taxes.

But how?
And where?
And when?

With an I.R.A.
At Ridgewood.
Now.

Tax savings on last year's earnings? Absolutely... if you act before April 15, 1984. You and your spouse can shelter as much as $4,000 from the tax-man... by opening an I.R.A. at Ridgewood Savings Bank.

You could even claim that deduction now... file early to get your refund sooner... and you'd still have 'til April 15th to open your account.

Ask any expert on personal finances, and we'll bet he tells you that an I.R.A. is the best move you can make. For immediate and future income tax savings. For high-yield, tax-deferred earnings. For a secure and prosperous retirement. Best of all, you'll never pay Ridgewood a fee for starting your I.R.A. or managing it for you.

Today, every wage-earner is entitled to establish a tax-deferred I.R.A. Including working spouses. Including people who already have pension plans.

Including self-employed people... even if they already have Keogh accounts. A qualifying individual can deposit up to $2,000 of annual income... a husband and wife who are both employed: $2,000 each, or a total of up to $4,000... a wage-earner with a non-working spouse: up to $2,250. Income tax on funds deposited and on the interest that they earn will be deferred until they are withdrawn after retirement... when most people's tax rates are much lower.

Wouldn't you like to know how much a Ridgewood I.R.A. could mean to you when you retire? Could it be worth a million dollars... or even more? It's easy to find out... and we think you'll be amazed! Just stop in at your nearest Ridgewood branch and ask for a free, personalized computer projection—based on your age and the tax-sheltered deposits you expect to make. And be prepared for a very pleasant surprise!

It's smarter than ever to bank with your neighbors.

Gym-Dandy Event At Fork Lane

"Gym was never like this when I was a kid" was a special event that took place at Fork Lane School recently. As their proud parents looked on, students from grades 2 through 6 had an opportunity to display various gymnastic skills.

Coordinated by gym instructors Carol Weber and Maureen Kuperberg, an impressive display of physical education activities were included, among them: mirrored obstacle course, leaping over and dodging through road cones, running through tires,

Jogging for Physical Fitness, sixth graders at Fork Lane School jog in squad spot during gym festivities at the school recently.

Scaling the Swedish Box, Mrs. Kuperberg observes as student climbs box at full height.

Skinning the Cat at Fork Lane School. Mrs. Weber aides 6th grader as she begins pull up to "skin the cat", during special gym event at the school.

hurdling, dual rope stunts, tunnel crawling, Swedish box mounting and vaulting, ball handling, jogging and creative jogging to music by using floor patterns, etc. The program encompassed many and varied techniques taught to encourage development and increase strength, endurance speed and agility as well as develop greater motor coordination. Cardio-vascular functioning was increased as well as the students mental and emotional well-being with emphasis on courage, determination and sequencing.

The large audience was most impressed with this gymnastic "happening" and, thanks to the efforts of Mrs. Weber and Mrs. Kuperberg, gym really never was like this when we were kids. But we sure wish it was!

Input Callers Doubt Reagan Will Have Easy Election

Most callers to Input are not certain that President Reagan will be re-elected easily and some do not believe he will be re-elected in answer to this question: "Do you think President Reagan will have an easy victory in his bid for re-election?"

HARD FOR DEMS

Yes. I think that Reagan has a lot going for him right now with the economy turned around and inflation at a very low level. It should not be very hard for voters to see that the pack of Dems trying to get the job really do not know what to favor because he has done so many things right. H.T.

MAY LOSE

Reagan will not have it easy to be re-elected and may be defeated if the Middle East blows up at any time before Election Day. The most vulnerable place for him is his foreign policy. The Republican party has abandoned the isolationists and has taken over the role of the Democrats who used to be accused of meddling in things throughout the world. Now the Democrats need a strong stand on these issues and if they could get one they might be elected. Mondale should assure everyone that he will continue most of the Reagan economic policies but that he will have a better foreign policy. Then the voters will turn to him. F.R.

TOO SOON

It is too soon to say whether the Presidential race will be easy or not. The Democrats have not yet come out of the huddle. I do not believe that Mondale will be the nominee. I think they will turn to someone not yet in the race. The party should know from the Carter debacle that they have to get a good nominee to win. J.W.

BIG WIN

Reagan is a good President and I think that he will be re-elected regardless of who runs against him. He will have an easy race against any of the Democrat contenders. So as of this time I think it has to be Reagan all the way in a big win. L.T.

BE CAUTIOUS

Reagan may not be re-elected. There are plenty of things that can go against him. As the incumbent he controls a great many things in campaigning but he still has to take the blame if something goes wrong before election. Don't forget the hostage problem cut deeply into Carter's attempt to get re-elected but it was something that could not be predicted. Reagan has to be cautious and keep working to get re-elected. H.R.

FREE HAND

There will be tougher opposition to Reagan this time than last. The Democrats are afraid if Reagan gets elected that he will be able to do much more to change things in the direction he believes than in the first four years. The reason is because he cannot run for re-election again and that will give him a free hand. J.D.

