The Jubal Trio, a unique ensemble of mezzo-soprano, flute and harp, will give a free concert on Friday, March 23, at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library as another in the series of "Distinguished Artists Concerts." It was announced this week by Oyster Bay Town Councilman Kenneth S. Diamond.

The concert, which is being sponsored by the Cultural and Performing Arts (CAPA) Division of the Town's Department of Community Services, will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Library, 999 Old Country Road, Plainview. Diamond noted that the performance is being supported by grants from Cablevision and the National Westminster Bank USA.

East St. Celeb. Founders Day

East Street School's PTA celebrated Founder's Day with a covered dish dinner. The unit honored Mrs. Mignon Wallman and Mrs. Edie Allen. They were also honored at the District Founder's Day Dinner. Mrs. Mignon Wallman and Mr. George Maloney were made Honorary Life Members of PTA by the East Street Unit. Elizabeth Pearce was named Distinguished Life Member. Each of the honorees has given many hours of their time to help the children of the community and their honors are well deserved.

The first graders at East Street had a party of their own. They celebrated Valentine's Day with a special breakfast. The children of Mrs. Sparr's and Mrs. Nelson's classes with the help of Mrs. Massa had French toast, applesauce, cran-apple juice and milk. The children made colorful heart shaped placemats and flowers. The food was prepared by mothers. It was a festive and nourishing morning.

Home Robbed By Masked Bandits

Two ski masked males armed with handguns robbed a Plainview homeowner of an undetermined amount of assorted jewelry at 1:20 a.m. March 2.

Mrs. Barbara Rubenstein, 48, of 54 Southern Parkway, heard a knock at her door and she called out "Who is it?" The name Dennis was replied and Mrs. Rubenstein's daughter, Kari, 18, opened the door, believing the caller to be a neighbor named Dennis, about four houses from the Rubensteins. Instead the two armed ski masked suspects burst into the home, one knocking the daughter to the floor and the second ran into the bedroom with the first suspect now holding the mother, leaving Kari unguarded. Kari ran from the home to a neighbor and police were called.

The suspects ran from the house before the arrival of the police and made their getaway in a large brown car, possibly a Buick or Oldsmobile, driven by a third accomplice. The two who robbed the house were believed to have been white males and the Second Squad is investigating.

The Vietnam Veterans of America, Nassau County Chapter in conjunction with Help Aid Direction (HAD) a counseling and community service center announces the opening of a service center for Vietnam and Vietnam Era Veterans. This center is the first step in the Nassau Chapter efforts to have a full service Vietnam Veterans Center in Nassau County.

The initial funding for the room and furniture was provided by Billy Joel's foundation "Charity Begins at Home". Billy Joel has been interested in Vietnam issues for many years. This center is part of a continuing effort to assist Vietnam Veterans.

The Vietnam Veterans Human Resources Center is designed to assist Veterans with readjustment problems, health related problems, Agent Orange, employment, Veterans Benefits, and Claims information.

We have a room where Veterans can meet people with similar experiences and create a renewed climate of comradeship and support. For anyone interested in the Centers programs call 935-6858.

The Grand Opening of the Center will be held at Help-Aid-Direction, located at 23A Jerusalem Avenue, Hicksville, on Saturday, April 7 at 1 p.m.

In addition to many Vietnam Veterans, various Federal, State and local officials will be present to kick off this landmark event. The Center is Vietnam Veterans working to help other Vietnam Veterans to help those in need. Silent Meditation On June 13 Ballot

By Valerie Pakalski

Hicksdale residents will have an opportunity to vote on the following proposition at the annual elections set for June 13:

"Should the Board of Education Adopt the Following Policy? 1) In each public school classroom, the teacher in charge may, at the opening of school, upon every school day, conduct a brief period of silent meditation with the participation of all the pupils therein assembled. 2) The silent meditation shall not be conducted as a religious service or exercise, but may be considered as an opportunity for silent meditation on a religious theme by those who are so disposed, or a moment of silent reflection on the anticipated activities of the day. 'Participation' shall be construed to permit seated participation and not to require any pupil to stand."

This referendum was agreed upon by Board majority after lengthy discussions during the open public meeting held in the senior high school auditorium on February 29. Vice President William Bennett proposed the motion after efforts to include silent meditation in the present policy form were defeated. Opposing Board members continued to site extensive legal fees and their beliefs that the practice is in violation of the First Amendment. The majority agreed, however, to listen to the voice of the public with placement on the ballot of the referendum in June. It should be noted that votes cast will be construed as "advisory" and not as mandatory action to be taken by the Board of Education.

Residents in attendance last Wednesday night were not prepared for the formidable array of television lights and cameras. Several major media outlets have carried the story nationwide. Representatives from the Knights of Columbus, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars were heard with arguments in favor of silent meditation, as well as individuals opposing. A woman who said she was from People for the American Way was denied speaking time after advising she did not reside in Hicksdale. The crowd loudly opposed her appearance and reminded the Board that at a prior meeting permission was granted to an outside resident representing the American Jewish Congress and the Board was taken to task about that.

In an interview with William Bennett, it was disclosed that the wording of the referendum was an excerpt from current New York State Education Law (No. 3029A). Mr. Bennett advised that in the absence of formal Board of Education policy, the district is compelled to abide by present education laws. According to Bennett, individual teachers have the right to start the day with a silent moment and the district's insurance coverage will protect them from judgments or legal actions by using the legal services of the school attorney's office. Bennett said that, at present, the pledge of allegiance and the recording of a patriotic song is being utilized to start the day.

Mrs. Linda Hild, in her continuing plight over the job description of the group she represents (Teacher's Aides), requested Board President Jay Schwartz to come up with one set of rules for the aides to follow. Mrs. Hild held up several variations proposed by different sectors in the district and informed the Board that they are waiting for their official instructions.

Four Arrested In Burglary

The 8th Squad reports the details of the arrest of 4 juveniles and 2 adults in Hicksville for Burglary 2nd degree and criminal possession of stolen property, 1st degree that occurred on the night of Feb. 22 and 23.

Allegedly a 13 and 15 year old juvenile from Hicksville entered the Botto residence, 24 Alexander Avenue, Hicksville, and took $105,000 in cash.

Under the supervision of Det. Sgt. Darius Perry, 8th Squad in conjunction with the Juvenile Aid Bureau the two youths were arrested and charged with the burglary. A 14 and 15 year old Hicksville youth were charged with possession of stolen property. They will be charged as juveniles and will appear in family court at a later date.

Also arrested were Robert Sheppard, 18, student, of 22 Terrell Lane, Hicksville and Sean Huges, 17, student, of 69 Combes Avenue, Hicksville. They are charged with possession of stolen property 1st degree. They will be arraigned in 1st District Court, Mineola this morning.

So far, $58,746 in cash has been recovered along with assorted jewelry, radios and miscellaneous articles. The investigation is continuing.

Letters to the Editor:

To the Editor:

In the current discussion of silent meditation or prayer in the public schools, the issue is not whether a person does or does not pray and believe in God. The issue is, does the State, here the school, have the right to have pupils observe a minute of silent meditation or prayer on a designated signal from the principal or teacher? Even if permissible, the State is directing the observance. This is therefore an institutionalized act and violates the separation of church and state.

In the lynch mob atmosphere of the last Board of Education meeting, it's a wonder that even one parent would raise his voice. The conduct of some people was disgraceful: interruptions, shouting, rude remarks, and to me, religious slurs. Besides, the anti-Semitic phone calls Sharon Rubin has received are beyond belief. What an example for the children of Hicksville! After all, the best way to teach is by example. From now on, if any one complains to me about discipline in the schools, I shall answer, "Just look at the parents!"

Very truly yours,
Runhild E. Wessell

To the Editor:

How it happened in Hicksville - A moment of prayer is all that we ask. The School board promptly took us to task. Possibly a moment of silent meditation. Again they said, without reservation, no prayer, no meditation in our institution. You see my friend, it's against the Constitution. Separation of Church and State was their battle cry. Our answer was, why not give it a try. What harm can be done by praying to God who looked down on us and gave us a nod. My children do what you think should be done. There must be room for Me in your institution. But Larry and John, Arlene and Honey said that it would cost us too much money to prepare a case with no chance of winning. Let's stick together, like in the beginning. We have the majority, four votes to three. We've got the others up in a tree. Then the good guys came forth, Jay, Bill and Tom. They said, "How can it possibly do any harm. Let the people vote, cast a ballot and then some." That's how State Law 3029A was put on a referendum.

To be real serious, silent meditation or a moment of silence is an excellent way for the children in our School District to start each school day. Do not be intimidated by any family or legal organization. A 22 year tradition was set aside in a few short weeks by the short sightedness of some members of the Hicksville School Board. They measured our rights in dollars and cents. Despite the overwhelming majority who spoke for "the moment" at the school board hearings, they took it upon themselves to disregard our wishes and terminated the "Moment of Silence" from the school's policy. Remember that, on June 13, when you vote for the referendum. Stand up and be counted. Don't be one of the silent majority.

William P. Henne, Sr.
Grand Knight
Joseph Barry Council #2520

To the Editor:

The highly charged emotions at the February 29 meeting of the Hicksville School Board created an atmosphere that was not good for reasonable and rational board deliberations. The raucous, intimidating manner of the majority in attendance consisted of boos, jeers, catcalls, disruptions, and plain disrespect to resident speakers and elected board members who disagreed with the majority view. That kind of behavior would not be tolerated in any Town, County, State, National or Religious deliberative body.

The VFW, conspicuous by the wearing of distinctive VFW caps and jackets, were among those disruptors. I too am a VFW member and one who fought overseas with them for God and country. But we also fought in those wars "to make the world safe for democracy"; the right for all persons to be heard in the democratic process whether in the majority or minority, or as perceived right or wrong; and for the right of all persons to live in freedom and harmony with their neighbors. So I was ashamed when I saw my comrades interfering in the process of democratic debate. It made me wonder if that was the object civic lesson we wanted our children to learn about democracy and Americanism.

I am in the position of the "pot calling the kettle black" having disrupted a meeting many years ago. However it didn't take but a little reflecting to remember that those actions were counter to the values that I hold so dear. So I ask my friends in the VFW and all others for "whom the shoe fits"; that the next time the resident speaker is in opposition to your view, or is a board member, or is a respected 80 year old Hicksville resident and retired Hicksville school teacher, lets give them all at least the same courtesy and respect as you give to those speakers favoring your cause.

Sincerely,

Frank H. Willard

To the Editor:

It is my sincere pleasure to commend the entire crew of the vessel "Invicta III", Mr. E. Lopez of Jericho, Mr. H. Notov of Hicksville, Mr. P. Appleby of Port Washington, for their outstanding efforts in safely pulling five people from the water on August 21, 1983.

Coast Guard Station Fort Totten received a radio call describing an incident where a small outboard had capsized off Barkens Point in Manhasset Bay and five people were thrown into the water without personal flotation devices. Your auxiliary facility immediately responded to this life threatening incident and arrived on the scene within five minutes. The entire crew displayed superior professional competence in safely getting everyone out of the water without any injuries. The outstanding efforts of the entire boat crew averted a potentially major disaster.

Sincerely,

Founder's Day At Old Country Rd.

The Old Country Road PTA honored Mrs. Mercedes Dapolito and Miss Patricia Musynski at this year's Founder's Day Dinner.

Mrs. Dapolito has taught Art in Hicksville for eleven years, ten at Old Country Road. Mrs. Dap, as she is affectionately known by her students, has always been a friend to PTA. We have received her support and able assistance in many of our projects. Her artistic abilities are evident throughout the school. In addition to the title of Honoree Guest, we are also pleased to present the PTA's Honorary Life Membership Award to her. Upon returning to school from Winter Recess, Mrs. Dap had quite an announcement to make. She became engaged on the day of the Founder's Day Dinner and was married to Eric Paulsen on February 24. It looks as if our students will have to adjust from "Mrs. Dap" to "Mrs. Paul".

Mrs. Musynski has taught kindergarten at Old Country Road for the past three years. Before coming to Hicksville, Miss Musynski taught kindergarten and fourth grade in College Point. Although she has only been with us a short time, her presence has been marked by enthusiasm and concern for her "pals", our children.