NO "CERTAINTY"

What I like about this week's question is that it sets as a premise or perhaps even a promise, the "certainty" that President Reagan will be re-elected, the only uncertainty being the nature of the victory. But even this thought is disquieting as the spectre of things past intrudes its forbidding presence in the thought being promulgated by the opposition, that many of us went to bed 36 years ago with the comforting thought that Thomas Dewey had been elected! Actually, the shocking revelation at dawn's early light that Harry Truman had actually won should teach us a lesson for all time that a victory for any candidate in a national election is not that easy to predict. In any case, the diverse interests represented by cohesive and powerful blocs in this present day democracy of ours will play a most important part in the outcome. So, rather than to predict, I am making a resolution here and now to be sure to vote in November and to encourage everyone else to do the same. P.G.S.

CLOSE ELECTION

I wish that President Reagan would be reelected easily but I'm afraid that it will be a close election. All the special interests will do everything they can to beat him. All of us must do what we can to reelect President Reagan. If all the people are dismayed about the Hicksville School Board doing away with silent meditation they would do all they can to reelect the president we won't have to put up with this sort of thing. Pres. Reagan really represents the values that most of us believe in and if we all do what we can to support him maybe we can make it easier to get him reelected. L.C.

EASY TIME

There is not doubt in my mind that President Reagan will very easily be reelected. He is a magnificent actor and has fooled a vast majority of American Public. We are in very deep trouble but he has a marvelous staff of big business advisors who are secure that their interests are protected and woe be it to the guy in the middle, the poor person who has worked all his life. We are in big trouble but he will go back in a landslide. No doubt about it. R.J.

Some Tips On Selling

By: D.J. Berrell

Would you like an increase in your present salary or a more responsible job?

Who wouldn't, you may ask!

The answer is simple. All you have to do is to convince your superiors that it is in the best interest of the company to pay you more money. You can do this by coming up with new ideas on how to increase company sales and earnings. Since the company is in business to make as much money as it can, anyone who can do this is automatically promoted. And you can bet that the current president is there, not because he is a nice guy, but because the board of directors believe that he can make more money for them than anyone else. He is also a great salesman.

For salesmanship is basically the persuasion of others to go along with your ideas: Your child is selling when she asks, "Daddy buy me some candy?" And your wife is selling when she suggests, "Wouldn't you like steak and French fries for dinner tonight, Honey?"

All mankind lives by selling something - either goods or services. Usually we exchange something we have - money - for something we want - food, shelter, clothing, pleasure, etc. Our needs are few - food, clothing and shelter - but our wants are unlimited. Things like automobiles, washing machines, dish washers, TV sets, etc., were once considered luxuries, but today they are considered necessities. That is progress - or at least progress, American style.

When you applied for your present job you had to convince the personnel manager, or other executive of your company, that you would be an asset to the firm. In turn, he sought to convince you "that there is a great future here for a live wire like you."

Assuming you were both happy afterwards it meant that you both sold or traded something you had a surplus of, for something that you needed, i.e., labor for money.

The salary you agreed upon represented a compromise between what you thought you were worth and what the executive felt he could get someone else for. Later, as you gained proficiency in your job, your salary was increased.

If you ever took the course "The Principles of Salesmanship" in high school or college you may remember the instructor telling you that each sale represents five steps. These include:

Attention: This involves the knocking on the prospect's door and saying "Mr. X, here is an idea that might interest you!" But you must remember that the prospect's attention span is short - 15 seconds or so - and you must arouse his interest immediately or he will tune you out.

Many TV and magazine ads feature lightly clad beautiful girls. These girls get everyone's immediate attention, but men at least are so interested in looking at the girls that they pay slight attention to the message. And afterwards they couldn't remember what the product was but they could swear that the girl was a beautiful blonde in a blue swim suit. This is a major problem for advertisers.

Psychologists who test the effectiveness of ads find that people like to watch other people in attractive surroundings like the beach or the countryside. Next, they enjoy watching children at play or animals doing tricks. They don't like to look at things by themselves; hence there is always someone in the automobile commercial. We tend to picture ourselves as the hero or heroine of every advertisement, movie or book we see or read.

Interest - Psychologists also know that each human being is largely or thoroughly self-centered. Every time we see a new product we ask ourselves, "What can this thing do for me?" If the answer is "nothing" then we lose interest immediately.

That is one reason why there are so few TV commercials for women's dresses: most men yawn when they see them, just as women do when they see ads for woodworking tools. When an advertiser is spending upwards of $30,000 for a 30 second spot commercial he wants both sexes to become involved with his product.

Desire - The salesman's or advertiser's goal is to get the prospect to say - "I want it, I want it now!"

Sometimes the advertiser is too successful and underestimates the demand, as in the recent fad for "Cabbage Patch Kids". When that happens he is in trouble, and everybody gets mad at him. But given the choice, wouldn't we rather be rich and in trouble than poor and in trouble?

Action - You may remember many TV advertisers conclude their sales pitch by saying, "Now be sure to buy this item the next time you are in the supermarket!" or "Call this toll free number today for the dealer nearest you!"

The advertiser knows that if the prospect doesn't act right away the chances are good that the message will get buried under scores of others or everyday business. Thus, he is like a circus barker saying,

"Hurry, hurry, hurry, this way to the big top - see the lions and tigers - the bears and the bearded lady. Hurry, hurry, hurry!"

Those of us who are middle aged may remember back during the early days of World War II when there were shortages of certain things like sugar and butter and the government was talking about imposing rationing. There were newspaper stories about reporters going around to supermarkets and asking little old ladies why they were buying up all the sugar they could find. Often the replies were: "I have to stock up before those dirty hoarders get it all!"