Willet Avenue students John Fitzgerald, John Mauro, Kevin Watson, Jean-Paul Paraskevas and Sandra Mohan are very serious about the preparation of Income Tax returns.

One of the optional activities in Willet Avenue's In-Depth Studies Consumer Education project is the study of Income Tax preparation. Fifth and sixth grade students have been studying money and its management. Some showed interest in learning about taxes, and have progressed with great enthusiasm.

Each student first prepared a financial profile. This consisted of a projection of what their economic lives might be like if they were twenty years older in the year 1984: profession, salary, investment income, dependents etc. It was soon obvious that 1040EZ and 1040A would not be adequate. Students are diligently reading the IRS guides and filling in a variety of schedules and forms. They are also shopping for the best return on their IRSs. Most express amazement at the rate of taxation.

Scouts Celebrate Girl Scout Week

Michelle Corrado, Darlene Albanese, Deepo John and Elizabeth Kremer with Co-Leader Martha Mueller of Brownie Troop #3368 selling their wares.

March 11-17, is Girl Scout Week. The Hicksville Community of the Nassau Council of Girls Scouts will join Scouts all across the United States in celebrating the 72nd Girl Scout Birthday on March 12.

Girl Scout Troops are as varied as the leaders and girls that belong to them. These are some of the activities that have been going on in the Hicksville Community. Over 300 Hicksville Girl Scouts participated in the Annual Mini-Olympics. The girls had a great time competing for ribbons in different games and contests.

It is time for Brownie Troops earn the World of Friendship Patch. One of the requirement for the patch is a troop contribution to the Juilee Low Worl Foundation Fund. Brownie Troop #3369 - Rosemarie Jabour and Carol Mango of East Street had a cake sale; so did Brownie Troop #3368 - Catherine Corrado and Martha Mueller of Burns Avenue. The girls sold their cakes and cookies during lunch time at their schools and donated the earnings to the Fund. Brownie Troop #3429 - Barbara Linnahan and Barbara Tufano of East Street also earned money for the Fund. Each Brownie was measured and pledged a penny for each inch of her height. Hopefully there are a lot of tall Brownies in that troop.

Junior Troop #3515 - Fran Wojtyniak and Carleen Murphy had a Green Circle demonstration and took a trip to our very own Gregory Museum. Junior Troop #3117 - Terry Brancucci and Pat Dwyer attended a Jazercise demonstration where they learned about fitness through dancing. Junior Troop #3155 - Gina Diana held a Mother-Daughter Luncheon. The mothers were served salads and cold meats. The girls planned the menu and did the preparations. The mothers enjoyed the afternoon.

Hicksville Community welcomes Brownie Troop #3186 from Fork Lane. The Community would also like to say a Big Thank You to everyone that supported the cookie sale.

Cleanup Campaign Wins Support

Local residents taking part in a campaign to win protection against environmental problems won official support for cleanup legislation at a 5th Senatorial District Community Forum conducted earlier this month.

William Steinmetz of the Bethpage-Hicksville Chapter of the New York Community Action Network (New York CAN) appeared before State Senator John R. Dunne on March 3 to ask his support for the HR-4813 (Florio) federal Superfund bill, and Senator Dunne announced that he endorsed the "Florio approach" to the cleanup issue.

The Senator, who chairs the State Senate Conservation and Recreation Committee, encouraged New York CAN members to "keep in close contact" with local Congressional representatives to seek their support for the bill, which would institute an ongoing federal Superfund cleanup program collecting approximately $11 billion over the first five years and which would include victims' compensation provisions, a mandatory cleanup timetable, citizen lawsuits, health effects studies and emergency relief measures.

New York CAN members noted that the HR-4813 bill would nearly triple the amount of federal dollars available to New York State environmental officials for toxic site cleanup programs. Over 75 5th SD residents attended the Forum at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Public Library.

"Senator Dunne is clearly deeply concerned about toxic problems affecting our communities, and we appreciate his words of support and encouragement," said Mr. Steinmetz.

Local New York CAN members, who have been active for several years in seeking comprehensive cleanup of the Old Bethpage landfill and the Hooker Chemical Company site in Hicksville, last month announced their participation in the National Campaign Against Toxic Hazards, which seeks to guarantee "every American's basic right to a safe and healthy life." The National Campaign is also seeking passage of comprehensive "source reduction" measures which members state would reduce the quantity of hazardous materials generated with the goal of "breaking the toxic cycle."

The New York Community Action Network is a non-profit, membership-based organization with chapters in several Nassau County communities and elsewhere across New York State.

Our Children

Capitalize on son's interests

By Willard Abraham, Ph.D.

Q. Is 10 years old too young for a child to be interested in stocks? My son is, and it strikes me as kind of strange.

He can hardly wait till the evening news comes on so he can hear about the stock market. Each morning the first thing he looks at in the newspaper is how a dozen stocks did on which he's keeping a continuing daily record.

He likes to do other things (play baseball and tennis, for example), but this is the one that bothers me.

Don't you think this is sort of peculiar? And if you do, then what do you suggest we do about it?

A. Peculiar, no. Unusual, yes, but in a pleasant way.

A route you might consider is to show your interest (if you are interested) and to help him set up a meeting with a stock broker who may enjoy talking with your boy and telling him about some of the workings of the stock market.

Capitalizing on children's interests is too seldom done by parents, but it can be a useful way to encourage reading, fit in with academic activities, and even develop plans of later vocational choices. The last idea has to be handled carefully (discussing and guiding rather than pushing a child into vocational decisions.)

If you're really not interested in the stock market, you can at least try to recognize that his interest is sensible and worth cultivating.

Q. I don't see how it is possible, but my 13-year-old tells me she has no trouble studying and having the radio on at the same time. She says that she doesn't really listen to it, that it's just soothing background for her while she studies.

I could understand that if the music were soft and quiet, but it is wild stuff that reverberates throughout the house. It apparently doesn't bother her, but it sure does play the devil with whatever I, my husband or the other kids are doing.

As long as it doesn't interfere with her school work (and it doesn't seem to — her grades are very good), I guess I shouldn't be concerned, but I am.

A. I am too, because others are involved, and their wishes and activities should be respected.

Having the radio on may be no problem but only if it doesn't interfere with other family members. Turning it down and a closed door or two between her and the rest of you may help solve the problem.

It sounds as though you've been almost too gentle with her.

Q. I'm not going to tell you my religion (because that fact isn't important), but I am going to tell you about the Sunday school my children attend. It's just terrible.

The so-called teachers know nothing about teaching or about children and the whole program is dull and worthless. My kids go every Sunday, but it's a hassle every week because they dislike it so much.

I sympathize with them, although I recognize that isn't enough. So your suggestions would be very welcome.

A. Who is the Sunday school director? Is he or she aware of you and your children's dissatisfaction? Are there other parents and children equally disenchanted with the Sunday school program? Is there a board or committee which considers policies and practices and are parents represented on it?

The answers to those questions may guide you toward action which you obviously feel is long overdue.

Your Social Security

Inheritance won't affect disability

Q. I am 70 years of age. I was married in 1969 and divorced in 1975. Am I entitled to Social Security benefits from my divorced ex-husband? He is retired and drawing benefits. — H.J.

A. No! At least from that particular ex-husband since you were married to him less than 10 years.

Q. I'm 64 and have been receiving monthly benefits since 1982. I worked part time last year and I expected to make about $4,000. I actually made $6,000. What should I do? — F.C.

A. The allowable earnings limit for people under 65 for 1983 was $4,920. You should have notified the Social Security Administration as soon as you expected to exceed that amount. You could have prevented and overpayment by doing that.

You will have to file an annual report of your earnings for 1983 with Social Security on or before April 16, 1984. You will also have to repay $540 in overpayments received in 1983.

Quality Or Quantity?

When you advertise in a subscription newspaper you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.

When you buy quantity the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.

With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Do not waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.

Our (not so secret) ingredient is the reason we are preferred over the largest metropolitan newspapers and the many throwaways.
Readers = Results

World of Animals At O. C. Rd.

Bill Robinson recently presented his "World of Animals" for the students of Old Country Road School. The children thoroughly enjoyed learning about, as well as seeing, the eagle, owl, hawk, raccoon and python! Did you know that owls live as long as 25 or 30 years and NEVER sleep? Our children learned this and many interesting facts about the balance of nature. Knowledge gained by exposing the children to live creatures is easily retained.

Torch Relay Winner To Be Named

On Saturday, March 11, the Nassau Farmers Market will select one boy or girl to represent Long Island in the 1984 Olympic Torch Relay. The selection will be made from a drawing to be held at the Farmers Market in Bethpage, on Route 107 across from the Grumman Aircraft plant. Hundreds of boys and girls have registered to qualify for the drawing to represent Long Island in running one kilometer in the New York to Los Angeles, cross-country relay for the start of the Summer Olympics.

To qualify for the drawing, each youngster must run a one-kilometer trail in less than seven minutes. Time trials, administered by the Long Island Road Runners Club, Inc., will be held all day at the Farmers Market prior to the drawing at 2:30 p.m.

Runners between 8 and 17 years old can register for the qualifying heats on Friday, March 9 and Saturday, March 10 at the "Olympic Booth" (Number 313, Aisle B) at the Nassau Farmers Market. The booth is open from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. There is a $1 registration fee, and parents must sign the registration form.

"We see the Torch Relay as a unique opportunity for boys and girls to participate in an authentic Olympic-related activity," said Stanley A. Siedlecki, manager of the Nassau Farmers Market. He said the Farmers Market is one of more than two thousand corporate sponsors of the Olympic Torch Relay throughout the United States.

In addition to running in the Torch Relay, youngsters who qualify for the drawing will have a chance to win a $100 gift certificate from the Farmers Market, and $500 for their school's athletic department. Two additional runners will be chosen to receive $50 certificates.

All participants who complete their kilometer run in under seven minutes will be entered in the drawing. The name of the "Youth Legacy Kilometer Torchbearer" will be selected by Bruce MacDonald, former manager of the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Team (1972, 1976), and a competitor in the 20 km walk (1956) and the 50 km walk (1960, 1964). Mr. MacDonald is now a high school athletic coach in Port Washington. He is the only high school coach ever chosen to manage an Olympic team.

Mr. Siedlecki invited anyone interested in obtaining further information to call the Nassau Farmers Market at 516 931-8400.

Sure we'd like to shelter
$4,000 of last year's income
against taxes.

But how?
And where?
And when?

With an I.R.A.
At Ridgewood.
Now.

Tax savings on last year's earnings? Absolutely... if you act before April 15, 1984. You and your spouse can shelter as much as $4,000 from the tax-man... by opening an I.R.A. at Ridgewood Savings Bank.

You could even claim that deduction now... file early to get your refund sooner... and you'd still have 'til April 15th to open your account.

Ask any expert on personal finances, and we'll bet he tells you that an I.R.A. is the best move you can make. For immediate and future income tax savings. For high-yield, tax-deferred earnings. For a secure and prosperous retirement. Best of all, you'll never pay Ridgewood a fee for starting your I.R.A. or managing it for you.

Today, every wage-earner is entitled to establish a tax-deferred I.R.A. Including working spouses. Including people who already have pension plans.

Including self-employed people... even if they already have Keogh accounts. A qualifying individual can deposit up to $2,000 of annual income... a husband and wife who are both employed: $2,000 each, or a total of up to $4,000... a wage-earner with a non-working spouse: up to $2,250. Income tax on funds deposited and on the interest that they earn will be deferred until they are withdrawn after retirement, when most people's tax rates are much lower.

Wouldn't you like to know how much a Ridgewood I.R.A. could mean to you when you retire? Could it be worth a million dollars... or even more? It's easy to find out... and we think you'll be amazed! Just stop in at your nearest Ridgewood branch and ask for a free, personalized computer projection—based on your age and the tax-sheltered deposits you expect to make. And be prepared for a very pleasant surprise!

It's smarter than ever to bank with your neighbors.