Satisfaction - This means that both buyer and seller must be pleased with the transaction or it will fall through.

For example, some years ago I was out selling home food and freezer programs. I was successful for several months. Then one week I sold five programs and one by one the buyers phoned in to cancel their purchases. My sales manager grew very unhappy and asked me what happened. I replied that I did not know. Later, he said that since I had no sales for the week I could expect no commissions, and that is why I left that business. Subsequently an older and more experienced salesman told me that it had happened to him many times: His advice was: "Never say thanks to a customer. They think that they are doing you a favor by ordering, whereas it should be a 50-50 proposition!" Strange advice indeed, but it works!

Premiums: When you start up your car on a cold morning you know that you have to gun the engine a bit or it will die on you. But when you get going and are moving down the parkway at a brisk clip you can take your foot off the gas pedal for a minute or so and let the car move ahead under its own momentum.

Similarly, when you are in a prospect's home and you want him to sign the agreement, you must put extra pressure on him to act or he will sit there all night with a smile on his face. Some salesmen thrust a pen into the prospect's hand while others will hand him the agreement and say, "Just sign here on the dotted line and you will get all these goodies!"

But another way is to give the prospect a big incentive to sign now. If you say "Mr. Jones if you sign this agreement now I will give you this ipsey pipsy 14 carat gold pen, that will last you for the rest of your life," he will probably do as you ask.

The Fuller Brush Co. grew from a small Hartford, Conn., firm to a nationwide operation by using the free sample brush at the front door. Many insurance companies give out road maps, wallets, pens, etc., to prospective customers. And how many banks give away toasters or small appliances to people who open new accounts with them?

What can you or your company give away to increase business? Find a useful and attractive gadget that is relatively novel and low priced and you will make a sale almost every time. Why not look in the "Yellow Pages" under Advertising Specialties and you will find more than 80 companies with items that can be used as sales premiums? Why not call them up and ask for their catalogues? Premiums work or there would not be so many companies in the business.

Timing - Few of the textbooks that I have read on salesmanship mention the fact that your timing must be right in order to make a sale. For instance, how many of us own life insurance? That is a product that has to be sold, for few of us would seek out an insurance agent to buy it. We would put it off as long as possible.

You probably brought your policy when you had a major change in your life style - by getting married, having a child, buying a home, etc. I'll bet that you were contacted by a number of insurance agents at that time and that you finally selected one that you liked.

The agent got your name from a "List Broker" who was in the business of reading newspapers and official records for names of people like you. The broker added your name to his list and sold the list to some insurance company who sent an agent after you. (I was in that business, too).

Some insurance companies phone prospects out of the phone book but the more efficient way is to get a list of prime candidates. The point is that, as the Bible says, "There is a time for everything under heaven. A time to live and a time to die. A time to plant and a time to reap."

There is also a time to make sales, even insurance policies.

Finally, if you are asking someone to buy something or to do a favor for you, make a list of the reasons why he will benefit by doing so. Then rattle the list off to him. Remember, the customer is a reasonable person. He is willing to buy if you give him good reasons why he should.

There are only two types of prospects that can't be sold - those with no need for the product or service, and those with no money. Everyone else can do business with you - if you are a smart salesman.

READER RATINGS

GOOD MEXICAN, SPANISH

Ever since we came back from the west coast we have been looking for a good Mexican and Spanish restaurant. Last week while thumbing through your restaurant guide we noticed a small advertisement from the LaCorrida restaurant in Great Neck. So Saturday we decided to give it a try.

We were well satisfied with the food and atmosphere of LaCorrida. We had the Mexican combination plate and were once again reminded of the good food of Mexico that we had not enjoyed since being in Southern California.

We recommend LaCorrida to the many people who have given up on finding good Mexican and Spanish food in this area of the country. B.W.

This Is Your Chance To Join "Reader Ratings"

The Last Word In Restaurant Guides
Where Our Readers Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides - a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings".

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked in call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

FINE RESTAURANT
I'd like to recommend a very fine restaurant in Williston Park on Hillside Avenue - Pinos. We eat there several times monthly and have never been disappointed. As a matter of fact the last time we dined there we suffered a flat tire and the owner and one of the waiters were kind enough to drive us home to New Hyde Park. Pinos is a local establishment owned and operated by local people and should be patronized by local readers of your newspapers.

TOP RATING
If you want the best in Italian food, and we have gone to many different Italian Restaurants, your readers should go to Iannone's in Hicksville. This small, but expanded restaurant presents the very best of shrimp and veal and the tastiest pasta you can find. We have been fans of Iannone's for a number of years but we really think it has become even better in the last year. Many residents from all different areas have told us that they go to this restaurant in Hicksville. But we thought it deserves a boost in Reader Rating columns. T.&A.B.

Restaurant Guide

If you have Questions about etiquette or dining out you may call them in to WE 1-0027 and we will find the answer.

Q. In a good restaurant that we attended recently an accordion player came around to each table and asked whether we had any requests. My wife made a request and the musician played it. Is this music provided by the restaurant or should I have tipped? J.B. A. Generally the musicians are paid by the restaurant to entertain all of the diners. But when you make a special request it is expected that a small tip will accompany the request. In this case $1.00 would have been a fair tip.

Q. What do you do if you enter a restaurant and some friends at another table tell the waiter to see what you are drinking because they want to buy you a drink and you do not drink? E.R. A. There is no set answer to your question. You obviously have some very generous friends who do not know your habits. The best thing to do would be to inform the waiter that you do not drink but you might make a gesture with a water glass towards your friend's table as a toast.

Q. How much can you ask a waiter about the food on the menu without seeming stupid? P.L. A. The answer to that is that you would be stupid not to ask any questions but to eat something that you obviously do not like. Most waiters are glad to explain what ingredients go to make up a particular dish and some will even check with the cook to find out a specific thing for you. Remember restaurants call you a "guest" and it is up to them to make you feel like one.

Q. I love to make toasts, I'm good at it, I guess. But I'm a woman and I always feel intimidated if I make a toast before anyone else has. It's as though I have taken someone else's prerogative. C.H.

A. No, you have not, unless you begin too early. Wait until dessert time - towards the end. If no one has made a toast, then it's obvious no one is going to.

The best toast for you to make if you want to get on your feet at that point is to your hosts - thanking them for a superb dinner (even if it's hamburgers - because a hamburger dinner may be very superior). It's a nice thing to do. The other guests feel good, and your hosts certainly do.

The one time it's tricky to raise a toast when no one else has is when you're the guest of someone and your host has not raised a toast to the guest of honor.

If your host is an insecure sort of person, your raising a toast when he should have might make him feel ill-at-ease. You have to be the judge of whether your toast would delight or intimidate your host.

GOOD EXPERIENCE

The Benihana of Tokyo restaurant in Manhasset is a good experience. While the price is not low, the food is good and you get the free entertainment of watching the chef cut the fish or meat up in a flamboyant style.

We had the fish dinner which was cooked from beginning to end before our eyes on the hibachi. The salad had a special taste prepared with the house-dressing which is a combination of oil, vinegar and spice.

We recommend this restaurant.

 I have been to Devins Restaurant in Garden City several times since it opened. I find it is one of the finest restaurants around. When you open the doors to Devins it is like stepping into an entirely new world. The food is really good. I have been there for lunch and dinner and find that the menu is packed with good things including the very nicest in pasta dishes. The restaurant specializes in all types of continental food. The service also cannot go unnoticed. It is complete service and you are never left waiting to catch some waiter's eye. They are there when you need them. Devins is tops with me. H.R.T.

Cooking Corner

Entertaining with sparkle

By Toni Griffia

Richard Olney carried his battered copy of Escoffier's "Ma Cuisine" wherever he went.

A recognized monument in the hall of cooking greats, he occasionally visited his brother and sister-in-law Judith, enmeshed in the world of university teaching. It was Richard's much-used cookbook which intimidated Judith to the point that deciding what to cook for her culinary relative was worrisome.

Mostly, though, she took his impending arrival as a challenge. "For one meal, I decided I couldn't go wrong with beef and potatoes." But, as it turned out, the beef was overdone and the potatoes undercooked, just the opposite of what she wanted. It was at that point that she vowed that would never happen to her again.

As a result, the determined Judith Olney started on the road from English literature professor to culinary personality, author of four cookbooks, (including the best-selling "Joy of Chocolate" and her newest, "Entertainments") and director of her own culinary consulting company.

Her persona has changed, too. "I used to wear jeans and pull my straight hair back behind my head," she notes while flashing one of her immediate smiles. Shrugging her black mink jacket around her shoulders today, the willowy blonde sees herself as a seductress of food and someone to spark the imagination of hosts and hostesses everywhere with inventive party ideas and recipes.

And inspire she does. Reading "Judith Olney's Entertainments" brings a sense of excitement to party planning — one that starts with the goal of celebrating with guests rather than just feeding them.

Judith Olney is an original. Not influenced by other people, she has developed her own cookbook style while refusing to read food magazines, other cookbooks, etc. She claims that she can "reach deeper into food that way. I want my work to be my own."

When Olney says, "I want to be the one setting the visions," one gets the feeling that this is a writer on the move. Above all, she knows what she wants from life.

BRANDIED CHOCOLATE BAVARIAN

This is a basic Bavarian recipe:
3 tbsps. water
1½ envelopes unflavored gelatin
2 cups milk
3 ozs. unsweetened chocolate
1 cup granulated sugar

6 egg yolks
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 tbsps. brandy or cognac, or to taste
2 cups heavy cream

Place water in cup or small bowl. Sprinkle in gelatin and set aside to soften. Heat milk with chocolate in saucepan until chocolate has melted and milk is just short of being scalded. Remove from heat.

Combine sugar, egg yolks and vanilla in bowl. Beat with electric hand mixer or whisk until exceedingly thick and pale, then slowly pour in hot chocolate milk, beating all the while. Place mixture in saucepan over medium heat. Stirring constantly, let the mixture heat and thicken until, when you lift the spoon, a finger dragged down its back will leave a concise open track. Do not let the custard approach a boil.

Remove from heat and add softened gelatin to custard and stir until dissolved. Let custard cool to warm, then add cognac. Continue cooling (if you refrigerate the mixture, be sure to stir frequently and watch carefully), just until bottom of pan is room temperature and custard is about to gel. Rapidly whip cream until thick (when it still moves but is not stiff). Fold cream into chocolate custard. Taste for brandy and adjust flavoring if desired.