Most Input Callers Do Not Like Primary Races

Most callers to Input do not think that the Democratic primaries are doing a good job in answer to this question: "Do you think that the Democratic Primaries have been the best way to find good candidates?" Here are some of the answers:

DONE NOTHING

The Democratic primaries have done absolutely nothing to make the issue clear of who should be the representative of the party for the Presidential nomination. We had Mondale all wrapped up for a while now we have Hart in the running but most registered Democrats are not sure which will give Reagan the best run. H.K.

BEST THING

The Democratic Primary has turned out to be the best thing that ever happened to the Democratic party. We almost took Mondale but now we have been able to test him out. It is not that he is not a good man for the Presidency it is simply he might not be elected but that Hart stands a chance and that is good to know before making the nomination. J.R.

OLD SYSTEM

Obviously there must be a better and less expensive way to find a good candidate than the Presidential Primaries but with this deeply rooted system to which the Democrats are geared, it's not that easy and to "cut and try" to find a better one would be hazardous. Really, it's all a matter of adequate support by friends and money at the outset and eventually the public as positions on issues develop. And of course, the physical stamina of the candidates to stand up to the emotional pressures as charisma begins to chip away and weaknesses are exposed. Finally, after the dust of primary battle settles and some candidates head for the hills, there is still the convention to face with hard won delegates by no means a sure thing. Whatever alternative might be acceptable, a basic condition in my view would be to compress the time allotted for the primaries and schedule the campaign for delegate votes in the primaries only during the months of September and October. This would save money and with advanced electronic communications, permit adequate public penetration. Finally, it would result in only a relatively minor detraction in time spent from the fundamental job of running the country while the election process runs its course. P.G.S.

LITTLE VOTES

The problem with the Democratic Primaries is that they are in such little states that often are not even Democratic states so that the few voters are not typical Democratic voters and they are calling the shots. I am glad to see that Hart is now a leader. I want him to be the candidate but we stumbled on him in a very poor way through these little Primaries. D.E.

REAGAN WILL WIN

I think that it is a waste of time no matter what they say. The fact is that Reagan is going to win easily and it will not matter who is going to run against him. The only thing the Primaries do, however, is to let the rank and file of the Democratic voters see for themselves how far to the left this party that used to represent the working man has gone. The Primaries in the Democratic party probably did more to dig up votes for Reagan. K.T.

HART SUPPORT

For several months it would have been right to say that the Democratic Primaries were a waste of time. But since the New Hampshire election it is another whole ball game. I think Hart will win and go on to win the Presidency. He will get my vote. S.M.

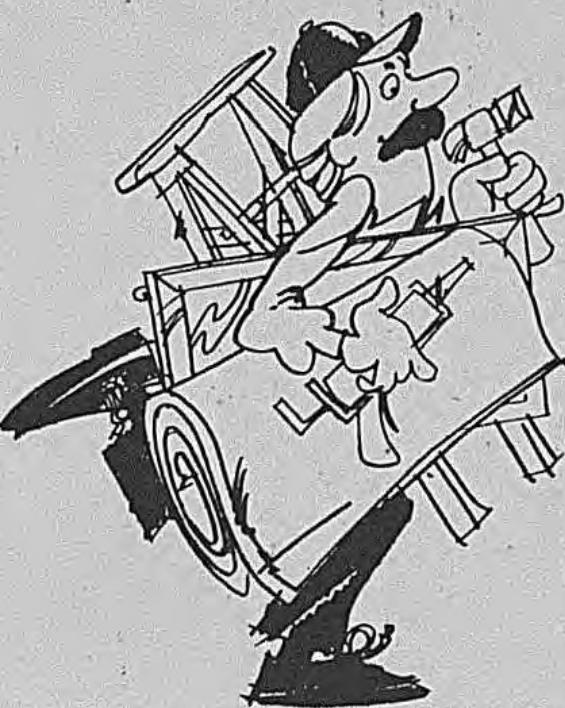

POOR POLITICIANS

These Primary elections just prove to the people how much we depend on poor politicians. The whole slate would stand up there and talk in circles. From that point we cannot have much faith in politicians. It was easy to see that most of them were just saying what their campaign contributors wanted them to say. It is all a waste. G.B.

I just heard that a researcher at the Blue Ridge Hospital in Charlottesville, Virginia, is studying the dream patterns of pregnant women, seeking a link between those dreams and the health of the child. Nice Place Bonnot's Cafe is one of those small restaurants that makes me glad there are such places away from the larger crowds. For your readers who do not know of this place, it is located in Williston Park on Hillside Ave. and is just a small but elegantly decorated restaurant. The menu is a pretty good sized one and we have always found it to be an enjoyable place whether we were having a late night snack or a luncheon special. We recommend it to your readers. J.F.

A Favorite

The Marmite Restaurant has been my favorite for years. We went there last Thursday and had a delicious fish special for one and a beautiful steak for the other person in our party.

At Marmite everything is first rate from the fully decked tables to the service of food. But this would not be enough. The food is really good and the menu is varied. It is a place to go for special occasions.

We have been going to Marmite for a number of years now and want to heartily recommend it to all your readers. G.F.

GOOD FOOD

Recently I had a very satisfying luncheon with a friend at Remsen's Garden Restaurant in Greenvale. The prices were moderate and the food was excellent. So was the service.

We enjoyed Quiche Lorraine and then, forgetting about calories, we tried a dessert specialty: strawberry shortcake. Everything was mouth-wateringly delicious.

But Remsen's isn't just good food. It's also ambiance. We loved the green plants, Tiffany lamps and polished brass. The place has a cozy feeling just right for a nice meal and pleasant conversation with a special friend. We certainly plan a return visit sometime soon and without any hesitation we can recommend it to your readers.

The Last Word In Restaurant Guides

Where Our Readers

Have The Last Word

This newspaper, and the seven other weekly newspapers associated with it, publishes the last word in restaurant guides - a paid listing of many prominent selected restaurants in this area. While many of them have been rated by the great and near great food connoisseurs, our readers will have the last word through "Reader Ratings."

Through a special 24 hour phone system, readers will be asked to call in their assessment of each restaurant they visit. Consensus ratings (good or bad) will be published as a continuing part of the guide.

In addition, they can make suggestions, compliments or criticisms through the open phone line and messages will be sent through to the restaurant management.