Splash cold water into 8-cup charlotte, soufflé or ring mold. Shake out excess water, then pour in bavarian. Let chill until completely firm (at least 4 hours, although overnight improves flavor). Makes 10 servings.

CHOCOLATE CABBAGE CAKE

This cake is the piece de résistance of "Joy of Chocolate." Bake sponge cake in 2 round bowls and sandwich the halves together with whipped cream. Mold chocolate leaves from a real cabbage, then place around the cake

1 recipe chocolate sponge cake
Rum, Grand Marnier, or creme de cacao (optional)
1 cup heavy cream, whipped stiff and sweetened/flavored to taste
1 lb. semisweet or compound chocolate
8 leaves green cabbage (not savoy)
2 2½-quart stainless-steel mixing bowls, 8 inches round
2 or 3 pale pink rose buds

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Butter and flour mixing bowls. Place bowls on cookie sheet. Divide sponge cake batter between 2 mixing bowls and smooth tops evenly. Bake 30-35 minutes or until cakes test done and shrink slightly from sides of pans. Remove cakes and let cool 5 minutes. Leave to cool completely, allowing to firm at least 3 hours for best results. Hollow out a portion from flat center side of each cake. Sprinkle cakes with optional liqueur, then crumble dug-out portions. Whip and flavor cream, then stir in cake crumbs. Refill hollowed centers of cakes and sandwich them together. This ball will be "cabbage head." Refrigerate until needed.

Melt semisweet chocolate over warm water. Set aside.

Coat backs of 5 nice cabbage leaves with chocolate by spreading it on with pastry brush. Brush chocolate to within ¼ inch of leaves' edges. Coat top side of 3 other leaves, upper half of leaf only.

Leave 1 fully-coated leaf flat and drape others over small bowls so they will harden in slightly rounded shapes. Refrigerate leaves for 8 minutes.

If any chocolate has dripped over-upainted sides of the leaves, chip it off. Loosen the fat stem end first, then gently work cabbage leaf off the chocolate. As long as you have 3 good whole leaves, you are all right, for broken halves can also be used effectively.

Prepare glaze by putting chocolate, sugar, corn syrup and ½ cup hot water in saucepan, and cooking over medium-low heat, stirring constantly. Let mixture cook at slow boil for 3 minutes. Turn off heat, stir in butter 1 tablespoon at a time, then add the vanilla and confectioners' sugar. Stir until glaze cools slightly and is spreading consistency.

When glaze is somewhat cool and thick enough to swirl into a pattern, coat 1 side of round cake. Set 3 large leaves on a platter and place the frosted side of the cake on top of them.

Glaze top of cake, then press other leaves around sides; let a few small broken portions suggest a gathering of leaves atop cabbage. Let glaze firm. Tuck roses around cake if desired. To serve, cut portions from round cake. The bottom leaves can be nibbled with coffee or removed and used for another recipe.

CRUSTED POTATOES

1 clove garlic, lightly crushed
2 to 3 all-purpose potatoes
Salt and pepper
Hot milk
3 tbsps. grated Gruyere cheese
3 tbsps. fine dry bread crumbs
Butter shavings

Rub 2 individual or 1 11-inch gratin dish with garlic clove. Discard clove and coat pans with butter. Peel potatoes and cut them into very thin slices (about ¼-inch thick). Place in baking dishes, salt and pepper to taste. Pour hot milk over potatoes until just covered. Mix cheese and crumbs and sprinkle over surface. Place 3-4 thin shavings of butter over crumbs. Bake in preheated 375-degree oven 40 minutes. Makes 4-6 servings.

FROM OUR KITCHEN

By Olivia and Paul Bensen

POTATOES DUCHESSE

2 cups hot mashed potatoes
1 tsp. baking powder
2 eggs, beaten
¼ tsp. white pepper
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. nutmeg
1½ tbsps. melted butter

In blender or with mixer, beat together potatoes, eggs, salt, pepper, nutmeg and baking powder. Form into cakes (for a special presentation, form into "flowerettes" with pastry tube). Place on buttered baking sheet.

Brush potato mixture with melted butter. Brown under broiler or bake in oven preheated to 425 degrees, until golden brown.

PUT-BACK BAKED POTATOES

4 large baking potatoes
½ cup sharp cheddar, crumbled
6 slices crisp bacon, crumbled
¼ cup fresh parsley, minced
4 scallions, sliced
2 tbsps. butter, plus a little extra for the potato skins
Salt and pepper to taste
A little milk, if needed (see note below)

Scrub potatoes and rub a little butter into the skins. Bake for 45 minutes to an hour, depending on size. Halfway through baking time, pierce each potato with fork to allow steam to escape.

Allow potatoes to cool after baking until they are comfortable to handle. Cut the top third from each potato, lengthwise, so that the remaining sections are boat-shaped. Scoop out the pulp from the top slice and discard (or eat) the skin. Scoop the pulp out of the "boats," leaving just enough to allow the skins to hold their shape.

Mash the pulp coarsely with a fork and blend in the remaining ingredients. Add a splash of milk if the mixture is too dry. Divide the filling among the 4 skins and fill them. Bake in 350-degree oven 15 to 20 minutes and serve.

SPECIAL CRISPY HOME FRIES

4 medium (or 3 large) baked potatoes, cut in ¼-inch slices, with skins left on (allow 5-8 slices per person)
4 tbsps. butter
2 tbsps. olive oil
Salt and pepper
2 tbsps. minced fresh parsley OR 1 tbsp. snipped fresh chives (for garnish)

In large, heavy skillet, melt butter and oil over medium-high heat. Sauté slices of potato in one layer, turning slices as they become golden brown. These can be cooked in batches and kept warm, uncovered, in oven on low setting. If slices are kept warm this way, you may need to add more butter while cooking.

Sprinkle cooked slices with salt and pepper to taste and add parsley or chives as a garnish.

These slices are also delicious with a mixture of sour cream and fresh, snipped chives, served on the side for dipping.

Serves four.

'Heavenly Angel' is stellar value

Q. I have Hummel figurine No. 21. It is a little angel with a candle.

I would appreciate anything you can tell me as to when it was made and its value. Sketch of mark is enclosed.

A. This is the "Heavenly Angel," and the mark you provided is the Full Bee Mark (Trademark 2).

It was made between 1950 and 1958. The price ranges from $130 to $400, depending on size (4.5 inches — $130; 8.5 inches — $400).

This figurine is very much in demand as a companion piece to the Hummel Christmas Plate for 1971.

Q. Why should pottery made by a bunch of schoolgirls at Newcomb College less than 100 years ago be worth such outlandish prices?

A. Those girls didn't make the pottery, they just decorated it. The pottery was molded by professional potters.

One reason for the high prices is that rarely were there ever two pieces decorated alike. The girls signed each piece, and that helps to determine the actual vintage.

For example, Henrietta Bailey decorated a small vase in 1903; it sold recently for $1,400.

Another reason is that there were only a few hundred pieces produced in any year. Compared to that, Rookwood made thousands, and one model may have been in production for several years.

Since its introduction in 1980, five printings of this popular book have been sold. tions. I would like to know when it was made and its value.

A. Your asymmetric secretary was made in the 1890s and is a very popular item with collectors. In most parts of the country it would sell for at least $500 to $600. However, in metropolitan areas it might bring as much as $900.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q. We have a two-bedroom house where we are having trouble with the windows sweating, especially in the bedrooms. This trouble started after the attic was insulated. We have a floor furnace, also two turbo ventilators on the roof.

A. At times, early in the morning, the windows look as though water has been poured on them. Do you have a solution for this problem? — W.T.P.

A. The basic reason for the trouble is simply too much moisture builds up in the air inside the house. You have to get rid of it, one way or another. Use an exhaust fan in one or more areas where the moisture is produced — such as the kitchen and bathroom, or perhaps the laundry room.

Your problem is caused by moisture from the warm air condensing on the cold window surfaces. This air has a way to get out, it will not condense on cool surfaces.

Sometimes just opening a window a couple of inches when cooking is being done or directly after a shower will help. Or you can get window ventilators or even small vents that are installed in the side of a house.

In short, your job is to see that the moist air is permitted to escape. An alternative is to use a dehumidifier, which will trap moist air.

Q. I have an embarrassing problem. The previous owners of my house had cats who were not properly housebroken. Urine has soaked through the linoleum into the floorboards and it has left a strong odor. How can I clean up this mess? — Mrs. G.E.H.

A. Your only solution will involve removal and discarding the present linoleum covering. Then thoroughly clean the floor underneath and install new floor covering.

To clean the wood flooring, scrub with a solution of one gallon of warm water, one cup of white vinegar and one-half cup of detergent. Rinse with clear water, then go over the floor with dry cloths to remove as much moisture as possible.

After the floor is thoroughly dry, apply a coat of sealer

(Thompson's Water Seal is a suggestion), then install the new floor covering.

Old linoleum is sometimes difficult to remove. Here is a good procedure: Pry up a corner of the linoleum with a wide-blade knife, or narrow screwdriver. Then pull up as much of it as possible. Usually, it separates at the felt.

To remove felt that sticks to the floor, wet with hot water. After a few minutes the paste will soften and both felt and paste can be easily removed.

Another method is to scrape off as much of the felt as possible, then clean the floor with a floor-sanding machine.

Q. I finished a room in our basement except for the ceiling. I want to install acoustical tiles. Will this stop upstairs noise from coming down to the basement room? — Carl J.

A. It will, to a limited extent, just as any extra material placed in that area might help to prevent the passage of some sound.

What it will do is to keep the noise in the basement room from going upstairs. In other words, acoustical materials are not designed to check outside noise from coming inside. They are intended to absorb sound that is generated within the room in which they are installed.

Loyalty of readers has been unbelievable. Like the man who wrote recently asking for a leaflet. It was sent in his stamped envelope. Then the next day came another note from him. He said he forgot to put in a donation and here were a couple of bucks.

Dear John: Here is the address of the American Association of Retired Persons, 215 Long Beach Blvd., Long Beach, CA 90801.

As the person who requested such did not have her address enclosed I could not have information sent to her. At that time in my last brochure from them they always sent a card to fill in information to interested people. I hope this helps. — Florence M.