READER RATINGS

Restaurant Guide

Q. If someone asks you to dinner, shouldn't he make the reservation, tell you where to come, and pay for the meal?
A. Yes. The person who does the asking takes the responsibility for making the arrangements - and for paying, unless it is clearly understood beforehand that it is "dutch".

Q. What do you do if you think you've been invited to a restaurant, so you don't bring any money and then you're suddenly confronted with having to pay half the bill?

A. You must pay your share of the bill in this circumstance. It happens often in our lives, simply because we don't pay enough attention to communicating and preplanning our engagements. We should all be specific about when, where, and who pays, when dates and arrangements are jointly made.

If you're in a restaurant with no money in a situation like this, go to the captain and tell him your plight and that you will send the money tomorrow - by messenger. If you show identification and if you sign a receipt for money owed, you might be able to arrange for payment of your share tomorrow. Otherwise, you are going to have to borrow money from your friends at the table. It is embarrassing, but come up with a logical excuse for not having money or a credit card.

Fine Meal

Last week we went to the LaCisterna restaurant in Mineola and were delighted with the meal.

The LaCisterna is a beautifully decorated restaurant with a fine large dining room set in a restful and inviting style. The service is good and the food is well worth a return visit.

We had veal marsala for one dinner and bass for the other. The veal was fresh and tender and the marsala sauce was exceptionally well done. The bass was fresh and flavorful. Starting off the meal we had salad and soup which also rated high. We were very satisfied with the visit and want to recommend it to your readers.

Newly Enlarged

The restaurant called the Barrister is a great place to eat. They really have excellent food, well prepared.

Last Thursday we saw their advertisement in the paper and went there for the first time.

It is on Willis Avenue, just off of Old Country Road near the court houses in Mineola. The place is nicely decorated but that is not the big plus. We had steak and lobster as the special and it came complete with the salad bar, potato and vegetable. I don't know where they get their beef but it is great.

Please run this in the paper so that other people will know about this good new restaurant. F.P.

High Praise

A beautiful dining experience is what we can say about going to the Talk of the Town restaurant in Manhasset. This restaurant is decorated to the hilt. It even includes reclining chairs in the waiting lobby and it has a tremendous bar.

Now all of these decorations wouldn't be worth anything if the food were not delicious. We sampled the veal picata and the prime ribs both were perfectly done. The entree was accompanied by a special mixture of vegetables and a fine salad which included bean sprouts.

The service at Talk of the Town is perfect so it is without a doubt a great place to enjoy dinner. L.H.

Q. I have a white ironstone "Daily Bread" plate with the enclosed mark on the bottom. Can you tell me who made it, when, and its value?

A. This was made by the Onondaga Pottery Co. in Syracuse, N.Y., around the turn of the century. This was also known as the Syracuse China Co., although in 1966 the use of the name, "Onondaga," was completely dropped.

Your bread plate would sell in the $65 to $75 range.

Q. You always place such emphasis on the marks on china, but you never seem concerned about similar identification of furniture. I find it confusing.

A. The marks on china are enormously useful in establishing vintage.

For example, a plate marked "Haviland, Limoges, France" was made in the mid-20th century.

A similar item marked "Haviland & Co." (no Limoges, no France) was made over 100 years ago and worth several times as much.

Since most antique furniture was not marked, it has to be judged by appearance and construction. If it is marked, it usually is factory made in the 20th century.

Q. Would you please evaluate Doctor" by George Grotz, Double-Blow Review: The Furniture these two Mettlach steins made by day & Co., 245 Park Ave., New York, NY 10167, $14.95 plus $1.50 century? On the left is No. 2382; on postage or at your local bookstore. The right is No. 2035.

A. I would be happy to — that's the easiest question this week.

No. 2382 — about $700.

No. 2035 — about $600.

This is an excellent guide to the repair and refinishing of furniture. You don't have to be an expert nor invest a small fortune in supplies and equipment if you follow the author's advice.

Eat Yourself Slim

By Shirley Bright Boddy
Registered Dietitian

Dear Shirley: Is there a special diet that will help my mouth? I have noticed lately that it seems to be dry a lot of the time, and it is really bothering me.

What causes it? Do you know of anything that could help?

I have just been put on a new medicine and I wonder if that could have any effect on my saliva. What do you think?

Does a dry mouth cause nutritional problems? I hope you can give me some suggestions to help me get rid of this problem. — Mrs. E.W.

Dear Mrs. E.W.: I don't know what is causing your mouth to be dry, but it could be the medication. Ask your doctor, and maybe you could use a different kind that wouldn't affect you that way.

There is no special diet for it, but I would avoid salty foods, excessive spices, alcohol and tobacco.

Increase your fluids by drinking a cup of water every hour or so, or you can drink orange, grapefruit or lemon drinks to help stimulate saliva production. Ask your druggist for mouth swabs that contain glycerine that may help prevent soreness and cracking.

I would not anticipate any severe nutritional problems as long as your diet is adequate, but a dry mouth that persists for long periods of time may have an adverse effect both mentally and nutritionally.

Dear Shirley: I recently have switched from regular tea and coffee to herb teas because I thought they would be better for me. My husband is upset and insists that some of them can be dangerous. I think that's nonsense and that they really are good for people — a lot better than the caffeine in coffee.

He gets mad when I won't buy coffee, so will you please explain in the paper that herb teas are much better? — Mrs. A.C.

Dear Mrs. A.C.: Herb teas contain many substances that have not been very well studied, and some of them are potentially harmful. Since you don't know which are dangerous and which are not, it doesn't make much sense to substitute the known effects of caffeine in coffee and tea for the unknown effects of herb teas.

However, if you like the flavors of some well-known teas, drink them in moderation, but don't ever take unusual home-brewed herbs as substitutes for medicine. They can be extremely dangerous, even fatal.

If you are worried about caffeine, why not buy decaffeinated coffee for your husband? You stick to simple, known herbs, but don't play "doctor" with them in concentrated quantities.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q. I hope you will be able to help me. My grandson bought a table for me and it was not laminated.

I would like to know what to buy so I can do it. Please give me some instructions. — W.C.

A. Installing a laminated counter or tabletop is a difficult project for a do-it-yourselfer, but it can be done.

Cut Formica to the exact dimensions required using a fine-toothed saw and work at a low angle to avoid chipping. Make a paper pattern to follow if the required piece is an irregular shape.