Dear Florence: Thank you for the information and I'm sure it will help. That's what we're all here for, to help each other.

Dear John: I am 64 years old and handicapped. I have a handicap pass. I do not think it is fair that I have to pay full fare before 9 a.m. and then have to stand up while healthy children pay nothing and sit down. — Mrs. D.D.

Dear Mrs. D.D.: I assume you have to go somewhere before 9 a.m. when the kids are going to school. And if your handicap is not obvious, no one would be likely to give you his seat.

Come to think of it, few people do that anyway these days.

Maybe something should be worked out like the blue marked zones for handicapped automobile drivers which California has.

Doctor's Forum

Q. For about six weeks I have had episodes where my left hand is colder than my right, to the extent that someone else can feel the difference. My lower legs are now starting to feel cold as well.

What causes this to happen? What kind of physician should I see for an evaluation? — R.K.

A. One hand being colder than another is usually the result of intermittent spasm of the small blood vessels in the hand or fingers and may be aggravated by exposure to the cold.

Very infrequently it may be the result of obstruction of one of the larger blood vessels supplying the hand in which case the coldness of the hand would not fluctuate as much as it would with intermittent spasm of small blood vessels.

Coldness of both feet is a common symptom and while bothersome, usually does not mean that there is any serious problem with blood circulation.

Your family doctor is well able to diagnose the cause of these symptoms. — Dr. John G. Sholl, clinical professor of medicine, University of California, San Diego School of Medicine.

Q. I have polycythemia vera and it has something to do with my spleen. About six times a year I have to have a phlebotomy.

Is there anything to cure my problems? I am 69 years old and in good health but this problem bothers me. — A.U.

A. Polycythemia vera is a disorder of the bone marrow in which too many red blood cells (and sometimes white blood cells and platelets as well) are produced. Enlargement of the spleen occurs in over half the patients with polycythemia vera.

Periodic phlebotomy (bloodletting, as in blood donation) is the treatment of choice for this disorder. This "thins" the blood, but it has no effect on the size of the spleen. The enlarged spleen is usually not a cause of symptoms nor is it of special concern.

Medications or X-ray treatments can temporarily shrink the spleen, but both forms of therapy carry some risks which must be weighed against the potential benefits. In most cases such interventions are not warranted. — Dr. Helen Anderson, adjunct professor of medicine, University of California, San Diego School of Medicine.

Mainly For Seniors

By John T. Watts

Snow shoveling time again

Dear John: We have been considering moving to a less severe climate, but another cold winter has overtaken us without doing anything about it.

Why do people do that? Why don't they take the bull by the horns and do something about it? — Harriet S.

Dear Harriet: Maybe subconsciously you don't want to move. There are many reasons to stay where you are and not all that many to move.

For instance, the cost of moving, the strangeness of new surroundings, including the very real unhappiness to be away from relatives and friends.

You are wise to take your time about making any drastic change.

Dear John: Not too long ago I read a letter in your column from a reader whose husband benefited from honey and apple cider vinegar for an arthritic knee.

I tried it but it doesn't seem to work for me.

However, I would like to try the Certo and grape juice remedy and have enclosed a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the info on this. — Mrs. F.A.S.

Dear Mrs. F.A.S.: We haven't heard enough evidence yet on the vinegar treatment to have an opinion.

Dear John: We are recent retirees to the state of Florida and have been introduced to your column, Mainly for Seniors. How helpful and informative it is! Thank you.

We would appreciate it very much if you would send us your leaflet on the grape juice, Certo treatment for arthritis.

We are enclosing the self-addressed, stamped envelope and a small donation. — John and Ellen

Dear John and Ellen: Thanks for the kind words. Leaflet is on the way. Would you believe — and it is very flattering — some readers have gotten my name and Mainly for Seniors, fused so they are like one. Only the bank takes a dim view of it when the little donation checks are made out to Mainly for Seniors. After all, that's just the name of the column, not a legal entity.

Incidentally, the outpouring of donations has been tremendous. We have been able to distribute hundreds of leaflets which we otherwise would not have been able to do.

By Robert Wallace
Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I need your help. Janet and I were going together for six months but she broke up with me because she caught me out with another girl. I begged her to forgive me but she says she has lost faith in me and doesn't trust me anymore.

Dr. Wallace, this other girl means nothing to me. I love Janet with all my heart and soul. The times I spent with her were pure joy.

Please tell me how to get her back. — Tommy Tommy I'm always amazed at the love one professes after one has been dumped because one was caught "slippin' around." Oh, well, that's another story and it is not going to solve your problem.

Let Janet know your feelings in a letter. Ask her to call you. If she does, be honest and ask her forgiveness. Hopefully, she will accept and you both will live "happily ever after."

If she doesn't call, leave her alone and start dating other girls. You should have no problems.

Dr. Wallace: I just turned 15 and expected that my parents would allow me to date because both my older sisters were permitted to date when they reached 15.

When I told my mother about dating she informed me I have to wait until I am 16. I don't think this is fair one bit. Do you?

Please answer this in the newspaper because I want my mother to read your answer. — Gloria Gloria: If your sisters had no major problems dating at 15 then you should be permitted to date. But if the opposite is true, then Mom is, indeed, making a wise choice!

Dr. Wallace: I would like to respond to the boy who didn't date because he didn't like his looks and his peers considered him to be gay.

I also am 17 and had the same problem he has. In reality, I did not date because I had a very poor self-image. I was severely burned in a fire over eight years ago and my entire body is covered with scars. As a result of this, I felt that no girl would ever consider going out with me because I was so "ugly."

Last summer I realized that I was only ugly in my mind. So I changed my outdated hairstyle and clothes.

My parents arranged for me to change schools and I decided to be called by my middle name instead of my first.

Since my "change," I've been out on several dates and feel much better about myself. I hope my letter can be an inspiration to all teens who have poor images about themselves. — T.R.

T.R.: Thanks so much for your inspirational message. Believe me, it will help many teens improve their self-image. You did, they will!

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 17-year-old girl and I'm very surprised that I'm writing to you. Hope you can help.

Jim and I went steady for six months, and even though I really cared for him I dropped him because he was spending more time working (after school, Saturdays, etc.) than he spent with me. We broke up six weeks ago and now I realize that I cared for him more than I thought and I want him back, job or no job.

To make matters worse, he attends a different school so I rarely see him anymore. Well, it so happens that Jim has a new girlfriend and this makes me super-mad. I would like to have Jim break up with her and return to me but Mother dear keeps telling me to stay away from him until they (if they ever do) break up.

Do you think I should call him and let him know that I want him back or should I sit and wait and wait and wait until I discover he finally is available? — Judy

Judy: I see no reason why you can't inform Jim by phone that you still care for him, you made a mistake by breaking up and that you would welcome his call if he should ever end the relationship with his present girlfriend.

Pursue the matter no more AND don't see him at any time if he still is going steady.

Dr. Wallace: I love my parents very much but they both smoke almost three packs of cigarettes each per day and this has caused me a great deal of concern.

Every day I pray they will stop, but they haven't. Oh, they both tell me they will quit but nothing ever happens.

They both read your column so maybe if they saw my letter in print it just might let them know how much I care for and need them.

Lee: I've done my part and you've done yours. OK. Mom and Dad — do yours!

Aunt Tilly's Corner

Well, here it is the second week in February. The winter is going on and on and on. One day it snows; the next day it is clear. One day it is freezing; the next day it is mild. I feel as if we were all on a see-saw!

How nice it will be when spring comes. That will be around March 21, which means we have about a month and a half of winter to get by until the warmer weather comes to stay.

I can hardly wait. How about you?

Love,
Aunt Tilly

P.S. This week's coloring contest winners are Jill Henriksen and Dina Castell.

Many older dogs are too fat

Q. Our 7-year-old spayed female dachshund is getting very fat. We feed our dog a canned dog food from the grocery store, plus occasional treats from our table. We try not to overfeed our precious companion.

Is it possible that our dog has a medical problem causing her obesity? How can we help our dog reduce her weight?

A. Obesity in middle-aged to older dogs is a common problem. Dogs tend to become obese due to decreased physical activity and dogs tend to decrease in physical activity due to obesity. In other words, whenever physical activity decreases and obesity increases, the condition worsens because of a "snowballing" effect.

Obesity is more common in spayed females, castrated males and dogs fed home-prepared foods and table scraps.

Some authorities feel that dogs on all-meat diets are more likely to be obese. The reason for this is that diets composed exclusively of animal tissue, particularly the beef varieties, have a higher calorie density than do most other canned foods. Dogs eating all-meat diets usually consume approximately 20 to 40 percent more calories than dogs eating similar amounts of balanced-ration type dog foods.

By far, the primary cause of obesity in dogs is simply overfeeding. While obesity related to hormonal or other metabolic disorders in dogs is relatively rare, disorders of the thyroid, pituitary gland or adrenal glands occasionally are responsible. Usually with these conditions, however, other obvious signs of illness will also be present.

In long-haired breeds, visual inspection often is misleading; their coats can hide either obesity or extreme thinness. In normal weight dogs, the ribs should be barely visible under the skin or one can usually feel the dog's ribs.

Obesity is extremely detrimental to the health of our pets. The dangers of obesity include increased incidence of cardiac, respiratory and arthritic problems. Obesity reduces tolerance to hot weather and exercise. Overweight pets are at more risk if anesthetized for surgery. Many obese pets are depressed and have anti-social attitudes.

To lose weight, pets just like humans, must use more calories than consumed each day. Before putting your dog on a weight reduction program, however, you should take the dog to a veterinarian for a thorough physical examination and information on a diet suitable for your dog.

Special prescription diets are available to help in weight-loss programs for pets. The feeding of table scraps and treats should be curtailed.

Exercise should be increased gradually. Walking is an excellent exercise for a dog that is unaccustomed to activity.

It may take several months to attain the desired weight. It often is difficult to resist giving a dog a treat that it likes. However, begging for a treat often is only a plea for attention or affection. Plenty of verbal and physical affection will assure your dog that it is loved. A regular period of daily exercise can become a time when you display special attention.

Dogs, like humans, are more happy and better adjusted if maintained at their optimal weight.

Make walls with pieces of concrete.

Rubble is commonly available. When flat on both sides, it stacks well and looks rustic. Since it's usually discarded, the price is just your labor.

Somewhere in most cities, sidewalks are regularly being torn out. You can often call the city's Public Works Department to find out where free rubble is available for the taking.