Care is required in installing the laminated plastic tops and only the contact cement recommended by the manufacturer should be used.

Once this material is down, it cannot be moved. To be sure the plastic is in the proper position, use the following method:

Cut brown wrapping paper to the exact width and shape of the plastic top, dividing it into two equal pieces lengthwise. Apply contact cement to the counter or tabletop and to the underside of the plastic sheet.

With a pencil and a small piece of paper, until the paper will not stick to the cement. Then lay the two halves of wrapping paper on the top, lining it up exactly with the edges. Place the plastic over the wrapping paper.

Have a helper press down firmly on one side of the counter to hold the plastic sheet securely in place. Lift up on the opposite edge of the plastic, withdrawing one cut section of the wrapping paper, then press down on the plastic, thus bringing the cemented surfaces together. Then pull out the other section of wrapping paper and press down on the plastic sheet. This will fasten the plastic in the exact position wanted.

If you decide on covering the edges of the table top, remember to take them into account when measuring and cutting the top. Since you will want the top to rest over the newly applied edges, it will have to be larger than if you were not using any new edging.

Good luck with this project, which, as you may imagine, is difficult.

Q. I have a new concrete driveway. Our company car had an oil leak and what a mess it has made on the new driveway! How can I remove this stain? — make my driveway look good again.

A. Grease and oil stains on concrete surfaces can be removed with this technique: First scrub stains with benzine or grease solvent. Then mix one part sodium citrate to six parts of water and six parts of commercial glycerine. Add sufficient whiting powder to form a thick paste.

A coat of this paste should be kept on the stain for one week and a new paste added when it dries out. Then flush dried out second layer away and the stain should be gone.

Repeat the process if necessary.

As concrete is porous, you may not be able to completely remove all the stain, but this should at least lighten the stain.

Q. We have a new fireplace. Is there a way to keep the inside, where the fire burns from getting black? — M.W.C.

A. No way that I know to prevent completely the deposit of soot inside the fireplace.

A properly proportioned fireplace will have a minimum of this deposit. Much depends also on the kind of wood or other material burned in the fireplace.

Use of a chemical preparation for cleaning brick and stone surfaces makes it no easy task to remove soot.

Doctor's Forum

Q. I have a 14-year-old daughter who is having trouble with acne. Her older sister went through a phase and grew out of it.

We have been told that as she matures her acne will fade. Until then, what can we do to help?

Is acne hereditary? Are fried, greasy foods bad for the skin? What about chocolate? What should we do? — G.P.

A. There are two major factors that contribute to the development of acne. Secretion from oil glands (sebaceous glands) on the skin, and a type of bacteria (Propionibacterium acne) present in the hair follicles of patients with acne.

The activity of the sebaceous glands is controlled by hormones, accounting for the onset of acne during puberty, and its flare-up associated with menstrual periods.

There are several types of acne: pustules and pustules ("pin-pimples"), comedones ("blackheads") and whiteheads), and cysts.

Acne is a self-limiting disease. However, it is advisable to seek treatment for the following reasons: it can leave unsightly discoloration and scars; the potential psychological impact on a growing teenager; and there are safe and effective medications that can control the disease process.

There are three categories of medication for treatment of acne: oral antibiotics — the most commonly used ones are tetracycline and erythromycin; externally applied antibiotic solutions, and externally applied medications that produce gentle peeling of the skin. Depending on the severity of the acne, one or all of the above-mentioned treatments may be used.

Another medication that is effective for treatment of acne is a derivative of vitamin A (13-cis-retinoic acid). It should be emphasized that this is a very potent medication with potentially serious side effects and it is reserved only for patients who do not respond to other types of therapy and should only be used under the close supervision of a dermatologist.

The role of diet in acne continues to be controversial. There are patients who do notice that the acne gets worse with certain food, and obviously for these patients, they should restrict the intake of food that causes the worsening of acne.

I advise you to have your daughter seen by your dermatologist who is most familiar with the proper diagnosis and treatment of this condition. — Dr. Henry W. Lim, assistant professor of medicine, Dermatology Division, University of California, San Diego School of Medicine.

Mainly For Seniors

By John T. Watts

Pills don't help her arthritis

Dear John: I just now read the article about the treatment for arthritis.

I have been suffering for a long time, and the doctor gives me pills which I cannot take for very long as I break out with a rash. If I take anything with aspirin in it I hurt in my stomach, so the doctor said to take anything that is aspirin-free, but I do not get any relief from the pain.

I have arthritis in my spine and hips, also my hands.

I thank God it is not the crippling kind.

Please send me the leaflet telling me what kind of grape juice (what brand) to use with what brand of Certo.

Someone told me about this kind of treatment a long time ago and I didn't believe it. Also, I now am taking a spoonful of cod liver oil with apple juice, which someone told me helps, every morning before breakfast on an empty stomach. I'm enclosing $2 and a stamped envelope. Please send as soon as possible. — Emma E.

Dear Emma: You should have the leaflet by now. The cod liver oil may well help. It is one of the main ingredients of the diet Mrs. A.S.B. gave us.

Hope you will let us know how it works out, particularly the cod liver oil and apple juice. We know what Certo can do. Incidentally, Certo is the brand name of a pectin used in making jams and jellies.

So far as the grape juice is concerned, I think that any kind would work as well; however, Welch's is the one first told to me.

Dear John: I have enjoyed reading your Mainly for Seniors column, especially columns pertaining to the relief of arthritis.

Recent articles including information that an arthritic improved considerably by eliminating nightshade plants from his diet are interesting. One wonders if the whole of a potato is an irritant, or just the central portion. I ask this because in Dr. Bernard Jensen's book on his natural treatment of arthritis (he) suggests arthritic stew and then imbibe $\frac{1}{2}$ inch of potatoes, including skin with water. Discarding of central pulp was suggested. No doubt most of the potassium is in and near the skin. Potassium tends to neutralize excess sodium or leech it out. Potato broth is alkaline.

I still think the mind needs plenty of exercise to keep it alert, like other parts of the body.

But if you have found a pill that will help do the job, hurray for you! I am also one of those whose memory is less efficient as I get older.

Arthritis of various kinds can be precipitated by trauma to the body, and very often to the feet. Foot imbalance (biochemical faults) may also give rise to sensory nerve irritations which give rise to the symptomatology. Often arthritis may start in the feet and spread throughout the body. Our patients have often complained "when my feet hurt, I hurt all over."

Still medical research would like to blame arthritis on either a germ or virus which they have been unable to find. — Robert K. D.P.M.

Dear Robert: I always did like the potato skin better than the potato, but it irritates me when the restaurant wraps the potato in aluminum before baking it.

Dear John: With regard to Helen S's question and your answer. My husband and I (both in our 50s) were bothered by periodic memory lapses until we started taking Memo-Rex. See enclosed descriptions. Memo-Rex is produced by Stur-Dee Health Products Inc., Island Park, N.Y. 11558. — Mrs. W.G.

Dear Mrs. W.G.: Helen has asked if anyone had a remedy for de-confusing a mind. Or memory loss.

I still think the mind needs plenty of exercise to keep it alert, like other parts of the body.

But if you have found a pill that will help do the job, hurray for you! I am also one of those whose memory is less efficient as I get older.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 16 and my boyfriend of seven months is 17. He is bright, handsome, fun-loving and just a super guy. I care for Jimmy very much but he does have one small problem — he is extremely jealous. He accuses me of seeing guys behind his back and flirting with guys where I work (a restaurant) part-time.

All of this simply is not true. I have been 100 percent faithful to him since we have been going together. In fact, I would never flirt and I dislike people who do.

It's gotten to the point now that he is telling me how to wear my hair and what clothes to wear so I won't look too "sexy."

Last week I had to get a ride home from my boss (he is over 50) because I got sick at work. My boyfriend accused me of "making out" with this older gentleman. Jimmy has even gone so far as to insist that I have all female teachers.

As I said, Jimmy is a great guy but I don't know what to do about his possessive nature. Any suggestions will be deeply appreciated. — Deloris

Deloris: Jimmy's problem isn't small, it's extremely large and serious. So serious that you should break up with him immediately and refuse to see him again until he has had professional psychiatric guidance and help.

And then only if you are convinced his jealousy is a thing of the past and forever forgotten!

Dr. Wallace: I'm an 18-year-old senior and I can't stand my first name — Cabot. When I was younger, my classmates used to make fun of the name and to this day I resent being called Cabot.

Actually, Cabot is my mother's maiden name and she is very proud of it. Recently, I told her I was thinking of changing it to Richard. She got all shook up and said it would be a "slap in the face" to her and her side of the family if I changed my name. My father has passed away but he never really liked my name, either.

Do you think I should remain Cabot or become Richard? I've got to make up my mind pretty soon. I'll keep the name I start college with. If possible, I'd like to hear what my peers think about all this. — Cabot and your life. If you would feel better about Richard then change it. I asked my wife about the name Cabot and she thought it was absolutely charming and told me to tell you not to change it. But since this is my column, take my advice.

Dr. Wallace: I am 17 years old and I like a guy that is 24. He is a very nice guy, and my feelings for him are very strong. My mother is totally against the idea of us dating. She said he is too old for me and will take advantage of me.

I don't think he is too old for me. Age does not matter if you really love someone. I also know he wouldn't take advantage of me unless I was willing. I know my mother is trying to protect me, but it is time for her to let me live my own life.

I really would like to know how you feel about this situation, but before you answer, please remember that I really do LOVE this guy. — Milly

Milly: I firmly believe that as long as teens live at home they should honor the wishes of their parents when there is conflict regarding whom they date.

Dr. Wallace: Several weeks ago your column contained a letter from Gretta who wanted to start skydiving but was facing stiff opposition from her parents. She was looking for a source of information about the sport and I believe that I can be of help.

I have been jumping for a couple years and presently am practicing with a team that will compete this summer in the U.S. Nationals.

If you will send my address to Gretta, I'd be happy to give her and her parents some helpful information regarding skydiving so they can make an informed decision. — Matt McCarter

Matt: I'm sorry but Gretta didn't include an address in her letter. I hope you don't mind if I invite Gretta and any other teens interested in skydiving information to write to me, in care of this newspaper, with their questions. I'll forward all such letters to your home address.

This week I was speaking to a proud grandmother. She told me an interesting story about her little granddaughter, Megan. Megan, it seems, was taught to swim before she could walk!

Grandma told me that very young children have no fear of the water and this is the best time for them to learn how to swim. Some day if the youngster ever happened to fall out of a boat or into a pool this could even be a life saver!

Your friend,
Aunt Tilly

Take lame dog to veterinarian

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. Our 7-month-old male weimaraner had bursitis in his left shoulder approximately two months ago.

Our veterinarian treated the dog and he was better for a while. Now the dog will not extend his left front leg as far forward at his right front leg.

Is this the result of the bursitis? Will the leg ever be normal again?

A. It is impossible to tell you exactly what is causing your dog's problem without examining the dog. If you have not had your dog examined recently, you should take it to a veterinarian for a thorough physical examination.

Depending on your veterinarian's initial findings, radiographs or X rays may be required to reach a definitive diagnosis.

Although the condition you described may be due to a variety of conditions, it is likely that your dog has a condition called "osteochondritis dissecans." Osteochondritis dissecans causes shoulder lameness in immature dogs of large breeds. It is seen most commonly in male dogs.

Although the onset of the disease has been reported to be from 1 to 8 months of age, it most commonly occurs in dogs from 4 to 6 months of age.

Affected dogs are usually active and muscular.

The lameness seen with osteochondritis dissecans is very persistent and often does not respond to treatment.

When only one leg is sore, the dog tends to avoid extending it either forward or backward as far as the opposite leg while at a fast walk. Whenever both front legs are sore, there is a quickened step with the front legs as the dog restricts their range of motion.

Except in very severe chronic cases, no external signs of the disease are noticed. There are no swellings or abnormal findings on the affected leg.

With very severe chronic osteochondritis dissecans, the scapular muscles may be smaller than normal due to disuse. If only one leg is affected, this difference is quite noticeable.

The only definitive method to make a diagnosis of osteochon-
